Hold Second Hearing

Growing Opposition To Duplex Projects

Additional support for the Planning Board's Article to bar any more mass duplex housing projects was manifest at Monday night's East Room Hearing, at 7:45.

Twenty Winchester residents attended the hearing, and all but two supported the Planning Board's Article, first on the agenda of tonight's Special Town Meeting.

The Planning Board's article would require individuals or firms wishing to construct a duplex house to obtain the permission of the Board of Appeals.

Speaking out vigorously in support of the proposed article, Mr. William Speers said that he thought that perhaps the Planning Board was not going far enough. Mr. Speers said that ultimately it might be advisable to eliminate the general residence category from the Town completely, permitting only single residence construction.

Also speaking in support of the measure was Mr. Angelo Caputo, who urged at the last hearing that on mass duplex projects the size of the lot required for a duplex house be greatly increased, perhaps doubled.

DECRIES POWER

Mr. August Niewenhous of 15 Glengarry decried what he called an over-concentration of power in the Board of Appeals. Actually, he said, the Board of Appeals has a tendency to "fall in" with almost every request that comes before it.

Mr. Sawyer and Dr. Wildasin of the Board of Health strongly favored the article from the point of view of health and sanitation. Mrs. John McGuigan of Grove Place also spoke out in favor of the proposal.

URGES CAUTION

Mr. James Cullen recommended that the Planning Board pursue a policy of caution. "Let's take one bite at a time," Mr. Cullen said. "Let's not go whole hog on this thing." Mr. Cullen specifically opposed the idea of terminating general residence zoning, saying that he saw no harm in duplex houses as such. Mr. Cullen told the Star he opposed what he called "government by minority boards," indicating that matters of general Town interest should be decided by Town Meeting.

Mrs. Nunes strongly opposed the Planning Board article as a discriminatory measure imposing an

Hospital Expands Parking Lot

If you visited at the Winchester Hospital in the past week you probably noticed the work going on in the parking lots. As part of the general expansion program at the hospital the two existing parking lots are being enlarged, and when finished will have spaces for approximately 50 additional automobiles.

For some while the need for additional parking has been recognized, however, this phase could not be undertaken until the exact location of the new wing of the hospital had been determined. Supplementing these expanded parking lots will be two additional areas provided as part of the new construction. One parking lot will be located off Fairmount Street, in front of what will be the Outpatient entrance, for patients and doctors; the other will be in the rear of the hospital, for employee parking.

With sufficient funds being assured as the result of its successful fund rasing campaign, planning for the new addition is progressing towards a construction date in early spring. The plans are nearing the final phase, and James H. Ritchie and Associates, hospital architects, state that unless some unforeseen development occurs, the expansion plans will be completed as scheduled.

Cemetery Vandals

Police Chief Derro issued a sharp warning concerning vandalism at Calvary Cemetery this week. The Chief, commenting on teenagers hurling funeral and memorial flowers about the cemetery, warned that any offender apprehended would face stiff punishment.

Alexander Samoiloff Helps Translate Important Russian Engineering Book

Some 200 distinguished engineers, educators and industrialists at Purdue's 6th Conference on Mechanisms, to be held October 10-11, will hear a talk based on a significant new book which a Winchester engineer is helping to translate.

Mr. Alexander Samoiloff of 314 Highland Avenue, a project engineer with the Badger Manufacturing Co., an international engineering and construction company based in Cambridge, is translating the 1,000-page Russian volume in collaboration with Associate Professor Douglas P. Adams in the M. I. T. Department of Mechanical Engineering, a widely known authority on kinematics. Mr. Samoiloff and Professor Adams began the translation through a course in advanced technical Russian which Mr. Samoiloff conducted at M. I. T. in 1958.

The title of Professor Adams' talk will be "The Synthesis of Plane Mechanisms." The book, written by three Russian experts, Professor Adams says, is "probably the most comprehensive treatment of the subject of synthesis of plane mechanisms ever undertaken. The content treats of the techniques of developing plane mechanisms so that they perform with respect to combined position, velocity and acceleration as closely as possible as the designers would wish.

"The book shows great depth of knowledge and practice of Russian engineers in this field," Professor Adams added. "After a thorough review of the fundamentals of kinematics, the authors extensively discuss both approximate and exact methods of synthesis. The preface accurately predicts the enormous potentialities of the material presented in view of the increasing availability of improved computers and computer techniques."

ALEXANDER SAMOILOFF

Mr. Samoiloff came to the United States from Kazan, Russia, in 1920. Graduating from Harvard in 1925 with a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering, he served for

Seven Articles In Warrant

Town Meeting Tonight

A Special Town Meeting gets under way at Memorial Auditorium, tonight (Thursday) at 7:45 p.m.

Town Meeting members and residents will be asked to take action on seven articles. Here is a brief summary of those articles:

Article I—"To see if the Town will amend the zoning by-laws." so as to require the permission of the Board of Appeals for the construction of duplex houses. This article, on which two hearings have already been held (see story on page one) promises considerable debate. It is designed, of course, to preclude the construction of new duplex housing developments.

Article II—To change the area between Grove Street and the Boston and Maine railroad tracks from a General Residence District to a Single Residence District.

Article III—To see if the Town will take "by purchase, eminent domain or otherwise for school purposes" the property across from the High School on Main Street owned by Dr. Phillip J. McManus.

Article IV—To see if the Town will agree to widening Lake Street at the Main Street end of Lake Street to a full fifty feet from its present forty-foot width.

Article V—To see if the Town "will authorize the Selectmen to sell a parcel of land between Palmer Street and Wedge Pond adjoining land now or formerly of Thomas Quigley."

Article VI—To take action in naming the new Johnson Road-Ridge Street elementary school, now under construction.

Article VII—To see if the Town will accept Richard Parkhurst's gift of a parcel of land between Ridgefield Road and Chardon Road adjacent to the Town Forest (some 85,227 square feet), as an addition to the Town Forest.

Town meeting members are urged not to discount the importance of this special meeting.

It is hoped that they will turn out 100% strong.

Republican Town Committee Met On Tuesday, October 4

The Winchester Republican Town Committee held a meeting on Tuesday evening, October 4th in the East Room of the Town Hall, at 8:15 p.m.

Republican confidence is reported increased following the reception for Vice President Nixon in Boston last week. G.O.P. leaders told the Star they see a "strong possibility" of both state and national victories on election day.

Mrs. Warren Whitman has divided the entire committee into sub-committees, which are meeting separately in the homes of various chairmen.

These sub-committees reported Tuesday evening to the full committee.

One sub-committee on "Publicity" is headed by an experienced executive, Mr. David Wardwell. The other members of his committee are: Mrs. N. M. Bell, Mrs. Pearl Jones Larson, Mrs. N. Nickerson, Mrs. C. Barone and Mr. Jason Dade. A meeting was held at Chairman Wardwell's home, 39 Lorena Road, Wednesday evening, September 29. Mr. Wardwell's proposals were heartily endorsed by his committee, and a full report was given Tuesday evening to the full committee.

Also meeting this week was the sub-committee on "Absentee Ballots," headed by Chairman Mrs. N. M. Bell. Her committee members are: Mrs. Marjorie Root Moore, Mrs. R. T. Grainger, Mrs. S. Saltmarsh, Mr. K. Paul Chase, Mr. R. C. Harper, Mrs. C. G. Gay,

Observes 90th Birthday

Walter Jackson Brown, a resident of Winchester for 63 years, celebrated his 90th birthday at his home at 29 Calumet Road on October 5.

Born in Boston in 1870, Mr. Brown moved to Winchester in 1897 on marrying a Winchester girl, Lesley D. Bangs. He moved from Rangeley to his present home on Calumet Road in 1910.

He is still an active member of the Boston Stock Exchange, which presented him with a gold medal at the time of his fiftieth year on the floor of the exchange. He commutes daily to Boston, from Scituate in the summer and Winchester in the winter.

In the old days of the Calumet Club, Mr. Brown was active in its affairs, serving as president of the Club and participating regularly in its bowling league program. The Star joins his many friends in birthday congratulations.

Helping him celebrate his 90th birthday were his sister, Alice M. Brown of Weston, two sons-in-law and his three daughters, Mr. and Mrs. William A. McGray of Hamilton, Mrs. Joseph K. Billingsley of Newton Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox of Winchester, and a few friends.

Semi-Finalists Are Interviewed

9 Merit Scholars Have Wide Interests

The nine students chosen as semi-finalists in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship competition lead busy lives in and out of school. Their interests cover a variety of fields beyond the work of the classroom.

For instance, Elizabeth Root, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root of 14 Winthrop Street, is interested in the Girl Scouts, and was selected as a delegate to the 1959 Girl Scout Senior Round-up in Colorado Springs.

Not only has she played the flute and piccolo with the school band and orchestra for four years, but she has also played on the girls' hockey team. She is a member of the H. S. Science and Math Clubs. Radcliffe is her choice for a college where she will prepare for a career in mathematics.

Music is only one of the interests of Martha Maloney, who sings with the H. S. Octette as well as with the Mixed Glee Club. In sports she has played on the junior varsity basketball and softball teams, and was elected one of the captains of the varsity hockey team. This year she serves as assistant-editor of the Red and Black, and as co-news-chief for WHSR. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney of 6 Lincolnshire Way.

Claudia Kirkpatrick has her sights on Smith College and Harvard University leading to a career in the field of teaching or politics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kirkpatrick at 74 Oxford Street. Among her extra-curricular interests at high school are the Philosophy and Math Clubs.

School dramatics take a share of Ann Ryan's time. A member of Curtain and Cue, she had roles last

Expect Decision Next Week

Selectmen Agree In Principle On Sidewalks For West Side

The Board of Selectmen is agreed in principle that there should be sidewalks for certain sections of the West Side, Chairman H. Gardner Bradlee told the Star this week.

The Selectmen discussed the matter at their regular meeting Monday night, probing further into the controversial issue raised on September 26 when 175 West Side residents petitioned the Board for sidewalks to protect children walking to school.

The petition cited the children's "exposure to traffic hazards" and asked the Board to take immediate steps to protect them. The roads involved were Lockeland Road; High Street between Lockeland Road and Ridge Street; Ridge Street from High Street to Wincrest Drive; and Johnson Road from Ridge Street to Wildwood Street.

WARNS OF PRECEDENT

"The basic question," Mr. Bradlee said, "is one of policy. If the Board of Selectmen spends money for a sidewalk in a case like this it is establishing policy, establishing a precedent, committing the Town to a certain pattern of action in the future."

What alternative does the Board envision? "We are agreed," Mr. Bradlee said, "that this is a matter for the whole Town to decide at Town Meeting. Accordingly we will submit articles in the March, 1961 Warrant concerning this matter, as we explained some time ago in a letter to the West Side."

In the meantime, Mr. Bradlee said, the Board will continue its study of the matter, consulting with parties concerned, including the Town Engineer, the School Committee, the Finance Committee and the Planning Board.

SEES NO EMERGENCY

Mr. Bradlee said he felt with the provision of temporary school busses in the West Side areas affected in the sidewalk controversy there was "no immediately pressing problem."

The chairman also took issue with a statement made at last week's hearing at Town Hall. "I believe it was suggested," Mr. Bradlee said, "that the Town should pay for the sidewalks on the West Side as it has for those in the Center of Town. This is not quite accurate. The policy of the Town has been to pay one half of the cost of a sidewalk, charging the other 50% of the cost to the abutter."

Chief Derro Warns Against Solicitors

Unauthorized solicitors harassing Winchester residents prompted police authorities this week to issue another warning. Police Chief Derro has continually urged residents to do business wherever possible with local merchants and to make it a practice for their own safety to discourage door-to-door solicitors.

Democratic Town Committee At A Joint Strategy Meeting

At Wednesday night's meeting of the Town Committee, several important committee reports were received and approved. These included the report on registration submitted by Co-Chairman Mary V. Sericka and Helen Gaynor; the report on the Youth for Kennedy organization; the Election Day set-up with headquarters in each of the six precincts; and Chairman McDonald's report on the parade arrangements.

These arrangements, as decided upon at the joint meeting of the thirteen Democratic chairmen at a dinner-meeting at the Lexington Inn on Tuesday evening, call for the parade to start in Winchester.

This will take place at the Loring Avenue Playground at 12 noon on Saturday, October 15. Prior to the start of the cars, short remarks will be made by Joseph Ward, candidate for Governor and Tom O'Connor, candidate for the Senate. Although both are excellent speakers, the time schedule, which calls for the passage of the parade through Belmont, Lexington, Bedford, Maynard, (where Stow and Weston will also join the parade), Carlisle and Concord (including Lincoln), demands that speeches be of a brief nature.

Besides our top Democratic candidates, there will be in line the candidates for all State offices—Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary, etc. Also, local candidates of the towns we pass through will be given an opportunity to take a bow. The youth groups in the various towns will pass out literature advertising the candidates.

This will be an excellent chance for residents in this section of Middlesex County to see their candidates. Lawrence Corcoran, aspiring for the office of State Senator and Jack Costello, candidate for State Representative will say a few words here in Winchester.

The parade will wind up in Concord where a real rally is to take place and the various Town Committees will meet the candidates and get acquainted with one another, also.

One car in the parade will carry a representative group from Ward One in Woburn, the largest and most strongly Democratic ward in that city. Included in that group there will be Mayor John Gilgun (if his hospital stay shall have been terminated), Chairman Tom Lyons of the Woburn Democratic City Committee, and Alderman Waldron of Ward one. Ward one is a part of the Representative district in which Jack Costello is a candidate.

The list of associate members of the Town Committee was completed last evening. Given official sanction by the Committee, these outstanding and experienced workers will add strength and enthusiasm to the Democratic campaign in Winchester.

Interested guests at last night's meeting were Larry Corcoran, candidate for State Senator, and Jack Costello, candidate for State Representative.

James Bradley Chosen to Attend Atom Conference

James L. Bradley, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley, 16 Sherwood Road and Miss Eleanor Peck, Winchester High School Science teacher, have been selected to attend the Second Annual Conference on the Atom to be held in Chicago, Illinois, October 20 and 21. They will be among the ten high school science students and eight science teachers who will be guests of the Boston Edison Company at the Conference.

JAMES L. BRADLEY

The Conference will be held in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago and attended by more than 600 high school science students and teachers. Its purpose is to present to a group of the nation's most able science students and teachers a picture of the promise of the peaceful atom, and to help advance American interest in the study of science.

Bradley, a senior, has set an enviable record at Winchester High School, and only recently was announced, making the highest score for a Massachusetts entrant in the Merit Scholarship Foundation competition leading to the selection of semi-finalists.

Winchester Aided At Plane Crash

Winchester sent rescue equipment, and police and firefighters to aid at the tragic plane crash off the Cottage Park Yacht Club in Winthrop Tuesday evening.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., heard the report of the crash on the radio shortly after 6 and an urgent appeal for skin divers and lighting equipment. He called both police and fire headquarters and put rescue operations in motion.

At headquarters Sgt. James E. Farrell took charge and at fire headquarters Captain Frank Amico got things under way.

The Winchester police have two skin divers, Juvenile Officer Jim Cogan and Officer Angelo Amico.

Library Film Program

The first film program of the current season attracted several families on Friday evening and a capacity crowd of children on Saturday morning. The many types of harvests on a typical farm were shown through the eyes of two children in one short film prepared by the Encyclopedia Britannica. Another colorful picture showed how an African boy performs many of the same daily tasks as an American, using only different means and materials. "Green Mountain Legacy," the feature film, depicted Vermont and the achievements of its citizens through the years by means of beautiful color photography.

This week's program features "The Completion of the First Transcontinental Railroad," from the CBS "You Are There" series. Much of the excitement of this new venture, linking the East and the West, is portrayed in the film "Moose Baby." It tells the life story of a moose as he grows from birth to maturity in his Rocky Mountain home.

It is hoped that more families will make a place in the weekly schedule for the Friday night program. Children over 12 are welcome without an adult at this time.

Mrs. Gentile was the daughter of Thomas, and Michelina (Gallo) Derro. She was born November 4, 1919, in Winchester and grew up in the town, attending the Winchester schools and enjoying a wide circle of friends among the town's young people.

She accepted her long illness with great courage, and last June left her bed to attend the testimonial banquet in Cambridge for her brother when he became chief of police. She was warmly welcomed by the large crowd when she was introduced by Chief Derro at that time.

Mrs. Gentile leaves her husband, known in sports circles as "Tony" Gentile, a top-ranking official in college and professional basketball and president of the College Basketball Officials Association.

Also surviving are two daughters, Marie E., and Diane M. Gentile; four brothers, Chief Derro, Anthony, James and Albert Derro; also four sisters, Mrs. Gaspar Maggio, Mrs. John DeMinico, Mrs. Anthony DeLuca and Mrs. Anthony Macinanti, all of Winchester.

Mrs. Lombard was active in the Winchester Wellesley Club and the Visiting Nurse Association and she was also a member of the First Congregational Church. In recent years she had been in Winchester very little, dividing her time between her summer home in Hyannisport and Florida.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Robert L. (Katharine) Lombard of Cleveland, Ohio; a son, Laurence M. Lombard of Dedham; six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held Tuesday at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church with the minister, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Fantasia Fair

First call for the Parish of the Epiphany's Fantasia Fair! Friday, October 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., to be held in the new Hadley Hall. Many fantastic features and fabulous fancies will be offered. Fix on the date and watch for further fantasia facts to follow!

Chairman, Mrs. Gustav Kaufmann; co-chairman, Mrs. Harry L. Benson; treasurers, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Moffette.

Dr. William Hannan, who is on the staff of the Winchester Hospital as a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology, was one of the skin divers assisting at the plane crash in Winthrop Tuesday night.

They and their equipment left immediately for Winthrop in the department's new ranch wagon with Officer David Boyle as driver and Officer Jack McHugh. The fire department's rescue truck also headed for Winthrop with Mechanic Bobby Haggerty driving, Firefighter Hubert O'Donnell and Selectman Saltmarsh.

The police contingent went first to the vicinity of the Cottage Park Yacht Club, where Officers Amico and Cogan were taken by boat to a Navy tug from which diving operations were in progess. Later they and the ranch wagon were sent to Winthrop Bridge near Orient Heights to help there.

The fire department rescue wagon went to the beach at the foot of Sargent Street in Winthrop and immediately upon arrival got their lighting equipment in operation, being the first to provide lights in that location.

Wakefield and the Boston Fire Departments followed Winchester to the area. The local detail worked at the beach from 7:30 until 10 when the incoming tide made further efforts there impossible.

For the most part the firefighters pulled out great quantities of wreckage, the skin divers attaching ropes to the larger pieces which were then pulled ashore by the workers on the beach. Helicopters hovered over the water with searchlights to aid in the work. All sorts of personal luggage was brought ashore with pieces of the plane fuselage and seats from the plane. Airplane authorities asked that every bit of wreckage possible be recovered.

At 10 o'clock the Winthrop fire chief ordered the Winchester Fire Department unit with other rescue units to the Winthrop Bridge where the incoming tide was bringing in great quantities of wreckage. Woburn, Chelsea, Boston, Winthrop, Lawrence and an "Army Duck" from Milton were at the bridge with Winchester, and the Boston Harbor police boat was also off shore. As wreckage was recovered it was piled on the police boat.

Both Officer Amico and Officer Cogan did a lot of diving and aided greatly in the recovery of wreckage. No victims of the crash were recovered.

From 10 o'clock until 1 a.m. the local units worked at Winthrop Bridge before being relieved of duty and sent home.

The Winthrop authorities were profuse in their thanks to the local groups. All the fire department fighting equipment was used at the beach, but the first aid equipment taken to Winthrop was not needed.

Traffic conditions about Winthrop were described by Selectman Saltmarsh as terrible with utter confusion caused in many places by huge crowds of curiosity seekers who drove as near the wreck as possible despite all appeals to keep away from the accident.

Senior Forum

"Which Way Are You Growing?" will be the question which Rev. Richard L. Rush will discuss at the Senior Forum chapel service this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. at the First Congregational Church. Mr. Rush ("Dick" as he is known to his many friends in Winchester) is associate minister of the West Medford Congregational Church.

A Winchester boy, he grew up in First Church and was one of the most outstanding Forum presidents of recent years. Upon graduation from Winchester High, he earned degrees at Oberlin College and Andover Newton Theological School prior to his ordination to the Congregational ministry in West Medford last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Rush and their small daughter live in West Medford.

He is presently adviser to the Woburn Pilgrim Fellowship comprising the youth activities of churches in the Woburn Association of Congregational Christian Churches. Since many of the features of Forum life were established during the years when Dick was in Forum and especially when he was president, his visit to a Forum chapel service will be a highlight of the year.

Joe Emerson, treasurer, will be chaplain for the service with Frank Curtis serving as assistant chaplain. Rick Stewart and Rod Gay will be deacons and Leroy Shea and Bucky Nichols ushers.

On Wednesday, October 12, the fall outing for Forumites will be held at the Congregational Center in Framingham. Buses will leave the church yard at 10:00 a.m. for a day of sports and good fun at the Center. Arrangements for the day are in charge of George Neville, sports chairman, and the officers.

Plans for the Forum Choir call for two sections, a mixed choir of fellows and girls singing four part music, and a girls' choir. Choir rehearsals are held on Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. in the Tucker Room and are conducted by Robert A. White, choirmaster at the church. All boys and girls interested are urged to attend.

It is with great pleasure that the people of Winchester welcome to town Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nickerson, Mr. Nickerson being known to many through his long association with Filene's in this town. Arrangements are being made for an open house at the Nickersons' home on Hemingway Street, to which all their friends are invited.

St. Mary's Mothers' Club

The first meeting of the Mothers' Club was held at St. Mary's Hall Wednesday evening, September 28, and opened with a prayer by Rev. Edmund L. Parker.

The new officers were introduced as follows:

President—Mrs. Fred Cause
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Walter Crotty
Rec. Secretary—Mrs. John Fitzgerald
Corr. Sec. — Mrs. Patrick Cosgrove
Treasurer—Mrs. Joseph Kane
Publicity—Mrs. Walter Appleton

The room mothers appointed for the year are as follows:

Grade 1—Mrs. Salvatore Arria
Grade 2—Mrs. August Niewenhous
Grade 3—Mrs. Louis Covino
Grade 4—Mrs. Frank Grabiec
Grade 5—Mrs. Anthony Falzano
Grade 6—Mrs. Joseph Meehan
Grade 7—Mrs. Daniel Brennan, Mrs. Timothy Sullivan
Grade 8—Mrs. Karl Oliver, Mrs. Francis Hurley

It was most gratifying to note there were approximately 200 members at the opening meeting, and the new mothers were cordially welcomed.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Dick Elson, editor of the Boston Globe's Confidential Chat. Mr. Elson told how Confidential Chat originated many years ago, and his interesting and amusing anecdotes of the many writers to the column was enjoyed immensely by one and all.

A very pleasant evening was drawn to a close with refreshments served by the second-grade mothers, with Mrs. August Niewenhous in charge.

The cake and apron sale held at Converse Market Friday, September 30, was a huge success, and we wish to thank Mrs. Carl Hakel and her committee for their fine work, and thanks to all who contributed goodies and aprons to the sale. We wish to thank Mr. Nick Andon of Converse Market for his kindness and generosity in donating a most attractive spot in his store for our sale.

Plans are under way at this writing and will appear elsewhere in the Star with details for a talent show. Mrs. Walter Crotty is chairman of the talent show which is being conducted by Berkeley School of Music in cooperation with Community Opticians. Date of the show will be November 13, and auditions will be held by the Berkeley School of Music at St. Mary's Hall. Applications will be available for talented individuals, young or old, who wish to try out for this exciting event.

Our thanks are extended to all the members of the various committees who helped launch this first meeting so successfully, and also to the mothers for their fine attendance.

Bixler Announces United Fund Division Chairmen

Herbert E. Bixler, chairman of Winchester's 1961 United Fund Campaign committee, has announced appointment of the community's division chairmen. All are giving their time to support of 228 agencies dependent upon Greater Boston United Fund dollars.

William Sullivan of 93 Highland Avenue will be chairman of the residential division, working with team captains and solicitors covering homes throughout Winchester. Donald Koskinen, 11 Arlington Street, chairman of the general business division, is forming similar teams to solicit local businesses. Solicitation of local clubs and other civic organizations is under the direction of Mrs. B. Kendall Way, 33 Fells Road.

Administrative division activities are headed by John W. Harrison of 47 Yale Street. Mrs. Rembrandt P. Lane of 4 Maple Road is in charge of worker education. She will provide captains and solicitors with information about the United Fund's total effort and the part Winchester people can have in putting the campaign over the top this year with "The Missing Million." Edward M. Crabtree, 7 Risley Road, is handling local publicity. He is also chairman of the United Fund's Special Press committee, assisting editors of industrial, trade and association publications to tell the UF story.

"The division chairmen are the core of our local campaign effort," Mr. Bixler comments. "They will provide leadership in vital areas of the drive in Winchester.

"With Boston the major source of our community's livelihood, we are also dependent in more ways than we sometimes realize, on many of the United Fund agencies throughout the Greater Boston area. Therein lies Winchester's responsibility in this annual fund drive. The United Fund campaign drive this fall is Boston's most important fund drive. General chairman Boone Gross of Gillette and the volunteer and professional staff are making a supreme effort to raise the funds needed by agencies that serve so many people. The drive fell short in past years. Our division chairmen are out to provide the leadership and stimulus to help Winchester make this once-a-year effort the success it should be."

Miss Julia T. Meskell

Miss Julia T. Meskell, a native and widely known resident of Winchester, died Wednesday morning, October 5, at Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford after a short illness.

Miss Meskell was the daughter of David, and Ellen (O'Connell) Meskell. She was born March 30, 1895, in Winchester and grew up in this town, attending the Winchester schools. For many years she served the Badger family of Winchester as a housekeeper. She was one of the older members of St. Mary's Sodality and for many years active in St. Mary's parish affairs.

She leaves two brothers, Michael P., of Medford, and Bart J. Meskell of Wakefield. The late Lt. David J. Meskell of the fire department was another brother. She also leaves three nieces and four nephews, among them the Rev. David B. Meskell of St. Pius Church, Lynn.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem High Mass celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Visiting hours are Thursday and Friday from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Star had a visit yesterday from a Winchester old timer, Ned Crawford, now in the employ of Sumner McCall in Williamsville, Vt. Ned is stopping with his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. George Young on Washington Street. He has been for 66 years in the McCall employ.

Police News

PLATE STOLEN

Frederick Stevenson, Jr., of 99 Hemingway Street reported to police on Thursday that a number plate had been stolen from his truck while it was parked in the town hall lot between 12 midnight and 7 a.m. The truck was registered to an auto parts firm in North Billerica.

PARTY-BUSTERS

Sgt. Dukes Farrell and Officer Callahan broke up a wild teenage party-busting group of twenty on Robinhood Road last Friday night shortly before ten o'clock. The policemen were responding to a complaint of hot rodders in the residential area when they spotted the uninvited guests, anxious to bust into a party in progress. The youngsters, reported to live in the Symmes Corner area, were invited strongly to leave.

SIGN DESTROYED

The precinct sign at the intersection of Lakeview Road and Mystic Valley Parkway was reported torn down on Friday afternoon. Officer Nash reported the vandalism to police headquarters.

ON THE PROWL

Two Highland Avenue residents telephoned police Saturday night about 8 o'clock reporting a group of some teenagers prowling about, apparently looking for a party to crash. Cruisers were dispatched to patrol the area.

MARKET BREAK

Officer Donald Murphy, making his rounds at 3:30 a.m. Sunday discovered that the back door of Lynch's Market had been tampered with. The officer said the door screen had been ripped, but that entry was presumably foiled by the size of the door, too small to permit access.

MAN ARRESTED

A report to police Sunday at 6:10 p.m. concerning a man "acting strangely" on Columbus Road resulted in the arrest of a Winchester man for drunkenness. Police relieved the arrested man of a .22-calibre Winchester rifle.

FOILS BREAK

Officer Donald Murphy's alertness perhaps thwarted the rifling of a car parked in the Winchester Theatre lot at 8:30 Sunday night. Murphy spotted two boys milling about the automobile and took off after them. He said they ran across the tracks in the direction of Shore Road, and he was unable to apprehend them.

CADILLAC DAMAGED

William Kelley of 501 Washington Street told police that his Cadillac, parked on Church Street just west of Rangeley Road, was damaged by an unknown person Monday night at about 5:45 p.m. His Cadillac had been parked in the area between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon, he said. The back door and fender were reported scratched and dented, and the rear-view mirror was reported stolen.

COLLISION

Richard Tofuri of 42 Holland Street operating a Pontiac was in collision with a Dodge driven by William Haggerty near 711 Washington Street Saturday at 1:23 a.m. A young Winchester girl, riding with Haggerty, was treated for minor injuries at Winchester Hospital.

To Speak About Church's Work In Colleges

As the Hospitality Committee of the parish, the Tuesday Group welcomes all the women of Epiphany to the first meeting and tea of our church's fall season.

Tuesday afternoon, October 11, the meeting will begin promptly at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. K. Colony, 6 Mystic Valley Parkway.

The Rev. Myron Bloy will speak on the work of the Episcopal Church in the colleges.

Mr. Bloy is a dynamic young clergyman who graduated from Kenyon College in 1950, received his S.T.B. degree from the Cambridge Episcopal Theological School in 1956, and an M.A. in English Literature from the University of Connecticut in 1959. He has served on the staff of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, and in the U. S. Navy during World War II. At present he is concerned with the challenging and varied responsibilities as college chaplain with the Episcopal Ministry at M.I.T.

Following the meeting, tea will be served, and there will be an opportunity to greet the newcomers to the parish, honor guests of the afternoon, as well as old friends at Epiphany.

Butterworth At Direct Mail Convention

Mr. Paul Butterworth, formerly of Winchester, will participate in the 1960 Direct Mail Advertising Association convention at the Americana Hotel in Bal Harbour, Florida, October 9-13. The five-day industrial conference, sponsored for the 43rd consecutive year, has as its theme, "New Worlds for Direct Mail in the Sixties." DMAA is a trade association of approximately 2500 firms in the direct mail industry.

Mr. Butterworth, who now resides in Reading, is a member of the creative department at Dickie-Raymond, Inc., in Boston. At the convention he will lead a round-table discussion on Direct Mail Copywriting, as part of the "New Worlds of Information" program.

Absentee Ballot Committee

An organization meeting of the absentee ballot committee of the Winchester Republican Club was held Monday evening at 18 Ledgewood Road at the home of Mrs. Nelson Bell. Mrs. Bell is co-chairman of the committee with H. Rushton Harwood, chairman.

In order that all Republicans may vote who are not able to get to the polls it was stressed they must first: register by October 7; apply for an absentee voters' ballot from the town clerk; upon receiving their ballot, vote, have it notarized, then return the ballot by mail to the town clerk.

The following committees were set up:

It was urged that all parents and families of college students, servicemen, traveling business men apply for absentee voters' ballots.

Application for absentee voters' ballots may be obtained either at the town clerk's office or at Republican headquarters.

The following people will be glad to act as a notaries public gratis: Mr. William Wilde, Mrs. William Cusack, Mr. H. Rushton Harwood, Mr. Earl O. Spencer, Mr. Ralph Hatch, Mr Arthur Schmidt, Mr. William Twombly.

It was stressed that if there is a slight possibility a person is to be out of town an application for an absentee ballot should be made out. He need not use the absentee ballot if he finds he is to be in town.

"The Sight You Save May Be Your Own"

Lions Club of Winchester announce the official kick-off of the 1960 Eye Research Fund Campaign during the month of October.

This is the eighth consecutive year that the Massachusetts Lions have chosen eye research as chief fund-raising activity. They are currently supporting eye research projects in the fields of tumors of the eye, blindness due to diabetes and analysis of clinical material of the Retina Service.

The research projects are at Tufts, Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Joslin Clinic, the Ophthalmic Plastics Laboratory, the E. B. Dunphy Eye Research Fellowship, the Howe Laboratory of Ophthalmology and the Retina Foundation.

President Frank Klayda pointed out that the need for research is desperate. "Someone in this country goes blind every 24 minutes" he said, "Over the last twenty-five years, eye research, due to lack of funds, has lagged considerably behind the research in most other disease groups, despite the fact that blindness is the most crippling of all diseases.

If the causes of blindness are to be discovered and prevented, eye research is our only hope. We urge every citizen of our community to cooperate with our campaign. If funds are provided, tremendous possibilities for eye research can be instituted.

Support this project and buy light bulbs when a Lions representative calls at your home. "Give Light to the Sightless."

Unitarian Alliance

The first general meeting of the Winchester Branch of the Unitarian Alliance will be held on Tuesday morning, October 11, at the Unitarian Church. At 9:30 a.m. a delicious brunch will be served in Metcalf Hall by a committee consisting of Mrs. Warren P. Eldridge, chairman; Mrs. Carlton W. Totman, and Mrs. Alton D. Jones. A baby-sitting service will be available.

Following the brunch the meeting will be held in the Symmes Room. The subject of the meeting is "Summer Pleasures Renewed," and four Alliance members who have traveled this past summer will recount some of their experiences. Mrs. Clifford Birch has been to the North Cape and will illustrate her story with pictures. Mrs. Kenneth Hall will talk about Scandinavia, Mrs. Joseph Morton will report on her two months' European trip, and Mrs. Neil H. Borden will comment on Japan, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Macau.

Also of interest to Alliance members is the Middle Atlantic Region Conference to be held next week on October 12, 13 and 14, at Pocono Pines, Pa. On Thursday evening, October 13, at 7:45 p.m., Mrs. William D. Davies, III, of Winchester, past president of the national Alliance as well as a past president of the Winchester Chapter, will address the Conference. Her subject is: "Together We Can Go Farther."

The Winchester Star
Established 1880 by Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Editorials:

Inexcusable

It is hard to understand the thinking of persons who would remove flowers from graves and place them on other plots or strew them around the ground of a cemetery. It would seem that cemeteries should be inviolate, but there have been plenty of times in the past when they have not been, and the latest instance reported to the Police involves Calvary Cemetery in East Woburn where many Winchester people of Catholic faith are resting.

Complaints came to Police Headquarters last week that youths had been seen in the Winchester section of the cemetery, taking flowers that were decorating graves and placing them on other graves or scattering them around on the ground.

There have been other complaints in past years of vandalism in Calvary and to a lesser degree in our own Wildwood Cemetery. Occasionally one reads of such deplorable activity in out-of-town cemeteries.

Where those responsible have been brought to court no leniency has been shown grave despoilers, and none should be shown them!

Police Chief Derro has told the Star that court action will positively be taken against any one caught in such activity either at Calvary or Wildwood. The Chief asks through the Star that parents instruct their youngsters who have occasion to visit our cemeteries that loved ones of their friends and neighbors are sleeping there, as well as the service dead of all wars.

Cemeteries are places to treat with profound respect, not to despoil. We believe that young people having this in mind will not wish to violate them.

To End The Debate

No more black squirrels please! We've had it! And you will recall it was Mrs. Mitchell who wanted to know about them anyhow.

We are happy to have taken her from the dilemma in which she found herself and to be the instrument through which she must certainly have learned that there are squirrels, that are black, tails and all!

We extend our thanks to all the friends who have taken the trouble to tell us about black squirrels and have to admit the abysmal ignorance with which we were charged by Dr. Wolfe when he visited the editorial sanctum to inform us that "of course there are black squirrels!"

Dorothy Wellington George was the first to tell the Star about black squirrels and there have been many more since her primary call. Some have dropped in, some have telephoned.

Latest was Harris Richardson, former President of the State Senate and long a prominent figure civically and socially in Winchester. Harris has, or has had a pair of black squirrels frequent his place on Mt. Pleasant Street. He doesn't actually know whether they have been there this fall because he has not, or had not when he talked to the Star returned to town from that haven of all true vacationists, Conomo Point.

Harris says the pair around his property were very friendly and on one occasion one of them fell down his chimney and lodged in the fireplace draft. Harris thought it was a bird and would get out again all right by himself, but when the sratching and scuffling continued, he opened the grate and out popped the black squirrel, a bit blacker than usual, but chipper and debonair as could be.

Making himself at home on the lounge, the squirrel paid a bit of a call and then left by the front door, taking a long drink from a puddle of rain water on the front porch.

Harris doesn't know where he went, but he and his pal continued to stay around the place, tame as could be, and the Richardsons are looking forward to seeing them when they get back home later in the fall.

Our File, An Appeal!

The Star, like all newspapers, keeps files of back issues. These are kept for our own benefit and also the convenience of the public. Any one is at liberty to consult our files at any time.

It never occurred to us that any one would deliberately mutilate our files. Often they are roughly used and damaged thoughtlessly, but this week as we skipped through the pages of our current file, looking up an occurrence on which we wanted exact data, we discovered that some one had cut an article from one of the pages of an issue. Papers are always inspected before insertion in the file so we know the article was not missing when the paper went in.

Just a little thought will suffice to indicate why matter should not be cut from a newspaper file. First of all the piece so taken is missing from the file and therefore not available to any one who perhaps might wish to refer to it for information that could be quite necessary. Also missing is whatever chanced to be printed on the reverse side of the page where the cutting was done.

As luck would have it we were able to piece up an issue to replace that which had been defaced. We might not have been so fortunate. We had no second complete copy.

Articles in back issues of newspapers, any newspapers can be extremely important. We keep our files of them for our own, and the benefit of the public. Please be careful of our files when you have occasion to refer to them. They deserve to be treated with the consideration due important public records.

A Thoughtless Act

The Winchester boys who hung a dummy representing Stoneham from a tree beside the scoreboard last Saturday before the start of the Middlesex League football game between Stoneham and Winchester did a thoughtless thing that well could have led to serious consequences. Such actions have precipitated riots and might well have led to trouble last Saturday, if Stoneham had more supporters at the game.

The Police kept things quiet around the effigy, though a Stoneham boy did pull down the lower part of the figure at a time when the Winchester cohorts were being driven away by the Police. Why the officers did not have the figure cut down immediately and taken to the sidelines, or why they permitted it to be put up in the first place, we do not know. They did get it down and removed from the field, but reappeared at the end of the game.

And what about it, you will say, just a few kids having some fun! Why get all steamed up over it?

We repeat, this incident could have led to a pitched battle, the results of which are not pleasant to think about.

Winchester football has been fortunate through the years, though riots have been narrowly averted; once years ago after a Concord game, later at a Punchard game, again during a Woburn game on the old Shore Road Field and in recent years at a Reading game. The Star is pleased to say that in each instance the initiative did not come from Winchester.

Quick action by the police prevented the fights from assuming serious proportions, though tear gas and some pretty drastic constabulary action were used at the Punchard scrap.

Winchester does not want any such trouble as last Saturday's foolish prank could have precipitated, and it is very fortunate that there was not a big partisan crowd in the opposition stands. Large scale fights are not what they were even a few years ago. Lethal weapons, like switch knives and blackjacks can make what used to be a nice punch-throwing Donnybrook something far more dangerous.

Schoolboy football won't stand too many riots. We supporters of schoolboy sports should remember this. We should also remember that visiting teams and their followers are our guests. Our reputation for good sportsmanship depends upon our treatment of them.

Our cheer-leaders, tumblers and band spend long hours and a good deal of real effort preparing activities for our own and the pleasure of visiting fans. It would be a shame to have their time and efforts nullified by the thoughtless action of a small group who surely do not represent the many followers of our teams whose reputation for good sportsmanship has long been a by-word wherever Winchester has appeared.

Our Merit Scholars

We in Winchester have every reason to be extremely proud of the showing made by our high school boys and girls in the current merit scholarship competition. Having nine remaining in competition as semi-finalists and having seven more receive letters of commendation is an outstanding record, especially in view of the fact that Winchester has a much higher elimination ranking than many schools because of the standing of our school system.

To top off Winchester's splendid showing in the Merit Competition, James Bradley of Winchester High School made the highest grade of any competition among the 19,616 from Massachusetts, scoring an outstanding 163 as against the theoretical perfect score of 180.

All of us in Winchester can rejoice at such academic success, showering congratulations upon the nine semi-finalists and heaping praise upon the school whose faculty and training have made this achievement possible. Winchester is very evidently doing something toward assisting the gifted scholars in realizing their true potential!

The Star particularly liked the way in which High School Principal Niblock announced the success of the Merit Scholarship competitors, telling at the same time of recent successes of the football and cross country teams.

In this way he placed scholastic achievement on the same level as that of athletic teams. That is where it belongs. We must hold up to public acclaim the outstanding scholar as we do the outstanding athlete.

More and more everywhere good scholarship is assuming a new importance, or perhaps this is not truly an accurate statement, because there was a time in this country when the boy or girl who led his or her class scholastically was the one singled out for highest community praise.

The great development in athletics and the huge increased interest in athletic games by the public caused the pendulum to swing away from the gifted scholar and shower adulation on the brilliant athlete.

Now the pendulum is swinging again toward a greater interest in scholarship and scholars. This does not mean that athletics and standout athletes should be forgotten. A well-rounded school will produce both fine athletic and outstanding scholars. It is reassuring to know that here in Winchester we realize that this is possible.

WHSR Radio Station Presents Entertaining Program Of Taste

JACK MEMISHIAN engineers his popular music show while Jim Hill stands by to present WHSR news and weather report.

"Good afternoon, this is station WHSR-FM, 91.9 megacycles on your FM band, with broadcasting facilities located in Winchester Senior High School in Winchester, Massachusetts."

Sound familiar? Well, it is in 1960. But in 1951 these words were just a dream. And even the dream faded into the background of our thoughts during the Korean conflict. As the boys sailed for the Far East the pre-occupations of Town and nation just did n't include student radio stations.

For a long time after the war, Winchester students wondered whether the dream would ever be realized, and they began to lose hope.

Then in 1954 a real spark of hope was kindled when the Winchester Rotary Club, under the leadership of John Rutherford, Alfred Elliott, Wade Grindle and Stanford Moses chose the student radio station as its annual project.

When Rotarians rolled up their sleeves in their annual auction and other fund-raising drives, nearly four thousands dollars were raised for the station.

During the construction of the new high school, however, it became clear that additional funds would have to be raised for installing the new radio station. Then it was decided to convert the proposed speech laboratory into a room with facilities for radio broadcasting. The new station was officially dedicated on June 1, 1956. The dream had come true.

Since the time of its inauguration the student radio station has experienced a steady growth, so that today it is staffed by seventeen students:

Here is the countdown:

CHIEF ENGINEERS

John Memishian and Phil Minotti are Chief Engineers. Their job is to supervise the technical phase of WHSR broadcasting. They exercise sole responsibility for the manipulation of electrical equipment, sound devices and microphones.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT

Jon Hopkins and Cliff Sundberg head up the sports department at the station, covering all athletic events played at home. They provide fans with lively play-by-play coverage over WHSR during actual game time. Sometimes they travel with the team, too, for example to the Tech Tourney Basketball Championship, and to other special sports spectaculars.

NEWS, TOO

The News Department of WHSR plays an increasingly important role in radio programming. This aspect of WHSR activities is supervised by Marilyn Beckley and Martha Maloney.

Marilyn and Martha transcribe six weekly reports on school activities, local happenings and world news. On-the-spot Town Meeting coverage and weather forecasting are the latest additions to this program.

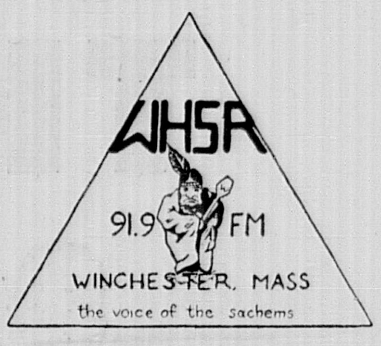
DRAMATICS

Monthly radio plays are produced and broadcast in the Special Events division. These plays are produced under the direction of Nancy Brown and Donna Cartier and have become increasingly popular.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

But all is not talk on WHSR! Musical programs play a major role. Sue Koch serves as Record Librarian classifying records received through the station's contract with a major recording firm. Sue also has supervision over the selection and loan of all albums owned by the station.

Peggy Padelford and James Bradley supervise the programming of all classical music. Through their efforts Winchester people hear distinguished broadcasts of musical works from Bach to Berlioz.



WHSR SYMBOL

Heading up the Pop music department are Janet Keppler and Penny Dalzeil. All pops belong on this bright little show, from classic jazz and subtle swing to rollicking rock 'n roll.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

A central concern of any organization is increasing public awareness of its activities and objectives. This holds true of WHSR.

Jane McKenney and Bucky Nichols handle the public relations for the station. Weekly schedules of programs are distributed to all homerooms and published in the Star so that Winchester will be aware of all the station's activities.

STATION MANAGERS

Coordinating these many departments of WHSR-FM are Station Managers Linda Chase and Jim Hill. Linda and Jim, advised by Mr. Thomas A. Morse, vice principal of Winchester High School, have a full-time job on their hands, making certain that tasteful and entertaining programs are presented over the radio station.

GROWING APPRECIATION

WHSR staff members and participating students, not to say the listening Winchester public, have a growing appreciation for the radio station.

Staff members and participants acquire valuable knowledge of radio operation, production and planning. They have an unusual opportunity to develop speaking abilities, and cultivate their musical tastes.

The listening public is provided with the only station heard in Winchester devoted exclusively to Town affairs, and it is believed that they are given an opportunity to listen to programs of comparatively high quality.

OBJECTIVES

Participating Winchester students have high hopes and great plans for WHSR-FM. They would like to increase broadcasting hours, present debates of Town-wide interest, and interview interesting guests and public figures. Already the station is preparing education programs to be used in the elementary schools.

Why not make it a habit to tune in to 91.9 on the FM band, and become a regular listener to Winchester's own radio station.

THE PRESIDENTIAL IMAGE

By WILSON SULLIVAN

Presidential campaign biographies from 1824 to 1960 show remarkable similarity in technique and content, says Tulane History Professor W. Burlie Brown in "The People's Choice."

These campaign tracts, composed by authors as illustrious as Howells and Hawthorne, advance "persuasive propaganda" rather than documented biography, Brown writes. If unreliable as studies of political issues, he believes, they are extremely useful in analyzing the nature of U. S. political appeals.

From infancy, the ideal Presidential candidate, lisping republican principles from his trundle bed, is destined to command the ship of state. Born to decently poor parents in a log cabin, or at least in "an unpretentious frame house," he is possessed of colonial ancestors uniformly rebellious, with never a Royalist skeleton in the closet.

In school the candidate is fun-loving, but never rowdy, a bright student but not "studious." He never misses a recitation, is at the school door before it opens, and foregoes throwing apple cores in class or blowing up the school. Gradually, however, Tom Sawyer makes room for Frank Merriwell. The boy who played Indian becomes the Ivy quarterback. The glories of the playing field replace the delights of the ol' swimming hole.

For the candidate, "life is real, life is earnest." If "deprived of an education," if his father's sole bequest is a shining example, the candidate becomes "the self-made man." He walks eight miles to borrow a grammar. He sells vegetables in Abilene. By the rustic oil lamp he develops, of course, an overriding interest in history. But no egghead, he, no purveyor of frail theory over manly facts. "It is not a little learning, but too much that is a dangerous thing," Brown explains.

The candidate's way is rocky, but "inevitably upward," Brown writes. Rising through the ranks from the three-dollar-a-week job, he exchanges rags for near-riches "purely by dint of hard work, thrift, perseverance, and the cultivation of a strong and virtuous character."

The acceptable candidate serves early as citizen-soldier. He is Cincinnatus summoned from his plow "to save the Republic in her hour of need," thanking a just Providence for victory, then dutifully beating his word into a plowshare, or urging preparedness. He is first on the battlefield, proving personal courage and power of leadership. If fate should make him a professional soldier, he's recast in the image of Washington, friend of the G. I. The biographer's aim: to show, Brown writes, that "beneath that glittering uniform there beats a pure civilian heart."

But if the candidate is citizen-soldier he is also a "son of the soil." In the ritual of agrarian fundamentalism, Brown explains, the candidate is anointed as the "sturdy yeoman," a "symbol of honesty, integrity, instinctive democracy and almost mystical capacity for statesmanship . . . plain, faithful, toilsome, and frugal." The image persists: Coolidge coaxing sap from maples, Bryan among the hogs, Dewey among the cabbages. In the agrarian mystique "virtue radiates up through the plow handles, infusing the plowman with honor, manliness, noble thought, patriotism, (and) responsibility . . ."

If, of all things, the candidate has practiced law (and two-thirds of the major party candidates have) he is pictured not as the pettifogging, greedy manipulator of technicalities, but as the people's champion fighting unpaid for penniless widows, and rejecting unjust clients. If he is a businessman, he is invested with the prudence and "soundness" that uniquely qualify him for leadership in the Supreme Business: the fortunes of the Republic.

Above all, the candidate is "Everyman," you and me—all of us. Repository of all the fireside virtues, he stands "foursquare for God, Home and Mother." Spartan, neither rich nor poor, he is religiously orthodox but non-sectarian. Beloved by all adjacent children and dogs, he is a non-drinker cheerfully mixing drinks for friends, a non-smoker who hands out cigars and nobly suffers the great blue smoke clouds from other people's pipes.

As American as apple pie, he never "seeks office." He is sought by the office, summoned by countrymen who will not be denied the best. Never partisan, he is admired by all "right-thinking" members of the opposing party. And in a marvellous, mystical laying-on-of-hands he is Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, and all that is America.

In extremity, the candidate may share the Providential glory of Garfield. At the moment of his nomination, his biographer assures us, "a magnificent bald eagle, after arching around the park, swooped down and rested on the general's house."

Townsend Facts

Editor of the Star:

Until Dr. Townsend gave his program to the country in 1934, the Townsend Plan was brand new, and its power had not yet been felt. Today, no congressman can escape thinking about the Townsend Plan when he is called upon to vote on a social security measure.

Expense of the Two Systems

Social Security Act—the Townsend Plan.

John Doyle Elliott, economic consultant for the Townsend organization, states:

"The present system under Title II of the Social Security Old Age Survivors and Disability Insurance spends about 3% of the money it collects for administration.

"The highest sensible estimate we can make for administrative costs under the Townsend bill allowing for maximum possibilities is ½% of the revenue collected."

Mrs. Louise E. Chase

Appreciates Support

Editor of the Star:

May I express my sincere appreciation to the voters of Winchester for their approval of my public record by nominating me for Senator in the new Sixth Middlesex District.

Also, may I solicit an invitation to any groups of citizens, fraternal organizations or other civic groups to discuss the issues of the Senatorial campaign, and, for this purpose would you please either write to me at my home address at 146 George Street, Arlington, or call me at my home telephone, MIssion 3-2955.

I will make every effort to be present at any meeting to discuss this campaign.

Very truly yours,
Lawrence E. Corcoran
146 George Street, Arlington

The Increasing League Budget

Editor of the Star:

May I, as Treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Winchester, present some details of the current budget, bringing up to date the article in last week's Star?

Realizing that rising costs of many kinds must be covered by an increase in the membership fee, League members voted two years ago to raise the basic dues to $4.00 per year. We hope that this amount does not prevent any interested woman from joining.

Many members, including some who are not able to attend meetings or take an active part in committee work, add a contribution. We now estimate that membership dues will provide 57% of the total needed, with another 20% from member contributions. Last year 23% was contributed by publis-spirited citizens of Winchester who wished to assist the work of the League of Women Voters on local, State and National levels.

We very much appreciate their support, both moral and financial, as we operate this year under a slightly larger budget geared to increased activity, particularly in local community service.

Success, Happiness, Sorrow!

Editor of the Star:

As we extend our deep sympathy to Anthony Gentile and his family on the death of Mrs. Gentile and to Police Chief Joseph Derro in the loss of his beloved sister, we cannot help but feel that success, happiness and sorrow go hand in hand along life's way.

So, while we struggle along towards a joyous tomorrow, as we might say, perhaps we might be mindful of these words which only this morning we noticed inscribed on an outer wall of a new high school in Arlington: "Blessed Are the Poor in Spirit - The Merciful - The Peacemakers - The Clean of Heart - For They Shall See God."

Sincerely,
Jim Corrigan

Has Anyone The Answer?

Editor of the Star:

We hear so much these days of helping other nations and giving to them and all that, but did you know, that if you were in dire straights today, and owned a home you had struggled to keep, you couldn't get any help, unless you signed it over to the right people.

This, of course, would mean when you had eaten it up, you could take the pauper's oath and become an old age case.

This is surely a fine way to meet old age in our country of plenty.

If any one can inform me by mail, how a man can get by who is retired and ill with a wife who needs medical attention, and they have nothing but their home, I would appreciate it!

I have asked all the different people who do this kind of work and they refer you back to welfare. Welfare says they must have a paper signed before they can help. Hope someone can throw some light on this.

Mrs. L. E. Chase
P.O. Box 17,

Thanks for The "Chuck Wagon"

Editor of the Star:

May I, through the Star, thank the Rotary Club for its gift of the fine "Chuck Wagon" to the Friends of the Winchester High School Band and Orchestra. We, the workers, have long wished for a permanent stand to make our work easier and more efficient. Above all, we have wished for a roof over our heads during some memorable northeasters.

Now we have this stand which is perfect in every detail and we would like Mr. Alfred Elliott and his committee to know how much we appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert F. Williams

Winchester Art Association Classes Begin

"Returning to Winchester is almost like coming home," said Mr. King Coffin, who teaches the Winchester Art Association class for adults. The class will meet on Monday, October 10, at 7 p.m. at the high school drafting room for the first of the series of classes.

"I am delighted to be coming back; we have such interested and earnest students, and such an excellent place for our classes at the Winchester High School," continued Mr. Coffin. "Thanks to the Art Association, Winchester is one town where people realize that art is an important part of everyone's life, not just something for the specialist."

Mr. Coffin, who is a native of Medford, has taught art in the Greater Boston area since he completed his studies at the Museum School. He is noted for his ability to make basic principles of art seem simple to the amateur, and for his belief that everyone has sufficient artistic ability to learn enough about the creative process to have an absorbing pastime.

"What handicaps people more than anything else is a tremendous lack of self-confidence," he said. "Along the way somewhere most people have been assured that they couldn't draw at all—and of course if this is believed, it certainly acts as the strongest possible deterrent to both effort and success. But in art there are rules and regulations which, if followed—or judiciously not followed—will result in a credible piece of work. I think the Art Association classes have done a great deal to help people on their way to self-expression."

F. BRADFORD MORSE, LOWELL G.O.P. NOMINEE to succeed the late Edith Nourse Rogers as representative in Congress from the 5th Massachusetts District, received presidential endorsement during a conference with President Eisenhower last week. Morse, who two weeks ago resigned his position in the Eisenhower administration as deputy administrator of veterans' affairs, expressed "total confidence" that he will keep the seat in experienced hands. Morse said he will campaign vigorously in every "nook and corner" of the district.

Dr. Gilson Addresses Noonan School Mothers

The Noonan School Mothers' Association met this week for their first business meeting and for the reception for the teachers.

The feature of the afternoon was an address by Dr. Harry Gilson. Dr. Gilson reviewed his conviction that the key to our nation's strength lies in an educated citizenry. The greatest aid to that end, he said, will be through parents and schools cooperating to inculcate in our children the basic values required to fulfill our democratic way of life.

Members of the Board were introduced by Mrs. Frank Brooks, president. The teachers were presented by Miss Minnetta Jurgenson, principal. Each teacher was pinned with a corsage by Mrs. Joseph Cullinane, secretary. Special greetings were extended to the new teachers, Miss Marjorie Edwards, Grades 5 and 6; Mrs. Carolyn Winslow, Grade 2; Mrs. Barbara Cummings, Grade 1; and Miss Edwina Guyer, Kindergarten.

The other teachers, all continuing their fine work at Noonan, were also warmly welcomed. They are Dr. Marie Fagerland, Miss Sarah McGowan, Mrs. Mary Butler, Miss Nancy Davis, Miss Zella Giggie, Mrs. Mary Mead, and Miss Mary McAuley.

Appreciation was expressed for the fine services of Mrs. Gertrude Cushman, secretary, and Mr. James Allen, custodian.

Mrs. Paul McCarthy poured at the lovely table set with attractive flowers and refreshments by Mrs. John Fenoglio and Mrs. Richard Allison and their Social Committee members.

Winchester B. U. Alumni In "Give Campaign"

A total of 26 per cent of Boston University alumni in Winchester have participated thus far this year in the university's 1960 Annual Giving campaign, according to Thomas Morse, regional chairman.

Purpose of the campaign was to ensure a continued and dependable source of unrestricted funds for meeting needs of the entire university.

The team captains during the campaign were: Thomas Morse, Edward Ball, and Donald McDavitt.

The alumni visitors included: John J. Bradley, Mrs. Robert F. Buckley, Mrs. Archibald Dresser, Mrs. David C. Ewart, John F. Hogan, Mrs. James E. Kimball, Mrs. Harry B. Scott, Harold W. Stevens, Sumner G. Stratton, William A. Wilde, Mrs. Eugene H. Clark, William W. Croston, Mrs. George E. Fiske, Sherman R. Josephson, Mrs. Joseph P. Lynch, Lillian Salice, Mary Dean Snell, Anna Marie Stranieri, Mrs. Mary P. Walsh and Mrs. Helen B. Weaver.

Letter Writing Week

The 23rd annual Letter Writing Week is being celebrated in Winchester, during the week of October 2 to 8, it has been announced by Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun.

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun noted that there has been a revival of personal letter writing during the last few years. "A letter remains the most economical, longest lasting, and sincerest means of extending greetings, communicating social news, and exchanging ideas," the Postmaster said.

During Letter Writing Week, Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun suggests that individuals write at least two letters: one to a friend or relative from whom they have not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote to them. He also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among the people of different nations.

The slogan of this year's event, as indicated on more than 200,000 banners, is "Letters are Links to Friendship." The display material is appearing on postoffice bulletin boards, and rural carrier vehicles, as well as in various schools and libraries.

Noonan Girl Scouts Lost?

Some forty eager young Girl Scouts at Noonan School face the loss of their troop programs this year.

This was explained at the recent meeting of the Noonan Mothers' Association, when an urgent request was made by Mrs. J. P. Eugley for any and all help to save Scouting for the Noonan Neighborhood.

The fifth and sixth grade girls have known the benefits of Scouting in other years and now face abandonment of their valuable programs unless helpers and leaders will offer their services.

Girls of this year's fourth grade have as yet had no opportunity to try Scouting.

Mrs. Eugley, at PA 9-3428, is the Noonan Neighborhood chairman, and will welcome offers of any help. A small contribution from several mothers can add up to a program giving these youngsters experiences in responsibility, self-sufficiency, and joy in performance gained in no other way.

Mothers interested in having a Brownie troop started for their third grade daughters are invited to meet for coffee at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, October 11, at Mrs. Eugleys' home at 43 Wildwood Street.

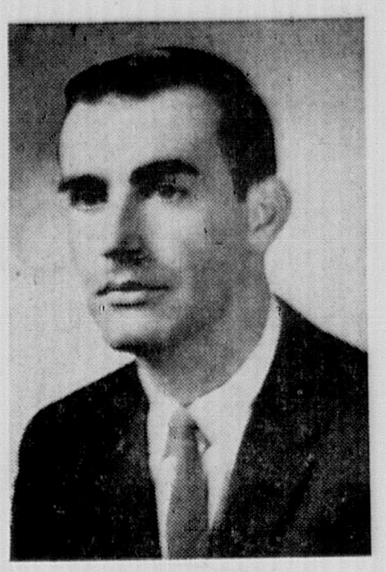
He Just Plain Forgot...



JOHN V. COSTELLO

This is a true story about not doing the job ....and what it costs

Starting this year, Winchester is assessed $257,000 as its share of the MDC sewer system. That's an increase of $167,000 over last year.

And the reason for this: a bill which took nine months to clear the Legislature in 1959. Yet not once in all that time did Our Representative notify town officials of this important measure.

As a matter of fact—officials were busy making up the budget for 1960 when a source other than Our Representative finally informed them that such a bill had passed two months previously.

Now then—all bills, including this one, are filed in December—a month before the Legislature opens each year. This is to give the Representatives a chance to alert their constituents to bills affecting them.

And each week during the session a Legislative Bulletin is published—describing each bill and giving its status. Its purpose: to let Representatives keep their constituents informed.

This means that at no time—either in December 1958, during the lengthy 1959 session or later—did Our Representative keep town officials, let alone the public, informed on this important measure.

He's our Representative, BUT...

When he forgets to do his job, he is not representing us. The average homeowner in Winchester paid $21.72 on his tax bill this year—because this bill passed.

(This amount is based on Town Planning Board values per dwelling unit, dated March 17, 1960.)

Now—I'd like to ask if this extra expense was not worth keeping town officials informed about? I think it was.

Well, What Could Have Been Done?

1. The bill might have been defeated, had the town been informed in time and its opposition made known.

2. Failing that, passage of the bill might have been delayed in order that necessary changes be made by town officials, resulting in a lower assessment.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Eighty players contested for honors at the regular Wednesday evening game of the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club at the Knights of Columubs Hall on September 28th.

Section A played 18 boards in a nine table Mitchell carrying an average score of 72. Clear cut victories were scored by a pair of "old pros" in both fields. The winners were:

North-South

Ann Wild and Jo Dingwell, 89
Audrey Glaven and Rachel Sexton, 78½
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sittinger, 77
Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Schofield, 75½
Mr. and Mrs. John Grehan, 73

East-West

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 90½
Joy Woolley and Marjorie Merriam, 79
Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, 76
Betty Olive and Kay McConnell, 74½
Mr. and Mrs. William Wheelock, 73

Section B played 22 boards in an eleven table Mitchell with an average score of 110. The team of Herb Wood and Jock Olmsted made effective use of the penalty double and piled up a fine percentage of .709. The leading pairs were:

North-South

Geraldine Lawrence and Betty Ann Yeomans, 124½
Nelson Bell and Blair Hawley, 124½
Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, 116½
Maude Flanders and Jean Roundey, 108
Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison, 107½

East-West

Herb Wood and Jock Olmsted, 156
Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball, 133
Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis, Jr., 128½
Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, 117½
Louise Kell and Roz Wells, 112½

Kay McConnell, who is currently engaged in a drive to develop new interest in the fascinating game of duplicate bridge, announces that Wednesday, October 26th, will be newcomer night at the WDBC. Persons interested in learning the fundamentals of duplicate are invited to attend an informal discussion from 7:15 to 8:00 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall. The briefing will cover details of movement, scoring and strategy. This will be followed by an evening of play in a special section reserved for newcomers, while regular players will of course be competing among themselves at the same time.

Duplicate bridge enjoys its share of glamorous slam bids but, at the same time, brings into sharper focus the far more frequent battle for part score. Here, a sixth sense must tell a player how far he should stretch to steal the contract for his side and at the same time alert him to double for penalties when an opponent has stretched too far.

Board number 13 from Section B is an interesting case in point. North was dealer with both sides vulnerable.

This was one of the many good boards for Wood-Olmsted, who, sitting EW, were allowed to play it in one spade, making two for 110 points. Chet and Marian Davis did even better EW when they found the fit in hearts and made three for 140 points. In both cases, EW grabbed the bid in spite of the fact that NS held 24 high card points between them. The top EW score, however, was captured by George and Millie Rivinius when they slapped a penalty double on a five club gambit by their opponents, setting it one trick and collecting 200 points.

On the other side of the ledger, the Kleinbeckers got a good NS score of 130 for reaching a precise and unbeatable contract of four clubs. At our table, South was encouraged to try no trump after an opening spade bid by East. North eventually raised to three no trump and, when West dutifully led spades, the contract was brought home for 600 points. Nancy Atkinson and Greta Hawley, however, collected all the marbles for NS when they were doubled at three clubs. Trey not only made the contract but, through some secret technique known only to female bridge players, raked in two overtricks for a juicy score of plus 1070 points!

Attention, Little Leaguers

Do you want an 18 x 20 ft. artist's drawing of Ted Williams? Well, when Ted announced his retirement as a player with the Red Sox Maurice Bird of the Winchester office of the A. C. Allyn Co. investment house at 47 Church Street placed the picture mentioned above in the office window.

It has been much admired by local baseball fans, and Maurice would like to give it to some Little Leaguer who would like it for his home.

The picture can be had for the asking by the first Little Leaguer who asks for it at the A. C. Allyn office on Church Street, near the Sport Shop.

Sidewalks

Mr. Bradlee explained that this policy, if applied to the West Side problem, could lead to difficulty.

If the abutter is to be charged 50% of the cost of a sidewalk, he said, what is to be done when one, or several abutters along a street scheduled for sidewalks, oppose the sidewalk?

It was reported in last week's Star, for example, that a majority of residents on the south side of Johnson Road oppose sidewalks, whereas many parents of school children on the West Side have requested the Selectmen to authorize the construction of sidewalks along the entire length of Johnson Road, to preclude what they have called serious traffic hazards. They point out what they believe is an emergency situation involving the safety of school children, a situation demanding the immediate exercise of Town responsibility.

It is expected that the Selectmen will take action on the matter at their next meeting, Monday, October 10.

year in both the Christmas plays and in the Drama Festival. She is presently a member of the School Devotions Committee, and homeroom representative for Red Cross. Ann, who is the daughter of Mr. John Ryan, 102 Hillcrest Parkway, is especially keen on Chemistry, and wishes to pursue this field at college.

Educational plans of James Bogue, son of Mrs. Joseph Bogue, 8 Euclid Avenue, include college and graduate work in history as preparation for a teaching career. His favorite indoor sport is reading. He likes outdoor sports too, but mostly as a spectator. He is a member of the Philosophy Club at the High School.

As might be expected of a young man planning to enter the field of electronic engineering and design, John Memishian is chief engineer of the High School radio station, and a member of the Science Club. Interest in photography has led to his appointment as official photographer for the H. S. paper "Red and Black." He was also elected to the staff of the yearbook "Aberjona." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Memishian, who lives at 44 Grove Street.

"Hurricanes and violent weather are my greatest interest now," says James Hill who expects to major in physics for a career in meteorology or oceanography. He is a member of the Science Club, and station manager of WHSR. In the line of sports, he has been on the junior varsity track team, and belongs to the Ski Club. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill of 37 Oxford Street.

Malcolm MacKenzie expects to attend college with further graduate work to prepare for a career in science or engineering. In High School, he works actively in the Math and Philosophy Clubs, and on the Traffic Squad. He too has been elected to the Aberjona staff. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Michael MacKenzie, 9 Cliff Street.

James Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley, 16 Sherwood Road, is editor-in-chief of the Red and Black, a member of the Math Club, president of the Science Club, and manager of the Gym team. For WHSR he acts as classical music chief. His strong interest in theoretical physics led him to spend this past summer studying college physics at Cornell. He plans to attend the Chicago conference on the peace time uses of atomic energy.

Both Martha Maloney and Malcolm MacKenzie were among the juniors elected last spring to the National Honor Society.

Most of these students will take the Scholastic Aptitude Test in December as the next step in qualifying as finalists in the National Merit competition.—(M.A.)

unfair burden on owners of small lots. Mrs. Nunes compared the Planning Board's proposed Article with Article 26 of the last Town Warrant which would have imposed greater restrictions on industry in Winchester as to setback, landscaping and related issues.

ARTICLE II

Also discussed at the hearing was Article II in the Town Warrant also submitted by the Planning Board. This article would change the area between Grove Street and the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks from a General Residence District to a Single Residence District.

Mr. Robert Bigelow argued in support of this article which he feels will impose a responsibility on property owners in the zone to make the area conform with the general character of Precinct Three.

Mr. Harry Chefalo opposed the measure as discriminatory, and assured the Planning Board he would guarantee in writing if need be that no duplex houses would be constructed in the area.

Mr. Bigelow replied that such a promise would be inadequate because a subsequent owner might not honor it. The area in question contains about 10 acres of land. (A single residence lot measures 10,000 square feet.)

Bradley

A member of the Math Club and Student Council, president of the Science Club, co-founder of the Bridge Club and editor of the school paper, "The Red and Black" and a member of the National Honor Society, he spent the past summer at Cornell University, where he studied for six weeks under a National Science Foundation grant.

His science project, "Topology," the simplest properties of figures, won the Winchester High School Science Fair first prize in 1959 and second prize in 1960. Recently he earned a trip to New York as a result of winning the 1960 League of Women Voters Essay Contest on "The U. N. and the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy."

Next to bridge, James' favorite hobby is music. He plays the piano and the accordion.

Miss Peck spent the summer at the University of Denver in Colorado, on Fellowship study in "Advanced Placement Chemistry."

The group will leave Logan Airport at approximately noon on Wednesday, October 19 and return at noon on Saturday, October 22. Their headquarters in Chicago will be the Shoreland Hotel.

Sachems Hosts To Cantabs

Winchester plays its third home football game in a row Saturday afternoon, meeting Cambridge Latin in a non-league tilt, at Manchester Field, commencing at 1:30.

Cambridge has won one and lost one, beating Matignon, 8-6, in its opener and losing last week to Methuen, 20-6. This is rather a hard record to figure since Matignon usually is no pushover while Methuen on the average is not too tough.

Winchester's showing in its first two games has been nothing about which to rave, but the Sachems ought to beat Cambridge Latin, at least should be favored to do so.

The Sachems could easily have lost the Concord game and would probably have had to settle for an 8-6 win over stubborn Stoneham if Mike Brink hadn't recovered that Winchester fumble on the Stoneham 29. This recovery in the final minutes of play kept Winchester's second touchdown march alive, for had Stoneham recovered, there probably would not have been enough time left for Winchester to regain possession.

Incidentally Brink has been playing a bang-up game at guard, both offensively and defensively. His ability at all times to follow the ball aided Winchester greatly, both against Concord and Stoneham.

Badminton Season Opens

Local badminton enthusiasts will kick off their 1960-61 season next Thursday evening, October 13, under the capable leadership of Al Kajander, this year's president.

Present plans call for regular sessions to be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Winchester High School gymnasium from 8:00 to 10:30 p.m.

Badminton is a sport that has universal appeal to men and women of all ages. It provides the ideal way to keep in trim and have plenty of fun while toning up those muscles or cutting down the waistlines.

The regular members of the club are looking forward to an active season. They are most anxious to encourage the "occasional" players to drop in more frequently, and newcomers to come down and try their hand at this exciting sport.

With four courts available, everyone has plenty of chance to play several games throughout each evening, with just enough time in-between to catch your second-wind while indulging in some social chit-chat. And don't worry about equipment.

Just bring along your sneakers. Racquets and birds are available at very nominal fees. And first-time visitors are welcome to play without any payment of dues for their initial evening's entertainment.

So, how about giving it a try yourself? Remember the date—October 13th, or any Tuesday or Thursday evenings on the schedule.

Salem Harriers Slosh to Victory

Last Friday arch rival Salem visited the Winchester cross country team and left with a stunning 17 to 40 win, the worst defeat ever posted against the local harriers in the past 12 years.

The Red and Black were hamstrung by injuries and sickness that saw two strong varsity runners well below par and one of the tri-captains running with a heel injury. The crowning blow was when Captain Jack Brenner pulled up with a severe cramp less than a half-mile from the finish. He was running less than a yard behind the leader at the time.

About 50 runners left the starting line hoping to beat the gathering storm but they had traveled less than a quarter-mile when the rain came lashing in.

At the halfway point the race was a toss-up with six Winchester and five Salem runners within ten yards of each other. However, on the last half of the course the well conditioned Salem boys ran as though they owned the course, grinding the locals into the rain and mud.

Larry Rybecki, Hancock, and Gagnon, all of Salem, took the first three places and the meet. Joe Russo, running his best race was less than five yards behind these three, but Salem had two more runners before another Red and Black jersey crossed the line.

The JV's managed to keep their win streak alive by posting a 22 to 37 victory. Although Salem took the top spot the Red and Black were able to land the next four positions to insure the win.

The team took this defeat hard and they are looking for possible revenge when they again tangle with Salem at the league meet on October 28. The squad faces another real challenge next Friday when they travel to Haverhill to face a veteran club that was just edged by Salem two weeks ago.

First 15 Finishers:

1, Rybecki (S), time 17:47; 2, Hancock (S); 3, Gagnon (S); 4, Russo (W); 5, Grassier (S); 6, Murphy (S); 7, Scherban (W), time 18; 8, Mead (W); 9, Shea (W); 10, Doak (S); 11 Barthemy (S); 12, Bird (W); 13, Doe (S); 14, Gay (W); 15, Johnson (W).

WHS Junior Red Cross

Winchester High School's Junior Red Cross held its first meeting Thursday, September 29, with Bucky Nichols presiding over the conferences as this year's president. Joe Dattilo was re-elected to the board, moving from treasurer to vice-president. Danny Mahony assumed the duties of the treasurer, having had experience with his own class, and Dianne Watson is secretary. Alan MacDonald will serve his second year as publicity chairman. Four of these five officers are juniors (the president being the only senior), which means that an experienced staff will be available next year.

The board of directors is made up of the officers and Richard Carter, Robert Newton, James MacDonald, Frank Curtis, Ned Niblock, John Colliander, Pat Sexton, Peter Sullivan, Jackie Cartier, Carole Coakley, Judy Towle, Ginny Scaturro and Janet Cussen.

Other home room representatives are: Linda Gagliormella, John Geoghegan, Richard Bond, Floyd Horn, Carol Radocchia, Leroy Shea, Eric Wittet, Ruth Beckley, Sherry Changaris, Wendy Everett, David Hall, Sona Kazanjian, Ronald Lynch, James Moran, James Reardon, Jeff Smith, Patty Tofuri, Deborah Gay, Margaret Harmon, Susan Manimon, Marjorie Mumma, Brenda Pepi, Peter Swanson and Joan Zrodowski.

Since the representatives have already been elected, the membership drive will be planned for October. Last year 99% of the students joined and this year they are pushing for 100%. During December, the Christmas card drive will be conducted and the cards will be sent to Bedford Hospital along with the "Octette" to sing carols. In February there will be a vote on a donation to the National Children's Fund. In the last two years, they have given $75. The campaign for magazines and books will be held in March with proceeds given to a charitable cause.

Stoneham Showed Stout Defense

Winchester Gets by Stoneham In Squeaker, 14-6

Winchester had the devil's own time with a fired-up Stoneham team last Saturday afternoon, finally winning the Middlesex League game between the two schools on Manchester Field, 14-6.

The game was close enough at all times to be exciting for partisan fans, and it wasn't until the final quarter that Winchester could eke out the insurance touchdown that got its worrisome slim 8-6 lead off the hook.

Stoneham made 11 first downs to nine for Winchester and had a rushing edge, 193 to 159 yards. Winchester completed three of seven passes for 45 yards, having one intercepted. Stoneham completed all four of its passes for 30 yards. Winchester fumbled twice, recovering once, while Stoneham lost its only fumble.

In the penalty department the Sachems really suffered, 105 yards, including five fifteen yarders, being assessed against them, while Stoneham lost only 25 yards in penalties.

Several of Winchester's penalties really hurt, nullifying long gainers and once, a touchdown. The touchdown came on the next play, but if it had not, the Sachems would have had to settle for an 8-6 win which definitely would have been a moral victory for Stoneham.

As a matter of fact the Stoneham supporters seemed pleased with the result as it was and proud of their team, and they had every reason to be. The outweighed, undermanned light blue put up a whale of a game against favored Winchester, fighting hard from the opening to the closing whistle, blocking and tackling hard and outplaying Winchester on the rush line by a decisive margin.

Stoneham had set up a defense to stop Bellino and it prevented the Winchester ace from scoring, the Sachem's first score being made by Johnny Geoghegan on a buck and the other by Tommy Bell on a pass from George Neville. Nicholazzo made Stoneham's touchdown on a 37 yard run.

Winchester gave a very lackluster performance, and with all the mistakes the Sachems made, and the damaging penalties they received you might truthfully say the locals were lucky to win.

Winchester had a big break in the opening minutes of play when Mike Brink recovered a fumble when Stoneham tried to sweep on its 15. The Sachems were held for downs by a stout Stoneham defense on the eight.

Soon afterward a Stoneham kick was partially blocked and the ball was downed by Winchester at the Stoneham 35. Neville and Carter made it first down on the 18. Bellino reached the 15, and Geoghegan, the eight.

Here Stoneham drew a costly five yard penalty for delaying the game, putting the ball on the three. Bellino was piled up at the line with little if any yardage, but on the next play John Geoghegan cross-bucked over and Bellino swept for the exra two points.

The teams changed goals for the quarter soon after and Stoneham after the kickoff advanced deep into Sachem territory to get a first down on the Winchester 17.

The Light Blue was completely dominating play at this point, but with the ball at the 17, the Winchester defense tossed Pignone back on the 22, after which Mike Brink, on what was going to be a pass play, dumped Lane away back on the 34. A flat pass gained little yardage and Stoneham had to kick.

Winchester took to the air and Lane intercepted a Neville aerial, running the ball to the Winchester 27. Three plays later Benincasa dropped Lane back on the 37 as the half ended.

Two penalties in a row stalled Winchester with the resumption of play after the half and Bellino got off a corking kick to the Stoneham five.

The Light Blue in short gainers worked out to a first down at the Stoneham 27.

Here Pignone on a quick opener broke through the Winchester line and legged it to midfield where Bellino made a last-ditch tackle.

A buck made four to the Winchester 46 and Lane on a keeper was brought down by Jim Flaherty on the Winchester 41. Pignone made the first down at the Winchester 37.

Here Nicolazzo broke off tackle and cutting back sharply split the Sachem defense to outleg the field into the end zone. The Winchester line stopped an attempt for the extra two points by rushing.

In spite of three penalties, one for 15 yards, Winchester kept going after the ensuing kickoff. In the opening minutes of the final period Bellino, taking a flat pass from Neville, went from the 50 to the Stoneham 39. Two plays later Neville made first down at the 26.

Geoghegan, on a quick opener and a pretty cutback, galloped to the Stoneham six, but here a Winchester fumble was recovered by Stoneham to end the drive.

Stoneham had to kick after making a first down and Lane's boot went to Jim Flaherty at the Winchester 44. A penalty stalled things back on the Winchester 37, but a Neville to Lawrence pass got Winchester back in business with a first down at the Stoneham 35.

Here Winchester got the big break of the game, when Carter was jarred loose from the ball on a vicious tackle after a good gain and the ball was recovered by Mike Brink for Winchester at the Stoneham 29.

Neville on a bootleg play went all the way to the Stoneham two, but here Stoneham's defense rallied and stopped Bellino and Geoghegan at the one.

Neville on a keeper circled his own left end for the score, but a penalty for backs in motion put the ball back on the six, and a pass from Neville to Geoghegan was incomplete.

Facing a fourth and six situation Neville rolled out to the right and hit Tommy Bell in the end zone with a pretty pass for the touchdown. The rush for the extra points was piled up.

There was just time for the kickoff after this play and what was for Winchester a frustrating game was over. The summary:

Parkhurst Parents

Mothers new to Parkhurst School were entertained at a morning coffee given by the executive board of the Parkhurst Parents' Association. The coffee was held Tuesday, September 27, at the home of Mrs. William J. Speers, Jr., 2 Fernway.

This informal meeting gave mothers an opportunity to become acquainted with new neighbors, board members, and Mr. Sutula, our principal at Parkhurst. Mrs. Theodore Milkie was the social chairman in charge of arrangements. She was assisted by her committee: Mrs. Marvin Spooner, Mrs. David Deshler, Mrs. Jack Rosin, Mrs. Henry Toomajian, and Mrs. John Clarke. Mrs. George Whitten and Mrs. James Hollingshead poured.

The previous evening parents of the Parkhurst area met with the Town Selectmen to express anxiety over some of the poor walking areas now available to our children. With traffic in this area so fast, it is hoped that it will not take a fatal accident to effectively point up the need for improvement. That many of the people are already aroused was evidenced by the good attendance at the meeting.

Winchester Boy Holds Local Mile Mark

Ken Brown Captains Wesleyan Cross Country Team

Kenneth R. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson K. Brown of Francis Circuit, who led the W.H.S. Harriers to a New England Championship in 1956, will be leading Wesleyan University's Cross Country Team this fall as Captain of the Varsity in a strong bid for the Little Three and the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country Championships.

During his first three years at Wesleyan, Ken has been a lead runner on six Little Three Championship teams in cross country and track and twice has been an idividual medal winner in the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country Championships.

Both the W.H.S. cross country course and mile track records which he set in 1956-57 as a W.H.S. senior still stand. According to Tom Morse and Lou Goddu these records are going to be hard to break.

Not only is Ken active in athletics at Wesleyan, but he is also an honor student. During his junior year he served as a freshman dormitory counsellor and this year is steward of his fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi.

Harriers Over Wakefield In Opener

Friday, September 23, the local cross country runners traveled to Wakefield to open the 1960 campaign. A good early season showing by the Red and Black brought them a well earned win. The JV club also posted a victory by a 15 to 49 score.

The course was over a rugged 2.5 miles of hilly macadam which was improvised owing to construction on Wakefield's regular course. Sixty-eight runners lined up for the start and at the "go" of the starter they raced off in a tight group struggling for the early lead.

After about a quarter of a mile Leo Beane of Wakefield had taken the lead followed by several Sachems. The progress of the race remained this way to the halfway point when a newcomer to the Winchester varsity, Frank Johnson, moved past Beane and assumed command.

Shea, Russo and Brenner were close on his heels and victory seemed to be coming nearer for the Red and Black.

With less than a quarter of a mile to the finish line Johnson began to feel the pressure of co-captain Roy Shea's bid for the top spot. Shea put on a strong final 220 yard rush and crossed the line about eight yards in front of Johnson. Joe Russo took a strong third place with co-captain Jack Brenner about fifteen yards back in 4th.

Beane of Wakefield just managed to beat Jack Scherban to the wire for 5th. Dean Anderson, running with limited practice owing to an injury, took seventh and a fine race by a promising sophomore Dave Bird gave WHS the 8th spot as well.

The JV's were led to victory by a newcomer to the squad, Steve Dee, with Phil Mead, Devaney, Gay and Siders finishing in that order to complete the scoring.

First 15 Finishers: 1, Shea, time 15:16; 2, Johnson; 3, Russo; 4, Brenner; 5, Beane (Wak); 6, Scherban; 7, Anderson; 8, Bird; 9, Cardillo (Wak); 10, Dee; 11, Mead; 12, Martino (Wak); 13, Litchfield (Wak); 14, Devaney; 15, Gardner (Wak).

Longworth On Colgate Soccer Team

Larry Longworth, a junior from Winchester, and former Winchester High quarterback, is a member of the 1960 Colgate University soccer team. Longworth was a member of last year's squad that copped the New York State title and chalked up the finest soccer record at Colgate in the school's history. Coach Mark Randall plans to use Longworth in a substitute forward role this year.

The veteran-studded Maroon eleven got off to a good start by downing Cornell 4-1 in its opener. Other teams on a nine-game schedule include R.P.I., Clarkson, Union, Rochester, Penn State and Syracuse.

Bellino Scores For Navy

Though Washington set its defense to stop Navy's Joe Bellino last Saturday the Huskies were not entirely successful, though they did limit the Winchester flash to an average 3.6 yards in 14 carries.

It was Bellino who tied up the ball game for Navy after Washington had scored first, sparking a 70 yard drive. Joe climaxed the drive by bulling over from the one.

Washington scored again in the third period when Jackson drove into the end zone from three yards out, but again the Navy bounced back with Spooner passing to Hughes for the score.

Washington had kicked in both points after while Navy had failed to make either of its extra-point tries good.

Navy got the ball at the Husky 24 in the final period on a bad pass from center in a kicking situation on fourth down. Four plays later Navy scored, but the touchdown was nullified by an illegal shift, and Greg Mather with 14 seconds left kicked a field goal to give the Middies a 15-14 upset victory.

Though Bellino did not get the press raves he had received in other games, he was outstanding, especially on defense, making many fine tackles and also blocking well. It was he on whom the Middies called for their first equalizing touchdown and he did not fail them.

K. of C. Held 64th Annual Installation of Officers

What turned out a most impressive affair was the inauguration of the new season of Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, on Monday evening, October 3, when the annual installation of officers was held.

The Knights first gathered at St. Mary's Church to attend a Mass at 6:30, celebrated by Rev. James Kenney of the Immaculate Conception Church, with Knights James Henry and David DeCourcey as acolytes.

William Callahan was prayer leader for the dialogue mass and Harry Murphy was hymn soloist with Miss Kay Roache, organist.

A contingent of the Fourth Degree St. Pius X Assembly served as honor guard, Thomas Drapeau, Dan O'Donnell, Bart Conlon, Alex Fay, Sam Vangel, John Lisaki, Edward McManus, and Len Sortino.

Following the Mass the members adjourned to the K. of C. Building for a catered supper, consisting of baked Virginia ham with all the fixings. The K. of C. building was taxed to capacity and following the supper the installation ceremony was conferred on the new slate of duly elected officers.

District Deputy John Freitas of Reading Council with his staff conferred the honors, assisted by Winchester's own District Deputy Charles Doucette.

Officers installed were Grand Knight, James Wharf; Deputy Grand Knight, Richard Fiore; Chancellor, Kearin Dunn; Warden, Francis Farley; Recording Secretary, William Kelley; Treasurer, William O'Leary; Advocate, James Costello; Inside Guard, Edward McManus; Outside Guard, Arthur Wilson; Trustee, Vincent Erhard; Lecturer, Joseph Cullinane; Financial Secretary, David DeCourcey.

In accepting his post as Grand Knight, James Wharf pointed out how difficult it is to attempt to fill Past Grand Knight John Mulrenan's post, but stated that he would do his utmost to carry on the fine work.

Father Kenney in his remarks said that the membership would constantly be in his prayers. He declared that the Council has much to offer its members and praised the spirit of loyalty he has noticed among the men. He said the Council has a great future, pointing out that the way the members live their faith will be a great influence on the entire community.

Outgoing Grand Knight, John Mulrenan, was presented a gift from the Council with the Past Grand Knights present forming a cordon on the main floor to welcome him into their ranks.

District Deputy Charles Doucette was presented a fine gift from his installing and degree team and he in turn thanked them for their thoughtfulness and kindness, also praising them for their assistance to him.

P.G.K. John Mulrenan thanked the Council for their gift and pledged his support to the new officers, especially the Grand Knight and all future Grand Knights.

District Deputy John Freitas praised the membership's attendance at the mass earlier in the evening as one of the finest examples of Council cooperation. He tendered the greetings of the State officers and pleaded for a good attendance at the forthcoming October 12th, Columbus Day Mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston, where Cardinal Cushing will deliver the sermon.

Also mentioned was the big Columbus Day ball to be held for the support of the Kennedy Memorial Hospital that same evening. Members and their families are urged to attend the Mass at the Cathedral. The District Deputy had high praise for the newer members of Winchester Council who attended the installation ceremony in great numbers.

P.G.K. Leo Thibeaut announced that the first dance social, a barn dance, will take place October 29, which will be a "Ladies' Nite."

Hills-Joslin, Watson Win Net Trophies

That extra something it takes to be the champ showed up again in the finals of the town tennis championships recently as odds-on favorites swept to victory. Art Hills and Bob Joslin have racked up too much team and tournament experience to be upset in doubles here. Charlie Watson's steadiness wore down Jim Coon's attempt to force the singles match. Weegee Coon and Philippa Young had the experience and confidence to make their win in women's doubles predictable, and the same could be said of Dot and Art Hills in the mixed doubles.

As all must know now Art Hills has the power and Bob Joslin has those cat-like reflexes sportswriters emphasize and it wasn't long before they whipped Shep Holt and Dave Moore 6-0, 6-2, 6-2 in the finals of the men's doubles. Such talented team work looks deceptively effortless. Anyone who thinks they had no competition might challenge Holt and Moore, who had no great trouble retiring Tony Apsey and Chris Wadsworth in the semis. In another semi-final Adolph Alla and Bob Keeton managed to pinch a few games before losing to Hills-Joslin 6-2, 6-2.

A platitude of sports parlance is that the game can be analyzed on a percentage of errors and factored by experience or age. Skill and guts at any rate weren't enough for Jim Coon as Watson won 6-0, 6-3, 7-5 in the men's singles. Coon warmed up slowly in the chill morning air and lost the first set before he built up steam. From the start he tried to be the aggressor, moving quickly to net, blasting his serves, attemtping putaways at sharp angles. But Watson's steadier, slower, almost rhythmical game held together and the defending champ settled the match by beautiful retrieving, corner drives to the base line and classical attrition of the backhand. In the third set Coon began to show fire as the score evened up. But aggressive errors and fatigue cost important points after long rallies and Watson had claimed again the title he has kept enough years to be the target of local singles players. He dropped only one set in the entire tournament.

However, the gallery likes color rather than strategy and statistics and they certainly got it in the mixed doubles as the Hills Co. almost came to public disgrace at the hands of Phillippa Young and Blair Hawley. Customarily Hawley has to play a net game at least once annually before achieving regional rating, but in his first local tournament this year he nearly carried off the cup. The Red Retriever plays the game of any two men, interspersed with pep talks and scorn of defeat. The exhibition would be funny if less dazzling. Mrs. Young is quite as popular and be it said she was catching it from umpire and linesmen just when she was showing her trickiest shots. It was a hard-fought, sometimes brilliant match on both sides and any remark here of the Hills' tennis talent would be superfluous. They won, perhaps indecisively, at 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 and a re-match would be a treat to watch.

Mrs. Young fared better in the women's doubles final with teammate Weegee Coon as they turned back Jan Collins and Marilyn Chase 6-2, 7-5. There might be some sort of poetic justice in the fact that Philippa and Weeg had nosed out Dot Hills and Miss Morrill in a three set semi-final.

In a new event this year, the men's consolation doubles, Bob Pritchard and Warren Price defeated Deb Bellows and Dave Moncy.

School openings and bad weather interfered with the Junior tournament, but it was Der Tag for Bill Keeton as he ran off with most of the hardware. A beginner last summer, Bill has developed style and stretch by hard practice and modest determination. He whipped Bill Price love and two in the boys' 13-and-under singles finals, teamed with Dwight Bellows in a good-looking 6-2, 6-1 victory over Gerry Hills and B. Johnson in the 15-and-under boys' doubles final and finally was paired with winsome Diane Kittredge in a prolonged final with Kandy McConnell and Bill Price to win a 4-6, 11-9, 7-5. Terry Coon has inherited her parents' ability and had no difficulty taking the girls' 12-and-under title as she defeated Ann Clark 6-2, 6-1.

Men behind the scenes are rarely honored but tournament chairman Bob Keeton rates a hear-hear from the players (and perhaps a there-there from his wife).

Women's S. O. I. Bowling

Now that we have our bowling schedule for the season, it is interesting to see, in advance, who bowls whom!

Since so many of the girls are related to each other it is surprising not to see more of them teamed together.

The relationships reaches anywhere from sisters, sisters-in-law, cousins, aunts, and even mother and daughter. To be in the league is like being part of one big family whether we have relations or not.

I wouldn't want this article to go along too far without Eleanor Lizotte knowing her name is to be mentioned in the Star. The excitement caused over the 104 she bowled was heard at the other end of the bowling alley.

With that lovely score Eleanor felt sure she had high single for the night, but, I am afraid she was beaten by that very capable bowler, Rose DeTeso.

Tell you what, Eleanor, if you bowl 100 or more anytime, I'll guarantee you will be mentioned in the bowling write-up.

Well, well, Rose, you finally made it. I was wondering what had happened to the high bowlers of last year, such as yourself. I felt sure you would be in the top ten from the beginning of the season. Glad to see you finally made it. There are several others who are having a slow start. My advice? See Ann.

For the drawing, it was Kay Pizzo.

Mystic Glee Club

The opening dinner of the Mystic Glee Club on Monday, September 26, was most successful. Several newcomers joined with the members present in the brief but friendly and relaxed festivities which preceded the first rehearsal.

After dinner Wendell Withington, whose expert service as a leader the club is fortunate to have again for the coming year, announced a tentative program for concerts to be given this fall. Thereupon the thirty men present promptly got down to work and read through a large portion of the program.

Veterans of many an opening rehearsal declared that the quality of the voices and enthusiasm of the members was unusually high, indicating good prospects for a successful season. Rehearsal was terminated earlier than usual in order to permit the members to view the television debate between Kennedy and Nixon.

There is still time for additional men to try out for membership. Anyone who is interested should get in touch with Jim Crozier, PA 9-3669.

Guidance Counselors Help Student To Help Himself

This week Junior and Senior High School students received a pamphlet called "Looking Ahead," prepared by the Guidance Department of the Winchester Public Schools. The booklet, explaining the guidance services available to secondary school students, stimulated in the School Reporter a desire to know more about the educational philosophy and work of the Guidance staff. Many questions were asked of the Director and the Counselors.

MRS. HOWARD AIKEN, publicist for Winchester schools, interviews nine Merit Scholarship semi-finalists.

What is the purpose of School Guidance? When did it begin?

The Guidance Department is maintained in the Winchester Schools to help the pupils reach their maximum development in accordance with individual needs, abilities and interests. We try to help each student to understand himself, to relate his interests and abilities to his life goals, and to reach a state of mature self- guidance.

The guidance movement began some 40 years ago with the desire to provide for vocational rehabilitation and to help in choices of vocations. It now necessarily covers a much broader field. Winchester's program started in 1938 with the appointment of Dana Cotton as guidance counselor for high school students.

How many grades are given these services?

A sound guidance program begins with the kindergarten child and extends through all school years. The Winchester Schools have counseling service from kindergarten through senior year in High School.

Why was the Department enlarged this year?

The Citizens' Advisory Committee as well as the School Department believe that a strong Guidance Department is necessary to ensure that each child get the most from school life. We no longer have teachers as part time counselors, and have added to our staff three new members. All teachers, of course, are in a sense guidance counselors, but they do not always have the time or experience for the kind of services which guidance people are trained to offer.

School enrollments have increased, and there was just not time enough for us last year to perform our duties as we would like.

What kind of guidance is given in the elementary schools?

Two school adjustment counselors spend all their time in these schools. They work directly with children having difficulty in adjusting to school, not only scholastically, but in relationships with their teachers and playmates. They also work closely with parents and school staff to aid the children in solving their problems. Their job is to prevent small problems from becoming overwhelming problems.

The Commonwealth has been sufficiently interested in the preventative aspect of the guidance program in the elementary school that under the provisions of the 1955 law the state pays part of the salary of School Adjustment Counselors.

Do Junior High students need counseling?

Children reaching the adolescent stage have many problems—physical, emotional, social and intellectual. Often the guidance counselor from outside the home can be successful in helping the students find themselves. Then too the students must begin to make their choices for a high school program suited to their needs and interests.

What services are available in the Senior High?

Counseling with students as individuals or in small groups is considered a most necessary function by the High School supervisors to help them understand their abilities, potentialities, and opportunities open to them in their chosen fields. They arrange conferences with business and college representatives. In their files they have information about various occupations to be distributed to students who plan to find jobs after graduation. Information about colleges and their requirements, College Board Examinations, scholarship programs are given to college bound students and their parents. The latest information about military service requirements is distributed to the boys.

Not in Winchester was the answer to this question. "We have a very good reason for administering every test in our schools," said the director of Guidance, "and therefore the test results are really used." Scholastic ability tests are administered in grades 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10. Each year a battery of standard achievement tests is given to each student. Supplementary reports are sent to parents showing the achievement of children in comparison to their ability as demonstrated on intelligence tests.

What is done for the unsuccessful student?

First of all counselors seek to know the student. This they do by talking with the students, with parents and teachers, by studying scholastic records and test results. Perhaps a change of program is indicated. Re-testing may be done to reveal specific weaknesses. In certain cases students and parents may be referred to other agencies who can give specialized help.

Who are our Guidance Counselors?

Norton Demsey is director of the Guidance Department with the responsibility of coordinating the work of the guidance personnel with all other departments of the school system. He will act as counselor for the Junior High morning session. Working also in the Junior High is Edmund Musteikies, a newcomer to Winchester.

Another new appointee is Miss Doris Berggren who will work with Mrs. Gloria Keville as adjustment counselors in the elementary schools. In the Senior High Mr. Bernard Silva is general supervisor and has the responsibility of all boys in grades 11 and 12. Miss Constance Trickett counsels the girls in the two upper classes. Newest member of the H. S. Guidance staff is Mr. John Stevens, well known to Winchester as a teacher of English and assistant to the principal. He will advise the class of sophomores.

All members of the Guidance Department have Masters' degrees from well recognized universities. They have all had experience in this field. They approach their work, as one member said, "with humility, realizing the tremendous responsibilities of the counselor to help young people arrive at right decisions early in their school years."—(M.A.)

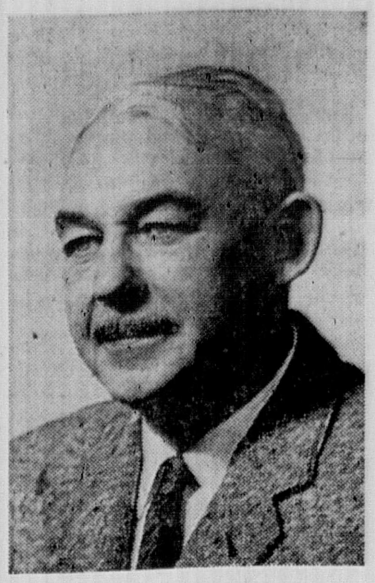
Luncheon Speaker



PROF. ZIMMERMAN

The Women's Association of the First Congregational Church is looking forward with interest to the luncheon meeting, Tuesday, October 11, at which Professor Carle C. Zimmerman will speak on "the Background of Communism in Peru."

Dr. Zimmerman is professor of Sociology at Harvard University, where he has been since 1931. He has carried on extensive field sociological investigations in many American States, in Thailand, Cuba, Canada, England, Germany, Peru and Italy. He has published many books and monographs in the fields of Rural Sociology, Standards of Living, and Community Studies. He has written more recently on Family Sociology. His latest publication is in the field of Social Change and Social Theory. In 1960 he published, with a colleague, "Successful American Families."

He is prominent in many American Sociological and Scientific Societies and is secretary for the United States and Canada, for the International Institute de Sociologie.

Dr. Zimmerman has received honorary degrees from Harvard University and North Carolina State.

In 1954-55 he was visiting professor at the University of Rome; in 1957 he gave seminars at the National University of Mexico and in 1959 he gave lectures at three Universities in Peru. He is the director of the Center for Studies of Family Creativity which is at present studying backgrounds of College, University and Professional men.

The twentieth century is a new age, he believes, and needs an entirely new sociology with primary emphasis on the understanding of social change.

The luncheon will be at one o'clock in Chidley Hall. There, the Mission Union, for the Women's Association, will be hostess to all the women of the church. Mrs. Lawrence E. Beckley and Mrs. Herbert P. Clark are chairmen. No reservations are necessary. Baby sitting will be provided.

You'll be delighted with the lettering you do with our stencil outfits. 1 to 6 in. letters, special brushes in several sizes and special stencil paste. At the Winchester Star. Star Office.

Hospital Friends' Ballot Ball Next Week

One and all are urged to cast their votes for dancing by depositing their tickets to the Friends of Winchester Hospital's Ballot Ball in the Waltz Evening ballot box at the Town Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings, October 14 and 15.

Unlike the national elections, one ballot (ticket) serves for two, and may be purchased for $7.50 by calling Mrs. Frank D. Bates, PA 9-6442, for Friday night or Mrs. Thomas N. Kell, PA 9-5113, for Saturday night.

Dancers will find themselves in an atmosphere of political elegance. Huge silver mobiles of the fifty states will sparkle overhead as the electoral vote of each state is illuminated on a map at the rear of the room. The traditional donkey and elephant will preside over all, together with large moving caricatures of the candidates.

Herbie Sulkins' orchestra will play music for dancing from 9 to 1 on Friday evening, and from 9 to 12 on Saturday evening. The traditional waltz exhibition immediately followed by the waltz contest will be held both nights, on Friday at 11:00 p.m. and on Saturday at 10:30 p.m.

A telephone answering service will be maintained at the Town Hall throughout both evenings. Dancers may be reached at PA 9-9884.

A partial list of the 1960 Waltz Evening Patrons and Patronesses and the second of a series of party listings are recorded elsewhere in this issue of the Star.

EMARC

The first membership meeting of the East Middlesex Assoication for Retarded Children, Inc., held in the Auditorium of the Reading Community Center, Wednesday, September 28, might well be termed an historic one for the organization.

The meeting was of vital importance to the many parents and guardians of retarded children. They heard explained in detail, a plan which would, to a great degree, affect the future of their handicapped children.

Attorney Moses Frankel of Wakefield, a member of the MARC Guardianship Insurance Plan Committee, explained the provision of a proposed Guardianship Plan for the parents and guardians of retarded children.

This proposed Plan, upon acceptance by MARC (Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children) will be made available to members of local member organizations, of which EMARC is one of 30, throughout the State. Under the provisions of the Plan, parents and guardians of retarded individuals, can arrange for their welfare, after they themselves are no longer here to provide for them.

This Plan will help to alleviate a major concern of every parent of a retarded child. It is expected that this Plan will be made available in the early spring.

To those who have the responsibility of a retarded child, this Plan was a revelation, and the lively discussion which followed the presentation of the Plan, proved conclusively, that acceptance of it would meet with the approval of the majority of the membership.

The activities of the Summer Day Camp, held this year in Stoneham, were briefly described by the camp's director, Mr. Robert Ford, of Lynn, who felt that the project which was attended by some 25 or 30 retarded children daily, had, unquestionably been an enormous success.

Mrs. Harold Trekell of Wakefield, president of the Association, introduced the new director of the Occupational Center, Mrs. Mary Scott Rees. Mrs. Rees spoke of her determination to make the workshop for retarded children, one of the best and most effective in Massachusetts.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee.

The next meeting of the East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children, will be held Wednesday, October 26, at the Community Center.

How sickness as well as sin can be overcome through spiritual understanding of God will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Teachings of Christ Jesus are featured in the Bible selections which include his admonition concerning the "corrupt tree (which) bringeth forth evil fruit" (Matt. 7:17). The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

This correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will follow (343:14): "Jesus strips all disguise from error, when his teachings are fully understood. By parable and argument he explains the impossibility of good producing evil: and he also scientifically demonstrates this great fact, proving by what are wrongly called miracles, that sin, sickness, and death are beliefs—illusive errors—which he could and did destroy."

Dear friends,

We often hear this question: "Doesn't a funeral director become calloused to grief?" The answer to that question is No. One cannot enter a grief-stricken home without a real sense of sympathy, no matter what the circumstances may be.

We believe, though, that the funeral director can best express his sympathy by going about his work quietly and calmly. Confusion only adds to the strain.

Respectfully,

Fenton H. Norris

Studio Guild Holds Its First Meeting Here

There are quite a number of art classes in Winchester but only one which is also an independent club. The Studio Guild, twenty-two years old this fall, started with two objects, then as now: first, to learn how to make a picture, and second, to associate with a rarely diversified group of women, united in their avid interest in art. The members differ in many ways, age, circumstances, hobbies, children, education and so forth, but all count pictures and artists among their treasures. In a class, the atmosphere is cold and formal, The Studio Guild on the contrary, has warm friendliness and informality both among the members and with the teacher, William Maynard, the well-known Boston artist.

The members meet Wednesday mornings at their studio to paint and criticize and discuss their work with their teacher and each other. Their studio, over Randall's is open to visitors at all times. More people should know about this remarkable group. A visit to the studio would prove worthwhile, not only to see the delightful paintings covering the walls, but to meet the president, Mrs. Stanley Cairncross and the other members of the Studio Guild.

Last week the Studio Guild held its first meeting at Mrs. S. N. Hedman's in Stoneham. After a long and rather hilarious discussion of plans for the winter, the meeting resolved into reminiscences of the "painting parties" enjoyed during the summer.

Anyone interested in joining this group or visiting the studio should telephone for information to Mrs. Stanley E. Cairncross, PA 9-3083 or Mrs. John P. Carr, PA 9-1013.

Speaker to Show Pictures On Mission Work

All are cordially invited to come to the Second Congregational Church on Friday, October 14, at 8 p.m. to hear Mrs. Bertha Jarrett, field representative for the Koinonia Foundation of Baltimore, interpret the world-wide outreach of this organization.

The foundation is dedicated to the world mission of "getting spirit-minded men and women with specialized skills out into the areas of need, where privation, ignorance, and fear are threatening to tear our world apart."

Mrs. Jarrett has an intimate knowledge of this inspiring work, and has been closely associated with it in a recent trip around the world. She is well qualified, with her grasp of the basic problems of world need, to bring to us, with words and pictures, a vivid message regarding the important work of this foundation.

Papermate, Sheaffer's, Parker, Esterbrook, and Scripto pens and fillers available at the Star office, 3 Church Street.

Alonzo Nicholas To Show Pictures Of the Southwest

On Thursday evening, October 13, at the Methodist Church, at 8 p.m., Mr. Alonzo D. Nicholas will present colored motion pictures of the great Southwest. The showing will include pictures of the Indian country of New Mexico, with the ancient cliff dwellings and pueblos of modern times, the sublime spectacle of the Grand Canyon, the Hoover Dam, Utah, carved by winds and waters, Zion and Bryce canyons, glamorous in fantasy and beauty.

There will be pictures of California orange groves, Spanish missions, snow-capped mountains and spectacular waterfalls. The lecture is sponsored by the women of the W.S.C.S.

Interested friends, who appreciate the high quality of Mr. Nicholas' work and have enjoyed his other lectures, are welcome to attend.

Cadillac
FOR NINETEEN SIXTY-ONE

A NEW INSPIRATION FOR THE MOTORING WORLD

You are looking at the completely new Cadillac for 1961—a motor car that will inspire the automotive world for years to come.

While unmistakably Cadillac in stature and in majesty, it represents a totally new concept in fine car design.

Its graceful silhouette reveals less over-all length and increased head room. Its delicately formed roof lines provide an almost uninterrupted panorama of vision—while a crisp, new sculptured design of front, rear and sides confers a degree of distinction that is entirely new to motoring.

Beneath this visual elegance resides a host of dramatic engineering advancements—an even finer, quieter and smoother-performing engine . . . an entirely new front suspension system . . . a lubrication-free chassis . . . wonderfully improved steering and braking . . . and greatly increased maneuverability and handling ease.

This new world of motoring pleasure has been interpreted in eleven individual body styles—each with an exceptionally wide selection of beautifully crafted and appointed interiors . . . and an unusually generous choice of accessories, fabrics and colors.

Your dealer will be proud to introduce you to the entirely new 1961 Cadillac at any time. We sincerely believe that you will find it an inspiration in motor car quality and goodness.

Opportunity For The Handicapped

The Rutland Training Center, long regarded as New England's only vocational rehabilitation center for recovering tuberculars and since 1958 a training facility for many other types of handicaps, is now offering a short-term evaluation program for what is described as the "middle-road" handicapped group.

Leonard F. Janes, director at the Rutland Center, describes the "middle-road" handicap as: "a severely handicapped person who is neither an excellent employment prospect nor a total invalid; but someone who should at least be given the chance to prove himself one way or the other."

This short-term evaluation is usually arranged through the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Center Counselor and consists of a four-week period during which the student is given the opportunity to work in several fields. These include kitchen work, estate care, secretarial and office work, cabinet-making, printing and general maintenance.

The student's performance, interest, adjustment and skills in each area are carefully evaluated, a summary is written for the counselor involved, who then reaches one of three conclusions: the candidate (1) has not proven himself capable of performing in the work situation; (2) has proven himself in an unskilled capacity and therefore should be found work in this area; or (3) he has shown exceptional abilities in one of the skilled work areas and should, if at all possible, remain at the Rutland Training Center to complete training.

Rotarians Hear Talk on U. S. Drug Research

The lives of two million Americans have been saved by drugs which were the product of medical and pharmaceutical research of the last 20 years, a spokesman for the pharmaceutical industry told the Winchester Rotary Club last Thursday.

The speaker, Mr. Edward J. Sullivan of the A. H. Robins Co., Richmond, Virginia, ethical pharmaceutical manufacturing concern, said new drugs save both lives and dollars. As an example, he cited the present day treatment of pneumonia.

"With today's antibiotics," he explained, "deaths from pneumonia are rare. The average cost of treating the illness is less than one hundred dollars compared with about a thousand dollars prior to antibiotics."

He also pointed out that in many cases, drugs even avert the need for surgery. "Antibiotics have virtually eliminated mastoiditis, the painful ear infection which only a few years ago almost invariably resulted in surgery and sometimes in loss of hearing." The speaker said the same spectacular advances have been made in the fields of antihistamines, antispasmodics and muscle relaxants.

To develop new drugs, he said, the drug industry spends millions of dollars for research. In 1959, industry research expenditures amounted to $190 million, and this year research spending will exceed that figure.

"The pharmaceutical industry spends seven per cent of its income on research, compared with only two per cent spent by industry in general," he stated. He also pointed out that the United States now leads the world in new drug development, largely as a result of pharmaceutical industry research.

Mr. Sullivan illustrated by saying that out of every two thousand compounds developed by industry, only an average of three become useful.

Despite rising research and other costs, he said, "the price index of prescription drugs has risen only 37 per cent over the past 20 years. This compares with a 96 per cent increase for all itmes on the cost of living index. In fact, the price trend of major new drugs such as antibiotics and hormones has been generally downward."

The speaker said newer drugs have been an important factor in increased life expectancy which is about 70 years today in the United States, compared with 49 years in 1900.

An unsual aspect of added life, he said, has been the decrease in the number of orphans and the increase in the number of people over 100 years of age.

"Orphan children today are rare," he said. "A generation ago there were at least 800,000 orphans with both parents dead. Today there are fewer than 90,000 in a population much larger. We also have in America a growing number of people 100 years old. At last count, there were seven thousand."

The speaker outlined the development of the modern drug industry and also traced briefly man's quest for drug sources throughout the ages.

New Device on Non-Profit Basis

Telephone Company Makes Artificial Larynx Available

A new voice for the voiceless, an electronic artificial larynx, is being introduced by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company and other Bell telephone companies throughout the United States.

Some 20,000 persons in the country, the Company says, are without the power of speech as a result of paralysis or surgical removal of the larynx and must depend either on esophageal speech or an artificial larynx in order to talk.

The new electronic larynx will be made available on a non-profit basis.

It resembles a streamlined electric shaver, contoured to fit the hand and designed to be held against the outside of the throat while being operated. It transmits sound-waves into the throat cavity replacing those normally produced by air passing over the vocal cords. Speech is produced by forming words with the lips and tongue just as in normal conversation. Persons with speech handicaps have learned to use the instrument with a minimum of training and difficulty.

The device is produced in two models, one high-pitched to simulate the female voice and the other, lower pitched, for men. Both are provided with a finger control to enable the user to vary the pitch of his voice over a half-octave range in order to produce more natural inflections and emphasis. After practice, this control can be operated with considerable speed. Speech volume is equivalent to a normal talker speaking at a conversational level.

The instrument employs Bell transistors and is powered by self-contained mercury batteries of a type obtainable at any radio store. Battery life ranges up to several months, depending on the amount of use.

The electronic larynx was developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories. Suggestions were contributed by medical authorities, particularly the National Hospital for Speech Disorders, and by artificial larynx users themselves. It is made by the Western Electric Company, the Bell System's manufacturing and supply unit, Manufacturing cost is $45 which also is the cost to the customer.

Information about the new larynx may be obtained at any of the Telephone Company's business offices. It will be made available to the public on a first-come, first served basis.

Fruit & Flower Mission

The Fruit and Flower Mission would like to say a great big "Thank You" to all those in Winchester who have helped to make its program this year so successful.

To those who have come down to the station Tuesday mornings so faithfully with their offerings, to the churches and the Home and Garden Club, who have furnished the weekly chairmen, to Renton's Market, the Converse Market, Forester the Florist, the Winchester Conservatory, Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm, Photography by Ryerson, and the Star; thank you for your generous cooperation and interest.

Committee Of Safety Chapter, D. A. R.

The Masaschusetts Daughters of the American Revolution held the fall meeting on September 28 and 29 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, with Mrs. Willard F. Richards, State Regent, presiding.

Mrs. Ashmead White of Maine and Washington, D. C., president-general, National D.A.R., gave an interesting and informal speech.

Other addresses were made by Mrs. William Seth Kenyon, national chairman Genealogical Records, Mrs. Leslie R. Bartheld, national chairman American Indians, and Mr. John K. Whittemore, headmaster of Hillside School, Marlboro.

Mrs. William Goodhue of the Committee of Safety Chapter, as a national vice-chairman, gave a report of her committee.

Other members of the local chapter attending, besides Mrs. Goodhue, were the Regent, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, the Misses Clara R. Russell and Louise Bancroft.

The first meeting of the committee of Safety Chapter will be at the Jason Russell House, Jason Street, Arlington, at 2 p.m., October 17. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Herbert W. Jackson, state chairman of the American Flag of the United States of America. There will be refreshments.

Bucket of Spaghetti for a Buck Still Going Strong at Mottolo's

Lovers of Italian food, and there are more and more every day—will be glad to hear that Mottolo's Restaurant at 831 Main Street has added a special new item to its menu: "A Bucket of Spaghetti for a Buck."

This is a special new sale item that is ideal for families, ideal for the tired housewife anxious to get a break from the routine of cooking, especially during the busy months ahead.

A bucket of spaghetti feeds about three hungry people, is more convenient, keeps the spaghetti hotter and tastier than if you bought individual servings. What's more, you get more for less money.

The spaghetti is cooked up fresh many times a day, and the sauce is Mottolo's own special brand with all the supreme flavor of the Neapolitan mode of cooking. Call PArkview 9-4819 for your bucket of spaghetti and it will be ready for you to pick up within 15 minutes: the perfect answer for unexpected dinner guests, for a quick luncheon or a Saturday night party.

In addition to its fine dinner and supper line of chicken cacciatore, antipasto, pan fried haddock and sizzling sirloin steaks, Mottolo's offers a good breakfast menu at very low prices. Chris Ferro's Modern Barber Shop Features No Waiting, Two Barbers

Nice crew cut for the Fall? Or just a trim? Whatever your choice, sir, Chris' Barber Shop is proud of its haircuts and with two barbers, there's no waiting.

"You Can't Miss with Chris," and that's not only a good business motto, it happens to be the truth about the kind of haircut you get here, from the most conservative cut to that old crew cut.

Flattops for children, with that special Chris Ferro charm with the youngsters, is a specialty of the house. Also in Chris' repertoire of services: soothing massage to relax after a tough day in business, and a vigorous and healthful shampoo. (Only a barber can do it correctly).

Chris is particularly proud of his sterilizing system, which means a new comb for every patron.

Also, after the haircut: a vacuum to sweep up those annoying bits of hair, and if you're going back to the office, for the afternoon, we guess there's no secret about how important that is!

Chris also has on hand for sale a wide variety of hair dressings, razor blades, combs, and shaving cream.

Although Chris' neat little shop on 876 Main Street, near the corner of Swanton Street, opened last August, it is already a going concern.

Television comic Frank Fontaine, who lives in town, is a regular customer.

Chris was born and brought up in Winchester and lived on Harvard Street when he was going to school here. He learned barbering from his brother Peter Ferro who ran a shop here on Main Street near Lake Street and later on Washington Street.

After serving with the U. S. Marine Air Corps during World War II when he was on crews which flew all over North and South America, Chirs went to work as a barber.

Chris now lives in Reading with his wife and three children, Daniel 10, Sandra 6, and Christine, born last New Year's Eve.

Homeowner's Package Policy Gives Increased Coverage at Less Cost

With rising prices, the dollar is simply not doing the job it once did. In terms of insurance this means that it is time to take another look at your policy, to determine whether your coverage is adequate and to review your insurance needs.

The W. Allan Wilde Agency believes that the New-New Homeowners' Policy can give you the added coverage you need and still permit you to save money over your present premium. The Wilde Agency's new plan for homeowners is part of a nation-wide coverage improvement program that incorporates the latest insurance techniques and statistics to provide better service.

The Homeowners' package policy covers your dwelling, contents of the dwelling (including theft of contents) addition to liability.

Homeowners will be interested in Wilde's excellent coverage of summer homes, or "secondary locations," which, if they are in the same territory as one's permanent residence, can now be covered in the same policy.

Boats are also insurable. And for those planning a fall or winter vacation trip, Mr. Wilde now offers vacation accident and baggage-insurance.

Pete Lonigro's Parkview Taxi Answers All Calls Right on Dot

Pete Lonigro has a spanking new taxicab. It's a sophisticated sleek, smart, shiny black with the familiar green and white Parkview Taxi sign on the roof.

Pete says this new cab has enabled him to improve on the kind of good service which has already increased his following among Winchester people in the past few months.

Parkview Taxi's motto is "Right On the Dot," and the reason why such service is possible is Parkview's Two-Way Radio which enables Pete to tell you, indirectly, exactly when he will be able to call for you.

This is how it works:

You simply dial PArkview 9-0666 and Pete's wife, Virginia, answers with her familiar "Parkview Taxi." You tell Virginia where you want to go and when. She contacts Pete, and at the exact moment you ask for the cab it's at your door. It's strictly a family affair with Pete and Virginia both taking great pride in prompt and friendly service that is increasing their popularity every day.

When coming back from the theatre or work on the midnight train you can usually spot Pete's taxi waiting, and if you call him from Boston before 11:00 p.m., or so, Pete will make it a point to be there. For all other trains throughout the day Pete is at the station as a matter of course.

The first Audubon bus trip of the fall season will leave Audubon House, 174A Newbury Street, Boston, on Sunday, October 16, at 8:15 a.m.

Birders will journey to Essex County, concentrating on the Newburyport and Plum Island areas, to look for late land bird migrants and ducks. Trip will be under the guidance of such expert ornithologists as Bennett Keenan and Murray Gardler.

Among the birds they will look for are: lingering shorebirds, including Red-backed Sandpipers, Black-bellied Plovers and Sanderlings; members of the Duck family, including American Widgeons, Pintails, Green-winged Teals and Greater Scaup. Offshore they hope to see Brants and Gannets.

Land birds to be looked for include Water Pipits, a few late Warblers and early winter Finches.

Since this will be an all-day outing, box lunches should be packed to eat en route.

Bus will return to Boston at 6 p.m.

For further information and registration contact Audubon House at the above address, or phone KEnmore 6-8578.

Kellogg Foundation Selects Dr. Wilson

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has announced projected plans for courses in orthodontics at the W. K. Kellogg Foundation Institute, the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan. The Foundation supports post-graduate courses for practicing specialists and this year for the first time is planning intensive short courses in orthodontics.

Two of these courses will be devoted to orthodontic treatment procedures. The Foundation has announced the selection of Dr. B. F. Dewel of Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois and Dr. W. L. Wilson of Winchester to present those courses.

Dr. Wilson has been associated with orthodontic education for some time. For several years before coming to Winchester to practice orthodontics, he was clinical instructor of Orthodontics at Harvard University. He has also been a visiting lecturer and has conducted teaching seminars at Tufts University, Forsyth Dental Infirmary, Columbia University, University of Pennsylvania and University of Michigan.

He is the author of a number of articles published in scientific journals and is widely known as a lecturer before orthodontic societies. During this last year he has been interviewed by the Press on Television and Radio both here in the East and in the Midwest.

Dr. Wilson has just returned from Kansas City where he had been invited to give a series of lectures at a meeting of the Southwestern States Society of Orthodontists. During the coming year he has accepted invitations to speak in Atlanta, Denver, Seattle and Miami.

National Committeeman Handled Details

Bonnell Behind Success Of Nixon Boston Dinner

We asked the Nixon-Lodge campaign button which is worn constantly on the lapel of Ralph Bonnell's suit, for a confidential run-down of the big GOP Campaign Dinner in Boston which was front page news last week!

"If anyone would know about it," said the very tired but exhilarated insignia, "I would!"

So the story goes that although you may naively believe that for big functions, thousands do the work, we can now reveal the whole truth. Thousands of people are delegated to various committees, but when the actual all-out effort is sifted through the fine strainer of accomplished work, one person, as is usually true in all cases, has the headaches. For the Nixon Dinner of September 29th, the one person was Winchester's own Ralph Bonnell.

For weeks previous to the affair, Ralph was the one who was doing the appraising, appointing committees, signing up helpers, calling meetings, contacting the airport, et al. Down to the very pre-evening, it was Ralph who was in the Armory until eleven p.m. and was there early on the morning of the Big Day.

"Are these spotlights O.K., Mr. Bonnell?"

"Are the folds in this backdrop all right, Mr. Bonnell?"

"Will we need these five extra tables, Mr. Bonnell?"

"Is that the right position for the Eisenhower picture, Mr. Bonnell?"

"The airport is calling, Mr. Bonnell."

"Is Mr. Nixon's chair too near the lecturn, Mr. Bonnell?"

"Honestly, Mr. Bonnell, the reception hall floor hasn't even been cleaned yet!"

Do you wonder that the Nixon-Lodge button on Ralph's limp lapel was tired? How could a button take all that confusion? Ralph Bonnell, yes! But a button? No!

For the benefit of Ralph's uncounted friends who are oblivious of his out-of-town life and may have wondered about the far-away look in his eyes at times, this article may clarify some misconceptions. Maybe in the past few weeks you saw him and believed he saw you. Maybe he even called you by name and made general conversation. His mind, however, was arranging six hundred tables, counting out six thousand knives and forks; he was being mentally paged by electricians, sign painters, decorators, caterers, Secret Service men, TV officials; and he was diplomatically trying to pacify a few thousand hundred-dollar donors whose tickets were late!

It is all over now and Ralph really relaxed for three or four hours until the usual routine duties of his National Committeeman job finally caught up with him and started clamoring for attention.

The affair was the very largest ever realized in Boston's history. The Nixons couldn't have been more impressed. The many Winchester people who had the good fortune to attend the dinner because of their devotion to party as expressed by their one hundred dollar contribution or by their hard work in collecting one hundred dollars, were also impressed. Many thousands of Massachusetts Republicans worked hard but didn't quite reach the one hundred dollar goal, but every effort helped make the evening a success.

Those from Winchester were interested to note that there were three Winchester names listed on the souvenir program: John Volpe as gubernatorial candidate, Ralph Bonnell as co-chairman of arrangements and Mrs. William D. Barone as co-chairman of the reception. It is not often that a town the size of Winchester can boast of a threefold representation and it had reason to be proud.

Another Winchester person, Representative Harrison Chadwick was actively involved in the big affair. Mr. Chadwick was chairman of the committee whose job it was to make hotel arrangements for the seventy-five pressmen and thirty-five members of the Nixon party.

And, if you noticed the lovely background drape used in the Boston televised production you might like to know that here again Winchester was in evidence. The drape was supplied by Leonard Barbo of Lakeview Road.

Winchester really was busy last week!

Volpe Campaign In Full Swing

John A. Volpe's campaign for governor was concentrated in the eastern part of the commonwealth last week.

On Sunday Volpe attended a big rally at Lincoln Park, New Bedford. Volpe declared that New Bedford and the southwest area of the state should be made ready to get its rightful share of business when the huge Latin-American Aid Program goes into effect next year. Speaking of the opportunity for more profitable and desirable trade relations with South America, he pointed out that New Bedford is 1,000 miles nearer many important South American ports than New Orleans. Yet, he said, New Orleans South American trade far outstrips that of New England ports.

Monday found Mr. Volpe in Worcester, where he spoke at a reception tendered him by the Volunteers for Volpe. Volpe decried, "Grandiose," programs which pretend to find an answer to human problems merely through the construction of costly new buildings. "Bricks and mortar cannot in themselves provide the answer to all these problems," said the Winchester builder.

"Take the often discussed plight of those in our state institutions where practically the entire expense is met by the taxpayer. With appropriate, well-planned community clinics and counselling services, many of these patients could be released. It costs at least four times as much to keep a person in an institution as to help him readjust to the community. Here, surely, is an instance where true planning and true sympathy can take the place of cold and costly brick and mortar in which the patient and the best interests of the state are forgotten," declared Volpe.

Candidate Volpe was one of the featured speakers at the mammoth $100-a-plate dinner for Vice-President Nixon Thursday night. "We have heard and read much of the MDC scandals. There is one faction which has kept strangely silent during this furor. While highprincpled Democrats are expressing dismay at these developments, nothing is heard from their party nominee for governor.

"His refusal to go on record condemning these disheartening practices and the persons involved leads us to one of two conclusions. It shows either sheer indifference to the seriousness of the moral issues involved, or that he has received so much support from this administration and its friends that he would be embarrassed by coming out against their practices," said Volpe.

Volpe said he proposed to reorganize the MDC by appointing a qualified executive director to head operations of the agency, leaving the public commissioners to assume the ordinary role of a board of trustees.

Vice-President Nixon declared in his speech at the dinner that the Massachusetts Republican slate, headed by Senator Saltonstall and John Volpe, was the finest to be found in the nation. The vice-president pledged his support to the election of the entire slate.

Total State Department of Public Works consultant expenditures during the past three years have been $15 million more than under a comparable period of the administration of John A. Volpe as the department's commissioner, the Republican candidate for governor declared Friday night.

"Furthermore," Volpe declared, "It cost the Commonwealth $32½ million less in my administration, 1953-1956, for the regular operation of the department than it has during the past three years. A great rash of consultants under the current administration has resulted in total expenditures of $22 million from 1957-1960 against an expenditure of $7 million during my years as commissioner. Despite the fact that it has employed the same engineering force and has had substantially the same program in terms of contracts awarded as under my administration, the present Department of Public Works has actually spent 30% more for its regular operations.

"I mentioned this record in passing. I am a candidate for governor, not for commissioner of public works. Under Governor Herter we established a solid record of service in behalf of the people. It is a record which shows that integrity, administrative ability and a determination to conserve the public moneys and public morality can and should exist. These are qualities which I will exercise as governor. They will be applied to every phase of my administration."

Now you can letter your own signs or posters and do a real professional job. Stencil letters from 1 to 6 in., assorted sizes, brushes and stencil paste, everything you need. At the Winchester Star.

On the job at 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., at least, every day, Monday through Friday, Pete will also make house calls all day Saturday and Sunday.

Proud of his 10-year safe-driving record, Pete makes it a point to be courteous, because that's just the way he is, as everyone who rides with him knows.

"If given a chance," Pete says, "I open doors, escort my customers to a safe walking place, and carry any luggage or bundles to the house door. Especially at night I don't drive away until I make sure that a person is in the house safely."

Well known in many Winchester clubs, Pete Lonigro is a World War II disabled vet. He spent 39 months in an Army hospital, served for five years, and has five battle stars as a tank driver in the European Campaign.

Born in Winchester, Pete has lived here all his life and is the father of three children, Patty 12, Jean 17, and Michael 15.

"I will go anywhere with my taxi," Pete says, "and I offer special rates for long-distance drives, just as reasonable as I can make them. My taxi is always in first-rate condition, and you can spot it any time by the light on top."

Phone calls come first with Pete. And if you are making plans to catch a train to be somewhere at a specified time, call as early as you can and make an appointment with Parkview Taxi. That's PArkview 9-0666.

GOP CANDIDATES AND SUPPORTERS at opening of new Republican campaign headquarters in the old Dorothy Muriel Shop at Main and Thompson Streets.

Open House At Republican HQ

On Friday, September 30, open house was held at the new Republican headquarters at the corner of Main and Thompson Streets.

Pouring during the afternoon were Mesdames Barone, Wright, Bonnell, Cusack, and Kimball. Mr. Nicholas Andon furnished delicious pastries. Guests of honor at the opening were Mrs. John Volpe, wife of the gubernatorial candidate, Mr. Harrison Chadwick, candidate for re-election to the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and Mr. Bradford Morse of Lowell, candidate for U. S. Representative from the 5th District. Both gentlemen met the many townspeople who dropped in during the late afternoon.

Local Republicans of note who were in attendance were O. "Scoop" Merrow, area manager of Mr. Morse's campaign; Mr. L. "Gus" Gustin, who headed up the highly successful Republican Fund Drive in Winchester; Mrs. L. Whitman, local Republican Committee chairman, to name a few.

"Bill" Wilde did yeoman work most of Friday helping the womenfolk get ready for the opening.

It is hoped that all residents will find time to stop in at headquarters over the next few weeks.

Friends' Fall Meeting

On Thursday, October 27, Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, Jr., 33 Wedgemere Avenue, will open her home for the fall meeting of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital. Coffee will be served at 2:30 with the business meeting following at 3:00 p.m.

Miss Elmina Snow, administrator, Emerson Hospital in Concord, will be present to discuss "Good Public Relations with the Hospital and Those it Serves." Miss Snow has a wealth of background and personal experience in the field of community relations. For five years she has been a member of the Council on Public Education for the Massachusetts Hospital Association and during 1958-59 was chairman of the group. Currently, Miss Snow is also a delegate for three years to the House of Delegates of the American Hospital Association.

Miss Snow will be welcomed by many as a warm and enthusiastic friend of our hospital volunteer service program here in Winchester; for, in the early struggle to develop our organization, it was she who submitted suggestions for our first code of hospital ethics.

All active members of the Friends recognize the importance of a complete understanding of their responsibilities in representing Winchester Hospital to the town and in surrounding communities. This is a vital and basic topic for newcomers and prospective members in their indoctrination in hospital service.

All Friends are urged to attend and to bring a friend to this fall meeting.

Ask Town To Decide

Selectmen Postpone Action On Sidewalks

Convinced that it is a matter that should be decided by the Town Meeting, the Board of Selectmen voted at their meeting Monday night not to take immediate action on recent petitions concerning sidewalks on the West Side.

The Selectmen reiterated their position, announced in last week's Star, that they were agreed in principle that there should be sidewalks in certain areas of the West Side in which children must walk to school out on the road directly in the face of traffic.

"But we also feel that the whole Town should decide where these sidewalks should be," H. Gardner Bradlee, chairman of the Board, told the Star. "For this reason," Mr. Bradlee added, "we are going to submit separate articles for each street on which a sidewalk is believed needed or wanted in Town Meeting Warrant for March, 1961."

Mr. Bradlee said he felt that the special buses recently put on to transport children to school in affected West Side areas had solved the problem until the matter could be formally decided by the Town in March.

The issue of sidewalks for certain sections of the West Side was raised at a special hearing held by the Selectmen two weeks ago at which 175 West Side residents petitioned the Selectmen to protect their school children.

The roads involved are Lockeland Road; High Street between Lockeland Road and Ridge Street; Ridge Street from High Street to Wincrest Drive; and Johnson Road from Ridge Street to Wildwood Street.

Chief Derro At Convention In Washington

Chief Derro was back at his desk last week end following a week in attendance at the International Police Chiefs' convention at Washington, D. C.

One of the highlights of the convention, the chief told the Star, was the appearance of President Eisenhower at the rostrum. President Eisenhower saluted the work of American policemen in guarding his person in his many visits to American cities. He praised the American police for being interested as much in exonerating a man as in finding him guilty. He also pointed out the difficulties faced by American police in protecting certain unfriendly visiting dignitaries at the United Nations General Assembly session.

Chief Derro said the convention

Four Local Youths Will Face Court For House Break

Four Winchester boys, all from the West Side, will face Juvenile Court in Woburn at the end of this month on charges that they broke into the home of Mr. Warren Barnes at 19 Rangeley Road, stole about $200 worth of liquor with intent to sell it, and ransacked the premises from top to bottom.

Winchester police said that the boys removed 29 bottles of liquor from the home of Mr. Barnes, who operates the Ocean Point Hotel in Bar Harbor, Maine. Mr. Barnes was away for the summer at the time of reportedly multiple entries which occurred, police say, between August 20 and September 6.

The boys were apprehended following an investigation by Officer William Nash of the Winchester police. Nash was given the assignment on September 22 and after a painstaking investigation apprehended the youths.

"They really made themselves at home," Officer Nash told the Star. "They plugged in the refrigerator to keep their food from getting spoiled. They watched TV. They played gin rummy. They made model airplanes owned by the Barnes boy, and helped themselves to objects lying about the house. From the moment I saw the place I knew it was an operation by kids. And they did it all in broad daylight!"

Police say the four West Side boys took the liquor, 29 bottles of it, from the Barnes home on September 6, and stored it in the Taylor barn on 15 Central Street. On September 10 the liquor was spotted in the barn by a nearby resident. Officer Poole investigated the report and took the liquor to the police station where it was catalogued and stored on the supposition that it had belonged to the Taylors, now deceased.

National Qualifying Test

7 Honored For Scholarship

Seven seniors at Winchester High School have been honored for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school receives a formal Letter of Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

W. Howard Niblock, the school's principal, has announced that the commended students are: Marilyn E. Beckley; John J. Fenoglio; Thomas W. Gardner; Jonathan T. Hopkins; John A. Sjoholm; Alvin K. Swonger; and Leslie F. Usher.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, stated:

"Letters of Commendation are being awarded to some 28,000 students throughout the United States in recognition of their excellent performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

"While the following students did not reach the status of semifinalists in the 1960-61 Merit Program, they are so outstanding that we wish to single them out for special attention. The semifinalists and commended students together constitute less than three per cent of all high school seniors, and this certainly signifies noteworthy achievement."

"The Letters of Commendation provide tangible recognition of the commended students' high ability." It is our earnest hope that the recipients will continue their education, and thus benefit not only themselves but also the nation.

"The Merit Program has several objectives. One is the selection of Merit Scholars from among the semifinalists. However, we also strive to foster the pursuit of excellence among all highly able students. We urge the students honored today to make every effort to attend college, and to develop to the fullest their promise of achievement."

The commended students were among the high school juniors in more than 15,000 schools who took the NMSQT last spring. The test is a three-hour examination which covers five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the sixth annual Merit Program.

This year's program will conclude about May 1, 1961, with the naming of students who will receive four-year Merit Scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

The commended students and the semifinalists who do not win Merit Scholarships are considered for certain other scholarships which are offered through the facilities of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Scholarship awards are made from the resources of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and through sponsoring corporations, foundations, associations, and individuals.

$440 in Tires Stolen From Gas Station

Some $440 worth of tires were reported stolen from an outside padlocked tire rack at Wheaton's Texaco Service Station at 274 Cambridge Street between 9:00 p.m. Monday night and 7:00 a.m. Tuesday.

The thieves apparently snapped open the padlock on the outside door of the rack, removed the tires and replaced the broken lock with a brand-new padlock to give the impression that there had been no break.

Democratic Town Committee Meets At Town Hall Friday

The next meeting of the Democratic Town Committee and its Associate Members will take place in the Town Hall Hearing room on Friday evening, October 14.

Several members will make progressive reports. The Committee on absentee ballots, of which the co-chairmen, Mrs. Susan Winn and Mrs. Kay Jennings are both lawyers, (and Mrs. Jennings, a Notary-public, also), will report on their work thus far and their further plans for the campaign ahead.

Other Committees which will report are the Publicity Coffee Hour, and House Party Committees and the Committee with Mike McDonald and Ray Dunn as co-chairmen, which will have charge of the reception for our local Democratic candidate for State Representative, Jack Costello.

This reception, to which many Independents and Republicans have been invited, will consist of entertainment, refreshments, and, in addition to a talk by Mr. Costello, we will hear from Larry Corcoran, candidate for the State Senate, and one candidate for State office who is very familiar with Mr. Costello's activities as a present member of the Committee on Junior Colleges.

There will be a final report from the Rally and Parade Committee.

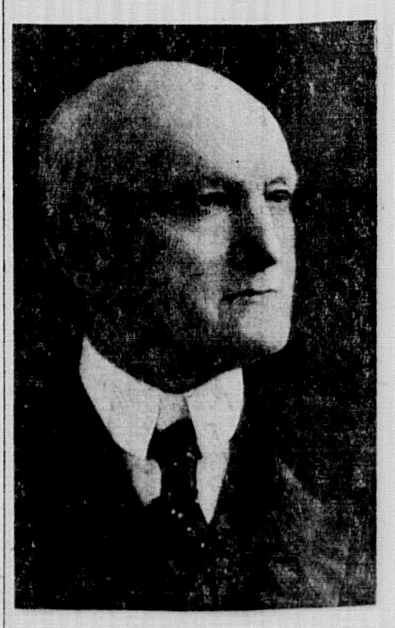
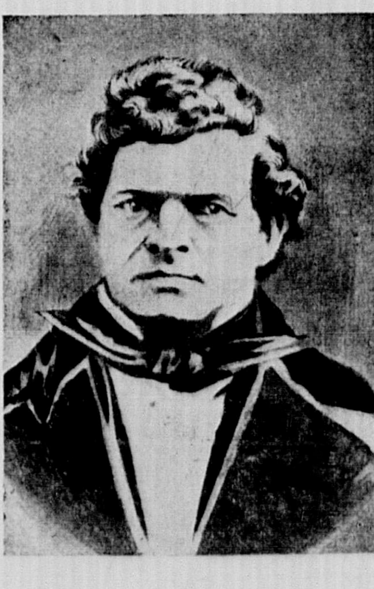
Debate On Name For New School

When the naming of the new West Side School on the corner of Johnson Road and Ridge Street came up for discussion at Town Meeting, last Thursday, two names dominated the discussion: those of former Massachusetts Congressman Samuel Walker McCall and former Winchester Selectman Asa Locke, Jr.



SAMUEL W. McCALL



ASA LOCKE, JR.

As reported in the headline story on Town Meeting this week, the motion of the Names Committee that the school be named for Mr. Locke was laid on the table so as to give Townsmen more time to reflect upon the matter.

By way of providing a little background for the Town's discussion the Star publishes the following short biographical sketches of both men.

Born in East Providence, Pennsylvania on February 28, 1851, Samuel Walker McCall attended the New Hampton Literary and Biblical Institute at New Hampton,

Asa Locke, Jr., was born on January 22, 1818, the son of Asa and Lucy Wyman Locke, and a member of the sixth generation of Lockes descended from William Locke who came to Woburn in the late 1630's.

Asa Locke's civic career was distinguished by the role he played in working out the details of Winchester's official separation from Woburn in 1850.

"It is for this reason, for his association with so historic an event in Town History that the Names Committee primarily believes his name should be given to the school" Albert MacDonnell, chair-

Town Meeting Votes 145-7 To Restrict Duplex Houses

Special Session Marked By Hot Debate

Refuses To Buy Dr. McManus' Property;

The Special Town Meeting of Thursday, October 6 completed its business in three hours during which it (1) cracked down on the construction of duplex houses by requiring builders to obtain permission from the Board of Appeals; (2) converted the area between Grove Street and the B. & M. tracks from a general to a single residence district; and (3) refused to authorize the expenditure of $25,500 to buy Dr. McManus' property on Main Street.

The Town Meeting also (1) authorized the widening of Lake Street at the Main Street end to fifty feet compensating the DeVries Company with Town owned land; (2) refused to accept the recommendation of the Names Committee that the new West Side School be named the "Asa Locke, Jr. School," laying the matter on the table; and (3) accepted a gift of 85,227 square feet of land from three Winchester people as an addition to the Town Forest.

Invocation by Rev. Ralph H. Earle, newly installed pastor of the Second Congregational Church, followed a 25-minute delay during which four precincts met to elect members to fill vacancies.

The Town Meeting got under way at 8:10 p.m. with an appeal by Mr. John Harrington of the Town Meeting By-Laws Revision Committee for written expressions of opinion by any interested Winchester resident. Mr. Harrington, assuring residents that a hearing on the subject would be held in due time, asked interested residents to contact the Committee with an expression of views on the subject.

DUPLEX PROJECTS

Arguing in support of the Planning Board article that would require the permission of the Board of Appeals for the construction of duplex houses, Mr. George Redding, chairman of the Board, once again cited the population density and congestion that he said would ultimately result from such houses if built in mass projects.

Mr. Redding again stressed that the Town Planning Board was not opposed to duplex houses as such, but was strenuously opposed to mass duplex projects. He warned that under the law as it stood double or duplex houses were automatically permitted in general residence zones, and that the Town faced a real risk of losing its prevailing single-residence character if any more projects were permitted. Mr. Redding cited a duplex housing project on Cross Street, which would ultimately accommodate some 54 houses, as epitomizing the sort of situation the Planning Board was trying to avert.

Rev. O'Donnell To Conduct Service At Home for Aged

It is customary for the ministers of Winchester to take turns conducting worship services at the Home for the Aged from time to time.

Next Sunday, Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church, together with Mr. Raymond Shannon, organist, and several members of the Junior Choir, will visit the Home at three o'clock. A short service, with special music, has been planned. Rev. O'Donnell has chosen for his message, "Man's Need and God's Action."

Graduate Honor

Miss Ellen R. Glowacki, of 18 North Gateway has a graduate Fellowship in Molecular Genetics at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, where she is working for her Ph.D. She graduated with honors from Swarthmore College in June. Very few women are accepted for study at the Institute, and none in the undergraduate school, so it is an honor to be admitted there.

Local Republicans Planning Presentation Of Candidates

An open meeting to present John Volpe, Republican Gubernatorial candidate, Edward Brooke, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, F. Bradford Morse, Republican candidate for Congress and Rep. Harrison Chadwick, candidate for re-election to State Legislature, will be held at the home of Lester C. Gustin, Jr., 407 Highland Avenue on Wednesday, October 19, at 7:30 p.m.

This is an unusual opportunity presented to all Winchester Independents, Republicans and Democrats to meet and hear the views of these distinguished gentlemen, local Republicans report.

The program will include Ralph Bonnell, Republican National Committeeman of Massachusetts and Mrs. Emory Ireland, vice chairman of Republican State Committee.

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester is sponsoring this Open Candidates Meeting in the public interest and invites all voters to attend regardless of political affiliation.

In the spring of his sophomore year he was promoted to assistant editor of the Bowdoin "Orient" and in the eary fall of his junior year was made associate editor, also being given a position on the editorial board. In the winter he was again promoted to managing editor, remaining on the editorial board as one of its senior members.

Previous to this he held the executive board positions of continuity director and publicity director.

As a freshman McLean was pledge king of the first-year class of his fraternity, Delta Kappa Epsilon. He played on the freshman football team, was on the varsity rifle team and was a member of the Rifle Club.

He was a member of the Sailing Club as a sophomore and as a junior contributed to the "Bugle" yearbook. A philosophy major, McLean has held several campus jobs and is considering graduate study next year.

Mental Health Directors Hold First Meeting

Many opportunities for Winchester participation were planned for this year when the Winchester Mental Health Association held its first board of directors meeting last week, it is reported by Mrs. James Willing, its president.

The Winchester MHA is a branch of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association in which it cooperates with Arlington, Bedford, Lexington, and Woburn in services and activities. It is also an affiliate of the Massachusetts Association for Mental Health and a member of the United Fund.

The eleventh state-wide Mental Health Institute for Educators, to be held on October 22 at Wheelock College, and a day-long conference on leadership and action for both lay and professional people throughout the state in Boston, October 25, are two of the first opportunities presented.

Under the leadership of Miss Leonor Rich, Washington School principal and Mrs. Gloria Keville, school adjustment counselor, teachers from many of our schools hope to attend this Saturday meeting. Leading discussion groups on many aspects of the relationship of emotional growth to learning will be some of the very top psychiatrists experienced in this field coming from Harvard Medical School, Judge Baker Foundation, M.I.T., and many other places.

The October 25 meeting is at the Hotel Bradford and can be attended by any interested person in part or in whole. Leaders from a wide range of psychiatric and mental health endeavor will present a spectrum of mental health action to the citizen. More details will be presented next week and information regarding registration can be had from the Mystic Valley office in Lexington, at VOlunteer 2-7082, 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Here in Winchester a film series for local members, parents and teachers on the emotional development of normal children is one of the projects of the program committee headed by Mrs. James Win-

201 Winchesterites Enrolled In Adult Education Classes

The 1960 Fall session of the Winchester Adult Education Program is in full swing, with 201 enthusiasts enrolled in 11 courses. The program started on October 3 and will continue for ten consecutive Mondays, closing on December 5th.

Waiting lists for French and the Keeping Fit Class for Women are so extensive that consideration will be given in the Winter Term for the establishment of two class sections for each of these courses. The course in Descriptive Mineralogy has also reached its class limit, with 20 interested hobbyists in attendance. The courses in Group Discussion, Silk Screening, Advanced First Aid and Africa were cancelled due to insufficient enrollment.

Mr. Richard E. Desjarlais, director of the Adult Education Program, advises that preliminary plans for the 1961 winter session are already being formulated. Suggestions for course offerings will be most welcome and can be called in to the School Department Offices, PA 9-1780.

Kenneth P. Pond

Former Chairman of Selectmen and Cemetery Commissioners Died in Arlington

Kenneth Preston Pond of 233 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington, a native and former widely known resident of Winchester, died Tuesday, October 11, at the Winchester Hospital. He had not been in good health for some time.

Mr. Pond came from a family long prominent in Winchester, both civically and socially. He was the son of Preston and Frances (Dwinell) Pond. He was born June 6, 1891, in Winchester and grew up in the old family homestead at 10 Prospect Street, attending the Winchester schools, Winchester High School and Phillips Exeter Academy.

He spent much of his adult life in the paper business, first with Stone & Forsyth Company in Cambridge and later for many years with the Fort Hill Paper Company in Somerville.

Mr. Pond's father was active civically, serving the town as selectman and taking a prominent part in town affairs. Mr. Pond followed in his footsteps, having been a selectman from 1946 to 1949 and chairman of the board in 1948-'49. For seven years until his retirement in 1957 he was chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Wildwood Cemetery. He was a member of the Winchester Country Club.

On September 11, 1929, at the time of his marriage to Gertrude Lacey of North Adams, Mr. Pond moved into the house at 10 Prospect Street, beside his father's home. He and Mrs. Pond made their home there until two years ago when, because of Mr. Pond's health, they went to an apartment in Arlington. It had been Mr. Pond's wish to return to his native Winchester at the earliest date possible.

Mr. Pond was a veteran of World War I, being commissioned a 1st lieutenant at Plattsburg, N. Y., in 1917 and being discharged June 9, 1919. He saw overseas service at Bordeaux and Corrambles.

Besides his wife, he leaves a brother, Gardner, of Boston.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon a 2 o'clock at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church with the minister, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Victor Fremont Lawson

Victor Fremont Lawson of 85 Pond Street died early Saturday morning, October 8, at Mt. Auburn Hospital in Cambridge after a brief illness. He collapsed while attending the Winchester High School freshman-Belmont High freshman football game at Belmont, in which his son, Victor, Jr., was playing. High School Trainer Lou Goddu succeeded in reviving him and he was taken by ambulance to the Mt. Auburn Hospital, where all efforts in his behalf were of no avail.

Mr. Lawson was born in Kalamazoo, Mich., April 22, 1896. His family moved to Newcastle, Ind., and he attended high school there before graduating from Tri-State College in Indiana with a degree of bachelor of science in civil engineering.

Mr. Lawson was widely known in the building construction industry for his engineering and promotional work. His early activities in Western New York were in the structural steel industry, designing and selling steel for bridges and buildings.

He later became interested in structural concrete products, supplementing steel, in which he was active for the past 11 years in the New England area.

At the time of his death he was a sales engineer representing the Porete Manufacturing Company of North Arlington, N. J.; and C. W. Blakeslee & Sons, Inc., Prestress Division, of New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Lawson had lived in Winchester since 1949. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Massachusetts Society of Professional Engineers and the National Society of Professional Engineers. He was a Mason, a member of the First Congregational Church and of the church Men's Club. He was much interested and active in the Babe Ruth League in Winchester.

On May 15, 1937, Mr. Lawson married Margaret Taylor of Old Greenwich, Conn. She survives with a son, Victor F. Lawson, Jr., a freshman at Winchester High School; and two daughters, Sandra, a junior at Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education at Tufts University; and Carole, a junior at high school.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at Riply Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church with the minister, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, officiating.

Correction

We got our photographic credit lines mixed last week and credited Star Photographer Bill Ryerson with the two shots used in connection with our feature story on the Winchester High School radio station.

Credit for the shots belongs to 'Tommy" Gardner, a high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Gardner of Dix Street. The pictures are good ones and we regret depriving Gardner of the credit for them. Sorry, "Tommy."

He promises a lively mixture for all ages, including novelty, ballroom, and folk dances for those not altogether geared to the continual pace of the square. Door prizes and refreshments will add to the fun.

Mrs. Bertram Dube is in charge of students tickets and they may be secured at the school on Thursday, October 20 and Tuesday, October 25 after the morning and the afternoon sessions. They will be limited to the first two hundred buyers and no additional tickets can be sold at the door.

The Ways and Means Committee, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison P. Elwell sponsors this popular event which supports all activities of the Junior High parent-teacher group.

Police News

HAMMERS STOLEN

On Saturday, Joseph Berardi, foreman at the construction of the new Junior High School, told police that someone had broken into a tool shed on the construction site and took two hammers.

NO PHOTOGRAPHER

A Swanton Street mother reported that her daughter and a little boy were walking along Shore Road last Saturday afternoon about 1:15 when they were stopped by a man who said he wanted to photograph them and urged them to go to a relatively secluded area for the snapshot. Similar complaints were received by police concerning this man who reportedly asked direction to a Woburn restaurant. Police are investigating the man, who was reportedly driving a Ford sedan.

ROCK THROWERS

A gang of boys throwing rocks from the B. & M. tracks Saturday night about 9:45 brought in reports from an officer stationed at the Winchester Theatre and from the Boston & Maine tower. It was feared that the youths might stone a train. A cruiser was dispatched and the youths were dispersed.

PARTY CRASHERS

A Sargent Road resident reported to police Saturday night that beer-carrying teenage boys were trying to crash a party underway in her home. Sgt. Farrell responded to the call and the youths were sent packing.

PROPERTY DAMAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Sidebotham of 57 Westland Avenue phoned police shortly after 1:00 o'clock Sunday reporting that while they were out a car had damaged their property. Police investigated the complaint and found that a car had rolled over the front lawn, damaging reflectors in the driveway. The front door was reportedly open when police arrived on the scene. A check was made of the house and all inside was reported to be in order.

CATS TERRORIZED

Mr. Hugh J. Fay of 11 Meadowcroft Road reported a pack of dogs terrorizing cats in his neighborhood on October 11. He said that the dogs had killed a cat on Cabot Street on October 7. He told police that his own cat was being hunted down by the dog pack.

HOME DAMAGED

On last Wednesday police investigated a complaint from a Sudbury man building a home on Wedgemere Avenue. The Sudbury man told police that about 15 windows had been shattered in his home under construction within the last week, presumably by an air rifle.

WALL DEFACED

Mr. Castadaro of 114 Main St. reported to police last Wednesday afternoon that youths had painted his front wall, presumably, he said, on the way home from high school. Again, on Saturday morning, Mr. Castadaro contacted police who found two boys in front of the house after covering the wall with crank case oil. The boys' parents were obliged to make good on the damages.

BITTEN BY RAT

A six-year-old Cross Street girl was bitten on a finger by a cornered rat near the telephone booth at the corner of Cross and Forest Streets last Thursday evening at 6:40. Susan Nurnberger was bitten as the Nurnberger's dog cornered the rat and killed it.

Local Youth

When Mr. Barnes returned on September 21 and reported the liuor missing, police put one and one together. They had also heard that someone had made it clear that liquor was for sale privately to high school students. Officer Nash's belief that the break was made by youths seemed to be confirmed. He pressed his investigation further and apprehended the four youths.

"Somehow," Nash said, "these youths, in broad daylight, lugged three cartons of liquor up Rangeley Ridge and over to Central Street. You figure it out."

Nash said an antique table had been damaged and that in the Barnes' home a stair bannister was burned by a match-bomb while the youths were in the house, but that otherwise there was not extensive damage, except for a thorough ransacking of bureaus, cupboards and drawers.

discussed such matters as methods of investigating car thefts and handling juvenile problems. There were some 2,000 police chiefs there, he said.

The chief went to the nation's capital accompanied by Chief Tom Kirwin of Medford, Chief Tom McGuire of Woburn, Chief Merritt Wenzell of Wakefield and Chief Alfred Ryan of Arlington.

The chief said that while in Washington the Bay State chiefs had the pleasure of meeting Senator Leverett Saltonstall in his office.

Chidleys Present Mr. Brooke

Well over seventy friends of Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley gathered at Grey Rocks, home of the Chidleys, last Wednesday evening to meet and hear Mr. Edward W. Brooke, Republican candidate for Massachusetts Secretary of State.

Mr. Brooke, a forty-year-old veteran of World War II and well-known Boston attorney, completely captivated his audience with his pleasant but forceful word-picture of the International, National and State political scene of today. It seemed to be the feeling of those present that truly great and important positions are ahead for this able and earnest young man.

Those women assisting Mrs. Chidley were Mrs. Ray E. Brown, Mrs. William J. Speers, Jr., Mrs. William D. Barone, Mrs. Freeman Perkins, Miss Helen Niedringhaus, Miss Ruth Dunbar Elder and Mrs. Arthur T. Rogde. Mrs. Warren C. Whitman presided at the coffee urn during the friendly opening hour set aside for coffee and dessert.

Dr. William D. Barone, who has been working with Edward Brooke for the past seven months, introduced the candidate to the Chidleys and Mr. William J. Speers, Jr., presented him to the assembled group. The guests left Grey Rocks with an awakened awareness of the importance to every single American of truly good government.

LET'S TELL THE WHOLE TRUTH

Rep. Harrison Chadwick

My opponent has developed the habit of asking rhetorical questions and then answering them to suit himself. Unfortunately, his answers have contained many half truths.

As an example, he contends that because I did not vote for the expansion of a scholarship program he advocates, I do not support public higher education. Actually, the vote came on an amendment to study the matter further before approving the enlargement of the program. I voted for that amendment. The truth is that, long before my opponent became a political protege of the Furcolo administration, I had filed legislation to incorporate expanded curricula at the state teachers' colleges, thus providing the most needed assistance in higher education in the most economical manner.

My opponent's recent allegations regarding the Metropolitan sewerage problem are way off the mark. He states I did not inform anyone about this matter, although I gave the editor of the Star full information on this situation, which was published on February 26, 1960.

The facts are that the local officials are thoroughly aware of what is involved; that much of the new formula for the assessment is equitable and that Winchester appears to suffer largely because we have enjoyed a favored position for years; and that 50% of the impact is due to a non-repeat charge on account of making the municipal and District financial years simultaneous.

My opponent implies that as a lone operator, if he had been the Representative, he "might" have defeated the bill or he "might" have delayed it. This bill, in fact, had opposition which was swept aside. It was a Democratic proposal rammed through the Democratic-controlled legislative and executive branches as part of a long-range Democratic program to shift as much as possible of the financial burden from the Democratic cities to the Republican towns. (The attempt to shift the MTA deficit to the outlying communities is the most publicized of several such plans.) The truth is that neither my opponent nor I could have stopped or altered the sewerage assessment bill. Only Republican majorities could have done that.

MORALITY IN GOVERNMENT today is the biggest issue confronting the voters in Massachusetts. From now on, Mr. Costello, let's tell the whole truth.

Deer Before Breakfast

"'Resolved: To have a lot of fun.' That's what most teenagers want from their summer camp. We want to teach them reverence for life and appreciation of nature—yet, fortunately the two can be completely compatible." So said Lester Giles, director of the American Humane Education Society and head of Alvord Wildlife Sanctuary and Camp. Mr. Giles was addressing the Winchester Auxiliary of the M.S.P.C.A. on Monday last at the spacious home of Mrs. Winthrop Knox of Curtis Circle.

It will be remembered that three Winchester young people, Stephen Manning, Caroline Nault and Roger Newton attended Alvord Nature Camp on Bear Island as winners in the essay contest sponsored by Winchester's M.S.P.C.A. Stephen received a full two-week campership, while Miss Nault and Roger Newton as runners-up won partial camperships, which were later made complete through the generosity of the Winchester Rotary Club.

Hence it was particularly appropriate to view the slides of camp activities, which Mr. Giles had to show. Included were white sails in the sunset and deer before breakfast. One doe was accustomed to peer right into the window. Many "wild" deer were so tame that campers could tempt them with apples. A boy who had enjoyed this experience would have a rather different feeling the next time he saw the carcass of a deer slung across the roof of a hunter's speeding sedan.

Ways and Means chairman, Mrs. Knox, announced plans for a really fascinating fall sale to benefit "Animal" activities. Homemade baked goods, handmade aprons and mittens something quite different in jewelry, and plenty of bargains in "white elephants" will be offered.

Mrs. Al Pywell of Wildwood Street, assisted by Mrs. Lyle Longworth served a tasty tea at the social hour which followed the meeting. Mrs. John Clarke and Mrs. Maynard Ells poured.

Word has been received of the death in Stratford, Conn. on October 7 of Mrs. Mabel B. Hunt, widow of Franklin S. Hunt, who will be remembered by older residents of town as a former resident of Myrtle Terrace. Service were held Monday in Stratford with interment in Hackettstown, N. J.

Well, It's Your Money...

Just a postscript. You already know now that Our Representative just plain forgot to do his job . . . and it cost us $21.72 on our Winchester tax bills this year.

*But that is not all.

To correct this error, it will be necessary to appropriate $32,700 next spring at Town Meeting. This will make necessary changes in our MDC sewer connections...

The Point Is This....

If we don't, it will continue to mean additional dollars on our tax bills every year—not just 1960.

If Our Representative had remembered to represent us in 1959, our MDC assessment costs would not be so high.

It's your money . . . I'm sure you don't want representation that wastes your money.

Registration Aided In Return of Boats

The State Division of Motorboats was responsible for the recovery of over one thousand motorboats cast adrift by hurricane Donna.

For several days the switchboard at the Division of Motorboats at 100 Nashua Street, Boston, was ablaze with telephone inquiries about lost and found boats.

Local police, Coast Guard officials, Coast Guard Auxiliary members, harbor masters, and Red Cross, Power Squadron members and good neighbor civilians called seeking the identity of the owners whose boats had been found.

The Massachusetts law requires all motorboats of more than 10 horsepower to be registered and the number must be prominently displayed on the bow. The registration number provided the key clue and with it the division was able to locate the name, address, and home port of the owner.

State Director Wilton Vaugh of 10 Fairview Terrace was delighted that thousands of boat owners speedily recovered their property because they had complied with the law and registered their boats. The director also pointed out that the federal boating law and the state law require owners to report damage of one hundred dollars or more to their boats.

Reporting forms are available to boat owners at local police stations and Registry of Motor Vehicle offices throughout the state. Forms should be filled out in duplicate and mailed to the Director, Division of Motorboats, 100 Nashua Street, Boston 14, Mass.

America has drive-in theaters, drive-in restaurants, drive-in banks and even drive-in churches. What it needs now, says the Automobile Legal Association, are more drive-in parking spaces.

LWV Units On Metropolitan Planning

What is a metropolitan area? What is meant by "metropolitan planning?" What are the major metropolitan problems that the Boston area must consider? How do Winchester's problems relate to Boston and other surrounding cities and towns?

The League of Women Voters' unit discussion groups, to be held next week, will examine the conditions which affect the planning needs for the future growth and development of the metropolitan area.

The committee on metropolitan planning has arranged a display of visual materials in the Winchester Library to continue through October 21. This display includes graphic presentations which have been loaned to Winchester by the Wellesley League and other civic groups who have done extensive research on planning problems. Bibliographies have been prepared and pamphlets are available for those who would like to learn more about this subject.

Wednesday, October 19, at 1:00 p.m. Hostess, Mrs. James Baker, 7 Grove Street. Leader, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich.

Wednesday, October 19, at 7:45 p.m. Hostess, Mrs. W. J. Farrell, Jr., 33 Pierrepont Road. Leader, Mrs. Lawrence Rubin.

Thursday, October 20, at 9:30 a.m. Hostess, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, 228 Highland Avenue. Leader, Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley.

Thursday, October 20, at 7:45 p.m. Hostess, Mrs. Edward Barker, 389 Washington Street. Leader, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich.

Friday, October 21, at 9:30 a.m. Hostess, Mrs. Thomas Hennessey, 37 Cabot Street. Leader, Mrs. William Spaulding.

Living With Your Heart

Half of all the men in the United States between the ages of 45 and 50 have significant "silent" coronary disease.

This shocking statistic means that a substantial percentage of men in the prime of life are harboring conditions which need only the trigger of a bloodclot to make them even grimmer statistics.

With the evidence that diet and heart disease are related, should the men of America—and perhaps even the boys—go on austerity diets in an effort to save their lives?

No—because it would not accomplish the purpose. Additionally, humans, simply are not built to live on highly restrictive diets for a lifetime.

Despite the casual way it is treated, the human mechanism today is, in general, good at least for the Biblical 70 years before wearing out. The prospect is for more years since medical research is constantly chipping away at causes of disease and death.

This is true even with the high ratio of heart damage in middle age, but longer life than can now be expected will depend largely upon whether medical science can conquer, or at least slow down, atherosclerosis — degeneration of the arteries.

The process of atherosclerosis may be influenced by dietary means, but we are still far from the point where one can say any specific diet will slow it down, or prolong life.

Until more evidence is in about the accomplishment involved in strenuous diet, moderation—on the part of the doctor as well as the patient—is a sound principle.

A good diet, in the light of present knowledge, is a moderate restriction of the foods that would seem to encourage atherosclerosis.

It is conceivable, of course, that if one were to start an infant on a non atherogenic diet—and he lived on it throughout his life—the process of atherosclerosis might be slowed greatly, but people just will not live this way if the diet restriction is severe.

If you have to go to extreme measures, you are saying the extreme is normal, and this does not make sense. It is well to remember that the human body is metabolically equipped to handle a wide variety of foods to use, in fact, almost anything within a reasonable range.

We may eventually come to the time when we can establish that a reasonable modification of diet will give us all the protection we need against over-rapid degeneration of our arteries.

About Your Social Security

Social security amendments signed by the President on September 13 will bring benefits to an estimated 125,000 additional disabled workers and to members of their families throughout the country, the Cambridge Social Security Office has announced.

A person can now qualify for disability benefits without regard to his age. If he has worked long enough under social security and if his disability is severe enough to meet the definition in the social security law, he and eligible members of his family may draw the benefits even if he has not reached 50—the age requirement in the prior law.

Those who have already made application to have their social security records frozen because of their disabality do not need to take any action now. The Social Security Administration has their records on file and will get in touch with them to obtain an application. However, those disabled people who have not had a previous contact with a social security office to discuss protection should get in touch with the Cambridge office right away because benefits cannot be paid until an application for them is made. The Social Security Administration District Office is located at 2 Trowbridge Street, Cambridge (UNiversity 4-3900).

School Is Not for Fido!

Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Angell Memorial Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, warned the public today of the serious trouble that can be caused by dogs that follow or accompany children to school.

Dr. Hansen urges parents, teachers and all those in charge of children to explain to them why dogs should be kept away from school property.

In his statement, Dr. Hansen cites the danger of drivers losing control of their cars when dogs dash across the street in pursuit of their young owners; also of the possibility of a child being bitten in the excitement and play in the schoolyard if dogs are unrestrained.

And it should be remembered, too, Dr. Hansen said, that there are some young children who have yet to become friendly with dogs and it does not help if they are frightened at their first encounter.

Important, too, said Dr. Hansen, that the dog's reputation in the neighborhood should be considered—if you keep your pet at home when the children go to school—you help him retain his good behavior record. Dogs make good companions, but not in schoolyards.

The Winchester Star
Established 1880 by Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Editorials:

Sidewalks On The West Side?

The Star is informed by a member of the Board of Selectmen that the Board has decided to do nothing about installing sidewalks in the west side hill district to ensure safe passage of children in that area from their homes to the Johnson Road School.

A petition with 175 names of residents of the district seeking the installation of sidewalks was presented to the Board at a recent hearing while individuals at the hearing strongly urged the Board to make such installations.

There probably is no question that as an emergency measure the Selectmen could legally install sidewalks anywhere in town as a safety measure, but the Board in its best judgment and after investigation of the matter in question does not feel that an emergency exists.

They find that presently the children in the danger area are being transported to school in buses, at a cost substantially below the expense of installing sidewalks. While the Star may deplore, and does deplore the fact that the children can not walk to school as they should for the sake of their physical well being, we believe that as long as danger for them is thought to exist in walking it is better to have them ride than to be exposed to being struck and possibly killed by an automobile.

The Selectmen feel that the place to decide upon the installation of sidewalks in the west side hill district is at the next annual meeting in March and the representative of the Board with whom we spoke assured us that there will be an article dealing with the matter in the warrant for the coming March meeting.

The Town Engineer gave as an estimate the amount of $10,000 as being necessary to construct the sidewalks petitioned for by residents of the hill district. The Selectmen feel that the section of High Street from Lockeland Road to Samoset Road should have sidewalks if the children are to walk to school. There probably are other sections where the sidewalks also should be installed.

The people of the area feel very strongly that the sidewalks they have petitioned for should be built at once. They argue that whatever the cost, it is a small price to prevent the injury and possible death of schoolchildren. We imagine the Selectmen concur heartily.

On the other hand their belief, as expressed to the Star, is that the children will be safer taken to school in buses than walking even if sidewalks are available. There is always the problem of getting youngsters to walk on sidewalks. Many from our personal observation prefer the street.

Petitioners for the sidewalks, in talking to the Star, made the point that the installation of sidewalks will be a one-cost proposition, and that buses, if they are used continuously, year after year, can be expensive. They are concerned with the tax rate, just as every one is.

And we should not forget that it is not a theoretical problem with them. It is their boys and girls who are involved.

However, if the youngsters are to be driven to school, and at a cost which the Selectmen feel is much less expensive than constructing sidewalks, then the tax-rate will not be too adversely affected; in fact, if the busing is cheaper, the tax rate will be less if the buses are used.

We also must not forget those who do not want the sidewalk installation. We are told that a petition containing 30-odd names of those who oppose sidewalks for the area has been presented to the Selectmen.

We recall that when the Selectmen wanted to install sidewalks at the southerly end of Highland Avenue for the youngsters going to the Mystic School there was considerable opposition to the plan.

Mrs. William D. Barone, whose interest in town affairs stems from her late father, Jonas A. Laraway, former selectman and long active in local politics, has suggested to the Town Engineer that as an immediate and temporary measure white or yellow broken lines be painted along the roads two or three feet parallel to the road's edge as "safety or walk zones". Incidentally Mrs. Barone finds the concern of the people living in the area affected very natural. So does the Star!

We believe that the safety of children should never be compromised. Of course it is! Every day we see tots little more than babies playing around or in streets. Everywhere we see motorists have to stop their cars quickly to avoid striking older youngsters walking in the streets and refusing to give way to the automobile.

This of course has nothing to do with getting young children to school safely. The Selectmen feel that the youngsters of the Johnson Road, Lockeland Road area are being transported to school safely. They believe they are doing the right thing by letting the entire town finally decide the sidewalk issue.

Wanted: One Hall For Bridge Players

Two or three weeks ago a letter was sent to the Star by a teen ager telling of the difficulty he and a group of his friends are having getting a place in which to play bridge.

The bridge playing started last spring among a small group of high school students who gathered at each other's homes. The would-be players have now mushroomed far beyond the original group and it is no longer possible to have the bridge meetings at the homes of group members.

The young people, having vainly sought to secure a building or hall large enough to house the group sent the letter to the Star to see if anywhere in town any organization or individual could help.

Thus far they have heard nothing from anybody. As we understand it halls they have tried to get have been denied them and they still are no nearer a solution of their problem.

It should be understood that these youthful bridge players do not want to pay for accommodations they seek and feel that those who decry the actions of loafing youth should be glad to aid this segment to keep busy and happy while learning a game they can enjoy through life.

There is a tendency to criticize young people, particularly their lack of initiative in the recreation field. Here is a group that has chosen a game that can not disturb any one, that will keep those playing it busy on non-school nights and aid materially in devloping their mental capacities.

The Star had rather hoped there would be some response to the letter that appeared in our columns. The youngtsers have waited hopefully for some one to come forward.

To date no one has come. We do not know the going rates for small halls in town. They used to be modest, but we suppose they are now a lot more expensive like everything else. Couldn't the youngsters chip in 50c a session for the fun they get out of it? If there are fifty in the group that would mean $25.00 It would seem that something might be done with that!

The Star admires the initiative of the youngsters in forming the bridge group and is pleased to see so many young people interested in this mentally stimulating form of recreation. We hope it won't have to go by the board!

A Hen For Football!

Those who saw it must now feel they have seen everything! Last Saturday as the rooters were gathering for the Winchester - Cambridge Latin football game on Manchester Field there approached the gate a youth with a hen attached to a long rope. He went unchallenged through the gate and started for the Cambridge side of the field.

On his way there he encountered Sgt. James E. Farrell who was pacing about keeping a weather eye on things. It didn't take that weather eye long to spot the hen, and he immediately accosted the youth, who told him he was on his way to the Cambridge bench and that the hen was the team mascot.

It would have made no particular difference to Sgt. Farrell, had such been the case. The possibility of trouble arising over the strange visitor was enough to prompt Sgt. Farrell to order the youth from the field.

And to put a double knot in the halyard the Cambridge coach knew neither the youth nor of any team mascot, at least of the genus poultry.

The youth and his strange traveling mate went outside and the hen was attached by the rope to the wire fence, where it would have been fair prey for the horde of dogs at every football game.

This wasn't what Sgt. Farrell wanted either, and this time, raising his resonant voice, he stated his views on hens at football games either inside or outside the field. He also commented on the advisability of the youth and hen getting off the field entirely.

The owner of the hen got the message and observing that he "didn't seem to be wanted here" he and his traveling companion went on their way.

It was a good thing for the poultry fancier that no member of the MSPCA happened to be in the stands. He might have had greater cause to regret his foolishness. And may we ask, how foolish can you get!

Take Pumpkins In At Night

Police Chief Derro says his department is being flooded with complaints from persons who have had pumpkins used for Hallowe'en decorations, stolen from their porches and smashed on their premises or nearby. For the most part the pumpkins are not taken away. Apparently those who remove them don't want them and don't want anyone else to have and enjoy them.

Obviously the Police can not have men watching all the houses that have pumpkins on their front doorsteps. As a consequence the Chief suggests that those who have them there take them in at dark, or if they are going away.

The custom of having a pumpkin or pumpkins on the front steps in the fall is a pleasant one. According to the Chief you can keep them there as long as you wish if you do not leave them out after dark.

"Love Art, Not Yourself In Art"

Winchester Children's Theatre Now Beginning Its Fifth Year

"An actor's body is his instrument," Carlene Samoiloff explained. "It is essential that he know how to use it."

"First," the Director of the Winchester Children's Theatre said, "an actor must relax. He must free himself from the tensions that inhibit the free flow of emotion and concentration. Once relaxed, he can attempt to do almost anything with his body."

Mrs. Samoiloff ripped across the room in a breathtaking run, fell suddenly to the floor and lay inert. "That," she confided at 60, "was a running stage fall."

Then Carlene Samoiloff fell off a chair. "I've just received a tragic telegram," she explained.

"I never walk where I can run," she laughed. "I used to roll down concrete steps to keep in trim!"

Well, the Winchester children who attend Mrs. Samoiloff's Children's Theatre, now in its fifth year, certainly don't roll down concrete stairs. But they are learning stage falls, and they are learning how to relax and thereby to free their bodies for artistic expression.

DANCING, TOO

When your Star reporter entered Mrs. Samoiloff's European-style studio on Highland Avenue, the director and her young charges were dancing vigorously to the "Russian Song of the Meadows." Mrs. Samoiloff, of course, was dancing right along with them, guiding the movements and rhythms of each child, coaching now one, now the other, with great patience.

But this was not just play. The children were working, and working hard. "Inspiration," Stanislavsky wrote, "is born of hard work; it is not the other way around."

"Dancing is a part of acting," Mrs. Samoiloff explained, "part of the child's vital effort to acquire poise, rhythm, a sense of the beautiful, a sense of the graceful, a sense of balance. And when they dance together, or act together, the children cultivate a sense of teamwork, the group love of an effort."

THEATRE ARTS

In the Children's Theatre itself, Mrs. Samoiloff's objective is to give the youngster a comprehensive understanding of theatre arts—not only acting but the techniques of production. Accordingly, the children design their own scenery and costumes, paint posters for the show, do their own casting, choose their own play, in most instances, and study the ideas behind it.

"Just now," Mrs. Samoiloff said, "we are preparing for our December production of "Noah's Ark." Of course, we are studying the Old Testament story of the Ark and the Flood. And we are making trips to the Stoneham Zoo to see how the animals walk and behave. Then the children will watch each other acting out the roles of Noah and his family, or the lion, or the bear, and by the time they finish the first few rehearsals they themselves will decide who is best qualified for a part."

MEMORY OF EMOTIONS

Has Mrs. Samoiloff any special theory of acting, any special approach?

"Yes I do," she replied. "It is certainly not original with me. Basically it is the Stanislavsky method. For example, when an actress has to "cry" she must recall something terribly sad in her own life. Then her tears are real, and "acting" becomes "reality." This theory has been called the "Memory of Emotions"—anger, fear, joy, anguish—, the "Memory of Moods." It requires all the imagination, concentration and industry of which these young minds are capable.

"You will remember, when you came in the children were tasting lemons. They were doing this for several reasons. First in order to recall accurately the sense of taste and touch and muscular action when they act on the stage, second in order to check the accuracy of each other's expressions. This is a vivid example of the many facets of experience which an actor must remember accurately.

"Sometimes, too, the children pretend to be eating something, and each one tries to guess from the others' facial expressions and gestures what they are eating. This helps the children to evoke more accurately on the stage the senses of sight, smell, hearing, taste and touch.

CHILDREN ARE FAIR

Are children difficult to work with? Do they forget their lines? Are they, as many claim, unmanageable, stubborn and irresponsible?

"The answer to all questions," Mrs. Samoiloff said firmly, "is an emphatic NO!" "One of the first things you find out in working with children is that they can teach you almost as much as you can teach them."

"You can't talk down to children. You can't be condescending. They have a great sense of their own identity, a great sense of fairness and quality. They learn their lines quickly, and they can spot the fake from the real in a second.

"Sometimes," Mrs. Samoiloff continued, "you hear that children are "cruel" or "selfish." I have found that they are relatively free of the egotism and jealousies of the adult. Take the problem of casting. I try not to cast the child, because I can ultimately trust him to know his own strength. We may start out with seven Snow Whites and only one dwarf, for example, but by the time we are ready for production we have only one Snow White, chosen by the children themselves, with their sense of who is doing the best job."

LITTLE WOMAN

Does the Director ever encounter resentment and jealousy among the children?

"Of course," Carlene Samoiloff said, "in this, as in all human endeavors. But kids are better about it.

"I remember especially the little girl who desperately wanted to play "Jo" in our production of "Little Women." She tried so hard. She told me that she prayed every night to get the part. But when the children voted someone else for the part, she accepted the decision instantly, smiling through her tears.

"I went over to her moments later, while she was sitting in a corner, crying softly. I explained to her that she was just too feminine for her part, and her eyes opened wide. Then I told her that what she should have prayed for was to be a good actress and then the right part would come, and she smiled and agreed.

"In a situation like this a child is learning more than how to act; I think she's learning a little how to live, too. Stanislavsky warned actors: "Love art, not yourself in art." And this is one of the first things I try to give my children."

CHILDREN CREATIVE

Mrs. Samoiloff's belief in children should reassure many who are "worried about the younger generation."

"A child is naturally creative," Mrs. Samoiloff said, "until we smash it out of him. As it is, the child is over-organized, he has too many activities. Everything is planned for him by adults. He 'takes in' everything, and 'gives out' very little. You'd be surprised by the supreme delight a child gets out of simply painting a water color picture about a play. It gives him a chance to express himself and his ideas, a chance to develop a sense of color and artistic balance."

Born on Hillside Avenue, the daughter of Winchester painter H. Dudley Murphy and Caroline Bowles Murphy, Carlene Murphy Samoiloff began her career on the stage under the famed Ruth St. Denis, with whom she worked for almost five years. She studied dancing with Adolph Bolm and Michael Mordkin in New York and served her dramatic apprenticeship at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York.

MOSCOW ART THEATRE

In the early 1920's, during a year abroad studying the European theatre, Mrs. Samoiloff began a dramatic association that she recalls with great joy, her association with the famed Moscow Art Theatre. She was the first American student to travel with this distinguished company. To the great Tsarist actors, she was "Marfusha," and she remembers them all with fondness and gratitude. She feels privileged to have studied four years under the great Maria Ouspenskaya.

It was at the Moscow Theatre's production of "Tsar Feodor" at the Majestic Theatre in Boston that the director met Alexander Samoiloff, then a Harvard student, signed on as a stage "super," now a noted project engineer.

In addition to her experience with the Moscow Art Theatre, Mrs. Samoiloff had two acting seasons in New York with Max Reinhardt and served under Richard Boleslavsky, director of the American Laboratory Theatre, designing scenery and costumes and acting.

TEACHER, LECTURER

Since her marriage Mrs. Samoiloff has taught acting at the Harvard Dramatic Club, Tufts College and the Cambridge School. She has lectured widely on dramatic arts in colleges, schools and clubs, and has done mural decorations for schools and restaurants, as well as a great deal of scenery and costume designing.

Mrs. Samoiloff has also directed plays for the Lexington Theatre Guild, and the Arlington Friends of the Drama, including "The Corn Is Green," and the "Recognition Scene from Anastasia."

Her Winchester Children's Theatre has appeared at Arlington Town Hall, on TV Channel 2, at the National Children's Theatre Convention at Tufts three Summers ago and most recently at the Perkins School for the Blind in a touching and unforgettable performance of a series of five plays.

"NOAH'S ARK"

The Children's Theatre begins its fifth year with confidence and joy. This year the children will present "Noah's Ark" for the Winchester Community School Associates. The children are delighted, and if their recent performances are any index of what we can expect in December, th success of the play is virtually assured.

"I can't tell you how grateful we are to all of the people and clubs in Winchester who have helped us. There simply won't be enough room to name them all. I hope some day we will have a town-sponsored theatre to enable us to do even more for our children," Mrs. Samoiloff said.

How many of her young actors will go on acting as a profession?

"It is impossible to tell, and perhaps not really important," Mrs. Samoiloff said. "Two of my boys, of course, are now acting with the Stratford Shakespeare Players in Boston, and last year two of our children acted with the Boston University Players.

"But whatever the children do with the training they get here, they will, I think, have learned loyalty to whatever task in which they are engaged. They will have developed a greater feeling for the beautiful and lasting things of life and art, of the mind and spirit. This is, perhaps, the ultimate joy of working with them."

AMERICA IN 1960: WHERE ARE WE GOING?

By WILSON SULLIVAN

What is America? Where is it going?

In "The National Purpose," an impressive if improbable group of Americans discusses both questions and finds its countrymen wanting, if not wicked.

Blessed by Henry Luce, the essays go the whole distance from ponderous cant to high wisdom, from mannered cliches to supreme insight. Excepting the sallies of James Reston, Clinton Rossiter, Adlai Stevenson and Walter Lippmann, the essays are crippled by ambivalence and ambiguity, afflicted with vast ingenuousness, frustrating nostalgia and heroic triteness.

To wit: An industrialist is not persuaded that the reign of Coca-Cola constitutes a grave national danger. Philip Jessup, Life's editorial lyricist, follows a paean to the "democratic idealism" that sent Dewey into Tokyo Bay with the agreeable assurance that "a consensus of private purposes can give shape and direction to national life."

A foundation executive is convinced that to win the cold war we have only to brighten the corner where we are. Billy Graham calls for slogans and demonstrations to "sell" the American Dream, restore the Ten Commandments, and conquer both boredom and behaviorism.

R. C. A. Republican David Sarnoff, dissatisfied with merely a "lasting accommodation" with Russia, calls for a "vocabulary of confidence" to fight fire with fire by way of a "Political West Point."

Impressed by P. T. A. and the "slogging" Yankee soldiers of the Mexican (sic) War, Harvard's Archibald MacLeish has a good word for the Madison Avenue "whipping boy," and insists that all is not decadent because, after all, our Best People are so fine!

On a higher level, Cornell's Clinton Rossiter, looking over the nuclear abyss, cites Americans' general denial of "the community and its demands." We will never win the loyalty of the world, he argues, until we provide full freedom for 18 million third-class Negro citizens, overcome our threadbare prejudices against strong Federal government and correct the gross misuse of our human resources, whereby we have a plethora of auto salesmen and a dearth of teachers. Seeking ways to tear down our defenses even as we build them up, Rossiter adds, we must move (in "several generations," of course) from international cooperation to federation.

Embracing Federal Union, Domestic Tranquillity, Common Defense and the General Welfare, Democrat Adlai Stevenson urges a wide-eyed emergence from the "politics of sedation." "No Fourth of July oratory," Stevenson warns, "will make (our) purposes great if in fact they are small . . . private and unconcerned." Unhappy with the equation of liberty with self-indulgent suburban complacency, Stevenson upbraids this republic of "interests and buddies" with slums in the midst of plenty . . . this "high standard of low living." "Becalmed in a season of storms," preoccupied with bucolic barbecues, Stevenson says, we have dedicated "the supermarket as our temple, and the singing commercial as our litany."

Walter Lippmann cites the great gap between present realities and old policies. America, he believes, is in the position of a man impounded in Chicago on his way from Boston to San Francisco. Profound innovations and strong leadership are necessary if we are to get moving again, he says, if our national surfeit is not to lull us asleep, and if we are to overcome the notion that we are a "finished society" with no more work to do.

For James Reston of the Times, vigorous Presidential leadership is the source of national purpose and power. "If George Washington had waited for the doubters to develop a sense of purpose," Reston writes, "he'd still be crossing the Delaware." Most of the great crises of U. S. history, Reston observes, have been solved not by popular zeal and purpose informed by professors and editors, but by the will power and obstinacy and vision of its Presidents. Our difficulty now, Reston believes, is that our leaders, restricted by "partial efforts and late starts," think they must follow rather than lead the nation.

But if Americans are doing less than they should, Reston says, they are doing all that they have been asked to do. Theoreticians can show us the way from their studies, he adds, but only a political leader can translate idealism into deeds and mobilize U. S. "spunk and spirit." Reston urges us to re-establish the coalition of intellect and politics, spend as much for education as for "sexy advertising," draft intelligent youths for diplomatic service in Indochina rather than for K. P. duty in Hoboken, and generally defeat the idea that 18th-century techniques are adequate in the 20th.

Name Schools For Builders Of America

Editor of the Star:

I am encouraged by the way in which I was received by the members of the Town Meeting the other evening. This encouragement is equalled by my satisfaction that the meeting decided to give serious consideration to the name to be chosen for the Johnson Road School, and not to make up their mind in a few moments on the basis of incomplete information.

I hope that the Town Meeting in March will be able to vote on the naming of not only the Johnson Road School but also on the names for the junior high schools.

I heartily endorse the idea of the School Committee as proposed by Mr. Broadhurst. (Everett and McCall were perhaps the figures in history of which Winchester may be most proud).

Mr. Tansey is right when he says that we should remember our war heroes but let's not name just a few schools for a few men. It would not be right, when so many men have given their lives, to pick out just one or two. Let's instead name streets and squares or even playgrounds after these heroes. This would allow us to name our schools for the great "builders of America" who have called Winchester "home."

"Five Star Scholar!"

Editor of the Star:

The editorial entitled "Our Merit Scholars" is an example of the kind of thinking that created the problem that the editorial deals with.

Are we to be encouraged by the fact that a high school principal feels that scholastic achievement has reached "the same level as that of athletic teams?" I would like to think that that goal would have been reached a long time ago.

This hard sell of scholarship will not lead to better scholars but to good scholastic competitors, "The All Around Scholar," "The Five Letter Scholastic Star," good in all fields but useless as a creative individual.

Sincerely yours,
Daniel Hritzay

Town Committee Hears Wardwell

At the October 4 meeting of the Winchester Town Committee, Mr. Gardner B. Wardwell of Melrose, candidate for state auditor, was the featured speaker. In his talke he mentioned that he is the first candidate for the state auditor's office who has certified public accountant certification.

During the evening the committee members were pleased with the unexpected arrival of Mr. Bradford Morse of Lowell, candidate for Congress from this district. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morse and after a few words of greeting, they left for more of the rigorous campaigning that Mr. Morse is making in this district in order to get his name before the public, due to the late start in his campaign.

The publicity chairman announced a sticker drive which took place in center of Winchester on Saturday, October 8. The object is to place, with the car owner's permission, Republican stickers on as many automobiles in Winchester as possible. The drive will be continued until October 15 pending the arrival of more stickers from state headuarters. Also discussed were tentative plans for torch-light parades later in the month.

Mr. Earl Spencer proposed several new names for associate membership in the Republican Town Committee and these names were approved by vote of the membership.

Several volunteers have been enlisted to man Republican headquarters in the Locatelli Building during the following hours: 10:00 to 12:00 a.m., 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., and Friday evenings 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Voters wishing information on the various candidates or help on absentee ballots should stop in to the Republican headquarters some time prior to election.

McCall

New Hampshire from 1867 to 1870.

From New Hampton Mr. McCall went on to Dartmouth College from which he graduated as a high-ranking student in 1874.

After law study in Nashua, N. H., and law practice in Worcester and Boston, Mr. McCall married Ella Esther Thompson, a fellow student at New Hampton, on May 23, 1881. The McCalls thereafter moved to Winchester where they brought up five children.

In 1887, Mr. McCall was elected as Representative to the General Court where he introduced bills which, according to the American Dictionary of Biography, "practically ended imprisonment for debt in Massachusetts," and sought to regulate the amount of money spent on elections.

20 YEARS IN CONGRESS

In 1888, Representative McCall bought an interest in the Boston Advertiser of which he became editor-in-chief. In 1892 he was elected to the United States Congress where he served a term of 20 years, being re-elected nine times. In Congress he was known as a man of honesty, independence and individualism. "Fortunately for him," the "Dictionary" adds "he represented a district that thought more of independence of judgment than of party regularity."

Rep. McCall failed in his bid for the United States Senate in 1913, but his honors had by no means come to an end. Declining the presidency of Dartmouth College, Mr. McCall was elected Governor of Massachusetts in 1916. He assisted in the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, a monument for which he shared considerable responsibility. A widely known lecturer on civic matters, Governor McCall was also author of books on Thaddeus Stevens and Thomas B. Reed. He died on November 4, 1923.

STUDENT SPEAKS

In his address to the Town Meeting last Thursday night, Winchester High School student Alan McDougall cited Governor McCall as "an honest and forthright citizen with the courage to vote against the vast majority."

McCall's bitter political enemy G. B. McClellan, Jr., McDougall noted, declared that he "shone like a jewel for his honesty." On the day of McCall's funeral, McDougall added, the State of Massachusetts "suspended all of its activities for five minutes."

McDougall said he considered it unfortunate that the Town had done nothing really to honor Governor McCall since his death 37 years ago. The new school, McDougall noted, is in the section of the Town which McCall developed and in which he lived. He said it would be fitting that the Town should name the school for a man whose great moral courage the pupils might emulate.

Spring At Heart

Though leaves come tumbling down 'round our heads, and even a brief glance at the rapidly passing calendar hints briskly of chill breezes and the attraction of fireside warmth, all is not told by the weather. Just to prove that the spirit of gaiety and renewal knows no season, the Wyman School dance committee has chosen as a theme for their annual fall festivity, the "Floral Fling."

The dance to be held on Saturday evening, November 5, from 8 until 12 o'clock in the school auditorium with dancing to the popular melodies and rhythms of Roger L. Carpenter and the Meltones, promises to supply Wyman parents and friends with a bright and colorful aura in the midst of a fading outdoor scene.

Mrs. Earle F. Spencer, Jr., enthusiastic chairman, has chosen as her committee in planning arrangements:

Tickets, Mrs. Robert W. Byford
Publicity, Mrs. Edward A. Knowlton
Decorations, Mrs. Richard Bannister
Flowers, Mrs. James E. Kimball II
Refreshments, Mrs. Charles C. Bond

As a fund raising project of the Wyman Parents' Association Ways and Means Committee, the dance has proved very successful in the past. Entertainment of the evening will again include the drawing of several exciting door prizes. School telephones will be attended thruout the evening. Do join in the spirit of this gay occasion, come have fun!

Chief Derro Is Lauded For Firm Action

Residents of the area near Winchester Common wrote to Chief Derro through a spokesman this week end thanking the police chief for his cooperation in clearing the common of rowdies during the evening hours.

The chief had issued a no-nonsense warning to rowdies on the common that they would face court if they persisted in loitering there, following vigorous complaints from residents. He had warned of arrests if this public nuisance and disturbance of their peace continued.

man of the Town Names Committee told Town Meeting.

Mr. Locke served as a Selectman in 1852 and 1853 and as an Assessor in 1854 and 1855. In 1857 he married Caroline Hutchins who had served as a teacher in the one-room schoolhouse on Cambridge Street, the first Wyman School.

Except for some time spent at Hampton Falls Academy in New Hampshire, Asa Locke, Jr. lived all of his life on the Locke farm situated on what was once the line between Woburn and Charlestown. He spent most of his life, therefore, in the area in which the new school is being built.

Asa Locke, Jr. is memorialized in the Winchester Star of April 28, 1899 as the scion of "a long line of hardy, honest, and thrifty tillers of the soil," the sixth in a family of eight children, of whom he was the last survivor.

He and his wife had six children. Of these only two are living, Harriet, wife of Mr. Fred Fiske of Somerville, and Emily, wife of Mr. Walter F. Symmes of Winchester. Asa Locke, Jr., was the grandfather of Marshall Symmes of Winchester, former Selectman, and very active in Winchester civic affairs.

"Mr. Locke," the Star said, "always had a hopeful, cheerful, disposition, looking upon the bright side of every cloud, . . . his hearty greeting . . . a delight to all who knew him. A man of few words, seldom given to outward expression of sentiments as became a son of his father, one would go far to find a nobler, gentler or more sympathetic nature. A gentleman in heart and soul, he was one, who, unpretentious . . . in all externals, put to shame by his inherent virtues the sham gentility which is so characteristic of our day.

"During a married life, which, in spite of heavy bereavements, was uncommonly happy and blessed, he showed what a husband and father (whom so) unpromising (an) environment as sterile New England hills can furnish, is capable of providing. He was a living witness to the truth of the statement that hardiness and toil and successful strife with difficulties through generations not alone develop the sterner side of man's nature but produce a combination of the gentle and the strong which is the best type of American manhood.

Asa Locke's life, the Star concluded, was "as pure and uncorrupt as the air he breathed."

"We could but regret," the Star added, "that the race of which he was representative is so fast passing away."

The Fortnightly

On Monday, October 10th nearly 100 members and guests enjoyed the delicious luncheon served by The Fortnightly for the benefit of the Veterans' Christmas bags, with Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist and Mrs. Charles E. Potts, Jr. as chairmen. Mrs. John B. Wills was responsible for the attractive decorations.

At 2 p.m. the new president, Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch opened the first meeting of the 80 session of The Fortnightly with a welcome for all and thanks for those who had done so much to make this such a pleasant and successful occasion. She announced that five new members had joined in time for this meeting.

After the business meeting, Mrs. William C. Cusack, first vice-president, introduced a fellow member of the Women's Dartmouth Club, Mrs. Rich-Cooley of the 100-year-old Newbury Street China Firm (Cooley's), who spoke in a fascinating and charming manner on "Know Your Chinaware."

Mrs. Cooley said that in 1860 the Boston China Decorating Works started on Porcelain Place, later moving to Tennyson Street until the City of Boston took it in order to lay out Stuart Street, when in 1921 the firm moved to Newbury Street, changing the name to Cooley's.

The firm was the first in this country to decorate and fire chinaware for firms and amateur china painters, including Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, the wife of the President, who later gave an order for a special design for a White House service. They outfitted the Fall River Line, the old Parker House, and decorated samples for the new Syracuse Pottery. Mrs. Cooley joined the firm in 1927 after Mr. Cooley, Sr., died.

She had brought and attractively arranged about 100 plates of different kinds of porcelain, many from European countries, especially those from Germany, France, the Scandinavian countries, and from China. She also had lovely examples of Lenox china and Syracuse. She told how the various types of porcelain were made, and of the years of experimenting to make them thinner and less fragile. In 1709 Josiah Wedgwood made the first translucent china. Spode in Germany was first to make bone china. Later Rosenthal went to Germany to learn how to do it by working in a factory. Haviland went from this country to Limoges, France, to learn from a factory there.

Later the audience had a chance to view the collection nearer, and to ask questions. All in all it was a most enjoyable afternoon.

Mental Health

gate and Mrs. Joseph P. Lynch, Jr. This is to commence in November and will be subsequently announced.

Announced today to continue this year is the local association's policy of assisting any town organization to plan a program within the large range of subjects covered by the term "mental health" and to make available to them for a small charge films, plays, discussion leaders, etc.

The group plans to publish a small descriptive pamphlet telling of its services to the community for the reference of other agencies, organizations, and interested persons. It also hopes to increase citizen action to aid the mentally ill in both in-hospital and post-hospital services to be developed.

New Musical Comedy Coming To Lexington

"Veronica," a lively musical comedy written and produced by Elsa Sullivan of Lexington and Donald MacFeeley of Winchester, will have its premiere performance at Diamond Junior High School, Lexington, Mass., on October 20, 21, and 22.

This fanciful tale is concerned with a successful dress designer, Veronica, her archeologist husband, Roger, her secretary, Samuella, and a beatnik poet, Gorgo, all of whom find themselves tightly entangled in a comedy of errors set in motion by Cynthia, one of Veronica's more extroverted friends. Barbara and Kenneth Garland of Lexington, play opposite each other as Veronica Vaille and Prof. Roger Perry-Pinkston. Jean and William Britten of Bedford star as Samuella and Gorgo, and Mrs. Doris Pullen of Lexington portrays the "heavy," Cynthia.

"Veronica" is being directed by David Eliot of Lexington. Mr. Eliot's theatrical background runs from stage manager for Shakespearean productions to choreographer for "Carousel". He started his training as an apprentice in summer stock, later to become Production Associate at the Carousel Theatre, Framingham, during the 1959 season. He had further training in radio and television, as well as theatre, at Leland Powers School. A dance student since high school and instructor for the past four years, Mr. Eliot is now associate director of the Norfolk Academy of the Dance in Dedham. To his credit is also the production, direction, and choreography of several amateur shows in Metropolitan Boston.

Co-author and co-producer Mrs. Sullivan, wife of Leo Sullivan of 5 Washington Street, Lexington, and mother of two daughters, has written revues, children's songs, and poems. She is the vice-president of the Lexington Musical Arts Society.

Mr. MacFeeley, a Winchester resident, is known in Lexington as an assistant to Prof. Allen Lannom of the Lexington Choral Society and former organist and choirmaster of the First Parish Church. This versatile young composer, who has written two major cantatas, several anthems, and a series of training pieces for violin students, was graduated in June, 1959, from the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts. As and undergraduate, he served as assistant to Blair McCloskey in voice and speech therapy, and to Dr. Max Miller, Chapel organist, and Prof. Allen Lannom, the conductor of the Boston University Chapel Choir. Upon graduation he joined the staff of the Winchester Savings Bank and worked closely with the Mystic Glee Club.

Observed Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Shaw of 82 Forest Street, long-time and widely known residents of Winchester, observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage at an open house at their home on Sunday, September 25, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion and delicious refreshments were served. More than 85 relatives, neighbors and friends came to extend congratulations and best wishes to the Shaws.

Highlighting the festivities was the cutting of a handsome decorated wedding cake by Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, who received many cards and other congratulatory messages. They were also presented with many appropriate gifts, including a "money tree."

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were married in Winchester September 25, 1910, and have spent all of their married life here. Aiding them in their anniversary observance were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Shaw of Portland, Maine; and their two daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Hersey of Newton Highlands, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith of Wakefield. There are eight grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw are in good health, and Mr. Shaw works every day at his trade as a carpenter with Warren Osborne. The Star extends its very best wishes to them and hopes for their continued health and happiness.

Winchester Boys Get State Scholarship Aid

Governor Foster Furcolo announced Tuesday that five hundred and thirty-nine students just entering college or already in college will receive scholarship aid totalling $150,382.50 from the Massachusetts Board of Educational Assistance.

Awards have been made to two Winchester boys, George E. Chabot, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Chabot of 102 Sylvester Avenue, and Peter R. Dee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Dee of 11 Fairmount Street.

GEORGE CHABOT, JR.

Chabot, who is a senior at Harvard majoring in chemistry, was bord in Medford but came to Winchester as a boy of five years and went through the Winchester schools, graduating from Winchester High School in the class of 1957. He made the National Honor Society as a junior and played in the high school band, but for the most part he worked after school and had little chance for extra-curricular activity.

Chabot's brother, Ronnie, is a freshman at Harvard, and his sister, Elaine, is a member of the staff at the school department headquarters. A younger sister, Carol, attended junior high school.

Dee, like Chabot, was a member of the class of 1957 at high school, serving as president of the class in his senior year. He, too, was a member of the National Honor Society and was particularly active in school dramatics, being president of Curtain and Cue and a member of the National Thespian Society. He was also on the football track teams.

Born in Winchester, Dee is a senior at Boston College, majoring in English and a candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree. He has an older brother, Tommy, who graduated from Winchester High School and a younger brother, Stephen, who is a junior at Winchester High. A sister, Catherine, is in the 8th grade of junior high.

The Board of Educational Assistance was created in August, 1957, by the Massachusetts legislature as a result of Governor Furcolo's recommendation in his inaugural message in January, 1957. The awards announced today are the third group to win scholarships as a result of the legislation.

The state legislature for 1959 appropriated one hundred thousand dollars as a result of the recommendations made by Governor Furcolo. In 1958 the awards totaled $98,827. The 1960 awards announced today bring the total for three years to an even three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The five hundred and thirty-nine awards announced Tuesday bring the total number of scholarships under the Board of Educational Assistance plan to fourteen hundred and seventy-nine.

PETER DEE

The law establishing the Board of Educational Assistance calls for scholarships of two hundred dollars each for the state schools. The other awards range from one hundred and fifty dollars to nine hundred dollars each.

Each recipient attends the college of his or her choice anywhere. No awards are made, however, to public supported, out of state institutions.

A total of two hundred and thirty-six scholarships were given to students at thirteen state schools. Students attending the University of Massachusetts received seventy scholarships. The next highest amount, forty, went to students attending Boston State College. Awards have been given to students attending thirty-two other Massachusetts schools.

Twelve awards were given to graduate students while twenty-nine awards were made to students attending schools out of Massachusetts.

Governor Furcolo revealed that a total of twenty-five hundred applications were received and processed by the Board.

Chairman of the Board is the president of Lowell State College, Dr. Daniel H. O'Leary. Serving on the Board with Dr. O'Leary are: Dr. Owen B. Kiernan, State Commissioner of Education; Dr. John Lederle, president of the University of Massachusetts; Dr. Harold B. Case, president of Boston University; Rev. Vincent McQuade, president of Merrimack College; John Mirak, Arlington; Salvatore Camelio, Boston; J. Henry Goguen, Leominster; and Mrs. Sol Weltman of Longmeadow. Conrad Kohler of Boston is executive secretary of the Board.

Dr. O'Leary pointed out that applications were distributed through colleges and secondary schools beginning last April. He also pointed out that the telephone, mail, and personal requests for applications were also fulfilled. Over eight thousand applications were distributed. Dr. O'Leary stated that applications for the 1961 awards under this program will be made available at all schools next spring.

Each applicant had to furnish financial and academic information to the Board. Each college the student was attending or about to attend was contacted for additional data.

Dr. O'Leary pointed out that a careful check was made to avoid duplication of awards. Only those students were considered who were not receiving substantial assistance from other sources.

Straight Scoop From Pasha

The latest bulletin from Pasha Kazazian of the Sons of Italy Lodge contains a recipe for—brace yourself — "Jellied Moose Nose." That, apparently, is how they prepare it in Alaska.

Mrs. Robert E. Kleber, the former Ruth Flaherty of Winchester, sent the recipe along to Pasha from Fairbanks, Alaska, where Ruth now lives. Ruth spotted the item in the local paper and apparently felt it would be of interest to Winchester people. Here it is:

JELLIED MOOSE NOSE

"Cut upper jawbone of moose just below the eyes. Put in large kettle of scalding water and parboil 45 minutes. Remove and cool in cold water. Pick off the hairs as you would feathers from a duck (the boiling water loosens them), and wash thoroughly.

"Put moose nose in fresh water with onion, a little garlic and pickling spices. Boil gently until tender. Cool overnight in same juice.

"In the morning, take the meat out, remove bone and cartilage. You will have two kinds of meat; the bulb of the nose is white and the thin strips along the bone and jowls are dark. Slice thinly and pack in cans or jars covering with juice. This jells and when chilled can be sliced for serving cold. The meat may also be pickled in vinegar, if desired."

Solo-Play. More than 50 games of solitaire. For hospital patients, shut-ins, vacationists, or any one who likes cards. Complete, board, cards and instructions. $3.49 at the Winchester Star.

Senior Forum

Dr. Hilda Libby Ives, widely known throughout New England as a former professor at Andover Newton Theological School and as a beloved minister to several Maine congregations, will come again to the Senior Forum Chapel Service as guest speaker.

Mrs. Ives has been in Forum for many years and perhaps because she is a great-grandmother is always listened to with great enthusiasm by teen age young people. Her sense of humor together with her great Christian spirit have endeared her to young people everywhere.

Mrs. Ives now lives in Cape Cottage, Maine, and keeps her "retirement" busy with speaking engagements. Her topic on Sunday will be "The Swinging Pendulum."

Robert Gowdy will be chaplain and Robert Niles, assistant chaplain. The deacons will be Tom Hinton and Bud Sundberg and Eric Wittet and Parker Gray will be ushers.

The Student Council has set October 28 and 29 for the annual Work Day for Christ, the fall service and benevolent project in which all young people are urged to participate. Arrangements are being completed by Jane McKenney, Work Day chairman.

Hills Are Off To Puerto Rico

Fun-loving Fred Hill of 42 Winthrop Street, sales manager of the Winchester Appliance Company, is cavorting off to Puerto Rico with Mrs. Hill for his fifth visit there.

The eight-day trip is in connection with business and is being sponsored by the York Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will be staying at the La Concha Hotel.

Fred told the Star moments before departure that he had no plans at this time to confer with Trujillo or Castro while in the area.

Dear friends,

Good etiquette suggests that a personal note be sent to acknowledge each floral offering, mass card or memoriam donation to charity. However, where the great quantity of such acknowledgments precludes the writing of personal notes, acknowledgment cards, personally signed, are acceptable.

Living With Your Heart

There's no such thing as a guarantee against getting heart disease, and any hard-and-fast blueprint for a way of living that furnishes such a guarantee is a long way off.

But you can increase your chances of preventing heart trouble by living with moderation — the essence of the Massachusetts Heart Association's "Ten Commandments for Living With Your Heart."

1. Find a doctor you respect, obey him, and cling to him as though he were your most precious possession—which he is.

(It's important to you to build a continuing relationship with a doctor who is familiar with your condition. When you find one in whom you have confidence, stop shopping.)

2. Tell your doctor the truth at all times and encourage him to call you in for periodic check-ups.

(When you kid the doctor, you simply kid yourself. He's there to help you, not to pass judgment on you.)

3. Pity the fat man; the statistician numbers his days.

(When you cut down on your food, you don't lose anything—doctors believe you will eat as much in the long run by living longer.)

4. If your brain earns your living, be moderate as a week end athlete or laborer.

(But do get as much regular exercise as possible.)

5. When the snowdrifts are high, let some younger fellow shovel out the driveway.

6. Avoid self-dosing—"He who doctors himself has a fool for a physician."

7. Fortunate is the man who has a mild heart condition and, knowing it, learns to live with his heart.

(A touch of heart disease can be a valuable warning signal, leading you to live in such a way that you can still be active and add years to — rather than subtract them from your life.)

8. Plan to take time out—daily, weekly, yearly—for rest. When you rest, your heart rests.

(Automobile batteries need recharging. So do yours.)

9. Don't worry. Health is more than the absence of disease. If you have cause to worry, do all you can to remedy the cause—and stop worrying.

(Excess tension can overwork your heart. You will be happier if you live positively.)

10. Be your age.

(Every age has its riches. Enjoy them as they come to you.)

Health for All

Teen-Age Tiredness

Does your teen-ager sleep till noon on Saturday to the tune of the vacuum cleaner and other assorted bedlam? Does he (or she, of course) do his geometry stretched out on his bed? Does he carry on his telephoning sprawled on the floor? Is he always too tired to help with the dishes?

He may be ill, but he's more likely to be normal. And he isn't faking either. Teen-agers tire easily, the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association reports, for one or more of a dozen reasons. It's just normal for them to need extra rest and sleep. Fortunately, it's one more of those periods of life about which parents can say hopefully, "they'll grow out of it." Wise parents can help them get through this period with the least fatigue.

First, of course, it is important to be sure that there is no illness causing your teen-ager's tiredness. He should have a thorough physical examination, including a tuberculin test. Unhappiness and worry also can cause fatigue. It isn't always easy for parents to get to the bottom of the anxieties from which adolescents sometimes suffer seriously. The family doctor can often be of great assistance.

The major reasons for normal fatigue are rapid growth, too little sunshine and outdoor exercise, an overloaded schedule of social and school activities, poor diet and overweight. You can slow up your teenager's growth, but you can make sure that he gets plenty of outdoor exercise and a proper diet with the extra protein he needs. You can help him budget his time so that he can get his work done, have fun, and still get to bed at a reasonable hour. Finally, the Association suggests that you let him sleep on Saturday morning.

Now you can letter your own signs or posters and do a real professional job. Stencil letters from 1 to 6 in., assorted sizes, brushes and stencil paste, everything you need. At the Winchester Star.

"Queensmen's Quill"

Since our last article in this paper, the Queensmen have started a new Junior Corps. It meets on Thursday evenings from seven to nine, and is open to all boys and girls of ten years or older.

Getting back to the Senior Corps, we have a hard working board of officers who deserve recognition. They are Dick Reynolds, president; Grace Lizotte, vice-president; Bob Gillotte, treasurer; Irene Johnson, secretary; Danny McMahon and Eddie Osta, bugle sgts. and Paul Stevenson, drum sgt. The drum major is "Skipper" Crowe.

The board creates rules and regulations governing the Corps behavior and procedure at practices, competitions, and parades. The corps holds annual elections at the beginning of each season.

We have started our off season rehearsals at the Woburn Armory and at present are learning a small maneuver for the Stand-Still Competition coming up October 30.

The corps features such musical arrangements as "You've Got To Have Heart," "National Emblem March," "When the Saints Come Marching In," "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," "Zing Went the Strings of My Heart," "Chinatown," and "Walk Hand and Hand With Me." These are adapted to a marching tempo, with interludes of very fast and sharp drumming.

Following the rules of common courtesy, we will introduce the girls of our color guard first. The two color guard captains are Irene Johnson of Winchester and Pauline Mills of Woburn. They are in charge of the color guard and give them the proper commands.

The flag bearers are Ruth McKeering, Karen Lynch, and Eileen Gaudet of Winchester; Donna White and Diane Tamilio of Woburn. These girls really work, especially on a windy day. Carrying the weapons are Mary Pereira and Joan Connolly of Woburn; Eileen Cullen, Mary Alice O'Donnell and Grace Lizotte of Winchester.

As We Go Marching

The corps will enter the Class "B" invitational standstill competition at the Boston Arena October 30. The next day they will participate in the Hallowe'en celebration in Woburn. Next month will find them in Woburn again, in the Armistice Day parade. This will give the residents of this town a chance to see the youth who represent ths town in all parts of the state.

Parkhurst Parents' First Meeting

The first meeting of the Parkhurst Parents' Association will be held Tuesday, October 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the school lunchoom. Mr. Sutula, the principal, will speak on "The Strength of Our Schools—A Co-operative Understanding of Parents and School." The home today should foster an active sense of cooperation between parents and school. This meeting should be most helpful for Mr. Sutula will cover such points as: what parents can do for the school; what the school may ask of us; and what we are "asking" for our children.

Both mothers and fathers are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served after the meeting by Mrs. Milkie and her committee.

Winchester Boys In Navy

Winchester boys recently enlisted in the Navy at the Navy Recruiting Station in Medford include Jon Nelson Andresen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erland Andresen of 10 Park Avenue; Robert Bruce Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shurtleff Eaton of 50 Myopia Road; Robert Francis McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert McGee of 24 Westley Street; and Richard Colgate McLatchy, son of Mrs. Ruth E. McLatchy of 6 Cross Street.

JON ANDRESEN

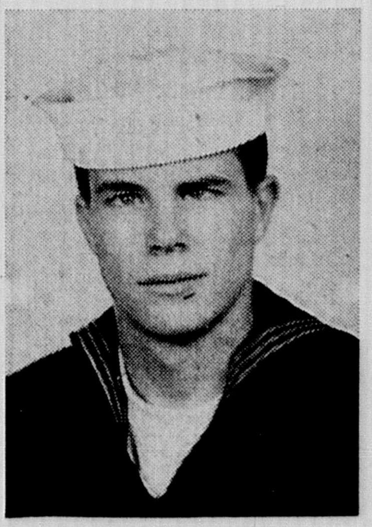
Andresen enlisted after completing his junior year at Winchester High School and working for James Sroul in Dennis. He played football and baseball and was a letter player in hockey.

CHARLES EATON

Eaton graduated from Winchester High in 1960, winning letters in hockey and golf.

JOHN McGEE

McGee graduated from Winchester High in 1960, and worked for Twombly Associates before entering service. He was a letter player in football.



RICHARD McLATCHY

McLatchy is also a 1960 graduate of Winchester High School. He was a member of the track team and worked for W. F. Lacey & Sons on Mystic Avenue in Medford before his enlistment.

Saw Frank And Joe on Coast

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Struck (Roberta Coon) of Pasco, Washington, with Mr. Struck's sister and her husband attended the recent Navy-University of Washington football game at Seattle.

Mrs. Struck was a cheer leader at Winchester High when Joe and Frank were starring for the Sachems on the gridiron. She and her husband had hoped to entertain Bellino and Dattilo at dinner after the game, but found the two cadets had insufficient time for this. The Strucks did, however, get a chance to talk with both Navy stars before the game and had a pleasant visit with them.

Cambridge Latin Victim in Dull Contest

Winchester Wins Third Straight Grid Contest, 38-6

Winchester High won its non-league football game from Cambridge Latin School last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, 38-6. The score might well have been larger had Winchester played the game of which it is capable.

Cambridge brought a team of good size to Winchester, but its burly players were slow and prone to injury. Many times during the game a maroon-jerseyed player was stretched on the ground after a play.

Toward the end of hostilities Coach Knowlton had a second string lineup in action against the Cantabs, and the JayVees succeeded in scoring on the apparently dog-tired and discouraged visitors.

Whelan, Cambridge Latin fullback, gave Winchester what opposition it received from the visitors, who persisted in trying to get through the Winchester line, the members of which were in the maroon backfield with the ball.

The game may have had value as a means of showing Coach Knowlton what his scrubs can do, but as preparation for Reading, Wakefield, Melrose and Woburn, it was worthless.

Statistically Winchester made 10 first downs and rushed for 290 yards, completed three of nine passes for 20 yards, were assessed 55 yards in penalties and fumbled twice, recovering once for a substantial gain.

Cambridge made two first downs, got 61 yards on the ground and threw three times; getting 15 yards on a pass interference ruling and having one pass intercepted. The visitors lost 30 yards in penalties and fumbled away the ball twice.

The Maroons scored first. A muffed punt gave the Cantabs the ball at the Winchester nine, but the Sachems threw them back to the 16 in two tries to advance the ball. Interference was called on a pass in the end zone, giving the visitors the ball, 1st down, on the Winchester one. Four plays later they were still outside the goal line, and there was really no need to worry about their offense after that.

On the first play after Winchester got the ball Rich Carter broke out to the 10, but there in a pile-up big Whelan stole the ball from him and galloped into the end zone for a surprise score. Sullivan on a pass play was snowed under back on the 10.

It wasn't until the second qaurter that Winchester scored, a sustained drive that started at the Winchester 22 ending when Johnny Geoghegen broke through the Cambridge line at the one to go over standing up. Bellino circled right end for the extra two points.

The Sachems' second score came shortly after the first. Benincasa recovered a Cambridge fumble at the Cambridge 46. Bellino and Geoghegan got to the 29, and after a long pass to Bell was overthrown, Geoghegan got into the clear for a romp to the Cambridge four.

It took three rushes to do it, Bellino going over from the one yard line. Neville on a keeper, rushed in the extra points.

Winchester's third touchdown was a spectacular affair and came on a fake kick at the Cambridge 48. It was fourth down and Bellino was back to kick, but the ball went to Carter, who broke through the line and giving a fine exhibition of broken-field running, went all the way to pay dirt. Hall rushed in two extra points and Winchester led 24-6 at half time.

After half time a 15 yard penalty against Winchester bogged the Sachems down and forced a kick.

Sullivan ran the punt back to the Winchester 39 and Whelan broke through for a first down at the 29, Sullivan reached the 21 on a pretty cutback.

From there the Sachems went over in ten plays, two passes from Neville to Lawrence and Bell keeping the drive in high gear.

Bellino went the last 24 on a pretty individual effort, but a clipping penalty nullified the score and the ball went back to the 26.

A personal foul against Winchester put the ball back on the 39, but Neville on a "bootleg" made first down at the Cambridge 16, and Marchant reached the 10.

Bellino made first down at the six and two plays later passed to Terry Collins in the end zone. Macdonald rushed in the extra two points and Winchester led 32-6.

With the seconds in Winchester stole the ball at the Cambridge 36 and drove toward the Cambridge goal. Bobby Donlon kept the drive alive by recovering a fumble at the Cambridge four, the play having started at the 14.

It looked like the drive would stall when Winchester was tossed away back from the Cambridge three to the 18, but the play was nullified on double penalties and the ball went back to three.

Dicky Rowe drove to the one and John Colliander bulled over on a sneak. Rowe was stopped on an attempted break for the extra points and the game ended soon after.

One of the most enjoyable customs at Parkhurst School is the annual series of room teas. This year because of the temporarily crowded facilities at the school, most of the room mothers have opened their homes for the teas. The teachers were guests of honor and discussed with the mothers the class programs for the year.

S. O. I. Bowling League

The third week of the Sons of Italy Bowling League just passed and Capt. Joe Berardi and his Boston College team are in the driver's seat. At the last outing Capt. Joe bowled a 79 in the first string, but hit for a 129 and a 96 in the next two to end up in the "300 club."

Boston College has been going at a strong pace losing but one point in the past three weeks. Besides Capt. Berardi on this winning combination are Pippy, "Pipesmoker" DiIorio, Roundy Fiore, Vin Puma, Frankie Provinzano and "Old Reliable" Bertolucci.

Following B. C. in the standing and trailing by only two points is Capt. Moose Bellino and his Navy unit. Moose says so long as brother Joe's Navy team wins so will his own bowling team.

Bob, boy scout leader, Fiore found the range to connect for a good 325 score to help gain three points for his team. Army could be the dark horse but B. C. says otherwise.

Alabama got a most welcomed lift from its middle man, Ted Peluso, who hit the pins for 324 to help his team to gain four points for the evening. Ted's captain, Mike "Lefty" Saraco, patted him on the back and promised more help in future engagements. (Who's going to do the helping Mike?)

"Skitchy" Fiore is having his troubles and if he does not snap out of it the members of his team will be trading him off. All teams will accept him but Harvard, captained by Hokie Procopio. Hokie feels that he has a strong unit but they've just got to find themselves. If they don't soon, they'll find themselves in the second division before too long.

Then there's Tony, "Coach" Saraco, you'll find him trying to teach others to hit the pins and brother if you don't hit, watch out! Be patient Tony! Your lowest bowler is having a grand time so give him a break and help him. He's trying and most of all enjoys being one of the gang. After all we can't always be perfect. We like dry feet but you must have wet yours sometime or other while delivering mail so. . . .

Newcomers to the league this season are Joe Asaro, Dom "did you see that" Vespucci, Vin "husband of four weeks" Puma, Al "sure shot" Repucci, Al "ticket winner" Malatesta, Guy "southpaw curve artist," Gelello, Frank "boss" Dattillo, Chick "it's not fair" Giacalone, Frank "learning fast" Provinzano, and Tony "hit 'em hard" Marino.

The following may be finding it difficult to get good scores with the pins but "Slim" Lentine and Eddie Amico are tops in ping-pong, "Chick" and Dom Vespucci are pretty good in the golf links, "Boss" Dattilo is a whiz on figures (take your pick) Mario Buzzotta is quite the business man at Ryco's Laundromat, Ben Gigliotti is on the spot delivering fuel oil, Pippy DiIorio does a good job at landscaping besides being an expert in bridge playing, and Sam Bellino does a good job rooting for brothers Mike and Joe.

This is the first of a "Who Is It" mystery. The mystery is one of the S.O.I. bowlers with a clue given in their column each week and the following week the name of the mystery man will be printed. The first bowler to identify the person will receive a small gift and the guess should be given to Dick Tofuri. Only S.O.I. bowlers are eligible.

The mystery bowler this week is a handsome blue-eyed gentleman who occasionally smokes cigars and he is the apple in her eye of a certain blonde. Know him?

Winchester At Lexington Saturday

Winchester High, after three straight home games, takes to the road this Saturday afternoon when they visit historic Lexington for a Middlesex League game with Lexington High.

On their record the Minute boys do not figure to be too tough an opponent for the Sachems. Last Saturday they lost to Stoneham, 8-0, and on preceding Saturdays have lost to Melrose, 36-6; and Belmont, 16-0.

Winchester scouts who have seen Lexington say the Minute boys are better than their record, well could have beaten Stoneham and made the Melrose score a lot closer. Two or three long passes, one in the end zone, were muffed by receivers well beyond the Melrose secondaries, and had these been completed, Lexington would have appeared to much better advantage.

The Sachems have shown very little thus far, possibly because they have not had to do so. It will behoove them to get going against Lexington though, for a defending champion, Melrose, is next in line, and the Sachems will need to be a lot crisper than they have been to get by the Red Raiders.

Badminton

The Winchester Badminton Club invites all residents and employees of the town to join with the members on the courts for the coming season. Sessions will start Thursday evening, October 13, and will be held every Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Senior High School gymnasium.

New members are guests of the club on their first night of play. Racquets and birds are available at the gym. Players are required to wear sneakers and new talent is most welcome. So plan to come tonight, opening night, Thursday, October 13.

Women's S.O.I. Bowling

The Garnets may be on the bottom of the bowling list, but if you could have seen them last Wednesday night they certainly weren't showing any signs of defeat at the beginning of the night.

Each girl on the team was presented with a huge, and I must say, very beautiful garnet satin bow, that was made up by a team member, Lindy Saragosa at her brother's flower shop.

They looked so gay and festive with the colorful bows on their heads, and especially Kay Pizzo who decided to put it directly on top of her head. It looked real cute.

Their spirits were lifted but sorry to say they ran true to form and didn't score any points.

The young bride who captains the team is having an unusually slow start. Perk up Marie, the season is still young and I am sure you will find yourself before too long.

There are averages of several bowlers which will be interesting to follow, namely, Emma Provinzano, Jenny Amico, Polly Li Fave, and Peggy Fiore. These girls were considered low bowlers last year and have now come a long way up the line.

Polly and Peggy are both reaching the 80s and last year they were lucky to get out of the 60s. As a matter of fact Peggy hit 85 last Wednesday and she was practically overcome with the shock of it all.

Now then, there are averages of quite a few bowlers which were much better last year. Perhaps with lots of luck and a little better bowling we can all improve.

Sue Barbaro held the lucky number for the evening.

Highest single strings: Gerry D'Onofrio, 106; Marie Pizzo, 100

Nothing to Show for it...

What's he been doing for 14 years? That's what so many Republicans, Democrats and Independents have been asking about Our Representative. Well, annually he files bills something like the following offered this year:

- Making it legal for salesmen to sell real estate on Sundays. (House Bill 957.)
- Limiting political campaigns to three weeks. (House Bill 531.)

Now let's see what he's against . . . also year after year.

- Opposed minimum wage of $4000 for all school teachers (4/1/58).
- Opposed necessary improvements to inadequate quarters for retarded children (9/26/60).
- Opposition to state aid for the aged at Cushing Hospital (10/7/58).
- Voted to kill the entire Community College program with higher education facilities in the state vastly overcrowded (8/11/58).
- Voted to prevent construction of natural science building at U. of Massachusetts and other needed improvements at the university (9/26/60).
- Voted against construction of the state's only nuclear science facilities at Lowell Tech (9/26/60).

Business And Professional Women

On Wednesday evening, October 5, the Business and Professional Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church, held its first meeting of the season. Dessert and coffee were served in the Tucker Room by Mrs. George French and her committee, after which members and their guests adjourned to the Palmer Room for the program of the evening. The worship period was led by Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald, president of the Women's Association.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Lowell Smith introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Albert J. Penner. Mrs. Penner has served on the Executive Board of the New York State Women's Fellowship and on the National Council of Churches and is now on the "Adventures in Reading" Committee of the Congregational denomination, which prepares a list of current books for enjoyable and worthwhile reading.

Mrs. Penner told a bit about the works of the committee in choosing the books to be included in these lists which are issued twice a year. The novels, she said, seemed to give the most trouble in selection because of their number and because of the nature of many of them.

In her introductory remarks, Mrs. Penner said, there are two stores which she can never pass by, one the book store, the other the bakery, perhaps that was in the mind of the man who spoke of keeping body and soul together!

Mrs. Penner reviewed several recent books and gave vignettes of others. In her delightfully informal and friendly manner, she took up the books, skillfully telling just enough to whet the appetite of her audience but never enough to satisfy it, leaving them eager to get the book and read it.

Church School Teacher Training Workshop

There will be a Workshop for the training of church school teachers at the First Congregational Church on October 17, 18, 19, 20 at 7:00 to 8:45 p.m. A course for Kindergarten teachers will be held each afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

This will be an Observation Demonstration Workshop using selected pupils from the First Congregational Church.

For advanced teachers and any other interested adults the course "Life of Christ" will be taught by Professor Donald J. Rowlingson, Boston University School of Theology. Sessions will be held in the Palmer Room from 7:45-8:45 p.m.

The instructors in the Laboratory classes are as follows:

a. Kindergarten: Mrs. Richard Rotherham, Melrose, afternoons, 3-5 p.m. in the Vestry. Baby-sitting provided.

b. Primary: Mrs. Adeline M. Wright, Andover, in the Vestry.

c. Lower Junior: Mrs. Thomas D. Walsh, Winchester, in Chidley Fireside.

d. Junior: Mrs. Ernest Macurdy, Watertown, in the Tucker Room.

e. Junior High: Rev. Horace Seldon, Wakefield, in the Henry Room.

Devotions each evening in Ripley Chapel after classes, for fifteen minutes. Devotional leaders will be Mrs. Violet Reed, Mr. James Simmons, Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, and Rev. Wesley Mallery.

Fine packets of foreign postage stamps now at the Star office in packets ranging from ten cents to one dollar. Also on hand: albums from 25 cents to $3.95, and stamp hinges.

O'Connor To Speak At Democratic Rally

Tom O'Connor, young, dynamic Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, who will speak at the Rally on the Loring Avenue Playground next Saturday at 12 noon.

TOM O'CONNOR

Joe Ward, Democratic candidate for Governor, who is recognized as an able speaker and an experienced campaigner, will be the other principal speaker. The talks of both candidates will be extremely brief as the Minute Man Motorcade, as the parade has been named, has, on its agenda, 13 towns to visit. All candidates will speak at the windup rally at the completion of the parade.

The candidates for State and local office will be in the parade and will have one-minute introductions as the motorcade has a definite schedule of appearances in each community.

Library Film Program

This week the film program at the Library offers varied fare. The special nature of Chinese art with its almost ritual quality is presented in one short color film in such an interesting way that it will appeal to all ages.

Another film tells a French-Canadian folk tale about the fantastic exploits of a mysterious little boy who rides into a winter logging camp on a big white horse.

The re-discovered art of mosaic is explored in the third picture. Not merely a "how-to-do-it" film, it deals with techniques and the creative aspects of mosaic art. The creative experiences of youngsters, college students and adults is demonstrated and shared.

Friday night for families the program begins at 7:30. On Saturday morning, tickets are procured in the Children's Room when it opens at 10 and are available until the room is filled.

To Lecture At Tufts

The Rev. Albert J. Penner, D.D., since 1958 president and minister of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, will give the annual Russell Lecture in Goddard Chapel at Tufts University Sunday afternoon, October 16, at 3 o'clock. His subject will be "Christian Faith and Ethical Decision."

REV. ALBERT J. PENNER

Dr. Penner was formerly pastor of the Broadway Congregational Church, long known as the Broadway Tabernacle, and served for two years as president of the Manhattan Division of the Protestant Council of the City of New York. He earlier served pastorates in Holyoke, Northampton, and Stockbridge.

A native of Mountain Lake, Minn., he is a graduate of Bethel College, Newton, Kan., and the Hartford Theological Seminary, where he won the Weiles Fellowship for study in Europe at the Universities of Marburg and Heidelberg. He lives at 329 Highland Avenue, Wincehster.

The public is always cordially invited to the annual Russell Lectures, which are considered among the most outstanding events on the Tufts University calendar. They have been given at the University for nearly a century by liberal, philosophically-minded religious and lay leaders of American thought. They were made possible through the bequest of the late James Russell of Arlington.

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club

The first meeting of St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club was held on Wednesday, October 5.

After opening the meeting with a prayer, Msgr. Manion, spiritual director, spoke briefly. He reminded the group of the primary purpose of the club: to promote friendships among members and to encourage active participation in parish activities.

John and Marcella Smith, the new presidents, conducted the business meeting, after introducing the other new officers:

Vice presidents, Charles and Lillian Newton

Recording secretaries, George and Rosemarie DeMars

Corresponding secretaries, Chris and Margaret Brown

Treasurers, Paul and Gere O'Neil

Everyone enjoyed playing military whist which had been planned by Pat and Betty Cosgrove, who were assisted by John and Rosemary Dolan, Artie and Lorraine Johns, Frank and Mary Brennan, Fred and Sally Cause, and John and Rita Cochran.

Refreshments were served by Pat and Dan Brennan and their committees: Joe and Ann Dean and Bill and Peg Eames.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, November 4. Please note change in day, and be sure to save the date for a very special evening!

Layman's Sunday At First Baptist Church

Several laymen of First Baptist Church will conduct the worship service next Sunday at eleven o'clock. Those taking part are Mr. Keith Doty, Scripture; Mr. Sherman Josephson, Invocation and Offertory; Mr. David M. Rush, Prayer; Mr. E. Forrest Lockwood, Children's Story; and the Message: "Be Always Ready" by Mr. Arthur C. Barker.

A cordial invitation is extended to all community friends to share this service.

Club members are reminded that this is a guest night, and refreshments will be served at 7:30 o'clock.

A Dessert Bridge will be held on Friday, October 21st, at 1:00 p.m. in the Parish Hall of Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Mrs. Henry Dempsey
Mrs. Harry Emmons
Mrs. William Leighton
Mrs. John Ahern

The public is invited. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee, or from all Group leaders.

Kiwanis Notes

At last week's meeting, the club was host to the Kiwanis Dodgers championship Little League baseball team. Little League president, Jack Stumcke, Dodger manager, Arthur Johns, Dodger coach, But Boutwell, and Charlie "fish derby" Koch accompanied the champions, and helped make the evening an enjoyable one.

This week's meeting has been called off because of the holiday. Instead the club traveled to Lowell on Tuesday evening for an interclub meeting.

The nominating committee plans to present a slate of officers for 1961 at the next meeting.

Miss Lean and friend

Miss Edith Lean of Commonwealth Avenue takes The Globe at home. She reads it from front page to last every day of her life. She has found it a friend.

Miss Lean likes especially the Women's Pages of The Globe, and the other ladies who write interesting letters to The Confidential Chat. Some of their problems are not hers, but their sentiments most often are. Miss Lean reads faithfully John Harriman's column in The Globe's financial section, and she pays more attention than you might think to The Globe's complete stock tables, and other financial news. And these days she follows with great interest the reports on the Vice President and Mr. Kennedy. She refuses to read any more about Mr. Khrushchev. Sports are not her dish of tea.

One of the things Miss Lean likes most about The Globe is its tone of voice. The Globe has a friendly way about it, a person-to-person appeal. It does not cater to sensation-hunters, and it does not muckrake. It is, Miss Lean says, a good newspaper.

Winchester Man Writes His Impressions

"Glittering Domes, Jeweled Icons Fail To Compensate For Missing Religion"

(Ed. Note—Many of us have wondered about the place of religion in the Russia of today. A Winchester boy, Mort Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Ward of 1 Webster Street, who visited the Soviet Union last summer, wrote his impressions of religion there for the "Kilikilik," student newspaper of Heidelberg College at Tiffin, Ohio. Mort's wife, the former Diane Korosy of Cleveland, Ohio, whom he married during the summer, is editor of the "Kilikilik.")

"Is there a living God in this great, sprawling, censored land which no one outside seems to hear much about? This was the question that I asked myself as I stepped off the plane in Leningrad. I looked into the faces of the curious people who stared at us as we walked to the terminal. In the eyes of the spectators and the numerous soldiers who stood around I saw no answer. Neither did I sense it as we began our sightseeing tour with the guide provided us by the government.

"I was sowewhat encouraged to see the gold-leafed domes of the great cathedrals that seemed to be plenteous in and about the city, but I was soon to find that these magnificent structures of the Russian Orthodox Church, the faith of the Czars and peasants for centuries, had no religious purpose any longer. The phrase, "It is now a museum," seemed to be added on to each historical explanation that was given to us as we passed by.

Church or Museum

"The first church that we actually entered was the church of S. S. Peter and Paul, where many of the Czars are buried. The great high vaulted ceiling has been restored to mirror the dazzling beauty of the sanctuary. Gold and jewel-studded frames covered the priceless icons, the holy pictures which replace the crosses found in the Western Church. Great marble and malachite tombs rose above the mosaic floor in silent tribute to the rulers of the past. But there was a striking difference to all of the other cathedrals that I had ever visited. The people that were in the church were not pilgrims to a shrine, not in a house of God, but excursionists to a museum, viewers of a curiosity of the past. As our guide recited the historical statistics and dates, I was reminded of a lecture I once heard about the religious life of the Egyptian Pharaohs. A dead thing, centuries passed, an object for historians or students of art.

"Later a few of us began asking our Intourist Guide about present religion. 'Yes,' she answered vaguely, 'there are a few active churches but only the old people go.' We asked how a church gets started. 'Well if there are around thirty people who believe in God, they get together and petition for permission to have a church.' We looked at the broken down shacks we were passing by after she had pointed out an active church, and silently wondered if there was any connection between listed church members and the waiting lists to get into the new apartment houses. Someone asked if the government officially recognized religion. The question was ignored in typical Russian fashion. We later discovered that Stalin had tried to wipe it out entirely, but was unsuccessful, so it was awkwardly permitted again.

Religious Shops

"I momentarily forgot myself, and, thinking of the little religious shops that one finds in practically every little town in the U. S., I asked our Russian guide where one could buy an icon. She snapped back, "Impossible! They are not for sale anywhere in Russia." Thus she ended our talk about religion.

"Later in the afternoon we stopped at Smolney, the aristocratic girls' school and nunnery where Lenin had made his headquarters during the revolution. We saw the adjoining church overgrown with weeds and disintegrating under the toll of time and disuse. This provided a striking contrast to the historical school itself, well kept and flying the new red flag on a shining staff. This, then, is the fate of the church that is not beautiful enough to become a nunnery.

Moscow Situation

"In Moscow the situation was about the same. Cathedral Square in the Kremlin held the same type of religious treasures, and all bore the same museum label. But the guide for the Swedish group that we were traveling with gave us some encouraging news. We could go and see the only active monastery in northern Russia. It was located about forty miles outside Moscow. Would we be interested? We were!

Zgorsk Monastery was founded in 1493 and was the favorite of the Czars. Peter the Great hid there twice during troubled times, and when he became Czar he repaid the monastery many times over. While there, we attended a Russian Orthodox mass and saw the continuous service being read over the saint who founded the shrine. We later found out the Russian Intourist guides had not wanted us to go into the churches to see the services, and it was only due to the insistence of the Swedish guide that we succeeded in doing so.

Poverty Evident

"Congregations in the churches were for the most part old women, extremely devout in their worship, joining in with the priests in the chants and receiving communion. Poverty was evident everywhere, from the simple clothing of the people to the disrepair of the churchs. All of this bore a sharp dissimilarity to the government museums holding the magnificent gifts of the Czars which adjoined the churches.

"On the way out of the monastery I saw a small shop and with considerable help from our Russian speaking Swedish Guide, I managed to buy the thing which I had been told was unavailable, an icon.

"As we left Russia I could not help but feel uncomfortable as I remembered seeing Christianity which we take so much for granted used as a phenomenon for tourists and regarded as a superstition for the old and feeble minded. It was a different world, cold and utilitarian, in which God seems to have no place. But I also could not help but feel that for these people something was missing. Their faith is the government. But what if something should happen to that? I wonder if sometimes even they ponder the same question."

Mount Holyoke Conference

Mrs. Frederic Withington of the local alumnae campaign committee of Mount Holyoke, is leaving today, October 13, for South Hadley, Mass., to take part in a three-day Alumnae Fund conference on the campus.

Some 200 alumnae will attend the conference, to discuss methods of raising funds and also learn of recent developments at the college. The program will feature discussions of current honors projects and independent work by six undergraduates and two members of the faculty, Professor Dorothy Cogswell, the chairman of the art department, and Professor Thomas W. Reese, chairman of the department of psychology and education.

Members of the conference will be guests at a reception of the Friends of Art to open the Oriental Art Exhibit. This exhibition is being held to celebrate the establishment of the new John Martyn Warbeke Art Fund. Given in the memory of the long-time chairman of the department of Philosophy, whose special interest was aesthetics, the fund is to be used for the purpose of Oriental works of art for the college art museum.

Mrs. Withington will meet on October 19, at the home of Mrs. Adin Bailey, this year's Fund chairman, to share her conference experiences at college and instruct the callers in the latest fund raising methods.

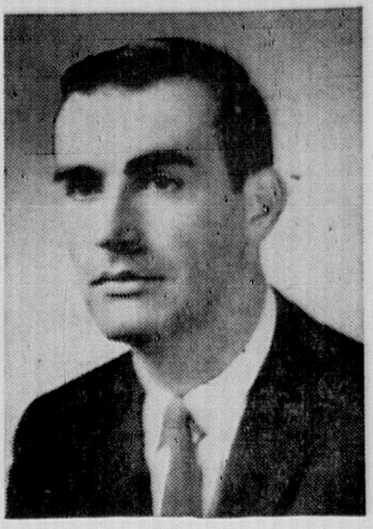
Experience . . . That Adds Up



Experience is an easy word to use. But I believe it should mean something.

In four years in state government, I believe I have acquired considerable experience of value to you . . . when you are considering a representative: in planning, education and taxes.

With the Audit of State Needs, among other things, I helped analyze problems of the aged, of our college-age youth, of attracting industry to Massachusetts, or rehabilitating the mentally ill.

With the Regional Community College Board, I have assisted in the establishment of the first of several state higher educational institutions (Pittsfield) . . . designed to meet the needs of parents hard pressed to provide a college education for their qualified youngsters.

With the Department of Corporation and Taxation, I have worked on a detailed analysis of all governmental expenditures. Its purpose: to insure the most effective use of state revenues.

DR. ASA S. KNOWLES

Honorary Degree To Dr. Knowles

Northeastern University's president, Asa S. Knowles of 25 Arlington Street, received an honorary doctor of laws degree Friday, October 7, from the University of Toledo, Ohio.

He received the degree at dedication ceremonies for the new $2 million Engineering - Science Building at Toledo. Dr. Knowles was president of the University of Toledo when the building was started, and he was responsible for raising the necessary funds.

Dr. Knowles was president of the University of Toledo from 1951-1959, and under his administration Toledo added a new library, an ROTC armory, three men's dormitories, a student union building, a concrete products research building, a new power plant, and the Engineering-Science Building.

Under President Knowles' administration Toledo also substantially increased its enrollment, received full accreditation of its programs, nationally recognized professional and honor societies were established, and the university's financial support expanded considerably.

When the degree was presented to Dr. Knowles, he was cited for his "guidance, foresight, and energy, and in recognition of outstanding service to the University of Toledo, and especially for your contribution through this structure."

Sweet Sympathy

If your popularity is running a bit low, we suggest you try dispensing a bit of sympathy where it will do the most good. No one is so fortunate or carefree that they don't feel the need of it; hence, sympathy-spreaders are always in demand. Too much sympathy for oneself tends to turn into self-pity, and that's bad; but if a friend elects to spare you a little the result can be most comforting. In fact, what is love itself but sympathy raised to the nth degree?

We once worked for a large concern which was, in its own way, a practical dispenser of sympathy. It happened to have in its employ an elderly gentleman of somewhat distinguished mien. His position was a modest one, but his Van Dyke beard, aristocratic bearing, and immaculate dress made him appear a millionaire, or at the very least, a retired bank president. In short, his personality was one to command respect and inspire confidence.

Then the company did some sharp thinking. He was given an ample, well-lighted office on the second floor, simply but luxuriously furnished with an imposing desk, an expensive rug, a bookcase with some important-looking tomes, and a generous supply of comfortable, well-cushioned chairs. When a disgruntled, apoplectic customer burst in (as sometimes happens in the best-regulated concerns) with a bill he felt represented a gross overcharge, or some allied complaint, demanding to see "the president," the desk clerk would say, "Oh, you mean Mr. Livingstone," and ostentatiously conduct him upstairs. He would be ushered into this attractive sanctum, where Mr. Livingstone in all his dignity would rise to greet him with outstretched hand, saying with polite deference, "How do you do, sir? Won't you be seated?" Then, passing him a box of Corona Coronas, "have a cigar." After exchanging a commonplace or two, he would turn his chair so as to directly face the customer, and say with disarming friendliness, and as if he had no other concern in the world than the customer's immediate personal welfare, "Now, my good sir, what can I do for you?"

Nine times out of ten the customer would be so pleased and flattered at such courteous attention from a distinguished executive that he would mutter sheepishly, "Oh, I guess it's not too important; probably just a clerical error." Mr. Livingstone, however, would insist upon seeing the bill and dispatching it to the proper department for verification or correction.

By thus endowing a supposedly cold, hard corporation with human attributes in the guise of a courteous, amiable gentleman, prepared to listen sympathetically to his tale of woe, this company usually succeeded in smoothing the ruffled feathers of such customers and sending them away happy, if not enthusiastic. The ample salary paid Mr. Livingstone was, we submit, money well spent.

We recently read of a lady in New York who set up an office where, under the title "Public Adviser," she listened to the tales of woe of harried business men or of husbands whose wives failed to "understand" them at a rather handsome figure per customer. While actually she was a clever woman, and therefore often able to give helpful advice, her outstanding service—and greatest asset—was that of providing a sympathetic listener. It was not long before she was doing a rushing business and had, perforce, to be met by appointment only.

Truly, hunger for sympathy is one of the great yearnings of the human heart!

Leave the flurry

Take your time
And shine your glasses
—Old Shaker verse

We reprint the following paragraph, which originally appeared in The Christian Century. No comment is necessary; the article speaks for itself.

What Stinks?

Elvis Presley, fresh out of army khaki, may not have returned from overseas a conquering hero, but his claim to dubious fame as America's sex idol is still intact, it would seem; he recently received no less than $125,000 for one night's appearance on a network TV program. He did two wiggles and sang two songs, and for this received more than the yearly salary of the President of the United States and three times the yearly salary of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. An identical sum of money would pay the salaries of 25 school teachers, 42 ministers, or 63 farm hands in many of our states. It would provide a year's training for 30 or more nurses, would give 125 American young people a year in college, would stock ten mission hospitals with elemental tools and drugs, or would feed 3,000 refugee children for a whole year.

Town Meeting

"NO CURE-ALL"

"Our article is not a cure-all," Mr. Redding conceded, "but we do think that if passed it will give us more control of a problem that ultimately affects all the Town."

The Planning Board's article was supported by the Finance Committee, which pointed out increased school costs it said would result from the construction of duplex houses, particularly on a mass scale. The Selectmen reported themselves as "very much in favor." The Board of Health warned about potential situations of air pollution in such projects.

"NOT FAR ENOUGH"

Mr. William Speers then took the rostrum, supported the Planning Board motion, then declared that the measure did not go far enough. Mr. Speers suggested that the Town give serious consideration ultimately to abolishing the general residence zone completely, requiring builders to construct single-residence dwellings and only such dwellings. He suggested that such action might well be taken at the annual Town Meeting in March, 1961.

Mr. Speers observed that many people might wonder how, as a long time legal counsel for the Whitten Co. which is building a duplex housing project on Cross Street, he could take such a position. "I belive that any firm is entitled to legal representation," Mr. Speers said, "but in my private capacity I am opposed to such projects. I don't think they are in the best interests of the town of Winchester."

"MIND MADE UP"

Mr. Hewis then took the floor. He cited a story in the Winchester Star of September 22 reporting that only eight residents had shown up for a hearing on duplex houses. The reason for such poor attendance, Mr. Hewis suggested, was the knowledge of Winchester residents that attendance would be futile since the Planning Board comes to such hearings with its mind already made up.

Mr. Hewis said that the Town should not criticize the duplex housing projects going up on Cross Street because it represented, he said, approximately $250,000 worth of taxable property. Such a project, Mr. Hewis said, is better than the old sand pit that was there.

Mr. Hewis objected to the idea that people wishing to build duplex houses should be placed "at the mercy of three men," on the Board of Appeal. He recommended that the Planning Board do a little rezoning to accomplish its purposes, and avoid such transactions with the Board of Appeals.

"FLUID UNREST"

Mr. James Cullen expressed his firm opposition to the Planning Board article. He cited what he termed the "state of fluid unrest" in Planning Board's thinking. He said that a certain Mr. Russo had wanted to build a similar duplex housing project and was denied the right some time ago. "The man who is now building this project," Mr. Cullen said, "is not an outsider." Mr. Cullen said he wanted to remind the Town Meeting that the builder of the project was "one of our own."

CITES THREAT

Mr. Collins of Wendell Street cited the threat of duplex houses in this area. He told the Town Meeting that in his area single residence houses prevailed and that four duplex houses were scheduled to be built right in the heart of this single-residence area. Mr. Collins cited what he called "speculators dreams," urged the Town to help Wendell Street people to remain good single-residence citizens, criticized what he called the "transient type of people" and went to his seat in a storm of applause.

"BURNING THE BARN"

Mrs. Margaret Nunes likened the Planning Board proposal against duplex houses to "burning the barn to get at the rats." She cited what she termed probable unfair consequences to isolated small lot owners, and called the proposal as discriminatory as the Planning Board's article of last March aimed at imposing new restrictions on Winchester industry.

Mrs. Nunes hit hard at what she called the dangers of private discrimination in the matter of the Board of Appeal's granting permission to prospective builders of duplex houses. As mentioned by an earlier speaker, Mrs. Nunes said, if abutters in a given area should dislike a man for his politics or religion they could descend in a body on the Board of Appeals and prevent the man from building a home for reasons not germane to duplex construction at all.

Mrs. Nunes agreed that Winchester's objective should be to make itself as beautiful as possible, but reminded the supporters of the anti-duplex measure that they, too, once lived in duplex houses, that they, too, appreciated the additional rental revenue which once permitted them to swing expenses, and that many people now living in expensive single-residence homes would never have done so if they had not been able to save for them while living in duplexes.

We should oppose this measure, Mrs. Nunes added with asperity, unless, of course, we want to make Winchester a community only for the very wealthy and keep out the poor. Mrs. Nunes was not applauded.

Mr. J. Joseph Tansey urged the Town to "get behind" the Planning Board on this measure. Mr. Tansey conceded that he has joined in hitting the Planning Board over the head as vigorously as any man, but felt that when the Board came in with what he called "a real, solid measure," it should get the support of the whole Town.

Article I was passed by the Town Meeting by a vote of 145 to 7.

ARTICLE II

Article Two contained a proposal by the Planning Board to change the area between Grove Street and the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks from a general residence to a single residence district.

The object of this Article Mr. Redding said, was to preserve the single residence nature of the area occupied chiefly by "houses of excellent character." The inhabitants of the area urged the Selectmen to submit the Article in the Town Warrant clearly to preclude the construction of duplex houses as well as inadequate lot sizes for single-residence houses.

Mr. Robert Bigelow spoke in support of the measure as a spokesman for some 16 to 18 residents of the area. Mr. Bigelow urged the Town Meeting to exclude even the provision that would permit the construction of a duplex house in the area with the permission of the Board of Appeal. He conceded the good faith of present owners of land in the area who have assured residents that they will not build duplex houses, but warned that successive owners might not honor the commitments of present owners.

The Article was passed unanimously.

McMANUS PROPERTY

Article III, by which the Town would have purchased the Main Street property of Dr. Philip J. McManus for a sum of $25,500 was defeated by the Town Meeting.

Planning Board chairman, George Redding led off argument in support of the proposal, stating that he felt acquisition of this property by the Town would complete its long-standing effort to complete Winchester's civic center.

Mr. Redding said the Planning Board had engaged a qualified real estate assessor to examine the property and that the assessor had recommended a price of $25,000. The additional $500, Mr. Redding explained, was proposed to cover taxes and legal expenses. He said the total sum could be paid out of the Excess and Deficiency Funds, which now stands at about $300,000.

$40,000 ASKED

The Board of Selectmen supported the proposal that the Town buy the McManus property to complete its civic center and improve the appearance of the Town.

Chairman H. Gardner Bradlee expressed the Board's belief, however, that it would be unrealistic to ask only $25,000 for the property. He suggested that the Town spend $40,000 for the property, which the Board considered a more realistic price. He said Dr. McManus had assured him he had already received two offers of $40,000 for the property and that the Town itself should match this offer.

The Finance Committee opposed the proposal to purchase the property, pointing out that the Excess and Deficiency Fund was down to $300,000, which is considered the safe level in Winchester. In view of recent expenditures for the Junior High School, the Finance Committee said, it was recommending unfavorable action on the proposal and urging conservatism.

NOSTALGIA

Mr. Cullen then took the rostrum, delivered a nostalgic account of the many people he had worked for on the McManus property and suggested that in view of recent events around the Town it might be advisable to have a doctor on the premises anyway.

Mr. Don Greer said the Town should purchase the McManus property. Through the years, he said, we have gradually taken down houses in that area with a view to completing our Town's civic center.

It would seem to be logical and progressive, Mr. Greer said, to take the McManus property and finish the job. Mr. Greer disagreed with the Selectmen that we should begin with $40,000 as an asking price.

We should offer a nominal sum, he suggested, $25,000 for example, and then negotiate for a fair settlement in court. Mr. Greer also asked for a sense of the meeting vote on the demolition of the Cutting House next to the library, which he also criticized as detrimental to the appearance of the civic center.

EVERY BLADE OF GRASS

Assessor Al Elliott then walked swiftly down to the rostrum from the back of the auditorium. "Fellow Townsmen, Ladies and Gentlemen, and spendthrifts," he began. Assuring Town Meeting he loved every blade of grass in Winchester, Mr. Elliott urged the Town to mend its ways concerning the demolition of nice old buildings.

"I remember some time ago," Mr. Elliott said, "when someone wanted to tear down Town Hall, and I love every brick of it. Here we have a nice little old fashioned house, and everybody wants to tear it down! What's the big hurry? Let's wait a while. This is a nice little one-horse Town. Let's not hurry. If we get the McManus property, fine. If we don't let's not cry about it."

AND DR. McMANUS?

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee wanted to know if anyone had asked Dr. McManus himself what he wanted for the property.

Mr. Bradlee replied to this question explaining that Dr. McManus told him he would take $40,000 for it but not less. Mr. Bradlee said that the doctor had received two offers for it, and added that he felt the court would undoubtedly give Dr. McManus the sum he asked for the house.

After a suggestion by Mr. Broadhurst that the schools could use the property to house department heads and assurances by Board of Health agent Michael Saraco that the Town would lose $500 per year in taxes if the property were seized, the Town Meeting voted not to purchase the property even for $25,500 by a vote of 82-64.

OTHER ARTICLES

With unanimous votes and no debate the Town Meeting approved Articles IV and V which widened Lake Street from forty to fifty feet at the Main Street end and compensated the DeVries Co. for its loss of property by granting it a 20 by 250 foot strip of land abutting Town Cemetery land.

NAMING OF SCHOOL

The Town Meeting then decided to lay on the table the subject of naming the new Johnson Road School, defeating the motion of the Names Committee to name the school the Asa Locke Jr. School. Alan McDougall, Winchester High School student, was given leave to deliver an appeal that the school be named for former governor Samuel W. McCall. Mr. J. Joseph Tansey suggested that the school be named for World War II hero, Joseph Heffion. (See separate story on page one.)

The Town Meeting concluded its official business by voting to accept an 85,227 square foot of land between Ridgefield Road and Chardon Road as an addition to the Town Forest. Messrs. Richard Parkhurst, J. Norton Kidder and Ganson Taggert presented the gift to the Town.

40 Local Women Hostesses In G.O.P. Campaign

An all-out effort is being made to interest the help of Winchester women living in all geographic sections of town to promote Nixon-Lodge Day in Massachusetts on October 20th. Mrs. William D. Barone, a member of the state-wide Women's Steering Committee of the Nixon-Lodge Volunteers of Massachusetts and Winchester chairman of the local group of Nixon-Lodge Volunteers, has announced that forty women of this town are already working on neighborhood gatherings for the day.

The object of the home meetings will be to watch, in groups, an impressive televised film; one truly America-in-the-World Today, in scope. It is to be shown on Channel 7 from 11 to 11:30 in the morning, Thursday, October 20th. Because of its release during this special election period, the film could be presented as campaign material but, in truth, it is an insight into government life and work which should be seen and followed with keen interest by Americans regardless of their party affiliations.

Mrs. Barone hopes to continue soliciting hosteses for the October 20th program and would appreciate hearing from anyone interested in volunteering for the one-hour job no matter how large or small their particular group might be.

The Republican Headquarters in the center will be open that morning for those who might like to watch the program there. Friends are invited to drop in for coffee and to view the film at 11 a.m.

All other interested townspeople are urged to watch this film in their own homes, TV Channel 7, 11 to 11:30, Thursday October 20.

The following women have agreed to be hostesses for the TV parties:

Mrs. Marshall Bassford, Grassmere Avenue; Mrs. Charles Raffi, Ginn Road; Mrs. Paul Keleher, Church Street; Mrs. Seth Shorey, Jefferson Road; Mrs. Lionel Pollacchi, South Gateway; Mrs. Richard Stiles, Yale Street; Mrs. Michael Saraco, Farrow Street; Mrs. William Kimball, Ginn Road; Mrs. Miles Weaver, Winslow Road; Mrs. Henry Pacino, Carter Street, Mrs. Lloyd Godwin, Johnson Road, Mrs. George Marks, Foxcroft Road; Mrs. Frank Politano, Summer Street; Mrs. Harold Smith, Bacon Street; Mrs. Jay Finn, Englewood Road.

POSTMASTER GENERAL ARTHUR E. SUMMERFIELD operates a high-speed facer-canceller, one of the many electronic devices now being developed to help process part of 64 billion pieces of mail that flows through more than 35,000 United States Post Offices annually. This specialized piece of equipment faces each letter in the proper position for canceling, locates and cancels stamps at the rate of 30,000 letters an hour.

Nation's Mail At All Time High

A new all-time high in the nation's mail volume was reached during fiscal year 1960 ending June 30, which continued the steady upward trend of the past seven years at a rate which even exceeds the population growth, according to advance information from the Annual Report of the Post Office Department which has been made available to Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun of Winchester.

Although subject to last minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as 63.6 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures for 1953 when the annual volume was 50.9 billion pieces.

During the same period, it was pointed out the revenue of the Department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,091,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

Here in Winchester, receipts of the post office climbed from $131,636.00 in 1953 to $199,725.00 last year.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the Postal Service," Postmaster Gilgun stated, "but the whole Department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically.

"We can't deny that we still make mistakes and that the human element still plays a vitally important part in daily operations, but the statistics in the Department's annual report offer positive proof that we are making progress on a nation-wide basis. As an example, while the mail volume showed an increase of 16 billion pieces handled annually, the employment increase during this same period amounted to only 11 per cent.

"It should also be mentioned that there has been a steady and substantial increase in 'city carriers' each year as compared with 1953, ranging from 4.5 per cent to 29.2 per cent in the latest estimates. This increase has been essential to keep pace with the ever-expanding growth of established cities as well as the establishment of new ones. City delivery service has been started in 800 communities in addition to the extension of literally hundreds of routes which were already in operation. This required the equivalent of 31,000 more letter carriers to serve approximately 9,000,000 more American families and upwards of 700,000 more business concerns.

"There is perhaps no better way of demonstrating the Department's every-improving efficiency than by showing just how steadily the annual volume handled per man-year of employment—excluding city carriers—has been increasing since 1953. In that year the total handled by one man was 132,000 pieces of mail. For 1960 the corresponding figure was 157,000.

"It is of course, true that all the additional service has made it necessary to take on many new employees and that our total increased from 506,520 in 1953 to 562,868 on June 30, 1960, but as pointed out in the original 1960 report figures, the workload increase during this same period was nearly 25 per cent.

"In a recent speech on this subject by the Postmaster General he brought out that by 1970 our population is expected to be 208,000,000 and that our annual mail volume by then will be more than 90 billion pieces. The U. S. Bureau of Standards, an entirely separate organization, estimates that our mail volume will be doubled within the next 25 years, and it all fits into the same picture."

Included among items cited by Postmaster Gilgun as recent accomplishments by the Department were establishing the first large-scale program of automatic mail handling by machinery on a nation-wide basis, developing the "airlift" which speeds up the delivery of approximately one letter out of every 17 on a "space available" basis, continuing with plans for a new automatic "postal sub-station" which will vend stamps, envelopes, post cards and writing paper, and which will have money changers for both coins and bills.

Seventeen Finds 75 Percent in Some Schools

Classroom Cheating: A Popular Teen Activity

"Everybody cheats," today's high school students agree. In extreme cases, teens steal test copies in advance; pay A students to write their term papers or take their final exams; sell completed test papers to the next class.

In the more widespread type of cribbing, boys and girls glance at another's paper; hide "gyp" sheets in their socks; give away book reports; copy or barter homework.

In some schools, as many as 75 per cent of the students always cheat.

So reports the October issue of "Seventeen" Magazine in a definitive feature on classroom cheating which asks, "Who's To Blame?" and fastens the guilt on teachers, parents, society, the educational system and teens, too.

How do teens justify their reliance upon copying instead of studying, plagiarizing instead of memorizing? They blame everything from conformity, competition and college to parents, teachers and "it's a natural instinct."

Pressure from home: "All the kids are afraid of what their families will say if they don't get good marks," explains one 14-year old. "Some parents say, 'if you fail you can't go out for a month.'"

Everyone does it: "No one cheated freshman year; then it started, very slowly but it spread tremendously," recalled a girl who admits her class cheats regularly. "It's an atmosphere . . . it grows on you."

Worry about college: "You get in a stiff exam, someone holds up a paper. It's not pre-planned, but you think, 'This mark will look pretty good for college,' reports a prep school senior. "All the kids I know worry about college." Parental pressure to get into a "name" college (often a status symbol) is one of the major reasons for the cheating problem.

Competition: "The school's very competitive . . . All (the teachers) care about are marks," complains an honor school sophomore. "Ability what you can do, does not matter . . . it's always the marks that count."

Other explanations for cheating include: "You can't memorize everything," "To put something over on the teacher," "Just for kicks."

Almost everyone—students and teachers—agrees that a teacher can make or break a cheater. "If the teacher's strict, no one cheats," students report. And when a teacher cares about students as individuals, pupils are less apt to cheat.

Many teen-agers ask, "What's so wrong about cheating?" A major cause for this attitude is the bad moral example set by many parents. According to the Rev. John Luce, a New York City Episcopalian minister, "One reason (teens) cheat is that they often don't know the difference between (right and wrong). The cult of being clever, getting along, getting ahead is . . . greatly responsible." Cheating also raises the question of justice. When teens pull up their averages by cheating and win a scholarship or honors that other students deserve, there is clearly an injustice involved.

Cheating is not, however, a necessary evil. Both teens and teachers can take concrete steps to eliminate it. Here are suggestions for students:

Initiate student council action and, print articles in the school paper.

Investigate the possibility of an honor system.

Start a student-run tutoring service.

Make a personal revaluation of your goals—what you want from school.

Remember that each teacher is an individual, and take the bad with the good.

Make up your mind that what you learn, in the end, is up to you.

Teachers can:

Proctor tests conscientiously and separate seats. Give different tests to different classes and never let students mark one another's papers.

Test frequently so students won't have to "make good" on the final.

Step up guidance programs about uncrowded colleges.

Work to ease parental pressures.

Experiment with different methods of testing that have helped reduce cheating in other schools, such as open book exams, unmarked tests, method-as-well-as-answer grading.

Try to develop each student as a person.

Waltz Evening Tomorrow And Saturday

A sextet of youthful Uncle Sams will greet all dancers at the Ballot Ball tomorrow night and Saturday as the 1960 Waltz Evening sponsored by the Friends of the Winchester Hospital is underway at the Town Hall.

Acting as our nation's Uncle, and also as ushers at the dance, will be twelve Winchester High School Seniors, six each evening. The following will usher on Friday night: Michael Brink, John Fenoglio, William Hakel, Sam Kady, James MacDonald, and Guild Nichols. On Saturday, these boys have offered to seat guests and later help serve refreshments: Ambrose Devaney, Richard Franson, James Hill, Richard Lowe, Malcolm MacKenzie, and Richard Siders.

Also present and helping at the dance will be a lovely group of pre-suffragettes. Wearing white and pastel gowns decorated with red, white, and blue shoulder sashes, twelve High School juniors and seniors will serve as flower girls. They will offer corsages, each ticketed with a number which might be the winning one in the door prize drawing to be held each evening.

The following seniors will be flower girls on Friday night: Marilyn Beckley, Linda Chase, Janet Keppler, Suzanne Koch, Martha Maloney, and Nancy Watkins.

On Saturday night, these juniors will be flower girls: Vera Barboza, Lucy Cushman, Claudia Gordon, Jane Hood, Martha Ross, and Pat Sexton.

From 9 to 1 on Friday evening, October 14th, and from 9 to 12 on Saturday evening, October 15th, a telephone answering service will be maintained at the Town Hall. Dancers may be reached at PA 9-9884.

There are still a few Waltz Evening tickets available. Call Mrs. Frank D. Bates, PA 9-4662, for Friday tickets and Mrs. Thomas N. Kell, PA 9-5113, for Saturday tickets.

Lists of patrons and patronesses and of parties planned before the dance may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Star.

The Lemmens Represents Ultimate In Artistic and Sophisticated Gifts

The lemmens gift shop at 34 Church Street has just gotten in a stunning fall line of monogrammed glassware. Other new gift items: Beautifully, tastefully decorated candles for holidays, notably Thanksgiving and Christmas; and a handsome selection of sophisticated imported Christmas cards from the drawing boards of outstanding European artists.

Other gift selections (and it really isn't too early to be thinking of Christmas) on the lemmens Special List:

(2) Carbone Italian pottery, and smart-smart tile tables.

(3) Chinese ivory figurines (How popular these have been and we still have a few of them left; so subtly carved, so delicate, too).

(4) The marvelous new Thermo Table. Just plug it in and it's hot on one side for coffee and casseroles and cold on the other for ice cream desserts or crisp melons.

(5) The delightful modern-primitive Hadley pottery from Kentucky. Perfect for ski lodge!

(6) "Life-lite" no-battery flashlights. You just plug them into a nearby socket for "re-charging" and they last for hours, are easy to carry and handsomely designed.

That's the news at the lemmens, but of course you can still buy this nice little shop's basic art goods: Egyptian copper, Danish glass, Borgese and Charlton lamps, Hawaiian monkeypod wood salad bowls and canape dishes, and many, many charming items that are just perfect for gifts.

Stop by at the lemmens' gift shop this week; there are many new items, many beautiful things to see, from elegant leather passport folders to Japanese table broilers.

White Velvet "New Light Look" Featured for Fall at Chez Lenor

Snow-white velvet, with the subletty of silk is making bridal fashion news at Chez Lenor's this Fall and Winter.

Yes, Velvet has acquired a new light look perfect for Fall and Winter weddings, from October's first russet leaves to the last crystal snow of February.

The Fall and Winter showings by models if you choose, are already in process, Chez Lenor's Eleanor Brenner told the Star this week.

For bridesmaids, stunning grape tone is making banner news. Here is a bright, smart shade, easily the leading fall color. Graced with bell-shaped loveliness, bridesmaids' gowns have also begun to sparkle with Winter jewel tones: emerald, amber, ruby and sapphire. And Chez Lenor's has a full stock of gowns on hand.

Maintaining communication with New York's bridal fashion experts like Mr. Jose, Eleanor Brenner is able to provide all of her customers with "custom" fashion attention. Mr. Jose personally supervises all of Eleanor Brenner's special orders.

Brocaded failie, and smart looking chapel trains, with a great deal of back interest, are also making news, as is silk taffeta trimmed in velvet bells and crown halos trimmed with pearls. Still popular, too, is the "Aurora Borealis" look for

GAS RANGES

Housewives, put away your fears of a long cold winter!

You can not only cook with gas ladies, you can heat your whole house with it, and you'll be cozy and warm all winter long.

Think of it! Your home automatically and economically heated at the temperature you desire all winter long without any physical effort on your part. No shoveling. No stoking. No shaking. No ashes. No reason, if your present furnace or boiler is sound, why you cannot enjoy every advantage of automatic heating by merely installing a Gordon Spreader-Flame Conversion Gas Burner.

Also at this time, Dave Beattie at the Mystic Valley Gas Co. can offer you a saving on an appliance that is no longer a luxury but an absolute necessity — a GAS CLOTHES DRYER!

Just imagine, in the most inclement weather, being able to dry your children's heavy, wet clothing in a matter of minutes. This in itself constitutes a great saving on your clothing bill as fewer clothes are needed. The hardship of the winter months will be greatly lessened with all of your drying being done healthfully and conveniently in the comfort of your own home.

During the next few weeks, you can purchase a GAS CLOTHES DRYER for as little as $8.02 a month WITH NO MONEY DOWN. See this fabulous dryer at 4 Mt. Vernon Street.

Dave is also offering kitchen heating ranges from $199.00 up. They give you continued comfort. You just set the dial and your kitchen stays at just the right cozy temperature you want, and automatically! No bother, no matches, no warm-up, no waiting. Cooking on these ranges is quick and carefree, sheer delight rather than sheer drudgery.

Two-Year State Junior Colleges

Mr. Walter Taylor, executive director of the Massachusetts Regional Board of Community Colleges and president (on leave) of Newton Junior College, spoke at the general meeting of the League of Women Voters September 28. Mr. Taylor discussed the establishment of a system of two-year colleges throughout Massachusetts to alleviate ever-increasing pressures on the existing past-secondary institutions.

Mr. Taylor pointed out that unless steps are taken to accommodate them, between 39,000 and 65,000 qualified Massachusetts students will be unable to continue their educations beyond high school by 1967.

A system of two-year, non-resident colleges is being established throughout the state on a community basis. That is, the regional board does not recommend that a school be established in an area unless the community itself wants it. Emphasis is to be placed on meeting the needs of the community in which it is located, and makes use of the resources within that community. For example, stress might be laid on technicians training courses in electronics in an area where large electrical plants are. Another example that Mr. Taylor cited is "tourism" on the Cape, with the possible development of courses designed to train students in specific fields such as hotel administration, small retail business management, etc.

One of the primary functions of the junior colleges is that of college transfer to a four-year school after two years' work at a community college. This allows the student the chance not only to make up deficencies in high school work, but also enables those who are financially unable to support four years away from home to continue their education. Terminal two-year people have shorter-range goals than the potential four-year students. For these, it is an effort to motivate the individual toward a more productive, efficient and meaningful life by offering him practical training for a specific type of work. Some schools will confer an associate of arts degree, giving him a psychological advantage in having something concrete to show successful completion of two years additional schooling. Adult education will also be offered in the areas where these schools are being developed.

The tuition is nominal, only $200 per year. Although this will cover only one-third of the cost, the other two-thirds will be provided by the state so that no financial burden will be placed on the community where the school is established.

Mr. Taylor pointed out that a five-year "proving period" is in progress during which much of the work is experimental and many of the accommodations necessarily are makeshift. For example, the junior college at Pittsfield is presently housed on the second floor of the junior high school, but next year will occupy the whole building. If the program is a success, more suitable accommodations will be found.

These schools are staffed predominantly with part-time instructors, borrowed from industry, who are specialists in their fields. As enrollment increases, and the need for full-time teachers in a given area occurs, full-time teachers will be hired. The salary range is similar to that in state colleges, ranging from a top of $9826 a year for full faculty members down to $4700 a year for instructors. There has been no dearth of outstanding applicants for these teaching positions.

By September, 1961, Massachusetts will open two more two-year colleges, one at Haverhill and one at Hyannis. A site for the one planned for Boston has not yet been decided upon. Mr. Taylor expressed much enthusiasm for this new concept of public higher education for the state. He has confidence in the probability of its success, particularly in view of the experience with it in California were 80% of students entering college next fall will go to state-supported junior colleges.

The League of Women Voters in Winchester has studied this problem intensively in cooperation with the state league. Winchester units will meet between November 1 through November 4 to present further information about this subject to anyone who is interested.

Student Council Welcomes New Students

The high school library was the setting last week for a reception to students new to Winchester High School. Led by president Guild Nichols, the members of the student council and the leaders of several of the school organizations greeted the 24 students from 20 schools, 10 states and two foreign countries.

Although most of the new students are already well acclimated to Winchester High School, the members of the council wanted to welcome them on behalf of the student body and to acquaint them with the various extra-curricular activities that are open to the students.

Principal W. Howard Niblock was present to extend his greetings on behalf of the administration and the teaching staff. They were eager, he said, to help newcomers become adjusted to the school and to make the most of its opportunities.

Among the 24 new students this year are two from outside the United States. Vera Maria Barboza was a student at Escola Americana in Rio de Janiero, Brazil, before coming to Winchester, while Peter Applequist attended high school in Helsinki, Finland.

Marine Artist Opens Excellent Art Program

One of the country's leading marine painters, the eminent Harry Ballinger, opened the 1960-61 season of the Winchester Art Association on Tuesday evening, October 4th, in the Rich Room of the Public Library.

Last year Mr. Ballinger was the much-publicized author of "Painting Surf and Sea," and his second book, "Painting Boats and Harbors" is now on many library shelves. He has been ably represented in museum collections throughout the country, and in private collections.

In his program before Art Association members, Mr. Ballinger actually demonstrated the creating of a seascape, from the time he picked up his canvas and palette, to the sketching, blocking, selection of his colors, and his actual painting. Before his audience's eyes, he created a most alive and lovely sea scape of sun on clouds, surf, and rocks. Both Mr. Ballinger and his talented wife had loaned paintings for the October exhibit at the library and that exhibit is now open to the public. Rev. Wesley A. Mallery presided.

In the coming months, the Art Association has an unusual, varied, and stimulating program for its members. In November (first Tuesday of each month) Glen MacNutt, A.N.A. will discuss and demonstrate casein painting, and its relation to water color techniques. The exhibit will include his own works.

"Creating with Flowers" by R. Eric Erickson will provide a fine Christmas program in December, with an exhibit by Allan R. Crite, liturgical artist.

Jason Berger of the School of the Museum of Fine Arts will use photographic slides to illustrate "Composition and color in painting," for the January program. William J. Hegelheimer of the DeCordova Museum will lecture and demonstrate the "Framing of Pictures" in February; in March, the members will have an opportunity to see and hear a demonstration of Japanese brush painting by Susuma Hirota.

In April, "Members' Show;" May, Joseph L. C. Santoro, director of Art in the Cambridge Schools, will discuss the technique of watercolor painting.

Membership in the Winchester Art Association is open to all residents of the town, and an application by men and women interested in these excellent programs may be secured from Mrs. Stanley Cairncross, 3 Warren Avenue, at PA 9-3083.

Bay State Historical League

Many from all parts of the state took advantage of a beautiful fall day with its brilliant foliage to ride to Princeton on Saturday, October 8 for the meeting of the Bay State Historical League as guests of the Historical Society there.

Registration was in Bagg Hall (Town Hall) on the Village Green, next to Goodnow Library, where there was an art exhibit pertaining to local history. Upstairs were the attractive quarters of the Princeton Historical Society, where there were interesting antiques and collections.

There were three or four paintings and a couple of engravings, one of George Washington and another of him with his family, done by the Princeton artist Edward Savage.

Next was an hour long tour of the countryside, seeing the various villages, some in valleys and others on hilltops. Most of the homes of special interest were built before 1800. At one time there were many summer hotels and boarding houses, but many had burned during the years, and had never been rebuilt because automobiles had shortened their vacation periods.

At Redemption Rock Miss Patience Fay told the story of Mary Rowlandson, wife of Rev. Joseph Rowlandson of Lancaster, who with her three children were captured by the Indians, after they had burned the villages. She was gone one year and three months, traveling about 150 miles (mostly on foot) through the neighboring states, before John Hoar arranged for her ransom near this rock deep in the woods.

Those bringing box lunches were served coffee at long tables decorated with sprays of bittersweet in Fellowship Hall of the First Congregational Christian Church. After that there was time to drive to the Princton Antique Museum to see the early cars, etc.

The 2 p.m. meeting was in the church auditorium with its historical old chandelier (with an original Paul Revere bell in its spire). Col. Laurence E. Bunker of Wellesley Hills is the new preseident, and he conducted a short business meeting, and then announced that the winter meeting would be held on January 21 at the State House in Boston.

The following meeting would be in Concord, N. H., as a joint meeting of both state historical leagues, on April 22, 1961. The summer meeting will be at Gore Place, Waltham.

The speaker was Mrs. Almour B. Llewellyn of Princeton, a descendant of one of the early families, whose subject was "Princeton's First Two Hundred Years" in a most interesting way. The town was named for Rev. Thomas Prince, minister of the Old South Church, Boston, for 40 years.

In 1759 he laid out his 3000 acres in the Rutland East Wing section. Later this was inherited by his daughter Sarah, wife of the wealthy Moses Gill. Joshua Wilder settled the Old Colony Road area in 1746, and often entertained travelers for the night in that lone place. Abijah Moore from Sudbury built his house in 1759, and Sunday services were held there for three years until the First Meeting House was erected.

Edward Goodnow, born in Princeton in 1810, kept a store, manufactured shoes and hats before moving to Worcester, where he became wealthy. He paid for the Library and for moving the church, etc. Other early settlers were Caleb Mirick, Stephen Brigham, John Gleason, and Samuel Wood, who became the first schoolmaster in 1757. Howard Gill built the Mansion house (a home), designed by Bulfinch.

Some vegetable farms, cattle-raising, saw mills, a grist mill, and later for cotton, and resort business were the chief industries.

In 1825 there was a great celebration when Wachusett was named for President John Quincy Adams, but four years later was changed back. The Russell House was a famous underground station for runaway slaves.

Delicious refreshments were served in Fellowship Hall. From the Winchester Historical were Mrs. H. B. Cleworth, Miss Louise Bancroft, and Alan M. MacDougall.

Two JHS Students On Radio Program

Two more of Winchester's Junior High students will take part in WEEI's program on Careers for Teen-Agers next Sunday evening at 9:30 p.m. Laurie McLean and Lance Grenzeback, ninth graders, have been chosen to discuss the topic "Why Attend a Junior College?"

On October 9, Leslie Dalrymple, who plans to study veterinary medicine in college, and Russell Hatch, interested in studying business administration, discussed on WEEI's rado program "Why Attend a College of Liberal Arts?"

Mr. Norton Demsey, director of guidance for the Winchester Public Schools, was a member of the panel of experts along with Wilfred S. Lake, dean, and Kenneth W. Ballou, associated director, both from the College of Liberal Arts of Northeastern University.

Roland Darling, Northeastern's staff specialist on occupational information was the moderator. This career series is sponsored by Northeastern and station WEEI.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Bridge night on Wednesday, October 5th, saw two stars of the future leap decisively into the limelight as James Bradley and Alvin Swonger finished second in a strong field of twenty-two pairs. The two "rookies" from Winchester High School earned their varsity letters by edging past "veterans" Jean Roundey and Maude Flanders in a photo finish. Bradley and Swonger included four clear tops and a tie for top in their fine overall performance. The section was played as a scrambled Mitchell and produced an average score of 90 on 20 boards.

Those above average were:

James Bradley and Alvin Swonger, 118½

Jean Roundey and Maude Flanders, 117½

Ruby White and Polly Dallin, 111

Richard and Lolly Smith, 110½

Esther Davis and Eleanor Sweet, 110

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, 105½

Mr. Haskell and Jo Dingwell, 102½

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sittinger, 96

Section B was played as a straight Mitchell with an average of 40 points on a six table movement.

North-South

James Coon and Herbert Wood, 47

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong, 46

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, 40

East-West

Kay McConnell and Betty Olive, 55

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Walker, 42½

Laura Grace and Mary Laughlin, 39½

The hand of the week has been taken from Section A and involves interesting problems both in bidding and play.

North-South are vulnerable and North is the dealer. At what contract should this hand be played? Should you try for game; and, if so, where? Let's refer this problem to our "panel of experts" and see how they handled it on the field of battle.

Several NS pairs closed out the bidding at three clubs, following the "better safe than sorry" the-Flanders preferred the philosophy of "damn the torpedoes" and tried five clubs. Even with the diamond Ace and spade King positioned favorably, it's a close squeeze. The defense helped by opening the Ace of diamonds, and Roundey-Flanders scored game and 600 points.

Not to be outdone, Bradley-Swonger also bid five clubs, and their opponents opened the spade eight. This gave North (declarer) a chance to lead away from his hidden singleton diamond. When East refused to play the Ace, the contract was brought home with an overtrick for 620 points. An interesting question for the reader is whether declarer can make five clubs against the best defense. East opens the two of hearts and West will continue hearts upon taking his Ace of clubs.

Dick and Lolly Smith took an even bolder gamble on four hearts, and scored a tie for top by making it. Whereas five clubs can be made against any defense, four hearts could have been defeated by perfect defense (hint: the key to both contracts is in the timing and in the handling of the diamond suit).

No trump seems to crop up at least once on almost every board. The Ryans made this hand no exception by bidding two no trump by South. The defense didn't attack the diamonds in time, and declarer ran off with five no trump, outscoring all but the three game bidder, above.

At one table, declarer was in an impossible contract and went down two tricks, but achieved a fine score on the board! Paradox? No, because East was declarer in a contract of three diamonds!

Coming events at the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club include Master Point Nite on Wednesday, October 19th, and Newcomer Nite on Wednesday, October 26th, 7:15, at the K. of C. Hall.

K. of C. and Holy Name Start Adorations

Established by Cardinal Cushing many years ago at St. Clement's Archdiocesan Shrine at the corner of Boylston and Ipswich Streets in Boston, the Nocturnal Adoration Society has far exceeded the aims of its pioneers.

Directed by Rev. George Kerr, former football great of Boston College, and Sugar Bowl fame, the Society is made up of men from among the many parishes of Boston's Archdiocese.

These men are considered to be Knights of the Blessed Sacrament who stand guard in the special court of Christ the King. Moreover it is a unique society made up, not of men who band together to promote a special program, but of men who gather for one purpose to adore their God.

There is no other program than prayer; no dues; no other ambition than to please God by making atonement for the sins of the world and begging blessings for the Archdiocese.

The Winchester Group made up of Holy Name members from St. Mary's Parish and members of the Winchester Knights of Columbus, some belonging to both, meet in the parking lot opposite the Town Hall beside the K. of C. Building at 8 p.m. on the third Friday of each month and drive into Boston to the Shrine for their scheduled hour of prayer from 9:00 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Other groups arrive for the later hours until the morning of the next day. Nuns stationed at the Shrine take care of the daytime hours.

Organizer of the Winchester group is William C. McGaragle and secretary is Joseph J. Moran with John P. Cronin as leader for the current season. It is the hope of the group that on October 21st more will attend.

Attending regularly are Warren Arnold, John P. Cronin, Vincent F. Erhard, Joseph M. Foley, James F. Henry, Richard M. Hines, William C. McGaragle, Joseph J. Moran, George E. Ross, John J. Sullivan, Frank J. Grabiec, Joseph Flaherty, Paul J. Donahue, and Arthur Premont.

Mrs. Thomas Morison and Mrs. James Chaffe of the Winchester Senior Circle are Fashion Show ticket chairmen in this area.

Curiosity Seekers in Disaster Areas To Lose Driving Privileges

"I was in my office at Registry Headquarters when I learned of the tragic accident at Logan International Airport," said Motor Vehicles Registrar Clement A. Riley. I immediately alerted uniformed Registry personnel in the Metropolitan area to report to police at the scene and assist in the movement of traffic. More than 50 responded. They reported all highways clogged with autos of sight-seers.

"When I arrived at the scene of the crash, I was amazed to see the traffic congestion caused by parked cars so that the free movement of Police and Fire Department vehicles and ambulances was delayed in removing the dead and dying from the area.

"The habit of the average motorist of proceeding to the scene of a disaster as soon as he hears the news to satisfy his morbid curiosity must be stopped.

"I sincerely hope we will not experience another disaster in the Commonwealth, said Mr. Riley, but I am preparing a program of assigning Inspectors to the stricken area to report the registration numbers of curiosity seekers impeding traffic.

"I will suspend the licenses of curiosity seekers parked in disaster areas who make it impossible for official vehicles to function, warned the registrar. I will also set up hearings at the Registry and suspend certificates of registration for those involved. This immature practice in Massachusetts must be stopped."

bridal crowns, sparkling with the light of stars.

Chez Lenor is perhaps the only bridal shop in the general vicinity that provides a lay-away plan for the budget-conscious bride-to-be,— and how many brides aren't budget conscious today? You may select your gown many, many months in advance, and pay on it a little at a time, with absolutely no carrying charge.

For the economy-minded bride, Lenor's has periodic mark-downs on sample one-of-a-kind gowns. For everyone, Lenor's has gowns priced very moderately as well as the most exclusive gowns, which make a girl look as though she's going to her coronation!

Eleanor Brenner also carries a distinguished line of flattering, dainty, and exceptionally comfortable pumps, wtih low illusion heel or high heels, also in vogue. These distinguished shoes come in both satin and linen and can be subtly died to match the most exquisite gown colors.

For the many brides-to-be who have asked to see it again, the Star is reprinting this week Chez Lenor's Advice to Young Brides and Bridesmaids:

1. Don't buy a price tag: A high-priced gown may give you a feeling of security but does it suit you? How will it look going down the aisle?

2. Don't rush when choosing your gown. Lenor's, for example, takes an average of three to four hours with every bridal party that enters the store. Mrs. Brenner recommends not only the style that flatters you but proper shoes and flowers to complement it.

3. Bridesmaids: When you're buying your gown, make certain that it complements the bride's colors. At Chez Lenor's the emphasis is on just this, and attention is given to providing you with the kind of gown that will be useful to you for wearing long after the wedding, too!

Add Chez Lenor to the list of Winchester's top-level shops. The telephone number, for your permanent list of numbers, is PArkview 9-5858.

Antiques Study Group to Hold Opening Meeting

The opening meeting of the Winchester Antiques Study Group for the 1960-61 season will be held at the Royall House in Medford on Tuesday evening, October 18, at 8 o'clock. New members will be welcomed at that time.

The program for the evening will be presented by Mr. Howard Odell, whose subject will be the restoration of Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Group members will recall Mr. Odell's illustrated talk on New Castle, Delaware, in the spring. At that time he called attention to the three cities that were being restored to their colonial glory; Williamsburg, New Castle, and Portsmouth. So with the lecture and pictures on Portsmouth the club will have learned about all the major restorations that are in progress in the East. A very interesting and worthwhile meeting is promised.

Opinion Is Divided On Package Stores

Town opinion on the subject of liquor package stores ran all the way from glum opposition to gleeful approval this week in an opinion-sampling survey conducted by the Star. The subject comes up for a vote again at the polls on November 8.

"I'm absolutely against the idea," one woman said. I am opposed to liquor being sold in this Town in any form, either in package stores or in on-the-premises drinking. If people want to buy the stuff let them go to Medford. But if there has to be a store here, I hope it's a package store. But even then you'd run into the problem of graft. Getting a liquor license is a real political football."

"I couldn't be more in favor," another woman said. "It's too bad the Town can't get revenue from this little item. It's difficult to buy liquor for a party, particularly if you ride a bicycle. And why should we give our money to other Towns?"

"WHY NOT?"

"Hogwash," one merchant said in commenting on opposition to package stores. "Almost everybody in Town drinks liquor. Why not have a liquor store? There's nothing wrong with a package store if it's run right.

"As things stand, though, let's not fool anybody! There's so much drinking going on in this Town you'd need a package store at each end of Winchester to accommodate the public. As things are, if you take a spin over to West Medford or Woburn all you see in the stores are Winchester people."

"It's hypocritical, all this talk about no package stores," another woman said. "Just drop in on one

Sons Of Italy Hold Fete On Columbus Day

The annual Columbus Day celebration, sponsored by the Men's and Ladies' Lodges of the Winchester Sons of Italy, was held on the evening of Columbus Day, Tuesday, October 11, at the Sons of Italy Home.

A social hour was held from 6:00-7:00, after which the two hundred attending took their places at the dinner tables. When all were seated, Mrs. John Mercurio, at the piano, struck up "Sons of Italy in America" while the invited guests were escorted to the head table.

"I couldn't like Winchester better. It's like the country and the city all in one."

These were the considered judgments, respectively, of Vera Barboza, 16, of Brazil and Peter Appelqvist, 16, of Finland, both of whom are now enrolled at Winchester High School in the eleventh grade.

The two students are in the United States through the efforts of local Americans associated with the American Field Service. Both passed rigorous tests to be admitted to the student program.

Young Vera is living with Mr. and Mrs. John Sexton of 14 Rangeley Road, while Peter is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Lars Ahlfors at 45 Yale Street. They will both be staying in Winchester until the summer months.

JOHN V. COSTELLO
I'm Asking Your Vote

But Monday at the State House my boss received a "call" from Mr. Chadwick's boss, Representative Giles, House Minority leader.

The "call" was designed to intimidate me.

I won't be intimidated!

But I would gather that the support I have been receiving from Winchester Republicans, Independents and Democrats has frightened my opponent.

That "call" is an old politician's trick. It has no place in our Winchester campaign, which is being waged on the issues. (Please turn to Pages 11 and 17.)

All Parties Are Victorious At Annual Waltz Evening

Republicans, Democrats, and Independents all were victorious last weekend at the Ballot Ball. The ninth annual Waltz Evening sponsored by the Friends of the Winchester Hospital was held on Friday and Saturday evenings, October 14th and 15th.

Under the magnificent direction of Mrs. Zach T. White, this year's dance chairman, Waltz Evening was a tremendous success. Proceeds from Waltz Evening are always used by the Friends for gifts to Winchester Hospital. This year funds will be given for the new emergency waiting room planned as part of the hospital addition to be started after the first of the year.

A most imaginative and hard-working committee created a gala political scene at the Town Hall. Key features were the realistically caricatured presidential candidates peeking around the Capital dome, the giant mobiles of the 50 states, and the large wall map of the U. S. with blinking lights marking state capitals. A large donkey and elephant, red, white, and blue bunting, and campaign posters and literature of all the candidates also contributed to the political atmosphere of the dance.

Also in keeping with the timely theme of the Ballot Ball were the Uncle Sam hats worn by the high school boys who served so helpfully as ushers. The high school flower girls looked lovely and patriotic too with their red, white, and blue shoulder sashes.

For the first time at Waltz Evening, volunteers staffed both the refreshment table and the cloak room. Husbands served the delicious Waltz Evening punch while their wives cared for the dancers' coats.

Parties of guests were seated at silver covered tables which were placed to allow maximum room for everyone to enjoy dancing to the music of Herbie Sulkins' Orchestra.

Waltz Evening masters of ceremonies were Mr. Gilbert Hood on Friday evening, and Mr. Zach T. White on Saturday. Midpoint in each evening, after welcoming the dancers, each m.c. introduced the Local Republicans Report Students' Visits To H. Q.

Many residents are reportedly taking advantage of the wide variety of information available at Republican Headquarters. A great many students have been counted among the visitors, and their questions regarding candidates and issues show an avid interest and, in several cases, an excellent background of the political campaigns.

Carleton Leavitt and William Andrew, candidates for Middlesex County Commissioner were at the October 11 meeting of the Republican Town Committee. Mr. Leavitt outlined his qualifications for the position and the audience was greatly impressed by his sincerity and purposefulness. Both men would add stature to this office, Republicans believe.

Due to the increased interest by the townspeople, Republican Headquarters will be open daily from 10:00 to 12:00 a.m., 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Fridays which increases by two hours the daily schedule.

At the October 25 meeting, candidates James Mahan for District Attorney of Middlesex County, William Warren for Governors Council, Edward J. O'Donoghue for Treasurer of Middlesex County and Hobart M. Burroughs, Register of Probate are to appear. This meeting, held in the East Hearing Room of the Town Hall, will be open to the public at 8:30 p.m. This will be, perhaps, the only opportunity to meet this group of candidates and a large turnout of voters is expected.

Many Winchester Republicans were at the Women's Republican Club meeting at the Gustin's Wednesday and then went in group to the Republirama at Arlington. Candidates for the major state offices were at the Gustin's and later spoke in Arlington. A real Republican evening.

Much interest has been expressed in the Republican Bumper Sticker Drive. On Saturday, October 8, six stalwart workers offered stickers to automobile owners parked in the general vicinity of the center. The following Saturday, the dump (Town Disposal Area) found drivers being offered stickers for the several Republican candidates. Several hundred stickers have been placed on cars over this period and certainly Winchester is advertising Republican candidates in a spirited manner.

Rundown On Candidates And Issues

L. W. V. Will Distribute Election Data

Did you know that in this Presidential election Winchester voters must vote for fifteen offices in addition to President and Vice-President?

As part of its Voters Service program which makes available to voters factual material on candidates for elective office, the League of Women Voters of Winchester will publish non-partisan information about candidates for each of these fifteen offices.

In next week's Star there will be descriptions of the five County offices to be filled, together with the candidates' replies to League questionnaires.

All other offices, both state and local, will be thoroughly covered in a special 16-page paper, prepared by the League of Women Voters and originally published in the October 15 Boston Globe. It will be distributed by the Winchester League next week free of charge to every home in town.

This special paper will include job descriptions, candidates' stands on specific issues, biographical data on all except General Court candidates (which appeared in the August 26 Star), and selected General Court roll call votes. This material is made available to help voters become acquainted with all candidates and to contribute towards an informed vote.

Voters are also finding helpful the League's TV series "Ask the Candidate" currently running most wekday evenings on Channel 2.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization which does not endorse candidates or parties.

Don't miss this week's special feature story on the League of Women Voters on the Star Editorial Page.

Warrant For Election Issued; Liquor Question Is Up Again

As Winchester interest in the political campaign quickened this week, the Board of Selectmen signed the official Warrant for the election to be held on Tuesday, November 8th, and delivered it to the Star for publication.

Winchester voters will be asked to vote not only for the usual list of officials in a Presidential year, but they will also be asked to vote "Yes" or "No" on three highly controversial questions:

(1) Shall licenses be granted in this town for the sale therein of all alcoholic beverages (whisky, rum, gin, malt beverages, wines and all other alcoholic beverages)?

(2) Shall licenses be granted in this town for the sale therein of wines and malt beverages (wines and beer, ale, and all other malt beverages)?

(3) Shall licenses be granted in this town for the sale therein of all alcoholic beverages in packages, so called, not to be drunk on the premises?

On election day, the polls will open at 7:00 o'clock in the morning and will be closed at 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

Winchester voters will be asked to vote for Electors of President and Vice President; United States Senator; Governor of Massachusetts; Lieutenant Governor; Secretary of State for the Commonwealth; Attorney General; Treasurer and Receiver-General; Auditor of the Commonwealth; Representative in Congress, Fifth Congressional District; Councillor for the 6th Councillor District; Senator for the 6th Middlesex Senatorial District, one Representative in the General Court for the 29th Middlesex District; Register of Probate and Insolvency for Middlesex County; County Treasurer; District Attorney for the Northern District, to fill a vacancy.

Library Staff Hears Cousins At Swampscott

The New England Library Association held its annual conference October 5-8th at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, with the general theme "Our Widening World." Norman Cousins, Editor of the "Saturday Review", was the speaker at the first general session, his topic "World Report."

In keeping with the general theme, other speakers covered the problems and literature of Africa, South America and Russia. Special reports were given on the White House Conference on Children and Youth; Library Legislation; Hospital Librarianship; Children's Books; and the Moral Leadership Program for Youth as now carried out in the Navy.

The second annual panel on "Scientific Management of Libraries" was held Saturday morning with Winchester's David C. Weber a panel speaker. Mr. Weber is Assistant Director of Harvard University Library.

Six Boys Spared Court Action

A certain Mr. Duffy of Watertown chose to ask for restitution of damage rather than court action in a case involving six 13-year-old Winchester boys this week.

The boys had been apprehended by Officers William Nash and James Cogan last Tuesday at Mr. Duffy's house under construction at 34 Wedgemere Avenue.

The boys admitted shattering some 20 windows and etching names and pictures two inches deep into the freshly plastered walls of Mr. Duffy's living room. Officers Cogan and Nash relieved the boys of two B.B. guns.

Cogan and Nash advised Mr. Duffy that he had two courses of action, either to press for court action in the case or to seek financial restitution for his losses. Mr. Duffy chose to ask for restitution.

At Police School

Officer John P. Farrell is now attending State Police School in Framingham for the October session.

Officer John McHugh recently attended State police school in Topsfield, where he took a special course in bomb disposal.

Did you know that WHSR is broadcasting on Wednesdays and Thursdays, as well as on Fridays? On Wednesday afternoons the station concentrates on the world of classical music. Thursdays are usually dedicated to the "training" of inexperienced students who actually learn by apprentice programming. Then on Fridays everything from news and weather to rollicking popular music is presented. Why don't you get into the habit of listening?

These dignitaries were Venerable of the Men's Lodge, Anthony Vespucci, and his wife, Mary; District Deputy and Mrs. Edmund Tarrilo of Waltham, Chief of Police and Mrs. Joseph Derro, Supreme Venerable of the Grand Lodge Joseph Gorrasi of Woburn. Toastmaster and Mrs. Robert Maietta, Rt. Rev. John M. Manion, pastor of St. Mary's Church; Selectman and Mrs. A. Gardner Bradlee, Venerable of the Ladies' Lodge, Mrs. William Fiore; and president of the Aberjona Civic Association, William Fiore.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Volpe expressed their regrets at being unable to be present during most of the evening because of his busy political campaign schedule.

The program opened with master of ceremonies, Bob Maietta, expressing his pleasure in seeing so many present. His introductory remarks went back to 1492 when Columbus set out in a new era to discover this wonderful land of America.

He related also that we in 1960 are also living in a new era of the space age and space travel. He told how Columbus sailed uncharted courses and was confronted with hardships which he conquered with courage and unity of purpose.

As a comparison he mentioned how we, too, are faced with menaces, such as communism and the uncertainties of outer space, but he felt that because we Americans do possess courage and strength we will be able to conquer.

Toastmaster Maietta then introduced Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Manion, pastor of St. Mary's Church, to make the invocation. Later he praised a Son of Italy (Columbus) who died at the age of fifty-five and who was an accomplished seaman at the early age of nineteen. He reminded his hearers of Columbus' difficulties and how it took him ten years preparing for his successful voyage and receiving no praise for it by the Spaniards.

Next the toastmaster introduced Chief of Police Joseph Derro who expressed his appreciation and pleasure in being invited to participate in this celebration.

Following the Chief of Police the toastmaster called on Selectman H. Gardner Bradlee, who said he was happy to represent the town of Winchester and to extend the town's greetings.

The Supreme Venerable of the Grand Lodge, Joseph Gorrasi, was then introduced. He made some very encouraging and interesting remarks of the "Pioneer Days" and mentioned that we are still pioneering because of tremendous advancements being made in various phases of life in our times.

Benediction was pronounced by Msgr. Manion and toastmaster Maietta then invited all to remain and enjoy dancing with music furnished by Tony Olivieri and his orchestra.

The dinner of roast beef and all that goes with it (and it certainly was good and plentiful) was served by Carroll's caterers.

The hard-working committee for this most successful evening included Carmen Frongillo, chairman; Robert J. Maietta, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Provinzano, treasurer.

Others who should be mentioned are Anthony Vespucci, Mrs. Frank Errico, Mrs. Anthony Cefali, Mr. and Mrs. William Fiore, Mrs. Pasquale Bruno, Mrs. Carmen Frongillo, Miss Philomena Corbi, Anthony Perritano, Mrs. Robert Fiore, Mrs. Anthony Barbaro, Domenic Provinzano, Randolph Kazazian, and John C. Bertolucci.

Fortieres Observe Their 25th

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Fortiere of 113 Mt. Vernon Street, observed their Silver Wedding Anniversary on Wednesday, October 12.

Rev. Henry J. Cassidy of Wauzeka, Wisconsin, brother of Mrs. Fortiere, was celebrant of a High Mass at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Church which was attended by relatives and friends, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Manion, pastor of St. Mary's, was seated within the Sanctuary.

Following the ceremony a luncheon and reception was held at which Mr. and Mrs. Fortiere, with their children, David and Mary, welcomed the guests.

Out of town family members in addition to Fr. Cassidy included those from Ohio, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Cape Cod.

All joined together to wish Mr. and Mrs. Fortiere many more years of continued happy married life.

Roger F. Kindred

Roger F. Kindred, 19, a senior at Burlington High School and the son of Mrs. Nora O'Leary Kindred, was probably instantly killed last Saturday night when the automobile in which he was riding with four companions struck a tree in the Winnmere section of that town. He was pronounced dead at the Choate Hospital in Woburn, to which the other painfully injured youths were removed.

Kindred's father, the late Edmund Kindred, formerly lived in Winchester and the family will be remembered by older residents here. Young Kindred made his home with his mother and family in the Peach Orchard Road section of Burlington.

The funeral was held from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home Tuesday morning with requiem High Mass celebrated at St. Margaret's Church in Burlington.

Arthur J. Hewis

Arthur J. Hewis of 162 Union Street, Lynn, father of Arthur J. Hewis, Jr., of Winchester, died early Wednesday morning in the Lynnview Hospital after a long illness at the age of 82.

Mr. Hewis was the son of Charles, and Sarah (Colvey) Hewis. He was born in Nottingham, England, but came as a boy to this country and for the past 70 years had resided in Lynn. He was, until his retirement in 1946, for many years a machinist for the Duplicating Machine Company of Everett. His wife, the former Eleanor T. O'Connell, died in 1945.

Besides his son in Winchester, Mr. Hewis leaves two sons, George J., of Haverhill and Charles H. Hewis of Lynn; seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

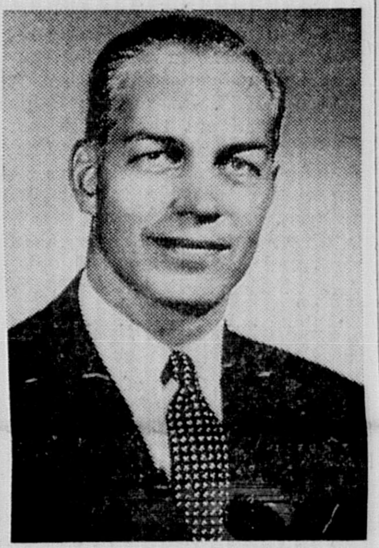
Dr. Greeley resigned from a successful and happy ministry at the Arlington Street Church in Boston last year to become the president of the national organization. He is a vigorous and colorful speaker.



DR. DANA McLEAN GREELEY

In the light of the merger of the Unitarian and Universalist churches, Dr. Greeley will speak on the topic: "New Demensions for a New Denomination." The service will be conducted by Mr. Storer. Special music will be provided for the occasion by the Senior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham.

Born in Lexington, he graduated from Harvard College in 1931, and from Harvard Divinity School in 1933. He holds honorary degrees from Meadville Theological School, St. Lawrence University, and Emerson College.

Throughout his ministry Dr. Greeley has taken an active part in civic and educational affairs, serving on the Massachusetts Governor's Commission on the Study of Capital Punishment and as president of the New England Citizens Crime Commission. He serves on the board of the New England Travelers Aid Society, Emerson College, Hackley School, Meadville Theological School, Children to Palestine, New England United World Federalists, and the Institute on Religion in an Age of Science.

He is a member of the Harvard Club of Boston, and the Rotary Club of Boston. He is the author of two books, "Toward Larger Living" and "A Message to Atheists."

EMARC Starts Drive

The annual fund drive for the East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children, known as a "Day for Donnie," is underway. "Donnie" (Billy Byrne of Framingham) is the living symbol of the 140,000 retarded children in the Commonwealth. Money collected from this annual drive has made available the services of two pre-school clinics, an occupational center for ages 16 years and over, a summer day camp, a boy scout troop, a reference library, and all this accomplished within the past four years.

This year again, Mrs. Sidebotham has graciously consented to be chairman, assisted by Mrs. Archie Manoogian, Mrs. Carleton Clogston, and Mrs. William Platzoeder. Mrs. Sidebotham has been active in civic affairs having been president of the Winchester Homefronters, deputy grand matron of the Eastern Star, Visiting Nurse Association Public Relations chairman.

Tea for Teachers At Noonan

A tea was held on Monday this week for teachers of the upper grades at Noonan School.

Parents first gathered in the classrooms, where each teacher described her methods and her ambitions for the year.

Miss Minnetta Jurgenson, principal, joined the group in the auditorium, where a delicious and attractive tea was served. The centerpiece of roses matched the corsages, which had been presented to the teachers in advance.

Pourers were Mrs. John Collins and Mrs. Walter Fisher.

The teachers honored were:
Mrs. Lollie Smith
Miss Sarah McGowan
Dr. Marie Fagerland
Miss Marjorie Edwards
Miss Nancy Davis
Mrs. Mary Butler

Third Winchester Morning

On Thursday, October 27, Elinor Hughes, drama and film editor for the Boston Traveler since 1935, will be the speaker. Miss Hughes' work has also included music, art and dance reviewing. The topic of her talk, "Passing through to Broadway," will be well timed as she will be able to review the new musical, "Camelot," by Lerner and Lowe, starring Julie Andrews and Richard Berton, which opens in Boston the night before.

This lecture will conclude this year's series of "Mornings," which has been under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ralph T. Jope. Assisting her as co-chairmen of tickets were Mrs. Wayne E. Davis and Mrs. George Beal; social, Mrs. Bernard L. Chapin; treasurer, Mrs. Richard W. Wyman; publicity, Mrs. Richard W. Swanson.

POSTAL MODERNIZATION. Replacing the antiquated vehicles of yesterday is the new "Mailster," economical, lightweight, and extremely maneuverable, enabling the postman to speed the mails into the thousands of rapidly growing suburban areas throughout the nation.

New National Record for Mail

Mail volume in the Winchester area contributed to a new national record of nearly 64 billion pieces of mail, including a billion pieces of parcel post, during fiscal year 1960 ending last June 30, Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun said.

Based on advance information from the Annual Report of the Department, which has been made available to Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun it was revealed that the present day figures represent an increase of 25 per cent over the 1953 volume which totaled 50.9 billion pieces.

This increase, along with a sharp discontinuance of mail-carrying trains in recent years, has helped foster a complete revolution in postal transportation including far more extensive use of highway vehicles, he said. Locally, the transportation pattern for Winchester has changed in the following manner: all receipt and dispatch of first class mail is made via the new highway vehicle metro system, insuring next day delivery in all New England states.

Today, 85 per cent of the vast postal vehicle fleet—operating under a modernization and improvement program initiated in 1954—is composed largely of new types of standard, commercial, light-weight, maneuverable vehicles. This conversion, he noted, has meant the "retirement" of worn out units—many in use for ten years or more, which, in turn, has greatly reduced maintenance costs for the Postal Service.

Described as a vital part of this program which was launched approximately seven years ago under the direction of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, vehicle unit purchases during fiscal year 1960 amounted to more than 8,500 as compared with 115 similar purchases during fiscal year 1953.

"The motor vehicle inventory on June 30, 1853, was 18,969," Postmaster Gilgun said, "and although the 1960 statistics are not yet in final form, it is estimated that more than 34,000 new vehicles have been purchased since fiscal year 1954 and that with 'retirement' of old vehicles the inventory total on June 30 of this year was just a little under 37,000 vehicles.

"Still another development of vital importance in connection with motor vehicle service is the fact that 119 new maintenance facilities have been constructed since January, 1953, to service this fleet. Ten more were under construction on June 30 and 25 more are now in the planning stage.

"Other figures in the preliminary 1960 report reveal that the post offices which now have motor vehicle service available total more than 3,600 while the corresponding figure for fiscal year 1953 was 2,433. The total of miles traveled in fiscal year 1960 is estimated as a shade under 400,000,000 as compared with approximately 200,000,000 in fiscal year 1953.

"One of the most outstanding features of this motor vehicle improvement program is the mechanization of foot delivery routes which was first mentioned in the Annual Report for fiscal year 1958. This revealed that the motor vehicle inventory for June 30 of that year showed 1,914 'very light vehicles and mailsters' with the notation that this figure included certain vehicles previously reported in the truck category. In the 1959 report this item had climbed to a little over the 5,000 and the preliminary estimate from the 1960 table shows 5,816.

"Advance reports clearly indicate that this part of the mechanization program will be handled at a much faster rate in fiscal 1961. Commitments already have been made for extensive installations of two-cylinder mailsters and four-cylinder right-hand drive trucks which have undergone exhaustive tests and have been found to be highly satisfactory. On the basis of experience with more than 5,700 mailsters already in operation, it has been estimated that the total number of motor vehicle units regularly in operation is approximately seven as compared with three back in 1953. Postmaster Gilgun also pointed out that there have been literally scores of organizational and operational changes during this seven-year improvement program and that each one of them is directed toward the more efficient and more economical operation of the Post Office Department."

Some of the more significant of these are:

"Decentralization of postal operating management out of the Post Office Department in Washington, D. C., by setting up fifteen regional headquarters offices; adoption of modern business accounting and financial procedures; utilization of the latest types of electronic machines, elimination of hand-prepared checks, payroll and others, at each post office by making payments from regional offices with estimated net savings of $20,000,000 a year; intrduction of new concepts of personnel management for the benefit and welfare of more than half a million postal employees, including both training programs for promotions and safety programs to reduce on-the-job accidents."

Waltz Evening

person who would draw the door prize which on both nights was a large and beautiful basket of delicacies donated again this year by Converse Market.

On Friday, Mrs. Robert Grenzeback, the chairman of volunteer services for the Friends, drew the ticket held by Mrs. Frank D. Bates. On Saturday, the lucky winner was Mrs. Lloyd Godwin whose ticket was drawn by Mrs. Philip Parsons, Jr., chairman of the Ballot Ball decorating committee.

The traditional Waltz Contest was held each evening. Serving as judges on Friday were Mrs. Richard Champagne of the Champagne School of Dancing and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Maynard III of Chestnut Hill last year's first place Friday winners. Prior to the contest Mrs. Maynard and Mr. Champagne delighted the audience with a dance exhibition of waltz variations.

On Saturday, the judges were Mr. Russell Curry and Mrs. Grace Curry, both of the Curry School of Dancing, and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Gilpatric, last year's Saturday first place winners. As a prelude to the contest, Mr. Curry and Mrs. Gilpatric gave a marvelous exhibition of dancing.

Judged the best winners were Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Mingolelli on Friday evening, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank D. Bates on Saturday. Mrs. Mingolelli and Mrs. Bates each received as their prizes sterling Revere Bowls inscribed "Friends of the Winchester Hospital — Waltz Evening, 1960." The bowls were donated by Anderson's jewelers and by the Winchester National Bank. Each first place lady also received two dozen long stemmed roses, given again this year by Forester the Florist.

The winning men, Mr. Mingolelli and Dr. Bates, were presented with sterling silver key chains, purchased through donations from Charles L. Haggerty, Inc. and from an anonymous contributor. The Winchester Appliance Center donated two records which were also given as part of each gentleman's first prize.

Second place winners were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Pywell on Friday and Mrs. Elliott Blaisdell and Mr. Thomas Worthen on Saturday. Mrs. Pywell received as her prize a ten dollar gift certificate from Handcraft House purchased through a donation from James T. Trefrey, Realtor. Mrs. Blaisdell won a lady's shirt given by David Golart's. The second place men's prizes were a tie and cummerbund set donated by David Golart's for Mr. Pywell and a ten dollar gift certificate from McLaughlin's Shoe Store for Mr. Worthen.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Nelson, Jr. were third place winners on Friday night. On Saturday, Mrs. G. L. Bouteilier and Mr. John Morse placed third. Mrs. Nelson won a complete hairstyle at Judy's and also a set of placemats given by the Winslow Press. Mrs. Bouteilier's prizes were a certificate for a decorated cake from Christie MacDonald's and a box of stationery donated by the Spaulding Book Shop. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Morse each received a bottle of sherry contributed by Stagliano's Liquor Mart in Medford. In addition, each was presented with a five dollar gift certificate—Mr. Nelson's from Hillside Paint and Wallpaper Co. and Mr. Morse's from Pampered Pets.

Although they were not among the official prize winners of the Waltz Contest on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Manning W. Morrill of Leominster and Marblehead were the winners of the audience's affections. Mr. and Mrs. Morrill, parents of Mr. Manning C. Morrill of Wedgemere Avenue, were in the contest finals with four other couples. A delightful couple who have been waltzing a generation longer than the other dancers, and obviously enjoying it, they received a tremendous round of applause. After the contest, Mr. Curry gave a short exhibition with Mrs. Morrill and Mrs. Frank D. Bates presented her with the roses she had previously won.

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital are most grateful to the many generous individuals and business concerns that helped make Waltz Evening a success. Lists of Waltz Evening committees and also of Patrons and Patronesses not yet printed may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Star.

Editorials:

Brainwashing In America?

The mail bag, or letters to the editor section of the big dailies is a feature we never miss. In between the irate letters from persons who have been misquoted or have had their judgment impugned you will occasionally find a communication that is well worth pondering.

One such was a letter in a recent mail bag in which the writer decries the fact that neither Presidential candidate has mentioned the greatest peril, with which our nation is faced, namely moral decay.

From time to time we have seen writings by other serious students of our great country who have felt the same way. They have felt that the new easier living has made softer individuals of us all, that the craze for liquor, automobiles and a good time has sapped much of the old physical and moral fibre from a race second to none on the globe in the early days of the United States, if not today.

There are many signs pointing in the direction of such thinking, the increased use of dope of some sort, even by the very young, and the general decline in morals which is reaching down from adult brackets to the teen ager. Contempt for the law is still another sign post pointing away from self respect and respect for the law.

Our Mail Bag letter writer does not believe this decline has come about by chance. He believes much of it has been brought about by Communist influences which have been active for decades, especially in the field of education, where we have been too prone to accept false theories in the belief that because they are modern they must be better.

"The American mind, says the writer," is being very subtly but effectively brainwashed by certain sources which are influential in determining what TV programs the public may view and what the content of our publications shall be.

"In other words," he continues," the idea is to see that the American mind is exposed to these ideas.

"If" he writes, "we had the moral stamina of our forbears, these ideas as well as all the facets of Communism could make little headway. That they are making headway," he finds, "is proof of our moral weakness."

Before you start to shrug off the above remember that more than 100 years ago Lord MacCaulay predicted that in the 20th century our democracy would end. He said either a Caesar or a Napoleon will seize the reins of government in his strong hands or you will be overrun and plundered by the Vandals and Huns as was ancient Rome in the 5th century. Only with this exception, those who sacked Rome came from without, yours will have been engendered by your own institutions.

We read somewhere that Communism's greatest asset is ignorance of their tactics. Lenin, the interpreter of Marx, said in 1923, ". . . first we take Eastern Europe, then we will organize the masses of Asia and finally the United States. The last bastion of capitalism will be surrounded and we will not have to take it. It will fall into our outstretched hands like over-ripe fruit.

And more recently, in answer to a direct question by the press, Mr. Khrushchev is quoted as saying, "in 15 years there won't be a cold war. Your country is becoming so socialistic that in 15 years the causes for conflict between our two countries will have disappeared."

What to do? Edmund Burke once said, "For evil to triumph it is only necessary for good men to do-nothing."

The Star does not believe that the good old U. S. A. is so far gone that some old fashioned bootstrap lifting won't get it back to the days when no one would care to pull a tail feather out of the American Eagle.

Indifference and soft living are what many people believe are directly responsible for the drift by the country away from our old solid virtues and institutions. A look at the way our business is being transacted by our servants in high places should indicate clearly that we can not afford to remain indifferent any longer.

On the average only about 50 per cent of our electorate is taking the trouble to go to the polls. Indeed that 50 per cent may be on the high side. Such indifference to our franchise constitutes an open invitation to subversive influence to consolidate their strength at the polls. They can't do it if we all roll up our sleeves and push the ship of state out of the dock mud and back into the current. She is still a seaworthy vessel.

Tarred With Their Own Stick

This year's World Series, won by the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League from the perennial American League champions, the New York Yankees surely must be one of the strangest on record, if not the strangest of all times. Who would believe that a team, beaten as badly as the Pirates were by the Yanks in the three games the American Leaguers won, would ever bounce back and take the deciding game, 10-9.

How many watching the game at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, or on TV believed the Pirates would get back even after trailing 7-4. Radio listeners undoubtedly had the same idea. You just don't do things like that to the Yankees.

And yet those amazing Pirates not only climbed back to even terms but went two ahead on Hal Smith's three-run home run in the eighth.

National League sympathizers figured the Pirates were home after this, but those who have watched the Yankees regularly were by no means as certain.

And it was the American League thinking that was right. Bob Friend, back for his third try at holding the Yankees, gave up a bloop single to Richardson and a clean single to Dale Long to start the 9th.

In came Haddix and he made a good start by getting the dangerous Roger Maris to foul to Smith. Mantle, however, lashed a single up the middle and the score was 9-8 with men on first and third and nobody but "Yogi" Berra, perhaps the best clutch hitter in baseball, at the plate.

"Yogi" drilled a wicked one hopper to Pirate first baseman, "Rocky" Nelson, who tagged the bag, eliminating Berra, and tried to tag Mantle diving back into first base. He missed "Micky" and the tying run scored. Skowran forced Mantle to end the inning.

That was it you felt. The Yanks would go on and win it now! But wait, Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates had other ideas. He took the first pitch, then banged the second over the left field wall for a home run, the ball game and the series.

And to think it was home runs by the Pirates that brought the proud Yankee heads down into the dust of defeat. Home runs, long the weapon of the Yankees, long the means of getting New York into World Series and winning them once they got there, home runs so often used to turn the tables for the Yanks with the opposition leading. This time it was the opposition that borrowed the Yankees' personal weapon. Can you think of any better example of being tarred with your own stick than that!

New Trend?

The Planning Board did not get all it asked from the recent special Town Meeting, but it did get the important zoning change that will make it necessary for any one to get permission from the Board of Appeal before building a double house in a general residence district.

This legislation is sound and as we see it, fair, guarding the rights of property owners to build individual double houses and protecting the town from mass development of duplexes not in the public interest. So strongly did one speaker feel upon the matter that he suggested the general residence district be done away with!

The other Planning Board proposal to buy or take the Dr. McManus property on Main Street adjacent to the Junior High School was rejected by the meeting. Probably the fact that the cost of the property was estimated by the Planning Board at $25,000, and the Board of Selectmen, at $10,000 had much to do with the decision to do nothing now. Whatever the cost now, it will surely be greater at a later date, especially if the property is sold and put to use.

There are many in town who feel that we have torn down enough usable buildings and that it is time to call a halt. There may have been other reasons why the meeting decided not to buy or take.

The important decision was of course the one regulating the erection of duplex houses in Winchester and here the meeting followed the Planning Board's recommendation. The Star hopes that the decision to accept the Planning Board's thinking in this important matter will mark a new trend and result in recommendations of the Board receiving more careful consideration than it has seemed they have had in the past.

Good Police Work

It is satisfying to know that our Police Department has recently done two nice pieces of police work. Officer Nash succeeded in rounding up the four boys who broke into a house in Rangeley, used the house in the absence of the occupants and removed a quantity of liquor to a barn on an adjacent street with the idea, according to the police, of selling it to minors.

Since this break Officer Nash and Juvenile Officer Cogan have located six boys in the early teen-age bracket who got into a house in process of construction on Wedgemere Avenue, broke twenty windows and wrote and drew pictures in the soft plaster on the walls.

The two police officers responsible for rounding up the boys in theses cases are deserving of congratulations. True they may not be serious crimes, though breaking and entering a house and transporting liquor for possible sale hardly comes under the heading of mischief, malicious or otherwise.

Whatever the final result of these cases may be, the police did their part in locating those responsible. The more of this police work we have, the less attractive this sort of thing will look to boys who are tempted.

League Of Women Voters Fights Politics With Facts

L. W. V. BOARD OF DIRECTORS . . . Front row, left to right, Mrs. William Spaulding, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence Kelbley, second vice-president; Mrs. Eber LeGates, president; Mrs. Ernest Dieterich, first vice-president; Mrs. Stuart Rich, secretary. Back row, committee chairmen—Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Mrs. Richard Alt, Mrs. Frederick Herberich, Mrs. Ellis Green, Mrs. Albert Dietz, Mrs. Malcolm Masters, Mrs. Leslie DeGroot, Mrs. Donald Thayer, Mrs. John Ahern, Mrs. Robert Nyere, Mrs. Joseph Zrodowski, Mrs. Guinn Smith. Committee chairmen who were absent, Mrs. John Null, Mrs. Zach White, Mrs. Lawrence Rubin, Mrs. Warren Price, Mrs. Donald Puffer.

Who are they, anyway, these hustling women of the League of Women Voters? Latter-day suffragettes, as someone has said, all dressed up in their war-paint with no place to go? Or are they, as one politician quipped, merely "spokesmen for a bunch of ladies' sewing societies reading statements prepared for them by the State Department?"

The answer to both questions, your Star reporter believes, is a spirited "No." The League of Women Voters is an organization of women all over the U. S. — most of them mothers — simply interested in good government and convinced that rational research and non-partisan public education promote such government. The women are organized on the national, state and local levels. And Winchester is fortunate in having one of the most dynamic leagues in the Bay State.

This is no Sunday-tea study group dressed in lavender and dedicated to the proposition that all problems can be solved by happy committees.

"Study without action," one League leader has observed, "is abortive." The league's aim, accordingly, is "to promote active participation in government," and "to cause people to use effectively that knowledge they possess."

Publications

To encourage this use of "knowledge possessed" the women of the League publish pamphlets and books: "Inside Winchester," "Massachusetts State Government," "Know Your Government," "Know Your United Nations." These are all carefully documented, non-partisan, non-sectarian publications highly respected by scholars. The League also publishes research studies of candidates' qualifications in local, state and national elections and reports on the percentage of Town Meeting attendance by Town Meeting members.

The overriding need for an impartial political education agency could not be more obvious, as the hidden persuaders, the high-pressured salesmen and the peddlers of half-truths of U. S. politics descend on the public. It is the League's aim, locally and nationally, to be, in the words of one of its presidents, "a beacon light of honesty and faith in a country confused by smog."

Changing Objectives

The objectives of the League have naturally changed as national needs have changed. In the 1920's the League fought unjust child labor conditions in which one million children under 16 were employed in mills, shops, mines and commercial agriculture. In 1945 it supported the United Nations.

But throughout their history the women of the League have stood four square for Constitutional liberties, "especially those of freedom of speech, religion, assembly and press." They have sought to breathe continually new life into the Bill of Rights.

They have sought, in the words of Founder Carrie Chapman Catt, "to make our democracy so safe for the Nation and so safe for the world that every citizen may feel secure and great men will acknowledge the worthiness of the American Republic to lead." Mrs. Catt spoke these words in 1919, but how more timely could they be?

Town and Nation

The League, is as we have said, active on all levels of government. Our own local Winchester League pursues, of course, the League's general objective: the rational, unemotional examination of issues to approximate as closely as possible an objective, unbiased judgment.

"The League," Warner Olivier has written in the Saturday Evening Post, "was organized to educate . . . and is spending . . . millions of women-hours in studying the problems which the government must face and decide. It comes up with answers, based on profound study and research, from which . . . prejudice, and partisanship have been eliminated as far as is humanly possible."

Local Agenda

But the purposes and programs of our local League will, of course, reflect the specific problems of the community and state in which it functions. There is no absolute program of action or procurement of policies to which all local Leagues throughout the United States must subscribe.

The Winchester League's current local agenda is concerned with what the League considers current Winchester needs. The League is studying "measures leading toward effective regional planning for the Metropolitan Boston area" and hopes to "take appropriate action thereon." It is also studying the subject of "providing for Winchester's recreational needs in cooperation with community organizations." The League also recognizes a continuing responsibility to support adequate school facilities.

Proposed Activities

Proposed activities on the local level include:

1) Bringing the Booklet "Inside Winchester" up-to-date, and a study of Winchester for the purpose of bringing up-to-date our "Know Your Town." Material gathered would be used to bring up-to-date the booklet, published five years ago, and now out of print. This booklet is used extensively by the Social Studies Departments in both the Junior and Senior High Schools, by both the Girl and Boy Scouts in their Citizenship Merit Badge work, and is distributed to all new residents of Winchester.

2) Resumption of Metropolitan Planning Study. The L.W.V. Metropolitan Boston Planning Council is a new idea in League organization. Its purpose: that local leagues sharing a common problem might co-ordinate their efforts, The immediate purpose of the Council is to interest as many local leagues as possible in Metropolitan Planning. The Winchester League joined this Council in December, 1959. At the May, 1960 Annual Meeting the first item voted for its current agenda was the study of measures for effective regional planning for the Metropolitan Boston area.

3) Continuing Concern for Winchester's Recreational Needs. A survey of Recreational facilities in Winchester was made last year by the L.W.V to determine the nature and uses made of them by schools, the park department, service organizations and churches. Questionnaires were distributed to secondary school students. The results clearly pointed to the need for a youth center, possibly with a swimming pool. Pertinent information on recreational facilities in comparable suburban towns plus that on national recreation standards is also being compiled.

4) Support of Adequate Schools. Last year, the Winchester League was active in supporting the construction of a new Junior High School on the Well Field site by providing information and cooperation to the Community School Association and Citizens for a New Junior High. The enormous energy and drive of its membership in offering factual material and resourceful leadership has since been widely acknowledged as a large factor in the ultimate success of this enterprise. The Unit meetings on Education were entitled "Can We Expect the Schools to Do it All?" At this time, folders were distributed containing information and suggestions for family outings plus a booklet listing outstanding books for children from the first grade through High School.

State Level

Proposed Activities on a State level include:

1) Civil Service. The purpose of this study is to improve the Civil Service Merit System in order that we may have a clear-cut and economical system of personnel administration. Our state budget is over $400,000,000, and half this amount is paid out in salaries. Massachusetts has 95,000 Civil Service employees. In Winchester, the Police, Fire, and Welfare Departments are under Civil Service, as well as the Sealer of Weights and Measures and the Plumber Inspector.

2) Public Supported Higher Education. Of the 95 institutions of higher education in Massachusetts, 76 are private and only 19 are public.

In the list of states in per capita expenditure on higher learning, Massachusetts is 50th for its public spending, but 1st for public and private spending combined. Eighty per cent of Massachusetts residents who attend college do so in their own state. If all existing public and private institutions expand to the maximum extent now planned, there still will be no room for a very large number of qualified students—estimated at between 39,000 to 65,000 within the next few years. Therefore, the League is studying this pressing problem in an effort to provide these young people an opportunity to continue their education.

3) Water Resources. In the course of its four-year study of the nation's water resources, the League has emphasized the support of policies and practices which will promote coordinated administration, equitable financing, and regional or river-basin planning. The L.W.V. has supported strongly the establishment of the Northeastern Resources Compact, and the Massachusetts Water Resources Commission. Efforts are now being made to further support and strengthen the Water Resources Commission.

Voter's Service

The Voter's Service Committee is active on all levels. It's purpose is to give the public information about registration and voting procedures; to urge citizens to vote, no matter for which party; to explain proposed amendments and referenda appearing on the ballot; to give factual information about candidates based on their records and their opinions on important issues; to hold candidates' meetings; to interest new voters in voting; and to keep and to publicize voting records of legislators.

In addition to the above activities of this Committee, it planned and is producing the "Ask Your Candidate" program to be seen over Channel 22 WGBH-TV at 9:30 in the evening, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday from October 3 through November 4. It is arranged that the candidates will be questioned by one newspaperman and one League member at the beginning of the program. Viewers are urged to telephone questions during the interview to be answered by the candidate at the end of the program.

Reprints from the Boston Globe of a special 20-page supplement, containing League-collected information about candidates for all State and Congressional offices will be distributed the week end of October 28-30 to 5200 homes in Winchester by League members and friends.

THE WASTE MAKERS

By WILSON SULLIVAN

It is no secret that the United States' capacity to produce has outstripped its capacity to consume. It is known that the greatest problem of businessmen today is how to create needs for goods that are not needed. Nor will it surprise many that our industry grinds up one-half of the world's processed natural resources every year to gratify one-sixth of the world's people.

We are, nonetheless, indebted to Mr. Vance Packard for analyzing the mechanics and implications of our "specter of glut" in "The Waste Makers," a stunning indictment of American prodigality in this era of the nine-shade toaster.

Terrified by overproduction, Packard writes, we have made consumption our religion, committed to an economy that appears to require compulsive waste to remain viable. After all, if that auto lasts too long, Detroit may bust!

Accordingly, it becomes our supreme duty to buy, buy, BUY! A Republican President, dismissing the conventional wisdom, assures us that thrift constitutes a basic threat to the economy. And advertising becomes Savior of the Republic, prophet of the commonweal, delivering its continuing jeremiad in some 1,518 TV appeals beamed into the average family circle every day.

We are persuaded that "Home means more with carpet on the floor," that "Every family needs two houses," or two clothes dryers. Our women are urged to match nail enamel with their mood, upbraided as victims of "one-car captivity," or exhorted to turn in their old wedding bands for new ones—to keep in style. Apparently, Packard observes, the way to end glut is to produce gluttons.

Americans have obliged the hucksters. "Outmoded" dresses are left to the moths after one season's wearing. The average family owns three radios. Food scraps are thrown out, while a third of a billion dollars are spent every year on dog food. We spend 18% of our income on time payments, our debts rising three times as fast as our earnings.

How does industry conduct us to self-indulgence? Well, it may spend four times as much on advertising as on basic research, as the drug industry does. And most industries assure new sales and frequent product replacement by means of an officially admitted policy of "planned obsolescence."

You can predetermine the death date of a car, for example, by using chrome alloys deliberately designed to rust, Packard writes. You can assure the premature demise of a washer by crippling it with cheap plastic parts. "Maximum sales volume," one writer suggested, "demands the cheapest construction for the briefest interval the buying public will tolerate."

Assaulted by mass advertising, Packard says, we have become a "force-fed society" of mass hedonists, downing $3 million worth of caviar a year. One million and a half teenage cars tear down our highways. $20 million worth of lipstick graces our teenage girls. Our national forests are strewn with beer cans, our rubbish barrels loaded with 750 valuable metal tins per family per year.

An estimated 60 million babies in 19 years is hailed by U. S. business as a commercial "bonanza," 60 million more credit cards! And some supermarkets, geared to the spiritual realities of the age, are providing on-the-premises chapels for the convenience of Sunday shoppers.

But all is not euphoric in the land of the mechanical martini-mixing spoon. In terms of natural resources, Packard warns, the United States is increasingly a have-not nation, becoming more dependent on basic imports just as exporting nations are accelerating their own industrial development.

In an era of world revolution and shifting alliances we are importing one-third of our iron ore, three-quarters of our bauxite, for aluminum. We face a grave copper shortage even as American women throw away several million brass lipsticks a year. With only one-seventh of the world's oil resources, we consume 50% of them—our own proven resources sufficient for only 13 years. We face similar shortage in timber and water, and still we waste, and waste, and waste.

Living for the moment, Packard writes, we spend more on smoking, drinking, and gambling than we do on education, more on jewelry and watches than on basic research. Self-indulgent, passive, materialist, many of us are persuaded of the ethics of the merchandiser who insisted that the "businessman exists for only one purpose, to create and deliver value satisfaction at a profit to himself," . . . arguments to the contrary, of course, reflecting unregenerate "Puritanism."

Mr. Packard advances several avenues of escape from this national detente, including the Consumer's Union and a return to prudence and craftsmanship. None of his solutions, however, are as cogent as his diagnosis, which will give literate Americans added cause for great alarm.

"Intolerance Is Meagerness Of Life"

Editor of the Star:

Boston's great preacher Phillips Brooks once declared, "Intolerance is meagerness of life." Let us all hope and pray that our people will be inspired by the spirit of this cogent utterance and will keep this ugly and un-American trait from playing any part whatsoever in the present national political campaign.

No man or woman imbued with the ideals of our country will vote against a man solely because of his religion and, on the other hand, will not vote for a man solely for any such reason. Does not one case involve a betrayal of those ideals just as truly as the other?

Let our votes be governed exclusively by an intelligent and realistic appraisal of the basic issues, and by an unbiased judgment of the ability, training and experiences of the candidates to guide our country surely and safely through the troubled and perilous days which lie ahead.

Elliott, Town Lauded by Hub F. B. I. Chief

Chairman H. Gardner Bradlee of the Board of Selectmen was in receipt of the following letter this week from Mr. L. L. Laughlin, special agent in charge of the F. B. I. in Boston:

"Dear Mr. Bradlee:

"It was our pleasure to have Sergeant John H. Elliott of your department at the FBI Firearms Instructors Training School held September 19 through 23, 1960, at Camp Curtis Guild, Wakefield, Massachusetts. This training was provided without cost other than the expenditure necessary for ammunition.

"The program included lectures, demonstrations and practical work in revolver, shotgun and machine-gun shooting, as well as instruction in disarming and other factors which form the pattern of a training program of this nature. The officers were given an opportunity to instruct and were provided with material which could form the basis of a library on firearms training matters.

"Your community is to be complimented for its foresight in designating Sergeant Elliott to attend this training school, and we trust that it will serve a useful purpose in connection with the training activities of your police department.

"Sincerely yours,
L. L. Laughlin
Special Agent in Charge"

The Bonad Road lady was down in the Centre to do a little shopping and happened to park her car in a restricted area. Result: a tag from one of Winchester's ever-vigilant policemen.

The lady reported into the station as required, then drove home and penned the following note to the Chief:

"Sorry for violation. New driver, new car, new resident! Beautiful town, nice and clean, glad to be here."

"Nice lady, too," Chief Derro said. "I wish they were all like this." (Not ladies, in general, of course, but people who are tagged for parking in the wrong places!)

Mother Of Executed Yank Winchester Born

Robert O. Fuller, 25, an ex-Marine, whose father, William, 56, was born in Maine and educated at Harvard, was one of the two Americans executed Monday by a Cuban firing squad for what the Castro regime said was part of a plot to provoke an incident at Guantanamo naval base.

Fuller's father moved to Miami, Fla., after the Cuban government confiscated his sugar plantation in Cuba. Remaining in Cuba was young Fuller's mother, Jennie MacMillan Fuller, who, reports from Havana state, was born in Winchester but has lived in Cuba since childhood. She attended the trial of her son, who testified that peasants had aided the invasion.

Vera Barboza, whose mother, Mrs. Ilka Barboza lives in Rio de Janeiro hopes to continue her studies in preparation for a life teaching nursery school.

"I get along very well, with little children," Vera explained, "and I should like very much to work with them as a career."

At Winchester High School Vera is studying French, English, Spanish and History and is a member of the Glee Club. She is also a member of the Bridge Club and may be soon a member of the Philosophy Club.

"Winchester is just as pretty as it can be," Vera told the Star, and she is looking forward to her trip this summer to other parts of eastern United States. After finishing her studies here she plans to go back home to Brazil.

Peter Appelqvist of Helsinki, Finland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertol Appelqvist. At Winchester High School Peter is studying English, United States History, German, Biology, and Algebra. "I don't have time for extra-curricular activities," Peter said.

After completing his studies here in the summer, Peter intends to go back home to Finland and prepare for admission into college. He has not yet made up his mind as to what career he will pursue.

"The living standard here is so much higher," Peter told the Star. "And everyone at school has been very helpful to me when I have reached obstacles. It is more fun living here."

Interning At Town Hall

Yes, we know it sounds medical and we know the town hall is not a hospital, but the fact is that Albert Benson of Middletown, Conn., a student in the Harvard Graduate School of Education, has been assigned by Harvard as an intern in the Winchester Town Accountant's office in connection with his courses of study.

Mr. Benson will be at Town Accountant James Costello's office each Friday for the next five months to obtain practical experience in the accounting end of the school's administration work.

The new intern taught English and history at Woodrow Wilson High School in Middletown, Conn., for five years. His college is Wesleyan and he participated in football, basketball and baseball while an undergraduate. He is married and has three children.

Stoughton Man Is Stricken In Centre

Simon Starobin, 35, of 159 Stoughton Street, Stoughton, signalled from his auto to Officer Pearson as he was driving through the centre Wednesday morning at 7:30. Starobin, pulling over to the side of Main Street, told Pearson he had sudden pains in his chest, and asked for help.

Pearson contacted the station and had Starobin rushed immediately to Winchester Hospital, where Starobin was placed under treatment by Dr. Barone. He was given an electrocardiogram test, but at the time the Star went to press there was no specific diagnosis. He was reported to be quite "coherent," however, as he was undergoing tests.

Package Stores

of the big Winchester to-do's and see how much liquor is put away. And then they call this a "dry" Town. Wowie!"

"A BIG SCRAMBLE"

"I'll tell you why we don't have a liquor store," one business man said. "It's because we could never make up our mind who should have it. There'd be a mighty big scramble for that license, and a good deal of hard feeling. No matter who got the license, the Town Fathers would be charged with favoritism."

A mother said she felt package stores would absolutely spoil the Town. "I'm thinking in terms of the young people," she said, "I'm thinking as a mother."

Another housewife said she thought package stores would neither help nor hurt Winchester. "We don't use much liquor," she said. "We use some, but when we need it we go to Medford or Woburn."

BAD FOR YOUTHS

"We don't need package stores," a business man said, "not with liquor trucks wending their way through Town. If the teenage kids are going to sneak booze why should we make it handy for them? I for one am a little tired of seeing kids parked in cars on the Common drinking beer right out in public. And it's still going on!"

One business man and lifetime resident of the Town had mixed feelings on the subject: "I don't think we ought to have it. It would be a bad influence. We can buy it in Woburn any way. Now, all this talk about reducing the tax rate. How much would package stores reduce the taxes on my house? When you talk taxes, you're talking peanuts, mister. Now I'm a drinker. I like to have it. But if I want it, I can get it out of Town."

Rep. Harrison Chadwick

A PREVIEW IS EMERGING

PREVIEW. My opponent for State Representative has been publishing ads for the past four weeks. Since he has no record in elective office, and is unknown to most of the people in this district, this is the first chance we have had to see what he might be like if entrusted with the responsibility of representing us in the General Court.

SPEND, SPEND, SPEND. In his advertisement last week, he indicates he would vote for every well-intentioned measure no matter what the cost. He excoriates me for voting against six bills—one a violation of home rule, and the others laudable but financially indefensible. For instance, I have favored a system of public junior colleges. Because we already have a State Board of Education that could handle this job, I voted against setting up an additional board for the establishment of such colleges. My opponent says this was wrong. Anyhow, the Democrats chose to do it the expensive way, and my opponent got one of the needless jobs that were created in connection with this unnecessary new agency.

MATURITY, JUDGMENT AND COURAGE? Massachusetts has the highest per capita debt in the country, and the next generation will have to pay off most of it. Our annual state budgets, reeking with extravagance, have risen precipitously. The disclosures from the recent investigations amply illustrate this. Although my opponent may not realize it, the days of high, wide and handsome spending in this state have got to stop. This is no time for a theoretical or short pants approach to the problems of government. The preview seems to divulge that, at 28 years of age, my opponent lacks the maturity or judgment or courage to vote down laudable proposals when we cannot afford them.

WHAT HAS HE DONE? My opponent's favorite slogan, speaking of himself, is that he "Gets Things Done." I think it is fair to ask what things he is talking about. What services has he performed locally for this town? What has he contributed to making Winchester the oasis of good government that it is? What policy decisions at the state level has he entered into? What demonstrated leadership can he point to? In truth, what has he done?

DISTORTION OF THE FACTS. Last week I pointed out that my opponent did not tell the whole story about the Metropolitan Sewerage Assessments. Now he states I filed a bill making it legal to sell real estate on Sundays. He neglects to tell that this bill was filed "by request," which is the procedure used when the courtesy of filing a bill is granted to a citizen, but the member who files it is opposed to the legislation. So he has distorted the facts again, and it appears we are getting another preview of what to expect if my opponent is elected to office.

MORALITY IN GOVERNMENT is today the foremost issue confronting the voters in Massachusetts. I should like to hear my opponent's views on cleaning up the state government. I would also be glad to discuss some of the other big issues before us, instead of always the minutiae my opponent has chosen as the battle ground. Let's get the campaign on a higher level, Mr. Costello.

Ted O'Rourke Leaves Town

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. O'Rourke of Pond Street with their daughter, Tina, and sons, Teddy, Kevin and Brian, left Winchester Monday to take up residence in Yarmouth, Maine. Mr. O'Rourke goes to a new position, that of doing sales and promotion for Mt. Washington TV Channel 8 out of Portland.

While in Portland recently arranging for his new position, "Ted" ran into his former high school teacher, Ray Hayward, who is now living on Chebeague Island and was in Portland with a petition seeking the construction of a bridge from Chebeague to the main land. Mr. Hayward has been devoting a good portion of his time to the bridge campaign.

Many in Winchester will learn of "Ted's" leaving with regret and are wondering what is now to become of that outstanding singing duo of "Ted" and his brother, "Phil".

No one can sing "McNamara's Band" like those boys and if Channel 8 is ever short of talent, they could do a lot worse than putting on the O'Rourkes, who have entertained countless audiences in and around Winchester. Good luck, "Ted"!

Minute Man Branch of B. U. Women's Guild

Members of the Minute-Man Branch of the Boston University Women's Guild have been invited to a pair of musicales and teas on October 25 and 26 at the home of Mrs. Harold C. Case, wife of the president of Boston University.

The Collegium Musicum of the School of Fine and Applied Arts will perform under the direction of Karl Geiringer selections from Joseph Haydn's opera "Orlando Paladino." This "drama eroicocomico" had a tremendous success during Haydn's lifetime but is unknown today. The performance—the first one in this country—will be based on material which Dr. Geiringer found in the Haydn Archives of Budapest, Hungary, while attending the international Haydn Conference last year.

Mrs. James T. Sullivan, 19 Ridgefield Road, will assist as hostess at the teas.

The Minute-Man Branch welcomed new members with a dessert-coffee at the home of Mrs. Arnold Relman of Lexington on October 6. Dean George Makechnie of Sargent College of Physical Education and acting dean of the School of Fine and Applied Arts spoke concerning the close inter-relatedness of the two colleges he administers, and further, their relationship with other colleges within the university.

Area Chairman Mrs. George Estey welcomed as a new member from Winchester Mrs. Stuart Grout, 2 Park Avenue. Her husband has been appointed assistant to the vice-president on academic affairs.

Guest Speaker

Mr. David Connors of Wedgemere Avenue a partner of the Boston Accounting firm of John Carruthers & Company, was guest speaker at the annual Young Mens' Conference of the American Institute of Laundering in Washington last week. His subject was "Bookkeeping by Automation" a new development in accounting for smaller business through the utilization of electronic equipment.

Democratic Town Committee Reports

At an almost 100 percent meeting of the committee held Monday evening in the East Hearing Room Town Hall, several pertinent matters were discussed and acted upon.

The first motion passed was to thank the Park Board for the use of the Loring Avenue Field for Saturday's parade activities; the second motion made and passed was a thank you to the Selectmen who granted the license for the parade; the third expressed the gratitude the Democrats feel for the fine police coverage at the field and the cruiser escort to the Medford line.

It was also voted to have Sec John Hogan write to J. Henry Goguin, commissioner of public safety, thanking him for the state police escort. This fine car, with its chauffeur, Ray Riposa, added much to the success of the parade. At each town boundary the motorcade was met by a police cruiser or motorcycle representing the town being traversed.

The Democratic Town Committee felt a sense of pride as it welcomed its top state candidates, Joe Ward for governor and Tom O'Connor for senator, John Driscoll for treasurer, Bill Madden for Congress and Larry Corcoran for state senator. A fine round of applause greeted the brief remarks of our local candidate, Jack Costello, candidate for representative in this district. Chairman Elizabeth McDonald of the Town Committee introduced the speakers.

The motorcade was reported "a huge success" as it bowled along through town after town, stopping in each for brief remarks in appointed localities where local Democratic chairmen and large crowds of their followers gave warm greetings and cool drinks to the voyagers. It was the town hall steps at Belmont, Chairman Andy Keliher doing the honors; the historic Villiage Green in Lexington, with Dan Fenn, Jr., in command; and Chairman Phil Corbett and his welcoming group at Democratic headquarters in West Concord.

And along the beautiful country roads with their gorgeous fall foliage the enthusiastic Democratic workers rode, stopping for meetings at Carlisle, Maynard, and finally, at Sudbury, reaching the end of the trail. Here Russ McMackin, Democratic chairman, welcomed the happy travelers and, after the speaking, bade all the guests to line up at a trailer to partake of delicious refreshments, onion soup, lobster sandwiches, coffee and cold drinks.

It was a wonderful experience, thanks to the initiative and drive of two great young Democratic chairmen, Dan Fenn and Phil Corbett.

Most of the committee members and other local citizens met later on Saturday evening at the John Zamparelli reception for Joe Ward in Masonic Hall, Medford. The overflow crowd admitted only of filing in and out, being received by Mr. Zamparelli and his charming wife. Thus the Winchester and Woburn groups left before Joe Ward and Tom O'Connor arrived.

Monthly Meeting Of Jr. Mrs.

The Jr. Mrs. of the First Congregational Church will hold its monthly meeting in Chidley Fireside on Tuesday, October 25, at 8 p.m. with guest speaker, Mrs. Zimmerman, who will speak on "Brotherhood in the Southern Hemisphere."

Mrs. Zimmerman accompanied her husband for a period of six months while travelling under the Fulbright Scholarship in Peru. A glimpse of the country and of the people and customs promises to be an exciting evening well worth remembering. It is earnestly urged that all members make every effort to attend and acquaint themselves with our southern neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sarto Walsh (Debbie Symmes) are returning to town, having bought the Lanigan house on Mystic Avenue. Mr. Walsh, a former Winchester High all-around athlete, played football and baseball at Harvard and also played professional baseball.

Winchester Historical Society

At the Winchester Library on Thursday, November 3, the speaker of the meeting of the Winchester Historical Society will be the well-known Richard F. Lufkin of West Medford, who will give an illustrated lecture entitled "Abraham Lincoln in Boston."

Mr. Lufkin is president of the Bostonian Society, and an officer in the following: Lincoln Group of Boston, Bay State Historical League, Medford Historical, and Bay State Camp '61, Sons of Union Veterans, and of the Massachusetts Civil War Centennial Commission. He is also a member of the Council of the Freedom Trail, Boston.

This should be a most interesting evening.

"Mum" Is NOT the Word

The theme of the Wyman Parents' Associations annual fall dance is the "Floral Fling," but despite the season that doesn't necessarily mean you should expect a broad array of chrysanthemums adorning the Wyman School Auditorium on dance night, say Mrs. Richard Bannister, chairman of decorations. Flowers of any variety, including, no doubt, a few innovating introductions to the annals of horticulture may contribute to the spirit and decor of this festive occasion on Saturday evening, November 5. Tickets are $2.50 per couple and may be obtained from tickets mothers or by calling Mrs. Robert Byford, ticket chairman, PA 9-6359.

"Mum" is most certainly not the word when it comes to spreading news of the "Floral Fling." The word is out—pass it on!

Cadillac

The unmistakable stamp of Greatness!

In commerce, as in art, it is rare indeed that a creation emerges so inspired in concept and so flawless in execution that it is destined, from the very beginning, for certain greatness.

And yet, it seems not too soon to say that the Cadillac car of 1961 will take its place among the most memorable of the peak achievements of the automotive craft.

Its clean, classic form introduces a new look for the world's motor cars to emulate. There's a new proportion of glass to steel . . . a new "oneness" of contour and shape . . . an entirely new relationship of interior to silhouette.

Inside, the story is equally remarkable. Here is new roominess in every dimension. Head room, seat height, and entrance room, for example, have been notably increased with impressive results in greater comfort and luxury.

And as its beauty is . . . so its performance does —incredibly nimble and quick . . . smooth and floating . . . quiet and obedient in operation.

Cadillac's new engine is the very essence of controlled power . . . steering is feather light and sure . . . and its new ride seems to make the roadway vanish beneath the wheels.

This is one car you must see and drive for yourself. The facts are simply too numerous and too exciting to accept second hand.

It's the 1961 Cadillac—and we know you'll agree that greatness is written all over it.

Winchester Duplicate Bridge

The Winchester High School team of James Bradley and Alvin Swonger, second place finishers in a large "scrambled" Mitchell movement on October 5th, crashed through to the top position, North-South in Section A on Wednesday, October 12, at Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club.

Next in line were Peg Elwell and Anita Stewart, followed in third place by Mr. and Mrs. A. Kleinbecker.

East-West winners in Section A were Greta Hawley and Nancy Atkinson, using the Kaplan-Sheinwald bidding system.

Helen Dyson and Donna Redpath were second, and Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, third.

Section B. North-South winners were Blair Hawley and Nelson Bell, with Joy Woolley and M. Merriam a close second. East-West top pair were Jim Coon and Bob Pritchard. Jo Dingwell and Ann Wild came in second.

In addition to association with the victory of Greta Hawley and Nancy Atkinson in Section A, East-West, the Kaplan-Sheinwald system accounted for a top score on a hand in Section B — but strictly through a fluke (or "dumb luck," if you prefer!) The hand:

North
♥ A 9 7 3 2
♦ 10 9 4 3
♣ A 9 5 3

West
♠ A K 8
♥ K 8 5
♦ A K 8 2
♣ K 8 7

East
♠ 9 7 3 2
♥ Q J 10 4
♦ Q J 7 6 5
♣

South
♠ Q J 10 8 5 4
♥ 6

North dealer passed as did East. South, sensing a powerful hand in the West position, elected to make a psychic opening bid of two clubs.

Now, in the Sheinwald system, all opening two-bids are pre-emptive, showing 9 to 11 points, including those based on distribution, with a six-card trump suit—except the two club opener. The latter is the "real McCoy" — equivalent of the Goren two-demand bid. West, not to be bluffed, doubled the two club bid for take-out.

North, forgetting about the special meaning of South's two-bid in clubs, interpreted it as the weak pre-empt, and raised to three clubs to try to shut East out (actually, he should have jumped at once to four or five clubs to carry out the Sheinwald theory). East did pass, and so, naturally, did South. But West wasn't through yet, and bid three no-trump, which was passed around to south. The latter, sure of good trump support from North, and probably freakish distribution too, bid four clubs. West doubled, in a firm tone.

The contract cannot be set by any defense. In the play, West chose to lead the king of spades. This tipped off declarer as to the location of the other high spade. And so not one of all those high cards in the West hand was able to take a trick! Let us hasten to add that West is not to be criticized for the lead.

Almost everyone would pick the spade king as the best opener. It ought to be one or the other of the ace-kings, and the hand has three spades in all against four diamonds As we said, this one is strictly a fluke. North's normal response to South's two-club "demand bid," if he felt inclined to come in over the take-out double, would be in hearts, which would tend to discourage South.

Other than at this one table, West played the hand at three—no-trump, making from four to six, depending on the opening lead. With a club opening by North—likely only if South has bid clubs—West can be held to three no-trump, but cannot be set. South has to protect spades while finding five discards on diamonds, and cannot keep enough clubs to defend the contract when North gets in via the heart ace and leads a club.

East-West in Section B got their revenge on another hand wherein the power was all North-South but the distribution made it difficult to find the right contract:

North
♠ K 6 5 4
♥ K 5
♦ A 9 4
♣ Q 5 3 2

West
♦ K 7 6 2
♣ J 10 8 7 4

East
♠ 10 9 8 7 3
♥ Q 3
♦ Q J 10 8 5 3
♣

South
♠ A Q J
♥ A J 10 7 6 2

Gerry Lawrence and Betty Yeomans found the best answer at seven no-trump, which rolls right in with the fall of the queen of hearts on the second round of that suit. Next best score was six no-trump, making seven. A four heart contract also raked in all the tricks. But two teams wound up in spades, one at six, the other at four.

On account to the five-one opposing dsitribution, both made only four. Poetic justice, the over-optimistic spade slam bidders were the same pair that fell into the good luck of the hand previously described, the Hawley-Bell combination.

Summer Outings Studio Guild

During the long, summer holidays, the Studio Guild improved the days in a new and unique way. From four to fifteen members traveled back and forth over New England, making weekly visits to country homes, sometimes for a day's outing, sometimes spending one or two nights.

Everywhere were paintable scenes and everywhere was a warm welcome and a delightful visit among congenial friends. These "painting parties" proved valuable. There was plenty of time to observe each other's work and to discuss and analyze techniques of color composition and so forth, and plenty of time to finish pictures. Many pictures came back to the studio in the fall for criticism by the teacher, Bill Maynard.

This artist has proved over the years an inestimable help to these "Sunday painters." He has an unusually perceptive eye which fastens unerringly on mistakes and faults.

Always genial, tactful and full of humor, his criticisms are kindly and amusing as well as brusque and to the point. Occasionally he demonstrates some technique by painting a picture. Often he brings examples of his own delightful work for the class to study at leisure.

The members of the Studio Guild consider themselves fortunate to have so valuable a teacher.

Now you can letter your own signs or posters and do a real professional job. Stencil letters from 1 to 6 in., assorted sizes, brushes and stencil paste, everything you need. At the Winchester Star.

Mental Health Centers?

Reports of the new commonwealth plan for "Multi-Purposed Community Mental Health Centers" and of the Harvard-Radcliffe student aid program at the Metropolitan State Hospital at Waltham, will highlight the fourth annual Mental Health Conference of the Massachusetts Association for Mental Health next Tuesday, October 25, at the Hotel Bradford, Boston. This is sponsored locally by the Winchester MHA.

"The Importance of the Family Physician in Community Mental Health," is to be the keynote speech at the dinner meeting that evening, completing a day of discussions by physicians, clergymen, educators, and others in the caretaking professions as well as citizen volunteers who will come from all over the state to represent this rapidly growing health movement.

Opening at 9:30 a.m. will be a panel on "Emerging Patterns" led by Dr. Erich Lindeman of the Harvard Medical School and the Massachusetts General Hospital. This features Dr. Robert W. Hyde, assistant commissioner of mental health, on the community center plan, and Miss Judith Ferris of Radcliffe on the student project as well as Mrs. Gordon P. Thompson of Arlington, past president of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association, speaking on "Citizen Leadership."

Subsequent workshops in both morning and afternoon sessions will develop from all participants' ideas for 1961 programs among the local associations. And the luncheon meeting will take up the subjects of leadership and news media interpretation.

Working from Winchester to help set up this conference have been Mrs. James Willing, Winchester MHA president, and Mrs. Chester Lane. They urge anyone interested in attending the meetings in part or in whole to contact them or the Winchester area office, the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association office in Lexington, VOlunteer 2-7082, between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Double Doors

When "Double Doors" opened triumphantly in New York, the press and public seemed immediately to sense an analogy between the play and the legend surrounding an old New York family whose fortune was in litigation and surrounded with mystery.

The old family mansion still stands on Fifth Avenue in all its foreboding majesty. The shades are drawn and the house is now empty. The passerby who knows its legend is quite apt to shudder as he looks at its ghostly walls.

It would seem as if Elizabeth McFadden had courageously entered the mansion and surely she has woven an enthralling play around its wraith-like occupants. Evil deeds performed in an aristocratic manner take on a new terror and the character of Victoria Van Bret is as relentless as Fate in the old Greek dramas.

"Double Doors" will be produced at Metcalf Hall on Friday and Saturday, November 4th and 5th, by the Unitarian Players.

Call Mrs. Robert D. Eddy at PA 9-5018 for tickets.

Juliette Low 100th Birthday Party

An invitation is given to the two Julietta Low representatives from each troop to the 100th Birthday Party for Juliette Low on Thursday October 27, 1960, 3:30 p.m. - 4:45 p.m. at the cabin. Leaders are asked to make sure that each troop is represented at this first of six meetings scheduled for Juliette Low Representatives. The girls are asked to wear their uniforms for this occasion. Mrs. Harold Pyne is chairman of Juliette Low meetings.

Girl Scouts have coming soon not one but two birthdays. The one-hundreth anniversary of the birth of our founder, Juliette Low on October 31, 1960 and the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting in the United States, March 12, 1961. It is proposed, therefore, that all Girl Scouts celebrate the two birthdays together, commemorating the past and dedicating themselves to the future. The colors chosen for these golden years are gold and green.

Training

The advanced outdoor workshop will be given October 25 at the cabin from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. if ten people register by October 21.

The Red Cross advanced First Aid will also be given if ten people register by October 21. Mr. Hills is the instructor.

Register for either or both of these events by calling the office. It is hoped that there will be a good registration.

Area Report

The Winchester Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. voted 61-6 to participate in the Area Development Study which is the next step toward the formation of an Area Council in Section I. This vote, by written ballot was 50% of our total adult membership. About 1/3 of those voting for this proposal wanted the Development Committee to study a plan for two councils in Section I. Three delegates from each participating council will serve on the Development Committee, which will hold its first meeting on October 26 in Everett. The Winchester delegates are Mrs. George Kimball, Mrs. Leroy Long and Mrs. Herbert Ross.

"Phil" as he is known by many in our present Winchester High School body was president of Forum in the 1958-59 season and is now a sophomore at Harvard College. Phil has chosen as his subject for the Chapel Service "Why Forum?" During his term as president Forum had an excellent year the highlight of which was the Spring Conference at Pembroke, New Hampshire centering on the theme "Religion In An Age of Science". This will be one of the rare occasions when a former Forum president has returned as guest speaker during his college years and all Forum are looking forward to greeting Phil this Sunday. Al Bonney will be Chaplain with Tom Joiner as Assistant Chaplain. The deacons will be Tom Hinton and Sam Cady with Rick Stewart and Rod Gay as ushers.

The annual Work Day for Christ with Jane McKenney as chairman has been announced for Friday and Saturday, October 28 and 29, the week-end of the Teachers' Convention. Paula Ellison Represents J.H.S. In Sailing Club

Ninth grader Paula Ellison has been representing the Junior High School in the Schools Sailing Club on the Mystic Lakes. This group was organized by Mrs. Philip Hogan of Marblehead, and includes turnabout skippers from secondary schools and college freshmen.

During the season there are several college and out of town meets. At each college meet Mrs. Hogan adds her best secondary school crew of the week. Paula Ellison took part in the club meet at Yale University October 15, and skippered her crew at the Inter-School meet at M.I.T. Wednesday, October 19.

W. B. C. Holds Closing Party

As summer fades into fall, and fall frosts into winter, so, too, does the active summer atmosphere of the Winchester Boat Club drift into dormancy with the changing of the seasons. This year as in every other the members gathered together for one final party, this year October 14.

After a chowder dinner and "community sing," the real business of the meeting began. The officers read their various reports and the voting for next year's officers took place. The results were:

Commodore—John H. Ivers

Vice Commodore—Walter Y. Josephson

Secretary—James A. Newman

Treasurer—Stanley R. Gardiner

Directors — Walter M. Bartell, Clarence S. Borggaard, Richard C. Chase, Warren B. Dannenberg, Robert E. Durfee, George B. Field, James J. Harrington, Everett D. Littlefield, Norman F. Ramsey, T. W. Shidler, Ralph M. Swanson

Next Commodore Swanson awarded the SHU-SHU-GHA trophy to Timothy MacDonald for the most improved "watermanship" Margaret Ramsey, only feminine snipe skipper received the Sidney Burr Trophy for the most improved sailor. The William Hall Memorial Trophy for a senior, who has offered outstanding service to the Boat Club was awarded to Mr. Everett D. Littlefield and a similar trophy for juniors, the Commodore's Trophy, was awarded to Carol Dannenberg. The new Commodore Ivers had the pleasure of awarding a special trophy to Ralph Swanson for his excellent job during the past two years. Ronnie Zenga, a junior, presented Mr. and Mrs. Josephson and Mr. and Mrs. Harrington with a gift as a thank-you from all the juniors for their work as senior advisors.

Following these presentations Mr. Planchet, a make-up artist, from Medford Boat Club performed a most unique and delightful act, making-up seven of the audience as historical, fantastic, or comical characters:

Pat Ramsey as Grandma Moses

J. A. Hollinshead as Emmet Kelly

Vincent Berger as a "bloody" pirate

Alton Jones as Cleopatra

Mrs. Josephson as Miss America of 1961

James Harrington as Henry VIII

Mrs. Swanson as Mammy Yokum.

And so ends another year and a very memorable one at that. But there will be one more important meeting on Sunday October 23 at 3:00 p.m. concerning plans for a swimming pool. Each and every member either for or against the pool should be present. Good-bye for another year!

Harriers Defeat Reading 23-26

JV's Run Victory String to Three Straight

The Red and Black runners, smarting over the Salem loss, bounced back with their best race of the season, October 7, as they posted their second victory over Reading on the home course.

The two teams started over 60 runners and the start saw a real scramble for the early lead. The first half of the course was a fairly even race between Shea, Mead, and Brenner with Beighly and Cavanaugh of the visitors hanging right in with the leaders.

As the last half of the 2.5 mile race began Captain Shea began to put daylight between himself and his pursuers, building about a 75 yard lead over his teammate Phil Mead who finished a strong second.

Both Wincehster runners posted their best times of the season with Shea's 17:4, the fastest time of the year. Beighly and Cavanaugh managed to take the next two positions over Jack Brenner in 5th.

The visitors also took 6th but a strong surge of Red and Black runners, Anderson, Scherban, Gay, Bird, and Siders insured the win.

The JV's posted their third win by a score of 15 to 48 with Siders, 11th in the race, as the top man with teammates Russo, Johnson, Dee, Devaney and Money sealing the victory.

First 15 Varsity Finishers

1, Shea, 17:14; 2, Mead, :24; 3, Beighly (R), :31; 4, Cavanaugh (R), :37; 5, Brenner, :42; 6, Reading, :52; 7, Anderson, :54; 8, Scherban, :58; 9, Gay, 18:04; 10, Bird, :20; 11, Siders, :22; 12, Reading, :27; 13, Reading, :34; 14, Russo, :35; 15, Reading, :39.

Four Represent W. H. S. At Guidance Talks

Representing Winchester High School at the 14th Annual New England Personnel and Guidance Conference held in Manchester, Vermont on October 10 and 11 were Miss Constance Trickett, Mr. Bernard Silva, Mr. John Stevens and Mr. Norton Demsey.

This year's conference centered around a new phase of guidance work, the "underachiever" who are average or above average students not working up to capacity. Panel discussions focusing on subjects such as "Characteristics of the Underachiever," "Emotional and Physical Factors Involved in Underachieving," and "Peer Group Pressures and the Underachiever," were emphasized at this conference.

Three More for Bellino

Winchester Gets By Fighting Lexington, 20-6

An inept Winchester High School football team played just about as well as necessary to defeat a fighting Lexington High team, 20-12, last Saturday afternoon in a Middlesex League game at Parker Field, Lexington. A small crowd saw the game, Lexington turning out few while many in Winchester were at home watching the Navy-Air Force Academy game on TV.

The game was a lot like the Stoneham game with Winchester holding a 14-12 edge going into the final quarter. From the standpoint of suspense the game was a good one though Winchester had all the better of it.

Winchester made 15 first downs to six for Lexington and rushed for 296 yards while limiting the Minute boys to 57. Each team picked up 79 yards in passes, Winchester completing two of six and Lexington, five of nine. Lexington lost 55 yards in penalties while Winchester lost 30. Both teams were hurt badly by these rule infractions. Each team fumbled four times, with Lexington recovering once. Fumbles hurt both the Sachems and Minute boys.

Though the crowd was small Lexington had a lot of spirit, especially in the student body, the cheer-leaders and "pep squad," comprising a large number of girls in blue and gold, forming double lines through which the sprinting Lexington team took the field.

The Minute boys began well. Starting from their 41, and aided by a Winchester offside that gave the home team a first down at Winchester's 46 after a fourth down kick, Lexington drove to a first down inside the Winchester five, eating up the last 30 yards on an Adzigian to Hoffman pass.

This drive nearly ended when Lexington fumbled on second down and Winchester recovered, but the white pants ruled the whistle had blown before the recovery so Lexington retained possession.

Adzigian then passed to Saulnier for the touchdown, but a pass trying for the extra point was knocked down.

Penalties after the ensuing kick-off stymied Winchester, but finally from his own 40 Neville hit Donlon with a pretty pass and Bob, off balance when he grabbed the ball, was pulled down from behind by Saulnier at the Lexington 28.

A back-in-motion penalty slowed Winchester at the Lexington 15 and the Sachems fumbled the ball away at the Lexington 16. On the first play the Minute boys fumbled and this time the Sachems would not be denied.

Flaherty recovered the fumble on the Lexington 17, Bellino picked up two and Hall bulled his way to the five. Here Bellino found a big hole in the right side of the Lexington line and romped over. He also rushed in the two extra points and Winchester led, 8-6.

The first quarter ended shortly after the score and in the opening minutes of the second period, Horn recovered a Lexington fumble at the Lexington 47.

Carter picked up three yards, and then Bellino broke off left tackle, cut back and went all the way to pay dirt, faking the final defender beautifully. Neville failed to sneak for the extra two points.

Shortly before the half Adzigian kicked outside at Lexington's 46, and after short gains by Carter and Geoghegan, Neville hit Tommy Bell and Tommy was nailed just a yard short of the touchdown. Time ran out before a play could be made.

Lexington struck quickly in the third period. Horn received the kickoff and passed off to Bellino on a criss-cross. Mike was hit hard at the 15 and the ball was jarred loose, Lexington recovering at the 15.

Skinner immediately went right up the middle to the Winchester one, and on the next play Skinner slanted off tackle for the score. Adzigian was piled up trying to sneak for the extra points.

Both teams had promising drives halted in the remaining minutes of the third quarter, Winchester by fumbles and Lexington by costly 15 yard penalties.

Soon after the final quarter began Winchester had to kick from deep in its own territory, and Bellino arched a corking spiral far over the heads of the Lexington secondaries that carried from the line of scrimmage at the Winchester 23 to the Lexington 18, a prodigious boot of almost 60 yards.

Lexington for some reason was kicking on third down and after two rushes were ineffective, Adzigian kicked from his 22 to midfield.

Lexington piled up a reverse for a five yard loss, but Bellino on a pitchout reached the Lexington 38, a shoestring tackle by Skinner preventing a score.

Carter picked up three and then Neville shot a quickie out in the right flat to Hall who drove hard into the end zone, only to have the play called back for a man-in-motion penalty against the Sachems.

On the very next play, however, on a pitchout from Neville to Bellino, Mikey went all the way, getting a key block at the corner and simply flying past the secondary with a terrific burst of speed.

Winchester couldn't rush in the extra points, and there was no further scoring though Winchester lost the ball on downs inside the Lexington 10 as the game ended.

Winchester Senior Wins Top Award

MISS NANCY HOFFMAN

Spotlighted at the banquet concluding a two-day Catholic Youth Congress Wednesday evening, October 12, in Arlington Town Hall was Miss Nancy Hoffman. She received the "Veritas et Puritas Award" (Truth and Purity) from an original founder of the Catholic Youth Organization, Bishop Jeremiah F. Minihan, D.D.,LL.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Boston.

Nancy Hoffman is only the fourth youth ever to receive this highest CYO award in the Woburn Deanery which comprises ten towns. As a Youth Council officer, so prominent and popular has been her service in parish and regional affairs from her first days, so charming her role even that very night as toastmistress, that civic and church leaders joined the crowded floor, gallery and stage in a standing ovation.

A senior at Winchester High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hoffman of 38 Pierrepont Road.

Harriers Outrun Revere

The local harriers traveled to Revere October 14 to engage a strong Revere team led by Captain Santos.

The Revere course is a demanding one with a long climb up, a short flat area, and nearly a mile down a series of steep hills. The race got underway as 50 runners battled for the front positions.

The top trio of the home team Santos, Burnett and Anderson forged to an early lead with Shea, Russo, Brenner and Mead of Winchester in challenging positions. As the race dropped into the middle stages Santos and Shea moved out in a two man race to the finish.

Santos, more familiar with his home course, made good use of the downhill run and built a good lead as they entered the track for the final 300 yards. Shea tried to cut down the distance but had to settle for a second about 20 yards behind Santos. The time of 14:11 was the fastest of the season for the Revere course.

Burnett raced in 3rd with Joe Russo on his heels in 4th. Anderson of Revere closed fast to take 6th over Jack Brenner. However, team strength showed here as Winchester took the next eight places to take a 27 to 32 win.

Dave Bird, in 11th was the top JV scorer and he was followed to the finish line by Dee, Gay, Siders, and Devaney. The JV score was a shutout, 15 to 50.

Library Film Program

Four shorter films will constitute the film program at the Library this Friday and Saturday. The feature, Rocks for Beginners, will be of interest to ninth grade students of earth science as well as the young children who come with parents. It indicates that all rocks may be classified into three groups and illustrates certain characteristics of each group which will serve as keys to identification. Another film, The White House Rebuilt, shows the growth of the nation as the reconstruction program on this building is delineated.

Tale of the Fiords tells the story of Little Ragnhild who yearns to find the legendary valley of dreams across the fiord. She skips away from her home and on impulse kicks her milk bucket over the mountainside. The original music score emphasizes the mood of the film. The final picture is an enchanting animated cartoon made from the children's book Harold and the Purple Crayon.

Children attending the Saturday morning Children's Program must be of school age. Friday night is the Family Night Program to which children come with parents. All junior high and high school students are welcome Friday nights. Programs are planned to appeal to all age groups.

"Noah's Ark" By Children's Theater School

Mothers of school age children will be interested to know that the Community School Association, in keeping with its tradition, is once again presenting "live" theater for Winchester children.

The Community School Association is an organization formed of officers from each Parent-Teacher Association throughout the Winchester School system. It concerns itself with matters pertinent to the best interests of the children.

Its president, Mrs. John Sexton, announces that this year's "live" program will not come as usual in October, but in December.

The reason? Instead of an outside production our local Children's Theater group has been chosen to provide the entertainment.

Director of Children's Theater, Mrs. Carlene Murphy Samoiloff, says, the children will be in top form after fall rehearsals culminating in the "Noah's Ark" musical to be given on December 2.

Already the youngsters are busy with rehearsals, including musical interpretations with Mary Ranton Witham assisting. Mrs. Witham's ability in her field is well known to the townspeople.

For a fine resume of the scope of the Children's Theater School we refer you to the interesting article in last week's Star.

The following mothers are taking time from an already full schedule to be on hand November 3rd and 4th, to take care of sales to handle tickets for "Noah's Ark":

Lincoln School: Mrs. Hartley Curtis, Mrs. Fred Hill

Mystic School: Mrs. Edward Byrnes, Mrs. John Della Sventura

Noonan School: Mrs. John L. Sullivan, Mrs. Joseph Shea

Parkhurst School: Mrs. F. Sheppard Holt, Mrs. Murray Bryce

Washington School: Mrs. Roger Griffin, Mrs. Ellis Keene

Wyman School: Mrs. Sydney L. Crook, Mrs. Charles L. Raffi, Jr., Mrs. Elizabeth B. Rutherford

Mrs. Edward S. Murphy, Jr., will have charge of mothers to be on hand to insure order among the children. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Raymond C. Salling. The chairman of the theater committee is Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth, Jr., at whose home the committee will gather for coffee on Tuesday morning, November 1 to make final arrangements.

Our New Teachers

A series of photographs of and interesting facts about new teachers in the Winchester Schools this fall.

MISS MARJORIE EDWARDS

Miss Marjorie Edwards, who is teaching grades five and six at the Noonan School, began teaching in 1943 at Martha's Vineyard. She has had further experience in Haverhill, at New Haven Teachers' College and in Medford.

Born in Dorchester, Miss Edwards graduated from Medford High School in 1939, and from Salem Teachers' College in the class of 1943. She got her Master's Degree in Education from Boston University in 1950.

Miss Edwards lives in Medford, at 5 Ramshead Road. Teaching is evidently her hobby as well as her vocation as she could think of no other activities in which she is especially interested.

Red Raiders, Unbeaten, Real Threat

Winchester Host to Defending Championship Melrose Team

Winchester High takes on a real toughey Saturday afternoon when it meets defending Middlesex League Champion, Melrose, in a league engagement at Manchester Field, commencing at 1:30.

Melrose comes to Winchester unbeaten in four games this fall so its meeting with the Sachems will bring together two undefeated teams. The Red Raiders have beaten Stoneham, 34-14; Lexington 34-6; Belmont, 20-8; and Concord, 20-6.

With the exception of Belmont Melrose and Winchester have met the same teams, Winchester playing Cambridge Latin the day Melrose played Belmont. It is very probable that Melrose's defeat of Belmont rates higher than Winchester's win over Cambridge Latin.

The Sachems opened with a 26-20 win over Concord, then beat Stoneham, 14-6; Cambridge Latin, 38-6; and Lexington, 20-12. On the basis of comparative scores at least Melrose looks to be the better scoring team.

Winchester has been improving each week and last Saturday, against Lexington, showed flashes of good form. Though their score was low, the Sachems outplayed the Minute boys much more than the result would indicate. Winchester lost at least two touchdowns and might have had another, had Bellino's feet not gone out from under him as he was cutting away from the scrimmage with no one between him and pay dirt.

The Sachems' principal trouble this year has been fumbling and penalties. They did better on rule infractions against Lexington, but all but one of their four fumbles were costly, and one of them led to the Lexington's second touchdown.

Winchester can not afford to hand over the ball to a team like Melrose, and Coach Knowlton has been drilling his charges hard, both on ball handling and on staying within the rules.

Melrose's starting lineup will outweigh the Sachems, 180 to 172, or eight pounds a man. The Red Raiders won a heart breaker from Winchester on a quagmire at Melrose last year and the Sachems are out for revenge. They will have to play much better than they have to date to beat the big Red, and it is entirely possible that they will.

Melrose is known as a ground team, but its big quarterback, Kasprzak, a converted end, can throw the ball, if necessary. The Raiders had their football stock considerably improved when two boys who gave up football last year returned to action this fall, strengthening their lineup immensely.

The visitors will be favored Saturday on what both teams have shown to date but there is never anything more dangerous than rating teams on comparative scores. Winchester will field a team against Melrose and will be conceding the visitors nothing. Seats will probably be at a premium for this one so get down early.

Good Day For Danny

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Serieka of Middlesex Street, with their daughter, Mary, went up to Exeter, N. H., Saturday, October 8, to see their younger son, Dannie, former high school football and baseball star, play for the New Hampshire University freshmen against Exeter.

Danny brought the crowd to its feet when he intercepted an Exeter pass to run 70 yards for the game's first touchdown. Danny is playing a halfback on the New Hampshire freshman team.

Last Saturday against Rhode Island freshman, with a heavily taped leg, the "Chief" dashed eighty yards for a touchdown, and also scored another.

Tomorrow afternoon "Dannie" will come to Boston with the New Hampshire frosh to meet the freshmen of Northeastern, with the kickoff at 2 o'clock.

Wins Merit Commendation

Carol Greenleaf Witham, daughter of Mrs. G. Lindrov Witham, II of 75 Bacon Street, and the late Mr. Witham, a senior at Northfield School for Girls, was recently awarded a letter of commendation by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for outstanding performance in the qualifying test given last spring.

Carol went one year to Winchester High. Each year at Northfield she has had a $1,000 scholarship, and has maintained exceptional high marks in mathematics and Latin.

S. O. I. Bowling

At the completion of five weeks of bowling in the Sons of Italy League, Capt. Joe Berardi and his Boston College team still enjoy top rating in the standing. Capt. Joe bowled over 300 for the second successive week to pace his unit to gain three more points.

"Choppers" Gangi, Navy's captain, continued his terrific bowling to again hit the 300 mark and bring his team a very close second in the win column.

"Skitchy" Fiore, captain of Penn, bowled 314 and his team mate, "the Kangaroo Kid," Jeff Gaudioso, hit for 292 to achieve an upset three point victory over Moose Bellino's Yale team.

It is often heard that as a certain player on a team goes, the team goes accordingly. Well that may be so but at the last meeting Tony Saraco hit the pins for a total of 265 (very low for him) and yet his team finished up on the better end of the final score to win three points for the night.

On the other hand "Old Man" Hokie Procopio bowled 240 and his team dropped three points. Being interviewed after the match, Hokie mentioned that he had an off night and did not have his mind on bowling. After all, he was celebrating his wedding anniversary. He did expect some help from his mates but that help never came. However, he claims his team will find the range soon and will offer some trouble to his opponents. Better hurry time is getting short!

And can you imagine this same Hokie trying to pinch hit in two successive innings in a softball game? He tried it last year but was caught up with by umpire Frank Provinzano, also director of the Town Softball League.

Would you like to get a strike on a strike plus nine more on the second strike? Well Tony Lentine did just that and tore the house down. Too bad it came at the end of the string or it could have meant a good challenge for high singles. They say it's better late than never but not in this case.

If you want to see something, you should see Sam Bellino and his "hesitation" step. It's remarkable how he hits the pins (and for good scores). He comes to a complete stop and with the wrong foot in the lead after three or four strides and down go the pins. It really is unbelievable!

The candid camera would certainly find some interesting shots during these matches. For example there's Johnny Dattilo besides the afore-mentioned. Never a match goes by without seeing Johnny glancing skyward yelling "Oh No" (besides counting up to ten) after the ball just can't get out of that gutter or when he hits the "black" pin by mistake. But he does a fine job being responsible for keeping team and individual results during the season. It's no cinch and he does fine.

Since the matches are held Thursday evenings, you will probably be reading this column as the bowlers are in deep concentration aiming that ball. For this evening, all eyes will be focused on a few vital matches. First place Boston College, captained by "Foreman" Joe Berardi meets fifth place Tony "Coach" Saraco's Army team. Then "Choppers" Gangi's second place Navy team takes on 9th place Georgetown, led by "Health Inspector" Mike Saraco. "Moose" Bellino's Yale team, holding third position, is aiming to stop "Skitchy" Fiore's Bates aggregation. This should be the night of all nights!

If you remember, we started a "Who Is It" mystery last week. Several guessed it to be Johnny Paonessa, Joe Berardi, Pucky Perritano and Ted Peluso, but the handsome one mentioned was none other than curve ball artist, Dom "Lefty" Gallello.

The next guess is for one who has the distinction of probably having the biggest pair of feet in the organization. He hasn't broken any bowling records but he keeps people in their places and does have a record of never being on time for any appointments. Who it it?

Attendance prize winners for the past two weeks were Phil Ardagno and "Chick" Giacalone, respectively.

He's For Good Government ... But...
(when it comes to matching talk with action . . .)

"Our Representative" Chadwick
Voted for FREEZE-INS,
The Most Condemned Legislative Practice

HERE'S THE STORY:

On June 29, 1960, 46 members of the State House of Representatives took a strong stand against Freeze-in jobs for three of their former colleagues.

★

Our Representative Chadwick was not among those who stood for the principle of good government.

★

This was not something that slipped by.

★

The issue of Freeze-ins had been raised this year. They had been condemned on all sides. Everyone was watching to see who would act to preserve good government.

★

Our Representative Chadwick's own party leader in the House, Rep. Frank Giles, led the fight against the Freeze-ins.

For a while Rep. Giles had Our Representative with him . . . against Freeze-ins.

Yet when it came to action, Our Representative Chadwick wavered. Then, after a conference on the floor, he voted for Freeze-ins.

★

The vote was not even close. Had he wanted to show his devotion to good government, it would have been very easy . . . of his colleagues did.

What Is a FREEZE-IN?

. . . It's Legislators voting to take care of Legislators . . . sort of a clubby atmosphere . . . Here's how it works: A State Legislator is defeated . . . then appointed to a state job for a limited term . . . just before that term runs out, he puts pressure on his friends in the Legislature . . . if he's been a Good Joe, they pass a LAW stating that that job is his—and only his—for life . . . They freeze him in the job . . . No one can get him out . . . Social Security at our expense at age 40 or 50 . . . That's a Freeze-in. . . .

A Representative Is Elected
To Represent
His Electorate,
NOT
To Represent
Other Representatives
[It's As Simple As That.]

They Condemn FREEZE-INS:

John Harris, political editor of the Boston Globe: "a revival of the spoils system."

Sen. Philip Graham (R): "unconstitutional . . . make them sue to keep those jobs."

Sen. John F. Kennedy: "undemocratic . . . unfair to good workers."

In Fact, the list Is Long:

- John Volpe
- Sen. Saltonstall
- Rep. Frank Giles (R)
- Sen. Eugene Farnam (R)
- Joseph D. Ward
- Gov. Furcolo
- Boston Herald
- Christian Science Monitor

Bellino Paces Navy in A. F. Academy Win

Winchester's Joe Bellino scored three touchdowns in the first half of Navy's game with Air Force Academy last Saturday at Baltimore and the Middies went on to win an easy 35-3 victory.

Bellino scored his first goal on a plunge, his second on a swirling, pivoting, faking run from 15 yards out. His last came on a 25 yard pass from the Navy's passing ace, Hal Spooner.

One of the Baltimore papers devoted an entire half page to the picture of the first Bellino tally. They are very high on Giuseppe in that neck of the woods!

What makes Bellino so valuable to Navy, aside from his sheer running ability, is his ability to pass, or kick the football, his quick kicks having proved an effective Navy weapon while his long and short passes from roll outs keep the defense befuddled.

After last Saturday's game Navy Coach Wayne Hardin told newspaper men Bellino is the best back he has ever seen. High praise, indeed, from one who has been around like the Navy mentor. Winchester supports the Hardin thinking one hundred per cent.

Before the game Joe is said to have told the barber at Annapolis that if Navy did not win and he did not score three touchdowns the barber could cut his hair, in any way he chose.

If the Navy did win and Bellino did tally thrice, the crack halfback agreed to cut the barber's hair himself. Who would be the winner in this case the Star is not prepared to say, never having seen Joe use clippers and shears.

All Winchester got a thrill when the TV roving reporter at the game got Joe and Frank at the field mike after the game. Frank, still slightly ga-ga from that pass interception of his and the ensuing 80 yard run for a touchdown, had little to say, but did flash a big smile and got off a faint hello to the folks back home.

Bellino, in response to a request from the announcer, finally got his helmet off so he could be seen, greeted his folks at Winchester and flashed his patented Bellino grin. Both he and Dattilo met and congratulated the Air Force quarterback, Ron Mayo, for a fine performance.

It was a real thrill for all the Winchester people looking in on the game on TV to see Dattilo's interception and touchdown dash though they worried to see the big end look over his shoulder for possible persuers.

Frank made it all right and the first Navy player to throw a bear-hug on him was his Winchester buddy, Joe Bellino, who couldn't have appeared happier if he had made the run himself.

Dattilo, because of the position he plays, never could hope to get the adulation heaped on Bellino, but he has rejoiced in Joe's good fortune and has given his best to Navy. His best has been a big help to the team and coach! He was literally mobbed by his team mates after his run and given a great ovation by the crowd. He deserved all he got.

Rifle Club Sighting-In Day

The Massachusetts Rifle Association, located at R 290 Salem Street, Woburn, will hold a Sighting-In Day for all hunters of the area on Sunday, October 23. The club range will open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Members of the club will be on hand all day to help hunters properly sight-in their rifles.

The club is offering this opportunity as a public service to hunters in this area as part of a nationwide program conducted by the National Rifle Association. Hundreds of NRA affiliated clubs throughout the country are taking part in this program.

A correctly sighted-in rifle is an important step in safe and accurate shooting and increases the percentage of clean kills, says Mr. Einar P. Matson, president of the Massachusetts Rifle Association. Familiarization firing and knowledge of the point of impact of the gun being used adds safety, success and enjoyment to the fine sport of hunting.

Detailed information on sighting-in techniques and firing points for zeroing in will be available at the range. Hunters are requested to have all firearms unloaded and actions open when entering the range area.

To help defray range expenses, a nominal fee will be charged.

WINCHESTER JUNIOR HIGH STUDENTS ON WEEI. Asking the experts, "Why they should attend a junior college?" students of Winchester Junior High School took part in a "Careers for Teenagers" program over WEEI on Sunday, October 16, from 9:30 to 10:00 p.m. The students are Laurie McLean and Lance Grenzebach. Laurie is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. McLean of 19 Grove Street. Lance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Grenzebach of 16 Mason Street. The experts are: Richard C. Howland, dean of men, Dean Junior College, Franklin; Miss Dorothy M. Anderson, dean of girls at Belmont High School and president of the Massachusetts Association of Deans of Women; Norton E. Committee Of Safety Chapter, D. A. R.

Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, regent of the Committee of Safety Chapter, D.A.R., presided at the meeting on Monday, October 17, at the Jason Russell House, property of the Arlington Historical Society.

There were two guests: Mrs. Herbert W. Jackson, state chairman of The Flag of the United States of America; and Mrs. Robert G. Sisson, regent of Menotomy Chapter, D.A.R., Arlington.

After devotionals, Mrs. Kingman P. Cass, Correct Use of Flag, displayed the 50-star flag for dedication, assisting Mrs. Jackson, the guest of honor, in the service. Mrs. Jackson later spoke on the use of the flag.

There were a number of reports one of the most interesting and timely on National Defense by Mrs. Paul F. Stoneman. Mrs. William W. Goodhue reported on the state meeting in late September at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

After the meeting the chapter went in two groups to tour the restored Revolutionary farm house, with its interesting exhibits.

Jason Russell and 11 other Colonial patriots, lying in wait for the Britist marching along Massachusetts Avenue, were surprised by a band of the enemy coming across the fields in the rear. They were captured and killed. The survivors retreated to the cellar, where they were able to drive off the British and escape, but the bullet marks can still be seen in the stairs.

Cider and doughnuts were served after the tour of the house by the tea committee, Mrs. Michael Macdonald, Jr., Mrs. Harry D. Locke, and Mrs. Kingman P. Cass.

In politics, you get both sides in The Globe

Now things are really starting to warm up in the Presidential race. Republicans are throwing charges at Democrats, and Democrats are tossing them right back. Fingers are being pointed, names named, claims made, statements denied.
On these things will depend the next four years of your life. And just maybe the existence of our whole nation.
This is why you must read The Globe during the campaigns. You get all the facts in The Globe, and you get them straight. The Globe has no political leanings, no lop-sided, down-the-line GOP or Democratic view of the race. Its only bias is in favor of good, complete, reporting. From on-the-scene Globe men like L. L. Winship, John Harris, Robert Healy and C. R. Owens. And from the women's side — Doris Fleeson, Mary McGrory and Eleanor Roosevelt. From no-nonsense analysts like Walter Lippmann, Joseph Alsop and Roscoe Drummond. From all the Globe writers.

Correction

Last week's editorial on sidewalks for the west side hill district as a safety measure for school children of the area mentioned only the new Johnson Road school, which of course, is not as yet complete. The need for sidewalks to get children safely to the Parkhurst School would be equally pressing for these children and it is unfortunate that the editorial neglected to mention this school which has been in use for some years now.

Musical At Home for Aged

On October 12th, the family at the Home enjoyed a pleasant tea and program of music. The tea was prepared by Anne Clark and Lee Marks with the supervision of one of the board members. The members of the family seemed to enjoy the graciousness of their young hostesses.

Following the tea Miss June Moffette, Mrs. Roger Wood, both of Winchester, and Mrs. Frederick Brown of Reading presented a delightful program of songs. It was very apparent that both the tea and the music had added a great deal to what otherwise might have been a quiet holiday afternoon.

Dear friends,

The general public is interested, we believe, in funeral costs. Unfortunately, the expensive funerals are most apt to become public knowledge, and that creates a wrong impression.

The question of price should always be governed by the family's finances. The selection can be high, medium, or low, and the decision is left entirely with the family.

We earnestly discourage extravagance.

Respectfully,

Wednesday evening testimonial meeting at 8:00 o'clock.

Reading Room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Sunday, October 23.

The practical significance for today of Christ Jesus' victory over death will be brought out at Christian Science churches Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death."

Scriptural readings will include the following: "Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils. . . . Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen" (Mark 16:9,14).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read (46:20-24): "Jesus' unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave."

Will be observed with special service and an appropriate sermon by the Rev. Mr. Clay.

In the afternoon the members of both the Junior High and Senior Youth Fellowships will canvass the community in behalf of UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund). Instead of "Trick or Treat" they ask you to give so that privation and suffering may be relieved among children in many lands. The young people will leave the church at 3 o'clock and return at 5:30 for refreshments and a social hour followed by a Devotional Service and pictures.

College Club Guest Night

The annual fall guest night of the Winchester College Club will be held on Monday evening, October 24, in the parish hall of the Crawford Methodist Church. Coffee will be served at 7:45. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University, who has chosen as his topic "The Emerging Features of Tomorrow's Higher Education."

A native of Northeast Harbor, Maine, Dr. Knowles received his bachelor's degree from Bowdoin College. He did graduate work at Harvard and Boston University, receiving his master's degree from the latter. During the war years, he directed the war-training program for Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Later, as vice-president of Cornell, he managed that university's $12.5 million development fund.

In 1951, Dr. Knowles became president of the University of Toledo in Ohio, remaining there until last year when he became Northeastern's third president. Before assuming this post, he had served on the faculty of Northeastern and for three years as dean of its College of Business Administration.

Dr. Knowles has received honorary degrees from Bowdoin College, Northeastern University, Emerson College, and just this month a doctor of laws degree from the University of Toledo in recognition of his outstanding service there.

In his inaugural address at Northeastern, Dr. Knowles emphasized his belief in "cooperative education and special service education for industry." With this in mind, Monday evening's meeting should prove most enlightening and challenging to all those who have an interest in higher education and its future.

This is an open meeting and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested people.

Hebrew Speaker At Men's Supper

The Fishers-of-Men will again feature an outstanding speaker at the next supper-meeting on Tuesday evening, October 25, in The Church of the Open Bible, corner of Montvale Avenue and Greenwood, in Woburn. Mr. Al Brickner, now associated with Israel's Remnant, Inc., will speak on the subject "Christ and the Jew" and will relate his own experience of conversion to Jesus Christ.

All men are cordially invited. The supper-meeting begins promptly at 7 p.m. Early reservations may be obtained by calling WE 3-0405.

Time Flies For Stickers

Today Registrar Riley ordered his inspectors to place inspection reminder cards under the windshield wipers of parked automobiles which do not display the 1960 yellow inspection sticker.

The registrar took this action in an effort to reduce the usual last-minute rush on the inspection stations later in the month.

Visiting Nurse Board Met

The Winchester Visiting Nursing Association board meeting was held in the Rich Room of the library on Friday, October 14.

Mrs. Thomas Purtle, president, presided. A report was given by the chairman of publicity, Mrs. Sidebotham, on the film "Time and Two Women." This film will be shown at the Unitarian Church, November 29, and at the First Congregational Church, January 19.

In her report Mrs. Wicklund said that the nurses have made 3800 visits in the past year. She attended meetings recently at Cushing Hall, Boston College. She also attended the United Fund luncheon, where Mrs. Patrick, our former president, was the speaker. She also gave a report on the summer polio program, which was very successful.

Mrs. Wicklund will teach a class for expectant mothers, and fathers, for the Red Cross starting next Wednesday. She also spoke at the Newton Junior College on Public Health Nursing. There is a course in advanced training at the Metropolitan State Hospital on the children's unit there.

We had the pleasure of hearing from Sister Desmond, who is getting her field training here with the staff. She expects to go to Africa as a medical missionary. She spoke briefly on the work she hopes to do, setting up clinics and working in the hospitals.

Dr. Gilson, superintendent of schools in Winchester, then spoke on special services in our schools. The task is to provide each child who attends our schools with the means of getting the best education according to his or her ability, both mental and physical. They have guidance counseling to enable each child to get the best education possible.

He said that the child who has had polio or is physically handicapped may have special tutoring. Winchester was the first in Massachusetts to install a two-way telephone, which enables the child to hear the classroom work and talk with the teacher.

Dr. Gilson paid tribute to the fine work the Middlesex Mental Health Clinic is doing. They are trying to raise standards in all of our Winchester schools, and from now on all students will have to work harder.

Invitation To Nurses

An invitation is extended to all registered nurses from Winchester and surrounding communities to attend the October meeting of the Professional Nurses' Group on Thursday, October 20, at 8 p.m. at the Choate Memorial Nurses' Home in Woburn.

Dr. Leonard Short of Lexington will be guest speaker. His subject, New Trends in Anaesthesiology. An interesting evening is planned with films on Burma and India.

Take this opportunity to meet your fellow nurses and become acquainted with the latest medical techniques.

Hostesses Eleanor Gaffney of Woburn and Lois Meserve of Burlington will provide refreshments. For additional information call BR 2-1442.

Finger In The Pie

Editorial Comment

Someone who fails to thrill at my presence recently labeled this column a "hodge-podge." (I suspect with a little more imagination my friend (?) would have termed it, by way of further compliment, "what the cat brought in!")

When a critic-reviewer called a volume of Somerset Maugham's short stories "the mixture as before," he promptly used that title for his next volume. Perhaps it's a bit late to change "Finger in the Pie" to "Hodge-Podge," but conceivably it might not be amiss. The dictionary, however, defines "hodge-podge" as a mixture (which this column certainly is) but a mixture, I gather, thrown together haphazardly, with no definite scheme or method of selection (which it is NOT). Accept my assurance that—mixture or no—it is most carefully compiled, and the portions personally written most thoughtfully committed to paper.

A National Obsession

The sight of at least fifteen more or less elaborate crossword puzzle magazines in the racks at the local Paper Store brings to mind the strange history of these intriguing little brain-teasers. On an afternoon way back in 1913 Arthur Winn, an employee of the New York World (position unknown), in lieu of anything better at the moment, concocted his humble masterpiece from a recollection of word squares in a juvenile paper he had known as a child in England. He did it in an idle hour, to fill a vacant space, and certainly with no slightest anticipation of its popular appeal. Makeup men and proofreaders were thoroughly disgusted with this strange typographical creature, and hopefully predicted its early demise. Subscribers and readers, however, seized upon it and quickly developed an insatiable appetite for more and more and more! Today, crossword puzzles, double acrostics, and their ilk appear in countless papers and journals, some of avowed literary content, and are indispensable features of the journalistic landscape, both in this country and in England. Incidentally, they provide one with a vast fund of haphazard, and in the main useless, information! We venture to feel, however, that any improvement in one's vocabulary should be listed on the credit side.

If by chance you deem yourself a crossword puzzle connoisseur, wise in the tricks of the trade, some day give your mind an extra fillip by trying to construct one! Here is a task worthy of your mettle (We know, for we've tried!) Such being the case, the interesting speculation arises as to just where and how, and by whom, the scores of excellent puzzles in these magazines originate. We are unable to throw light on this subject, but cannot help wondering if crossword puzzle construction is not an art that can be learned and practised—and is so being done—to the financial profit of those engaged in it.

Musings of a Week-ender

Mrs. Worthington's bathroom is yellow,
Mrs. Rosenberg's bathroom is pink,
Mrs. Zelma Van Zile uses opaline tile,
Mrs. Klotz has a cloisonne sink;
Mrs. Brown uses purples and crimsons
Mrs. White uses silvers and greens,
And it seems slightly rude to appear in the nude
In the midst of such colorful scenes!

Fantasia

Suppose—just for the fun of it—that at each meeting of the General Assembly or the Security Council there was a large thermometer, supernaturally controlled, in one corner of the hall which would consistently flash white when the truth was being told and red when a lie was in progress. What, under these conditions, would happen to Russian propaganda—what, in fact, would happen to the Russians themselves? One thing is certain; they would be sailing most of the time under their true—and chosen—color!

Pet Peeve — Previews

We can't forget the spectacle of two nice little girls and their brothers—none of them over the age of five— who came with their mother ten minutes early for a viewing of "Pollyanna," and who sat patiently, and wonderingly, while ten minutes of sex, violence, and human degeneracy were paraded before them on the screen.

Tidbits

Refrigerator: a place where you store leftovers until they are old enough to throw out.

Dictatorship: a system of government where everything that isn't forbidden is obligatory.

Nowadays it is considered a good idea to marry young, and have a congenial roommate at college.

Life is what happens to us when we are making other plans.

An ancient cemetery in Vermont was transferred to a new location. All consents had been obtained except in the case of a comparatively new grave. The occupant had been buried only seventy years, and had two elderly grandnephews still living. One of them refused consent for a long time, but finally gave in, although he would have nothing to do with the business of transfer. After it was over, the two old brothers were sitting on the front porch and the following dialogue ensued:

"Did they?"
"Yep."
"Were you thar?"
"Yep."
"How was the box?"
"Purty nigh gone."
"Coffin?"
"Sorta moldy."
"D'ja look in?"
"Yep."
"How was Uncle John?"
"Kinda poorly."

Hills Actually Have Left For Puerto Rico

Fun-loving Fred Hill left for Puerto Rico Tuesday, where he will stay with Mrs. Hill at La Concha Hotel as a guest of the York Corporation.

"I look forward to this visit with genuine enthusiasm," the genial salesman of the Winchester Appliance Co. told the Star in an exclusive interview. "And, of course, I have not revised my decision not to see Castro about a color TV set at this time."

Affable Fred told the Star that he looked forward to returning to the Caribbean area. "People are people there," Fred quipped happily.

Fred visited Nassau in 1956, pre-Castro Cuba in 1957, Jamaica in 1958, and Nassau, once again, in 1959. Essentially an internationalist, Fred denies rumors that when he got off the plane at Ocho Rios, Jamaica, wearing his brown and white shoes in 1958, the natives, swarming about the plane said: "Yankee, go home."

College Club Art Group

The Worcester Museum of Art will be visited by the College Club Art Group on Friday morning, October 21st at 11:00 o'clock. An outstanding exhibition of paintings by the celebrated artist, Georgia O'Keeffe will be on view, and Mrs. Levinson of the Museum staff will give the gallery talk about them.

Many authorities rate Georgia O'Keeffe as the greatest living woman artist, and it is a rare opportunity for the Art Group to be able to see her works and hear them discussed.

There will also be an opportunity to have a guided tour of the beautiful Worcester Museum and to see the permanent collections on display.

Directions for reaching the Museum: Follow route 9 into Worcester. After entering the city, still follow route 9 over the hills and down into Lincoln Square, where there is a large traffic circle. Follow 9 around the right of the circle and immediately you will be in front of the Worcester Auditorium.

At that point turn right, go two-tenths of a mile, still on route 9, until you come to Lancaster Street. You are then in front of the Museum. Turn left on Lancaster Street and park in the parking lot at the back of the Museum, or on the street. The group will meet in the front lobby promptly at 11:00 o'clock. You should plan to leave Winchester by 9:15.

This Art Group is sponsored by the Winchester College Club, but is open to anyone who is interested in visiting an Art Museum once each month. If you have not registered, but wish to join, come to the Worcester Museum on Friday and join there.

Taking a quick look ahead, we are glad to announce the following: On November 18th this group will see an exhibition of paintings by Andrew Wyeth at the Hayden Gallery in the Hayden Library at M.I.T. There will be an opportunity also to see the new modern auditorium and unique chapel which are nearby.

At Tufts Council Meeting

Six Winchester residents attended a meeting of the Tufts Alumni Council, of which they are members on Sunday, October 16, on the Tufts University campus. They were Mrs. Lester H. Armstrong, 34 Pleasant Street; Mrs. James B. L. Lane, 8 Ardley Road; Mrs. Earle F. Littleton, 14 Cranston Road; Mrs. Ralph M. Manning, 11 Yale Street; Mrs. Howard L. Leary, 48 Westland Avenue; and Dwight E. Bellows, 2 Lantern Lane.

Customized Auto Kits, Model Ships, Now Available at the Hobby Shop

At the Hobby Shop on 43 Thompson Street you can buy models of U. S. autos. These kits are a barrel of fun, with models of each outstanding car, which you assemble yourself.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riley, who run this amazing little shop, make it a point to stock everything from hot rods to jets, in a somewhat miniature form of course! This is really a modeler's mecca, for you can find ready-to-assemble models of ships as varied as the Graf Spee, the Cutty Sark, the S. S. United States and the Robert E. Lee.

Also available are two very popular items: (1) The Visible Man, voted "model of the year." This fine transparent model, complete with all model parts of the body, has been used by doctors, and is an excellent device for teaching youngsters their biology; and (2) the "HO" locomotives at an unbelievably low price. Modelers, this is a must for you to see, and that's all we're saying about it.

Do you like to paint by number? Everyone can at least feel like Rembrandt, thanks to this device, and now a delightful set of African masks has been added, that you can paint yourself in eerie jungle colors.

"Dinky Toys" are also on sale at the Hobby Shop, everything in army trucks, tanks, jets, tractors with little men seated on them and, well—you name it, and it's there.

You can also buy a mosaic set, which makes an ancient craft a breeze. This is really educational because even if you don't produce a masterpiece, your appreciation of the work of masters and the problems they face and solve is immeasurably enhanced.

Hobby Shop has very popular models of planes, including the fast-selling L-19, and antique autos. Also on hand: models of houses and factories, and games, including Scrabble, Concentration, Easy Money, and "Bat Masterson."

What's more you can make progress on your needlepoint technique with a fine kit at the Hobby Shop, and learn leather crafts with another handy little kit.

And here's a tip to budding young scientists: The Hobby Shop has a fine chemistry laboratory set, too.

Make your leisure hours count for fun and education at the same time. Get yourself a hobby at the Hobby Shop on Thompson Street.

Optical Shoppe Can Help You With Bifocals, Broken Lenses

The smart new glass display racks in the Optical Shoppe at 8 Thompson Street constitute evidence that this distinguished store is keeping up with the very latest trends.

J. Arthur Deering, owner and operator of the shop believes the new display racks will make it easier for patrons to tell at a glance what new frames and styles are available.

Koko Boodakian & Sons Are Proud Of Modern Rug-Repairing Plant

The Boodakian's state with great pride that theirs is the most complete rug-servicing plant in the industry.

They offer complete washing, dyeing and repairing service in their plant on 14 Lochwan Street. (Tel. PArkview 9-2214).

In the Boodakian show room on 573 Main Street, right next to Converse Market, you can make your selection from a wide range of rugs, both Oriental and domestic. Boodakian rugs are available in a wide price range, too, from the least expensive broadloom for the economy-minded, to the very same super-plush luxurious rug used in Westminster Abbey.

(1) Before entering the Lochwan Street plant we first see Boodakian's fleet of well-maintained trucks which enable Koko and his sons to give you prompt and efficient service.

(2) Next on the tour is the Receiving Room, where the rugs are measured, examined by a carefully trained staff and tagged.

(3) Next we see the automatic rug washer, the most modern and efficient rug-washing machines there is, designed according to the Boodakian's own specifications. Knowledge gained in years of rug-washing experience has been incorporated in the design of this mechanism.

(4) The Retarding Table is next on our tour. This mechanism permits the experts to examine the rug once again, very carefully to make certain it's ready to continue on its way to the drying room. If it is, they move it along too.

(5) The Drying Room, a 58,000 cubic foot area in which ultra-modern electronic drying techniques are used to insure uniform drying and make it possible to process hundreds of rugs at the same time.

(6) The Final Inspection Room is the place for finishing touches. Rug fringes are brushed and trimmed. The rugs are rolled on bamboo poles to eliminate creasing, and are then carefully wrapped in the finest quality paper for delivery.

(7 A 30,000 cubic foot fireproof storage vault, backed by million-dollar insurance and equipped with modern mothproofing techniques, guarantees safe and dependable storage.

(8) One of the largest work rooms in New England is next on the list.

(9) A Cutting Room, large, ultra-modern is designed for workmen to cut your rug to custom size.

(10) and (11) Oriental and Broadloom Repair Departments using finest materials, employ the finest craftsmen to repair your rugs.

(12) The Upholstery Cleaning Department for your valuable chairs and living room furniture.

(13) In the Main Street showroom we find the Broadloom Sales Department and the Oriental Rug Sales Department, one of the largest in New England, with over 700 rugs.

Spaulding's Bookshop Takes Pride In Stocking Very Latest in Books

We never cease to be amazed by Spaulding's Bookshop at 39-41 Thompson Street. It is no exaggeration to say that you can get any book there you want, either directly from Miss Edith Spurr's best-seller shelves or indirectly by order through one of Miss Spurr's many connections in the book world.

Even before the New York Times reviewed Vance Packard's "The Waste Makers," for example, it was on Spaulding's shelves for sale and in its lending library, three copies strong, for rental. (See Review on editorial page.)

There are many things to watch for when buying glasses, Mr. Deering says.

First, there is no substitute for quality. Get the best. In this way, the prescription will be filled accurately, the lenses will be of the best quality, the optical center will be placed correctly, the fitting will be correct, the best frames will be used and service will be given after purchase.

J. Arthur Deering took over the Optical Shoppe last November 1. He lives in Newtonville now with his wife and five children, all boys. Mr. Deering is married to the former Margaret Maher of Winchester and his five sons are, in chronological order: Stephen, 9; Joseph, 7; Paul, 6; Jim, 4; and John, 2.

Mr. Deering not only owns the Optical Shoppe, he prides himself on being right there operating it at all times.

Mr. Deering's special lensometer permits him to replace broken lenses on the spot. He can tell the prescription from testing the lens for optical center, power and axis.

And all Mr. Deering's work is done on the premises, which means a substantial saving to customers in terms of money and time, and which one of us doesn't need a lot more of both. Mr. Deering has the highly advanced American Optical Co. Synchrometer to edge lenses.

What about frames? Well, you'll find any kind of frame that you want at the Optical Shoppe, from the most conservative to the most dressy. You can buy smart, lightweight, and durable aluminum frames, too, in sophisticated satin grey and satin mink.

For Winter cruise or for keeping the snow-sun-glare out of your eyes the Optical Shoppe has prescription sun glasses, too, in every imaginable style.

And there is good news at the Optical Shoppe for wearers of bifocals, too. Mr. Deering has the latest "executive" bifocals, which eliminate the image — jump when you switch suddenly from reading to distance vision.

Mr. Deering brings to Winchester almost 25 years of experience. His background is a distinguished one. He began at Bausch and Lomb in 1936 and, most recently was Metropolitan Boston sales manager for the American Optical Company.

Now he's in business for himself in his smart little shop and laboratory at 8 Thompson Street. Tel. PA 9-5543.

Alford Spoke To B. U. Society

Andrew Alford of 71 Bacon Street, president of Alford Manufacturing Co. and owner of Andrew Alford Consulting Engineers in Boston, spoke last week before Northeastern University's engineering honor society, Tau Beta Pi.

The University of California graduate spoke on preparation for engineering, cautioning the future engineers not to over-specialize and to "read broadly to increase knowledge."

Alford is a fellow of the Institute of Radio Engineers and was awarded the Presidential Certificate of Merit in 1948.

Eighth District Presidents' Club

The first meeting of this season of the Eighth District Presidents' Club was held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church in Winchester.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. Ralph Hatch, president of the Fortnightly of Winchester.

After introducing the distinguished guests, the past presidents, and her executive board, Mrs. Arno M. Bommer, president of the group, conducted the business meeting. The guest of honor, Mrs. Clifford M. Templeton, Eighth District director, brought greetings and an inspirational message from the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Earl R. Weidner was to have been the speaker of the afternoon but was unable to be present because of the duties of her new office as State Chairman of Veterans' Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes took the group "Rambling in Europe with a Camera," by the way of a series of beautiful slides and entertaining description of many countries of Europe.

Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Winchester Co-operative Bank for the election of Directors and Clerk will take place in the banking rooms November 7, 1960, at 2:30 p.m.

Other new books at Spaulding's: (1) Charles Adams, absolutely hilarious new book of cartoons, "The Black Maria"; (2) A handsome new illustrated compendium of the best from "Vanity Fair" . . . articles by Somerset Maugham, Alexander Woollcott and Walter Lippmann in their days as aspiring young authors, and pictures of Katie Cornell and Cary Grant in their crisp salad days. (3) A distinguished collection of books on the Orient from Charles Tuttle in Rutland in addition to stunning Oriental prints.

Also available on the new book shelves: Gerald Frank's nicely naughty book on Zsa Zsa Gabor; Durrell's new novel, "Clea"; Kazantzakis' "Last Temptation of Christ"; Fannie Hurst's "Family"; Arthur Schlesinger's studious polemic "Kennedy or Nixon, Does It Make Any Difference?"; Robert L. Heilbroner's "The Future As History," an examination of the West in a world of revolution; The Morgenthau Diaries; and the latest book from the writing desk of Winchester's own novelist, Helen Miller Swift, who will be at Spaulding's to meet readers tomorrow.

On the first floor one can find the very latest publications, like Nabokov's "Invitation to a Beheading," Moss Hart's "Act One," Ernest Jones' "Free Associations: Memoirs of a Psychoanalyst," John Chamberlain's controversial "The Roots of Captialism," Leonard Bernstein's "The Joys of Music."

You can find the latest in paperbooks, too, like Alan Watts' "Way of Zen," Helen Gardner's "The Art of T. S. Eliot" (What a saving in paperback on this brilliant work!) Pascal's "Pensees"—a book of perennial wisdom, or Crevecoeur's classic "Letters From an American Farmer."

There are luxury books, excellent for special gifts or a cultural splurge: the handsome Horizon series, the Skira art collection, Japanese Flower Arranging, and rich guides to colonial furniture, old houses on Nantucket, antiques, ceramics, 20th-century design or coin collecting. There is a fine selection of guide books on birds and flowers. Spaulding's modern collection also includes reliable children's books like Dr. Seuss' "Horton Hatches the Egg," "Muley-Ears, Nobody's Dog," "Miss Charity Comes to Stay" and "Trudy's First Day at Camp," or "Secrets in the Dust" for the young archaeologist fan or "Isaac Newton, Pioneer of Space Mathematics" for the one-day scientist.

But the unusual excitement at Spaulding's is the used book department downstairs. I wonder how many book-lovers in Winchester realize how extensive this department is! What a surprise for a town our size! There are no fewer than seven and one-half thousand used volumes,—whole sets of Thackeray and Dickens, old Spectators, Bible concordances, Harper's Monthlies, from 1850 - 1895, a Psalm-book dating back to the 1600's, an old Hebrew-Chaldaic lexicon published in 1615 and signed by a Boston man in 1733.

Winchester is most fortunate to have a book shop like Spaulding's. Its holdings are already very extensive, and what they don't have they will order for you. For example, I picked up a copy of Arthur Waley's "170 Chinese Poems" for only 75c.

Friends Will Meet

Have you marked your calendar for 2:30 p.m. Thursday, October 27? That is the time and date that the Friends of the Winchester Hospital will gather at the home of Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, Jr., 33 Wedgemere Avenue for their fall meeting.

Mrs. Dominic Runci, hospitality chairman, with her committee, will serve coffee preceding the business meeting at 3:00 p.m.

Highlight of the afternoon will be Miss Elmina Snow's discussion of "Good Public Relations with the Hospital and Those It Serves." Miss Snow, administrator, Emerson Hospital in Concord, is no stranger to those who have long been affiliated with the Friends. Helpful and encouraging in the early stages of the organization, Miss Snow will be sure to enrich our understanding of the role the volunteer plays in interpreting the hospital to the committees it serves.

The afternoon will afford both sociability and a keener insight of the complete service rendered by volunteers. Prospective new members will be most welcome to attend this annual fall meeting.

In Masque Production

Janet Eleanor Donovan of Winchester, played the part of Patricia in the Maine Masque Theatre's production of "The Male Animal" at the University of Maine homecoming week end.

Miss Donovan, a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences at Maine's State University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Donovan, 7 Fells Road.

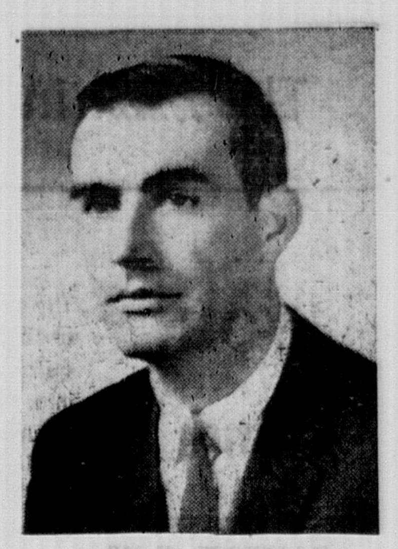
Well, He DID Forget


JOHN V. COSTELLO
I'm Asking Your Vote

When I pointed out that Our Representative Chadwick forgot to do his job and it had cost Winchester taxpayers dearly, he suggested I wasn't telling the whole truth. Well:

LET'S FACE THE FACTS . . .

—First of all, Rep. Chadwick failed to keep the town informed about an important MDC sewer bill which cost $21.72 on your tax bill this year.

His reply: He did inform the town on February 26, 1960. Well . . . that's over five months after the bill had been signed into law on September 17, 1959. (Chap. 612, Acts of 1959.)

Is This Good Representation?

—Now just a moment, suppose Mr. Chadwick did finally speak up this year . . . about a bill which passed last year? Wasn't he under obligation, as our Representative, to keep us informed last year when town opposition might have been felt at the public hearings?

Is This Good Representation?

—Good information is the basis of good local government. The point I make is this: Our Representative left town officials in the dark at the very time when they were working on the 1960 budget (in November 1959) about an expensive new assessment against the town.

Is This Good Representation?

INCREDIBLE . . .

—Many of you who paid higher tax bills this year told me that you resented Mr. Chadwick's remark that Winchester taxpayers deserved to pay an extra $21.72 on their 1960 tax bills.

As a matter of fact, I found it incredible to find any man who has been Our Representative for 14 years saying that "much of the new formula for the assessment is equitable." Well, maybe he can shrug off $21.72, but . . .

Is This Good Representation?

DEFEATIST . . .

—Right now the Town of Winchester pays more than the City of Somerville under the new MDC assessment formula which Mr. Chadwick calls "equitable."

He says it was useless to oppose this bill.

That is just the point I've been making. Would'nt it have been good representation to alert the town and lead the fight against higher costs?

This is the kind of half-hearted leadership that has caused so many Republicans, Independents and Democrats to ask:

Is This

Good Representation

Busy Summer At Winchester Hospital

It is not many years ago that it was customary to close the fourth floor at the hospital during the summer months due to lack of patients. In 1959 all the nursing units were kept open and business went on as usual. However, 1960 brought a new high to the ever increasing number of patients being treated at the hospital. Overall occupancy of the hospital during the month of August was 94%, with Obstetrics attaining 105%.

This percentage is based upon the normal number of beds available in the hospital. This high census required additional beds being in the corridors at all times. The 50 new beds that will be provided with the expansion program have been planned to ease this critical situation.

In addition to the new beds, the plans also include new and larger X-ray and Laboratory Departments, expanded Emergency Room, new Delivery Suite, new and enlarged Nurseries, additional Operating Rooms, and other changes which will make it possible for the Winchester Hospital to continue to meet the increasing hospital needs of the community.

Waltz Evening Patrons And Patronesses

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital are very appreciative of the large number of people who served as Patrons and Patronesses for Waltz Evening last week end. In addition to the names previously published are the following:

New Shrubs, Walk

Discuss New Look For Town Common

At a special meeting of the Park Department at the town hall Monday evening plans for the improvement and beautification of the Common were discussed.

Meeting with the Park Commissioners were Alexander Heimlich, and Mr. Burns, landscape architects; Town Engineer James Wakefield, Tree Foreman Edward McKenzie, Police Chief Joseph J. Derro and two members of the Rotary Club's Common Improvement Committee, Alfred D. Elliott and Fred W. McCormack.

Mr. Heimlich showed and explained plans for a new layout of the Common with new trees and shrubbery to replace the trees that have been, and must still be cut down, with many more to be added in the new layout.

It is planned to plant for the most part flowering trees and shrubbery in such a way as to ensure almost continual bloom through the summer season.

The Park Commissioners plan to start now, doing some planting on Church Street, Waterfield Road and Laraway Road. Their plans also call for a five foot macadam walk completely around the Common.

All other walks will be rebuilt and that entering the Common opposite the First Congregational Church will in the new plan continue through the Common to Laraway Road. The walks through the Common from Church Street to Waterfield Road will remain as they now are.

While at Monday's meeting Mr. Elliott asked the price of a tree that Mr. Heimlich had designated for one side of the central Common walk. When told, he expressed a desire to sponsor the tree as an aid to the Common program. Mr. McCormack pointed to another tree on the other side of the walk, and when told it was more costly than Mr. Elliott's tree, agreed to be its sponsor.

The Park Commissioners will be happy to have individuals or groups who may care to sponsor some of the new trees and shrubs on the Common to communicate with them. Their assistance will be most welcome.

The Commissioners plan to commence the work on the Common with the funds they have presently available. They then plan to go to the next March meeting for funds to complete the work.

Meanwhile colored drawings of the proposed beautification are being prepared by Mr. Heimlich and will be available for those who may care to see what it is planned to do.

House Break On Mystic Valley Parkway

A light-blue car reported associated with a number of daylight housebreaks in Winchester was spotted again this week in connection with the ransacking of a home on Mystic Valley Parkway on the Border Road end.

The housebreakers gained entrance to the home through a cellar bulkhead door, and clearly entered the kitchen from the cellar by breaking through a panel in the door. Nothing downstairs appeared disturbed, according to the police report, but upstairs all the bureau drawers were ransacked and the housebreaker reportedly walked off with a Polariod camera valued at $125.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES INTRODUCED . . . Left to right, Mrs. Russell Zimmer, Mr. John V. Costello, Senator William Madden, Mrs. Robert Joslin. Sen. William C. Madden, candidate for congressman from the 5th Congressional District, and Mr. John V. Costello, Democratic candidate for representative in the General Court from the 29th Middlesex District, were introduced to Winchester neighbors on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joslin. Both candidates and voters welcomed the chance to meet and discuss the issues informally. Probing questions covering local, state and national problems were directed to Senator Madden and to Mr. Costello and thoughtful answers were returned. After the candidates left to fill other engagements, the evening ended with discussion and coffee.

Winchester Students Will Aid Underprivileged U. S. Children

During the week of October 31 to November 4, the students of the Winchester Schools will gather good, used clothing for children and adults in underprivileged areas of the United States, and for victims of war and disaster in overseas countries. The clothing collection is a joint project of "Save the Children Federation," leading U. S. educators and more than six million school children.

"We have taken part in this Bundle Day Clothing Collection for many years," said Miss Mabel Lowry, principal of the Wyman School. Parents and neighbors of students are asked to to cooperate in this campaign to get good used clothing out of storage and into use by boys and girls, men and women, who otherwise this winter will suffer intensely from the cold.

Low-heeled shoes and overshoes are badly needed in Southern rural areas where children are literally walking to school through the snow barefooted.

Clothing may be brought or sent to school in bags or cartons. It will be repacked for shipment.

Save the Children Federation is now in its 29th year of service to children in underprivileged areas throughout the world. It is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization with national offices in Norwalk, Connecticut.

In addition to the Clothing Collection, the Federation operates a far-flung individual child sponsorship program, family and school sponsorship projects, and family and village self-help projects.

Democratic Town Committee Boosts "Women For Ward"

On Sunday, October 16, Democratic Town Committee Chairman Elizabeth McDonald and Town Committee member Helen Gaynor attended the "Women's Meeting for Joe Ward's campaign." This was held at the Headquarters of the candidates for State office in the Leopold Morse Building Boston.

Mrs. Alice Lyons, former chairman of the Boston School Committee, presided at the crowded meeting. She announced the final plans for the tea which the Democratic women of Massachusetts are giving for Joe and Priscilla Ward, Tom O'Connor, and all other candidates for State office and their wives.

The tea will take place in the grand ballroom of the Somerset Hotel and 15,000 invitations have been sent out. Mrs. Marion Donohue of Saugus, in charge of hostesses, announced that there would be three hostesses from Winchester, Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, Mrs. May Serieka, and Mrs. Helen Gaynor. The date: November 6, the time 2:30. Mrs. Lyons then explained the telephone campaign and the state-wide set-up of coffee hours under the direction of chairman Helen Brock.

Also, Mrs. Lyons spoke at some length of the delightful affair which the Democratic Women-On-Wheels are sponsoring at The Meadows, Framingham, with Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, as guest speaker.

At last night's meeting of the Town Committee and its enthusiastic Associate Members, plans submitted by the several committees were discussed and approved. Future Coffee Hours and Teas with their lists of invited guests were greeted with enthusiasm as the chairman thanked the efficient workers who have banded together for victory.

Distributes Voting Records

L. W. V. Presents County Election Data

On November 8, we must vote for County, State, and Federal offices. The County is probably our least known governmental unit. The League of Women Voters of Winchester has prepared this article to help us become more familiar with the function of the County and the duties of its officers. Information about the candidates comes from their replies to League questionnaires. Each candidate was asked his age, occupation, education, and "How would your election improve the administration of the office you seek?"

Information about other offices and candidates will be found in the League's special paper to be distributed this week end to every home in town. The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization which, through its Voters Service program, publishes factual information about candidates for elective office.

Middlesex County, in which we live, has an irregular outline extending from the New Hampshire line in the northwest near Ashby, to Hopkinton in the southwest, and including the Newtons, Cambridge (the County seat) Malden, and Lowell as other boundaries. The County administers the District Courts, County jails, and the offices of records for deeds and wills; supervises County Sanatoria; performs some highway activities and agricultural services; and assesses a few taxes and fees. It is dependent for its powers on the General Court of the Commonwealth.

11,309 Are Registered To Vote; Interest In Election Increasing

2,154 New Voters Enrolled Since July, 1959; 882 Residents Have Signed On Since August 12

Eight hundred and eighty-two more Winchester residents have registered to vote in the November 8th national and state election since August 12.

This brings the total of new Winchester registrations between July 1, 1959 and October 13 of this year to 2,154, as compared with 1,834 new registrations between July 1, 1955 and October 15, 1956, the year of the last Presidential campaign.

In 1960, 11,309 Winchester people are registered to vote in the November election out of a total Town population of 20,193. In 1956, 10,582 people were registered to vote in the November election out of a total Town population of 18,414. It was estimated in 1956 that 93% of eligible voters were registered.

Winchester's electorate of 10,582 turned out 94.2% strong in 1956. In 1952, 95.3% of an electorate of 10,011 went to the polls.

In the Town's most recent election, the primary of September 13, only 41% of Winchester's eligible voters expressed their preference for candidates at the polls.

How will the election go this Presidential year? This is a question for the experts, and for history. But as of the moment this is the political complexion of the Town:

In order of their strength there are 4,732 Independents, 4,292 Republicans and 1,475 Democrats. How these votes will go in the privacy of the polls is anybody's guess.

Winchester interest is clearly rising in two contests for state office: the race between Republican John Volpe of Winchester and Democrat Joseph Ward, who are seeking the Governorship; and the contest between incumbent Republican State Representative Harrison Chadwick of 24 Everett Avenue and his Democratic opponent John V. Costello of 79 Loring Avenue.

Winchester goes to the polls on November 8. The polls will open at Town Hall at 7:00 a.m. and close at 8:00 p.m.

3 in Car Crash

Three Winchester youths were involved in a head-on auto collision with a tree Saturday night at 8:45.

John M. Prince, 17, of 16 Chestnut Street, David Allen, 18, of 406 Highland Avenue, and Janet Rich, 16, of 38 Park Avenue, were riding in a Rambler sedan east on Pierrepont Road when they collided with a tree on the corner of Ledyard Road. Prince was driving the car. He said he had turned to Allen and Miss Rich in the back seat, lost control of the car, and hit the tree.

Allen was treated for facial and knee injuries. Prince sustained scratches, while Janet Rich was rushed to the hospital in the special police ranch wagon with a reported concussion. Doctors Rooney and Guarente treated the youths. Miss Rich had been released from the hospital when the Star called a hospital official on Wednesday morning.

Republican Town Committee Sees Film On Voter Apathy

At the Republican Town Committee meeting of October 20th, the Ford Motor Co. film "Where Were You" was shown. The theme was voter apathy and was certainly revealing regarding the control exerted by a few people in nominating and electing candidates.

The Republican Headquarters was the scene of continuing activity, particularly on Thursday morning. Several women were at headquarters for coffee and to listen to Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Lodge on television. Several hundred women were at coffee hours in more than 40 residences throughout Winchester to join Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Lodge. These gatherings were organized by the local Nixon-Lodge Committee.

Mrs. Florence Goodhue displayed a chart of her P.R.O. organization. An impressive sight—and an effective organization of Winchester Republican women, local Republicans report.

Mr. Hall is a veteran of World War II, who has engaged in full time writing and research into the campaigns of extremist movements organized to promote racial and religious hatred, confusion, and discord in our country. He has spoken widely before all kinds of assemblies throughout the country and has just returned from a lecture tour through the Middle East.

His subject for Sunday night will be "The Hate-Your-Neighbor" Campaign in the United States. He will present an exhibit of extremist materials and open the meeting for a post-lecture discussion period.

W. H. S. Open House

The annual Open House for high school parents will be held on Wednesday evening, November 2, at 7:45 p.m. Of interest to all parents, this event has been enthusiastically received in the elementary as well as Junior and Senior High Schools.

Mrs. Pearl Larson Admitted to High Court Practice

Mrs. Pearl Jones Larson of 5 Alben Street, attorney at law, was admitted on October 20 to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

Mrs. Larson accompanied a group of lawyers to Washington, all members of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers' Association who were sworn in together. In this impressive procedure, Chief Justice Earl Warren welcomed each new member.

The group was sponsored by Edward Myron Dangel, Esq., former professor of law at Boston University, and an expert on criminal law.

Juvenile Officer Cogan Named To Citizenship Training Program

OFFICER JAMES COGAN

Winchester Juvenile Police Officer James Cogan has been appointed by the district attorney to study with the Citizenship Training Group. Affiliated with the Judge Baker Guidance Center, the group is dedicated to providing facilities and methods to help delinquent youth make proper adjustments to their community.

The Citizenship Training Group also tries "to inform the public as to the problem of delinquency and the need of community action in the prevention and correction of this problem."

Officer Cogan will join the group sessions, which have already begun, and continue his studies until May, 1961.

Winchester Police Chief Joseph J. Derro said he was delighted with the honor given to Officer Cogan and the town. "We in Winchester simply do not realize how great the youth problem is," the chief said. "It is not enough simply to punish an erring youth. We must help him, and more important, we must try to provide a community environment in which a youngster can grow up in a healthy way."

At the clinic Officer Cogan will work in close conjunction with social workers, psychiatrists and police specialists and will gain new experience in actual case work. He already brings considerable experience from his studies, gained especially since his appointment as special juvenile officer in April. (The Star next week will publish a special article on the Citizenship Training Group.)

SMALL ENOUGH TO KNOW YOU
LARGE ENOUGH TO SERVE YOU

Joseph Hanson Ryan

Joseph Hanson Ryan, a former resident of Winchester, died October 23 in Canandaigua, N. Y., after an illness that commenced during the past summer. He had been living in East Lempster, N. H., and teaching in Newport, N. H., moving to the home of his wife's parents in Canandaigua when he became ill.

Mr. Ryan was the son of Joseph F., and Lilla J. Ryan, widely known residents of Winchester, who made their home here for many years on Cliff Street. He was born November 18, 1905, in Calais, Me., but came to Winchester at the age of one year and grew up in town, attending the Winchester schools and graduating from Winchester High School in the class of 1923.

Despite a marked physical handicap, Mr. Ryan played high school football and won his letter as a substitute lineman on the high school team of 1922, considered by many as the best team the high school ever had.

He went from high school to Dartmouth, where he was manager of the freshman football team and a member of Theta Delta Chi and Sphinx senior society.

After his graduation from Dartmouth in 1927 he entered teaching and taught high school English for 33 years, three years in Turner's Falls and then for 25 years in Dedham. He had been teaching at Towle High School in Newport, N. H., for the past five years and was a member of the school faculty when he died.

Mr. Ryan married Edith Hastings of Philadelphia, Pa., in December of 1940. Mrs. Ryan survives, with a daughter, Judith, training to be a nurse at Laconia, N. H., Hospital; a sister, Jean Ryan, and a brother, Stephen W. Ryan, both of Cambridge.

A friends' memorial service was held Wednesday in Canandaigua, N. Y. Burial was in Calais, Me.

Mrs. Anna M. Carlson

Mrs. Anna M. Carlson, widow of A. Frederick Carlson and for many years a resident of Concord, died early Sunday morning, October 23, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. George B. Needham, 9 Stratford Road, after a short illness following a long period of failing health.

Mrs. Carlson was the daughter of Isaac, and Christina (Ekstrom) Lundberg. She was born December 10, 1869, on the Island of Oland, Sweden, coming to this country as a girl of 18.

She settled in Bedford where she met her husband and was married November 11, 1890, moving to Concord at that time. For fifty years she lived in Concord, being a member of the Methodist Church there and taking an active interest in church affairs.

Mrs. Carlson's husband died in 1929 and in 1943 she came to make her home with her granddaughter in Winchester.

Besides Mrs. Needham, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Frank Maurer of Winchester, and two sons, Edwin F. Carlson of Acton, formerly of Concord; and Arthur E. Carlson of Concord; also 13 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Services were conducted at the late residence Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. H. Newton Clay, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Burial was in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Concord.

Fantasia Fair

Illustrations from Walt Disney's Fantasia provided the theme for the Church of the Epiphany's first fair in their new parish hall last Thursday and Friday. Talented members of Mrs. Roger Wood's decorations committee had created delightful and brilliantly colored cartoons which showed to great advantage against the simplicity of the new hall.

The fair was launched by a Family Buffet Supper Thursday evening which took the form of a smorgabord, following which the guests had an opportunity to visit the wide variety of booths. An unusual attraction was the display of paintings and drawings by local artists. For this purpose the Commons Room was transformed into an effective art gallery. Not only could visitors purchase these original works but they could also commission an on-the-spot portrait sketch by the local artist Marietta Cornwall.

Another innovation this year was Mr. Victor Voges' stamp table. Hundreds of stamps had been assembled in packages for collectors of all ages and interests, and a special first day cover had been prepared honoring the Fantasia Fair and bearing the stamp of the first automated post office.

A perennial favorite was the table of dried arrangements fashioned by Mrs. Clifton McNeill, ranging from quaint Hallowe'en place cards to strikingly beautiful Christmas wreaths. Mrs. Edward Little's table of the new 50-star flags was a colorful and timely addition to the occasion.

Thursday morning a coffee cart circulated around the hall as Mrs. Edmund Wright and Mrs. James Dale served hot coffee and tasty snacks to tired workers and shoppers alike. Mrs. Richard Kiley and her committee were responsible for the delicious luncheon, while Mrs. Rodney Bullen was in charge of the tea, charmingly assisted by a group of 7th grade girls.

For the children there were grabs, movies and pony rides, and the special children's luncheon was most popular.

The entire fair was planned and organized by the chairman, Mrs. Gustav Kaufmann and her co-chairman Mrs. Harry Benson, whose imagination and hard work were responsible for the tremendous success of this Fantasia Fair.

College Club Guest Night

In spite of thunder, lightning, rain and sleet, a goodly number of brave souls met in the parish hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Monday evening, October 24, for the fall guest night of the Winchester College Club. Coffee was served by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Richard M. Osgood, assisted by alumnae of Simmons College. Pourers were Mrs. Edwin Palmer, Mrs. Will Skerry, Miss Mary Regan and Mrs. Foster Cleaves.

Following the coffee hour, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Chester L. Dawes. After a brief business meeting, the program chairman, Mrs. Robert D. Lowry, introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University, who chose as his subject "Emerging Features of Tomorrow's Higher Education."

Dr. Knowles spoke first of the remarkable period in which we are living, with new frontiers of knowlegde at every turn—a whole new world developing around us. He called attention to the revolutions which are going on in our midst—the social revolution bringing a definite change from rural to urban concepts of life; the communications revolution brought about by television, the electronics devices, the computer, satellites, etc.

He went on to outline some of the patterns which seem to be emerging in higher education. He emphasized the importance of the junior college, stating its definite advantages for many students and predicting that in the very near future the junior colleges will greatly increase in number and become as common as the high schools of today. New England, he said, has not been so ready to accept junior colleges as have the other parts of the country, but plans are now under way for an increased number of them in this area. Today's four-year college will complement the junior college, will become an advanced institution giving the last two years plus graduate work. Already the master's degree has become about as necessary for advancement as the bachelor's degree was several years ago.

Dr. Knowles spoke of the increase in commuting among college students. At present sixty per cent of these students are commuters and that number is due to grow. Possibly the college campus as we have known it will be less general in the future.

The state universities Dr. Knowles mentioned as excellent in the western states and rapidly improving in New England. The public is demanding more public education and the private school, he feels, may find it increasingly difficult to continue.

The high school is going to speed up its curriculum. A large number of high schools are already offering advanced placement opportunity which enables the brilliant student to forge ahead more rapidly.

Dr. Knowles stressed the great upsurge in institutions of learning and other developments which are taking place to make higher education available to more people.

More and more people must have higher education; a college education is now required for almost every profession.

The greatest center of education in the world is probably in the Boston area and these colleges, Dr. Knowles emphasized, should set the pattern, raise the level of institutional learning and establish great centers of research. We need a stronger force in higher education, the development of new ideas, new organizations, to provide world leadership in this field.

Dr. Knowles held the complete interest of the group throughout, as was evidenced by many pertinent questions at the close of the lecture.

Home From Morocco

Lt. Douglas Hawkins, USAF, former Winchester High and Amherst College basketball star and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hawkins of Highland Avenue, arrived at Logan International Airport on October 20 after concluding a year's tour of remote duty in Morocco on the outskirts of the Sahara Desert.

"Big Doug" left Casablanca October 18 via Military Air Transport Service en route to Charleston, S. C., by way of the Azores and Bermuda. He arrived in Charleston October 19 and flew from there to Idlewild, catching a few hours sleep on a bench before flying on to Logan.

Lt. Hawkins upon arrival in Winchester was united with his wife, the former Judy Nanry, and their three-year-old son, Steve. The Hawkins' were together last summer for a month when Judy flew to Europe to join "Doug" on a 30-day furlough there.

Lt. and Mrs. Hawkins and Steve left Wednesday morning for Waco, Texas, where Doug is scheduled for a year of navigational training.

Talking to the Star, the former high school hoop ace told of playing basketball in Morocco and of coaching Air Force personnel to play Moroccan teams. Seldom do Moroccans stand over 5ft., 11in., and big Doug with his 6ft., 4in., or 5in. was an object of wonder. He found the Moroccans and Arabs, especially the nomads, wiry, muscular people who had great endurance.

The temperature in Morocco often hits 130 degrees, but Doug says you do not mind it—much, because the air is dry.

Noonan School Pupils See Slides On Holland

One highlight for Grade IV students at the Noonan School last week was the showing of slides on Holland which were taken by their teacher, Miss Nancy Davis, on a recent trip to Europe. The study unit on the Netherlands ended with reports and a display of group projects by the children.

William Allard, Betty Dooley and Chuck Elliott explained Holland's struggle with the sea with a model of dikes and polders. James Emerson, using real models with a large chart, talked about transportation. Students working on charts showing agricultural products were Janice Ferguson, Lynn McKenna and Marilyn Sullivan.

Holland's industries were presented by Geoffrey Upson and Diane Ree; towns and cities by Laurian Allison and Yolanda Beardon. Two boys, Paul Butare and Tommy Haggerty, made salt and flour copies of Delft pottery as their contribution to the unit.

All the children enjoyed the baking and especially the eating of cookies made from a Dutch recipe.

Operation Kindness

What do teenage girls do with their free hours during summer vacation? In Winchester and Reading a sizable group of both junior and senior high school girls took a very active part in "Operation Kindness" as they performed volunteer services in the Winchester Hospital.

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Division of Civic Education and the School Bureau of the United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston; locally, the program was directed by the Volunteer Services Chairman, Mrs. Robert J. Grenzebach, and her vice-chairman, Mrs. James A. Hollinshead.

The girls voluntarily performed in the messenger, clerical, flower and coffee shop services of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital.

Acquainted with the "Do's" and "Don't's" of hospital ethics, the girls were punctual, eager to perform the task assigned to the best of their ability, lending a youthful, cheery atmosphere to the corridors as they moved quietly about in their cherry colored smocks.

Including a group of 14 Campfire Girls from Reading, 54 Junior Volunteers, ranging in age from 13-18, gave in excess of 600 hours of service to the hospital during the summer months.

In Winchester a Citizenship Commendation for "Operation Kindness" has been awarded to the following girls through their school principals:

Junior High School

Carlene Bertolucci, Deborah Hancock, Suzanne Hussey, Elizabeth Jackson, Karen James, Laurie McLean, Ellen Myette, Ellen Richardson and Susan Tully.

High School

In addition, Karen Armstrong, attending Mount St. Mary's, and Linda Maroney, a student at Sacred Heart College, gave an exceptionally high number of hours to the program.

Teachers' Tea At Noonan

The second teachers' tea was held at Noonan School this week for teachers of the first, second, and third grades.

Those honored were Mrs. Barbara Cummings, Miss Nancy Davis Miss Zella Giggie, Mrs. Mary Mead, Mrs. Carolyn Winslow.

Corsages for the guests and the attractive table bouquet were of lovely roses.

These teas are prepared by the room mothers as their special tribute to the fine services of our children's teachers.

This week the refreshments were in the charge of Mrs. John Lerch.

The upper-grade tea was prepared under the direction of Mrs. Edmund Anderson.

Hall

Mr. Hall is popular with high school audiences and has spoken at Winchester High School at a Philosophy Club meeting. Forum considers it a privilege to have him among its speakers this season. Attendance at the supper is by sign-up reservation only.

The first Forum at church service will be held this Sunday at the 11:00 service of Morning Worship. John W. Mallery, Forum president, will act as chaplain. The Forum choir will sing with the church choir. Deacons for the service will be Rick Osgood, Paul Roberts, Tom Bell, Roger McNeill, Jerry Sellman, and Reed Lowry.

Parker Gray, Sam Cady, Jim Anderson, Paul Ryan, Bruce Griffin and Jon Giger will serve as ushers. All Forum members are urged to attend the 11:00 o'clock service. There will be no chapel service at 9:15.

The annual Work Day for Christ project will be under way tomorrow and Saturday under the general direction of Jane McKenney. Workers who wish to get an early start will meet for breakfast in Chidley Hall on Friday at 8:00 a.m. Earnings from the jobs undertaken will be brought to the Sunday supper meeting for a service of dedication. The Work Day Fund is forwarded to the national Pilgrim Fellowship Work Day for Christ which supports missionary and benevolent projects of Our Christian World Mission.

St. Mary's Mothers' Club

The October meeting of the Mothers' Club was held in St. Mary's Hall, Wednesday evening, October 19. Over 125 members attended and at 7:30 p.m., with our pastor, Msgr. John M. Manion, opening with the prayer "Grace Before Meals," the members sat down to a "pot luck supper," their plates heaped with goodies, comprising favorite casseroles, hot dishes, colorful and tasty tossed salads, rolls, and finally, scrumptious desserts and coffee, all furnished by the mothers from each grade.

Mrs. Louis Covino was the chairman of the fabulous meal, and her very able committee was comprised of the third-grade mothers. Our thanks to her and her committee, and to all the mothers who joined so wholeheartedly in bringing their favorite recipes to the supper and turning the tables into a "pot luck banquet."

The Arlington School of Music highlighted the evening with a variety of music under the direction of Mr. Frank E. Ward, dean of the school. The following pupils participated:

Miss Melissa Abbot of Bedford, piano selections

Miss Nancy Collins of Winchester, vocal selections

Mrs. Robert Pothier of Arlington, accordion selections

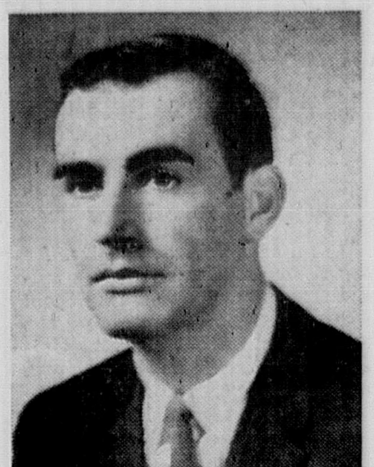
Our thanks are extended to them for an outstanding performance enjoyed by all.

Following the musical entertainment the new mothers were introduced and presented with colorful corsages and welcomed with a round of applause.

Mrs. Francis Sylvester donated one of her specialties, a beautiful cake fashioned in basket style. This masterpiece was raffled off, and the lucky winner was Mrs. William Sullivan.

A last-minute reminder to the talented folks: Talent Show auditions at St. Mary's Hall, Friday, October 28, 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The regular meeting was held and concluded the evening's activities. Plans were discussed for the various events coming up in the near future, and will be taken up in detail at the next meeting in November, at which a record attendance is expected.



Nothing To Show For It . . .

For 14 years we've sent Our Representative (Chadwick) to the State House. Yet we have nothing to show for it.

The matters you and I regard as important, he refers to as "minutiae" — petty matters.

Maybe this helps explain why his record is spotted with opposition to bills like these:

- Opposed minimum wage of $4000 for school teachers (4-1-58).
- Opposed construction of science building at U. of Mass. (9-26-60).
- Opposed stated aid for aged at Cushing Hospital (10-7-58).
- Opposed entire Community College Program with higher educational facilities already vastly overcrowded (8-11-58).
- Opposed construction of state's only nuclear science facilities at Lowell Tech (9-26-60).
- Opposed improvements to inadequate quarters for retarded children (9-26-60).

Are Those PETTY Matters?

Housebreak

A neighbor of the owners of the ransacked house reported seeing a tall, thin blond man in his mid-twenties walking in the area. Another witness said she saw a man sitting in a light-blue car reading a paper. Police believe this man to be the "cover" for the housebreaker.

Chief Derro urged strongly that anybody seeing any such unusual situation report immediately to him. "It just isn't customary in an area like the one in question for a man to be parked on the side of a road reading a paper," the chief said. If someone had contacted us about this, or about the other two occurrences like it recently, we could have easily caught the men in the act. Please help us to track these men down."

Clothing collected through Bundle Days is distributed without charge to those in need who are unable to pay. In some areas, the clothing is made available through the organization's Clothing Centers at modest prices, which enable poor but proud people to "pay their own way." Some of the clothing collected is stock-piled for disaster use in this country and overseas; twenty tons were sent by the Federation to Chile through the service of the American Red Cross this year.

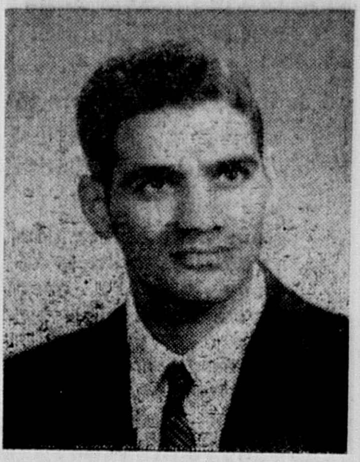
Paul Amico and John Pike Successful

Winchester Boys Pass Massachusetts Bar

Two Winchester boys, Paul F. Amico and John A. Pike were among those recently announced as having passed the examination for admission to the Massachusetts Bar.

Amico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Amico of Cross Street, graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1950, captaining the football team in that year. At University of New Hampshire, from which he was graduated with a political science major in 1954, he played varsity football until a severe injury cut short his gridiron career.



PAUL AMICO

He received a lieutenant's commission when he graduated from New Hampshire and served two years in the Army, being separated from the service with the rank of first lieutenant in 1956.

At that time he entered Babson Institute where he took graduate studies for a year before entering Boston College Law School, from which he was graduated last June. He is now in the practice of law with Gabriel F. Piemonte in the latter's offices at 213 Hanover Street, Boston.

Pike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Pike of 30 Arlington Street. He prepared at Belmont Hill School and was graduated from Williams in 1953, receiving his degree, magna cum laude. He was an honors graduate of Belmont Hill and also of Harvard Law, which he entered after his graduation from Williams.

After a year at law school, Pike was called into service and entered Officer Candidate School at Newport. He was graduated with the rank of ensign and spent three years on a destroyer, being promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) and being separated from the service as a senior grade lieutenant.

Returning to Harvard Law he completed his studies there last June, and is now a clerk in the office of Mr. Justice Cutter of the State Supreme Court, where he is planning to spend a year. He then plans to enter the practice of law.

Named U. F. Area Director

William A. Swett of 5 Wolcott Terrace, has been appointed area director, Advance Gifts Department, for this fall's United Fund "People Helping People" campaign. In this capacity he will aid in this year's United Fund effort to raise $10,153,298.

WILLIAM A. SWETT

Graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover and Wesleyan University, Mr. Swett served in the U. S. Air Force during World War II. He is vice president of the Paul Burrage, Inc., General Insurance Company, at 40 Broad Street, Boston.

He is a member of Insurance Brokers' Association of Massachusetts, American Legion Post 97, and Psi Upsilon, Boston Wesleyan Alumni Association.

Mr. Swett has served with the United Fund in the past as a chairman for advance gifts and with the Red Feather and United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, Inc. He is presently affiliated with the Boy Scouts, and is a finance chairman on the Winchester Community Chest. He is married and is the father of three children.

You'll be delighted with the lettering you do with our stencil outfits. 1 to 6 in. letters, special brushes in several sizes and special stencil paste. At the Winchester Star. Star Office.

"Queensmen's Quill"

Have you seen the window display at Hevey's Drug? If not, you better get down there right away. The Queensmen are exhibiting a few of the trophies they have won this year, and also the equipment the corps uses for their performances.

Boys and girls, from 10 years and up, there is still a chance to join the junior Queensmen. The drummers meet Thursday nights at seven and the buglers meet Wednesday nights at seven. Marching practice is held Saturday mornings at nine-thirty. All practices are held at the Immaculate Conception Parish Hall.

Now that you are acquainted with the Queensmen, we would like to introduce you to another unit of the Immaculate Conception Parish.

The Queen's Cadettes Drill Team gives the girls of the Winchester-Woburn area a chance to participate in the same activities as the Queensmen.

Our 32 girl unit traveled throughout Massachusetts during the summer months capturing several awards.

The Queen's Cadettes are now re-building their group for next season's competition schedule with the assistance of Carol Trocki who is Drill Captain and Rosemarie Chambers who is Color Sergeant.

Introducing the Corps

This week we would like to introduce you to the splendid drum section. It features two part snare drumming and the 32 drum rudiments. Playing the snare drums are John Horn, Paul Stevenson, and Jackie Sullivan all of Winchester. On the tenor drums we have Dick Reynolds of Woburn and John Regan and Paul Colella of Winchester. The two base drummers are Manuel Pereira of Woburn and Bob Gillotte of Winchester. Donny Amico of Winchester is the corps cymbal player.

As We Go Marching

Sunday, October 30, at the Boston Arena is the big day for the Queensmen, we are entering the last competition of the season. All the top Class "B" corps in the state will be there, and we hope to come home with the first prize. The following night at Woburn, both the drum corp and the drill team will participate in the Hallowe'en parade. This will be a colorful parade and very worthwhile and entertaining to see. On November 11 we will participate in the Veterans Day Parade in Woburn.

Health for All

Watch Out For This One!

Public health officials are worried. In the first five months of this year, there were 50 per cent more cases of hepatitis than during the same period last year. And the Public Health Service knows very well that its figures don't tell the complete story. There's no reason to expect a real epidemic, perhaps, but good reason for everyone to learn something about this illness.

Hepatitis, a disease which attacks the liver, is baffling to medical science and miserable for the victim. A virus causes hepatitis, but nobody's been able to grow it in the laboratory, which means no vaccine can be developed for the present.

Hepatitis, the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association warns, is highly contagious, spreading through infected food, milk, and water, and by touch. It can take anywhere from ten days to almost two months from the time you pick up the bug until the first symptoms appear. When they do, they include fever and chills, headache, tiredness, aching muscles, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain. After about a week of this, the skin and the whites of the eyes may turn yellow with jaundice.

Jaundice lasts about a week or ten days. But hepatitis isn't through with its victim yet. The patient is still thoroughly ill, and so infectious that he must remain in isolation for at least two weeks more, about a month altogether. After that he is still likely to be ill for another two weeks. Then a slow convalescence begins. It is not at all unusual for hepatitis to knock its victims out for three or four months. However, the disease rarely kills its victims.

There's no drug cure for hepatitis. Bed rest and diet is all medicine has to offer right now. Partial protection against hepatitis is possible with a shot of gamma globulin. Since this is better than nothing, if hepatitis appears in your house, next door, or among your friends, go to your doctor promptly for his advice, the Association concluded.

En Ka Society

Tuesday afternoon, October 25, the En Ka Society met for its fall meeting at the attractive home of Mrs. George W. Blackwood, 29 Wedgemere Avenue. About 100 members enjoyed a delicious luncheon served by Mrs. H. Gardner Bradlee, chairman of meetings and her efficient committee.

Mrs. Stephen Nichols, president, opened the business meeting. She announced the addition of Mrs. Herbert Ross, Mrs. William Beal and Mrs. Maxwell McCreery to the membership committee and Mrs. Robert Ingraham and Mrs. Henry Dellicker to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Nichols also announced the resignation of Mrs. Warren Haley as publicity chairman. Mrs. Hollis A. Dyer was appointed to fill the vacancy. The president then called on the committee chairmen for their reports as follows:

Ways and Means—Street Fair: Mrs. Frederick A. Cardin announced there will be a 1961 street fair.

Exchange—Mrs. Winthrop Knox, Jr., announced that the shop is open for business Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., also Friday evenings, 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Come in to see how fancy the inside decor is this year with a coat of white paint and a new dressing room. All the stock is new to us and business is lively.

Civic — Mrs. Richard R. Keppler announced that the En Ka members have donated 384 hours of labor and made 4800 sponges since June. The sponges are used by the Winchester Hospital and by the Winchester Visiting Nurses Association. Also suppers and birthday cakes have been served to the Family at the Home.

Social Service—Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth greeted Mrs. Lyng, Mrs. Wiklund and Miss Nellie Sullivan who came to collect the "Ingathering" for distribution in Winchester. The "Ingathering" or harvesting was a timely feature of this fall meeting as En Ka for the second year has taken over the former activities of the Winchester Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, Inc.

The members bring gifts of NEW clothing, or if preferred gifts of money with which to buy NEW clothing for distribution through the Board of Public Welfare, the Visiting Nurses' Association, and local church groups. En Ka will carry on this "charity that helps other charities" in Winchester. Anyone who is interested may send donations to Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth at 15 Norwood Street.

Membership—Mrs. Percy Bugbee and her committee distributed the new membership books to each member.

Finance—Mrs. Bradford M. Bentley announced the gift of $850 to the Winchester Hospital to be used for the purchase of a new X-ray Film Dryer to replace the worn out one. Also the Red Cross Taxi Fund was given $65 to bring the Fund to $100 at the beginning of the year.

Publicity—Mrs. Hollis Dyer reported that En Ka has been invited by the Winchester Star to send in a feature story on En Ka along with other Winchester Clubs to be published on the editorial page starting November 10th. We are scheduled to be the first of the series. We are very happy to be asked to participate.

The meeting adjourned at 3:30 p.m.

Winchester Toastmistress Club

The Winchester Toastmistress Club met last Monday night, October 24, at the home of Mrs. Pamela Papadinis, 21 Oxford Street. Adhering to the national excitement about the forthcoming elections, the Toastmistress Club had the American political scene as the evening's theme.

As the main speakers of the evening, Mrs. Ann Pyne spoke on Mrs. John Kennedy and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, Mrs. Mary Ann Quimby on Mrs. Richard Nixon and Mrs. Barbara Harrington on Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

The candidates had been spoken on at a previous meeting. As Topicmistress, Mrs. Evelyn Sostek gave out subjects for extemporaneous talks pertaining to the current political picture. Mrs. Phyllis Pierson was speech critic and Miss Hilda Hope general evaluator.

Mrs. Inez Yagjian, 66 Grove Street was welcomed as a new member by Mrs. Barbara Harrington, membership chairman. Mrs. Ginny Neurath, 10 Cabot Street, was the guest of the evening.

Though politics were used by the Winchester Toastmistress Club as the meeting's theme, the organization endorses no issue, organization or person. The subjects were interesting fdr Toastmistress speech training. The objectives of speech training are the development of skill in speaking one's thoughts correctly and exactly, in terms understandable to the listeners, in a tone and manner indicating poise and confidence.

The results to be attained are interest in the speech, respect for the speaker, and a desire to respond favorably to the ideas presented. Members comment on each other's speeches, noting the progress made and suggesting methods of im-

Parkhurst Evening Meeting

The opening meeting of the Parkhurst Parents' Association was called to order in the school lunchroom on October 18 at 8 p.m. by the president, Mrs. John R. Smith.

The minutes were read by Mrs. Richard DeConto, secretary, and Mrs. G. E. Pacetti read the treasurer's report. Everyone at the assembly was particularly interested in the report of the traffic committee, headed this year by Mrs. Albert J. Mayer. Although the town has decided to postpone the sidewalk issue till the March town meeting, it is urged that residents of this area use the intervening time constructively to do whatever they can about the problem. Mrs. Mayer is forming a new larger committee with several representatives from each street or area to coordinate the separate areas and keep them informed of developments. Anyone who would like to help can call Mrs. Mayer at PA 9-4388. A movie will be made of the worst areas and shown to the various parents' associations in town. Temporary bus service will be discontinued the first of next year so now is the time to work on the problem.

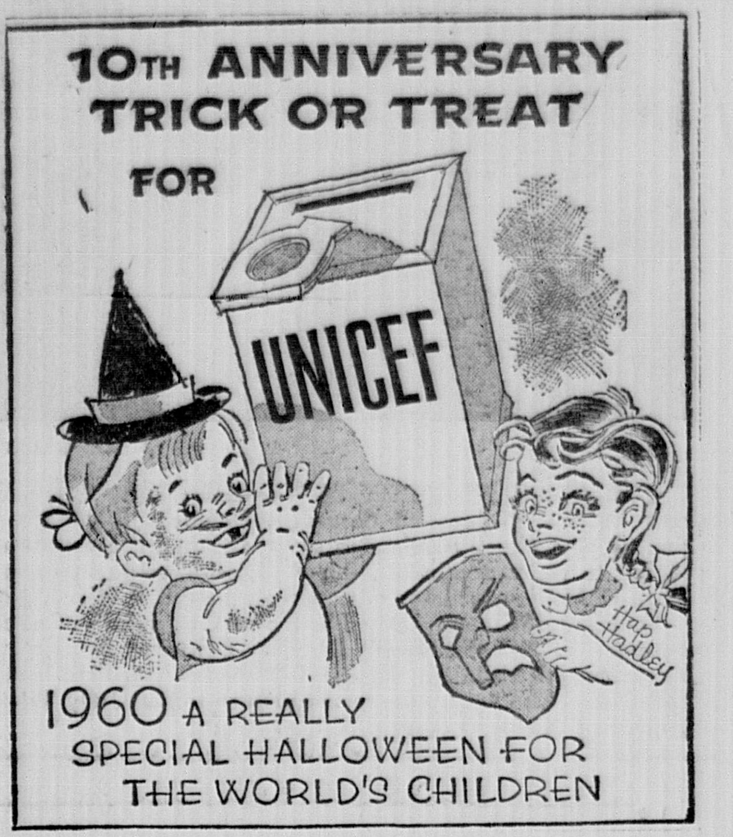
Mr. Sutula, principal of Parkhurst, was the speaker of the evening. He chose as a topic "The Strength of Our Schools,—A Cooperative Understanding of Parents and School." Where once there were two separate spheres, now there is a partnership between homes and schools. Parents are very interested in the school and its aims and are generally eager to help in any way they can. As parents, one of the most valuable attitudes we can instill in our children is a great respect for education. Along with this respect we should also teach them self-discipline so they will be more ready to accept education in the classroom.

The Remedial Reading Program (a misnomer—actually it should be termed a Reading Clinic) is to be offered to pupils in grades 2-6. The program is for children who are working below their individual level of ability as determined by tests. This program is one of the more recent services of the highly-rated Winchester school system.

An open question and discussion period followed. Mr. Sutula commented on the good attendance and reminded parents that school personnel were always available for questions and advice.

Mrs. Theodore Milkie and her social committee served cider and doughnuts after the meeting.

See the Addiator, world's smallest adding machine at the Winchester Star. Perfect for adding checkbooks, budgets, expense accounts, tax work and even for scoring bridge, canasta and golf. Only $3.98.



Trick or Treat

Young people who will be wearing a UNICEF tag (United Nations Children Fund) on October 30th know that each coin they collect means health and hope for children who would lead a short, sick, and hungry life if they received no help.

Think about this and give willingly when Methodist Youth Fellowship comes to your door on Sunday afternoon, October 30th.

THE PATTERN IS CLEAR

Rep. Harrison Chadwick

"INTIMIDATED". Last week my opponent said I tried to "intimidate" him because I sought information about the state job he holds. I have queried a number of Democrats in the House of Representatives regarding his job, and no one I talked to even knows him. Through the Republican Research Staff, we openly and directly asked his boss to tell us what he does. (The job of every state employee is supposed to be public knowledge.) We were told he is a "Consultant on Community Services" at $5200 a year. His travelling expenses, of course, would be extra. When a candidate runs for public office, the voters have the right to be informed whether his experience qualifies him for the office he seeks. If Governor Furcolo's young protege feet this is intimidation, I fear he is mainly concerned with respect to the insignificance of the position and its uselessness as a prerequisite to the political office he is running for.

ATTEMPT TO MISLEAD. From reading my opponent's ads, one might gather there was a special bill to freeze three ex-legislators into jobs with permanent tenure, and that I favored it. For from being a special bill, the Democrats had tucked these freeze-ins—all for Democrats—into the Annual Budget Bill. The Republicans tried to knock them out, and I supported the move. It failed. Because the House and Senate disagreed on several items in the Budget, a conference committee was formed to reconcile the differences between the branches. The vote my opponent refers to was taken on the conference committee's report. Republican motions to amend having been lost, and with only one day remaining before the end of the fiscal year, I voted to accept the report.

WHO GETS THE BLAME? The Budget was initiated by the Democrats and it reached its final form through the votes of the Democrats. If my opponent doesn't like the provisions of the Budget Bill (including the freeze-ins) he is really criticizing the members of the Democratic party rather than me, because it controls the State Government and has sufficient majorities to do things the way it wants to.

IS HE A DEMOCRAT? My opponent's censure of the Democratic Budget Bill causes me to reflect on his party loyalty. Up to now, he has published 12 separate advertisements in this campaign, and not in any one of them has he stated that he is the Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives. Is he ashamed of his party? Does he think he can give Winchester good representation as a lone operator in a government that is geared to the two-party system? I hope he will begin admitting he is a Democrat.

METHODS. After 14 years of service in the House of Representatives, I have no hesitation about stating that I take pride in having compiled an honorable and respected record. Even though they disagree with many of my votes, Democrats who have served with me candidly say mine has been a conscientious and capable record. It is a pity my opponent has not wished to develop the policies and principles on which we have differing views. Instead, he has chosen to try to defame and to destroy a good reputation in order to advance his own quest for office. His misleading statements have not been accidental inaccuracies. As the campaign has progressed, the methods used reveal much about the characteristics of my opponent, and they do not indicate a pattern that makes good public servants.

MORALITY IN GOVERNMENT is still the paramount issue confronting the voters in Massachusetts today. Next week will be the last chance to advertise, and I trust the situation will be such we can get things up to the level of discussing the problems facing the voting public. Again I say, we'd like to hear your ideas on what should be done, Mr. Costello!

Editorials:

Should We Ban Student Driving?

Reports are trickling in from communities who have banned the driving to and from school by high school pupils, and though nothing has been heard from the pupils, the reaction from the communities has been favorable.

The ban on driving to Dedham High School has been in force for a year, the Dedham School Committee being among the first in the State to issue such a ban.

School officials and Police Chief Walter H. Carroll are quoted as saying the ban has been a complete success there. Superintendent of Schools Harvey B. Scribner is quoted as saying the reaction of the community has been favorable and that the school authorities have had excellent co-operation from both parents and police in the matter.

Mr. Scribner stated the success of the ban depends on police co-operation and parental understanding of what the school is trying to do. Mr. Scribner is quoted again as saying "the reaction of many parents is grateful relief that we are doing what they want to do but can't." "Only three students applied for hardship permits to drive," said Mr. Scribner, "and none was granted."

Samuel M. Graves, principal of Wellesley High and former interim principal of Winchester High, is quoted as favoring a ban like Dedham's, and is said to favor towns in his area acting jointly on the suggestion of Registrar Riley that the driving of high school pupils to school be forbidden. Mr. Graves is also said to favor raising the legal driving age to 18.

Students driving to Needham High this year must register for stickers for the first time. Their cars must meet certain maintenance standards and may not have loud exhaust systems if they are to be parked on school property.

In Newton the School Committee has temporarily prohibited driving to the new South High School and many residents of the area have signed petitions asking that the ban be made permanent.

In Newton parking at Newton High School has become a problem and Safety Officer Charles Feeley says he has seen kids arriving at school at 7:30 to get a parking space. He suggests that driving privileges should depend on good scholastic grades.

In a new study of 20,000 high schoolers and their marks the research division of a large insurance company found a definite teen age pattern throughout the United States. Although they found that the automobile has a detrimental effect on grades, it results less from driving to school than excessive social driving week nights. The survey also stressed that the longer a boy owned an automobile, the less chance there is of his being a good student. "Grades and Cars can mix," says the report, "but parents must control the 'mix' with authority, or both safety and scholarship are in danger."

Registrar Riley says he has heard from many communities interested in controlling high school driving. Amesbury, Adams, Bourne and Minnechaug Regional High School in Wilbraham have recently banned driving to school. The Lincoln-Sudbury Regional School Committee has voted to ban the use of motor vehicles by students going to and from school this year. There the safety angle is the paramount factor with roads in the vicinity of the school deemed too narrow for safe on-street parking. Residents in the neighborhood of the school are said to be refusing to permit the use of their property for pupil parking.

Last year Methuen school authorities banned pupils with low grades from driving to school.

Banning student driving to school can have its problems as Newburyport found two years ago. School committees can ban parking only on school property and youngsters parking on adjacent streets jammed up driveways and caused other hazards. The city is, however, gradually extending no-parking during school hour areas until the pupils are being forced to walk further and further to school after parking their cars.

Many communities who feel that car ownership does affect grades have taken no action and in other schools representatives feel the problem is one for parental solution. How far parental intervention in the use of automobiles by teen agers can go is of course a question. In the old days they could have stopped it! But, Horton, these "ain't" the old days!

The Common Finally Gets A Hand!

It is good to know at long last something is to be done about the town's Common. At a meeting held Monday evening the Park Commissioners accepted landscape architects' plans for the improvement of the area and a start is to be made in the near future on a comprehensive program that is aimed to make the Common a thing of beauty.

This makes sense. If we are to continue to have the Common in the center of the town, we have got to do something about the run-down condition this bit of green in the busy square has been assuming for years.

Winchester's Common, together with similar plots in other cities and towns, is historic. Books have been written about commons and village greens, and most communities fortunate enough to have such areas keep them in good condition as reminders of the old days.

Our Common, we have been told, was once, as most commons, used as a grazing place for cattle. Later the boys and young men of the town played ball on its surface. In the early nineteen hundreds the Common, with its well-kept lawn and flower beds, its fountain, with or without the nude cherubs that aroused such a furore among the women's clubs of the town; and finally, its beautiful maple trees, was a pleasant place that was a credit to the community.

This was before the days when it became necessary to lay walks along the outside fringes of the Common and in so doing cut the roots of the trees planted near the street. Many of the once beautiful trees have been slowly dying ever since.

At one time during the summers, the late "Charlie" Lane, for many years Park Commissioner, kept goldfish in the basin of the fountain and many stopped to watch the flashes of gold as the fish swam about.

Gradually the Common has run downhill until in recent years it has been anything but a credit to the town. Many of those who have called Winchester home for a long time will be happy to learn it is to be restored to attractiveness. The Park Commissioners are to be commended for their plan to do just this, and the Rotary Club, which has interested itself in beautifying the Common also deserves a pat on the back.

People Aren't So Bad

Every once in a while something happens that makes you think people are pretty fine after all, and such was the recent incident involving an Eastern Massachusetts bus driver, known only as "Tom."

The bus "Tom" was driving was going through Winchester from Stoneham to Arlington, arriving in the center in the early afternoon. As the bus reached a point near St. Mary's Church a little old lady, (and that seems to describe her so much better than an elderly woman), came out into Washington Street and stopped it.

Naturally the driver expected her to get aboard and was watching her to see if any assistance was needed when she posed a most unusual question.

The "little old lady" had come off without her coat and had decided that she needed it. Would the bus driver please wait for her while she went back to the house nearby and got the wrap.

Now you might have expected that a bus driver with schedules to maintain might have demurred at such a request, but not "Tom." He allowed as how he would wait for the lady and held the bus for about five minutes until she and her coat arrived safely.

The story was told us by an eye witness who was moved by the bus driver's kindness. It made quite a hit with the Star. A kind act has a universal appeal!

Autumn Leaves: No Place To Hide

Children love to play in piles of leaves, but it is not safe for them to do so in those piled in the streets. It especially isn't safe to have them cover themselves with leaves, either to hide from their playmates or while playing by themselves.

A man visited the Star this week still shaking and sweating from missing with his automobile by the closest of margins a child completely covered by leaves in the street. Fortunately the youngster popped his head from the pile just in time for the motorist to stop.

Parents should really emphasize the danger involved in children hiding in piles of leaves in the street. Incidentally the town has by-laws forbidding the raking of leaves from private property into the street, and from burning leaves in the street. Neither by-law seems to mean much nowadays!

Newspaper Advertising Still Leads!

As quoted in the National Editorial Association's bulletin, "Newsprint Facts," published by the Newsprint Information Committee, reports that "growth of the newspaper as an advertising medium has outstripped the growth of commercial television during TV's entire life span."

The article points out that TV was born in 1919 and in the decade since that time annual newspaper ad income has risen to $1.6 billion while TV receipts have increased $1.45 billion. Advertisers invested $8.8 billion in TV during the decade, a tidy sum, but according to Printers' Ink figures, advertisers invested $30.4 billion in newspapers, a much tidier figure.

So don't throw down the little old home town newspaper as a medium of advertising. It too, figures in the $30.1 billion invested in newspaper advertising on a national scale. And don't forget that so far no one has invented a gadget to enable the irate to switch off newspaper ads. They are there for you to read or not as you choose, without the benefit of singing, clowning, or high pressure announcers. From our experience we would say newspaper ads are read. That $30.4 billion invested in them would seem to be good authority for this statement.

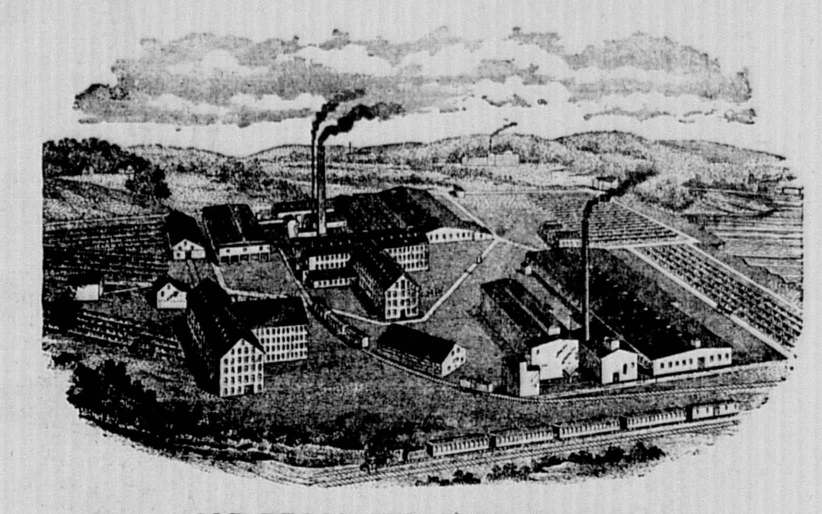
Industry In Winchester - Part I

Colonel Winchester's Suburb Once Boasted Four Tanneries

Winchester today is predominantly a residential suburb fond of its gardens, its two-car garages and its barbecue pits. The idea of industry here strikes us as faintly heretical, something that "other" Towns do, but not Colonel Winchester's Arcadia.

If, in a frivolous moment, we do take note of a vulgar factory or two in our precincts, the Planning Board is prompt to imply that these are under-the-wire aberrations from a fixed and goodly rule of landscaped residences, and single-residences at that!

Have things always been so orthodox? History insists on a firm answer of "No." And if there's any doubt of this, just recall the late Beggs and Cobb tannery, an assault on the eyes and ears and general sensibilities, and incidentally, a continuing source of employment for local men.



OLD BEGGS AND COBB TANNERY

No Zoning Problem

Perhaps the Town's Founding Fathers weren't so fussy. Or perhaps an abundance of land made zoning, ("spot" or otherwise), less of a headache.

In any case, industry has existed along the Aberjona from the days when the noble Squaw Sachem racked up her wampum and John Harvard bought himself a bungalow in the Highlands.

By the early 1800's the Cutters, the Bacons, the Symmes and the Richardsons were doing a thriving grist-mill business. They carded wool, or made machinery for splitting leather or sawing mahogany, or they ground saws for lumbermen.

Dad's Top Hat

In 1824 Robert Bacon purchased one of the Symmes' mills on the lower Aberjona near the present Wedgemere Station for the manufacture of felt. Chapman estimates that Mr. Bacon could whack out 85,000 hat bodies per year in addition to producing felt for other purposes.

Old-timers can still remember Newt Bacon improvising a great ball of felt for the delight of Winchester after-school athletes. (John H. Bacon later operated a felt factory on Lakeview Road from the 1840's to the 1880's, which burned down several years ago.)

About the same time Bacon opened his factory, one Caleb Mills leased another of two mills on the Aberjona for manufacturing sashes and blinds. Also thriving in this area at this time was a mahogany sawing mill operated by Cutter and Porter.

The Iron Horse

With the advent of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, completed in 1835, the once predominantly rural village took on a new bustling air, — not, we might add, merely in women's fashions, but in hard, cold business.

The Black Horse Tavern began packing them in again, particularly during the construction of the railroad from 1931 to 1835. No longer would the Middlesex Canal, frozen over four months out of the year, prevent worthy entrepreneurs from realizing their manifest destiny.

As the Iron Horse first galloped through the village center, Francis and Nathan Johnson, in the tradition of their revolutionary ancestor, Captain Joseph Brown, were pounding away at their anvil, fashioning shoes for horses and oxen, and forging knives for leather splitting. The railroad did them a great deal of good, too; they had a neat monopoly on tie bolts for this roadway to the Lowell mills.

Renaissance

Local industry experienced a kind of renaissance when Samuel Steele Richardson betook himself down to the Abel Richardson estate on the Aberjona and bought it. The property included remnants of the old Edward Converse Mill and farm, both in a state of disrepair.

S. S. renovated the premises and leased portions of it out to such astute business men as Gardner Symmes, who made sashes and blinds, John Whittemore, who managed a dye shop, Asa P. Johnson, who made leather machinery, and Amos Whittemore, who made a forward-looking, if somewhat exotic "shoe-pegging machine," said for all the world to have been quite revolutionary in its time. Nor was S. S. Richardson himself waiting for a street car. He himself moved in to two rooms of the refurbished mill and hammered out door knobs, clock pillows (?) and bedsteads. Entrepreneurs, all.

Abijah's Boy

Abijah Thompson's boy Deacon Benjamin slipped over the line from South Woburn in 1838 to become the first man in Winchester to go into tanning on a big scale.

The Deacon built himself a goodly tannery beside the railroad tracks on what is now Manchester Field.

In the same tradition of commercial immigration, Harrison Parker of Reading bespied a comely maiden of the Winchester Clan Richardson, married her, bought the Jeduthan Richardson mill on the site of the present J. H. Winn Co. and set himself to cutting mahogany veneer. Chapman waxes nostalgic at the image of Parker's team of eight or ten horses plodding through the countryside bearing great cargoes of lumber from the piers of Boston.

Also in the field of manufacture in this period were the redoubtable Whitneys, Father Joel and son Arthur. After 1857, the Whitney family acquired control of the old Richardson mill, which manufactured veneering machines and leather splitting and working machines.

Piano Cases . . .

Encouraging the development of the musical arts, Cephas Church and Joshua Lane bought the old Belknap Mill franchise on Horn Pond Brook in 1847 to fashion "pianoforte cases," until in 1867 they were succeeded by Cowdery, Cobb and Nichols.

In 1868 the J. H. Winn Co. was established here, on the site of the old Jeduthan Richardson mill off Washington Street north of Forest Street. The Winn Company manufactured watch hands.

By 1870 Winchester, with a population of 2,646, had three tanning or leather working plants: The Thompson Tannery near the railway station, the Alexander Mosely tannery at Swanton Street (later Loring and Avery, and Beggs and Cobb), and a small leather working shop on Walnut Street owned by Walter Johnson. The Bacon felt firm was still going strong. The Whitney Machine Co. was still at the Centre, and C., C. and Nichols were still making piano cases.

. . . And Piano Keys

By this time, Charles Porter was making knives and currier's tools in the Whitney building, the Cutters were sawing mahogany at their Horn Pond Brook mill, Zebadiah Abbott was cutting ivory for piano keys, and Alexis C. Cutting ran a lumber yard on what is now Manchester Field.

Winchester boasted a population of 4,861 in 1890. With the inauguration of the North Woburn Horse Railway in 1886 and the advent of electric lights in 1888 the Town was well on its way to the industrial prosperity that would enable Beggs and Cobb to process some 2,000 sides of leather a day, by 1900 even as farmers of the Wedgemere area tended their hens.

Four Tanneries

The year 1890 saw four tanneries operating in Winchester: the Waldmeyer tannery on Manchester Field which was razed when the field was landscaped; the Loring and Avery tannery, formerly the Moseley and later the Beggs and Cobb tannery; the Maxwell tannery destroyed by fire in 1867, rebuilt and later sold to the Whitten Co., for the manufacture of gelatin; and the Blank Brothers' tannery on Lake Street, which burned down in 1910.

In 1890, too, the Whitney Co. was still prosperous at the foot of Converse Mill Pond. Nearby S. C. Small's furniture factory did a good business. School furniture was being made in the old Cutter Mill. The Bacon Felt Co. was still in business, and five years later Patrick Noonan would open up his own firm, the Eastern Felt Co. on Horn Pond Brook Road at the foot of Canal Street.

By 1893 the McKay Metallic Fastener Co. was manufacturing shoe machinery near the river north of Swanton Street. The building was ultimately sold to the Puffer Co. for the manufacture of soda fountains.

With the advent of Allen H. McLatchy's patent leather factory in the late 1890, and the establishment of the Winchester Laundry, later the New England Laundries, in the late 1890's, the traditional pattern of industry in Winchester was clearly set.

But the pattern has been broken in recent months. There is evidence that Winchester is not only willing to admit new industry but is actively seeking it — not the old tanneries and factories of the past, but a new suburban industry of electronics and research. We will consider this question in another article next week.

DISARMAMENT, ANYONE?

By WILSON SULLIVAN

Everybody's "for" disarmament. Why, then, don't we have it? Is it practical, or even desirable? And, notwithstanding the speeches, does anyone really want it?

These questions are answered with precision by Harvard's Richard J. Barnet in "Who Wants Disarmament?" In this dispassionate, closely reasoned analysis Mr. Barnet concludes that the primary question before the nuclear powers is not, as they insist, how to disarm, but whether to disarm.

In East-West disarmament negotiations thus far, Barnet observes, peripheral questions of inspection and demands for prior political settlements have obscured the central question: Under what circumstances short of capitulation would either the U. S or the U. S. S. R really be willing to disarm? Is Moscow awaiting Washington's joyous embrace of Marxism? Is America willing to make concessions only when, as Walter Lippmann put it, "all Soviet babies (are) born with wings, singing 'God Bless America?' "

At heart, Barnet is convinced, both Moscow and Washington realize that nuclear war means genocide. Here the supreme interest is one: the survival of the human species. Both sides realize that it is one world or none.

But both sides are arrested in the nuclear dilemma: the fact that the nuclear stockpile is at once the prime stimulus to the arms race and war and, at the same time, sustaining a "balance of terror," the major sentry of the peace. Neither East nor West is willing to discard its chief weapon of defense. But both East and West look with increasing horror at the savage implications of this weapon, which has already poisoned the atmosphere with radioactive fallout.

The past fifteen years of disarmament negotiations, Barnet writes, have involved a "parallel monologue" in the United Nations, a "tedious charade" of intemperate charges, evasions, retreats, and propagandistic bravado on both sides of the table.

The United States has gone all the way from advocacy of international ownership of nuclear facilities right after World War II, to Secretary Dulles' threat of massive retaliation, to Admiral Radford's assurance that nuclear weapons are now "conventional," to America's recent admission that it is simply "not interested in general and complete disarmament."

The U. S. S. R. has advanced from an insistence that the A-bomb be banned—until it exploded one—to the assurance that only the West's intransigence prevented disarmament, thence to "missile diplomacy," as in the Suez crisis.

But when rivals "hedge against each other's perfidy by retaining retaliatory weapons," Barnet warns, when a nation's safety is thought to require an ever higher "margin of superiority," the precipitate madness and futility of the arms race become obvious. To increase arms is to increase the very tensions that require arms. Indeed, as the arms burden grows, he believes, the temptation to launch a preventive war may also grow.

The climate of tension is made more inclement by irresponsible jingoism on both sides. American fear is encouraged by dire citations of Communist theory: Lenin's dictum that the mechanics of capitalism make world war inevitable and that disarmament will occur only when the proletariat disarms the bourgeoisie and prevails throughout the world; or Mao Tse-tung's conviction that the house of peace is built on sand unless it is built on "the debris of dead imperialism."

Similarly Soviet fear, enhanced by missile-rattling in the U. S. press, preventive war speeches by reactionaries and unreconstructed generals, may impel Moscow to strike the first blow, sparing itself the surprise attack that our U-2 flights might lead it to expect. In each instance the effect of the adversary's policies, not the intent, is the determining factor.

Does the Soviet Union want war any more than we do? Barnet doubts it. It is not necessary, he believes, to attribute a single pure motive to the Soviets to concede that they are as anxious to avoid atomic annihilation as we are. Just as over-optimism precludes adequate security, Barnet points out, so over-pessimism may blind us to realities and to opportunities to reduce tensions.

Altogether, though, Barnet finds present prospects for disarmament not at all bright. Effective disarmament, he points out, would require effective mutual inspection of nuclear plants and delivery systems, which itself would involve dangers of espionage, deception, commercial piracy and reduction of sovereignty that both sides would find intolerable. "A nuclear bomb," Mr. K. has reminded us, "you can hide in your aunt's closet." Similarly, Barnet writes, partial measures—disengagement, conventional disarmament, test bans—all miss the focus of tension and terror, the nuclear stockpiles that no one can see.

Tufts Fletcher School Dean To Be Honored

The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University and Dean Robert B. Stewart of 35 Foxcroft Road will receive the annual United Nations Day Award of the Massachusetts Committee for United Nations Day and the World Affairs Council at a special ceremony on Sunday afternoon (3 p.m.) in the Cohen Auditorium on the Tufts campus in Medford.

The award will be presented by Augustin Parker, chairman of the UN Committee, and will be in recognition of the Fletcher School's outstanding contributions to the promotion of world peace by fostering the aims and purposes of the United Nations, and will also recognize Dean Stewart's leadership of the School for the past 15 years.

The Fletcher School, founded in 1933, has gained an international reputation as a training center for diplomats and has often been referred as "a small United Nations—only more friendly." Its present student body of under 100 represents 70 colleges and universities in the United States and abroad and includes career diplomats and government officers.

The more than 1,000 Fletcher graduates serve in the diplomatic branches of the U. S. government and in the foreign services of over 40 nations. Two hundred are in college and university teaching posts, and another two hundred in international business, banking and commerce. An equal number are engaged in law, journalism, and research.

Dean Stewart, a member of the first graduating class of the Fletcher School, has had a varied career as a diplomat, teacher, and author. He served in the State Department for seven years, was on the staff of the American Delegation to the International Civil Aviation Conference held in Chicago in 1940, and was assistant executive secretary of the International Secretariat at the San Francisco Conference in 1945.

He was a member of the special Massachusetts Committee which tried to fix Boston as the UN site. He is also the author of "Treaty Relations of the British Commonwealth of Nations" and has taught at Harvard University.

On the panel of judges in the contest are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mallery, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stewart. The final selection of the new club name will be made at the Hallowe'en Square Dance at Chidley Hall this Saturday night the 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richardson, chairmen for the square dance evening. predict jigs and reels of the wildest under the leadership of a caller especially imported from a place just east of Saskatchewan.

Library Film Program

Last week's Film Program was well attended on both Friday evening and Saturday morning. This week The Birth of the Camera will take spectators on a visit to Eastman House. The growth and development of photography will be illustrated through unique and unusual exhibits spanning more than one hundred years.

Another of the films in this week's program is the story of Little Greyneck, a duck who injures her wing and cannot fly south. Then because everyone is thinking about Hallowe'en, the program will conclude with Georgie, a motion picture based on a children's book by Robert Bright.

OPEN FRIDAY EVENING

Local Author Autographs Latest Book

Helen Miller Swift, who in everyday life is Mrs. John S. Swift of 41 Fells Road, was at The Spaulding Book Shop on Thompson Street last Friday afternoon autographing copies of her latest book, "First Semester."

As the title would indicate "First Semester" is a story of college life and though modern as today it will bring a nostalgic pang or two to the oldster to skim through its pages. Primarily a story of girls, the sterner sex will find it intriguing and for parents of girls entering college it should prove both interesting, and possibly helpful.

Briefly it tells the story of Betsy and Jan, girls from very different homes, who go to college for very different reasons, Betsy for individuality and Jan for acceptance.

The girls are thrown together as room mates and against a back drop of classes, dates, dances and other college functions work out their salvation. Their friendship survives a bitter quarrel, on which is built a firmer and more lasting friendship as the girls increase in growth and understanding.

Mrs. Swift's "First Semester" is her third book, she having previously authored "Adventure in Store" and "Chocolate Soda." Longmans Green & Co., Inc., of New York are publishing "First Semester" and you'll find it at The Spaulding Book Shop.

No Pumpkins . . .

. . . No cornstalks; witches and hob-goblins safely at rest, and skeletons back in dark closets where they belong, and life, as you look about you, is a lovely bed of roses (or something, something like them)—It isn't a dream! It's a dance! It's a theme—it's a chance to have yourself a fling at Wyman Parents' "Floral Fling."

Surprises, too, are in order for Saturday evening, November 5. Several generous merchants have donated their special wares just for the excitement of the occasion.

Renton's Market . . . the lemmens . . . the Sport Shop . . . Winchester Appliance . . . Forester Flower Shop . . . Fred the Hair Stylist . . . all have joined in, and will certainly contribute to the success of this event. We haven't peeked inside of course but the packages and promises look tempting!

Your lucky ticket is waiting for you—Call Mrs. Robert Byford or a room ticket mother to make sure it finds you!

Boy Scout Troop No. 1580

Plans are under way by the Winchester Sons of Italy No. 1580 to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop. The organization has excellent facilities for its undertaking and many of the members have indicated a strong willingness to help support and lead the troop.

Since the plans are just being made it is essential that potential scouts and their parents do not apply for entrance due to the fact that there are several items yet to be taken care of. As soon as the announcement is made that the plans are to be definite in having the troop, the Sons of Italy will then be open for applicants. It should be mentioned too that all interested in joining the troop must be "screened" to fit the number of leaders available. We feel it wise that we do not start the troop with more than can be handled and then as time goes on, we will keep accepting as many as possible.

The organization was fortunate in having a Committee meeting with Mr. Francis MacFeeley, Scout Executive of the Minuteman Council. Mr. MacFeeley expressed the aims and objectives of such a troop and acquainted those present with the duties and responsibilities that goes with a Scout Troop. However Mr. MacFeeley stated that the organization could have a very successful Troop because he noticed that many were at the meeting with him have had several years experience in scouting.

Those at the meeting were Carmine Frongillo, Anthony Vespucci, Carl Bertolucci, Mike Saraco, William Fiore, Frank and Dom Provinzano, who made up the Committee. Also present were Anthony Barbaro, Bob Fiore who is Scoutmaster, Frank Dattilo who is the Institutional Representative, and Randolph Kazazian the chairman.

"Double Doors"

Comedy and suspense, two of the most difficult plays for any theatre group, have not fazed the Unitarian Players. Last Spring, "Visit to a Small Planet" was presented to a full house with great success. Next week, this talented, hard working group are performing in the absorbing, suspenseful mystery "Double Doors", by Elizabeth McFadden.

Family pride, like anything else in this life, can be pursued to a fetish and from there on to a mania, if one is inclined to dwell inordinately on such a hobby. The disease is apt to break out in mild form in some old lady in any family, but with Victoria Van Bret it pyramids into insanity.

Cruelly, and relentlessly, she rules her family. Her young half-brother marries a girl of lower social standing, and Cornelia's cold rage is fixed against the lovely bride. Her cunning increases with her insanity and she stealthily plans the girl's unhappiness even to death. But never once does she lose the outward charm of the born aristocrat.

Always she commits her atrocities in the manner of the true Van Bret. Discover for yourselves what is behind the "Double Doors" on Friday or Saturday, November 4th and 5th, at Metcalf Hall. Curtain time is 8:30. Call Mrs. Robert D. Eddy at PA 9-5018 for tickets or buy them at the door.

By "deluge," we mean the hordes of children who will besiege their schools on November 3rd and 4th for tickets to the musical drama, "Noah's Ark." This original production is being presented by the Community School Association for the purpose of bringing "live" theater to the children of Winchester.

This year there will be some forty-four children ranging in age from four to fourteen playing the parts of Noah, his family, and his voyagers on the Ark which include elephants, tigers, rabbits, mice, and even one green cobra!

Mrs. Jane Flint has composed the musical drama "Noah's Ark," and the director, Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, has inserted the first act of Andre Obey's famous play, "Noah" between acts of Mrs. Flint's script. This not only gives the children more opportunity for mature acting but lends dramatic structure to the production as a whole.

With the children, Mrs. Samoiloff has created many exciting scenes; one of which portrays the unbelievers taunting Noah and his procession of animals who seek sanctuary in the Ark. We know the audience will be delighted with the marching song "Safe, Safe in the Ark," as well as the lighted, dancing river which finally engulfs the Scoffer. This is indeed a thrilling moment which the actors and the audience share alike.

John Worcester and Edward Marcy will alternate in the part of Noah, and Betsy Callaham and Susan Bassett will alternate as Mrs. Noah.

The musical score is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham, who is also playing the piano accompaniment. Mrs. Abe Zimmerman is assisting in this field of rehearsals. With Mrs. Witham, adding his own dramatic beat of the drums, will be James von Rosenvinge, who has acted in three previous Children's Theater productions.

The children will first vote to determine which of their many color sketches of the Ark will be selected for the final stage settings; then they will paint the sets themselves under the guidance of Mrs. Ellen Michaud, Mrs. Umberto Moran, and Mrs. Samoiloff. Some 24 gay posters with these mounted color sketches can be seen about town in your merchants' windows and in your school.

Mrs. Michaud has designed the costumes incorporating the ideas of the children as much as possible.

Mrs. Raymond Grandfield is assisting the director as well as other ladies who are contributing a great deal of their time and devotion toward creating, with the children, the unequalled thrill of "live" theater for Winchester's young and young in heart.

In order to share this excitement with you, the theater group requests good theater manners be observed by the audience so that nothing will be lost from the stage.

Remember to get your tickets at school — Thursday, November 3, and Friday, November 4, for Noah's Ark, to be presented on Friday, December 2.

The Fortnightly

United Nation's Day, well as International Relations, was celebrate by The Fortnightly on Monday afternoon, October 22 at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Hall with Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch presiding.

After devolutions led by Mrs. Robert H. Perkins, Mrs. Kingman P. Cass and Mrs. Walter W. Winship dedicated the new 50-star flag, replacing the one that hed been in use for 35 years. Mrs. Winship gave an interesting history of the flag, beginning on January 1, 1776 when George Washington took command of the Continental Army he had 13 red and white stripes (following the example of the Dutch) with the British Union Jack on the blue field, which has changed to a field of stars in the War of 1812. Six years later Congress voted for 13 stripes for the original colonies, with a star for each state as it came into the Union.

Mrs. Hatch read a citation from the General Federation awarded The Fortnightly (through Mrs. Bergquist) for sponsoring the Community singing on the Common Christmas Eve.

She then presented Mrs. Harold H. Given, a former president of The Fortnightly, and and holding offices in the State Federation, who wore a beautiful Norwegian costume of blue embroidered with pink flowers and a handmade white linen blouse, as she gave her program "Norway, My Native Land." She was born in Oslo, and going to the University there before coming to Boston University for more study.

She showed many interesting unusual and splendid color slides, some taken by Mrs. Paul Atwood four years ago, but most of them taken last year by Mrs. Given. She said Norway had a small population, because only one fifth of the land could be used, because it was such a mountainous and rugged country. There were scenes taken in the large cities, villages, and the marvelous views, all the way from Oslo in the South to Lapland within the Artic Circle. It was a most enjoyable program of lovely pictures and entertaining comments.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman of the Legislation Committee made a plea for a large and thoughtful vote on November 8th.

Everyone was invited for coffee and delicious coffee cake made by our former president, Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist, served at the table decorated with tiny flags of many nations by Mrs. John B. Wills, Mrs. Conrad S. Rosander and Mrs. Harry Glover poured.

Unitarian Bazaar Nov. 15 and 16

The Bazaar Committee of the Winchester Unitarian Alliance has been busy since last February planning and preparing for the Old Fashioned Country Fair to be held November 15 and 16 at the Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Erwin W. Renz, Jr., and Mrs. George E. Kimball are cochairmen of this affair, which promises to offer more varied and fascinating articles than ever.

Last year's Art Gallery, was so successful that it will be repeated this year. Besides the many articles for sale—books, candy, mittens, clothing, flowers, food, tree trimming, etc.—there will be a tea at 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday, supper on Tuesday with two sittings, the first at 6:00 p.m. and the second at 7:00 p.m., and evening coffee from 7:30 to 9:30. Wednesday morning coffee at 10:00 a.m. and luncheon from 11:45 to 1:00.

So mark the dates of November 15 and 16 on your calendars in order that you won't miss out on the fun. Look for more details in the Star later.

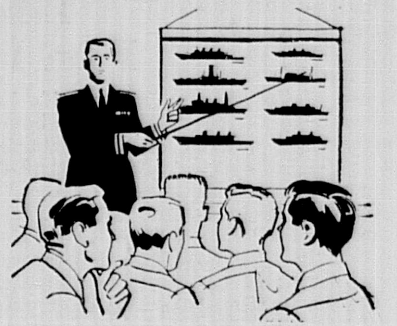
HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE DRAMATIC STORY OF JOHN A. VOLPE

Starting as a hod carrier and union plasterer, John A. Volpe came up the hard way. During the depression, like so many others, he found himself out of a job.

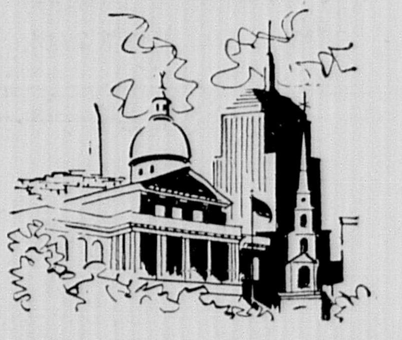
VOLPE CONST. CO

Ten days after the bank holidays, converting a small insurance policy into capital, he founded his own construction company, built it into a multi-million dollar business.



During World War II, Volpe helped train the Navy's fighting Seabees who wrote, in blood and sweat, a glorious chapter in America's military history. He also headed the Officer Procurement program of the Seabees.

As Gov. Herter's Public Works Commissioner and later as President Eisenhower's Federal Highway Administrator, he served with honor and ability, saving taxpayers millions of dollars while launching a vast network of highways.



As President of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, Volpe helped draw the blueprint which will change the face of Boston, bring new prosperity and better living to the entire state.

John A. Volpe has been nationally recognized by his industry and received the Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"GRANDMOTHER'S CORNER." A group of First Congregational Church women working for the Church Fair to be held November 9 and 10. Left to right, Mrs. Everett Goss, Mrs. Robert Lybeck, Mrs. Frank Clifford, Mrs. H. L. Etheridge, Mrs. Waldo Lyon, Mrs. Gerald Barrett, Mrs. Ragnar Brandt, Mrs. Arthur Butters, Mrs. Clinton Bennett, Mrs. Rex Crandall, Mrs. Robinson Abbott, Mrs. Gladys Wales and Miss Ruth Dustin.

The Artists' Mart . . . First Congregational

The "Artists' Mart," annual Fair of the First Congregational Church will be held this year on Wednesday and Thursday, November 9 and 10. Wednesday evening, dessert and coffee will be served at 7:15 and the Fair will be open from 8 to 10 p.m. Thursday, the general Fair activities will be open from 10 to 5:30 with a dinner and entertainment at 6:30.

The gay and striking decorations, all reflecting the naturally colorful theme of an artists' market place are being finished and stored away one by one by the decorations committee under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Keith Cloe and Mrs. Richard Keppler.

The effect of priceless stained-glass windows will be achieved by exquisite, individual paper masterpieces which will be inserted into the many windows throughout the Fair area.

Mrs. Cloe has offered to do pastel portraits at the Fair so all may see the progress of her lovely work. Many fortunate people will leave the church on Thursday, November 10th, proud possessors of one of Mrs. Cloe's portraits.

The Decorative Arts Table (Mrs. Miles Weaver and Mrs. J. H. Miley, co-chairmen) will have many unusual Christmas and fall decorations with a new ware, ceramics, added this year.

The so-called "Grandmothers' Corner" has become a perennial favorite because the loveable, soft stuffed toys and animals make perfect Christmas gifts for any baby or small child. All women are grateful to the Church Grandmas for one very unrelated reason.

Grandmothers' Corner utilizes in its doll-stuffing, all of the sterilized, discarded nylon hosiery which all women collect "for some good reason!"

The Woodcraft Corner, very generously taken over by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Newman, will be selling an uncounted number of fascinating hand carved wooden articles made by Mr. Newman over the period of the past five or six months.

A new and undoubtedly popular idea this year is to be revealed by Mrs. Harold Pyne and Mrs. Louis Bassett when they open to the public the sale of copper products on their Copper Craft Table. The very special item will be the letter-basket upon which has been etched the seal of the First Congregational Church. All of these items have been made by members of the committee who have been attending weekly copper classes this fall.

The Children's Fair, in a separate part of the church building, has long since been established as the yearly, eagerly-anticipated event in the lives of the younger set. Opening at 11:30 for lunch, and running until 5:30, this part of the Fair will carry through the brilliant colors of the Artists' Mart.

"Paintings" by the children will be on display, and eats, grabs, gifts, together with 3:30 and 4:15 movies will attract the local youngsters. "The Junior Mrs." group of the church are working on the Church Fair with Mrs. Harrison Elwell and Mrs. Achilles Penna as co-chairmen.

Among the other tables are the following, the names of which need no explanation. The chairmen are also listed:

Plants, Mrs. Reid Weedon, Jr.

Knit Goods, Mrs. George Gowdy and Mrs. Carlton Dane

Paper Goods, Mrs. Gilbert Hood, Jr., and Mrs. Richard Johnson

Aprons, Mrs. William Martin and Mrs. Clarence Whorf.

Antiques, Mrs. Norman Duehring, and Mrs. Daniel Morse

Dolls' Clothing, Mrs. Elliott Walters, and Mrs. Harry Swanson

Gift Table, Mrs. Allen O. Eaton

Jewelry, Mrs. Roger Carpenter

Check Room, Mrs. Albert Haskell, and Miss Helen Hall

Monitor, Mrs. Walter Winship

Baby Sitting Service on Thursday from 10 to 4, Mrs. Thomas Walsh

Chidley Hall itself will be devoted entirely to different "eating events!" Dessert and coffee on Wednesday; coffee, lunch, tea and dinner on Thursday. Special announcements about this enticing section of the Fair will be presented by Mrs. David F. Choate, Jr., in next week's Star, together with information about the "Special Interests" program and the very popular and successful "Silent Auction."

Chairman for the Fair this year is Mrs. Davenport Brown with Mrs. E. Jon Carlson and Mrs. Allen O. Eaton as co-chairmen.

The Planning Board is made up of Mrs. W. Campbell Ross, Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Richard Keppler, and Mrs. Gilman Wallace.

Treasurer is Mrs. Carl Sittinger and publicity, Mrs. William D. Barone.

Antiques Study Group

Have you been to Portsmouth, New Hampshire lately? If you haven't you had better go soon, for the old city is changing fast, according to Dr. Howard Oedel of Concord, who took the Winchester Antiques Study Group on a picture tour of the place last Tuesday evening, October 18. The club met at the Royall House in Medford for its first get together of the season. Mr. Clarence Blake welcomed members and their friends after the summer break.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman introduced the speaker and in the future will act as chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. John Wills and Mrs. Everett Vincent had charge of the refreshments served after the talk, with Mrs. Everett Kidder pouring.

Dr. Oedel made clear what a treasure house of the past Portsmouth is today. An active movement is afoot for restoration of the city to some of its ancient glories. Up to five years ago Portsmouth had hardly changed for one hundred and fifty years. The provincial capital of the New Hampshire colony and the important port of fishing and sailing days, the city was left in the backwash of progress in the nineteenth century. Whole streets remained about the same, the stately mansions usually kept in good repair, the humbler frame dwellings slowly yielding to weather and neglect. The point of no return has been reached. Either the old town must be saved with a planned restoration or the whole flavor of the past will be swept away with the inpetus in the region.

Williamsburg has now had sixty million dollars spent on it. In New Castle, Delaware, the local people by individual action have, by a kind of Operation Boot-strap, lifted their town from its doldrums into an attractive restoration of a quaint old town. But in Portsmouth it has been hard to arouse public interest. Sporadic efforts have been made, but no concerted push has stirred up enthusiasm enough to make a proper restoration possible. At the present time it seems likely that the federal government will spend $600,000 in a combined sort of National Movement and urban renewal projects. If that commitment could be pushed through, the impetus could well carry the city on to a revitalization that would make it one of the most interesting and beautiful cities in New England. The possibilities are all there.

Dr. Oedel has made himself thoroughly familiar with the old city. His slides show the best known houses, but more than that, his pursuit of his hobby has carried him into the nooks and crannies pervaded with the true scent and sight of the past lost to most of the country.

After a question period the formal part of the entertainment came to an end. The next meeting of the club was announced for November 15. Members were asked to bring their "summer finds" to the Rich Room at the Winchester Public Library.

United Nations Week Youth Fellowship

As part of the observance of United Nations Week the Youth Fellowship of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will canvass this Sunday afternoon for donations to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, commonly known as "UNICEF". The fund, which is administered by the United Nations in all parts of the world provides milk for babies and food and clothing and other necessities for underprivileged children. Through this fund many children's lives have been saved among war victims and others in destitute circumstances.

The Youth Fellowship Members, both junior and senior high school age groups, will meet at the church at 3 o'clock to be given tags and assignments. They will return to the church at 5:30 when a "snack supper" will be served.

Following supper the motion picture, "An American Girl", dealing with an inter-faith subject, will be shown for the entire group. The program will conclude with a Devotional Service and Fellowship Circle.

Sharon Durfee, president of the M.Y.F. and Richard Pendergast, chairman of the Outreach Committee, are in charge of the program.

First Baptist Women's Fellowship

Last Wednesday evening, October 19, the Women's Fellowship of First Baptist Church held its first meeting of the season. After dessert and coffee the business meeting was held with Mrs. Walter Y. Josephson presiding. Reports were read, the proposed budget was presented, discussed, amended and accepted.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Donald Marchant of Stoneham led the devotions, "Behold the Cross".

Seven Fellowship members then presented a play "The Challenge of the Cross" in which an angel of the Lord comes down to earth to seek disciples for Christ. Six offer their services. Five of them were turned aside because they could not accept the self-denial, suffering, heaviness of burden, self-lessness, courage, humility, and perseverance required of one who accepts Christ the Lord. The sixth disciple listens to the voice of the Evangel and leads the others to pick up their crosses and follow Christ.

The following women participated:

Evangel	Doris Emery
1st Disciple	Harriet Foster
2nd Disciple	Daisy Smith
3rd Disciple	Claire Mullen
4th Disciple	Helen Macdonald
5th Disciple	C. J. Lockwood
6th Disciple	Mimi Allison (Soloist)

Home And Garden Club

The Winchester Home and Garden Club opened its season's activities with an outstanding fall program on October 19th at Crawford Memorial Church. Mrs. Raymond Cronin, lecturer and flower arranger showed the ingenious ways ordinary fall materials available to everyone, could be created into very striking and colorful arrangements to glorify any occasion or beautify any home. By emphasizing color, line and style, dried materials, fruits, vegetables, and branches were fashioned into very beautiful and livable arrangements. Mrs. Cronin's clever use of materials generally overlooked or considered unimportant, many practical and useful helps in drying and keeping flowers, made her lecture a good beginning for what promises to be a great year of fine programs.

Mrs. Frederick W. Cole presided. Mrs. Hazen Ayer assisted by Mesdames Russell Pearl, H. Parker Melanson, Allen Bryson, Ray Brown, Edward J. McDavitt, W. Campbell Ross, George H. Lemay served a delicious dessert preceding the meeting. Mrs. Gerald Hills, retiring president, and Mrs. Frederick Cole, incoming president presided at the tea table. The beautiful and colorful table arrangement was made by Mrs. Joseph Vaccaro and Mrs. James Mason.

Mrs. Granville Gilpatrick enlisted helpers for the making of decorations to be sold at the Christmas Workshop and Greens Sale to be held on December 7th at the First Baptist Church. All members are urged to help on this project. Mrs. Gilpatrick is opening her home on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from ten o'clock to two o'clock to make wreaths, bird feeders, and Christmas decorations of all kinds. Bring a sandwich, coffee will be served.

Mrs. Alexander P. Aiken was chairman of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Richard Keppler.

Red Cross Blood Program Meeting

The opening fall dinner meeting of the Mass. Regional Blood Program in District 2 was held at the Winchester Country Club on Thursday evening, October 20th. Twenty-four communities, in the Greater Boston area, represent this District.

At the head table were Robert E. Baker, M.D., Director of the Mass. Regional Blood Program; Lawrence B. Barnard, Chairman of the Mass. Regional Blood Program; Harold L. Henchy, District 2 Chairman; Mrs. Joseph J. Doyle, Winchester Chapter Blood Program Chairman; Miss Dorothy Green, representing Arlington as co-hostess with Winchester and Mrs. Wallis Moulding, representing Winchester Chapter. Honor guest was Mrs. Everett P. Stone of Winchester.

Communities represented at this meeting were: Arlington, Bedford, Cambridge, Lexington, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Reading, Wakefield, Waltham, Winchester and Winthrop.

The Mass. Regional Blood Program is one of the 54 Red Cross Regional Programs in the United States. Organized on a state-wide basis with 81 participating chapters operated primarily by volunteers, and securing blood from volunteer donors, the program plays a major role in meeting the need for blood and blood products in civilian, federal and state hospitals in the Commonwealth. Meetings are held quarterly for the purpose of informing community Blood Program Chairmen of the latest developments in blood research, the current needs of hospitals and the exchange of ideas on successful methods of blood donor recruitment.

Mr. Barnard pointed out that as our population grows and medical knowledge increases, the need for blood and blood products increases. Intensified effort is required to meet this challenge! Therefore, chapters have been asked to accept more bloodmobile visits. As an illustration of how it can be done, Mr. Barnard cited a local town, comparable in population to Winchester, as increasing a previous summer collection from 46 pints to 164 pints of blood during the past summer. Excellent cooperation from their churches was mainly responsible for this success.

Many hospitals rely upon the Red Cross program for their total blood supplies. Others depend upon Red Cross for supplemental and emergency blood supplies. Hospitals may charge for their services in transfusing blood, BUT NO CHARGE IS EVER MADE FOR BLOOD DONATED BY RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS.

The meeting was closed by the Chairman, Mr. Henchy at 10 p.m.

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club

Refreshments will be served in a most unusual manner, a hostess night at the hall. The number you choose at the door will determine who your hostess will be.

Nurse Aide Training At Local Hospital

In the very near future the Winchester Hospital will offer to qualified persons the opportunity to enroll in a nurse aide training program. Successful applicants will receive 4 weeks of comprehensive training, consisting of classroom instruction, demonstration and experience in patient care under the supervision of Mrs. Marion E. MacKay, R.N. After successfully completing the course, trainees will join the nursing staff for full time service, with all tours of duty available. Thousands have found this to be a stimulating and rewarding experience.

Training will be offered to both men and women who are between the ages of 18 and 55 years, and who are sincerely interested in people and their welfare. Appointments for a personal interview should be made with the nursing office at the hospital.

Blocked Kick Deciding Factor

Winchester and Melrose Battle To Thrilling 14-14 Tie

A blocked kick with less than four minutes remaining in the final quarter gave favored Melrose an opportunity to eke out a 14-14 tie with a battling underdog Winchester team in a Middlesex League football thriller before some 6,000 partisan fans on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon.

With the short time remaining and Winchester protecting a 14-6 lead, the game seemed definitely on the way to the Sachems' wigwam above the murky Aberjona, especially in view of the Sachems having stopped the vaunted Red Raiders and taken the ball on downs at their own 15 yard line, on a fourth-and-three situation, just about the four minute mark. Most of the Winchester fans, and we suspect not a few of those in the big Melrose crowd at the game felt that was it!

Neville and Bellino had made a first down and Bellino had been stopped with little yardage at the line when the Sachems were called for a personal foul, putting the ball back at the 15.

Hall broke through the Melrose frontier and drove and dodged his way to the 33, just missing going all the way when he was tripped by a desperate hand grab by a Melrose boy on the ground. Neville was thrown for a yard loss on an attempted bootleg, but Bellino punched his way to the first down at the Winchester 38 and the Sachems seemed on their way.

However, a fumble resulted in a loss of five and though Hall picked up this yardage through the line, a third-and-ten pass fell incomplete, and Bellino dropped back to kick. Winchester uses a short kick formation which makes the kicker a sitting duck if any of the defenders of his kicking leg misses his man. Some one missed this time and Simmons, Melrose right end, barged through to block the kick which was recovered by Norris at the Winchester 30.

From here the Raiders scored in three plays. Curran picked up two at the line and Reardon drove through to a first down at the 19. On the next play Hardy behind three blockers drove off Winchester's left flank to go over standing up. A Winchester tackler had him momentarily at the 10, but the Melrose boy pulled away.

This made the score 14-12, and it was necessary to pick up two conversion points to tie. These the Raiders made easily by executing the same maneuver with Hardy circling the Winchester left end to go into the end zone untouched.

Less than two minutes remained as jubilant Melrose kicked off to Winchester, but their glee was short lived.

Bell ran the kickoff back to the Winchester 35, and immediately Neville shot off a pass toward the near sideline with Mikey Bellino sprinting to reach the toss. Bellino had both defenders beaten, but heading toward a sideline jammed with people wasn't able to hang on to the ball. It is a question whether he ever had possession, for if he had, school was out! No one would have caught him!

Once again Neville threw and this time his long arching pass was gathered in by Benincasa on the Melrose 24. The stands were in an uproar!

Hall drove through to the Melrose 15, and once again Neville tried to hit Bellino at the far sideline near the goal line. Three men were covering Mike as they had all afternoon, and one of them intercepted the ball at about the five yard line, running it back to the Melrose 30. Then it was Winchester's turn to sweat it out.

Kasprzak hit Reardon for a first down at the Melrose 44 and Reardon drove to the Winchester 36. Here two passes were knocked down by Bellino and a try at the fighting Winchester line netted only two yards.

However, a holding penalty against the locals put the ball on the 19, and Melrose elected to try for a field goal.

In complete silence Cargill took up his position for the kick, the ball was snapped, touched down and booted, hard and high enough but wide of the mark. The game ended on that play.

The game was one of the most thrilling played in Winchester in recent years with the underdog Sachems giving the vaunted Red Raiders, defending Middlesex League champions, a real battle all the way.

In statistics Melrose made 16 first downs to 14 for Winchester, with the Raiders having the edge in rushing 234 to 168. The Sachems had the advantage passing, completing five of 13 for 160 yards and two touchdowns while Melrose also completed five of 14 passes for 95 yards. Three of Winchester's passes were intercepted, the last interception slamming the door on Winchester's final try to pull the game from the fire.

On Neville's behalf it should be said that he was rushed badly by the big Melrose linemen all afternoon and often had to pass hurriedly. Winchester lost 30 yards in penalties, two 15 yarders that really hurt. Melrose lost 25 yards in penalties. Each team fumbled twice, Melrose recovering both its bobbles one for a 20 yard gain. Winchester recovered one of its fumbles.

Winchester kicked off and Melrose started fast, driving from its 35 to the Winchester 26, the drive being kept alive when a fumble by Kelliher in the midst of a 28 yard run from his own 35 to the Winchester 37, had the ball bounce right back in his arms as he sped along.

Here an offside penalty hurt the Raiders and Brink broke through to get Kelliher on a key play, Winchester finally taking the ball on downs at the 19.

Winchester immediately put on a sustained drive of its own that reached the Melrose 37 where the Raiders recovered a Winchester fumble.

Once again the Raiders drove goalward, capitalizing on a defensive weakness in the Winchester left flank. With a first and 10 at the Winchester 15, however, the Sachems stiffened and with Morison and Collins showing some nice defensive play, Winchester took the ball on downs at its 18.

The Sachems again advanced to the Melrose 34 where a bootleg play resulted in a seven yard loss and Bellino kicked out of bounds at the Melrose 17.

The first quarter ran out during the drive, and stout defensive work by Morison and Benincasa once again slowed the Raider drive and they kicked to the Winchester 27. Winchester couldn't go in turn and Bellino kicked to Reardon who made a nice runback from his own 35 to the Winchester 44.

Spearheaded by some hard running by Reardon and a Kasprzak to Reardon pass good for a first down at the 16, Melrose went all the way.

It was Hardy who swept right from 16 yards out and the score, but Winchester stopped the try for the extra two points up the middle.

Hall made a 25 yard runback of the kickoff to his 35 and Bellino broke through for a first down at the 47, but here a pass was intercepted and Melrose took over.

The Raiders were forced to kick from midfield and instead of booting the ball threw a pass on fourth down from kick formation which fell incomplete, giving Winchester the ball.

Here Neville rolled out and rifled a long pass down field that Bellino just failed to reach about the 10 yard line. A quickie pass was batted down, but on third and 10 Neville again passed down field to Tommy Bell who made a great catch at the Melrose 30 and went all the way, pulling away from the only defender who had a chance at him. Bellino was ruled short of the two point conversion through the line, on a call that many felt took no notice of forward progress.

Two plays later the half ran out and the teams left the field in a 6-6 deadlock with few caring to prognosticate the final ending of the game.

Winchester struck like lightning with resumption of play. Geoghegan ran the short kickoff back to the Winchester 40. Fourth down found the Sachems two feet short of the necessary first down yardage, and Neville called on Bellino, Mikey breaking through for a first down at the Melrose 35.

From this spot Neville rolled out and shot a pass downfield to Bellino who grabbed the ball about the 15 and went all the way as the Winchester stands went wild. Dave Hall busted into the end zone on a buck and Winchester led 14-6.

Benincasa broke through to drop Hardy for a 13 yard loss to halt the ensuing Melrose drive, and the Raiders went into kick formation.

Once again Melrose passed instead of kicking and once again the pass was no good, Winchester taking over.

In the final minutes of the third quarter the teams exchanged kicks, but in the opening minutes of the final quarter Melrose intercepted a Winchester pass at its 36 and after Hardy made a first down at the 48. Kasprzak hit Simonds with a long one for a first down at the Winchester 24. Here Keene broke through to drop Hardy for a loss and the Sachems finally held for downs at the 15. The final thrilling three minutes of the game have already been recounted.

Melrose on the field looked like a much bigger team than Winchester, and the Raiders hit hard. In fact neither team asked or gave any quarter. The Sachems did themselves proud in their first real acid test of the year and Melrose was mighty happy about that tie ball game. It didn't look like they'd get it with only three minutes remaining and Winchester in possession. The summary:

St. Mary's Blanks Marlboro, 18-0, At Marlboro

St. Mary's newly organized Parochial School football team won its opening game of the season last Sunday afternoon at Marlboro High field in Marlboro, blanking Immaculate Conception of Marlboro, 18-0.

Highlighting the game were Rigney-to-McGee passes that accounted for two touchdowns and the bucking of Hession, who went over from 15 yards out for the other score.

Time and again the tackling of John Bees turned Marlboro back with MacDonald, Dalton and Ray Connolly other mainstays on defense.

St. Mary's offense is sparked by Rigney, McGee and Hession with Kevin Gannon, Ray Connolly and John Bees playing well defensively. An unfortunate shoulder injury to Gannon leaves the "Saints" a bit thin on the wings.

St. Mary's starting lineup at Marlboro was MacDonald, le; Bees, lt; Dalton, lg; O'Donnell, c; DeTeso, rg; Riley, rt; Gannon, re; Rigney, qb; McGee, lhb; Hession, rhb; Crotty, fb. Substitutes included Holland, Tierney, Connolly, J. Stabile, Gallagher, M. Stabile, Sylvester, P. Rigney, Sullivan, Mainberger and O'Neil.

This newly organized football team is a part of an athletic program that is being instituted at the school with the full cooperation of the pastor, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Manion. It is planned to continue this sports activity through the fall, winter and spring months.

St. Mary's plays its second game at Leonard Field Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with St. Catherine's of Charlestown. The game will be played under "Pop" Warner League rules with weights limited to 115 pounds. The "Saints" hope to play at least part of their schedule under these weight limitations.

St. Mary's coaching staff, headed by Harry Stabile, includes Lou Errico, "Jumbo" Marrone, Frank Day and "Stutz" DeMinico. At present the staff is bothered with weight limits, injuries and the serious problem of making a living!

Local Harriers Post Shutout Win Over Waltham

In a non-league meet the local cross country runners posted a shutout win over inexperienced Waltham, 15 to 50.

On October 18 the Red and Black entertained a newcomer to their schedule as Waltham High, running cross country for the first time, proved to be easy prey for the home club.

Forty-nine runners took off over the rugged home course and the pattern of victory was established early as a solid group of Winchester boys took over the lead before the halfway mark. Running easily, the local harriers continued to build up a substantial lead with Captain Shea sprinting in first in the good time of 17:16.

A short distance back teammate Phil Mead crossed the line in the runnerup position. Russo, Brenner, Johnson, Anderson, Scherban, Gay and Dee followed across the line in that order Lang of the visitors broke the spell in the 10th spot.

The JV's posted win number four as they also shutout the Waltham team. Gay, who has shown steady improvement in recent races, took the first position with Dee, Moncy, Bird, and Siders sealing the win.

MISS CORINNE MONASTESS

Miss Corinne Monastess, who is currently teaching at the Lincoln School, is really a third grade teacher on the staff of the new West Side school. She is teaching at Lincoln until the new school is completed.

Born in Medford, Miss Monastess makes her home in that city at 10 Valley Place. She graduated from Medford High School in 1956, and from Lesley College in 1960. She is doing her first teaching here in Winchester, and admits to liking it here!

Miss Monastess lists reading and playing the piano as her principal hobbies. She studied piano seriously for eight years, but now plays mostly for her own amusement and has a liking for as she put it "popular stuff."

K. of C. Teenage Dances Commence November 11

The enthusiastic response by Winchester's young people to the Teenage Dances held last year, under the auspices of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, has prompted the Council to continue them this year.

These well run dances, in which committee members, chaperones and the young people themselves have cooperated to ensure a good time for everyone with nothing at which a questioning finger could be leveled. The Council Hall is in a well lighted spot in the center of the town with a town parking lot beside it.

This should be reassuring to parents as should the regulation, adopted unanimously last year, requiring that boys wear coats and ties and that girls wear dresses or blouses and skirts. This regulation added a note of dignity to the dances last year and was completely accepted by the boys and girls who quickly realized its purpose.

The Council holds these dances to enable Winchester teen agers and their friends to enjoy themselves dancing at a nominal fee under the best of conditions. It is the Council's answer to giving young people something to do!

Opening date for this year's dances is Friday evening, November 11, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. High school and junior high school boys and girls are invited to attend. "The Plaids," a band of Winchester High School boys, will play.

ST. MARYS SCHOOL ASSEMBLY HONORED FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION

Birthday Party For U. N. Organization

The first general assembly of St. Mary's School was held on Monday morning, October 24, to honor the fifteen-year-old U.N.O. The members of Grade Eight handled the entire assembly, and they explained well the nature, purpose, and accomplishments of this world wide organization. The chairman of the program was the class president, Kevin O'Donnell, who with the able assistance of his classmates commanded a splendid performance.

The topics dealt with were the Birth of the UN, Departments and Agencies of the UN, Accomplishments of the UN, Declaration of Human Rights, UN Today and Yesterday, Closing Prayer for World Peace.

Actively participating in the assembly were Paul DeCourcy, Frank Hession, Phyllis Kennedy, John Kimball, Margaret Donahue, Joel MacDonald, Lawrence Dalton, Gerald Kean, Dorothy Berger, Maryann Griffin, Anne Duffy, Robert Crotty, and Monica Hurley.

The committees for posters, displays and publicity included Marjorie Burns, Maureen Mulloy, Karen O'Donnell, Carolyn Marchesi, Elizabeth Farnam, Nancy Sheehan, Kevin Hickey, Raymond Connolly, and Gail Bairstow.

In the spirit of true citizens and lovers of American Democracy, Grade Eight enjoyed this celebration so much that they immediately made plans to present to the school on November 8, a film strip on the presidential candidates and carry on a mock election. Through these civic activities they hope to grow in appreciation of their own American citizenship and make others aware of theirs.

The official class photographers were Gail Bairstow and Raymond Connolly, and reporters were Kevin Hickey and Kevin O'Donnell.

PRISCILLA HOWARD

Priscilla Howard of 10 Lawson Road, has been elected a member of the Bryant & Stratton student activities committee this year. This group will be responsible for all social activities during the school year, including such events as theatre parties, dances, bowling, field trips and the like.

Bellino Scores Twice Against Penn

Though Navy had little difficulty with Penn last Saturday at Philadelphia, Winchester's Joe Bellino, Navy halfback and candidate for all America honors, scored two touchdowns against the Quakers to bring his season's point total to 68 points and a new high for the Academy. The previous mark was made by the famous halfback, Buzz Borries in 1934.

With four games yet to go Bellino is a cinch to put the Navy scoring record at a level where it will be hard to equal.

Bellino's scores against Penn were on a one yard smash through the line and one of his patented 26 yard runs. Joey carried the ball 16 times for 85 yards or better than five yards a carry and also gathered in three passes for 62 yards.

"Quality Is Our Most Precious Asset"

Badminton, Anyone?

Even though the migratory season is sending thousands of our fair-weather feathered friends southward these days, reports from the Winchester High School gymnasium indicate that there are still plenty of "birds" flying around on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

The Winchester Badminton Club, encouraged by the number of newcomers who have already turned out this year to enjoy an exciting and highly entertaining evening of badminton, would like to urge those who have been a little reluctant to do so before, to join in the fun.

So far, attendance has been high and enthusiasm even higher. And with four courts going continuously, everyone has a chance to pick up little tips to improve his play by watching as he catches his second breath.

Al Kajander, this year's president, reminds all first-time visitors that there is no obligation, no payment of dues necessary, to participate the first night. Even racquets and birds will be supplied at very nominal charge. All you need to bring are your sneakers and a desire to have a good time.

So, whether you're a beginner or an old hand at the game, come on down the first Tuesday or Thursday night you can. The courts are open from 7:30 to 10:30, and for 180 minutes of sheer fun and healthy exercise, you can't beat it!

Junior High To Welcome All Parents

Although the Junior High building is doing double duty temporarily and the administration and teaching staffs are working "in shifts," they will manage as usual to invite all parents to experience a typical school day in condensed form. Mr. Joseph C. Forte's P.M. session will welcome the parents on Tuesday evening, November 1, and Mr. Gardner W. Handy's A.M. session on Thursday evening, November 3, each at 7:30 p.m.

Each student will bring home a copy of one day's schedule which begins in the home room at his desk and follows his route from one class and teacher to another. If a study period appears on the schedule, this would be a good opportunity for the parent to visit an area not included on the schedule, such as the shop, the Home Economics room, or perhaps the new Language Laboratory, which offers individual instruction in the pronunciation of foreign languages. Thus, both new and veteran Jr. High parents may better understand the aims and methods of the academic curriculum.

Plans for this evening are jointly arranged by the administration, faculty, and staff, aided by the Jr. High Associates. This organization attempts to bring the home and school together so that the parents and teachers may cooperate more intelligently in the education of the child. Membership is automatic for all parents, and the voluntary annual dues of fifty cents may be paid on this evening to the treasurer, Mrs. George A. Rowe, Jr., or to the room mother attending the home room teacher.

The following mothers will be acting as home room mothers during the coming year, for the morning session: Mrs. Richard Cantillon, Mrs. Nelson Fontneau, Mrs. John Hess, Mrs. Harold Mullen and Mrs. Harry Scott, for seventh grade, Mrs. J. W. Butler, Mrs. J. P. Eugley, Mrs. R. G. Ingraham, Mrs. A. T. Mouradian, Mrs. L. F. Quigley, and Mrs. B. W. Young for eighth grade, Mrs. Charles Carr, Mrs. Peter Dale, Mrs. Clifford Hammel, Mrs. Joseph Moran, Mrs. Walker Stewart, and Mrs. Kenneth Rae for the ninth grade.

For the afternoon session, the following mothers will be covering the duties of home room mothers: Mrs. H. Gardner Bradlee, Mrs. Rush Greenslade, Mrs. Carmen Izzo, Mrs. Frank Provinzano, and Mrs. Robert Williams, for the seventh grade, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. R. C. Chase, Mrs. John Hutzenlaub, Mrs. W. F. Lewis, Mrs. P. W. Nelson, and Mrs. M. R. Weaver, for the eighth grade, Mrs. John Gannon, Mrs. Ernest Reardon, Mrs. Keith Baldwin, Mrs. S. Mortimer Ward, Mrs. Richard B. Knight and Mrs. James Falzano for the ninth grade.

Have you played Chessers? It's a game, and you can get it, and other new games at the Winchester Star.

Rockets Touted League's Best

Winchester Against Reading In Clash of Unbeaten Teams

Winchester High School's Sachems, fresh off their surprising tie with favored Melrose last Saturday will be underdogs again this Saturday afternoon when they clash with the vaunted Rockets of Reading in a Middlesex League engagement at Birch Meadow in Reading, commencing at 1:30.

The meeting will bring together two unbeaten teams, though Winchester has been tied by Melrose while Reading has a clean record of five straight victories. Pre-season dope had Reading favored to win the Middlesex League crown this year, and the Rockets have done nothing to indicate the dopesters were wrong in their thinking!

Reading has beaten Wakefield, 38-8; Belmont, 26-12; Concord, 44-22; Springfield Classical, 48-16; and Methuen, 46-14. The only team Winchester and Reading have met in common is Concord, which Reading beat 44-22 and Winchester, 26-20.

On the other hand Reading has met no team as good as Melrose, and their last two games with Springfield Classical and Methuen have proved very little.

Winchester's scouts rate Reading the best team they have seen this year, and the Sachems will have to send their arrows straight and fling their tomahawks hard if they are to win.

Reading had seven 1959 starters return this year, in Captain Olson and Chesley, ends; Gilligan, tackle; Dick Horton, 195 quarterback; and Gerade, Bangs and Sullivan, backs. In addition there are eight letter players, among whom Broeg and Brown, guards; and Cotreau, tackle, are in this year's starting lineup.

Reading has a truly fine backfield, with Horton, a great all around athlete calling signals for Gerade and Sullivan, two real swifties; and Bangs, a pile driving fullback.

Reading will have about a 10 pound pull in the weights as the starting teams square off Saturday, 183 to 172, but Winchester needs to worry more about speed than tonnage. The Rockets are loaded and are rightfully favored to win. So, too, was Melrose.

If you are going over to the game take Main Street out of the square and turn left on Birch Meadow Road. The field is beside the new high school.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

Were you ever a spectator at our Ladies' Bowling night? It could prove to be quite a humorous experience.

To say the least, some of the approaches used by the girls are most unique.

The team with a lot of color and contrast is the Sapphires. The girls are captain Ginger Maggio, Terry Nappa, Sue Barbaro, Rose Fiore, and Hilda Tofuri.

Let's watch loveable, slow motion, Sue, with her there is no such thing as approach, she stands at the edge of the rubber and rolls her ball ever so gently as though it would never reach the pins and yet it is amazing how often that ball finds its mark.

Next is Rose, who does have an "approach." The only thing with her, is that it involves a few dance steps, be it the cha cha cha, or who knows what! I wonder if she ever tried bowling to music?

Then again if you want to see one of the best approaches used in bowling, Terry Nappa is the one to watch. She will go a long way with that form.

Ginger, there really isn't anything wrong with your style either. Your average is climbing too.

Lastly, we have determined Hilda. Form or no form, she was getting nowhere until just last week, when she seemed to have found herself again. I guess it pays to have a little bowling practice with hubby. Good for you Hilda.

Incidentally watch out for the Sapphires for I believe they can really give those top teams a tumble.

Well, well, take a look at the team standings! How close can you get?

It looks like any one of the first seven teams stands a good chance of winning the first third.

I wonder if Gerry D'Onofrio realizes this is the third time in six weeks that she is on the list for high three or high single. By the way you make quite the anchor man. You really came through for your team last week didn't you? Nice bowling Gerry.

Looks like Kay Pizzo has an option on the lucky number bit; you guessed it, she won again.

Local Harriers Edge Haverhill 28-29

The Red and Black runners faced one of the better MCCL teams as they ran Haverhill last Friday at Haverhill.

The race was run over the excellent 2.6 mile course at Winnikinni Park. Over 50 runners got away from the start and within the first quarter mile the Brown and Gold's big three moved into commanding lead with only Jack Brenner of Winchester a threat.

As the race moved into the middle stages O'Neil, Skafas and Grant continued to run shoulder to shoulder and increased their lead to about 75 yards. Brenner began to drop off the pace and Roy Shea took the 4th position with about ¾ of a mile to go.

The meet appeared to be beyond the reach of the Red and Black as the Haverhill trio continued to lead with less than a quarter to the finish line. However, Shea appeared to be growing stronger and as the runners turned into the home stretch with about 200 yards to go he made his bid. The result of his effort made one of the most thrilling finishes in Winchester's cross country history as Shea sprinted the entire distance.

First, Grant faltered as Shea surged by him and then Skafas, fighting desperately to hold second, found the pace too fast as Shea made a final try to take George O'Neil. His last effort fell short by one second as O'Neil took the top spot but Shea's sensational finish took the meet for Winchester, 28 to 29.

Rod Gay, running a fine race, proved to be a runner of varsity caliber, as he finished 5th with teammates Johnson, Scherban, Brenner taking successive position to insure the victory.

The JV's continued their winning ways as they posted a 19 to 42 win over the Brown and Gold. First position went to Dave Bird; second, Jim Donohoe; third, Charlie Money; sixth, Dick Siders with Ambrose Devaney in 7th to complete the scoring.

First 15 Finishers: 1, O'Neil (H), 14:14; 2, Shea, :15; 3, Skafas (H), :16; 4, Grant (H), :24; 5, Gay, :49; 6, Johnson, :50; 7, Scherban, :52; 8, Brenner, :53; 9, Anderson, :55; 10, Sweeney (H), :57; 11, McDonnell (H), 15:02; 12, Dee, :21; 13, Yemma (H), :22; 14, Bird, :29; 15, Donohoe, :33.

Youth Leaders To Meet Here

The First Congregational Church will be host on Saturday to sixty adult leaders of high school young people drawn from churches of all denominations in the northeastern section of Massachusetts. The conference is sponsored by the Youth Commission of the Mass. Council of Churches.

Large Turnout At Republican Club Rally

Hundreds of interested Winchester Republican, Independent, and Democratic voters ignored a heavy evening rain and gathered on October 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Gustin, Jr., to meet and hear Republican candidates for State and Congressional offices.

After coffee was served, Mrs. James W. Blackham, Jr., president of the Women's Republican Club, welcomed the members, friends and guests and turned the meeting over to Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell and Mrs. William Goodhue, program chairmen, who introduced the speakers and those who presented the speakers.

Representative Harrison Chadwick, candidate for re-election to State Legislature, spoke first, followed by Oscar Merrow who introduced F. Bradford Morse, candidate for Congress. Other speakers were Ralph Bonnell, Republican National Committeeman of Massachusetts; Mrs. Emory Ireland, vice chairman of Republican State Committee; and William Speers, Jr., in behalf of John A. Volpe. Gardner Wardwell, candidate for State Auditor, and Senator C. Eugene Farnam, candidate for re-election to State Senate, presented their views and qualifications.

Dr. William D. Barone introduced Edward W. Brooke, candidate for the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth, who spoke at length on the office to which he aspires. His inspiring message of faith, morality and public trust artfully combined with a sparkling sense of humor will be long remembered.

Climaxing the meeting, Winchester's own John A. Volpe, arrived after a hectic schedule of rallies in other towns to speak to his fellow townsmen.

A cheering ovation of confidence closed this meeting sponsored in voters interest by Women's Republican Club of Winchester.

Participating in this program were David Hoffman, Hope Barker, Carol Shanley, Marilyn De Angelis, Gail Abbott, Margo Harmon, Ann LaPointe, Sandra Stockwell, Jackie Cartier, Deborah Harrison, Gracia Lewis, Kate Robinson, Lee Hakanson, Leslie Dube, Marilyn Beckley, and Betty Bowes.

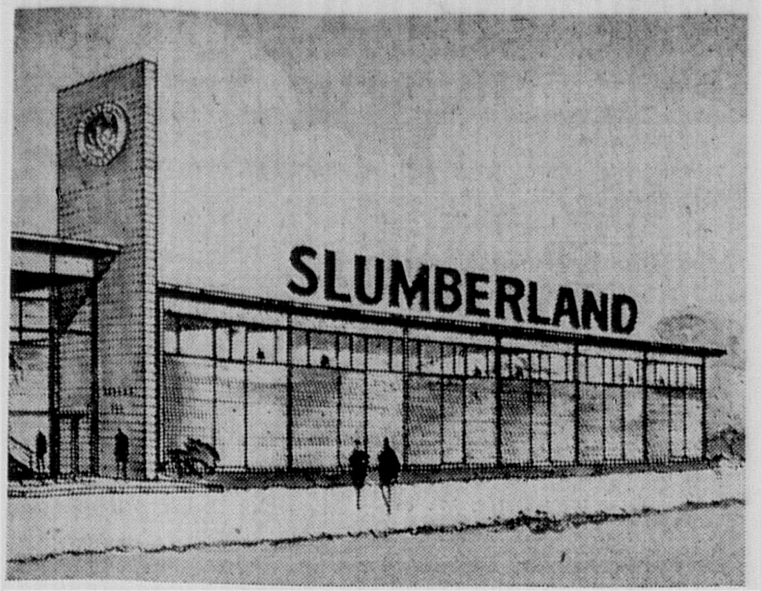
Ground-Breaking Ceremonies Oct. 18



NEW SLUMBERLAND PLANT IN WOBURN

Slumberland Products Co., New England's largest independent mattress manufacturer, recently held ground-breaking ceremonies at the site of their new plant fronting Route 128, Woburn.

More than 100 guests attended the ceremonies. Present were officials of the City of Woburn, together with representatives of the State, industry and finance. Mayor John F. Gilgun, Jr., of Woburn gave the welcoming address.

The ground-breaking shovel was wielded by Ruben Warshaver of Newton, founder of the company. Speaking briefly were officers of the 48-year-old bedding company, Arthur M. Warshaver, president and Milton H. Warshaver, treasurer and general manager.

The site of the new Slumberland plant occupies nine acres. The completed building will be 108,000 square feet, with 96,000 square feet of production facilities on one floor. It will be completely conveyorized and designed specifically with provision for future expansion. The plant will have its own cafeteria, as well as many other features providing for employee comfort.

The new plant will be situated on Route 128, four miles from Route 1, leading to northern Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine, and 15 miles from the Massachusetts Turnpike, going west and south. It will have its own four-car railroad siding. Site clearance operations and utility installations have now been finished, and completion of the entire building project is anticipated by early 1961.

Rotarians Heard Capt. Brink

Winchester Rotary had one of its most interesting guest speakers at its luncheon meeting in Masonic Apartments last week, Thursday, when Captain A. R. Brink of Samoset Road spoke to the members about air travel.

Captain Brink is a pilot for Eastern Air Lines and in his address he told of the things taken into account when a decision has to be made whether or not a flight will be made. In Eastern the pilot makes the final decision.

He recounted many interesting experiences he has had in his years of flying and at the conclusion of his remarks answered all sorts of questions asked him by the obviously interested Rotarians.

Winchester Wellesley Club

The fall meeting of the Winchester Wellesley Club was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur T. Rogde on Tuesday evening, October 18th. Dessert and coffee were served by the hostess and her committee for this popular occasion.

Mrs. John H. McClennan, president, conducted a short business meeting. Members were delighted to hear that through their extended efforts this year for the "Winchester Mornings" and the personal call program, added support of the college has been achieved. Mrs. McClennan also summed up her full day spent at council on the campus.

The group was proud to have two of Winchester's new teachers with them for the evening, Mrs. Sadowski from the junior high and Miss Thoumoulos from the high school. Both are recent Wellesley graduates and fresh from Harvard's educational program. They told us a good deal about how one prepares for the teaching profession while in a liberal arts college and following graduation.

Dear friends,

A lady told us recently that she had never fully realized the meaning of flowers at a funeral until she had experienced the loss of a loved one. The floral cards, she said, are still her treasured possession - a remembrance of those who expressed sympathy in this beautiful way.

Floral expressions add beauty and comfort that cannot be measured.

Respectfully,

The following is one of the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (265:5): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

Talk On Hate Campaign

A rare opportunity awaits Winchester residents on Thursday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the George Washington School. At that time the Mothers' Association will present Mr. Gordon D. Hall, a speaker of national reputation, whose fascinating topic will be "The Hate-Your-Neighbor Campaign in the U. S."

At a time when our country is intent on another campaign, Mr. Hall will bring a message of vital importance to everyone. The continuing campaigns of organized extremist movements is one of the calculated risks and burdens of a free society. How to lessen this burden and risk within a framework of a free society is at the core of Gordon Hall's talk.

Mr. Hall will explain how these organized movements, well-financed and often boasting distinguished sponsors and impressive titles, carry on programs of racial and religious hatred, confusion and discord. Like the Communists whom they claim to be fighting, their real purposes are often hidden behind a smoke screen of noble words.

A veteran of 31 months in the Pacific Theatre and the Aleutian Islands campaign, Gordon Hall has been engaged in full time writing and research since the end of 1946. He has appeared on radio and television, and before many civic groups throughout the United States.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in Winchester to attend this open meeting and hear a fascinating documentary about smear campaigns in our country.

K. of C. Annual Charity Turkey Whist Nov. 15

With Thanksgiving rapidly approaching, Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, will hold its annual Turkey Whist and Bridge Party at 8:30 p.m. on the evening of Tuesday, November 15, at the Council Hall on Mt. Vernon Street. Ample parking facilities are available in the Town parking lot.

Twenty turkeys, weighing 15 pounds each, will be top prizes for whist and bridge winners and some will go to other lucky people during the evening. There will be many other prizes awarded.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the Knights of Columbus Charity Fund to bolster it against the many local demands made upon it in the course of a year. Not many know of the numerous demands made on the Knights for various charities, both at home and abroad. Well known is the K. of C. assistance to local projects but not so well known, because it is done unostentatiously, is the aid advanced to those in need.

By attending this party on November 15 all will be sharing in the K. of C. charity work.

The following is the committee: James Wharf, Grand Knight, is honorary chairman of the committee and Edward McManus, general chairman.

Assisting are Joseph Cullinane, P.G.K.; John Mulrenan, Richard Fiore, Deputy Grand Knight; Frank Farley, William Kelley, Frank Rolli, Vincent Erhard, P.G.K.; William Kenney, Richard Burke, and Arthur Wilson, with the remaining officers of the Council assisting.

Anyone wishing to donate prizes may contact Richard Fiore of 39 Forest Street.

The Junior Red Cross of the Wyman School held its first meeting in the assembly hall Friday, October 21. The theme for the meeting was "Membership in the Junior Red Cross." The recently elected president, Rebecca Leaf, also spoke on safety and courtesy in the school building. Other officers elected for this year were Kimberly Reeves, vice preseident, William Rozett, secretary, and Jeffrey Boutwell, treasurer.

Art Association To Hear Artist On "Casein Painting"

A detailed demonstration and talk on "Casein Painting and its Relation to Water Color Techniques" will highlight the November meeting of the Winchester Art Association on Tuesday evening, November 1, when the distinguished Glen MacNutt, A.N.A. will be the speaker.

The meeting is at 7:45 in the Rich Room of the Winchester Public Library, and the president, Rèv. Wesley A. Mallery will preside. The November exhibit will encompass paintings by Mr. MacNutt.

The noted casein painter has won many art awards, and is represented in leading museum collections. He is an associate member of the National Academy of Design, of the American Watercolor Society, the Bosto Society of Water Color Painters, as well as a member of the Boston Guild of Artists.

The program committee, in securing Mr. MacNutt for November, and having had Harry Ballinger in October, is proud of its 1960-61 Art Association program, which has four more leading artists in ensuing months.

In December its association will present R. Eric Erickson, floral designer, in a special Christmas program of flower arrangements, plus a splendid exhibit of the liturgical work of Allan R. Crite. Winchester residents who would be interested in hearing these art programs are invited to attend the November meeting, or call Mrs. Cairncross, PA 9-3083.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Master point night at the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club on Wednesday, October 19th, produced keen competition in two well-balanced fields. With both sections playing 24 boards for an average score of 84, top honors were pretty closely divided between local players and the "invaders from outer space."

The WDBC team of Davis and Sweet led all fields on a percentage basis with 114½. Lee and Mrs. Habicht (Newton) were close behind with 112½. The Winchester pair of Merriam and Woolley pulled enough of something over their opponents eyes to lead their field with 102½, while the Lincoln Lab team of Gantt and Heckett scored an even 100. Each of these pairs earned a full master point for their performances. Detailed results were as follows:

SECTION A

North-South

Mrs. Heckett and Venus Gantt, 100
Esther Davis and Eleanor Sweet, 95½
Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, 95
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blackler, 90
Marjorie Woods and Blair Hawley, 90
Herbert Wood and Jock Olmsted, 89½

East-West

Chester Davis, Sr., and George Sweet, 114½
Ruby White and Polly Dallin, 96
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sittinger, 94
Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, 92½
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sexton, 87

SECTION B

North-South

Joy Woolley and Marjorie Merriam, 102½
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chase, 97½
George Coffin and Col. Mars Molla, 94
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong, 85
Mr. and Mrs. George Hatch, 85

East-West

Mrs. Habicht and Kenneth Lee, 112½
Barbara Sawyer and Margaret Sexton, 97
Jean Roundey and Maude Flanders, 94½
Ann Wild and Jo Dingwell, 89½
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 86½

The game on Wednesday, November 2nd, in addition to one section of regular play, will include a second section reserved for an individual movement. Although this type of play (in which you have a different partner on each round) has never before been offered by the WDBC, it has proven to be lots of fun and a good mixer at other clubs.

The hand of the week, this time, has been selected from the play in Section B. What contract would you reach on this board, with South dealer and EW vulnerable?

North
♠ A K 6 2
♥ Q J 8 7
♦ A 8 7 5
♣ 5

West
♠ Q 10 7
♥ 4 3 2
♦ K 3
♣ K Q 10 8 6

East
♠ J 9 8 3
♥ A 9 6 5
♣ 4

South
♠ 5 4
♥ K 10
♦ 6 4 2

Looking at all four hands, the reader may find it difficult to locate a satisfactory contract. In actual play, however, this board represents perhaps the only occasion where as many as eight tables have unanimously bid a hand to identical contracts since the club was founded! The eight NS pairs which held these cards all reached a contract of three no trump with their combined high card strength of only 22 points! Reserving specific comment until the end, let's look at the score board which shows EW reaping a harvest of plus points at every table.

The Chases shared a top for NS with Glaven-Renz by finding an eighth trick somewhere and going down only one. "The field" was down two on the normal opening queen of diamonds lead by East (with North as declarer). The EW pairs of Wild-Dingwell and Sawyer-Sexton managed to set their opponents three tricks, thereby earning themselves a good score on the board. The EW top was a fat 600 points when three no trump was doubled, then redoubled, and down two!

A modern bidding development, gaining in popularity, is that of opening with a bid of one in a major only when holding five or more cards in the suit. It is usually defended on the grounds that an opening bid of one heart or one spade would now give more information to partner. It is even more valuable on many hands where you do not open the major because you do not have a five card suit.

Take this week's board as a case in point. After two passes, North will bid one diamond, and a vulnerable West opposite a passed partner will be unlikely to overcall—especially with his nice diamond holding. South does not have the strength for a two club response and will call one no trump. North now has a beautiful picture of the combined partnership holding. He knows that South has between six and ten points. More than that, he knows that partner does not have a four-card major suit—which he otherwise would have bid under this system in preference to one no trump. Finally, he notes that partner does not have sufficient interest in diamonds to raise that suit. If South has a minimum, they may already be in trouble at the one level. With no four card major and lack of good diamond support, South must have enough length in clubs to make one no trump a good contract—and that's just where he leaves it.

This bidding puts pressure on the defense and makes it hard for West to find a killing lead. He is most likely to open and continue clubs, thus presenting us with an overtrick. On the other hand, note that North could not have made his three no trump even if the defensive clubs had been split 3-3! East opens the diamond (or the five of hearts) and the defense still takes three diamonds, two clubs, and the ace of hearts.

"THE THINKING MACHINE." Dr. Claude E. Shannon of 5 Cambridge Street looks out past the computer-controlled mechanical hand (center foreground) during recording of "The Thinking Machine," the special CBS television program to be presented from 10 to 11 p.m. next Wednesday, October 26. Dr. Shannon, who is Donner Professor of Science at M.I.T., is seated at the TX-O computer which is "coached" to operate the hand and locate and pick up objects in the area.

Dr. Shannon, Winchester Savant, in Group

Tech Professors to Appear With "Thinking Machine"

A total of six scientists from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will appear on "The Thinking Machine," the first of the CBS "Tomorrow" series of hour-long science studies. They are:

Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, of 61 Shattuck Road, Watertown, direct- of the Research Laboratory of Electronics who has served the federal government as adviser in international problems involving modern technology. Dr. Wiesner will team with actor David Wayne to narrate "The Thinking Machine."

Douglas T. Ross, of 33 Dawes Road, Lexington, head of the Computer Applications Group in M.I.T.'s Electronics Systems Laboratory. Ross coached the computer that wrote the Western drama to be presented on "The Thinking Machine."

Dr. Claude E. Shannon, of 5 Cambridge Street, Winchester, Donner Professor of Science at M.I.T. Dr. Shannon is one of the world's leading authorities on information theory. Dr. Shannon answers the question: Can machines think?

Dr. Patrick D. Wall, M.D., of 20 Hersom Street, Watertown, associate professor of biology. Dr. Wall has done reesarch on how the brain learns about events on the skin.

Dr. Jerome Y. Lettvin, M.D., of 22 Hillard Street, Cambridge, associate professor of biology. Dr. Lettvin will show how a frog's quest for flies is governed by whether the fly moves, and what this signifies in studies of the thinking process.

Dr. Jack B. Dennis, of 46 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, assistant professor of electrical engineering. The television audience will see Professor Dennis "teaching" the alphabet to a computer.

With these and other leading scientists, "The Thinking Machine" will explore recent dramatic events and even more dramatic prospects in the field of "thinking machines" and the study of the human brain.

Sponsored by the American Machine & Foundry Co., the program will let the audience see a computer playing checkers, a duckling that knows its birds, and a new approach to the old problem of the missionaries and the cannibals. Together they will illustrate how the computer, even in its infancy, is providing new insights into the workings of the mind.

Dr. Claude E. Shannon was born in Gaylord, Mich., April 30, 1916. He received his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering and mathematics from the University of Michigan in 1936. The same year he came to M.I.T. to study, and in 1940 was awarded both a master's degree in electrical engineering and a Ph.D in mathematics.

During this period he served as research assistant in electrical engineering and assistant in mathematics, was in charge of the differential analyzer (a computer developed at M.I.T.), and wrote a thesis on such originality and significance that it had an immediate impact on the designing of telephone systems.

In 1940 Dr. Shannon went to the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton for a year, and in 1941 joined the staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories. During the next sixteen years that he spent in the Summit, N. J., laboratories, he devoted intensive research to a new branch of science that combines the methods of mathematics and electrical communications in computing, automation, and areas of the behavioral sciences that bear on the relation of man to his environment.

Called information theory, this science encompasses such practical applications as the nation-wide automatic telephone system and devices by which streams of electrons can be translated into television pictures. He was presented the 1956 Research Corporation Award for his work on information theory.

In his autobiography, "I Am a Mathematician," Dr. Norbert Weiner, another distinguished M. I. T. professor, wrote: "Shannon is one of the major spirits behind the present age of the electronic computer and the automatic factory. Moreover, it is through his work that a training in symbolic logic, that most formal of all disciplines, has come to be one recognized mode of introduction into the great complex of scientific work of the Bell Telephone Laboratories."

In January, 1956, Dr. Shannon was granted a leave of absence from Bell laboratories and returned to M.I.T. as a visiting professor of electronical communications. In 1957 he joined the Institute faculty as a permanent member, with the unique dual title of professor of communications sciences in the department of Electrical Engineering and professor of mathematics.

During the academic year 1957-58, Professor Shannon held a fellowship at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford, Calif.

In the spring of 1958 he was appointed to the steering committee of the new Center for Communication Sciences at M.I.T., an interdepartmental laboratory designed to provide facilities and environment for further development of that study in which the pioneering successes of such men as Vannevar Bush, Norbert Weiner and Shannon himself had already made such important progress.

In September, 1958, Professor Shannon was appointed to the newly established Donner Chair of Science at the Institute. The Donner Chair was made possible by a $500,000 grant from the Donner Foundation of Philadelphia, awarded without restriction for a professorship in the physical sciences.

Dr. Shannon is recipient of the Alfred Noble Prize of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Morris Liebmann Award of the Institute of Radio Engineers, the Stuart Ballantine Medal of the Franklin Institute, and the Research Corporation Award. In 1954 he was awarded the honorary degree of master of science by Yale University. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences.

Professor Shannon is co-author with Dr. Warren Weaver of "The Mathematical Theory of Communication" (1949) and co-editor with Dr. John McCarthy of "Annals of Mathematics Series" (1956). He is also author of numerous technical papers, including two entries to the Encyclopedia Britannica, and is the holder of several patents. A fellow of the Institute of Radio Engineers, Dr. Shannon is also a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi, and the American Mathematical Society.

In 1949 Dr. Shannon married Mary Elizabeth Moore, a mathematician in her own right. They have two sons, Robert James, 7, and Andrew Moore, 5, and a five-month-old daughter, Peggy.

From Chitel's: A Memo on Quality

It is not quite true that clothes "make a man," not in the strict sense of the term.

After all, not even a Hart, Schaffner and Marx suit can make you a Phi Beta Kappa. And not even a Villager blouse will make you the Girl Most Likely to Succeed. You earn these things.

But it is also true, and we at Chitel's believe this is not just an advertising "gimmick" — that clothes of quality, and style, and proper fit enhance your personality.

If it is the purest nonsense to say that clothes "give" you "social status," is is accurate to say that the right clothes confirm your status.

Junior executives, after all, do not wear suntans to board meetings, not if they want to retain the confidence of their shareholders. And career women aren't customarily seen in pedal-pushers!

In each case we expect the discriminating individual to dress his part, and dress for the occasion.

Chitel's takes great pride in ordering nothing but the best clothes for Winchester men and women.

We study style trends carefully.

Over the years we have established invaluable liaison with the finest fashion houses in the United States and Europe.

Because we have done these things we are now able to provide the finest clothes offered by America and the Continent almost as soon as they are off the designing board.

"Hart Schaffner and Marx," "Michaels - Stern," "Shirtmaker," "Villager," "Hogg of Hawick," the very names spell quality in clothes, quality you can count on because you know these labels never appear on anything a prince or a princess could not wear with pride.

Whatever it is you have in mind —French Lisle blouses, or Scottish lambswool sweaters, a sophisticated Harris tweed single-breasted jacket or a smart British Cheviot, Chitel's has it, and has the best of it. And if effort counts, we always will have.

Winchester Jewelers Have Wide Selection of Gift Items

The Winchester Jewelers on Thompson Street have a wide selection of jewelry and gift items. In the jewelry line, you will find smart, modernistic copper bracelets, brooches, Zodiac pins, and a truly elegant line of jewelry accessories.

Everybody knows, of course, that the Winchester Jewelers repair watches and clocks, but maybe some of you don't know yet of the many other services provided by this shop.

For instance, you can have your treasured old diamond remounted in a modern setting. You can have your precious silver replated or repaired. You can buy stunning evening bags of elegant gold or silver mesh for spring parties, or evenings at the theater and opera.

Hamilton and Elgin watches are also offered with pride to Winchester people who insist on the finest. The Elgins, you will be glad to know, begin at only $19.95, which will be good news indeed for economy-minded folks who insist on quality.

Winchester folks preparing for a fall vacation or trip will be interested in Winchester Jeweler's travel clocks, which fit convenient-

Dave Beattie Offering Good Terms On Gas Heaters and Clothes Dryers

Housewives, put away your fears of a long, cold winter!

You can not only cook with gas, ladies, you can heat your whole house with it, and you'll be cozy and warm all winter long.

Think of it! Your home automatically and economically heated at the temperature you desire all winter long without any physical effort ou your part. No shoveling, No stoking. No shaking. No ashes. No reason, if your present furnace or boiler is sound, why you cannot enjoy every advantage of automatic heating by merely installing a Gordon Spreader - Flame Conversion Gas Burner.

Also at this time, Dave Beattie at the Mystic Valley Gas Co. can offer you a saving on an appliance that is no longer a luxury but an absolute necessity — a GAS CLOTHES DRYER!

Just imagine, in the most inclement weather, being able to dry your children's heavy, wet clothing in a matter of minutes. This in itself constitutes a great saving on your clothing bill as fewer clothes are needed. The hardship of the winter months will be greatly lessened with all of your drying being done healthfully and conveniently in the comfort of your own home.

During the next few weeks, you can purchase a GAS CLOTHES DRYER for as little as $8.02 a month WITH NO MONEY DOWN. See this fabulous dryer at 4 Mt. Vernon Street.

Dave is also offering kitchen heating ranges from $199.00 up. They give you continued comfort. You just set the dial and your kitchen stays at just the right cozy temperature you want, and automatically! No bother, no matches, no warm-up, no waiting. Cooking on these ranges is quick and carefree, sheer delight rather than sheer drudgery.

Hugh Erskine Movers Dependable, Efficient, Fast-Working, Friendly

The Erskine Company has been in business in Winchester for 79 years. It's located at 4 Linden Street, and has storage houses on Hill and Park Streets. Telephone number PArkview 9-0568. Moving both local and long distance.

When Erskine moved us, we watched with pleasure as his men, with a minimum of talk, moved quickly, efficiently and courteously about the house. And when we got to Winchester we were delighted to find that not ONE solitary item was scratched or damaged in any way.

There are several "business" houses around town that seem more like town traditions. Hugh Erskine's Moving Company is certainly one of these. The firm's big green trucks have become what might be called mobile landmarks, in much the same way as Kelley and Hawes used to be.

But Hugh Erskine has not succeeded in his business just by accident. His success is built on the kind of service that saves you money when you move, for his men don't dawdle, or take one minute more to do a job than they have to.

The writer knows from personal experience that if he says he'll be at your house to move you at 8:00 in the morning he'll be there.

WILLIAM G. ANDREW: Republican; Cambridge; County Commissioner; Cambridge Latin School, Boston College and Suffolk Law School. EDWARD L. BUCKLEY: Democrat; Somerville; 56; County Commissioner; High School. "My reelection, to the office of County Commissioner, would be an improvement, because of my being qualified by my experience, and as my record shows, I am honest, efficient, and dedicated to the responsibilities of the high office I seek".

ANTHONY GALLUCCIO: Democrat; Cambridge; 43; Attorney — Dept. Labor and Industries, Comm. of Mass.; Harvard College, A.B.; Harvard Law School, LL.B. Kennedy, I will bring to this county office, a mind oriented in all types of political matters. CARLETON R. LEAVITT: Republican; Natick; 42; Realtor; Graduate of Natick High School, Graduate of Boston University, College of Business Administration, B.S. in B.A. degree. "My campaign is not based on criticism of personalities or policies. I believe that the average voter is unaware of the names of his commissioners and the actions and votes of these three people who administer the important functions performed by the county. Being a strong advocate of the "Right to Know" philosophy of government I want as many voters as possible to know me personally and what I am doing as their Commissioner. An informed public is my purpose."

LWV Units On Public Higher Education

The second series of Unit discussion groups of the Winchester League of Women Voters will be presented November first through November fourth.

The topic, "Public Higher Education in Massachusetts" was introduced by Mr. Walter Taylor, executive director of the Massachusetts Regional Board of Community Colleges, at the General Meeting of the League held in September.

At this time, several pertinent questions were posed. What part will Community Two-year Colleges play in the future expansion of Public Higher Education in Massachusetts? How will the executive agencies be coordinated? Will there be State or local control of administration? How much and how soon must we enlarge our present facilities?

You should have a voice in the decisions that are being made and the solutions that are being offered to improve the educational facilities. They must be expanded if all of our qualified high school graduates are to be given an opportunity to continue their studies. These decisions must be made now in order to be effective during the crucial period which has already begun.

Everyone is urged to attend these League discussion groups, whether or not they are members of the League. The schedule of the Units on "Public Higher Education" is as follows:

Tuesday, November 1, 3:00 p.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. Richard Alt; hostess, Mrs. Joseph Zrodowski, 26 Squire Road.

Wednesday, November 2, 1:00 p.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. L. Kelbley; hostess, Mrs. James G. Baker, 7 Grove Street.

Wednesday, November 2, 7:45 p.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. L. J. DeGroot; hostess, Mrs. W. J. Farrell, Jr., 33 Pierrepont Road.

Thursday, November 3, 9:30 a.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. E. J. Dieterich; hostess, Mrs. Olcott Hooper, 228 Highland Avenue.

Thursday, November 3, 7:45 p.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. Robert Joslin; hostess, Mrs. Charles Buchanan, 166 Highland Avenue.

Friday, November 4, 9:30 a.m. Discussion leader, Mrs. Edward Rendall; hostess, Mrs. Thomas Hennessey, 37 Cabot Street.

Finger In The Pie

Us Americans!

Bill Tilden was in Paris playing tennis when Lindbergh made his famous flight. He chanced to be in the office of Ambassador Herrick when Herrick received the wire saying Lindbergh was on his way. For the record, Herrick's remark was: "Another fool on his way to be drowned." He decided, however that if Lindbergh did arrive there should be some kind of celebration—a concert perhaps, in which all leading Americans in Paris should take part. It was decided that the honor of opening the concert should fall to Mary Garden. So Ambassador Herrick called her and asked her to sing "The Star Spangled Banner." The concert was set for Tuesday. On Saturday morning Miss Garden's voice came over the wire, "Is that you, Bill?" "Yes, Mary." "Do you know the words of 'The Star Spangled Banner?' " "No." "Neither do I. Well, I have to sing it for Lindbergh." Said Bill, "Don't worry, I'll get them for you."

He went to Frank Hunter, his doubles partner, and said, "Give me the words of 'The Star Spanged Banner.' " Said Frank, "I don't know them." "Never mind," said Bill, "Mrs. Hunter will." He went to her. "I've come to get the words of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' " "Yes," said she, "where are you going to get them?" He went out on the street. Coming toward him was a nice-looking American. He stopped him. "Do you know 'The Star Spangled Banner?' " "Sure," said he, "it's the American flag, ain't it?"

All day long he kept going up to Americans. For three days he canvassed the American Embassy. No luck. Mary kept telephoning. Each time Bill reassured her: "Don't worry, Mary, I'll have them for you."

Then he went out to play his match with Jean Borotra, the French tennis star. Bill didn't look at all well. "Are you not going to be able to play?" said Jean. "Sure I am," said Bill, but I can't play until I get the words of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' " "Well, why didn't you say so?" said Borotra. Thereupon he sat down and wrote out all four verses!

Tough Spot

We waste no sympathy on Premier Khrushchev, but the fact remains that his job is enormously delicate and difficult; he's walking a tightrope, and a precarious one. He has more undercurrents to worry him than a ship in a tempest. He's practically playing Russian Roulette twenty-four hours a day. We venture to advance a few reasons — other than the self-evident ones — for recent actions on his part.

One reason for disrupting the Paris summit conference may have been that in the face of our unfortunate insistence that we knew of the flights and that they would continue, nothing short of an immediate explosion on his part would have saved Khrushchev's face when he returned to Russia.

One reason for canceling Ike's tour of Russia was his fear of the tremendously favorable reaction the impact of his personality would have made on the Russian people.

One reason for advocating transfer of the United Nations out of New York may well be that when representatives of new nations come to New York City they cannot fail to see and be impressed by this outstanding example to the world of the success of a free society. (No argument, in short, for the decadence of Democracy!)

One reason why the Soviets talk disarmament but refuse inspection may be the knowledge that their equipment in superior and colossal armaments would, under inspection, fall far short of their boastful claims.

Pet Peeve — Squeal

The "squeal" that assails our ears when, under the current system, we are caught dialing the wrong number — necessary though it is — is one of the sauciest, most impudent, and irritating sounds we know. "Ha! smarty?" it seems to say, "So you expect a right number by dialing a wrong one? How stupid can one get?" On second thought, though, we must admit the principle behind it is a sound one. How much trouble and embarrassment it would save us if Life would provide some such warning when we are about to embark on an ill-advised course of action, whether in love, morals, business, or investments?

P.S. Our personal idea of a pleasing reaction would be the voice of Jane Day saying "Sorry. Please try once more. O. K?"

Cheer Up

In barber shops (at least, in mine)
There now appears the surly sign:
"No shaving."
And in the railroad station, too,
Another surly sign we view:
"No tickets."
When to a restaurant we repair
Will this sign soon confront us there?
"No food."
Well, willy-nilly, soon there'll be Something in store for you and me:
November!

Tidbits

A Texan visiting Australia saw a kangaroo for the first time. Said he: "I'll grant you one thing for sure; your grasshoppers are bigger than ours."

Legend: a lie that has attained the dignity of age.

Conscience: an inner voice that warns us somebody is looking.

Home is where a man goes when he's tired of being nice to people.

Are These Matters So Petty?

JOHN V. COSTELLO
I'm Asking Your Vote

Are scholarships that enable qualified Winchester students to attend college petty matters?

Are necessary expansions of overcrowded facilities at the University of Massachusetts petty matters?

Our Representative tells us they are. He refers to them as "minutiae" (and Webster's defines minutiae as small and petty matters) . . . as minutiae of government.

Well, I don't.

The State scholarships which Our Representative (Chadwick) opposed are very much needed.

The fact remains that more than 2000 qualified students have benefited in three years.

The fact remains that only this month two outstanding Winchester boys won such scholarships.

The fact remains that more than 30 other states now have such scholarship programs for qualified youth . . . and are expanding them.

These are not petty matters, Mr. Representative. They are important matters. They are tests of a man's ability to represent all the people.

Named Bay State Society Director

John S. Morgan, Jr., of Woodside Road was elected a member of the corporation of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, Inc., at the annual meeting of the organization last week.

At the meeting president George M. Rideout of Wellesley Hills announced the development of a statewide information and referral service for crippled children and adults.

Speaking at the Easter Seal society's Rehabilitation Center in Worcester, Mr. Rideout said that a study underway throughout Massachusetts by the society has shown repeatedly the need for a service of this kind and that the Bay State Society, with 16 years of experience working with the physically handicapped across the state has a wealth of resource information to share.

This service, according to Mr. Rideout, who is also vice president of Babson's Reports, will be available primarily to physicians to provide specialized information and resources for the care and treatment of the unusual cases. It also will be available to other professional and health agencies as well as to individuals.

Sears Award To Garden Clubbers

The Winchester Home and Garden Club have been named winners in the Landscape Design Contest sponsored by the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, Inc. and Sears, Roebuck and Co. The contest was a case problem in landscaping the grounds at the new Sears' store in Saugus.

As winners, Mrs. Chandler W. Symmes, president of the Winchester Garden Club and Mrs. Frederick W. Cole, president of the Winchester Home and Garden Club, accepted the awards and grants from Mr. C. H. Kellstadt, chairman of the Board, Sears, Roebuck and Co., at an awards presentation which followed the ribbon cutting ceremony at the new Sears' Saugus store on Wednesday, October 26.

Practical Politics At Mt. Holyoke

Miss Elizabeth Hottel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hottel of 27 Cambridge Street; Miss Phyllis Rutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rutter of 78 Oxford Street; and Miss Marcia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith of 92 Lawson Road, are among the 115 students at Mount Holyoke College enrolled in a class in practical politics. Taught by Miss Victoria Schuck, professor of political science, the Parties and Politics course requires field work.

Students work in the campaign headquarters of the political party of their choice. They do research, check and count votes, and attend meetings and conferences. They also canvass, and take both opinion polls and post-election surveys.

Their work is made possible by the cooperation of Western Massachusetts party leaders with the Amherst-Mount Holyoke Political Studies Center, which was set up in 1950 and is headed by Miss Schuck and Mr. Earl Latham, professor of political science at Amherst.

Students from the other Connecticut Valley colleges take part in the field work, which is one of many examples of the four-college cooperation existing between Mount Holyoke, Smith, Amherst and the University of Massachusetts.

Miss Hottel, Miss Rutter and Miss Smith are graduates of Winchester High School.

New Blood Volume Measuring Device

An automatic device that permits rapid measurement of blood volume in patients has been developed by John A. Williams, M.D., F.A.C.S., and Jacob Fine, M.D., of Beth Israel Hospital and Harvard Medical School. Dr. Fine is surgeon-in-chief at Beth Israel Hospital and professor of surgery at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Williams is an associate in surgery at Beth Israel Hospital and an instructor in surgery at Harvard Medical School.

The machine is faster and more accurate than the manual techniques now in common use. It eliminates the need for volumetric pipettings and human computations and can be run by technicians of ordinary competence, Dr. Williams said.

He added: "The instrumental technique is intended to supplant the empirical approximations of blood voume that too often are unreliable guides in therapeutic management or the analysis of the fluid balance status of the patient."

Used clinically, the instrument has provided accurate, "on-the-spot" information of vital importance for guiding transfusion treatments and for intelligent patient care.

The indications for studies with the new machine, Dr. Williams said, are not exclusively surgical, but include a wide variety of clinical conditions in which accurate determinations of blood volume are desirable but have not hitherto been possible.

The instrument was described as a new approach to the application of an old principle. Basically, this principle is quite simple: one injects into the blood stream a measured amount of "labeled" material, such as human blood protein, "tagged" with a small amount of radioactive iodine.

About ten minutes later, when the injected material has been mixed thoroughly in the circulation, a blood sample is taken and its radioactivity measured. Knowing the amount injected and the extent to which it has been diluted, one can readily calculate the volume of blood by which the material must have been diluted.

It was pointed out by Dr. Williams that the usefulness of the dilution principle has been seriously limited by technical problems of the laboratory procedures usually required. Because these procedures require several hours ond are relatively inaccurate they have remained limited largely to research.

Dr. Williams said that the new device, by contrast, provides measurements that are accurate to within a few per cent even after as many as five repeated determinations. Total time required is less than 15 minutes. The result is automatically computed and the blood volume is shown at once on a meter dial.

Back From England

"Charlie" Murphy is back! We are sure "Nick-Fitz" and "the Homespun Boy" are among the happiest to see him back in the old home town after 10 days in England with his brother, James F. Murphy of Lexington. The brothers went overseas on business for the J. F. Murphy Machine Co. of Medford and according to "Charlie" any other activities indulged in during their trip were purely coincidental. They flew both ways and arrived at Logan last week, Wednesday night, at 9:15.

Our Youth Problem - 1

Derro Acts To Curb Town Delinquency

(This is the first in a special series of three Star articles on juvenile delinquency in Winchester.)

"Not in Winchester!"

This has been the prevailing sentiment for many years in this prosperous suburb on the subject of juvenile delinquency. Most of us have tended to identify juvenile crime with less privileged areas of Metropolitan Boston.

We are only vaguely aware of statistics showing juvenile delinquency on the increase throughout the nation.

Statistics like these: (1) 150% increase in appearances before the nation's juvenile courts between 1947 and 1958, whereas child population in the same period increased only 25%. (2) Juvenile involvement in 65% of all automobile thefts, 50% of all burglaries, and 49% of all larcenies.

But we are still not convinced that these statistics are relevant to life in Winchester.

Police Chief Joseph J. Derro is not so optimistic.

"I don't think people realize the seriousness of our youth problem," the Chief told the Star this week.

"Just give some thought to the recent housebreaks, teenage drinking sessions, party-crashings, and drag-racing. The list is long. And the time has come for us to do something about it.

"I don't mean simply punishing these youngsters when something goes wrong," the Chief added. "I'm talking about doing something now about creating a Town environment in which this sort of thing will not and cannot occur."

A STEP FORWARD

Last week Winchester took a major step toward creating such an environment. It was announced by Police Chief Derro that Special Juvenile Officer James Cogan would begin a year's study at The Citizenship Training Program in Boston. Officer Cogan had applied for study and learned last week of his appointment by the District Attorney.

A New Series In The Star

Begining in the next issue, November 10th, The Star will publish a series of editorial page feature stories on "The Clubs of Winchester." The articles will be concerned with the history, organization, outstanding activities, purposes and membership of Winchester's many organizations.

It is the Star's wish ultimately to publish a story on all of Winchester's clubs and lodges. We feel the series will be of general interest to the Town at large and of permanent value to the organizations involved.

If, through some oversight, the Star should fail to contact your organization president, please contact us. As matters stand, the Star has scheduled eleven stories taking the series through the issue of January 12, inclusive. If your organization has not been contacted it will be within the next few weeks regarding a story to be published after that date.

PROGRAM

Here Is My Program As Representative For Winchester

JOHN V. COSTELLO
I'm Asking Your Vote

1. KEEP YOU INFORMED REGULARLY on matters affecting you and your interests. I will work personally with you . . . in time to meet your needs. My phone (PA 9-1280) is open to you.

2. WORK CLOSELY WITH TOWN OFFICIALS as their agent in the State House, to help them take advantage of programs that will help reduce local government costs. I think a better break in school-building aid is a start.

3. FIGHT TO HALT FURTHER INCREASES in MDC assessments here.

4. ONE OF MY FIRST EFFORTS: Work to establish a code of ethics to put an end to conflict of interest in public office.

5. OPPOSE FREEZE-INS . . . no matter what.

6. INCREASE STATE SCHOLARSHIPS for worthy students. Parents of qualified youngsters can't bear the whole burden.

7. PUT MY TAX EXPERIENCE TO WORK: Careful revision of state tax structure and getting a fair share of the state tax dollar in return for Winchester's tax contribution.

8. MORE LOW-COST PUBLIC HIGHER EDUCATION. Private colleges are too crowded and their costs are keeping too many qualified youngsters at home.

Respectfully submitted,
John V. Costello

Two-Alarm Fire Ravages 16-Room Herrick St. Home

A two-alarm, $25,000 fire ripped up from the basement to the attic of Theodore Elliott's home at 11 Herrick Street shortly after 10:00 o'clock last Wednesday night and virtually demolished the 16-room frame house.

Firefighter Charles Moran injured his elbow in the blaze and was taken immediately to Winchester Hospital for treatment by Dr. McManus. No other injuries were reported.

"We think a defective heating system caused the blaze," Fire Chief Jim Callahan told the Star this week. "We had an investigation and that was the best we could come up with."

The fire, issuing out of the rear of the Elliott home was spotted both by Mr. Elliott himself, returning home with his wife, and by a neighbor, Mr. Goodhue.

Mr. Elliott drove down and rang the fire alarm at Box 26 at the corner of Main Street and Herrick Street. He thought at first it might be leaves burning in the rear reflecting their fire against the house. When he and his wife tried to open the front door and were greeted by a blast of heat and found flames issuing out of a rear basement door they realized what was happening and immediately rang the alarm.

Your Baby Is No Excuse Not To Vote

Don't let your baby keep you away from the polls!

The Senior Girl Scouts of Winchester will baby sit next Tuesday, while parents are at the polls making democracy work. The Baptist Church nursery will be opened from 2:00 to 8:00 p.m. to children of all ages.

Parents wishing to vote may leave their children at the nursery where several Girl Scouts will be on hand to see to it that their children are well taken care of. This is a free community service, which should be welcomed by many voters with children.

Town Committees Step Up Final Drives For Victory

Republicans

The Republican Town Committee has announced plans for a Motorcade at the weekly Town Committee meeting last Tuesday.

The Motorcade will form on Washington Street in front of the J. H. Winn plant at 10 a.m. on Saturday, November 5th. The procession will then tour Winchester advertising the National, State and County candidates of the Republican party in the elections November 8th.

All townspeople are invited to join the parade, the only requirements being a car and driver to meet on Washington Street before 10 o'clock.

The various sub-committees made reports and hope to turn out the largest Republican vote ever in Winchester in support of the Republican Ticket; from Nixon-Lodge-Saltonstall through the State ticket led by our resident John Volpe.

Democrats

"Tonight, Thursday in the beautiful Knights of Columbus Hall on Washington Street the Democratic Town Committee and its associate members will stage a reception in honor of William Madden, candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, John V. Costello, candidate for Representative in the State Legislature and Lawrence Corcoran, candidate for the office of State Senator.

"The very fine program will be in three parts: (1) Entertainment, beginning at 7:30 with Mrs. May Serieka in charge. A fine list of entertainers is on the bill. (2) Talks by the three candidates and remarks by prominent Democrats, who will be present. (3) A delicious lunch prepared and served by some Democrats whose culinary skill is famous locally.

"Following this part of the program will come the raffling off of a large home-made cake, baked, ornamented and donated by one of our active young Democrats, Mrs. Ruth Peterson of Cross Street. The mouth-watering tiered frosting on the cake will be surmounted by a happy, smiling Donkey, the Democratic symbol.

"On Sunday evening, November 6, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Harvey, Jr., will hold an open-house party at their home at 55 Yale Street.

"This gathering is especially planned to honor the telephone volunteers for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. All of these young women who have done such an outstanding job for the Democrats in Winchester will gather together from all six precincts to receive praise and commendation from their local leader, John Spang, chairman of the Citizens for Kennedy in Winchester. Mrs. Harvey heads up the Volunteers in Precincts 4 and 5. Party hours Sunday night: 7:30 to 10:00 p.m., or later." (Submitted by Democratic Town Committee.)

Don't Forget To Vote Tuesday!

Ten Take Exam For Sergeancy

Ten Winchester policemen took the civil service examination for the post of sergeant Saturday. Officers participating in the test at the senior high school were: William Haggerty, John McHugh, Andrew Crawford, John Reardon, Roland Roy, David Greel, Thomas Kennedy, Mario Buzzotta, Frank Tranchita, and Erwin Nurnberger.

Taking police entrance exams in Boston last Saturday were eight local men.

Town Goes To Polls Tuesday; Candidates Expect Big Turnout

Chadwick, Costello Issue Final Statements; Interest In Election Is Reported Very High

With approximately 93% of Winchester's eligible voters registered to cast their ballots, the Town prepared this week to go to the polls in one of the most exciting and unpredictable elections that old-timers can remember.

On the local, state and national levels political feeling ran very high. It appeared very likely that the 1956 Presidential Year's voting turnout of 94.2% would be equalled this year.

A possibly significant factor in this election is the rather high registration of 882 residents in the final period, beginning on August 13 and ending on October 14. This vote, about 100 more than registrations during the same period in 1956, could, of course, mean added strength for either party, for both Town Committees have made determined drives for new registrations.

The big question, of course, is how Winchester's 4,732 Independents will go. As the Star went to press, few local pundits were willing to prophesy, for Winchester residents seemed smitten by the same reluctance to reveal their innermost thoughts that afflicted the nation.

Winchester residents, naturally, were keenly interested in the political fortunes of John A. Volpe, of Everett Avenue, Republican candidate for Governor. Their interest has been heightened, of course, by the dramatic T.V. exchanges between Mr. Volpe and Mr. Ward.

Interest in the Chadwick-Costello race for the post of State Representative also ran high. Republican standard-bearer Harrison Chadwick of 24 Everett Avenue and Democratic standard-bearer John V. Costello of 79 Loring Avenue have both waged serious campaigns.

The candidates issued the following pre-election statements to the Star:

Mr. Chadwick's Statement

"By all means, the first and foremost political issue in Massachusetts is cleaning house. The recent shocking revelations of the abuse of public trust, and the indictments by the Grand Jury, actually are only a scratch on the surface of the real condition of our state government. Payrolls everywhere are grossly padded; favoritism and partisanship are rampant; efficiency and morale have declined almost to the vanishing point in department after department.

"The financial affairs of the Commonwealth are at a deplorably low ebb. In spite of the highest per capita indebtedness in the nation, this state has recklessly borrowed money for maintenance purposes, and has handled our capital improvements in an outlandishly extravagant manner. (Two of these have been declared unconstitutional.) The budget has risen to an all time high, but nevertheless the ruling clique has spent the public funds in a club-like atmosphere as though mandated to take care of their friends. The formulas for distributing state revenues to the cities and towns are outmoded and inequitable. Our tax structure also is outmoded and serves nobody well.

Mr. Costello's Statement

"EXPERIENCE

"I am not ashamed to say I have never served in the General Court before and now hope to do so as your Representative.

"My opponent finds something akin to sin in this fact.

"May I say that my four years of practical experience in the State House in the fields of planning, taxation and education are considerably more than my opponent had when he started as Our "Representative"?

"His flat statement: I know no one, and no one knows me at the State House.

"My experience: Through my contacts both in the Senate and House I have occasionally had to perform Our "Representative's" duties when Winchester citizens could not find him on the job. That is a fact I had no intention of mentioning, but Mr. Chadwick plays rough. And what I say is true. It also indicates that I have some experience that will prove helpful to you, if I am elected.

W. H. S. Sets Science Record In 1960 College Board Tests

"The College Board results in the sciences during the past three years are the highest ever achieved in the Winchester High School," reported Mrs. Lenna Travis, Science Department chairman, at a recent meeting of the School Committee held in October. Present at this meeting were seven teachers of science, invited by the Committee to give first hand reports of the work being accomplished in their fields.

Chemistry scores of Winchester students on the College Boards average 115 to 125 points above the national form, said Mrs. Travis. In Biology the latest figures show the Winchester average to be 633 in comparison to the national average of 512 points. Records from the colleges indicate that many former High School students are doing excellent work as science majors.

Highlights follow of the reports presented by Mrs. Travis, Miss Eleanor Peck, Miss Sybil Daniels, Francis Finigan, John Finneran, and George Curtis.

General Science in Grade IX

The revised course in General Science for Grade IX is the result of a month's work this summer by five of the science teachers. Its purpose is to give a sound, basic knowledge of the four sciences taught in the Senior High School so that students entering the High School may proceed faster and further in their work. It is planned that this revised science course will be taken by all students at the ninth grade level.

Accelerated students, however, will take this course in the 8th grade. They will have the basic material of the 7th and 8th grade science in one course at the 7th grade level, and thus will be ready for Biology in the 9th grade, Chemistry in the 10th, Physics or Advanced Placement Chemistry in the 11th or 12th grade.

All students benefit from this revamped course, because there will be time for greater depth and breadth of instruction in whatever scence courses they may elect in the Senior High School.

Biology

Since 1959 the number of Biology classes has increased from six to nine. The 1960-61 schedule includes an extra period each week for laboratory work, thus making biology

Continuance For Four Youths In Housebreak Case

"Case continued for 8 months."

That was the judge's verdict Friday, October 28 in the case of four youths hailed into Juvenile Court in Woburn on charges of breaking into a Rangeley Road home for a two week period in August and September.

The boys had also been charged with stealing some $200 worth of liquor with intent to sell it to minors and ransacking the house from top to bottom. They are all West Side boys.

The Rangeley Road home is that owned by Mr. Warren Barnes. The alleged break and theft occurred during Mr. Barnes, summer absence at the Ocean Point Hotel in Bar Harbor, Maine. The alleged multiple entries occurred between August 20 and September 6, police say.

Officer William Nash argued the case for Winchester before Judge Henchey.

Housebreak On Forest Street

Early Monday afternoon a house on Forest Street near the Stoneham line was entered, ransacked and burglarized of a large number of valuable articles, including a 38 Smith and Wesson revolver and bullets.

A neighbor reported having seen a man walking down Forest Street from Route 93. She said he was 30-35 years old. Washing windows at the time she saw him, the woman said, he was about five feet, ten inches tall. She said she thought something was amiss when she noticed the Venetian blinds drawn suddenly in the rear of the house.

The occupant of the house reported coming back to her home in early afternoon, discovering that some one had entered her home by breaking a 6x12 inch pane of glass in the door leading from the breezeway to the kitchen. Investigating Officer Andrew Crawford found all the rooms ransacked.

In addition to the 38 revolver, the following items were reported missing: full-length mink coat, an electric shaver, a Bulova watch, a portable radio, a Kodak movie camera, a German camera, stainless steel knives and antique knives.

Still again, Chief Derro urged anyone seeing persons acting suspiciously or noticing any event out of the ordinary to contact him immediately. "Perhaps if we had been contacted earlier on this house break," the Chief said, "we could have apprehended this man." In any case, the Chief is pressing his investigation in this latest of a series of house breaks here.

Explosion At Esso Station

A boiler room explosion that could be heard all through Winchester Centre last Friday night shortly after 7:00 o'clock, shattered windows, pipes, heating apparatus, and the boiler room door at the Esso Station at the corner of Park and Main Streets.

Roger Gullotti and Eddie Ehrgott were lubricating a 1955 Chevrolet owned by Carlton Miner of 38 Willow Street, Woburn, when the blast occurred. Mr. Miner reportedly was stunned by the blast.

Fortunately, there were no injuries in this potentially tragic explosion. Fire Chief Jim Callahan said the blast had been reported to the Fire Marshal's office and an investigation was underway.

Winchester Protests Present Rates

Water & Sewer Board At MDC Hearings

Members of Winchester's Water & Sewer Board attended the hearings held by the Metropolitan District Commission last Friday and Tuesday of this week at the State House for cities and towns using Metropolitan water and sewerage facilities.

Under the old system the MDC merely billed cities and towns using sewerage facilities especially, without explanation. Now under Chapter 612 of the Acts of 1959 the MDC is required to hold a hearing for users, at which a full report of what the MDC has done during the year just past must be presented with a statement of what the Commission proposes for the year to come.

Public hearings for water users have been in effect since 1953 under the provsions of Chapter 618 of the Acts of that year. This year's hearing was held last Friday and was continued until Tuesday. James F. Dwinell, Jr., of the Winchester Water & Sewer Board, attended with Water Superintendent James D. Halwartz. In general the member cities and towns approved the MDC report for the past year and its proposals for the coming year.

The Sewerage hearing was held Tuesday afternoon and was attended by the Winchester Chairman of the Water & Sewer Board, Charles T. Main, 2nd. Some of the cities and towns using Metropolitan sewerage facilities, Winchester among them, have been unhappy with the new formula for apportioning used rates.

Formerly the rates were apportioned according to population and valuation. Last year by Legislative enactment this was changed and rates are now apportioned according to the number of connections a community has with MDC sewers and the volume of sewage entering the MDC trunks from the community with the ability of the MDC sewers to carry the load received.

Winchester, because of having four MDC trunk lines extending through town, has found it convenient to connect directly with these lines instead of building long lines of its own to points of entrance. As a consequence Winchester's apportionment of sewer costs has been very high, and protests have been lodged with the MDC by the town, seeking a review and reapportionment. Milton, affected like Winchester by the new ratio, has also protested.

An interpretation of the new Act by the Attorney General has ruled that neither revenue nor reapportionment can be made for five years, this provision of the law being surprising both to the cities and towns in the MDC sewerage system but to the MDC itself.

Milton has taken an appeal from this ruling to the Superior Court and it is now believed that the litigation will go to the State Supreme Court.

Meanwhile both Milton and Winchester abstained from voting at Tuesday's hearing, when the other MDC sewer users approved the Commission's plans.

At that time Mr. Main read a letter stating the Water & Sewer Board's position. It follows in full:

"Subsequent to the enactment of Chapter 612 of the Acts of 1959, we have studied the data used in determining the apportionment applicable to Winchester of the costs for interest and principal of the Metropolitan sewerage system which is specified in Chapter 612.

"We would suggest that the basic data used by the Special Commission was in error and was not in accord with true facts in at least the following two respects:

1. The number and capacity of Winchester municipal connections to MDC sewers were overstated.

2. The capacity of the MDC sewers downstream of Winchester was overstated.

"As a result, the apportionment of cost to Winchester is excessive as compared with what it would be if correct capacities had been used in computing the 'demand-capacity' ratio in the manner specified in Chapter 612. We understand that the numbers used by the Special Commission in determining the ratio had not been reviewed as to accuracy by the engineers of the MDC. We expect that a review by MDC engineers would disclose erroneous capacities used by the Special Commission which would affect the apportionments for all towns and cities in the sewerage district.

"Winchester is one of the towns having a large number of connections to the MDC sewerage system. In view of the new 'demand-capacity' ratio which is the basis of the new apportionments, we find that elimination of certain Winchester connections will result in reduced assessments by MDC which will more than pay for the new sewers that must be constructed by the Town to eliminate the unnecessary connections into the MDC system.

"We therefore urge that the Metropolitan District Commission find a way by which it can lawfully do two things, as follows:

A. Immediately review the apportionment percentages in the Chapter 612 to make them accord with the correct figures for capacities, so that the apportionments for 1960 can be on a correct basis.

B. Review the apportionments annually to take into effect any changes in a town's connections to the MDC system so that revised assessments will apply in the year immediately following the change. We urge this be done in all cases, irrespective of whether the change represents an increase or decrease in a town's connections, or an increase or decrease in MDC capacity serving a town.

Sewer Board

James F. Dwinell, Jr.

Health for All

Open Season

Home is the hunter, home from the hill, having bagged his limit of deer, pheasant, small game and other hunters. He may also bring back a little extra something—not in his game bag, but in his lungs or his bloodstream.

Wild animals, the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association says, are afflicted with a number of diseases. People who handle these sick animals or are bitten by them may become infected.

General Precaution—If you come across a dead rabbit, a woodchuck, squirrel, or bird, don't touch it. While it may possibly have been shot by a hunter who was later unable to find it, it's safest to assume that it died of a disease you may catch if you handle it. If a skunk, fox, coyote, or any other animal which normally shies away from people, strolls fearlessly up to you, apparently tame, get out of there fast. The animal probably has rabies and it will bite you if it can get close enough.

A sick or dead bird may have ornithosis, which produces a serious pneumonia-like illness in man, the Middlesex TB and Health Association continued.

Sick or dead small game, such as rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks, may have tularemia. In man, this is a serious and sometimes fatal disease. The symptoms are fever,

Two Responsibilities

United Fund and get-out-the-vote publicity that is coming to everyone right now indicate that responsibility on the part of individual citizens is an essential characteristic of liberty. To many responsibility of this sort is an inconvenience, an intrusion on their affairs. They may have lost sight of the fact that our republic and constitution were established on the basis of both individual rights and responsibilities. Liberty is the product of continuing action by the people.

Only the majority who vote in elections are the people who elect government officials. Every vote counts.

And in our democracy support of charity and health agencies is maintained largely by the people. It, too, is a matter of individual conscience and action. In Greater Boston we have the United Fund's one-a-year campaign for funds to help accomplish the task of supporting charities and public health as thoroughly and efficiently as possible.

Thousands of Winchester residents give countless hours to volunteer phases of the United Fund campaign and political efforts to inform the public about candidates for office and to urge us all to vote.

This month we have two civic acts to perform. Both are easy to do, and very worth-while. United Fund workers are soliciting now for the 1961 campaign! Tuesday is election day!

College Board

course acceptable to the colleges as a laboratory science. Although Biology is primarily a college preparatory course, the subject, being the study of life itself, has much to offer the students who are not college bound.

The teachers of biology are interested and most willing to prepare students for advanced placement when the schedule and equipment can be so arranged. They ask consideration of a plan which would include one semester of Botany, one of Zoology and one of Physiology in order to give better preparation to the college bound student. A good high school preparation, they find, has often led students to major in this field in college.

Chemistry

In the past three years the number of classes in Chemistry has been increased from five to eight. A new textbook, approved by the Citizens' Advisory Committee, has been introduced which places greater emphasis on the theory of atomic structure and the chemical bond approach.

A course in Chemistry is also offered for students not planning to take College Board examinations.

This year an Advanced Placement Course in Chemistry has an enrollment of 14 students chosen on the basis of academic achievement and ability, interest in science, and willingness to work. This is a college level chemistry course which includes two to four hours of laboratory. Students are expected to do about two hours of homework for each hour of class. At the end of this course each student will take an examination administered by the Educational Testing Service. On the results of this test the colleges will then decide whether the student should receive advanced standing and college credit for the course.

Physics

High School interest in Physics has also taken an upward swing. At present there are six classes with 94 students enrolled. Thirty-two per cent of the senior class is taking Physics, a high percentage in comparison to other schools in this area or in the nation.

The PSSC course in Physics, instituted last year in the Winchester High School, covers, according to the instructor, less topical material than is usually presented in high school courses in favor of a more penetrating analysis of areas which contribute most heavily to an atomic picture of the universe. This course is the result of the Physical Science Study Committee's endeavor to present the major developments of physics as a logical and integrated whole.

A course in Applied Physics teaches the theories, laws and principles of physics in conjunction with concrete objects (television, radio, automobiles, airplanes as examples). Although much less mathematics is involved, the course provides the student with an appreciation and understanding of his scientific environment.

The teachers of Physics are prepared to give an Advanced Placement course when there is sufficient demand.

"Mary Stuart" For Players Nov. 17, 18, 19

One of the jewel-studded classic dramas of our time, the Schiller version of "Mary Stuart," will be presented by the Parish Players of Winchester on November 17, 18, and 19 in Chidley Hall. This play, a combination of excellent theatre, history, biography, is directed by Harlan F. Grant of the Boston Conservatory of Music, with special settings designed by David Rush.

The Thursday evening performance will be opened to students at a special "student rate," in order to give them an opportunity to see "Mary Stuart." A sincere invitation is extended to all young people who are interested in dramatics, or who are studying this period in their history classes. Student admissions may be secured at the door on November 17, or for other evenings, call Mrs. Gowdy, PA 9-2728.

In securing permission to present "Mary Stuart," the Players are the first amateur group to attempt so ambitious and intricate a play. The role of Elizabeth is played by Rosalind Lynch; Mary Stuart, Marian Blake; Lord Leicester, Rev. Wesley Mallery; Lord Burleigh, George E. Connor; L'Aubespine, Henry Fitts; Lord Shrewsbury, Woodford Wilcox; Davison, Lawrence Smith; Mortimer, Jerry Rosen; Hannah, Doris Stone; Lord Paulet, Leon Blanchard; Melvil, John MacLellan; the page, Larry Archibald; guards, Don Moffett and Bob Erickson.

Four college students will be in Precincts One and Two to interview residents on the election, day and night, for the next few days.

Come and See Tour of Mt. Holyoke College

On October 28 a group of junior and senior girls from WHS were invited by the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club to visit their college in South Hadley.

The trip was planned by Richard L. Emerson and the following foursome went as drivers: Mrs. Adin B. Bailey, Mrs. Waldon B. Hersey, Mrs. Stephen G. Nichols and Mrs. James B. Willing.

The group of students included Betty Bowes, Martha Dodge, Claudia Gordon, Alice Dyson, Jane Hess, Lucy Cushman, Thalia McCarthy, Joanne McClennan, Nancy Mullen, Debby Nichols, Gail Nickerson, Gayle Palace, Mary Lou O'Donnell, Martha Ross, Robena Thompson and Pam Smith. Miss Constance Trickett, guidance director of girls at WHS, was a great addition to the party.

Four car loads were off to an early start, leaving WHS at 8 a.m. Even the weatherman had to reverse his gloomy predictions for the day.

At college Miss Dorothy Smith, Mt. Holyoke senior, ably assisted by Miss Cynthia Dennett, had the day's schedule well set up. Our students not only toured the campus but attended two classes and were entertained in one of the dormitories for lunch.

The following Winchester girls now at Mt. Holyoke College acted as hostesses: Misses "Carlie" Clark, Alice Dunn, "Liz" Hottel, Stephanie Hersey, Cynthia Dennett, Janet Munro, Jill Sibley, Marcia Smith, Christine Trump and Phyllis Rutter.

The group gathered in Mary Worley Hall at the invitation of Miss Marie Hall, assistant dean of admissions. After an enlightening talk on qualifications for admissions Miss Hall answered many questions on life at Mt. Holyoke. Both adults and W.H.S. students left South Hadley feeling that it had been a day well spent.

Voters Of Winchester

A friend and former classmate of mine asked me last week why anyone should run for state office and suffer the financial loss and personal abuse which are the inevitable results of being elected to public office today. My reply to that query is that I feel that I owe a debt to the founders of this free American society and that the best way I can pay it is to assume the moral obligation of leadership. Having been trained for the public service in government at Harvard College and Harvard Law School and having been elected a Town Meeting member since 1935, I have participated in the public affairs of my town, state and nation and have been the Town Moderator for the last five years. And now I am a candidate for the State Senate to protect the vital interests of the citizens of Arlington, Medford and Winchester in the State Senate of Massachusetts.

In response to the second question of my friend as to what is the function of the State Senator, I told him that the Senate of Massachusetts is comprised of 40 members and the Senate is the branch of the State government which checks action of the lower branch which is subject to popular pressure and emotional attitudes of the electorate.

The next question my friend asked was what do I plan to do if elected as State Senator. I replied to help my district and to help solve the many problems of the State of Massachusetts. I told him that the first order of business was to have a State Constitutional Convention and to enact the Home Rule Amendment which will eliminate half of the legislation to do with the internal problems of cities and towns and which should not be the obligation of the State Senate and State Legislature; thus, cutting in half the legislative sessions and enable more people to participate and be candidates for state office.

I further stated that my experience as legislative counsel over the past 20 years, representing the Massachusetts Real Estate Board involving the vital problem of real estate taxation, the Friends of Framingham Reformatory, which is concerned with the very important problem of prisons and parole, and the Massachusetts Civic League, of which I am the Vice President and in charge of Radio and Television and which is concerned with modernizing and streamlining the state government. Also my many years of experience with the Committee on Town Government in Arlington will enable me to legislate with wisdom and courage concerning all the problems which will be coming before the State Senate in the next two years.

In conclusion I told my friend that if elected to serve the people of Arlington, Medford and Winchester in the State Senate that I would help restore and create a moral climate which will improve popular government and attract our young citizens to devote themselves to a better life by service to the people through popular government.

Mrs. Julia Gibbons

Mrs. Julia G. Gibbons of 5 Wendell Street, wife of William H. Gibbons, custodian of the George Washington School, died Wednesday night, October 26, at her home after a long illness.

Mrs. Gibbons was the daughter of Thomas, and Delia (Beatty) Langford. She was born March 22, 1900, in Winchester and spent her entire life in town, attending the Winchester schools. She and Mr. Gibbons were married February 6, 1921.

She was a member of, and active in, the Immaculate Conception Sodality and was also a member of the Catholic Daughters of America.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Gibbons leaves two daughters, Miss Julia C. Gibbons of Winchester and Mrs. John Gonsalves of Woburn; two sons, William H., Jr., and James M. Gibbons, both of Winchester; 10 grandchildren; a sister, Miss Catherine Langford of Winchester; and two brothers, Frank, of Winchester, and Thomas Langford of Medford.

The funeral was held Saturday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem High Mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Rev. James F. Kenny was celebrant, Rev. Francis X. Turke of St. Mary's Church was deacon, and Rev. Rene Saulnier was subdeacon.

Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Frank E. Gilchrist

Word has been received here of the death of Frank E. Gilchrist, a former resident of Winchester, on Sunday, October 30, in Hyannis.

Mr. Gilchrist was 71 years old and a native of Fitchburg. He came to Winchester in 1919 and was associated with the late Everett Hambly in the automobile repair business on upper Main Street, living first at 31 Canal Street and later at 50 Vine Street.

Mr. Gilchrist was well known in Winchester. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion, also holding membership in Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows and Winchester Lodge of Elks.

In 1937 Mr. Gilchrist left Winchester to take up residence at Townsend Harbor. From there he went to Hyannis where he was until his retirement superintendent of the Water Department.

He leaves his wife, Edna; a son, Frank, living in Centerville; and two granddaughters.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the Beals Funeral Home in Centerville. Burial was in the Centerville Cemetery.

Thomas J. Murphy

Thomas J. Murphy, 54, of 19 Glenwood Avenue, a widely known employee of the Park Department, died suddenly Sunday morning, October 30, at the Winchester Hospital. He had returned the previous Monday from the Veterans Hospital in Jamaica Plain, where he had undergone an operation, and was believed to be recovering nicely when his condition took a turn for the worse last Saturday. He was removed Saturday evening to the Winchester Hospital, where he died early the next morning.

Mr. Murphy was the son of Jeremiah, and Annie (Carroll) Murphy. He was born January 4, 1906, in Winchester and grew up in the town, attending the Winchester schools and Winchester High School.

During World War II he entered the Army Medical Corps and saw overseas service for some time in the European Theatre. He was a member of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, and flags on the Common and town buildings were displayed at half-staff in his honor.

Soon after leaving the armed forces Mr. Murphy entered the employ of the Park Department, and through his employment on the Common and other town fields and plots made many friends among people of all walks of life.

Only last August 22, Mr. Murphy married the former Hilda Shea of Winchester, daughter of Mrs. Bridget A., and the late Mounted Police Officer Edward Shea. Mrs. Murphy survives with three brothers, Caroll E., of Winchester; Bernard, of Burlington and Daniel Murphy of Raynham.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Retired Firefighter Everett W. Kimball, who was quite ill at the Winchester Hospital for nearly three weeks, returned last week Thursday to his home on Westley Street and is reported as much improved.

Remember When?

This week's Remember When picture is that of the old Gifford School which was on Main Street adjacent to Warwick Place and beside the home of one of the town's old time physicians, Dr. McCarthy. (He used to let the kids keep their bikes in his barn).

The school and the McCarthy home were torn down either prior to or at the time the junior high school (now the senior high school) was built.

Housing five grades and a kindergarten in the nineties and early nineteen hundreds, the first, second and third grades and kindergarten were on the first floor, the fourth and fifth grades upstairs. Children from the center, Symmes Corner and Wedgemere districts with some from the side hills, went to the Gifford, those from the Wedgemere district who went three years to the old Mystic School on Bacon Street going to the Gifford for their fourth and fifth grade years. All the Gifford boys and girls went on to the old Prince School that stood at the corner of Church and School Streets, for their sixth grade, as did all other pupils in town who had completed their fifth grade year. (And they walked!)

At the Gifford there were some good teachers in the editor's time, Miss Spurr, the principal, and Miss Wood, who followed her (how she liked lilacs and how agreeable they used to make her); Miss Kendall, Miss Walker, Miss Howard, Miss Jepson. None would stand any rannygazoo! Occasionally Miss Marston used to substitute at the Gifford, and Mr. Howard looked in to teach penmanship (how the children marvelled at the fancy birds and capital letters he put upon the blackboard.

And every so often came Mr. Makechnie and his violin for the singing. If the effort pleased him, he would play for the boys and girls on his violin, generally doing a lot of double stopping that the kids thought was simply out of this world!

Malaya Publisher Visits Star

The Star was pleased to have a visit on last Wednesday from Mr. S. O. A. Alsagoff, publisher of the Utusan Melayu Press, Ltd., at Kuala Lumpur, in the Federation of Malaya, outside Singapore.

Mr. Alsagoff's visit to the United States is sponsored by the International Education Exchange Service of the State Department in cooperation with the American Council of Education. He has already been through much of the country and visited some of the largest papers here.

He plans to visit Canada, on his own, and also wants to go South in the United States before returning home.

Mr. Alsagoff publishes both a daily and weekly in Kuala Lumpur and made many comparisons between his own equipment and that of the Star. He speaks very good English and his visit with us was a pleasant one. He was accompanied on his trip to the Star office by his Winchester host, Mrs. Neil H. Borden of Highland Avenue.

Lincoln School Frolic

The Halloween Frolic was held at Lincoln School on Friday, October 28, from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening. This annual fund-raising event of the Lincoln School Mothers' Association was eagerly attended by some two hundred and fifty children, all dressed in costume. Parents enjoyed cider and doughnuts while children watched cartoons and took their chances in the grab bags. Of interest to both parents and children were the brightly decorated tables where one might buy home-baked goods, nuts and candy, gaily trimmed pumpkins, used books, toys, skates, boots and rubbers.

Dads' Club members Edward Williams, Edward McCullough, Charles Buchanan and William Maggio acted as judges of the costumes and awarded first prize to Shelley Preston, second prize to Mary Ann Buzzotta and third prize to Rena and Terry Paonessa.

Vincent Clarke of 93 Bacon Street reported to police about 2:30 p.m. Sunday that someone had removed the tail lights from his 1959 Cadillac, while it was parked in his garage. The garage doors reportedly had been open since Wednesday.

Mr. Jewett of 35 Foxcroft Road reported to police that someone had thrown some kerosene at his front entrance last Monday night about 6:45. Upon investigation Officers Cogan and Nash found a bag of lighter fluid which had ignited on being thrown by some unknown person. A quiz of youths in the neighborhood was to no avail.

Mrs. Bosselman of 84 Wildwood Street told police at 7:18 p.m. Monday that someone had cut the roof of her son's convertible in three places. The cuts were some five inches in length. Police officers quizzed youths in the area without success.

Chief Callahan told the Star the fire was under control by 11:30. The all-out was sounded by 4:24 a.m. Thursday. It was a two-alarm blaze, with Woburn covering Winchester headquarters and Wakefield volunteers helping out at the scene of the fire.

There was no one at home when the fire broke out. Practically every room in the large house sustained fire damage, the flames having reached the upper stories as Winchester firefighters directed by Chief Callahan himself reached the scene.

Art Association Hears MacNutt

Members who braved heavy rains on Tuesday evening to attend the November meeting of the Winchester Art Association in the public library were richly rewarded by the excellent talk and demonstration of Glen MacNutt on "Casein Painting."

Mr. MacNutt was not a fluid or easy speaker, and he did not talk much—but his actual demonstration was exceptionally fine, and his "picture was more than a thousand words." Casein painting demands top speed of workmanship, and in applying one layer of the thickened water-paint on another (explaining the technique by means of this rough first sketch), Mr. MacNutt delighted his audience by producing a hair dryer! This commonplace item in most ladies' bathrooms gives the painting a quicker drying! But he also had a completed painting to show the final results of such technique.

His demonstration was most helpful in that it showed the advantages of casein painting—that it dries waterproof and will resist water—that the artist may put one layer of paint on top of another, with striking results. He was generous with his information on the type of paints he used, the mixtures, the brushes and he showed in detail how he used a knife in laying on paint to canvas.

Paintings by this noted artist will be on exhibit in the gallery all November, and Winchester residents are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to see them, for they are indeed well worth it.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart L. Cushman and daughter Lucy Ann are flying to Washington Friday, November 4, to attend the wedding of Mrs. Cushman's niece, Miss Elizabeth Little Brown.

The Winchester Star
Established 1880 by Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Editorials:

A Time For Deep Reflection

Next Tuesday is election day! It would hardly seem that the good people of Winchester need any admonition from their home town newspaper to betake themselves to the polls at the town hall between the hours of seven in the morning and eight o'clock in the evening on that day. Big publications, both newspapers and magazines, columnists, political pundits, national, state and local party committees and the embattled candidates themselves have urged every one to vote, claiming that this election of November 8 may well prove the most important in America's history.

It well might be! Elections that put Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower in the Presidential chair can claim their vital effect upon this country's status, at home and abroad, but perhaps none of the crises with which these men grappled, successfully or not, according to the individual point of view, can compare with what awaits the successful candidate in this year's Presidential election.

So, in addition to going to the polls and exercising our franchise as free men and women to choose the way in which we are to be governed during the next four years, we must all take the greatest care in marking our ballots. For we are not choosing just a man to head the country, We are choosing an ideology, a way of life espoused by the political party, of which the Presidential candidate is the standard bearer.

It could be that one's personal preference would be for Senator Kennedy or Vice President Nixon, yet it isn't, or should not be, as easy as that! we must look behind the personality to the things the candidates' parties stand for. When you elect a President you are not completing the job of ensuring good government for the nation. You are electing the titular head of a party, the tenets of which need to be examined carefully.

If we believe things have been well handled at home and abroad under the administration presently in power — if we believe in the principals for which this administration has and does stand — if we feel we have been well off under this party and believe its policies should to a large extent be continued, then we should vote for the Republican Ticket of Nixon and Lodge.

If, however, we are sure a new hand on the wheel of the ship of state, and a fresh approach to domestic and international problems will benefit the country, the world and us as individuals — if we prefer the principals for which the Democratic Party stands, then our X should go in the box beside the names of Kennedy and Johnson.

The Star feels that what happens at home after the election is of vital importance. We should give the most careful consideration to the candidates whose party seems most likely to keep America strong at home. No nation among free peoples can hope to be strong abroad if it is not first strong at home.

The average person can not hope to know whether the United States have fallen away behind Russia in strength, productivity and prestige, as Senator Kennedy claims; or are superior to the Soviets in these things, as Vice President Nixon states. About all any of us little fellows can do in connection with this difference of opinion is to study the claims of both sides of the argument, compare them with opinions of persons better qualified to know about such matters than the man in the street and the woman at home, and then make up our minds as best we can.

The greatest care in our decision is necsssary. Foreign affairs, the cold war and the threat of a shooting conflict are matters certainly not to be taken lightly. No other President in the country's history, perhaps, has faced problems of such magnitude; problems the solution of which can be vital to the continuation of the free world as we know it. A step in the wrong direction that precipitates an all out war can mean the end of us all.

So we haven't completely done our job when we go to the polls and mark our ballots, especially if we mark them carelessly. It is important that we do vote in large numbers, important as a reminder to the communists around the world that we as free men and women are definitely concerned with the way we are governed. A huge vote on November 8 will bring home to the enemies of free peoples that we have not sold our birthright for a mess of pottage, that we are not apathetic, that we do care.

A big vote will aid greatly in doing this, but a big vote, desirable as it is, can not do the job we want it to do if it is not a vote backed by our best judgment as the result of our careful consideration of the issues and candidates involved.

As for the religious angle which has been interjected into this year's campaign and which some still believe will play an important part in deciding the election, the Star believes that none of us would like to see a man without religion in the Presidential chair.

It is our opinion, for what it may be worth, that no man should be denied office, high or low, because of his religion, nor, on the other hand should he be elected to office because of the way he chooses to worship his maker.

Kindness In A Crisis

The Star has always contended that Winchester people are tops! They may react in various ways to certain situations, but when it comes to rallying 'round the stricken, they are second to none.

We have seen it many times through the years, and we learned of one latest instance of community sympathy and kindness in connection with last week's bad fire that deprived the Ted Elliotts of their home on Herrick Street.

Even while the flames were still crackling and the smoke pouring from the house, Ted and his wife, Louise were getting all sorts of offers of aid.

Two citizens offered their homes as temporary asylum until the Elliotts could determine their next move. Others brought clothing. Still another brought two toothbrushes and face cloths, necessary items likely to be overlooked at such a time.

Since the fire the Elliotts have been besieged with expressions of symapthy and offers of help. It has bolstered their morale no end. If memory serves, Ted Elliott was born in the burned house, built by his father. He and his wife are long-time residents, who have given much to the community.

They are now more than ever enthusisatic about Winchester and its people. It's a pretty good little old town after all.

The Victory Of Norma Farrar

Everyone has times when the physical burdens he is called upon to bear get him down. At such times it would be well to consider the case of our own Norma Farrar, and the way she has overcome the severe handicap of blindness.

Norma lost her sight at 16. She did not bemoan her fate. With the assistance of sympathetic parents and helpful friends she completed her high school course, prepared for college at Perkins Institute of the Blind and graduated with high honor from University of New Hampshire, subsequently receiving her Master's degree from Columbia University.

Since then Miss Farrar has been a member of the faculties at New Hampshire and University of Illinois, has been a counselor and director of Girl Scout camps, has been to Germany with the Experiment in International Living and now is a Seeing Eye Field Representative for the famous Seeing Eye School in Morristown, N. J., traveling far and wide.

She speaks at seminars, visits schools and reclamation centers for the blind, acts as hostess to visiting groups at the Seeing Eye School and generally leads a responsible busy fruitful and happy adult life.

If you have met Norma you have felt her happy approach to things, entirely devoid of self-pity. If she had her sight, her accomplishments would be away above average. What she has done without sight should make us all ashamed to complain at any little extra burden we are called upon to bear.

Moving Fcrward On Juvenile Crime

It is good news that Winchester's Juvenile Officer, James Cogan, has been selected by the District Attorney to study with the Citizenship Training Group affiliated with the Judge Baker Guidance Center in Boston.

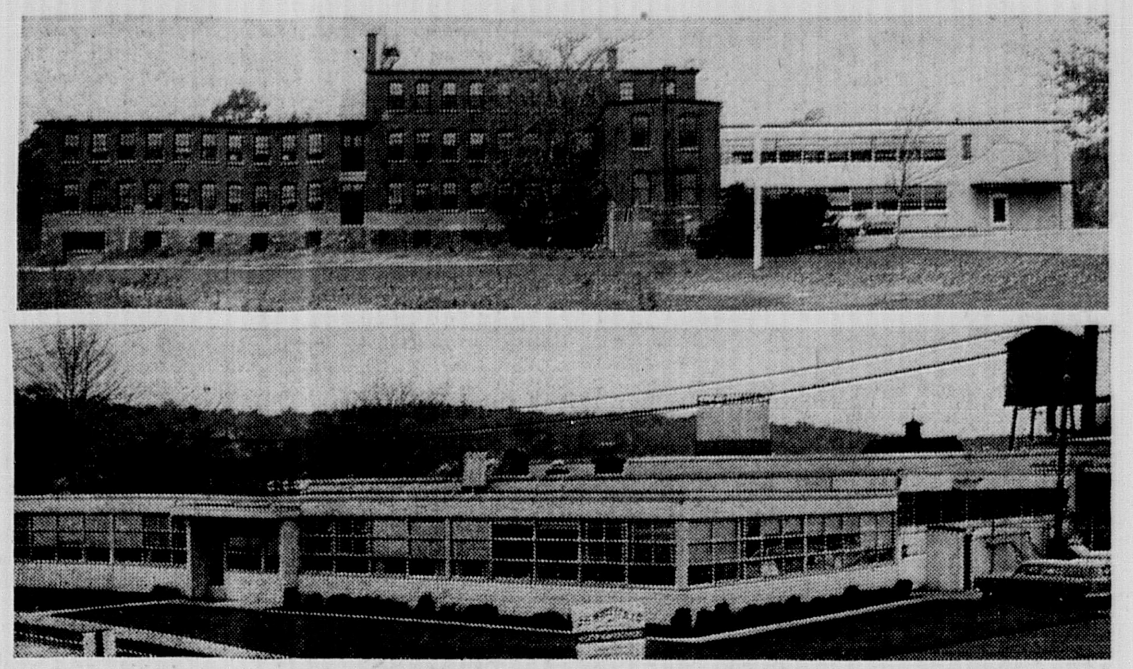
Officer Cogan's association with this group, dedicated to providing facilities and methods to help delinquent youth make proper adjustments to their communities, should aid him materially with the job he is trying to do here. He will work with acknowledged experts in the youth field, social workers, psychiatrists and police specialists, getting the advantage of their experience and learning the basic principals that underlie all youth reclamation action.

What he learns from his association with the Citizenship Training Group will be of incalculable value to Officer Cogan, enabling him to secure in a few short months knowledge of juvenile delinquent problems and correctional methods it would take him years to acquire on his own.

It is a nice compliment to Officer Cogan, to his Police Chief, Joseph J. Derro, and the town that this youthful member of our Police Department has been selected for this training. He has worked in the youth field only a short time. He must have done well and indicated unusual promise to be chosen for study with the Citizenship Training Group.

Industry In Winchester - Part 2

Town Debating Pros And Cons Of Admitting New Industries



Photos by Ryerson

J. H. WINN CO. (top) AND WHITTEN CO.,
TWO DISTINGUISHED WINCHESTER FIRMS

At Town Meeting in March this year, one issue easily dominated the discussion: light industry in Winchester — how much there should be, what restrictions should be placed upon it, and, in some people's minds, whether there should be any new industries here at all.

Superficially, this heated debate might have appeared to be just another exchange of volleys between the much beleaguered Planning Board and the forces of commerce — a noble war between the men whose job it is to close the books in black ink and the men who assign their leisure hours to keeping the hills of Winchester green.

But much more was involved in this exchange of ideas than "setback," the height of commercial signs, or even, as one Planning Board proposal had it, a ban on the substantial odor of sauerkraut.

No, there was something new about the argument for industry in March. It was organized, vigorous, and, as it turned out victorious. Mr. William C. Cusack, chairman of the Industrial Commission, led the charge.

Trend to Suburbia

Convinced that the economic trend of New England and the nation is to suburbia, Mr. Cusack and his Commission have been out on the stump plugging the virtues of their Town.

What kind of industry is the Commission looking for? "Certainly not the old fashioned smoke stacks and rubbish heaps," Mr. Cusack has said repeatedly. "We're looking for modern, good-looking buildings that harmonize with the landscape and architecture of Winchester.

"We're looking for low-cut buildings with shrubs, and campus-type lawns."

Route 128

There is abundant evidence that the suburban industry Mr. Cusack envisions is entirely feasible.

Over 209 industries of the kind the Industrial Commission has in mind for Winchester are now in operation or under construction on "Boston's Golden Industrial Semicircle," Route 128.

Through the good offices of such management and development firms as the R. M. Bradley Co. and Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes, Route 128's campus-lawn industries represented in 1959 a total investment value of $140 million, minimum, with a good deal more construction under way, including 13 industrial parks.

Advantages

Among the reported advantages of New England's suburban industry are these: (1) "the availability of engineers and scientists in the area; (2) good transportation; (3) parking space; (4) a quiet, attractive atmosphere; (5) nearness to research facilities at M.I.T., Harvard, Boston University, and other education centers, and (6) an atmosphere of community cooperation and acceptance."

Examples of suburban industry: the handsome Union Carbide plant in the New England Industrial Center in Needham; the American Mutual Liability Co. in Wakefield, and the Allied Container Building in Dedham. The buildings are modernistic, aesthetically pleasing, nicely landscaped.

What Benefits

Very well, supposing Winchester, to a man, acceded to the idea of more light industry of this nature here. How much land is there available? What benefits might accrue to the Town in terms of new taxes and new jobs? And what progress has been made in this matter to date?

Sites Available

Here is the countdown on industrial land still available in Winchester, all of the statistics being approximate, unofficial, and subject to revision:

(1) The old Beggs and Cobb Tannery site fronting on Swanton Street and bordering on the B. & M. Railroad, a prime 11.4 acre site.

(2) Several acres near the Winchester Crushed Stone Co.

(3) 120,000 square feet of land off Swanton Street across from the International Cooperage.

(4) Several acres of land owned by the Town at the foot of Tufts Road, under the jurisdiction of the Selectmen and partially zoned for industry.

(5) Several acres owned by Mr. James Cullen along the Aberjona off Swanton Street.

(6) Approximately six acres owned by the Parkview Electronics Co. (A pioneer in Winchester's new accent on light campus-lawn industry.

Would increased taxes coming in to the Town from new industries lower the tax rate? This subject was hotly discussed at Town Meeting.

The Industrial Commission feels that new industry would lessen the tax burden on the home-owner.

Others are persuaded that any decrease in the tax rate based on new industry would be too slight to warrant what they believe would be the detrimental effect of new industries on the predominantly residential character of Winchestry.)

What progress has been made to date? The Star of January 22, 1960 carried the story of a new $200,000 electronics plant in the 5.6 acre property located in the triangle of land formed by Cross Street, the B. & M. Railroad and the site of the Mystic Valley Gas Co. Negotiations are now under way on this, the first of perhaps five such plants in this area.

New Jobs

The proposed electronics firm it is believed, would cost about $200,000 to construct and would employ forty people on a payroll of $250,000. The entire electronics park envisioned by the owners would represent a million-dollar investment in plants occupying a 100,000 square foot landscaped area.

How do Winchester people feel about light industry here? A meeting of interested local political business, industrial and civic leaders proved that a representative group of prominent Winchester people are favorable to the idea. Residents polled in a Star survey in January were convinced that more light industry would mean lower taxes, more jobs, and would preclude the admission of such industrial eyesores as Beggs and Cobb.

Industries Here Now

How many industries are presently operating in Winchester? Here is the list:

(1) The J. H. Winn Co. at 620 Washington Street, employing 200 in the manufacture of dial hands and light stampings.

(2) The Calidyne Co. at 120 Cross Street, employing 145 people in the manufacture of vibration equipment and test instruments.

(3) The J. O. Whitten Co. at 130 Cross Street, employing 57 in the manufacture of gelatine.

(4) The Diamond Antenna and Microwave Corp. at 35 River Street, employing 54 in the manufacture of micro-wave components and antennas.

(5) The Assembled Homes Co. and Whitten Bros. Co. at 40 Cross Street, employing 58 in contracting work and the erection of prefabricated homes.

(6) The International Cooperage Co. on Swanton Street, employing 37 in the manufacture of barrels and drums.

(7) The Twombley Associates at 750 Main Street at which 27 people work at assembling school furniture.

(8) The Wire Belt Co. of America at 19 River Street, employing 25 in the manufacture of woven wire conveyor belting.

(9) The Winchester Carton Co. at 50 Cross Street, employing 17 in the manufacture of folding paper boxes.

(10) The I. D. Machine Co. at 95 Hemingway Street, manufacturing screw machine parts products and employing 15.

(11) The Redco Machine Co. at 93 Hemingway Street, employing 14 in the manufacture of electronic components.

(12) The Ingersoll Products Corp. at 1017 Main Street, employing 14 in the manufacture of canned chicken products.

Smaller Plants

Other industries: the Wedge Sales Corp. at 751 Main Street, employing four in the permatank business; the Micro-machinery Products Co. at 808 Main Street, employing seven in the manufacture of machinery to sipe tires; the Eastern Felt Co., employing 11 to make felt polishing wheels, and industrial felt sheets; the In-Sul Tab Co. at 160 Cross Street, employing nine to make electric insulated plastic tubing; the Brown Screw Machine Products Co. at 40a Cross Street, employing three to make screw machinery products; the Cogar Manufacturing Co. at 40 Cross Street, employing six to make aircraft electronic components; the Hunter Wakefield Corp. at 50 Cross Street, manufacturing textile machinery and employing five; and, finally, the Quezon Cordage Mills at 20 River Street, at which five assist in the manufacture of mops and rope.

It is not, then, a question of whether Winchester should have industry. It has a good deal of industry now, and it has always had a good share of it. The questions are "How much more, and What kind will it be?"

The answer to these questions, hammered out in committee hearings and on the floor of Town Meeting will to a great extent determine the future development of the Town.

PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

By WILSON SULLIVAN

Presidential politics have passed out of the hands of the people, and even the bosses, and have become dominated by propaganda specialists.

In fact, Stanley Kelley, Jr., writes in "Professional Public Relations and Political Power," our federal elections have largely been reduced to contests between advertising firms.

How do these propagandists operate? How do they get away with it? And what can we do about them?

Their basic approach to politics, Vance Packard warned us a good while ago, is one of merchandising. Over the mass media they sell their candidates as they sell soap and cigarettes. They sell them with jingles and slogans—catchy, repetitive, slick, and directed at the lowest level of intelligence.

Convinced that the "average man" is too busy buttering his daily bread, Kelley adds, the P. R. man moves in to "educate" him. He discovers the latent tides of public anxiety, doubt, and desire on which his candidate may ride to victory.

"Issues" are selected not for their intrinsic importance and validity, but in terms of TV impact, public appeal, or gratification of special-interest groups, or ethnic or religious factions. On buttons, banners, and billboards, the battle for headlines is waged. But the top spot by far is the TV hour customarily reserved for the national comic or cowboy, for here the audience is loyal, here the defenses are down, here the battle is won or lost.

How do you do it? You discuss only those issues you feel most favorable to you. You answer a charge with an attack, and drop the offensive as soon as it gets under way. If you cannot say your opponent is unpatriotic you can encourage doubt that he is.

Above all, you get your opponent on the defensive, limiting him to your terms. You exploit rumor, associate your opponent with controversial people and programs. And, no matter what the post-election cost is to national unity, you "hit hard," you rock, you sock, you enthrall the faithful, ignite the neutrals and get the stay-at-homes to the polls by means fair or foul. The dramatic charge, after all, is always more powerful than truth.

Another thing: When your opponent attacks you cry "Smear!"; when you hit him back—hard—you insist that you're "just looking at the record." But don't hit him too hard, because that will only create sympathy for him.

Sharp boys, these men, moving adroitly from selling ice cream and staging quiz shows to producing "statesmen." For harried local editors they are ever-ready with a canned news release, even a canned editorial, frequently printed without an adjective changed by irresponsible publishers.

A favored device, Kelley writes, is the post-program spot TV announcement, terse, tight, and stinging, planting itself in your entertained mind before you can get up to switch the dial. And perhaps the most depressing fact of all: the P. R. makers of statesmen seldom believe their own stuff. They are convinced they could have won just as easily for the man they defeated. The trick is the right sales pitch, nothing so bourgeois as truth, or a candidate's fitness for the job.

What can we do about it? Well, in judging a candidate's qualifications, I think we can ask these questions:

(1) Has he tried to appeal factually to our minds, or has he appealed emotionally and irresponsibly to our fears, anxieties and unconscious prejudices?

(2) Is he treating us honestly as adults with access to facts or talking down to us, as someone has put it, as if we had flunked the first grade?

(3) Has he used the mass media to present facts in the national interest or to exploit, obscure, or deny them in the interest of political victory?

(4) Is his position consistent, or is it adjusted to changing audiences?

(5) Are his education, political experience and personal life of sufficiently high character to warrant our faith?

(6) Under him, or under his opponent are we more likely to mobilize the heart and intellect of our most qualified people in peaceful rivalry with the Soviet Union? Are we more likely to retreat from the nuclear abyss toward a world free from hunger, tyranny, and fear?

In short, is our candidate as great as his public relations adviser would have us believe? Would he be as great in the White House, for example, as he is on TV, in makeup, dressed in a blue shirt, saluting the flag and sharing sales techniques with hardtops, detergents and cigarettes for "the thinking man?"

Deep Gratitude

Editor of the Star:

Mrs. Elliott and I would, through the Star, like to express our very deep gratitude and heartfelt thanks to all the wonderful people in Winchester who have been so kind and sympathetic as a result of the burning of our house and contents a week ago Wednesday night.

We also appreciate the very fast response to the fire by Chief James Callahan and his men.

Got Fire Under Control Quickly

Editor of the Star:

We would like publicly to express our appreciation of the speed and efficiency of the Winchester Fire Department when called to the fire at our home on October 15.

They not only got the fire under control very quickly but they caused as little damage as possible in doing so, and cleared up most efficiently after they had extinguished the flames.

Both they and our kind neighbors have our deepest admiration and thanks.

Yours sincerely,
Enid and Norman Houlding

aware of events at the State level which affect it.

"It takes a fighting Representative to do this. This Our "Representative" has not been. Too long he has taken us and his job for granted. Even now he has not explained his lack of record or his fainthearted representation. Please remember that . . .

"Behavior: I have not stooped to personalities in my campaign. But my criticism of his record has brought only personal abuse. Such behavior is an issue a man who cannot fight fair can not fight for the right.

"PROGRAM

"I am a fighter for a Greater Boston Planning Council. It is the road to fair and efficient governing.

"One catch: it must provide adequate safeguards for Winchester and similar towns.

"Further needs: urban renewal assistance, more public higher education, state scholarships, improved recreational facilities . . . I expect, if elected, to confer immediately and often with town officials and community leaders on their analysis of local needs. No bill detrimental to Winchester will slip by me. At all events I shall always fight hard for what I believe and for what I believe you want."

"Sincerely,

"A virtual crisis exists in the field of commuter transportation. The railroads want to give up the passenger business. The deficit-ridden MTA wants financial help from all suburbs. Although the system has the greatest potential in the United States, the feeder lines are losing money faster than the rapid transit lines can make it. What happens here can be enormously important to Winchester. Sad to relate, the present administration has offered no solution to this problem.

"The state government is run largely in response to the influence of pressure groups. More and more, the power to govern is being taken from the local communities and lodged in the hands of the Commonwealth. The philosophy of encouraging everyone to seek help from the state in solving their problems, particularly financial problems, prevails. It is dangerously undermining our strength, our self-reliance and our moral fiber as individuals and as local governments. It is false idealism and must be checked.

"The question of the experience or inexperience to deal with these issues is obviously an issue in itself. I have had 14 years on the legislative firing line. I was a member of the Crime Commission and Vice-Chairman of the Fiscal Survey Commission; I am currently a member of the Transportation Committee. I am anxious to apply the knowledge and experience I have gained from these and other assignments toward solving the problems confronting the Commonwealth."

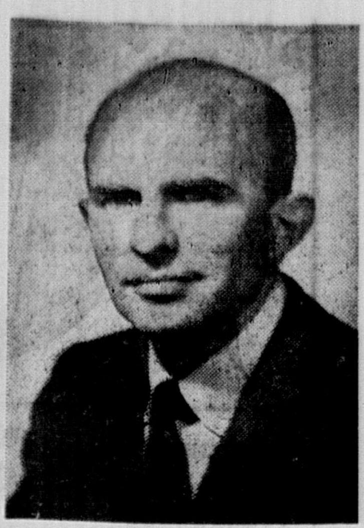
Music By The "Meltones"



ROGER CARPENTER

The Wyman Parents' Association is proud to announce the engagement of Roger Carpenter and his popular group, the "Meltones," for the annual fall dance, the "Floral Fling," November 5, from 8 until 12 o'clock.

Whether your choice in tripping the light fantastic calls for a fanciful "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," an exotic "Cherry Pink" mambo or a nostalgic "Blue Gardenia," the Meltones, under the expert leadership of Roger Carpenter, are sure to provide you with a favorite to please the ear and inspire your dance steps.

All plans for the evening are in full swing, announces Mrs. Earle Spencer, Jr. Music, refreshments, and "Artificial Flowers" galore from "Sweet Leilani" to a "Yellow Rose of Texas" are sure to be represented in an exciting decor. We hope you are planning to come in out of the chilly night and join us for a delightful evening of fun and dancing at the "Floral Fling."

Santa Maria Court Whist

On Monday evening, November 7, there will be a telephone whist party at the homes of the following members of Court Santa Maria, No. 150, C. D. of A.: Babs Keaney, Helen Donovan, Peg Grace, Anna Notemyer, Dot Keane and Louise McHugh.

The friends and members of the court are asked to attend one of these parties to make this affair a success. Jane Grace is chairlady and the proceeds will go to charity.

Delinquency

The Citizenship Training Group was founded in Boston in 1936 by Judge John Perkins to "make good citizens out of boys who make the wrong start." Officer Cogan's purpose in going there: to study the juvenile problem in actual case histories, to work with troubled boys, to attend seminars with sociologists, psychiatrists and fellow police officers— in short, to add light on a Town problem too long obscured by heat.

NOT JUST TO PUNISH

Working in conjunction with the Boston Juvenile Court under Judge John J. Connelly, internationally known for his enlightened work with young people, C.T.G. thinks not only in terms of correction, but also in terms of causation. Its concern is not simply to punish an erring youth, but to find out what "made him that way," and what can be done to help him toward good citizenship and self-fulfillment.

"Standing midway between probation on the one hand and custody on the other," writes C.T.G. Executive Director Louis Maglio, "the principle objective of the Citizenship Training Group is to give vitally needed training to maladjusted boys at a crucial moment in their lives when potentially they are on the threshold of either lives of good citizenship or lives of crime."

A SECOND CHANCE

This is how it works: If a boy between 12 and 17 gets into trouble serious enough to require his appearance in juvenile court before Judge Connelly, he may be given an opportunity to put himself right if the Judge feels there is any real possibility of this.

He is then referred to C.T.G. in effect on probation, where recommendations are made for whatever training program is required in his special case.

In the typical C.T.G. program the youngster attends class sessions five days a week for twelve weeks, studying remedial reading, woodworking, or participating in gymnastics, singing or group discussions.

LEARNS NEW SKILLS

The youthful zip gun maker or home-made bomb expert applies his ingenuity to making radios or studying electronics, or he exchanges his switch blade for wood carving instruments.

The youth is given medical care. He is given a chance for self-expression, a chance to get out of the slums and into the country sun. For C.T.G. is deeply convinced that environment exerts a decisive influence on the character of youth. If a problem is caused by environment, it believes, its solution must be sought in environment.

RESPONSIBILITY

C.T.G.'s entire program is designed to help boys "develop a capacity for taking responsibility and achieve social maturity." In the words of Judge Perkins badly trained youths must be "made to realize they have broken the rules and have forfeited their right to full freedom. They must therefore, be taught to discipline themselves and be given a fair chance to earn their freedom again by their own efforts. They must be helped to help themselves."

How successful has the Citizenship Training Program been?

Well, of 1,996 "criminally prone" boys who have passed through the school since its founding, 1,400 have commited no further offense and are now leasing productive, blameless lives. This is a 70% record of success and is indeed commendable.

COMMUNITY EFFORT

Who finances C.T.G. this nonprofit organization? Among its chief benefactors are the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., the Boston Rotary Club, Ottinger Foundation, Mrs. Robert F. Herrick, the Benton Fund, the Godfrey Hyamns Fund, the Moses Kimball Fund, the Blanchard Foundation and others, Mr. Maglio says, "who wish to remain anonymous."

For those conscious of economy in the community and State budget this fact is worthy of note: The cost of putting a boy through a year's training at C.T.G. is $300. The cost of keeping a boy in reform school in Massachusetts runs between $2,500 and $3,500 a year.

2,215 Received Commendation Certificates

USC Honors Winchester Students For Volunteer Work

Many Winchester students were among the 2,215 girls and boys from Greater Boston High School and colleges recently awarded Citizenship Commendation certificates by the School Bureau of the United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

The certificates were awarded in recognition of the students' volunteer work during the past summer in hospitals and settlement houses and were presented at a recent recognition ceremony held at UCS headquarters on Beacon Hill in Boston.

Assistant Dean Ruth Bean of Brandeis University told the assembled young people that the time and effort they had given as volunteers constituted a first long stride toward meeting their responsibilities in today's world of testing, tension and change.

Edward L. Bigelow, UCS president welcomed the student volunteers and Dr. Thomas J. Curtin, chairman of the UCS School Bureau and state civic education director, presided.

Five of the young volunteers recounted their summer experiences and Robert B. McCreech, bureau director, showed color slides of the students at various hospital and settlement jobs.

Those from Winchester receiving certificates were: Karen Armstrong, Marilyn Beckley, Charlene Bertolucci, Betty Bowes, Carol Butters, Mary Byrnes, Judy Carr, Jacqueline Cartier, Lucy Cushman, Linda Dennehy, Gwen Eugley, Claudia Gordon, Caroline Griffith, Jane Hood, Deborah Hancock, Nancy Hollinshead, Suzanne Hussey, Elizabeth Jackson, Karen James, Wendy Lewis, Marilyn Long, Martha Maloney, Roberta Marinelli, Linda Maroney, Laurie McLean, Ellen Myette, Janet Niles, Suzanne O'Clair, Joyce Pettingell, Pamela Raymond, and Marsha Ross.

Also Ellen Richardson, Patricia Sexton, Marie Scalesse, Joan Segerstrom, Patricia Tofuri, Judy Towle, Terry Vercolloni, Susan Tully, Susan Waldron, Gracia Lewis, Sandra Olson, Madeline Mouradian, Katherine Robinson, Hope Barker, Lee Hakanson, and Leslie Dube.

Still others were Elizabeth Folkers, Gail Abbott, Margot Harmon, Ann LaPointe, Sandra Stockwell, Priscilla Howard, Jean Caldwell, Jackie Cartier, Deborah Harrison, Carol Shanley, Mary Shanley, Elizabeth Alt, David Hoffman, Hope Barker, Marilyn DeAngelis and Mercedita Smith.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Thanksgiving and Christmas if these holidays are to be happy occasions in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

Library News

Film Programs

The Library Film Program this week includes two subjects of particular interest to young scientists. The Moon and How It Affects Us, shows by means of telescopic pictures the seas and craters, and explains about eclipses, phases, and the moon's affect upon the earth's tides. Weather Station, discusses the instruments used and how the data is interpreted for forecasting.

The House Hunters, is an amusing story of two families; one house hunting, the other selling. Edward Everett Horton is among the cast of characters. England: Background of Literature, presents the countryside which inspired the writings of such authors as Chaucer, Dickens and Keats. Tippy, the Town Dog, is an appealing story of a little terrier in his search for an appropriate owner. His experiences with the organ grinder, the firemen, and the dog-catcher will delight the children.

Because of the holiday next week, there will be no films shown on Friday, November 11 and Saturday, November 12.

THE BLOODMOBILE IS COMING
Call Red Cross
MAKE A DATE TO GIVE

Share Your Blood On November 21

Have you ever said to yourself "I've never given blood and maybe I should but . . . ?"

The "buts" stop most people from making that initial try but did you know that aside from the fact that your pint of blood is so desperately needed to restore a friend or neighbor to health, it could be needed for your family?

Do you know that one pint of blood donated once a year assures you and your family of blood coverage for a year? Have you ever tried, at the last moment, to round up donors to replace blood given a member of your family? If you have, you know that it isn't always easy to find willing friends in a hurry.

Why not make a deposit in the blood bank once a year? Then if the need arises, merely pick up the phone, call your local Red Cross and they'll take care of it for you.

Please mark your calendar—Red Cross Bloodmobile, Monday, November 21, First Congregational Church from 12:45 - 6:45 p.m. Better yet, while you are thinking of it, call PA 9-2300 and make an appointment. You will be glad you did.

Every-Member Canvass

The Annual Every-Member Canvass of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church to secure pledges of financial support for 1961 will be held on Sunday afternoon, November 13. The day has been designated as Loyalty Sunday.

In preparation for the canvass a supper will be served in the Social Hall on Monday evening, November 7 for the fifty "Bell Ringers" who will give their services on the 13th.

Immediately following the supper Mr. Robert Brown, secretary of Stewardship for the New England Conference of the Methodist Church, will speak to the canvassers and Mr. Kenneth Lamprey, chairman of the Finance Committee, will explain the proposed 1961 budget and instruct the men.

Countdown On Mental Health

Place and Time: Winchester Public Library, Rich Room, Wednesday, November 16, at 8:30 p.m.

Objective of Series: The Winchester Mental Health Association is presenting a series of three film programs stressing normal emotional development and ways of dealing with every day problems. The first film presents several ways the normal child might develop.

Who Invited: Members of the Winchester Mental Health Association will be invited and the meeting is open to any who are interested.

Discussant: Dr. Mildred Swinson of McLean Hospital who has had a great deal of experience in this field here and abroad.

For Information: Mrs. James Wingate, PA 9-4333. Mrs. Charles W. Blanchard, PA 9-5372.

Man Attempts To Force Entry

Shortly after one o'clock Sunday morning a Highland Avenue housewife heard a noise at the front door, and heard the door knob turning.

She switched on the porch lights in time to see a man walking away from the house. A witness saw the man run up Highland Avenue toward Stoneham. He was reportedly wearing a light rain coat and was reported about 5 feet 10 inches tall. It was not until 1:20, however that the woman reported the matter to the police.

Chief Derro again this week urged residents to contact him IMMEDIATELY and give the Winchester police a better chance to apprehend such men.

To the Citizens of Winchester:

Because of my experience in both the legislative and executive branches of our government in Washington and in serving our Commonwealth and the people of the Fifth Congressional District, I believe I can most effectively represent you in Congress.

I regard public service and the opportunity to serve the people of our renowned and historic district as a high trust and a worthy dedication of my life.

I shall be deeply grateful for your support on election day.

Senior Forum

Prof. Harrell F. Beck, Ph.D., will be guest speaker at the Senior Forum service this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. in Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church. Dr. Beck has been with the Forum for several seasons now and always presents a stimulating discussion of life as seen by a seminary professor. He is associate professor of Old Testament at the School of Theology, Boston University. His subject will be an unusual one: "The Hound of Heaven."

Dr. Beck brings to his message a wide background of study and travel. A minister of the Methodist Church, he was for several years chairman of the faculty at the School of Oriental Studies, American University, Cairo Egypt. He has studied at Boston University, the University of Geneva, Switzerland, and the Institute of Archaeology, Fouad University, Cairo.

His travels have taken him through Europe and the British Isles, the Near East, North Africa, and the islands of the Mediterranean. Young people remember him not only for his message but for his keen wit and humor.

As always on the first Sunday of the month girls will share in the leadership of the service with Linda Chase acting as chaplain, Joan Denton, assistant chaplain, Peggy Padelford and Betsy Root, deacons, Sue Nanry and Julie Palmer, ushers.

The Student Council met last Sunday afternoon and agreed to hold the first Class Night of the season on Sunday, November 20, in the homes of the Class Advisers. Details for the separate meetings will be worked out by the Class Representatives in conjunction with the advisers: Joanne McClennan and Tom Bell for the juniors, Roberta Kirkpatrick and Dean Ericson for the sophomores, and Susan Keppler and Ernest Sackett for the ninth grade.

Hits Pole

Richard L. Child of 24 Dow Lane, Woburn, told Winchester police he fell asleep at the wheel last Saturday morning at 3:58, causing his car to hit a telephone pole on the West Side of Cambridge Street near Wildwood.

With Child in the car was his wife, whose head reportedly went through the windshield. Mrs. Child was treated by Dr. Garcelon.

Riding in the rear of the Child car were Mr. and Mrs. Scott Loring of Bellows Falls, Vermont. The Child's Oldsmobile convertible sedan was damaged extensively, police report, while the telephone pole was split at the base.

Rep. Harrison Chadwick

IN BEHALF OF WINCHESTER

NEW COMERS. Most of the people who have recently moved to Winchester did so after careful consideration. They deliberately chose this town because of its quality features. The old timers are devoted to it for the same reason. I was born here and have spent most of my life here. I will expend my utmost energies to keep Winchester the extraordinary town it is and always has been.

COMMUNITY SERVICE. I have been a town meeting member for nearly 20 years and Town Moderator for the past five years. I have represented Winchester in the General Court for the past 14 years. I have gladly given my services to aid the aged, the youth, the underprivileged and the church of my choice. I have been active politically in the Republican Party, having served as Town Committee Chairman. I am presently a member of the Republican State Committee and was a delegate to the last Republican National Convention. I spent four years on active duty in World War II, entering the Army as a private and being discharged with the rank of Captain.

METROPOLITAN AFFAIRS. Winchester is inescapably bound into the web of the Metropolitan Boston Communities. The recent scandals in the MDC have assured its reorganization. Winchester has much at stake in this connection. Winchester also has a vital interest in the long-range solution of the mass transit problem. We must cooperate in Metropolitan Planning, and at the same time oppose Metropolitan Government. Thanks to the Boston College Seminars, where I have been an invited guest since their inception and have also had the rare privilege of being one of the panel speakers, I have enjoyed a unique opportunity to gain background knowledge that will be highly useful in representing Winchester's position in any metropolitan developments.

BUSINESS. Massachusetts is an industrial state and the prosperity of its citizens depends primarily upon the condition of its industry. The Democratic candidate for governor says we need an economic development board to cause industry to expand and prosper. I say such a board would only constitute another soft hideout for political supernumeraries. To expand and prosper, and thereby increase the prosperity of all of us, business needs a legislative moratorium on restrictive and profit-consuming laws, and I shall so vote.

STATE GOVERNMENT. If you like the way things have been going, then the Democrats get the credit because they are in complete control of the state government. For my part, I abhor the waste, the extravagance, the corruption, the disorganization, the conniving and the disregard of the general public's needs. If reelected, I will do everything in my power to reverse these conditions. I will also work aggressively to promote the constructive steps needed in numerous fields of proper government activity such as education, health, law enforcement, civil service reform, tax revision, constitutional changes, home rule, election laws, metropolitan planning, and highway safety to mention a few. During my terms of service in the House of Representatives, I have submitted major bills on these and other vital subjects and I will continue to do so.

MR. VOLPE. Mr. Volpe is the great hope for Massachusetts. Besides the prime qualification of possessing the highest integrity, he is a man of broad vision, a dynamic organizer and a proven public servant. We must depend upon his leadership to plot the path that will straighten out this state. I pledge to him my full support on Beacon Hill in his program to attain this objective.

HARRISON CHADWICK VS JOHN COSTELLO. My opponent cannot throw any weight behind Mr. Volpe's programs for two reasons. First, he has accepted three different appointments from the Furcolo Administration and he would be a political ingrate if he did not vote to defend and sustain Gov. Furcolo against any changes in policy Mr. Volpe might initiate. Secondly, he has had no experience participating in the legislative process, he has no depth of knowledge concerning many of the problems Mr. Volpe will face, and he has neither standing nor proof of leadership among the House members.

At 28 years of age, I can forgive my opponent's immaturity regarding governmental matters, and I can pardon his unfamiliarity with legislative procedure, but there has been absolutely no excuse for anyone to engage in the deceitful practice of taking things out of context or quoting only part of the facts, as he has. I regret I have to call the public's attention to this and to ask that they view many of my opponent's recent assertions in this light.

I have always felt honored to serve the townspeople of Winchester in many capacities, and I am glad to present for their consideration my record and my views. I hope the voters will see fit to return me to the House of Representatives for further service in behalf of the Town of Winchester.

Definitely Not The Press!

It looked for a while as if Dr. William D. Barone, Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., and Police Chief Joseph J. Derro weren't going to make it to see Joe Bellino after the Navy-Notre Dame football game in Philadelphia last Saturday! And this after the doctor had been instrumental in getting "Richie" Penta into the locker room in the guise of a newspaperman, representing the Star, if you please!

"Richie," the doctor, "Whip" Saltmarsh and Chief Derro arrived at the locker room while crowds were milling about the place and the press was being admitted by a burly policeman who meant business when he said "no!"

He was just about to shut the door on "Richie" when Doctor Barone exercised his good offices in the Penta behalf and as "Richie" started through the portal after his "brother members of the press," the doctor, the chief and the Selectmen started after him.

"Just a minute," barked the stalwart guardian of the gate, "just what paper are you with?" The doctor talked fast, explained he had with him the police chief of Joe's home town, and its mayor, and that he had been Giuseppe's family physican from the very hour of his birth.

It didn't go well at all. The copper was not impressed! Even Dr. Barone's admonition that both Joe and Frank were expecting the little group fell on deaf ears!

"You are not the press! You do not go in!" It was as simple as that.

Then into the picture drifted a gold-braided, scramble-egged admiral whom Dr. Barone had come to know quite well in the days when all sorts of persuasion was being used to get Joe and Frank to go to Navy. The doctor had met the admiral several times since and had gotten to know him quite well.

What was the trouble, the admiral wanted to know? In a few words Dr. Barone explained the situation. "These people are Bellino's folks," barked the admiral, "They go in!" For just a moment the cop seemed argumentative, then with a shrug of the shoulders, he opened the door.

Reunited with the mystified Penta, the doctor, chief and selectman soon met up with Joe and Frank and had a pleasant visit with them. They didn't happen to see the police officer when they left and they did not look him up. The helpful admiral also had gone.

Besides the quartet mentioned avobe quite a number of Winchester fans were seen at the game, including "Wimpy" Burtnett, former Winchester High, B. C., and Olympic hockey star; Kit Carleton; Fred Ives, II; "Big Jim" Fitzgerald, three-sport star at WHS and standout tackle at Tufts, with Mrs. Fitzgerald and their son, Jim, Jr., varsity oarsman at Penn; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dattilo, and their son, John; Mario Lentine, fire lieutenant; Peter and Gaspar Galuffo; Dom Mistretta; Dom Gallela; Sam Fiorenza; Star Lumber President Roy Penta; Jack Vespucci; Frank DiMambro; and Joe's older brother, Sam Bellino, a great little halfback at Winchester High.

Prowlers Enter High School And Get Away

Officer David Greel, while checking the High School building last Friday night about 11:30 found a rear door to the school open and heard two voices coming from the direction of the gymnasium.

Unable to get into the gym, Greel went out to get Officer Beaton, and Juvenile Officer James Cogan was also called in.

Cogan broke a pane of glass in the front door of the building and thereafter checked the premises for prowlers. The officers were able neither to apprehend the owners of the voices nor to determine at that time whether anything had been taken.

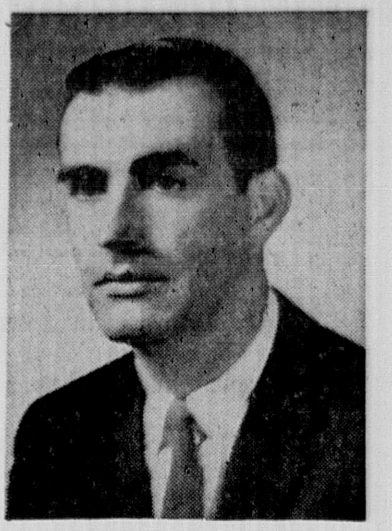
Distortions Or Facts?



JOHN V. COSTELLO

I'm Asking Your Vote

I have campaigned on the issues affecting Winchester. Unfortunately, Mr. Chadwick has labeled everything distortions. They are not distortions and here's the proof:

First of all— on the MDC assessment bill that cost you $21.72 this year: Mr. Chadwick was specifically directed at the 1957 town meeting, as you may recall, to warn us of any changes in this matter. He did not.

In 1959, two years later, the bill passed without one word of warning from him.

His reply: He did say something about it . . . five months after it had become law. He fails to mention the fact it was his pledge to warn us of such a bill . . . ON TIME!

This IS distortion . . . But Mr. Chadwick's

Now then— I repeat that Mr. Chadwick went out of his way to vote for Freeze-ins on June 29, 1960.

His reply: he had to; they were part of the budget bill.

He doesn't tell you that every single one of the nearly 300 jobs that have been frozen since 1945 have been voted as part of the general budget bills. You have to vote against the budget bill to stop Freeze-ins. Think that over.

46 Representatives did courageously oppose that bill— specifically to block freeze-ins. "Our Representative" was not among them.

I watched Our Representative on the House floor that day . . . He voted against Freeze-ins . . . Then he was buttonholed on the floor . . . And within five minutes he had changed his vote FOR the three Freeze-ins.

This IS Distortion . . . but Mr. Chadwick's distortion.

I don't know how to make it any clearer. "Our Representative has demanded the whole truth, yet has deigned to tell less than half the truth himself," presumably as part of his campaign for "morality in government."

This is just my point: For years Our Representative has never had to explain his votes . . . He has come to take us for granted . . . Any answer would do. Don't be Satisfied!

Simmons College Club Represented

Miss Mary C. Regan, president of the Arlington-Winchester Simmons Club, represented that organization at the fall meeting of the Boston Council of Club Presidents, held in Alumnae Hall on the Simmons College Campus on October 25th.

After dessert a panel discussion explored the problem "What is the Road to a Successful Fund Raising Event?" The panel was moderated by Miss Barbara Gates, president of the Boston Simmons Club.

Miss Antoinette Pieroni of Wheaton College, chairman of the 1961 Alumnae Forum of Boston presented details of the Alumnae Forum to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Plaza on March 25, 1961. The topic chosen is "In this world of emerging nations, what is the role of the United States?"

Representatives of various colleges reviewed their club programs, making the evening informative and enjoyable.

What a Day!

Last Saturday during late afternoon a friend of the Bellino family called to congratulate Mrs. Michele Bellino on the prowess of her son, Joe, who scored both touchdowns in the Navy's 14-7 victory over Notre Dame at Philadelphia.

Mrs. Bellino was happy to receive the felicitations, but admitted to being a trifle bewildered by the events of the day.

"What a day! What a day!" she said "My son, Mikey, has just got home from Reading, and they (Winchester High School football team) lost! Now I hear Joe made two touchdowns against Notre Dame, and my daughter (Mrs. John H. Morgan) is in the hospital having a baby! What a Day!"

Girl Scout News

Please bring exhibits of Christmas Crafts for display! All Adult Girl Scouts are welcome and are urged to be present.

Troop 30

Troop 30 is composed of 24 girl scouts from the two fifth grades at George Washington School. A mother's meeting was held October 19th at the home of Mrs. Charles Keppler. Mrs. Edward Barker and Mrs. Robert Wabon, co-leaders with Mrs. Keppler, served refreshments.

The new troop committee was organized with Mrs. Merton Ober, Telephone Chairman; Mrs. Earle Sorenson, Transportation Chairman; Mrs. H. G. Nichols, Cookie Drive Chairman; Mrs. A. V. Staniewicz, Records Chairman. Plans were discussed for the girls first overnight camping to take place on November 21st.

Twenty-one girls met at 4:30 Friday to spend the night at the Girl Scout Cabin in Winchester. They were accompanied by Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Staniewicz and Mrs. Keppler. Much fun, many games and little sleep was had by all. However, it was judged a great success by the girls and plans for another overnight requested.

On November 3rd Troop 30 plans to go to Drumlin Farms, the Audubon Society Sanctuary in Lincoln to take a guided nature hike.

Parent-Faculty Advisory Council Meets Nov. 9

The Parent-Faculty Advisory Council of Winchester High School announces a meeting of particular interest and importance to be held Wednesday, November 9th at 8:00 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Mr. John A. Valentine, the principal speaker, is Director of Examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board. There is little doubt that one of the greatest concerns of both the parents and the teachers is the question of admittance to post high school institutions; technical schools, nursing schools and colleges. Due to this ever increasing anxiety and the ever changing requirements, it was felt that this topic would be of great interest for the first fall meeting.

Following Mr. Valentine's presentation of the testing service's point of view in judging students, four authorities in admissions from local schools will lead group discussions in an effort to clarify present criteria for college entrance.

Mr. Richard G. King, Associate Director of Admissions and Financial Aids, Harvard University; Dean Myra Herrick, Dean of Jackson College, Tufts University; Mr. Bleakney Benedict, Member of the Board of Admissions, Boston University; and Mr. Kenneth W. Ballou, Associate Director of Admissions, Northeastern University will lead the discussion groups.

A fishpond grab, balloons and hot buttered popcorn will be available to the children from 3 to 5 on that afternoon.

On Wednesday morning there will be grabs, fortune telling, and other items for the Junior High children who attend school in the afternoon. A hot luncheon will be available.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Metcalf Hall there will be many new and interesting attractions. Fortune-telling, grabs, silhouettes, cold drinks, hot popcorn, balloons and two showings of cartoons. Pratt Aids Indonesian Marines

Marine 1st Lt. Davdi D. Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Pratt of 1 Salisbury Street, held a one-hour lecture on the fully-tracked "Ontos" for a group of 28 Indonesian Marines, Sept. 12 while serving with the Third Marine Division on Okinawa.

With the aid of an Indonesian interpreter, Lt. Pratt explained how to prepare the six 106mm recoiless rifles mounted on the Ontos, firing, and also how the Ontos should be employed. He also discussed maneuverability, speed and fire-power, which are some of the Ontos' outstanding features.

The lecture was followed by a "Road March" which enabled the Indonesians to get a first hand view of the Ontos in action.

Before entering the service in September 1958 Lt. Pratt graduated from Dartmouth College.

MISS PENELOPE POTTER

Penelope Potter, a graduate of Smith College with an A.B. degree, has joined the staff of the George Washington School as a teacher of Grade 4. Born in the Boston area, her home has always been in Chestnut Hill. She attended during her early years of schooling the Chestnut Hill Private School, and Winsor Private School in Boston, before going to Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Connecticut, for her junior and senior years of high school work.

After graduating from Smith College, she served three months as a teaching assistant at the Chestnut Hill Private School for Girls. Following this experience, she spent a year at the Albert Schweitzer Hospital at Des Chapelles, Haiti, teaching the children of the American doctors and surgeons, the latter stationed there on contract for a specified period of time.

She is presently enrolled in a master's degree program at the Harvard College School of Education, having two-thirds of her requirements completed. She feels that her new position in Winchester must claim her complete attention before she pursues the last twelve college credits necessary for her Ed.M.

Having toured throughout the United States, the Caribbean, and Europe, Miss Potter states that she wants to continue to broaden her geographical horizons by visiting other places in the world.

She speaks French fluently, enjoys the theater, and has a preference for tennis and skiing.

Winchester Grad Becomes Inn Owner

Joseph W. Horne, popular W.H.S. graduate of '55 and known hereabouts as head of Horne Associates dealing in Custom Home construction has recently taken over the Old Corner Inn, Manchester-by-the-Sea, to which enterprise he will now devote all his time.

This young man who established his own business in Manchester after leaving school, got a taste of inn-keeping when he helped to arrange one of the Commencement week celebrations of W.H.S. 1959, at the Manchester hostelry located just to the side of Route 128 on Route 127, as one drives into the town. This summer, he decided he wanted to be "mine host" for keeps and will welcome guests all winter to his inn.

It seems a long way to Christmas, but Joe Horne is already planning a "Christmas-in-the-Country" set up for those holidays. The Inn, approved by the UAA, under its former owners will maintain the same standards and add some new touches under its new owner.

He finds there is no lack of variety in his new line of business in which he is carrying out that old Winchester custom, "home town boy makes good."

At the moment with his inn running on an off-season rate basis, Joe stands ready to greet with extra warmth any Winchesterite wanting to treat himself to a bracing week end, or merely a day off, on The North Shore—and if it's a W.H.S. '55 grad—WOW!

At Bouve-Boston Function

Winchester was well represented by corporation members and guests at the reception for the new director of the Bouve-Boston School, Dr. Minnie L. Lynn, Friday evening, October 28. Bouve-Boston is affiliated with Tufts University and the reception was held in Alumnae Hall on the University campus.

Two former residents of Winchester, Dr. Leonard C. Mead, corporation member and provost of Tufts University, and Mrs. Mead were in the receiving line. Winchester corporation members were Mrs. Alexander George, Mr. Franklin J. Lane and Mr. Leslie J. Scott. Other Winchester guests included Mr. Grant Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Patterson and Miss Katharine Carlisle, who is associate chairman of the Physical Therapy Department and assistant professor of Physical Therapy at Bouve.

K. of C. Teenage Dance November 11

The first in a series of Teenage Dances for this season will take place on Friday, November 11, from 8:00 p.m. until 11:30 p.m., at Knights of Columbus Hall on Mt. Vernon Street. This initial dance affair according to chairman Bill O'Leary will feature a live orchestra instead of the records usually played.

A group of Winchester High students, "The Plaids," will provide their rippling, danceable music and these boys have a good following among the High School students. They are John Mallery, Jon Hopkins, Phil Mead, Jim Reid, Dean Anderson and Al Bonney.

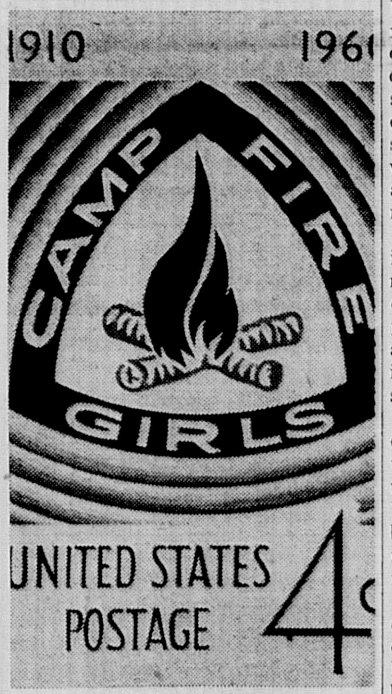
The Knights of Columbus committee includes Grand Knight James H. Wharf, honorary chairman; William J. O'Leary general chairman, Robert G. Baird, Richard W. Beaton, William F. Branley, Joseph S. Cerra, Richard C. Drohan, John F. Hogan, Jr., Richard S. Kelley, William V. Kelley, Jr., Everett W. Kimball P.G.K.; John D. Mulrenan P.G.K.; William E. Nash, Roland A. Nault, Louis J. Russo, Leonard J. Sortino and Philip J. Tardanico.

It is interesting to note that one will find on this committee representatives from the Winchester School system, Police and Fire Departments and others all interested in youth activities in the Town. Thus parents can feel sercure that their youngsters will have good supervision at these dances with chaperones in attendance from among the wives of the Knights. A fine wholesome evening is in prospect for everyone so the Council urges the young people to be sure to set aside the date Nov. 11th.

One important reminder which chairman O'Leary offers is that proper attire is the rule with slacks not allowed and ties to be worn.

There is a small admittance fee to cover expenses, the idea of the dance is that the young people have available to them a hall centrally located with ample parking space next door where they may meet their friends and enjoy themselves in wholesome surroundings.

Stamp Commemorates Camp Fire Girls



NEW COMMEMORATIVE STAMP

Camp Fire Girls Golden Jubilee 4-cent Commemorative stamp went on sale November 2, at the United States Post Office in Winchester and across the country. The stamp was placed first on sale in New York City on November 1, which coincides with the Camp Fire Girls' National Golden Jubilee Convention, where Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield presented the stamp to Camp Fire Girls' National President, Dean Elsbeth Melville of Newton and Boston at the Camp Fire Girls' Opening Session at the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

The stamp is a vertical type and the design is highlighted by the Camp Fire Girls insignia-crossed logs with flame within a designed triangle.

The issuance of the stamp marks the beginning of the Camp Fire Girls' Golden Jubilee Celebration, November 1960 to March 1961.

Engineering, Scholarship Competition For H. S. Senior Boys Announced

Local male high school seniors preparing for engineering careers in the structural steel industry are being invited to participate in the 12th Annual Scholarship Competition of the American Institute of Steel Construction.

This was anounced today by Albert O. Wilson, Jr., president of the A. O. Wilson Structural Co., of Cambridge, local AISC member, who is eligible to sponsor two candidates.

Ten $1,000 scholarships in civil or architectural engineering are available and will be awarded to contestants from all parts of the nation.

A plant tour and visit to A. O. Wilson Structural Co., is planned for candidates. Prospective candidates and their teachers and principal will have an opportunity to see steel in various phases of fabrication, from the drafting table design to the finished product. They will meet with company officials and discuss the competition and careers in engineering.

"Every year the structural steel industry has expanded and become more diversified, offering numerous career opportunities. Many young men are needed to research and plan the design of the buildings, bridges and towers of our space age," Mr. Wilson said.

Winchester boys who are interested in the scholarship competition, and their parents will be further interested to know that Mr. Wilson lived in Winchester as a boy on Yale Street and that his mother, Mrs. Anita B. Wilson, still resides in the old family home here.

Mr. Wilson graduated from Winchester High School, playing tackle on the football team under Wendell Mansfield, then coach. His younger brother Donald, also played on the football team while going through high school here.

"Al" Wilson went from high school to MIT, while Don went to Harvard. Their sister, Anita Norsene of Bolton, went to Wellesley. All three are associated with the A. O. Wilson Structural Co., founded by their late father.

It goes very much without saying that the Wilsons would be very happy to sponsor two boys from their old school, Winchester High, if things turn out that way.

Scholarship winners may choose the college they would like to attend from a list of 138 institutions offering engineering courses. Winners are also permitted to accept additional scholarship aid from other sources.

In order to qualify for their final selection, candidates must take tests given by the College Entrance Examination Board, write a brief essay on "Why I Want to be a Civil or Architectural Engineer," and submit a record of secondary school credits.

Local high school principals will assist the sponsoring organization in the selection of candidates and are prepared to supply information about qualification requirements, accredited colleges, and tuition costs to interested students.

The national competition will close February 10, 1961.

AISC is the national trade association of the structural steel fabricating industry.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

Gerry Buzzotta was last week's high single and high three-string bowler, and the Diamonds, captained by that very capable bowler, Phil Corby, can be very proud of her.

I believe a lot of earnest effort and teamwork have played a great part in the Diamonds' standing thus far.

The other three dependable girls are Florence Ciarcia, Gene Di Donato, and Jenny Amico, and great pluggers they are, too.

A good captain is important, but without the rest of her team to back her up, she can be lost. Luck does play quite a part in bowling, but like many other sports, teamwork is most important.

Just take a look at the team standings! It is so close the tension should be tremendous the next two weeks. What fun that can be! To quote an old phrase, may the best team win!

Terry Walsh, how does it feel to be the holder of the lucky number?

S. O. I. Bowling League

With seven weeks gone by in the Sons of Italy bowling, Capt. Joe Berardi and his Boston College team are still in the driver's seat. The team has been in front since the beginning, but last week's match with Tony Chefalo and his Marylanders was the closest yet.

Third-place Navy with Choppers Gangi leading the unit will try to turn the tables as you are reading this column because bowling takes place each Thursday evening at 7:00 p.m. at Strike Lanes.

Supporting Choppers will be Rudy Fiore, Mingy Frongillo, Frank Gangi and Paul Lentine. On Boston College's team, besides high-bowling Capt. Joe Berardi, are Carl Bertolucci, Joe DiIorio, Vin Puma, Frank Provinzano and Ralph Fiore.

Second-place Yale takes on an up-and-coming team in Maryland, which has Richie Riga, Paul Carpinteri, Henry Subrizio, Tony Chefalo and Nick Molea. With Yale are Arthur Dunbar, Mike Collucci, Johnny Dattilo, Frank DiMambro and Moose Bellino. Anything can happen in this one.

Mike Colucci of Yale was not hitting them too well last week, getting 72 in the first string. He was offered a pair of Hollywood sun glasses and in the next two strings he rolled for 92 and 95, so it might be wise for him to have those glasses with him for future matches. Or will he give them to Paul Lentine, who has been in the 50's? Maybe Paul had better use rose-colored ones!

Then there's Frank DiMambro, who shouted that he was going back to "Dublin" to get better arm exercise.

Joe Marrone and his wife will not be bowling this week because they are on a second honeymoon in Bermuda. Joe had better watch his weight because he likes his "roast beef with no bread." Here's wishing them both a very nice time!

Pat Bruno is beginning to find the range. At the beginning of the season he was in the 50's but now is in the middle 70's. That's improvement and his captain, Tony Saraco, is patting him on the shoulder. More encouragement could mean higher scores, Tony, so keep it up!

Harvard was red hot last week, taking four points from Navy and having a big hand in its success were Angie Amico, who bowled 119 in his second string with five spares. Then Commissioner Fiore hit the pins for 106 and 114 with Hokie Procopio getting 101 and 100, missing the "300" club by a mere six pins.

Others having good strings for the night were Chick Vespucci, 111; Frank DiMambro and Dom Provinzano, 113 each; Moose Bellino, 115; Americo Fiore, 112; Ralph Fiore, 116; and Tony Chefalo, 111.

Ben Subrizio showed up with a new pair of shoes and told everyone to watch out. He did all right, too, hitting for 93, 78 and 95. Not bad at all, but now that the shoes are broken in what's going to happen? No excuses now, Ben!

The lucky ticket holder for last week's door prize was none other than "Old Man Hokie" Procopio. When announced, Hokie got up on the soap box and yelled the first time in thirty-four years! Better late than never, Hokie!

Before giving the summary of standings it should be mentioned here that two individuals deserving much credit for the running of the league are Paul Lentine and Bill Fiore. They are responsible for making the teams as even as possible, arranging the schedules for the 14-team league and putting the teams in their respective alleys each bowling night.

There's a lot of work to this and everything is fine. They are also acting as commissioners and are always ready to correct any misunderstandings. Nice work, boys, and we all appreciate it.

The Rockets of Reading High School proved too good for Winchester's Sachems last Saturday afternoon at Memorial Field in Reading, winning the Middlesex League battle between unbeaten teams, 22-0, to take over the undisputed league leadership. They scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters and a third on the final play of the game.

A justifiable gamble by Winchester on a 4th and 11 situation contributed largely to the final score, giving Reading the ball on the Winchester 42, with the Sachems' screen pass attempt falling a yard or so short.

It is a long time since a Winchester football team has been unable to score on an opponent.

Reading just had too many horses for Winchester last Saturday. With a quarterback like Horton handing off to speedboys like Gerade and Sullivan, backed by a pile-driving bread-and-butter fullback like Bangs, it is going to take an exceptional line and backers to hold Reading in check consistently.

Winchester's line though improving steadily, is not exceptional and its small defensive wingbacks were simply overpowered last Saturday. To aid the Reading cause Winchester, especially in the first half, was not playing its defensive game properly. The Sachems did much better both defensively and offensively in the second half.

Occasionally the Sachems presented a stout defense against the vaunted Rockets. Twice in the final quarter they stopped Reading at their 10, but generally speaking the versatile Reading backfield, aided by crisp blocking up front, was able to go.

On the other hand Winchester's blocking was not top hole. There were a couple of times when Bellino might have gone a long way with just one key block to get him around the corner. Mike was a marked man at Reading and seldom had a chance to show what he can do, the slippery condition of the field twice causing him to fall when he was cutting to get into the open.

On one occasion he fell on a roll out pass play that had two Winchester receivers beyond the Reading defense.

In Gerade and Sullivan Reading showed two real speedboys who followed their interference well and drove hard when on their own. Gerade proved a good faker and seemed never off balance, a leg or foot slap being not enough to upset him.

A glance at the statistics is revealing. Reading made 16 first downs and 237 yards on the ground while Winchester made six first downs, all in the second half, and rushed for 136 yards, indicating that there were times when the Sachems were in the ball game.

The Rockets completed two of five passes for 22 yards while Winchester completed six of II for 42 yards, having one intercepted. Winchester lost 15 yards in a single penalty while Reading lost 20 in two calls. The Sachems recovered one of their two fumbles, Reading, none of its four. This in a sense shows Reading's superiority. Four fumbles without a recovery could mean the difference in a game between two evenly matched teams.

Though Winchester failed to score, actually never came close, getting past midfield only once, the game was hotly waged with both teams hitting hard along the rushlines.

A crowd estimated in excess of 5,000 viewed the game and though the issue was never in doubt after the second Reading score, every one stayed to the end, the Winchester fans rooting hard for a Sachem score.

The Sachems kicked off and Winchester's hopes soared for as long as it took the locals to force Reading to kick. Winchester couldn't go either, and Bellino got off a kick to the Reading 30.

From there the Rockets with Gerade, Sullivan and Bangs gaining consistently, drove to the Winchester four. Here the hard charging Winchester line forced a fumble which Morison recovered about the five.

Hall broke through for six, but Bellino couldn't go and kicked short to the Winchester 30.

Here again the Winchester line stopped Reading twice with a yard loss and a third down pass fell incomplete. On fourth down, however, Horton hit Chesley at the 14 and Gerade drove to the nine. From here Bangs drove and bulled his way over inside his own right tackle. Horton circled Winchester's left end for the extra two points.

The points-after play ended the opening quarter, and the second quarter wasn't far along when the Rockets had another.

A Winchester fumble was pounced on by Reading at the Winchester 35, following Winchester's attempt to put the ball in play after the ensuing kickoff.

Gerade got away at end to the 21 and a first down, after which Sullivan picked up six to the 15. An offside penalty set the Rockets back to the 20, but Bangs quickly made this up and then Gerade, behind some effective blocking whirled into the open and went over. Sullivan went up the middle for the extra two points.

Winchester couldn't go after the kickoff and a partially blocked kick gave Reading the ball at midfield. The Rockets fumbled the ball away at the 30, with Keene making the recovery. Winchester in turn fumbled the ball over to Reading at its 49.

Here after Bangs got only two, Horton was dropped on a pass play back at his own 45, and Reading kicked into the end zone.

Winchester had to kick in turn and Bellino got off a corking 46 yard kick from scrimmage to the Reading 30. Sullivan ran the boot back to his 47, but here once again on a pass play Horn and Brink dropped Horton for a big loss and Reading kicked to Bellino who made a pretty runback to his 40 as the half ended.

The Sachems seemed to find themselves in the second half after Reading fumbled away the ball at the Winchester one yard line in the opening minutes of play.

Hall bucked for four, taking the ball to the five and then Bellino gave the local stands a chance to cheer by sprinting out to the 25 and Winchester's first down of the game.

A keeper play was dropped back on the 17, but Bellino dashed 15 yards to the 32 and Hall again smashed through to the 39 and another first down.

Neville picked up eight and after a clip against Winchester and roughing call against Reading had cancelled out, Winchester got a break when it recovered its own fumble just a yard short of a first down. Bellino belted through for the first down at the Reading 41.

Hall smashed through for five, but on a Bellino sweep right, no one took out anybody and the play was piled up without gain. Bellino tried again and was stopped a foot short of first down. Reading jampacked its line and stopped Hall up the middle for no gain and took over at its 31.

That was Winchester's best offensive drive and it showed the Sachems could move the ball against the Rockets.

At the start of the final quarter Winchester held for downs at its 10, and Bellino and Neville made first down at the 21. Here Hall was piled up for a yard loss and a statue of liberty play went bad, back on the 15.

Gerade intercepted a Neville pass at Winchester's 28 and got back to the 17. Once again Winchester held for downs at its 10.

Hall busted through for seven and Bellino made first down at the 24. Neville hit Bellino with a pass good for eight and then overthrew Tommy Bell in the clear around midfield.

Hall got the first down at the 35, but here a fumble lost 10, and Geoghegan got back only two. A screen pass was piled up for another loss and Winchester faced a fourth and 11 situation.

Neville went for it, a justifiable gamble, but another screen pass was two yards short and Reading took over at the 42.

Sullivan in two tries reached the 32, and Bangs busted through to the 22, with Gerade making first down at the 12.

Horton sneaked to the nine and Bangs plowed up the middle to the three. Gerade was stopped for no gain by Winchester's right side, but on second down Gerade tried the line again. He was met at the line of scrimmage by Mike Brink and fumbled. His forward progress carried him into the end zone, and over Winchester's protest, the officials ruled he did not fumble until he had crossed the goal line. Winchester recovered the loose ball and had the call been the other way, Winchester would have had a touchback and the ball at the 20 yard line.

Actually the game would have been over for time ran out on Gerade's buck, with Winchester rooters wondering how such a little time as there was remaining when Reading started its series could last so long.

Winchester lost its first string center, Morison, early in the game with a bruised hip. Captain Reardon also had to be taken out early when he received a crack on the head. Reardon was able to return to action but Morison was out for the game. Coach Knowlton was able to use Kit Lawrence, big end, only on offense, because of a tender knee. The summary:

Bellino Again Back of the Week

For the third time in seven weeks of football campaigning Winchester's Joe Bellino, outstanding Navy backfield star, has been selected by the A. P. as "Back of the Week."

Undoubtedly his selection was prompted by his great play for Navy against Notre Dame last Saturday in Philadelphia, where he scored both of Navy's touchdowns in the Middies' 14-7 triumph.

In addition to scoring the touchdowns Bellino played well on defense and though he did let Notre Dame's Scarpitto get behind him and complete a long pass at the Navy 14, he saved Navy's life three plays later when the Irish had a third and one on the Navy four.

Notre Dame sent Scarpitto on a wide reverse to the left. Diagnosing the play perfectly, Bellino flashed up from the secondary to catapult his 185 pounds into the luckless Irish carrier before he could turn the corner, bringing him down for a seven-yard loss. That was the key defensive play of the game, though on another occasion Bellino batted down a potential Notre Dame touchdown pass in the end zone.

Joe's 12 points against Notre Dame raised his all-time Navy scoring record to 80 and didn't hurt his chances for All American and the Heisman Trophy. On a boggy field he carried for 113 yards and in the first three minutes of the game contributed runs of 43, 19 and 12 yards to Navy's 80-yard first touchdown march.

Frank Dattilo also played a fine defensive game for Navy and was credited with catching a pass in the drive that led to the winning Navy touchdown. There were several times when he spearheaded defensive play that prevented the Irish from taking the lead in the game.

Playing For Mass. Frosh

Roger DeMinico, is another one of Coach Knowlton's 1959 football dependables who are playing on college freshman football teams this fall.

Roger is playing right end on the University of Massachusetts Freshman Football Team which has won and lost one, losing a squeaker in its opening game with B.U. freshmen and winning from Springfield College freshmen.

In the B. U. game Roger was selected as co-captain of the University of Massachusetts team, the other co-captain being Ken Palm of Belmont. At 175 pounds DeMinico has been playing well for the Statemen frosh and has been getting plenty of tackles.

He is looking forward to Saturday, November 5, when his team meets University of New Hampshire at Amherst. Another Winchester athlete, Danny Serieka, has been playing a lot of halfback for New Hampshire which should make the clash between the two teams especially interesting.

Winchester At Belmont Saturday

Sachems Hope for Comeback After Reading Loss

Winchester's battered Sachems will try for a football comeback this Saturday afternoon when they meet Belmont High in a Middlesex League engagement at Belmont.

Belmont hasn't had a good season, winning two of six; beating Lexington, 16-0; and Cambridge Latin, 36-0. Belmont lost to Reading, 26-12; Melrose, 20-8; Wakefield, 6-0; and Concord, 14-6. The Reading score is significant. Belmont must have something to score twice on the Rockets, and that 20-8 Melrose score is not too bad.

Winchester, on its record, should be favored Saturday, and needs to win this one to stay in the Middlesex League running.

The Sachems looked good in spots against Reading, and there were times when a nod from Lady Luck could have made it a different ballgame. The local boys are still smarting fom their shutout at Reading and will be out to get back in the victory groove at the expense of Belmont Saturday.

Winchester Boys In New England Harrier Meet

Two Winchester boys, both graduates and former cross country captains at W. H. S., Kenneth R. Brown and his brother Donald N. Brown, will be among 200 or more runners who will be competing in the New Intercollegiate Cross Country Championships at Franklin Park, Boston, on Monday afternoon, November 7.

As captain of Wesleyan University's varsity team, Ken Brown will be making his fourth and final appearance in this top college event, and will not only be trying to lead his team to a team victory, but will also be seeking his third individual medal in this annual race. Wesleyan and Brown Universities will be the two teams that will be favored to win the team varsity race.

Don Brown, 1960 graduate of W. H. S., will be running on the Wesleyan University freshman team, which is also one of the favored teams to win the freshman event. Don has been running much stronger at Wesleyan than heretofore and has been consistently Wesyelan's number-two man in the regular season.

This Saturday both of the Brown boys will also be running at Williamstown, where, in both varsity and freshman races, Wesleyan will be favored to win against Williams College, thereby giving them the Little Three cross country championships.

Don Brown is not only active in athletics at Wesleyan, but is also a member of the Freshmen Student Senate section of the student governing body, and is a pledge of Alpha Delta Phi.

Scroll to Hood

GILBERT H. HOOD, JR.

Along with the business affairs of the annual meeting of the Winchester Hospital last week was a most pleasureable event, the presentation of an illuminated scroll to Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., in recognition of his continued and untiring service to the Winchester Hospital.

Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., has been a member of the Hospital Board for over ten years, on the Public Relations and Finance Committee, vice president for four years, and president of the Hospital Board for six years.

At the end of his term of office the Winchester Hospital Building Fund Drive was about to commence and he willingly volunteered his services as chairman. Not only did the drive reach its goal, but went far beyond all expectations, and for its outstanding success, Mr. Hood is largely responsible.

Certainly some expression of gratitude and appreciation is due such an indefatigable friend of the Winchester Hospital. The illuminated scroll, recognizing his labors over many years, was a small but sincere token of esteem to a truly public spirited member of our community.

It's Fifteen For Mary

Mrs. Mary McGoff, "Forgotten Jewel of the Winchester Police Department," marked a mighty special day on her calendar Monday: the fifteenth anniversary of her service as secretary to the department.

Looking fondly over the years, The Jewel recalls service under three Chiefs, William Rogers, Charles Harrold and, of course, our present Chief of Police, Joseph J. Derro.

Mary has seen the department grow from a force of 24 to one of 37 officers.

Her efficiency and cooperation have been the strong right arm of the Winchester Star and of other newspapers seeking police news. We wish Mary at least fifteen more, and we assure her that the Jewel is not forgotten, just taken for granted because it sparkles so silently.

Recent Births

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dan Thornton announce the birth of their first child, Gregory George Thornton, on October 24 at the Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Schiraga of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carlson of Pittsfield.

The J. Arthur Deering's (Optical Shoppe) have had their sixth son. His name: William Jerome, and he entered the world weighing eight pounds, 10 oz. No 6 son was born to the Deerings at Saint Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston, Wednesday, October 26. Mrs. Deering is the former Margaret Maher of Winchester. The Deerings make their home in Newton.

Lt. and Mrs. David F. Mackenzie announce the birth on October 22nd of a son, David Jr., at the Ft. George E. Meade Hospital, Maryland. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Sidebotham of Winchester and Mrs. Paul Sexauer of Mamaroneck, New York. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Forrest E. Freeman of Dedham, Mass. and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sidebotham of Winchester.

John and Joyce (Mailman) Ferguson of 17 Irving Street are parents of a baby boy born October 21 at the New England Sanitarium and Hospital in Stoneham.

Busy Schedule for Former Winchester Girl

Norma Farrar and Seeing-Eye Dog Hosts to Exchange Students

During the past summer sixty-nine foreign exchange students visited the Seeing Eye, Inc., America's oldest and largest dog guide school in Morristown, N. J. Their hosts while at the school were Miss Norma Farrar, a former Winchester girl, and Patty, her own seeing eye dog and constant companion.

Miss Farrar is a Seeing Eye Field representative and widely experienced in youth leadership. Under her direction the engrossed exchange students learned the history of the school, and of its work in the rehabilitation field, were shown the Seeing Eye film and visited the famous kennels. Tea and cakes were served before the young people boarded their bus to attend teenage parties in Mendham, N. J., location of the Seeing Eye Breeding Farm.

Msis Farrar and Patty put in a very busy summer, first spending a number of days in New York City, visiting seven agencies serving blind persons. From there they flew to Boston where Miss Farrar delivered a lecture at a seminar on Rehabilitation and Mobility for the summer school Workshop at Concord, N. H., conducted under the extension of Boston University. Next came a lecture at Boston University for the summer school course on Rehabilitation Counseling.

After a vacation with her family in Maine Miss Farrar went to Janesville, Wis., at the invitation of the Wisconsin State School for the Visually Handicapped, to attend a workshop for teachers of blind children. During this trip she also spoke before a group of blind adults at an Adjustment Training Program as part of the State School's summer program.

Later Miss Farrar and Patty traveled in Connecticut, R. I., and Western Massachusetts, visiting graduates and agencies for the blind.

Patty had her first helicopter ride during the summer while changing air fields in Chicago. Though Norma claimed she took it in stride, Patty did get as far under a seat as possible during the hop.

For the benefit of new readers of the Star Norma Farrar lost her sight at the age of 16, but refused to be discouraged by this staggering handicap. She continued at high school, graduated and then completed her college preparation at Perkins Institute for the Blind. She was graduated magna cum laude from New Hampshire University in 1951, and the following year received the Master of Arts degree in Guidance there. She returned to the university in 1953 as co-ordinator of Religious Activities and project director in the Office of University Development.

Miss Farrar has served as a camp counselor and directed a small Girl Scout Camp in southern Maine for three years. She has spent a summer in Germany with her dog, Patty, with the Experiment in International Living. From 1956-59 Miss Farrar as a Head Resident at the University of Illinois was responsible for more than 300 young women.

Miss Farrar's parents, both deceased, were Charles A., and Pauline M. (Harrold) Farrar. Her father was a past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks and for several years a member of the Winchester Board of Public Welfare.

Her mother came from a family well known in Winchester, her parents having been Police Lt. and Mrs. John A. Harrold, and her brother, former Police Chief Charles J. Harrold.

Dear friends,

A lady told us recently that she had never fully realized the meaning of flowers at a funeral until she had experienced the loss of a loved one. The floral cards, she said, are still her treasured possession - a remembrance of those who expressed sympathy in this beautiful way.

Floral expressions add beauty and comfort that cannot be measured.

How spiritual enlightenment brings a clearer sense of direction and purpose into daily living will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The account in Acts (Chap. 9) of Paul's conversion and regeneration will be read from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Adam and Fallen Man."

Correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (326:23-27): "Saul of Tarsus beheld the way — the Christ, or Truth — only when his uncertain sense of right yielded to a spiritual sense, which is always right. Then the man was changed. Thought assumed a nobler outlook, and his life became more spiritual."

The Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:14): "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Save the Children Federation

Friday, November 4, is the last day for the donation of used clothing for the Save The Children Federation. The Senior High School's Student Council and Assembly is also participating in this clothing drive as well as the elementary and junior high schools. Students may give clothing for children and adults as part of a joint mission in aiding disaster areas here and abroad.

This year as a result of floods and unemployment, the need in the American Southern Mountains is greater than ever. In addition to supplying our own Southern Mountain children with clothing, thousands of pounds of donated clothing are stockpiled and available for free distribution to the victims of disaster at home and overseas.

The donated clothing collection is an important part of Save the Children Federation's four-fold program which is at present aiding children in underprivileged areas of the United States and thirteen countries overseas. Clothing is distributed; babies and children are sponsored; schools are sponsored; and village self-help projects for children initiated.

Suggested articles of clothing are shoes, coats, dresses, sweaters, shirts, pants, socks, underwear, pajamas, clean mended blankets, overshoes, boots, sheets and baby clothes.

Florence Crittenton Meeting

Many members of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion met at the home of Mrs. Woodford Wilcox for the first meeting of the 1960-61 season. Mrs. William Cusack, a past president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Don Greer the president.

Mrs. Cusack opened the meeting by welcoming all the members and by thanking Mrs. Wilcox for providing the beautiful setting for the meeting. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Bradford M. Bentley. Mrs. Ernest Wright read the secretary's report and Mrs. George Gowdy gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. James E. Chaffe announced that she and Mrs. Thomas Morison are co-chairmen of the ticket sales for the fashion show to be held as usual in connection with the annual bazaar at the John Hancock Building on November 30. Charles Sumner of Newbury Street will present an outstanding collection of casual, at home, and around the clock city and suburban ensembles. The members were urged to support the bazaar by buying these tickets.

Mrs. Winthrop Knox, Ways and Means chairman, reported that the money-making project for this year would be a party week to be held in April. The idea seemed to appeal to the group and more details will be presented later. Other committee reports were given by Mrs. Woodford Wilcox, sewing chairman; Mrs. Philip Boone, membership chairman; Mrs. Ernest Wright, yearbook committee; and Mrs. Henry Marcionette, service representative.

Mrs. Cusack closed the business meeting and presented the speaker of the day, Mrs. Joan Spofford. Mrs. Spofford is the new circles' secretary and works at the Crittenton Hastings House in Brighton. She told in a very interesting way the background of the founding of the Florence Crittenton League. She stressed the type of thinking which is necessary in order to do the type of rehabilitation work which is the heart of the Crittenton Hastings Home, the ability to show real compassion rather than impersonal charity. Mrs. Spofford spoke of the educational program which is in effect at the home, principally that of preparing the girls to resume a normal life and to use the experience in a constructive way. The speaker assured the circle members of the value of their support to the continuation of the work of the home. A question and answer period followed Mrs. Spofford's informative talk.

Mrs. F. O. Adams and her tea committee served a delicious dessert and coffee during the hour preceding the meeting.

Finger In The Pie

I Am the Boss

Today, November 8, 1960, I will walk into a voting booth just around the corner from home and tell everybody how I want my country run.

Today, I am the boss.

In a way, of course, I'm boss in my country every day of the year. Government by the people, they say. The people, when you come down to it, is me.

But I don't work full time at governing. I've got my own job to do — a living to earn, a lawn to mow, kids to play with and bawl out and love and look after. So, for the hard job of running the country, I hire other men — smarter fellows than myself, I hope, but with the same kind of heart and purpose. They govern for me — but I keep tabs. I listen to what they say. I watch what they do. It's a big country I live in, and there's room for different ways of looking at things. I vote for the people who see things as I do, and if enough other people agree, that's the way the thing gets done. That's what it means to be the boss in your own country.

Now, there are places in the world where a man like me is not the boss. They don't let him vote. Or they march him to some public place and tell him whom to vote for. I think the voiceless people of those lands are watching me as I leave my house today, saying "There goes a lucky man."

In this country of mine we love freedom so much, and hate force so much, that I am not even forced to vote. I could stay home today if I liked. I could sleep late and take it easy and let others do the job of choosing.

I could — but who'd want to? What spirited man or woman would loaf through a day like this, when he can go out and write boldly on the page of history: "Here's how I want things run in my country?"

No, today I am the boss and I must act like a boss. Today, I must vote. My freedom, my happiness, my pride as an American, are bound up in that simple and wonderful act.

Times Change

In days prehistoric
  Elections were crude;
The candidates won
  In a manner quite rude;
The arguments offered
  Were muscle and bone;
They settled the thing
  With a club or a stone.
But candidates now are
  Averse to shed blood,
Their hearts are so soft that
  They only use mud!

Dictation

"Miss Brown — take a letter to that company — you know, their man came in while I was at lunch one day — Gentlemen (at least, I hope you are heh-heh) in reply to yours of — what was the date of their letter? I think I must have it at home with some other papers — I beg to advise that ungk mump glik pop (shifting cigar to the left molars and bending over to tighten a shoelace) according to your price agreed upon in previous correspondence with your home office — you'll find that letter somewhere in the files, Miss Brown — they wrote in the spring or maybe it was last year, I forget — we were to receive a flat payment of — fill it in but be sure to add the freight costs — and then something about hopingto hearfromyousooninthismatter and wewilladviseyouwhatournextstepswillbeinordertoclosethematter — and thanking you for your prompt attention — yours very truly — you fix it up and sign it — I've got to make this train."

Democracy

We received a letter from the Writer's War Board the other day asking for a statement on "The Meaning of Democracy." It presumably is our duty to comply with such a request, and it certainly is our pleasure.

Surely the Board knows what democracy is. It is the line that forms on the right. It is the "don't" in "don't shove." It is the hole in the stuffed shirt through which the sawdust slowly trickles; it is the dent in the high hat. Democracy is the recurrent suspicion that more than half of the people are right more than half of the time. It is the feeling of privacy in the voting booths, the feeling of communion in the libraries, the feeling of vitality everywhere. Democracy is a letter to the the editor. Democracy is the score at the end of the ninth. It is an idea which hasn't yet been disproved, a song the words of which have not gone bad. It's the mustard on the hot dog and the cream in the rationed coffee. Democracy is a request from a War Board, in the middle of a morning in the middle of a war, wanting to know what democracy is.

Tidbits

Mrs. Doray: "Why do you go out on the front porch when I sing? Don't you like my singing?"

Mr. Doray: "It isn't that. I don't want the neighbors to think I'm beating you."

Two little girls on their way back from Sunday School were solemnly discussing the lesson. "Do you believe there is a Devil?" asked one.

"No," said the other promptly, "it's like Santa Claus, it's your father."

Said one dog to another: "Why were you running from that little pup just now?" "Well, wouldn't you? he had a burr in his nose!"

College Club Art Group

On Friday morning, November 18th the College Club Art Group will take its second monthly trip to the Gallery of the Hayden Library at M.I.T., to see the paintings of Andrew Wyeth. There will also be an opportunity to visit the new Auditorium and the unique Chapel. (Directions for reaching the Hayden Gallery will be given in the Star of November 17th.)

The October excursion was to the Worcester Art Museum, and forty-three members made the trip. No doubt as many or more will be at M.I.T. at eleven o'clock on November 18th.

Looking ahead, our program will be as follows:

On December 9th we shall be at the Museum of Fine Arts, where we shall have a gallery talk on the portraits of John Singleton Copley and Gilbert Stuart.

On January 16th we shall meet at the new Art Center on the Charles River, where Mr. Thomas Messer, the Director, will talk on the exhibition of South American paintings.

In February, March, and April we plan to go to the DeCordova Museum, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and Brandeis University.

During this month of November there are two important nearby exhibitions which members of this group may wish to visit individually, even though these are not included in our regular schedule. One is the Maurice Prendergast Centennial Exhibition, now at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; this will continue through December 4th. The other is the extremely interesting collection of modern paintings, now at the DeCordova Museum and continuing through December 20th. These paintings are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick B. McGinnis. It is hoped that many of the Art Group may find it possible to see both of these exhibitions.

For information about this Art Group call the Secretary, Mrs. Frances Woodruff (PA 9-5727) or the Chairman, Mrs. John L. Lobingier (PA 9-1407).

Homefronters Begin Christmas Project

Mrs. Alvan Smith of 2 Ridgefield Road, chairman of the Christmas Project, held a delightful morning coffee at her home for the board, where plans were made for the boxes to be sent to our boys and girls in the service in every part of the world.

This is our big project for which we work all year to get the money to buy the contents for these boxes.

The gifts are gratefully appreciated by our boys and girls as the many thank you letters we receive will testify. We know of no other town that does this.

Last year each box contained a game, a pen, writing paper, a local town calendar, a pack of playing cards, a box of cookies, four packages of gum, four packages of assorted life savers, and four different kinds of candy, and a bag of peanuts and a pocket calendar and a Christmas card.

We expect to send around 150 boxes this year.

Ruth C. Porter Company Modernizes Its Offices

A major modernization and expansion program is well underway at the Ruth C. Porter Co. on Thompson Street.

Starting with an old colonial frame house built in 1812, Mrs. Gertrude H. Murphy and contractor John Finnamore have transformed her property into an attractive, up-to-date real estate office, plus four new stores and two other offices, all of which serve to form a small new shopping center.

Colonial styling has been maintained in the renovation, with gracious, small-pane bow and picture windows used throughout.

Keeping her real estate business apace with her building expansion, Mrs. Murphy has added new personnel in both the Winchester and Sudbury offices and is currently instituting a new merchandising program which will prove most beneficial both to selling owners and out-of-town buyers.

Recent additions to the Porter Co. staff include Mrs. Marian Ferriman of Alden Lane, Mr. James Quine of Lawson Road, and Mr. Charles McCarthy of North Andover. Mrs. Lee Conners manages the Winchester office, and Mrs. Florence Salyer and Mr. Richard Murphy complete the sales force. Mrs. Isabel Mercer serves as secretary.

Founded in 1931, the Ruth C. Porter Co. has continued to grow in both sales and stature and is today rated second to none in the Town of Winchester.

Friends Of Winchester Hospital

"Every member of the community should know about his hospital and each year do at least one thing for it" was the goal outlined at the Fall Meeting of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital held on Thursday, October 27, 1960, at the home of Mrs. Clarence McDavitt, 33 Wedgemere Avenue.

Coffee was served at 2:30 p.m. by Mrs. Dominic Runci and her committee, and Mrs. William Kimball and Mrs. Dana Cotton officiated as pourers.

Mrs. George Marks, Friends' President, opened the brief business meeting, mentioning the enthusiastic support given to the successful 1960 Waltz Evenings, and again stressing the value of the Junior Volunteer program in operation this summer at Winchester Hospital.

Miss Elmina Snow, Administrator of the Emerson Hospital, Concord, Mass., was welcomed as speaker of the afternoon by Mrs. Charles McKenney, Program Chairman. Miss Snow spoke warmly of the affection and interest she held for the Friends, stemming back to the formative days of the organization more than ten years ago. Her topic, "Good Public Relations with the Hospital and Those It Serves" was the basic reason for the hospital auxiliary, she said. Auxiliary members can interpret the hospital to the community through intimate knowledge of the hospital and its problems. They must have a sincere desire to help their fellow man, but should act with dignity, look tidy, and be discreet and tactful.

The Friends are numbered among over a million volunteers clad in cherry red uniforms who perform services in 1,000 hospitals all over the country. Very few hospitals abroad have volunteer programs, and foreign hospital administrators visiting here recently displayed keen interest in our programs, hoping to establish similar services in their hospitals.

Miss Snow emphasized the value of having an auxiliary represent a broad segment of the communities served by the hospital, especially in the smaller towns more remote from the hospital.

Washington School Speaker

Mr. Gordon D. Hall of Boston will speak at the George Washington School tonight at 8 o'clock.

Winchester residents are cordially invited to hear Mr. Hall, who will present a timely, thought-provoking talk about extremist organizations now active in the U. S.

Still Life Techniques Of The Studio Guild

Among the problems that are set for the members of the Studio Guild are still life studies. Members are asked to bring whatever interesting, attractive or amusing articles they can do without for a few weeks.

As a result a big table is covered with vases, bowls, hunks of wood, leafy branches, a coal scuttle, a little green barrel, statues, masks, draperies and what not. From this conglomerate array members select what pleases them, arrange a few articles, and, after studying and rearranging them, fall to painting interesting pictures.

Some see the group as a realistic composition of pleasant lines and colors, but principally of material things. Others see cubes and circles, held together by a central idea which the artist expresses in this abstract or semi-abstract way.

Bill Maynard, the teacher, expects the pictures to be finished in a month, ready for criticism and discussion.

Hadassah News

A meeting of the Woburn-Stoneham-Wakefield Chapter of Hadassah was held last night at the home of Mrs. Albert Steigmann of Winchester. President, Mrs. Morris Snyder also of Winchester, presided.

In honor of United Nations Day, Mrs. Samuel Baker, American Affairs chairman, gave an interesting and informative talk on current events. Mrs. Irving Shosvtack, Medical Center chairman, gave a description of the dedication of the Hadassah Medical Center in Jerusalem, Israel.

Mrs. Herbert Land announced the coming of the Hadassah bridge to be held on November 21, at the Woburn Hebrew Center on Green Street, Woburn. Proceeds of this evening will be given to Youth Alyah.

Miss Lillian Ostroff was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Albert Steigmann and reviewed the book "Healer of All Flesh." Refreshments were served by the Stoneham chairman Mrs. Jacob Garfinkle and her committee.

UNITED NATIONS AWARD TO WINCHESTER MAN

Tech. Matrons' Area Parties

During the first two weeks of November the Technology Matrons are sponsoring a series of neighborhood get-togethers throughout the Boston area. There are 17 areas represented with approximately 50 coffee, tea, or sherry parties planned.

The Technology Matrons is the service organization of wives of faculty and staff members of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; its aims being to foster friendly relations, to share mutual interests, and to furnish effective service to the Institute.

Mutual interests are shared through the Matrons-sponsored Interest Groups, which consist of a Book Club, Bridge Club, Choral Group, and Evening Group. New groups are formed as interests grow.

Service to the Institute is performed in many ways with the two most widely known projects being the Foreign Students Committee and the Student Furniture Exchange. There is also a Student Service Committee, the Student Mixers Committee, and a Committee for Special Service Projects.

Since M.I.T. is an urban institution with its staff residing in an ever-widening suburban area, many faculty families never meet. Mrs. Herbert Uhlig, chairman of the Membership Committee, has asked each area sponsor to arrange for informal gatherings of old and new Matrons in her locality so that newcomers may meet other Institute wives and learn of common community and M.I.T. resources.

Mrs. Thomas King of Jefferson Road, is the sponsor for the Winchester area and serving as hostess to the Matrons at a morning coffee Tuesday, November 15, at 10 a.m. is Mrs. Albert Dietz of 19 Cambridge Street.

THE BRILLIANT FARNAM RECORD is recognized by Democrats, Republicans and Independents. He has served three terms in the state House of Representatives, two years as an alderman and is now completing his first term as a State Senator. He is not the self-seeking politician who serves the needs of the selected, politically favored few. Sen. Farnam represents all of the people all of the time. That's why Sen. Farnam has constantly won the support of the voters of all political parties.

" . . . Your legislative record is one to be proud of. It is distinct proof that you are possessed of one of the rarest of human qualities, good common sense, and that also your heart contains a generous portion of the Milk of Human Kindness."

" . . . My heartfelt appreciation to you for your thoughtful and intelligent handling of the Government Center Bill. Boston and the entire Commonwealth are now assured of the first state, city and federal building complex in the entire nation."
JOHN F. COLLINS
Mayor of Boston

" . . . Thank you for your willing co-operation and your assistance on our legislative program for 1960."

Artists' Mart At First Congregational

This year there's something New . . . it's the SILENT and LIVE AUCTION at the Artists' Mart, First Congregational Church Fair, on Wednesday and Thursday, November 9 and 10. Miss Alfreda Kearney is chairman of the Auction, assisted by Mrs. George E. Connor.

Among the fascinating array of items in the auction will be Civil War period furniture, upholstered chairs, needlepoint chairs, footstools, lamps, paintings, Oriental rugs, silver, linens, quilts and many antiques.

In this "Silent-Live Auction," bidders may write their name and bids on a card (you can see the previous bid). At 9 p.m. on November 9, the items to be drawn will be held up for the start of the live bidding. Again, on Thursday, at 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., items to be auctioned will be held up and those wishing to bid on them may do so orally. Thus the "new look" in the auction this year combines SILENT and LIVE bidding. Brad Hersey will serve as auctioneer.

For good buys, interesting articles, and good fun . . . head to the sign of the Silent Auction.

Another interesting feature at the Fair this year is a series of three morning lectures given by two talented women who are members of the church. On December 6 and January 31, Mrs. Albert Penner will give two book reviews and on March 28, Mrs. Arthur Cochran will give her lecture on "Style for the Individual Woman." Mrs. Donald Birchall is in charge of tickets and all proceeds will go into the Fair account.

Approximately sixty women of the church will be busy on the various food committees for the Fair. Mrs. David F. Choate, Jr., is the food co-ordinator and has announced that on Wednesday noon, before the Fair opens to the public, there will be a Workers' Luncheon just to accommodate the many women who will be decorating and setting up different booths during the day. Mrs. Granville Gilpatrick is chairman of the group and is planning a delectable Seafood Newburg as the featured dish.

That evening, a spectacular array of desserts will be served at 7:15 by Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Howard Irwin and their committee. This coffee and dessert period is always a very pleasant social hour, preceding as it does, the eight o'clock formal opening of the Fair.

On Thursday, Mrs. Wendell Harvey's committee will open the day with morning coffee from 10 to 11:30. Homemade breakfast goodies will be offered in a real artist's "Cafe Espresso" atmosphere.

From 11:30 to 1:15 a delicious luncheon will be served by Mrs. Richard Davenport's committee. This ninety-nine cent meal is always well attended so come early! At the same time, the children will be fed in the separate Children's Fair so everyone should be happy!

For those shopping in the afternoon, "Tea" will be available from three to five. Open sandwiches, banana bread sandwiches, date bars, brownies and other dainty foods will be donated and served by Mrs. James Russo and her friends.

The final food offering will be the Fair Dinner, prepared and served by Mrs. Russell Strout's large group of church women. A baked ham meal, with all of the home-cooked fixin's will be ready at 6:30 and will be followed by a skit arranged by Mrs. Donald Dalrymple, presenting Bill Callahan and Robert McCormack.

Now, to close our Fair notices for this season let us remind you to do your Christmas Shopping Early! After election, Church Fair and Veterans' Day there will be only thirty-six shopping days to Christmas!

For the high schooler, faculty or student, stationery imprinted with the Winchester Sachem in red. $1.00 a box at the Winchester Star.

Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club

Players had a choice of Howell, Mitchell, or Junior section games at the Duplicate Bridge Club on Wednesday, October 26th. In the 10 pair Howell section, Bradley and Swonger proved once again that much has happened in the bridge world since Culbertson by posting a decisive victory. On an average score of 36, the final results were:

James Bradley and Alvin Swonger, 46

Mr. and Mrs. Hall Gamage, 44

E. Parlee and F. Widdowson, 41

Maude Flanders and Jean Roundey, 37½

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hills, 37½

The Mitchell section again proved to be the most popular by drawing 21 pairs. With a sit-out table East-West and some boards being played more times than others, the comparative scoring had to be tabulated on a percentage basis. Average score, of course, would thus be shown as .500.

North-South

Barbara Sawyer and Margaret Sexton, .553

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chase, .551

Philippa Young and Jerry Wadleigh, .531

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis, Jr., .528

Betty Ann Yeomans and Geraldine Lawrence, .523

East-West

Nelson Bell and Blair Hawley, .630

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, .571

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blackler, .559

Richard Smith and Mr. Wetmore, .530

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mainberger, .526

John Nikula and Robert Arthur, .525

The special section was played as a five table Mitchell with an average score of 40. Maynard and Pritchard showed that they belong in a tougher league as they drew only one "goose egg" in twenty boards.

North-South

Betty Bergstrom and Jane Wiley, 44

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Long, 43½

Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. Sprague, 42

East-West

Betty Ann Pritchard and John Maynard, 47½

Laura Grace and Mary Laughlin, 40

The players and friends of the WDBC wish all success to Nelson Bell in his new position as Eastern States manager for Hardware Mutual Insurance, which unfortunately for us means his moving out of state. Nelson's duties as treasurer of the WDBC will be assumed by Ralph Atkinson of 20 Everell Road.

Youth Choir To Be Formed

A new Youth Choir is to be formed at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church according to an announcement made last Sunday by the pastor, Rev. H. Newton Clay. Mr. Herman Erickson, chairman of the church, music committee, is completing arrangements for rehearsal and the necessary organization.

Mrs. Gloria Maifeld of Lynn, soprano soloist at the church and director of music in the public schools of Swampscott, will direct the new Youth Choir and it is anticipated that at least fifty boys and girls will be included in it.

All young people from 4th through 9th grades in school who are interested are invited to meet with Mrs. Maifeld on this Sunday, November 6, in the Social Hall, promptly at 12:00 o'clock, immediately following the morning service of the church.

It is planned to have the Youth Choir sing regularly in the church services and it is anticipated that they will be ready to make their first public appearance during the Christmas season.

Mrs. Maifeld has had outstanding success with young people in music both in choral work and operettas. She has also had marked success developing youthful solo voices. The pastor, Rev. H. Newton Clay, has emphasized that the Youth Choir represents a wonderful opportunity for boys and girls, not only to render an important service to their church, but also for excellent musical training and education under Mrs. Maifeld.

K. of C. Holy Name Represented

His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing was the keynote speaker at the annual Nocturnal Adoration Society communion breakfast held at St. Francis de Sales Church and Hall in Roxbury Sunday morning, October 30.

Mass was celebrated by Msgr. George Kerr, the Society's Spiritual Leader, and well over 500 men from parishes of the Archdiocese attended mass, received Holy Communion in a body and enjoyed a catered breakfast in the church hall.

Representing St. Mary's Holy Name and the Winchester K. of C. were H. Warren Arnold, John Cronin, William McGaragle, Joseph Foley and Vincent Erhard.

In his stirring address to the gathering, the Cardinal dwelt on the furthering of the church in Latin America from whence he himself has recently returned, pointing out that for every 600 persons in our own diocese we have one priest, but in Latin America with over 20 countries, they have about one priest for every 7,000 persons.

More priests will be loaned to these countries this coming year, he said, despite the fact that in 16 years we have instituted here in our own diocese over 80 new parishes. There is a tremendous need for priests both home and away.

Highlights of the Cardinal's recent trip recounted as he pointed out the extreme wealth in Latin America on the one hand and the abject poverty on the other, with no middle class. Many of our priests loaned to these countries minister to the people 10,000 feet above sea level, high in the Andes.

He pleaded for the support of the Society of St. James the Apostle, the parent organization to which these priests belong with the home address at 49 Franklin Street, Boston. Offerings for spiritual remembrances may be sent there.

Rev. Robert J. Supple, formerly of St. Mary's Church and a member of the Winchester K. of C., is one of these priests in Latin America, presently at home, who plans to return soon.

Chairman John Cronin of the Nocturnal Adoration group is soliciting new members and urges all interested to contact him at the next Holy Name meeting or contact William McGaragle at the K. of C.

Winchester Garden Club

The first fall meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held at the Winchester Country Club on Thursday, October 27th at 1:30 p.m. A delicious dessert was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Phillip Boone, Percy Bugbee, Waldo Lyon and W. Campbell Ross.

Following the social hour the business meeting was held in the front parlor and presided over by the president, Mrs. Chandler Symmes.

In opening her meeting, Mrs. Symmes welcomed the new members and guests and then announced that Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini had won fifty dollars for the club on her design for landscaping in a contest held by the Sears, Roebuck Company for their Saugus store. The contest was open to all Garden Clubs in a seven mile radius.

Mrs. Harold Twombly, chairman of the Garden Club Service, then announced that we had been given an Award of Appreciation by the Bedford Hospital in recognition of the work we have done there.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Chester S. Cook whose subject "Decorating for the Holidays" was most interesting to the members. She showed wreaths, sprays and many indoor arrangements made of natural materials which could be used for home decorations during the holidays. Her final arrangement, a pair of espaliers, was a fitting climax to a beautiful and informative program.

Citizenship Sunday At Crawford Church

There will also be a reception of members as part of this morning worship service which will be at eleven o'clock.

Experience . . . That Adds Up

Experience is an easy word to use. But I believe it should mean something.

In four years in state government, I believe I have acquired considerable experience of value to you . . . when you are considering a representative: in planning, education and taxes.

With the Audit of State Needs, among other things, I helped analyze problems of the aged, of our college-age youth, of attracting industry to Massachusetts, or rehabilitating the mentally ill.

With the Regional Community College Board, I have assisted in the establishment of the first of several state higher-educational institutions (Pittsfield) . . . designed to meet the needs of parents hard pressed to provide a college education for their qualified youngsters.

With the Department of Corporation and Taxation, I have worked on a detailed analysis of all governmental expenditures. It's purpose: to insure the most effective use of state revenues.

Just A Note:

I would just like to add that when Mr. Chadwick was first elected to the Legislature — He has this experience:

Four years as a Town Meeting Member and he had attended one Town Meeting.

Now he speaks of his acquired Legislative experience and his important position in the Legislature — Well let's take a look at this position —

Member of one minor committee after 14 years service. Members of his own party with less service hold down far more important committee assignments.

This is why he gives only half-hearted representation to the district.

Kennedy-Johnson Group In All-Out Drive

Gratified by a surprising response to their efforts, members of the Winchester Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson Committee have scheduled a week end drive to climax their short-lived, but purposeful calendar of activities.

John H. Spang of 16 Cox Road, organizer and chairman, reports that his group plans to intensify its grassroots bid to resolve the full potential of area support for its candidates.

The Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson Committee was organized in Winchester to give all of the townspeople an opportunity to assist with the Kennedy Campaign.

Mr. Spang said that local interest in Senator Kennedy's bid for the presidency has stopped beyond party lines and has exceeded his expectancy.

Voicing considerable enthusiasm, and a desire for participation, are many in the category of Independent Voters, stated the Kennedy Committee chairman.

He pointed out that his group has a role for everyone and that it plans to be active right up to and including November 8th.

STAMPS · POSTAL CARDS · ENVELOPES · PAPER

POSTAL MODERNIZATION—Pictured is a model of a customer-operated "postal substation" which has already been laboratory tested and will some day find its way into thousands of post offices throughout the nation. The machine vends a choice of three denominations of stamps, two sizes of stamped envelopes, a book of stamps, a postal card, and a sheet of writing paper and returns correct change.

P. O. Dept.'s Modernizing Program

Nearly 5,000 post office buildings have been constructed since the launching of the department's modern improvement program by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield shortly after his appointment to this position by President Eisenhower in 1953.

In an announcement on this subject by Winchester's Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun it was pointed out that while these facilities have been equipped and furnished by the department, the buildings themselves are either leased or rented in line with the completely new policy which has been closely followed during the past seven years. During this period there have been 148 new buildings constructed in Massachusetts at an estimated cost of $8,392,00.

On the basis of this experience, it is estimated that at least 1,600 new buildings will be added to this total during the current fiscal year.

It was explained that this program not only reduces the government's original expenditures substantially but also means substantial additions to the tax rolls in the communities where the new structures are located since they are not tax-exempt.

"This type of operation has resulted in more and more new mail handling each year since it was first inaugurated," Postmaster Gilgun said, "and it is my understanding that the anuual report which is now being prepared will reveal a new all-time high for the fiscal year 1960 ending June 30, when agreements were signed for 1,602 new buildings costing a little over $100,000,000. We have been told that this is part of a program to completely modernize between 12,000 and 15,000 postal facilities during the next few years.

"In addition to the fact that we are getting more and more brand-new buildings, it is doubtful if the Post Office Department was ever before as careful in making preliminary scientific and engineering checks and surveys in order to be sure that new facilities will adequately take care of present postal needs in their various communities, and future growth as well. And as a clear indication of just how much more rapidly this new program is being carried out, the new building total for fiscal 1959 was 655 representing a total investment by private industry of approximately $62,000,000."

As an indication of the type of agreements negotiated during fiscal year 1960, it was stated than 1,125 of them—approximately 75 per cent—were on a lease basis while the remainder were for new buildings but on a monthly rental basis in order to simplify a change should it become necessary.

With reference to the facility improvement, Postmaster Gilgun also pointed out that in addition to the new buildings being made available under the commercial leasing program, the department completed plans during fiscal 1960 for modernizing post offices located in 106 federal buildings throughout the United States and that plans are already under way for 31 similar projects.

"While some of these figures may not be finally approved until the actual completion of the annual report for fiscal 1960," Postmaster Gilgun said, "there was a recent speech before a national convention of post office personnel by Postmaster Arthur E. Summerfield, in which he presented some interesting statistics as a clear indication of just how the postal service has been improved in the past seven and a half years, and is now handling the biggest volume of mail in its history in the most economical and efficient manner on record.

"While I won't attempt to tell the whole story, it might be of some interest to mention that with the implementation of more than 80 'metropolitan areas' serving some 168 million people, they are now getting next-day delivery of first-class mail anywhere within their respective areas. One of the principal results has been the virtual elimination of complaints about delayed mail simply because nearly all the letters which the public expects to be delivered the day after mailing are being delivered the day after mailing. This represents a radical change when compared with 1953.

"Still another change worthy of attention is that while slightly more that 1,400 rural delivery routes have been consolidated with annual savings in excess of $4,000,000, this type of mail service has actually been extended to benefit an additional 1,500,000 families.

"It should also be mentioned that more than 5,700 post offices which were found to be unnecessary have been discontinued at a saving of nearly $9,000,000 a year while at the same time we have established 629 additional classified stations and branches and 980 contract stations and branches in order to provide better service for the public."

Our Youth Problem - 2

Report 120 Cases Of Juvenile Crime

Police Statistics Cover Single Six-Month Period

(This is the second in a series of three Star feature articles on delinquency in Winchester.)

On the subject of juvenile delinquency a good many Winchester people just won't be convinced.

You show them a set of statistics proving that juvenile crime in every corner of the nation is on the increase.

You show them story after story in the Star reporting teenage housebreaks, auto thefts, vandalism, drinking sprees, and life-threatening drag racing. And the answer almost invariably comes forth: "Alright, but things aren't all that bad in Winchester!"

Well, just how bad is the situation?

It's this bad: According to statistics released this week by Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro:

Of 120 juvenile crimes committed in Winchester between April 18 and October 26 of this year, 84 were committed by youths 15 years old and under.

Of 10 cases of breaking and entering in Winchester, all were committed by youths 15 years old and under.

Similarly youths 15 and under committed seven of the eight cases of larceny, and 20 of the 24 cases of malicious damage committed in Winchester in this six-month period.

From Nice Homes?

"Very well," you say, "the situation in Winchester isn't good. But you can't tell me that a boy from one of our nice Winchester homes would do these things!"

Ladies and gentlemen, only the legal fair-mindedness of the Commonwealth and the good faith of your local newspaper prevent the names of boys from nice homes from being published in connection with juvenile crime committed in Winchester.

We publish the stories of such juvenile crimes because our job is to keep you informed, and in this we have the complete cooperation of the Chief of Police. We do not publish the names of minors, however, because we agree that everything possible should be done to give these juvenile criminals another chance and to protect their future.

No One Immune

Experts on juvenile problems disagree about many things: the significance of environment, the role of psychiatry, the relative responsibility of society and parents.

But on one thing they all agree: No youth is immune to delinquency.

As Louis Maglio, Executive Director of the Citizenship Training Group in Boston, (where Jim Cogan is now studying), put it: "Delinquency is found in all types of boys regardless of race, color, religion, environment, culture, or social status."

Delinquency cuts deep below barriers of wealth, class, or the "right" side of the tracks. For the fact is that in the disturbed mind of a delinquent there is no "right" side of the tracks.

Causes

What causes delinquency? Late hours? The wrong crowd? A bad start? Psychological maladjustment? Irresponsible parents? Immoral parents? Alcoholism at home? A bad home? Surely, all of these things, in varying degree.

Ninth Graders Hold Their Own Election Here

Who says they aren't old enough to vote? They did!

The ninth graders of the Junior High School staged a national election of their own on November 4th.

Thanks to the courtesy and cooperation of Mr. Muraco and Town Hall officials, the students were allowed to use the regular voting booths where they chose their candidates on ballots mimeographed in the school office.

The results?

Vice President Nixon won 58% of the ninth graders' votes, while Senator Kennedy won 40.4%. John Volpe won 85.3% of the vote, Ward 12.3%. Senator Saltonstall won 67% of the vote while Mayor O'Connor won 31% in the Senatorial race.

Of 356 pupils in the class 290 were registered to vote and 267 cast ballots. Percentage registered: 81.5%. Percentage voting: 75.2% Percentage of registered pupils voting: 92.1%.

The purpose of this mock election, according to Mr. Robert Kessler, instructor in charge, was to acquaint the Civics classes with the rules, regulations and problems concerned with national elections and to give all ninth graders experience in the voting process.

To make this voting situation as near to reality as possible, registration was held in the Junior High auditorium on November 1 and 2, the morning and afternoon sessions.

Thus students were forced to sacrifice some of their free time and to go out of their way to register and vote. The results of the student participation in their election will be compared to the statistics for the Winchester adult turn-out on November 8.

The organization and administration of the election procedures were handled by the Civics classes in the morning session. The following students served as chairmen of committees: Registration, Diane Gale; Ballot, Janice Civetti; Booths, Don Miglacci and Tom Lowe; Information, Charlene Wightman; Republicans, Maurnie Sheppard and Janet Winsor; Democratic, Maureen Gill and Bill Irwin.

The statistics on the student voting compared with adult voting, roughly the same 5-4 ratio for the Vice President. (See headline story.)

Harrison Chadwick, Town Moderator, AT M.T.M.A. Meeting in Sturbridge

Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick of 24 Everett Avenue attended the Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts Town Moderators Association held last week in Sturbridge.

The discussion at this year's meeting, Mr. Chadwick told the Star, was "particularly stimulating." The agenda of the meeting was arranged as though the topics were articles in a Town Warrant, and various moderators presided during the "debate" by taking one article each.

Mr. Chadwick presided during the discussion of differing methods of voting at Town Meeting. It is evident, Mr. Chadwick said, that the "polling," or roll call method is the procedure least used. Most contentious matters seem to be determined by standing votes, which are considered preferable to voting by show of hands, most moderators who spoke on the subject believed.

Only a small minority of towns appear to use the secret ballot with any degree of regularity Mr. Chadwick reported. "A few extreme situations relating to the verification of a vote were cited, and there was no unanimity of opinion among the moderators as to how they should be handled," he explained. He said the most lively differences were expressed on the question of "reconsideration." Mr. Chadwick believes that there is no need for Winchester to change its procedure in connection with this question.

At this annual meeting of moderators, Mr. Chadwick was re-elected an Association Director. He will continue to serve on the Procedure Committee until that Committee fulfills its special assignment given to it last year, that of drafting a set of model bylaws.

T. V. Aids Students In History Courses

Students at Winchester High School attending classes in history and problems of democracy taught by Miss May Milliken and Mr. George Watson are being assisted in the learning process by television's "The 21" Classroom.

This fifteen-program series studies vital problems and areas relating to United States foreign policy. Designed to enrich senior-level classroom instruction in history, civics and problems of democracy, "The 21" Classroom is presented in cooperation with "The World Affairs Council of Boston."

United States foreign policy extends into all areas and countries of the world. Thus, one series cannot possibly cover all aspects of America's international relations. These programs are an attempt to clarify and emphasize certain key problems and developments in the major areas under review. Their aim is not only to increase understanding of American foreign policy but also to develop a keen interest by the student in foreign policy issues and to induce him to analyze each issue.

"The 21" Classroom was conceived and organized to supplement and enrich the school curriculum by bringing to the classroom resources that would otherwise be unavailable. Television is the medium for presentation.

Chadwick Reelected 7168-5006; Saltonstall, Volpe Sweep Town

President-Elect Kennedy Trails Nixon Here; Package Stores Defeated Once Again

Winchester's John Volpe and Harrison Chadwick survived Massachusetts' clean sweep for President-Elect John F. Kennedy this week. So did veteran United States Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

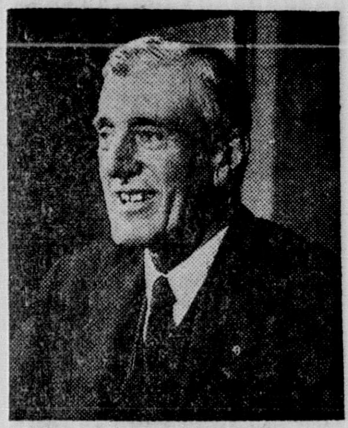
An estimated 95.7%, or 10,810 of Winchester's 11,309 registered voters, turned out to re-elect Mr. Chadwick as State Representative for his eighth term by a margin of 7,168 to 5,006, including Woburn's Ward One over Democrat John V. Costello.

Winchester voters, went strong for favorite son John A. Volpe in his successful bid for the governorship of the Commonwealth. They gave Mr. Volpe 8,478 votes and only 2,199 for Joseph D. Ward, his Democratic opponent. Senator Saltonstall also swept the Town, polling 7,573 votes over 3,095 for Springfield Mayor Thomas J. O'Connor, Jr.

In the Winchester Presidential vote Vice President Richard M. Nixon led Kennedy by a tidy margin of 5977 to 4750.

A steady stream of voters filed in and out of Town Hall on Tuesday some carrying babies, some walking with canes.

Political feeling ran high. Townspeople congregated on corners speculating excitedly on the outcome of the election, hashing over the issues, predicting a clean sweep for their man, whoever he happened to be.



SENATOR SALTONSTALL

Perhaps the T.V. debates on various levels were the decisive factors in this high interest, but old-timers can never remember hearing so much public discussion of matters political, in restaurants, on buses, on street corners—everywhere.

ROUND THE CLOCK

Millyan Construction Company Asks Court Ruling Against Planning Board

Judge Wisnioski in Superior Court at East Cambridge on Monday heard the complaint of the Millyan Construction Company of Winchester against the Winchester Planning Board in the matter of a subdivision which the Construction Company proposes to construct at the end of Bellevue Avenue.

The complaint is against Planning Board's ruling that the Construction Company must connect the surface drainage in its subdivision with that of the nearest available town drainage system.

Bellevue Avenue is a public way for 643 feet from Forest Street, and the proposed subdivision is beyond the accepted portion of the street. Under the Planning Board requirements the Millyan Construction Company would have to install surface drainage from its subdivision for a distance of 420 feet into the existing public way to join the Bellevue Avenue system.

According to the Planning Board the preliminary plan for the subdivision submitted by the Construction Company shows no such provision for surface drainage, and since the Planning Board regulations require such surface drainage connection from all subdividers, the Board refused to accept the Millyan preliminary plans.

Accordingly the Construction Company brought a bill in equity against the individual members of the Planing Board seeking court action to force the Planning Board to accept his proposed plans for the subdivision without connecting the surface drainage there with that in the town way 420 feet distant.

When Bellevue Avenue was laid out as a public way for 643 feet from Forest Street town authorities believed the probability was that it would not be used beyond that point. A subdivision had been considered there but according to a town spokesman had been abandoned. The town therefore did not extend the surface drainage beyond the point necessary to care for the town way.

The Millyan Construction Company now feels that the town should be required to extend the surface drainage throughout the length of the accepted street and that the company should be permitted to connect the surface drainage in its subdivision to the town installed system at the end of the public way.

After both sides had submitted their arguments, Judge Wisnioski took the case under advisement and will submit a finding at a later date.

Manholes Uncovered

Chief Derro issued a sharp warning to parents this week regarding the rash of manhole covers removed in the Symmes Corner area.

"Please tell Winchester people about the danger their children's vandalism poses in this area," the Chief asked the Star. "Anyone walking across the street, or a child playing in the leaves, could fall into one of these uncovered holes and be seriously injured. With two or three feet of water in them on the average, it is likely that any child falling into one of the holes would drown."

On one night alone last week ten manhole covers were removed; on another night two were removed, all part of a pattern of vandalism that saw four windows at the Mystic School last week end deliberately smashed.

"This is some youngsters' way of taunting the police," the Chief said. "To them it's a big joke. But it won't be a joke when some youngster is seriously injured or even killed by falling in one of these uncovered manholes. I appeal to youngsters and parents alike to consider the gravity of this situation and help us to correct it. I can assure you it will not go well for any youngsters involved in such potentially tragic anti-social action."

Movie To Explore Problems Of Child

An unusual opportunity for parents in Winchester to study and discuss the emotional problems of the growing child will be provided on Wednesday, November 16th at the Library when the first in a series of three special films will be shown concerning "Growing Up."

The first movie depicts three different paths of growth a child could take under different environmental circumstances. Titles of the movies to follow are "Angry Boy" and "Fears of Children."

Leading the discussion after the movies will be Dr. Mildred Swinson, psychologist at the McLean Hospital. Dr. Swinson has led similar groups in other Mystic Valley towns with heartening response.

Teachers and all others interested in working with the young are also invited to the series of three movies and discussion follow-ups which start Wednesday night, November 16th at 8:30 p.m. at the Rich Room in the Library. The second two evenings will come in midwinter at times to be announced.

Sponsored by the Winchester Mental Health Association, a United Fund Agency, the three evenings will focus on different aspects of the development of the normal child in every day situations. By doing this they demonstrate one of the main aims of the association which is to sustain and strengthen the factors for good emotional health which already exist in the community.

Wear White After Dark, AAA Poster Urges

Over 4,200 pedestrians were killed in night traffic accidents last year, the American Automobile Association reported in urging school-age youngsters to wear white after dark.

"Well over half of all pedestrian fatalities occur during the hours of darkness," said Richard W. Hoover, safety director for AAA's Massachusetts Division. "Reduced visibility on the part of both motorist and pedestrian plays a major role in the death toll.

"If you plan to walk at night, wear or carry something white so that motorists will be able to see you," Hoover urged. "This precaution could save your life."

A safety poster illustrating the theme, "Wear White After Dark," is being distributed to schools in Massachusetts as part of the regular AAA monthly safety education program.

The new poster, designed by Bill Swarthout, a 15-year-old student at Webber Junior High School, Saginaw, Michigan, was a first place winner in the American Automobile Association's National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. The prize was awarded by a panel of nationally-known judges. The poster will be reproduced and distributed by AAA motor clubs throughout the country.

Two Fine Departments

Editor of the Star:

Last Thursday at 11 p.m. a fire developed in my car, and I wish to thank the fire and police departments for their help in the emergency.

What I really want to bring out is that, though a resident of the town, I hadn't realized how really efficient these departments are.

I was positively amazed at the short time elapsing between my pulling in the alarm and the arrival of both the firefighters and police.

It is a very satisfying feeling to know we have such efficient protective agencies in town.

New Boiler For Hospital

NEW BOILER INSTALLED AT HOSPITAL. In anticipation of the increased heating requirements that will be necessary with the new wing of the Winchester Hospital, the board of directors recently awarded a contract for the installation of an additional boiler and oil tank to Buerkel & Company, Boston heating and air conditioning contractors. This additional boiler will provide the hospital with sufficient heating capacity for not only the planned addition, but also any other expansion that the future may bring. This is another phase of the general expansion program that is in process at the hospital to ease the critical need for additional beds and other facilities.

Some secrets its owner can't keep!

We wouldn't go so far as to say that your life is an open book when you're seen in the company of a new Cadillac car.

But we will admit that at least a few of the pages have been turned.

For a Cadillac indicates—with unmistakable clarity and eloquence—the personal virtues that lead a man to the "car of cars".

Beautiful, distinctive and substantial—it reflects his eminence in his field of endeavor . . . and testifies to what he has made of his years.

Gracious, spacious and luxurious—it denotes his desire for comfort . . . and his concern for the well-being of his family and passengers.

Practical, sound, and desired—it evidences his awareness of the true aspects of value and quality.

And if a Cadillac has historically cast such credit on its owner—how much more grandly it will do so in 1961!

For the car now offers more of everything to inspire the respect of those who behold it.

Its styling is graceful as never before. Its interiors are remarkably generous in every dimension. And its performance and ride make every journey a miracle of motion.

You ought to inspect and drive this 1961 Cadillac.

Your dealer will be delighted to accommodate you. And we wager you'll quickly see the wisdom of letting the "car of cars" reveal a few discreet secrets about you.

Catholic Youth Week

CYO and Chi Rho members of Woburn Deanery, under supervision of Rev. Robert W. Bullock, St. Camillus parish, Arlington, engaged in extensive observance of National Catholic Youth Week, which concluded Sunday.

Under Fr. Bullock's supervision, parish Communion breakfasts, holy hours, teen age missions and investitures were held along with participation in the National Communion Crusade.

Fr. Bullock said that because the parish is the heart of the Catholic youth program, principal stress was placed on parish, rather than deanery activities during youth week. Woburn Deanery, which includes Winchester, conducts a widely-varied youth program most of the year, emphasizing spiritual, cultural, social and athletic activities.

Open House At Washington School

In observance of National Education Week and its theme, 'Strengthen Schools for the 60's," open house was held on Wednesday evening, November 9, at the George Washington School. This occasion was combined with the annual Dads' Night, providing an opportunity for parents to visit the classrooms and become better acquainted with the teachers and their curricula.

The presence of a large number of parents at this school affair indicate great interest in continued efforts of home and school in paving the way for a better world of tomorrow through a community of understanding.

After visits to classrooms, parents gathered in the auditorium for refreshments served by Mrs. Leo F. Belliveau and Mrs. Nunzio D. Masone.

The Music Stopped . . .

. . . but the melody linger on; fun, friends, fanfare, garlands of flowers and glad feeling inspired success of Wyman Parents' Association annual fall dance last Saturday, November 5.

Bountiful thanks are due the wonderful cooperation of all participants in making the dance committee's fond vision of a "Floral Fling" a glowing reality.

Special thanks go to the very general merchants who create for Winchester, through their continued generosity, a true spirit of warmth and hospitality. Among those who gave of their wares on this occasion were Converse Market, who donated the refreshment cider, the Winchester Conservatories, who donated large decorative plants, and Erskine Movers who saw to it the piano appeared in the proper place for the evening and was returned thereafter.

Door prize drawing was most exciting. A spectacular basket of fruit was arranged by Mr. Snow of Renton's Market, a lovely presentation bouquet of brilliant red roses by the Forester Flower Shop, a delicate glass decanter by the lemmens, a luxurious assortment of cosmetics by Fred, Hair Stylist, a children's game by the Winchester Sport Shop, and last but by no means least a long playing children's album by Winchester Appliance. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gill very kindly and graciously managed the taking of tickets, and contributed a special door prize as well.

Mrs. Earle F. Spencer, Jr., extends her sincere appreciation to all of these merchants and to decorating committee, Mrs. Richard Bannister, Mrs. Arthur Fowle, Mrs. John Kent, and Mrs. Kenneth Harvey; the refreshment committee, Mrs. Charles Bond, Mrs. Richard Carr, and Mrs. Robert Gregory; flowers by Mrs. James Kimball II, tickets by Mrs. Robert Byford, and publicity by Mrs. Edward Knowlton.

And, of course, a very special thanks to YOU who joined us in making our "Fling" a great evening and a memory, which like the pleasing melodies of Roger Carpenter and the Meltones, lingers warmly on.

Winchester Engineer Addresses I. R. E.

At a recent convention held at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D. C., Frederick B. Parks of 7 Wilson Street presented a paper before the Institute of Radio Engineers professional group on Electron Devices.

Mr. Parks, in his illustrated talk, pointed out the advances made in the art of ultra high frequency generation, and the sequential steps taken by Bomac Laboratories Inc., of Beverly, Mass., in the development of a 10 kilowatt 4 millimeter magnetron. The subject was selected from many submitted by members in this country and abroad.

Extreme precision, much more than required in building the finest watch, was a pre-requisite to the success, he said. Bomac Laboratories is the only company in the United States to produce this particular oscillator commercially.

Mr. Parks is a senior member of the Institute of Radio Engineers, and is employed as an engineering specialist in the Power Tube Division of Bomac Laboratories.

Living With Your Heart

By Samuel A. Levine M.D.
Past President

During the 45 years since I have been interested in cardiovascular disease I have observed considerable progress. This has been more spectacular in some aspects and less so in others. When I first began practice, syphilitic heart disease was a major problem. Now it has almost vanished. When it did occur we were able to offer little help. Now because the original infection has become rarer and so easily controlled by Penicillin, the late cardiac complication of syphilis has become quite rare.

The problem of rheumatic valvular disease has received two effective blows. The actual freqency of the original rheumatic fever is on the wane because of improved sanitation, general health conditions and better control of streptococcus infections, especially by Penicillin. Rheumatic valvular disease is on its way "down" but not as yet "out." Secondly, when confronted with a rheumatic valvular problem we not only have the old medical methods of treatment, but modern cardiac surgery now has a great deal to offer. Operations on the heart are helping many and often curing some. It is not too much to expect that rheumatic valvular disease will be a minor problem in years to come.

Tremendous gains have also been made against bacterial endocarditis. This was a valvular affliction which was 100% fatal before the era of anti-biotics. Now it is about 80% curable and what is more important it is actually being prevented by the use of Penicillin and other anti-biotics.

We know very little about the cause of congenital heart disease, although we do know that in some instances the congenital defect in an infant is due to an attack of German measles in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy. In this field modern cardiac surgery, which had its origin in Boston, has made tremendous strides. Many children and even adults with congenital heart disease are now cured or greatly helped by surgery and particularly by the more recent open-heart surgery.

Another large problem in heart disease is the one that results from high blood pressure. Some progress has already taken place in this regard. Certain drugs have proved helpful in controlling blood pressure in many patients and more and more cases have been found to be due to condition that can be rectified by surgery.

The last and major problem is coronary artery disease. This is known to the lay public generally as a "heart attack." In its minor form it is often called angina pectoris which is a momentary insufficiency of the coronary arteries. We can recognize the acute attack of coronary thrombosis much more readily and can treat it more intelligently than we did years ago. A larger number of people therefore survive such an attack, but the matter of prevention is still for the most part beyond our reach. Considerable research is going on in this field. At present the possible role of diet is being investigated. Some think that animal fats have a deleterious effect upon the arteries. Others think that it is mainly the excess weight that is to blame. The factor of so-called strain and stress may also play a harmful role. What is needed is more information and facts on these subjects. We cannot progress without ideas and study. Research is the mainstay of our hope.

What may the future have in store for us? It is quite likely that biochemical research will give us the answer. We need to know more and more about the basic chemical processes of the body. The Massachusetts and American Heart Associations' programs have for their main purpose the fostering of research on heart disease, for this subject is the most vital health problem that faces our nation.

Living With Your Heart

The search for the origins of heart disease is a medical detective story, fascinating in the infinite variety of its clues. It is, of course, a story whose ending is far from written. The suspects are many.

One of the questions under consideration in this mystery is whether we get heart disease because new molecules are manufactured too fast in our bodies, or because they are not destroyed rapidly enough. Dr. Jonas Richmond is seeking the answer in a Heart Fund study at Harvard Medical School.

The classic coronary heart attack occurs when bloodclots jam the circulation in coronary arteries that have been scarred and thickened.

Glycoproteins — large molecules that combine with substances in the blood and act as a sort of cement — are found in large quantities in the thickened arteries associated with or causing heart disease. They are also found in quantity in the blood's platelets, which are known to play a part in the blockage of scarred arteries.

Dr. Richmond, an established investigator of the American Heart Association, is seeking eventually to discover whether glycoproteins cause changes in blood vessels, and hence cause various kinds of heart and circulatory diseases.

But first extensive research into the formation and breakdown of glycoproteins must be done—specifically, to find out whether the non-protein part of a "conjugated" protein influences the formation of the whole protein.

A "conjugated" protein contains a protein part, united to a non-protein part. In the case of glycoproteins this involves conjugation with carbohydrates.

Dr. Richmond's project is built around proteins containing 65 per cent amino acids (protein building-blocks) and the remainder mostly carbohydrates.

The immediate goal is to learn whether the supply of carbohydrate and other foods in the diet, or the rate of carbohydrate formation within the body, influences the rate of formation of the whole conjugated protein.

Radioactive amino acids, carbohydrates and inorganic substances are injected into the bloodstreams of animals, and at times are measured to give information on the rates of formation of these proteins within the animals.

The protein "building blocks" are carried by the blood to various organs, where they are converted into protein. Then they return to the bloodstream. These proteins seem to be formed in the liver and bone marrow.

The study, although highly unusual, is typical of much heart research in its departure from a limitation to investigation purely of the heart muscle. Medical science is increasingly approaching the most basic of research—and the prospect is that any major breakthroughs will be of value not only to the heart patient, but in various other ills as well.

Potomac River To Be Cleaned And Deepened

The historic Potomac River is going to be made cleaner and deeper.

Congress has approved plans for a vast sewer network to divert waste from the river which flows majestically by the Nationa's Capital. The system is part of a long-range program to purify the Potomac.

Engineers also are working on a project to widen and deepen the Potomac ship channel between the river's mouth at Chesapeake Bay and the city of Alexandria, just below Washington. This stretch of river is an ancient trade route, the National Geographic Society says.

Indians Were Great Traders

In the Algonquin language, Potomac means "trading place"—an apt name, for the river-dwelling Indians were great traders. They produced shell currency, arrowheads, dyes, and other articles to barter with interior tribes. Even copper from the Lake Sueprior region found its way down the Potomac.

Henry Fleet, an English fur trader, learned quickly that the Indians of the Potomac drove hard bargains. In 1631, Fleet noted in his jounral: "These people delight not in toys, but in useful commodities, hatchets and knives of large size, broadcloth and coats, shirts and Scottish stockings."

Competition for furs was keen and often unscrupulous. One trader sailed up the Potomac early in the spring and spread word that Fleet had been lost at sea. The early bird got most of the season's catch.

By the end of the 17th century, most of the fur trade had moved westward from the East Coast. Tobacco then dominated river traffic for nearly a century. Ocean-going ships were able to sail up the broad tidal estuary and anchor at the docks of the huge plantations. Alexandria on the Virginia side and Georgetown, now part of Washington, became tobacco ports.

Alexandria's greatest boom came in the late 18th century when wheat was the money crop along the upper river. Alexandria shipped wheat, flour, and biscuits to Europe. Its waterfront was jammed with ships unloading French silks. Scottish woolens, Russian linens, Chinese tea, English furniture, West Indian sugar, and other exotic imports.

Canal Blasted Through Rock

In 1785, the Potomac Company, with George Washington as president, was organized to develop the upper river as a gateway to the west. Great Falls, a turbulent cataract 15 miles above Washington, blocked navigation. In the course of blasting a canal through rock on the Virginia side, several workmen perished. The superintendent laconically reported that they had "used the powder Rather too Extravagantly."

The devious channel, hidden rocks, and many islands made river travel above the falls dangerous. The trip upstream was so difficult that many flat-bottom boats were broken up for lumber at Georgetown after their trip downstream. Navigation was possible only in the spring and fall freshets. After a brief initial success the Potomac Company failed.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, another attempt to make a waterway to the west, was dug along the Maryland side of the Potomac from Georgetown to Cumberland, Maryland. The canal was obsolete when completed in 1850. Railroads had killed the last chance of the Potomac becoming the "channel of conveyance" to the interior envisioned by George Washington.

Today, freighters, oil barges, excursion liners, fishing boats, and pleasure craft ply the Potomac from Chesapeake Bay to Georgetown. Channel improvement will allow larger vessels to use the waterway and is expected to increase the number of seagoing ships sailing the river.

AAA Fillers

Car Care Tip: Get ready NOW for cold weather driving, advises the Triple-A. A car in good condition is more likely to start easily and perform well in frigid weather. Have your car winterized now at your service station.

A Tip on Night Driving from the American Automobile Association: Dim your lights at night when you come up behind another car as well as when you meet one. The glare from your lights can confuse the driver ahead, and might cause an accident.

Before Driving South this Winter, the AAA suggests you have your speedometer checked for accuracy. Use of radar and other scientific devices has often made law violators out of motorists who "thought" they were driving at legal limits.

Most car thefts are possible because owners make it easy, says the AAA. Amateur thieves simply get in and drive away. When you park your car, lock it when you leave it and you'll find it when you get back.

Driving under adverse conditions calls for extra caution, reminds the Triple-A. Storms make driving hazardous—but stormy weather coming after dark can increase driving hazards ten times. Slow Down and Take It Easy.

Daring Couple Explore Ganges

Riding an amphibious jeep up and down India's sacred Ganges River, a young American couple has had an unusual and highly informative adventure.

Helen and Frank Schreider, who gave up industrial careers four years ago to travel and write, tell their story in the October National Geographic Magazine.

Their craft was the Tortuga II, similar to the pioneering Tortuga I, which they wore out making an earlier 20,000-mile trip from Alaska to Tierra del Fuego.

For the Indian journey, the Schreiders bought Tortuga II in a World War II surplus depot, and outfitted it with bunks, a sink, alcohol stove—and a seat for their German shepherd, "Dinah." They made the jeep river-going by installing a rear propeller with a drive shaft running through a rubber-sealed hole in the steel hull. A rudder was connected to the steering wheel.

Thus equipped, the Schreiders arrived in Calcutta and obtained the Government's permission to travel the vast sweep of land and river that is the heart of India's life, history, and religion.

In five months on wheels and afloat, they scaled mountains, swam rivers, and fought mud. In landing, the jeep once sank to the hull in black, jelly-like mud. An English-speaking school teacher from a nearby town rallied a rescue squad to pry it loose.

The Schreiders visited historic cities, hard-working villages, and maharajas' palaces. They inspected Chandigarh, the "cubist," made-to-order Punjab capital. They camped out under starry Indian skies, and rode the Ganges' brown waters between banks of swarming life.

Along their way, they saw a paradoxical land where beauty springs unexpectedly from poverty, and where earnest leaders are creating a modern industrial economy among people clinging to ancient ways and beliefs. They saw dams, power plants, and steel mills rising in places where sacred cows amble at will along streets and roads.

At a Republic Day festival in New Delhi, they watched a jet squadron swoop low over a procession in which elephants with painted faces and spear-carrying hunters from Assam trod close on tanks and armored cars.

The article's title, "From the Hair of Siva," goes back to an early Hindu epic, the Ramayana, which tells how the Ganges became sacred.

According to the legend, the goddess Ganga was ordered down to earth as a torrent of water in which to wash and purify the ashes of a group of executed princes. Fearing the destruction of a flood, Siva, one of the Hindu trinity, caught the water in his matted locks and let it seep out slowly. Thus all who bathe in the Ganges are believed to be cleansed of sin and to absorb the spiritual strength of the Hindu godhead.

Tracing the river from its source to the great central city of Benares and on to the delta, the authors met pilgrims from all over India taking the ritual bath. Some brought ashes of family members to sprinkle into the water Others filled bottles to carry home.

The Americans made friends with a young Indian couple who were breaking with custom by marrying for love instead of letting their parents pick their mates. Yet at the wedding the Schreiders found bride and bridegroom carrying out prescribed ancient ritual. And the time for the ceremony was set at 2 a.m.—an hour chosen as auspicious by astrologers.

The event marked the start of the United Fund residential solicitation and celebrated the 100th anniversary of the birth of Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of America.

Dr. Pietenpol In Ceremonies At Sylvania

Dr. William J. Pietenpol, vice president and general manager of Sylvania's Semi-Conductor Division in Woburn, participated in ceremonies marking Sylvania's official acceptance into Army's Reduced Inspection Quality Assurance Plan.

On November 9 the United States Army Signal Corps presented its "RIQAP" Award to the Semi-Conductor Division of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., for "consistent quality production of high-quality germanium transistors." Sylvania is a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corporation.

Brigadier General Charles S. Hays, commanding general of the Army Signal Supply Agency, said that acceptance of Sylvania into RIQAP (Reduced Inspection Quality Assurance Plan) is a result of the division's "completeness of manufacturing processes and quality controls, supporting inspection records, and quality of end products."

RIQAP is the highest quality recognition and honor the Army Signal Corps can bestow upon a manufacturer, General Hays said. It assures the army of reliable electronic products "because RIQAP requires the most advanced quality-control methods and test procedures."

RIQAP, the general explained, is a unique approach to product evaluation and acceptance. Designed to assure the highest quality standards, the plan reduces the amount of end-product inspection by the Federal Government through increased reliance on the manufacturer's control policies and practices.

RIQAP by Mutual Agreement

Participation in RIQAP must be by mutual agreement between the contractor and the Army Signal Corps, he added. Through RIQAP the government and the contractor realize mutual benefits in reduced costs and improved relationships. In addition, the manufacturer achieves smoother production flow, maximum use of testing equipment, simplified record keeping and inventory control, increased storage space, and improved employee morale through recognition.

In ceremonies at the Semi-Conductor Division headquarters in Woburn, General Hays joined Dr. William J. Pietenpol of 6 Longfellow Road, vice president and general manager of Sylvania's Semi-Conductor Division, in raising an orange and white RIQAP pennant to signify the company's admission to the program. General Hays said RIQAP facilitates the task of the Army Signal Corps in evaluating, testing and integrating electronic and pictorial systems and devices in such fields as combat surveillance, electronic warfare and automatic data processing.

In accepting the award, Dr. Pietenpol credited the division's achievement to a combination of skilled, creative personnel, and modern, well-equipped assembly lines.

In addition to transistors, Sylvania's Semi-Conductor Division is a leading producer of diodes, microwave diodes, and other semiconductor devices.

Election

Republican Edward J. O'Donoghue polled 6233 votes for County Treasurer as opposed to 4044 for his Democratic adversary, Timothy J. Cronin.

Republican James F. Mahan polled 6130 votes for District Attorney here as opposed to 4212 for Democrat John J. Droney.

Once again package liquor stores were defeated on three counts, 7867 to 1713, with 1,230 blanks; 7651 to 1710, with 1449 blanks; and 6350 to 3727, with 733 blanks. Voted down: the sale of all alcoholic beverages, the sale of wine and malt beverages, and the sale of alcoholic beverages in packages. On the last question, however, over 50% of Winchester voters expressed a favorable feeling toward package stores.

Editorials:

The People Have Spoken

Well, it is all over at last and the electorate has chosen as President of the United States the Democratic Senator Kennedy over the Republican Vice President Nixon. "Vox populi, vox Dei," which in literal translation is "The voice of the people is the voice of God."

There will be many of course who do not share this view. This is understandable. No one likes to lose and it is human nature, in politics, for the losers to hope the winners will have their troubles as they attempt to solve the problems of the land according to the formulae of their party.

The voters have chosen Senator Kennedy as their President. He has shown the personal magnetism necessary to attract people to him and has inspired in many the confidence in his leadership he displays in himself.

This ability to inspire confidence can prove a great asset during his term in office. It has aided President Eisenhower. It was one of President Roosevelt's greatest assets. In fact there is much about President-elect Kennedy to remind one of F. D. R.

The President-elect's margin in the popular vote was not excessive, in fact nowhere near as great as many experts predicted that it would be. He won, but with the sobering thought that there was a substantial opposition. This can also work to his advantage. It is the political winner after a hard close fight that is likely to prove the best steward of the public trust.

And now the election is over. The eyes of the world are on us. We must close our ranks behind the victor and show our enemies, and our friends, abroad that we are a united people. The communists would welcome signs of a rift in our body politic. We must show them none.

Opposition there should and must be to administration policies judged not in the public interest, but let us also have united support for what President-elect Kennedy believes necessary to strengthen our country at home and abroad.

Why Planning Board Motions Fail

At the time of the Special Town Meeting in September the Star had an editorial in which it enumerated some of the projects unsuccessfully proposed by the Planning Board, told something of the importance of the Planning Board to the town, and deplored the apparent tendency of many in the town meeting to ignore the Board's recommendations and actually take pleasure in seeing the Board defeated in its plans for the town.

The Star believes this attitude is unfortunate and a bad approach to effective long range planning, which is vital to the welfare of Winchester or any community.

At the time of the editorial we reminded those habitually displeased with the Planning Board that it is not a self perpetuating body, that its members are elected and if the dissenters feel that a change in membership would be beneficial they have recourse to the polls.

Not long after the publication of the editorial the Star had a visit from a town meeting member who gave us his idea of why the Planning Board is so unsuccessful in its efforts to get recommendations through the town meeting.

He first stated that any opposition he had shown to the Planning Board's proposals have not stemmed from any personal feeling against the Board or its members.

He has felt and does feel that a major part of the resistance to Planning Board projects is caused by the town meeting members being insufficiently informed of just what the Board proposes.

It is this gentleman's opinion that in many cases town meeting members have not known enough about Planning Board proposals far enough in advance of town meetings to form a considered opinion of them.

He suggests that the warrant should contain complete articles, both the motion and article in its final form. He believes the present system of putting in a blanket article and then altering the motion a few days before the meeting at which it is to be considered is responsible for much of the apparent confusion during the discussion of the article or motion on the town hall floor.

Our visitor feels that under such conditions the town meeting members are considering and discussing opinions rather than facts, and if the motion were complete two or three weeks prior to the issuance of the Warrant, town meeting members would have a chance to investigate exactly what each motion means, and be able to form opinions based on fact rather than arguments of opinion on the town hall floor.

It is difficult said our visitor, if not impossible for the average town meeting member to assimilate a motion which he hears in its entirety for the first time when it is read by the Moderator. There have been instances when precinct members have passed motions, the full implication of which they have not understood because they had no opportunity to know in advance of the meeting just what was to be requested.

Our visitor cited as an example of motions difficult to understand those introduced by the Planning Board, which in his opinion are submitted too late and too incomplete for town meeting members to act on intelligently.

It is his opinion that when the Board's motions are finally presented on the floor, most town meeting members get the full content of the motion for the first time when it is read by the Moderator. The covering article, he feels, does no more than outline the general topic of the motion.

Continuing, our visitor expressed the belief that with a full year to prepare articles the Planning Board could establish a cutoff date far enough in advance so that the Warrant for the March meeting will have complete articles and final motions for the consideration of the members.

Articles incomplete and without specific motions at the established cutoff date would in our visitors' scheme of things be postponed until the next March meeting, unless it is necessary to consider them before that time. In such a case a special meeting can be called.

Illustrating his thinking with reference to the Planning Board's legal hearing on the two-family house zoning only three nights before the town meeting at which it was to be voted upon, our visitor gave it as his opinion that such short notice is entirely inadequate for town meeting members to arrive at a considered opinion, and also provided insufficient time for the Planning Board to consider any new opinions advanced at the meeting. An entirely new motion in the light of any new ideas advanced by the hearing would have to be framed a day or so before the enacting town meeting. In the opinion of our visitor this is entirely too short a time, either for the Planning Board or those who must vote upon a motion entirely different from what the town meeting members had expected from reading their warrant.

Our visitor, at the outset of his remarks, assured us that he is not opposed to the Planning Board and believes that the proper function of such a board is vital to the welfare of the town. He does feel that much of the difficulty in which the Planning Board has found itself in the past has been due to the Board's failure to make its position clear on controversial matters far enough in advance of town meetings for the precinct members to have a clear idea of what the Board is seeking.

Teen Agers In A Good Light

We have occasion from time to time in these columns to write of the escapades of our boys and girls, calling attention to activities that by no stretch of imagination can be called mischief, yet which seem to be on the increase.

Police Chief Derro has been greatly concerned with these anti-social actions on the part of our boys and girls, and through his appointment of a juvenile officer, who is now to study with the Citizenship Training Group affiliated with the famous Judge Baker Guidance Center in Boston, is trying to do something about it.

Chief Derro, like any good law officer, is much more concerned with preventing crime than with punishing those who get into trouble with the law, and this, if not carried too far is a proper goal to strive for.

The authorities need to keep in mind, however, that perhaps a group of boys intending to commit an anti-social act will likely watch with interest to see what happens to those who are caught in some depredation and taken to court. Sometimes it would seem that a little stricter handling of the malefactor would pay dividends in preventive crime too.

We did not, however, start out to go into the matter of juvenile delinquency in Winchester. We have the problem, and it is a lot more serious than many believe!

Our idea when we started this editorial was to call attention to the bright side of the youth escutcheon in Winchester, for there is a bright side. There are many fine youngsters in this town, probably a great many more than the small group whose escapades call public attention to focus on them.

Such a fine group is that which recently received Citizen Commendation certificates from the School Bureau of the United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston. The certificates were awarded in recognition of the boys and girls volunteer work during the past summer in hospitals, YMCAs and settlement houses.

These young people, for the most part high school and college students, have spent long hours with the sick and shutins, have worked with children, have performed trying tasks that test both the mind and stamina of the performer.

They were told by Assistant Dean Ruth Bean of Brandeis University that the time and effort they have given as volunteers constituted a first long stride toward meeting their responsibilities in today's world of testing, tension and change.

How much better they will be prepared to face the responsibility and shoulder the burdens sure to come in their adult years than their irresponsible associate boys and girls who think only of a good time, or of doing something to bother some one.

These boys and girls who worked in hospitals and settlement houses this summer probably know from this short experience with the seamy side of life that everything isn't automobiles, driving around, parties, liquor and raising ructions.

They are the youngsters to whom we oldsters must look to keep the ship of state on even keel in the future. Their experience this summer, in doing for others, always one of life's most rewarding experiences, will go far toward preparing them to work and work hard, and to meet sudden crises with sober judgment.

More than 65 Winchester young people carried on as volunteers this summer. All those who have worked with them have been quick to praise their industry and willingness to be of service.

The Star is happy to commend them publicly and to assure them that Winchester is proud of every last one of them.

En Ka Women Are Dedicated To Goal Of Doing For Others

Ninety thousand dollars in ten years is a large amount of money even for a business to earn. Yet that is the amount that the En Ka Society and its many good friends have raised and presented to Winchester charities in the last decade.

En Ka is unique in that its object is "to aid in welfare work in Winchester." Its work encompasses so many activities in this Town that it would take more space than is available to the Club to enumerate them.

Briefly, however, here are some of the organizations helped by En Ka: the Babe Ruth League, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the High School Band (uniforms and instruments), the High School radio station (records), the Home Fronters, the Home for the Aged, Winchester Hospital, Little League, the Police Athletic League, the Library, the Scholarship Fund, the Winchester Red Cross, and the Visiting Nurses Association, as well as many individuals in cooperation with the Town of Winchester social agencies.

Started As Sorority

En Ka has grown from a small high school sorority started sixty years ago to a sizeable organization comprising 116 active members and 98 associate or inactive members. Nor are the many, almost countless friends of En Ka to be overlooked, for our Club could not function without them.

As early as 1908 En Ka was sewing regularly for the Visiting Nurses' Association. In 1912 the Club committed itself to aiding the Winchester Hospital and ultimately established a "Hospital Fund" for the purpose of providing and furnishing a room there to be known as the En Ka Room.

The next decade brought many changes to En Ka! It became a well-organized society, always ready to cooperate with all other town organizations and welfare groups in their projects to raise money for worthy causes.

Three Shows

En Ka ran dances, concerts, parties, and "movie nights," and presented three shows: "The En Ka Magazine" in 1916, "The Glorious Girl" in 1922, and "Marcheta" in 1924. Presented at Town Hall, these shows were great financial successes.

When in 1919 the Winchester School Board forbade all student members of secret societies to participate in school ahtletics, En Ka began to reconsider its status as a sorority and in January 1928, held its last meeting as such.

In 1932 the Winchester Hospital again played a vital part in the life of En Ka, for after four years of inactivity in the club, the En Ka room needed attention.

This campaign, in turn, revived interest in the organization, and through the efforts of a volunteer committee, including Dorothy Reynolds Carlson, Dorothy Riddle Baisley, Barbara Watters Reisner, Emma Punchard Radley, Hester Bradford Goddu and Mary Flynn Smith, who was the motivating force, eighty-five En Ka members attended a "Reunion Banquet" in 1932 in the old Calumet Club.

Senior Society

At that time it was voted unanimously to reorganize En Ka as a senior society with the purpose of helping less fortunate people in Winchester. Mrs. Elisha George Pierce, Jr., was elected first president of the reorganized En Ka in 1932.

The meetings were held in the homes of different members as they are today. Mrs. William Beggs of Stowell Road was one of the first to open her home to one of these meetings, in 1932.

First Street Fair

The year 1934 was the year of the first En Ka Street Fair, which has become a popular Winchester institution. This first fair was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Pierce. Little did the committee of women think then that 26 years later the Street Fair would constitute En Ka's main source of funds for "doing for others."

When En Ka announced that it was ready to help the Town with money and services it was rapidly flooded with requests. Clearly, more members were needed. It was therefore voted to elect provisional members willing to give of their time to Winchester charities.

Hospital Hostesses

By this time En Ka women were serving as hostesses from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Morris Kerr of the Chambers was the first chairman of this Hospital Committee, which assisted visitors to the Hospital, sorted linen, delivering flowers, showing menus and answering room lights when the nurses were busy.

As reported in the Winchester Star of October 4, 1960, En Ka presented a new $1,000 blood testing laboratory to the Hospital, one of its largest gifts up to that time. The largest single gift En Ka has made was its pledge of $10,000 to the Winchester Hospital Building Fund last year.

What-Not Shop

A new fund-raising enterprise was inaugurated in the Fall of 1944, when the En Ka What-Not Shop, initially inspired by Ways and Means chairman, Mrs. Forest L. Pitman, was opened at 27 Church Street under the management of Mrs. Samuel D. Cole and Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth.

The shop was to be operated in connection with the 1945 Street Fair, and it was hoped it would fulfill the needs of patrons with something either to sell or to buy. Furniture, bric-a-brac, draperies, china, appliances, even outer garments were considered for sale.

Old-Time Auction

Those were the days of wartime rationing, and in this climate the What-Not Shop assumed all the trappings of an old-fashioned auction. The What-Not Shop, moreover, was the Ways and Means Committee's answer to the war shortages that precluded a Street Fair that year. And the year's fund-raising proved successful indeed: some $4,195!

The What-Not Shop continued to operate at different locations under the guidance of the following chairmen: Mrs. Vera McKenzie, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. Marion R. Clark, Mrs. Franklin J. Lane, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, Mrs. Gordon H. Smith, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, and Mrs. Clarence S. Luitwieler, Jr. After nine flourishing years, however, high rent for adequate quarters forced the shop to close down.

Baby Photos, Too

One of the projects now sponsored by En Ka is the Baby Photo Service at the Winchester Hospital.

This small income-producing project was started ten years ago under the direction of the civic chairman, Miss Eleanor Dow. When the service started in 1950 En Ka members who were qualified Red Cross nurses' aides actually took the baby pictures. Today a professional photographer manages the service.

En Ka Exchange

In addition to the En Ka Street Fair held every summer, the club raises funds for charity in the En Ka Exchange at 45 Church Street. The exchange was originated by Mrs. Henry A. Dellicker, who agreed to operate the shop with the assistance of Mrs. Clarence S. Luitweiler, Jr.

The Exchange is actually a second-hand clothing shop, which accepts clean, up-to-date saleable clothing to be sold on a percentage basis. En Ka takes one-third for its charity work, while the owner of the clothing receives two-thirds of the Exchange sale price. This service, under the management of Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox, Jr. this year, has proved to be a great service to the people of Winchester, both buyer and seller.

The En Ka Exchange is open for business Wednesday and Thursday, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Fridays until 6:30 p.m. The idea is to bring in what you do not want, and to go out with what you do want. Many Winchester people make it a habit to drop in each week as there are always new things to see.

Future Plans

Thanks to the hard work and imagination of the Civic and Social Service Committees, En Ka plans are in progress for Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, the Library Book Truck at the Hospital, and sewing, knitting and other articles for Christmas projects. (These two committees, in addition to the Finance Committee, are the secret "Santas" of En Ka.)

Of five charter members of En Ka, Mrs. Marie Chaffee, Mrs. Fred H. Abbott, and Mrs. Philip Webber are with us still. Fondly remembered are the now departed Mrs. Alfred Radley and Mrs. Amy Pond.

MARTIN LUTHER KING'S STRIDE TOWARD FREEDOM

By WILSON SULLIVAN

On December 1, 1955, a Negro seamstress named Rosa Parks, riding in a segregated bus in Montgomrey, Alabama, defied an old Southern tradition and refused to give up her seat to a white male.

Mrs. Parks' arrest for this "crime" precipitated a mass Negro boycott of the city bus line that had repercussions all over the world. It turned the "Cradle of the Confederacy" into a crucible of one of the greatest experiments in non-violent protest mankind has seen.

The story of this successful application of Christianity is told with remarkable wisdom and clarity by protest leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., in "Stride Toward Freedom."

With Thoreau, Dr. King writes, Montgomery's 50,000 Negroes could "no longer lend their cooperation to an evil system," convinced that "he who accepts evil without protesting against it is really cooperating with it."

The evil? Segregation, everywhere: In eating places, railroad waiting rooms, taxis—even in the movies, where Negroes were forced to enter by the rear door and sit in the peanut gallery. In shopping centers, where Negroes were forced to wait until all white customers had been served. At city hall, where stalling white clerks managed to register only 15 out of 50 waiting Negroes per day, thus keeping the registration of eligible Negro voters down to a mere 10 %. In the courts, where dual justice freed white rapists.

And, of course, on the buses, on which Negroes were forced to enter the rear door after paying their fare at the front door, forced to stand in the "Negro section" at the rear while "white seats" remained empty, forced to accept epithets like "black cow" from white drivers. One Negro man who insisted on the return of his fare when he discovered he would not be seated was shot and killed by an intervening policeman.

* * *

The Montgomery protest was the climax of bitter decades of Negro subjugation. It was fortunate for that city, for the United States, and for the world that this protest, from the beginning, was directed by men with a commitment to Jesus' principles of nonviolence. If it had not been, we would surely have witnessed a horrible racial conflict.

With a new sense of unity and pride, Montgomery Negroes emerged from apathy, fear, factionalism and an inculcated sense of inferiority, to plan their boycott of the bus line.

No Negro was to ride the buses for any purpose until the bus line agreed to a first-come, first serve, partially segregated seating arrangement, plus a little simple courtesy. The object of the protest, King writes, was not to put the bus company out of business, but to "put justice in the business."

Negroes cooperated in the protest almost 100% strong. They walked as many as twelve miles a day back and forth to work. They formed car pools, hitchhiked, shared Negro taxis. They had ridden the buses in humiliation. Now they were walking with dignity.

Then the white City Fathers, overwhelmed by the success of the protests, struck back. Negroes waiting at car pools were arrested for "vagrancy." Hitchhiking was declared illegal. Negro drivers were arrested on trumped-up minor traffic violations. Even Dr. King was jailed, fingerprinted and released only after a non-violent mass protest of Negroes before the jail.

Protest leaders were subject to incessant telephone threats, death warnings and obscenities. The Ku Klux Klan rode through the streets. White Citizen Councils mobilized. An eminent white clergyman of the city, gathering his robes about him, urged the Negroes to avoid "getting tangled up in transitory social problems," and retreat to their churches for "a glorious experience of the Christian faith."

* * *

Throughout the protest, exercising incredible restraint, the Negroes remained non-violent, even when their leaders' homes were bombed. Continually, these leaders kept the words of Jesus before them: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, and pray for them that despitefully use you."

They listened to this counsel. They found that it worked. And when, in 1955, the Supreme Court declared bus segregation unconstitutional and integrated buses rolled through the city, Montgomery Negroes had won a victory, not only for themselves, but for man. They had walked a second mile, and a third, and a fourth. They had defeated an evil, literally, by turning the other cheek.

Is their battle over? Matters are much improved in the city, King writes, but there is still a good distance to go. Laws can regulate external conduct, he explains, but only education can change internal attitudes—education, plus the insight that, in every sense, ALL men are brothers.

Remember When?

Shown today in the Star's series of "Remember When" pictures is the home of Edmund Symmes, a direct descendent of Zachariah Symmes, who was among the first inhabitants of Winchester when it was known as Charlestown Village.

The Edmund Symmes house stood at Symmes corner where the home of Selectman Paul Dunn is now located. Built by Edmund's father in 1783, it was destroyed by fire April 17, 1864. The son, a farmer, was born and died in the old homestead, which was then in Medford.

Another house was built on the site of the Edmund Symmes House and moved down Bacon Street, where it now stands on the high knoll to the left of the former Mystic School, now the residence of Mrs. Franklin Flanders.

Pierce, Florist, of Somerville, built the Dunn house for a home and moved the other house to make way for it.

Brennan Re-Elected

Francis P. Brennan, executive vice president of the Massachusetts Business Development Corporation, has been re-elected chairman of the Northeastern Conference of Development Credit Corporation. He has made his home with his wife and four children at 39 Westland Avenue since May of 1957.

This marks the fifth consecutive occasion on which he has been chosen chairman of that organization which is composed of the development credit corporations of the six New England States, New York and New Jersey. Those institutions have been responsible for the approval of over $55,000,000 in long-term loans unavailable to industry from other sources.

"Elmer Gantry." "Let's Make Love" Here This Week

The highly controversial film version of Sinclair Lewis' best-selling novel, "Elmer Gantry," opened November 9, at the Winchester Theatre for four days through United Artists release. Burt Lancaster and Jean Simmons are starred in "Elmer Gantry" with Dean Jagger, Shirley Jones, Patti Page and Arthur Kennedy. The film is a Burt-Lancaster-Richard Brooks production in Eastman color.

Lancaster portrays Elmer Gantry, the itinerant evangelist minister. Miss Simmons co-stars as Sister Sharon Falcomer.

The set of "Elmer Gantry" was closed during the filming of the entire production, the screen play guarded with strictest secrecy, full scripts being issued only to the principle players and top production personnel.

Due to the highly controversial nature of "Elmer Gantry" the management of the Winchester Theatre feels that this picture should be viewed only by the adult members of the family. They insist that children sixteen and under must be accompanied by their parents.

A special children's show will be run Saturday afternoon in place of "Elmer Gantry." The Winchester Theatre will play eight color cartoons plus "30 Foot Bride of Candy Rock," starring Lou Costello.

Opening Sunday, November 13 for three days at the Winchester Theatre is Jerry Wald's "Let's Make Love" with Darryl F. Zanuck's "Crack in the Mirror."

Starring in Jerry Wald's cinemascope, deluxe color production "Let's Make Love," will be such top stars as Yves Montand, Marilyn Monroe, Tony Randall, and Frankie Vaughan.

"Let's Make Love" is a comedy about a billionaire (Yves Montand) turned entertainer. Montand is in competition for Miss Monroe with Frankie Vaughan, a song and dance man.

In order to be at his best in the love match, Montand hires the services of some experts to aid him in his quest. To teach him the act of warbling he enlists the Ole Groaner, Bing Crosby. For the fine act of comedy he calls on "Uncle Milty" Berle and for the fine points of the dance, none other than Gene Kelly.

This amazing trio finally whips Montand (although he needs no help) into the winning suitor.

The co-feature "Crack in the Mirror," is Darryl F. Zanuck's exciting and uniquely different suspense drama. It brings together the veteran talents of Orson Welles, the incredibly gifted and beautiful Juliette Greco, and the suave and handsome Bradford Dillman.

This delightful comedy and suspense thriller should prove to be an entertaining evening.

James R. Livingstone

James R. Livingstone of 8 Sanborn Street, a resident of Winchester for more than half a century, died suddenly Friday evening, November 4, at his home. His health had not been good for the past two years, but he had been unusually active on Friday and his sudden passing came as a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Livingstone was the son of James, and Julia (Roberts) Livingstone. He was born April 8, 1882, in Calais, Maine, and spent his early life there, receiving his education in the Calais schools.

On January 1, 1901, as a boy of 19, Mr. Livingstone left Calais for Boston and went to work for John S. Cheever, a paper jobber in that city. After a short time he became associated with the Andrews Paper Company at 51 India Street, Boston, remaining there until 1934.

At that time he and other Andrews employees formed the Kendall Paper Company at 55 Amherst Street in Cambridge. Mr. Livingstone served the company as president until the late forties and was a member of the board of directors of the firm from its inception until his death. He was active in the firm until he died despite the handicap of poor health.

On June 29, 1907, Mr. Livingstone married Genevieve Goudy of Boston, and they came to Winchester at the time of their marriage, living first on Westley Street and from 1921 on Sanborn Street. Mrs. Livingstone died in 1954.

Mr. Livingstone was elected a town meeting member at the time of the inception of the Limited Town Meeting in Winchester, and served for several years in that capacity. He was active for some years in Boy Scouting and was one of the group that acquired the old Fish Hatchery on South Border Road as a Scout headquarters. He was an ardent follower of the high school football and baseball teams, attending their games at home and out of town, and being well known alike to coaches and players through the years.

He leaves two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Livingstone, high school librarian, and Mrs. William M. Higgins of North Attleboro; a son, Robert A. Livingstone of Winchester; two grandchildren, Shirley and Nancy Higgins; two sisters, Mrs. Harry L. Haley of Milltown, N. B., and Mrs. Clarence P. Seaboria of Bedford Village, N. Y.; also two brothers, Charles S., and Guy P. Livingstone, both of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Unitarian Church with the minister, Rev. Robert E. Storer, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Palumbo

Mrs. Maria Palumbo of 6 Forest Park Road, Woburn, widow of Joseph Palumbo and a former resident of Winchester, died suddenly Wednesday night, October 26, at her home, at the age of 73.

Mrs. Palumbo was a native of Italy. She had lived in Woburn for the past 12 years, but previously had lived in Winchester on Swanton Street near the railroad bridge, her home having been taken during the construction of the railroad overhead.

She leaves a daughter Mrs. Charles Lennox, and a son, Jerry J. Palumbo, both of Woburn; also five grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday morning, October 31, from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Anthony's Church in North Woburn. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Samuel R. Moses

Retired Manager of Tufts University Press with Business Nearly Sixty Years

Samuel R. Moses, who retired in 1959 as manager of the Tufts University Press after working at the Press for nearly six decades, died Thursday morning, November 3, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sidney C. Erb, 32 Grayson Road, following several months illness.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Wilson Chapel on College Avenue in Somerville, with the Rev. Ralph H. Earle, minister of the Second Congregational Church, officiating. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Mr. Moses was the son of Herbert, and Mary (Morrill) Moses. He was born February 27, 1883, in Amesbury, but as a boy of 14 went to Malden, and while attending school in Malden he went to work for the Tufts Press at the turn of the century.

Originally located in the basement of Curtis Hall, now used as a Tufts Student Center, the Press moved to its present location on College Avenue next to Cousins Gymnasium in 1907, when Mr. Moses took part in the corner-laying ceremony.

Popular with generations of members of the staff of the Tufts Weekly, student newspaper, which he had charge of printing, Mr. Moses was elected to honorary membership in the Fourth Estate, Tufts honorary undergraduate journalism society. He also was awarded a citation by the Tufts Alumni Council in recognition of his long and faithful service to the university.

Mr. Moses was a member of Samuel Crocker Lodge of Masons in Medford. His wife, Mrs. Fanny Moses, died last April 11, and he gave up his home at 84 Packard Avenue in West Somerville, coming to make his home with his daughter in Winchester at that time.

Besides Mrs. Erb he leaves three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Corinne Taylor

Word has been received of the death in New York on Saturday, November 5, of Mrs. Corinne (Batchelder) Taylor, wife of Herbert Taylor, formerly of Winchester, sister of Mrs. Leila Bunting of Cambridge and sister-in-law of the late Henry, and the Misses Louise and Leslie Taylor, formerly of Washington Street.

The funeral will be held today from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home with private services conducted by Dr. Dwight L. Cart, minister of the First Congregational Church. Graveside services will be held at 3 p.m. at the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Kiwanis News

With the busy month of November upon us, the Kiwanis Club has voted in a new slate of officers for 1961, and plans are in the making for an installation program to take place in January.

New officers for 1961 include president, Chet Johnson; 1st vice president, Frank McNally; 2nd vice president, Joe Pappalardo; treasurer, Jim Russo; secretary, Sid Horn.

The club last week swung into high gear to put its "get out the vote" campaign over the top. We were only one of many organzations in town doing the same job, but from a look at the results, we all did a good job.

November 19th is the date set for the Fall Social at Masonic Hall for the members, their wives, and their friends. A buffet supper will be served at 10 p.m. Dancing will be enjoyed to the music of Jerry Mitchell and his band. There will be a door prize.

Wednesday night, November 23rd's meeting has been cancelled, and the club will go to Woburn for an interclub meeting on November 22nd. The program for the evening will feature a talk by both the coaching staff of Winchester High and of Woburn High. They'll be talking football — What else just before the traditional turkey game between the two teams?

On November 30th the new officers for 1961 are to attend a training conference at the Haverhill Club. The conference is for all the new officers of all the clubs in Division 6 West.

Christmas Seal Series

Introduction

What do you see when you look at the Christmas Seal?

You may see, a bright little sticker to use on cards and gifts during the holiday season, a message of hope for those who are sick, a reminder for those who are well, a way for millions of people everywhere to share in the fight against tuberculosis, or a mighty crusade for good health and happiness under the banner of the double-barred cross, a crusade that goes on the year round in your hometown and all over the country. It means all of these things—and much more.

Let's look at the story behind the Christmas Seal and the double-barred cross, the symbol of your tuberculosis association's crusade for health. It's not a long story as time goes but its packed with drama.

Like many stories, it has roots in different places and different times. It brings together a one-room cottage in the north woods; a post office worker in Denmark; a kind-hearted lady in Wilmington, Delaware; the leading newspaper of a great American city; a ragged little newsboy; and millions of Americans, sharing through Christmas Seals in the crusade for a better life.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Thanksgiving and Christmas if these holidays are to be happy occasions in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

Visitors Have Burly Line

Improved Wakefield to Play At Manchester Field Friday

Winchester looks like it has another real fight on its hands Friday afternoon, Veterans' Day, when the Scarlet Warriors of Wakefield High School invade Manchester Field for an important Middlesex League engagement with the Sachems, commencing at 1:30. Second place in the league can well ride on this engagement, though Wakefield with two losses has to win or tie this one to stay in contention with Melrose yet to be played.

By the same token Winchester will drop out of its second place tie with Melrose if it loses to Wakefield, and the Sachems are sharpening their tomahawks against any such contingency.

Wakefield is a much improved ball team over its early season showing. The Warriors started badly, losing to Reading, 38-8; and then to Concord, 18-14. Since then the Scarlet has won five straight, beating Newton South, 22-12; Belmont, 6-0; Lexington, 22-0; Lynn Classical, 26-0; and Stoneham, last Saturday, 22-12.

Wakefield will bring a burly line to Winchester, the Warriors' forward wall averaging 187 pounds. Their backs average 154, making their team average a bit less than Winchester's, 177 pounds, if Stafford starts instead of the injured regular center, Morison. With Morison in there the Sachems average 173.

A year ago Winchester beat Wakefield at Wakefield, 28-6. On its record this year it does not seem that the Warriors are better than a year ago. Winchester is not as good as last year, though the Sachems showed against Melrose they can play with the best when on their game.

Captain Reardon, Dattilo, Morison, Brink, A. Hall, Lawrence, Neville, Bellino, Carter and Keene played against Wakefield last year with Hupprich, Currier, Chetwynd, Myette, Pietrafitta and Almeida going for Wakefield against the Sachems.

Winchester and Wakefield have played five teams in common, Reading, Lexington, Belmont, Stoneham and Concord. Winchester beat Belmont last Saturday, 20-18; Wakefield won from Belmont, 6-0. Against Stoneham Winchester won, 14-6; Wakefield, 22-12. Concord beat the Warriors, 18-14; Winchester beat Concord, 26-20. Wakefield beat Lexington, 22-0; Winchester, 20-6. Both teams lost to Reading, Wakefield, 38-8; and Winchester, 22-0.

There wouldn't seem to be any basis in these comparative scores to make either Wakefield or Winchester an odds-on favorite in their game tomorrow. From here it looks like a toss-up with the breaks going a long way toward deciding the winner.

If Winchester can regain the form shown against Melrose the Sachems will have a good chance of victory. The Sachems have, however, been anything but consistent and very prone to err. Wakefield is always up for Winchester and will be sure to take advantage of any lapses in the Sachems' game.

There is sure to be a big crowd at Manchester Field for this one, and an early arrival is advisable if you're fussy about where you sit. Kickoff at 1:30.

Mikey Bellino's Conversion Gives Sachems A Thin Edge

Mikey Bellino's slant through the Belmont line after his third touchdown in the final quarter gave Winchester High a thin-edged 20-18 victory over a battling Belmont team in the wind and cold of last Saturday afternoon at Belmont. The victory, seen by the usual good crowd from Winchester, and a slim group of Belmont rooters across the field, kept Winchester alive for second place in the Middlesex League as unbeaten Reading posted a 24-22 squeaker over Melrose at Reading.

Belmont scored its first touchdown on a long downfield pass in the second quarter, racked up its second on a ball-steal following a pass interception in the third quarter, and its final six points after a fumbled punt gave the home team the ball on the Winchester 38 in the final minutes of play.

Winchester scored first in the opening period when Bellino slanted over from inside the one yard line. The Sachems' second touchdown was entirely a Bellino affair; a brilliant 59 yard dash in which the last of the Bellinos ran away from the speedy Belmont secondaries.

The final touchdown came soon after the beginning of the final quarter when Bellino slanted over from three yards out. It was after this score that Mikey bucked over for the all important two points that won the game.

Winchester made 10 first downs to nine for Belmont, rushing for 214 yards to 191 for the losers. The Sachems completed two of nine passes for 38 yards while Belmont made good on seven of 14 for 106 yards. Winchester lost 36 yards in penalties to 45 for Belmont, and recovered two of its four fumbles. Belmont lost the ball on both its fumbles.

Neville was not as sharp as usual with his passes and it could be the high wind made it hard to judge distances. A couple of penalties hurt Winchester badly when in scoring position, once after the Sachems had blocked a Belmont punt and recovered deep in Belmont territory.

Toward the end of the first quarter an exchange of kicks gave Winchester the ball on the Belmont 40. Keene reversed to a first down at the 25, but here an intended Bellino sweep lost eight and it was second and 18.

Neville on a keeper got back nine yards and Keene added three before Neville hit Keene at the Belmont six.

Hall and Bellino bucked for gains of a yard each, after which Neville on a bootleg was tackled just outside the goal line. Bellino slanted over for the score, but Neville was racked up hard on the try for the extra points.

About midway through the second quarter Wilcinski fumbled a Bellino punt and barely recovered the ball at the Belmont six.

From there the home team drove out to the 36, a modified Statue of Liberty getting the key first down at the 21.

At the 36 Boyle faded and arched a long pass down field to Wayne Burton around the Winchester 20. Bellino was covering on the play and cutting in front of the Belmont end, tried to intercept the pass.

The strong wind wafted the ball over Mikey's upstretched hands and into Burton's eager clutches. Whirling quickly, the big end took off into the end zone before Bellino could recover his balance sufficiently to give chase.

A pass for the extra two points was no good and Winchester's McCormack took the short kickoff at his own 47. Neville got away on a pretty keeper play to the Belmont 20, but a very questionable clipping penalty stalled the Sachem's drive and the ball was at the Belmont 25 when the half ended.

In the opening minutes of the third quarter Winchester blocked a Belmont punt and recovered the ball at the ten yard line, only to have an offside penalty nullify this break.

A few moments later Winchester recovered a Belmont fumble on an attempted pass play well inside Belmont territory, only to have a personal foul cancel out this chance.

The ball went back to the Winchester 40, and from there in three tries Wilcinski and Boyle reached the Winchester 15. Here a 15 yard penalty against Belmont aided the battling Sachem's who finally took the ball on downs at the Winchester 39.

Keene hit the line for two and then Bellino in a sweep left, went outside, and getting around the corner, really flew along the sidelines 59 long yards into the end zone with a pair of sprinting Belmont defenders falling further and further behind.

Neville tried an end run after a fake handoff and was piled up short of the goal line on the try for the extra point.

Winchester fans started to breathe a bit easier with the score 12-6, but their relief was short lived.

Belmont ran the kickoff back to the Belmont 41, and on first down Boyle arched a long pass down field, again intended for Burton.

This time Bellino did intercept, but didn't have time to clamp onto the ball before Burton had stolen the pigskin from over Mike's head and had dashed into the end zone, covering perhaps 10 or 15 yards on the gallop.

Belmont's attempted pass for the extra point was grabbed by the receiver outside the end zone and it was all tied up again.

Early in the last quarter Brink recovered a Belmont fumble at the Belmont 31 for a really important bit of defensive play.

Bellino failed to gain, but Geoghegan advanced to the 26 where a Neville pass fell incomplete. George tried again and this time hit Kit Lawrence who made a pretty catch at the Belmont three. From here Bellino drove hard on a tackle slant into the end zone, and went into the line for the try for the extra two points.

He seemed stopped at the line of scrimmage, but bouncing off to his left, he dove into the end zone for what turned out to be the winning two points.

With little time remaining Winchester forced a Belmont punt and Boyle got off an up and down spiral that carried from his 37 to the Winchester 36. Carter tried to field the ball, but fumbled and the ball bobbled along toward a group of sprinting Belmont boys.

Keene beat the field to the ball, picked it up, and started to run with it. He never did have complete possession of the pigskin, which was jarred from his arms and recovered by Belmont on the Winchester 35.

In three power bucks Wilcinski reached the Winchester 17, from where Kollias found that old weakness in the Winchester left flank and circled into the end zone, running hard and fast.

With the stands quiet Belmont tried to buck for the tying two points, but was stopped short of pay dirt.

Winchester's cheers were still ringing when an offside penalty was called against the Sachems, giving Belmont the ball at the one yard line.

Instead of sending big Wilcinski up the middle, Belmont elected to sweep right for the extra points and obviously was going nowhere when the carrier slipped and was nailed well behind the line. Three plays later the final whistle blew.

Winchester was without its regular center, Morison, hurt in the Reading game. Defensively Brink played his usual sterling game and the tackling of George Neville was outstanding, several times breaking up promising Belmont drives.

Freshman At William Smith

Sandra Lee Slone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hall B. Gamage of 72 Yale Street, has entered William Smith College, Geneva, New York, as a freshman this fall.

Miss Slone was graduated from Winchester High School, where she was a member of the Philosophy Club, and the WHSR Town Crier. Because of Miss Slone's superior performance on entrance requirements and tests, she has been exempted from English A, the first part of the required Freshman English Course.

Driver Education Does Help

Driver Education and Driver Training was started in the secondary schools of the Commonwealth in 1935 under the direction of the late Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Frank A. Goodwin. The program was expdanded by Registrar Rudolph H. King and was recognized on a national level as the best in the country.

In 1949, the question of the value of this type of education and training was raised by automobile dealers, insurance companies, and educators. In 1950, a ten-year research study of the records of young drivers with reference to their involvement in traffic accidents and traffic violations was inaugurated.

Secondary school principals submitted 25,000 names of 16 and 17-year-olds who held a driver's license. Three groups of 500 drivers each were geographically selected from this list and each group contained 100 females and 400 males. The pupils in Group I had no formal driver education or driver training. The pupils in Group II had classroom training only. The pupils in Group III had classroom and behind-the-wheel training.

Registrar Riley reports that the preliminary analysis of the records of accident involvements and violations indicate that the licensees who had completed the classroom and behind-the-wheel training had 47 per cent less involvements than those who were not exposed to any form of driver education and training. The pupils who received the benefit of classroom instruction in driver education had 31 per cent less involvement in traffic accidents and traffic violations than the pupils who received no driver education or training.

S. O. I. Bowling League

Since last week's standings, we still find Boston College in the lead, Yale second and Navy in third position. Harvard has moved up to fourth place from sixth, and Alabama has dropped one notch from fourth.

Georgetown moved up to sixth from eighth, Army moved up two places from ninth position, with Notre Dame moving from fifth to eighth, and seventh-place Bates dropping to ninth. Other teams in the fourteen-team league maintained their same places in the standings.

During the last matches all eyes were focused on the Navy-B. C. rollout. Capt. Choppers Gangi's team took three points away from the leaders, B. C. Choppers had a bad night but was helped tremendously by his last week's low man, Mario Lentine.

Mario was far from low at this last outing, hitting the pins for high scores and getting two strikes and a strike and a spare in his second string.

Frank Gangi of the same Navy team did all right for himself, too, but he had better be careful or he might throw his hip out of joint in that last "trying-to-steer" movement. He smoked a complete cigar in each of the three strings. Not nervous, are you?

Emilio Doucette of Holy Cross had a high night, too, with his newly developed hook ball. He had his teammates biting their fingernails because the ball looked as if it were going in the gutter. But lo and behold, it hooked (not heading for the head pin) and 8 or 9 pins would drop.

Phil Muraco and Max La Carubba of Notre Dame were no slouches in helping their team's victory. Phil hit the century mark for a string with three successive spares and Max scored 11 with four straight spares. Good bowling in any league!

Danny "Snowplow" Mistretta didn't do too well for Army, but he had a good time trying to convince his co-helpers that the alley was crooked.

Then there's Smiley-with-a-cigar-in-his-mouth Frankie Penta, who concentrates on his aim. That last shuffle of the feet is the thing to watch. He kicks his right leg over the left and somehow or other finds his right leg objecting, and pow! he struggles for balance. (I wonder if his brother Larry, who sets this type up, will keep this in the column.)

Duke stopped Navy's Dattilo and Bellino last week end for Navy's first defeat of the season, but there's no stopping Moose Bellino from going ahead. He and Mrs. Moose are the proud parents of a second girl. Moose says "another cheer leader." All of the gang congratulates him and wishes all three the best of health and happiness.

Last week's attendance prize winner was Tony Lentine. He says the next time he is at the club the treats are on him. Think before you say these things, Tony, because we are no small group (84 bowling contestants).

Scholarship For Bakers to Be Awarded Again

Walter E. Sands, president of Sands, Taylor and Wood Co. of Cambridge, has announced that the Sands Memorial Scholarship will again be awarded in 1961.

This Scholarship, a living memorial to Frank E. Sands and Donald P. Sands, has for its purpose the development of leaders in the baking industry. Candidates must be New England residents, between the ages of 20 and 30, who have completed a high school education and are employed in the baking industry.

The Sands Memorial Scholarship provides the means for the winner to attend a leading trade school in the mid-west, so that he will return not only competently trained in the latest phases of baking, but with the proper background to assume the initial obligations and opportunities of leadership in New England baking circles. Manuel Barros of Lowell, 1960 winner, is now attending the American Institute of Baking in Chicago.

Information regarding applying for the 1961 Sands Memorial Scholarship may be obtained by writing to King Arthur, Fawcett Street, Cambridge, Mass.

Harriers 8th In M. C. C. L. Championships

On October 28 the Red and Black runners travelled to the Mt. Hood Country Club in Melrose for the 18-school M C C L championship meet.

Over 300 harriers competed in the two races, and some of the finest running in the state was in evidence before the afternoon was out. The JV race was run first and 263 boys took off over the rugged 2:6-mile course. In the early stages the Winchester runners established good position, but after the 2-mile mark they began to fade and the team had to settle for 5th place. The scorers for the JV's were Phil Gallagher, who ran his best race of the season, taking 11th; Charlie Moncy, 19th; Jim Donohoe, 21st; Ambrose Devaney, 40th; and final scorer was Dave Bird in 44th. These runners gave Winchester a team score of 135 and the 5th position.

The varsity race held true to form as 118 runners vied for early position at the start. The pattern was quickly established as Beverly moved out a solid block of harriers in the first 15. When the race was about the halfway mark Bill Norris of Beverly had a 200-yard lead and he continued to maintain the pace as he sprinted home the winner by over 300 yards in the excellent time of 13:47. His teammates followed closely behind to give Beverly the championship with an amazing low total of 25 points. Only one Winchester runner was able to place in the top 15. Captain Leroy Shea came home in the 12th spot. The other scorers for the varsity were Joe Russo in 26th; Jack Brenner, 43rd; Dean Anderson, 50th; and John Scherban, 53rd.

St. Mary's Mothers' Club

The third meeting of the Mothers' Club will be held at St. Mary's Hall Wednesday evening, November 16, at 8 o'clock, with Mrs. Fred Cause, president, presiding.

At the conclusion of the meeting a special treat is in store for all who attend. A demonstration of fancy Christmas decorations and gift wrapping will be given.

This is a most appropriate time for such a demonstration, with the coming holidays, and should be of great interest to each and every member.

Another added attraction will be a surprise drawing, and the lucky winner will be picked from the audience, in other words, you must be present to have a chance to win. The evening will be brought to a close with refreshments served by the fifth-grade mothers, with Mary Falzano as chairman.

A great deal of time and effort goes into the planning of these meetings for the members of the Mothers' Club, so all are urged to attend and show that they appreciate this work. In turn those attending will be rewarded by a very pleasant, enjoyable, and well-spent evening.

Sachemettes Lose Final Contest

Milton Girls Tripped Winchester

"Rush it, rush it!" If you were one of the spectators who saw the Winchester High School-Milton Academy field hockey game, Friday, November 4, you probably heard such cries often enough. It was the last game of the season and the girls were putting everything they had into it. Milton Academy is one of the biggest rivals the Winchester girls have in both field hockey, and basketball.

Cheers from the spectators, which included parents, and students, as well as both teams, could be heard loud and clear. The game was fast moving. The JayVee team played for fifteen minutes with the score 0-2 in favor of Milton at the half.

Strategy was planned and the Varsity went out for twenty minutes of swift running and hard defense. Edie Clifford of Milton drove a beautiful goal while the Winchester defense worked to 'block that hit." A center bully was taken, and Winchester took possession of the ball and started for the Milton goal.

The cries on the sidelines from both teams were getting frantic as Milton overtook the local girls and started back down toward Winchester's defense. Another stop and it was Winchester's ball. This time, Carol Lawson drove hard and sure and the score was 1-1.

Half time arrived with both teams tied and breathing hard. Nevertheless, the JayVees went on with the assurance of a victory. A few spills were experienced by Milton as the grass was a little damp, but it didn't seem to hinder their playing.

Prentice Johnson and Cindy Hopkins scored consecutive goals. The defensive play of Winchester was good, but Judy Perry slipped by and "pushed" in the last goal of the JayVee game. The girls on the sidelines urged the team on for a goal, but time ran out with the JayVee score, Milton 4, Winchester 0.

It was now time for the Varsity again. They had an even chance with the score tied and they meant to take advantage of it. After the bully both teams seemed to find new strength, and went after the ball as though it was a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Sonny Locke, a good offensive player for Milton, hit a hard fast ball that was helped by another Milton player to be a goal. As the girls lined up for the bully, the Sachemettes could be heard encouraging each other, with tension showing in their faces.

There were some very good passes, stops, and tackles made, all of which seemed to be wasted when Edie Clifford scored again. But, gaining the advantage of a roll in, then a free hit, Winchester still felt the thrill of a possible win.

It was Milton, which was dribbling up the field now, and as both teams rushed for the goal, Winchester on the defensive, Milton on the offensive, Sonny Locke shot a pretty goal. Time ran out and the final score was Milton 4, Winchester 1.

After the game, Milton was invited by the Winchester team to come back to the high school for refreshments. Everyone agreed that it was the best played game of the season, even though Winchester lost. Miss Eleanor Keady, the girls' coach, confirmed the statement and said that the game was "very well done."

Our New Teachers

A series of photographs of and interesting facts about new teachers in the Winchester Schools this fall.

MRS. PETER ACHINSTEIN

Mrs. Peter Achinstein, who is teaching fourth grade at the Wyman School, came to Winchester from the Bowen elementary school in Newton where she was teaching in the Harvard summer program.

Native of Newark, N. J., she calls South Orange, N. J. rather than Newark, her home town. She was graduated from Columbia High School in Maplewood, N. J., in 1955, and got her Bachelor's degree from Wellesley in 1959. She has done graduate work at Harvard and at Oxford University in England and is presently working for her Ed.M. at Harvard.

Mrs. Achinstein listed teaching and painting and sculpture in that order as hobbies and likes Winchester very much. She was married in 1950 and she and her husband live in Cambridge. Mr. Achinstein, with an A.B. and A.M. from Harvard, is a teaching fellow at Harvard and doing research for his Ph.D. in philosophy there.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

The teams at either end of the alleys were cheering something fierce last week.

On alleys 13 and 14 it was caused by the "Blonde Bombshell" Emily Buzzotta who came through with the highest single 114. Her anxiety reached such a peak it is a shame she didn't have a drum to beat on instead of the wall. Seriously though, I thought for a while she was going to climb the wall! Your rhythm wasn't bad at all Emily and your bowling was terrific.

At the other end of the alleys it was Eleanor Lizzotte causing the commotion with a high string of 110. For a while there it was hard to say which one of the two would be the higher.

I think it is pretty wonderful for a girl who finds it difficult to maintain a high average to make an about face and come through with such high scores. You will find that up till now, three of the highest single strings were bowled by girls who were not on the highest average list. These girls are Eleanor Lizzotte, Gerry Buzzotta, and Emily Buzzotta with scores of 110, 111, and 114, respectively. There you are the rest of you who find it difficult it's still anybody's game.

Did you give a listen to the whistler in blue jeans on the Garnets? It's ritual now that whenever a bowler around her gets a strike, she come forth with a whistle that is quite rare. That's quite a toot, Lindy!

Something interesting to note is that the two highest teams and the two lowest teams bowled against each other last week.

Those determined Diamonds are ahead so far, for out bowling the Cameos 3 to 1. The Cameos are still in there pitching and haven't called quits yet.

The two lowest teams, the Emeralds and the Garnets held their own by splitting 2 and 2. It would be something to see the Garnets and Emeralds in the top contention next third. Could be they just went thru a practice run and will show their true strength the next third? Well good luck, anyway.

I hear tell Hilda carried the ball for her captain by bowling in the 70s. There you are Hilda, you can do it after all!

Gerry, I regret to say last week's article (for some unknown reason) was not printed in its entirety. I did have more to say about your bowling "form" and the "blissful condition" which didn't prevent you from bowling a good score.

By the way girls don't forget to support the "cabaret dance" Saturday night which is being held to help defray the expenses for the children's Christmas Party.

Marie Santoro held the lucky number this week thanks to her teammate Terry.

C. C. Team Closes Season With Third In State Meet

Saturday, November 5, marked the close of the season for the 1960 harriers and more significantly marked the end of the longest winning streak in the history of the state cross country meet. The Red and Black runners won the Class D title in 1954 and in 1955 moved to Class C, and from 1955 through 1959 were the title holders—a total of six consecutive championships.

The trail ended for Winchester on Saturday as an excellent Randolph team posted a fine victory with the low total of 37 points. The local team ran well but the team as a whole raced too far down to keep the victory string intact. St. John's Prep of Danvers, one of the favorites, took the runner-up honors with 72 and Winchester was third with 89.

Over 120 runners faced the starter's gun, and in the early stages of the race it appeared that the Red and Black might again rally for another championship. However, their staying power was not sufficient and the finishing kick so characteristic of past teams was lacking.

Leroy Shea of the home club continued to be the top runner as he took one of the medal positions in 9th. Other Winchester runners placed well but not quite high enough. The other nine runners finished as follows:

14. Russo
19. Brenner
23. Johnson
24. Anderson
26. Dee
27. Schcerban
30. Bird
31. Gay
32. Mead

Team Scores:

1.	Randolph	37
2.	St. John's	72
3.	Winchester	89
4.	Archbishop Williams	110
5.	Wachusetts Regional	172
6.	Reading	175
7.	Billerica	200

Bagged Buck And Doe

Thomas J. Drapeau, supervisor of buildings and grounds for the School Department, and Mrs. Drapeau returned last week from a 900-mile vacation trip to Port Hood, Cape Breton, N. S., where they stopped at the home of Mrs. Drapeau's brother, Hugh McIsaac, and visited many other relatives and friends.

"Tom" is an enthusiastic hunter and always arranges his vacation in the fall so that he can take advantage of the deer country around Cape Breton. This year he had exceptionally good luck, bagging a 175-pound buck and a 145-pound doe.

Naturally "Tom" talked shop while at Cape Breton, discussing and comparing the school system there with ours in Winchester. He and Mrs. Drapeau left Winchester for Cape Breton October 14, and made the trip in 2½ days.

Good Cast Heads Players' "Mary Stuart"

With an excellent cast that includes Rosalind Lynch, Marian Blake, Wesley Mallery, Woodford Wilcox, John McLellan and Lawrence Smith, the Parish Players will open their first production of their 35th year with "Mary Stuart" November 17, 18 and 19. The play will be given on the stage of Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church, with Harlan F. Grant directing.

Doris Stone enacts the role of Hannah, with Mrs. Blake as Mary Stuart, while Mrs. Lynch, as the arrogant, regal Elizabeth, has in her English court George Connor as Burleigh; Henry Fitts as the French ambassador; Leon Blanchard as Lord Paulet, guardian of the Stuarts; Jerry Rosen, Mortimer, Mr. Wilcox as the generous Shrewsbury, Mr. Smith as the sincere secretary of state, Davison.

Mr. McLellan holds the very exacting role of Sir Melvil, the friend of Mary Stuart and her confessor. Donald Moffett doubles as a guardsman and as O'Kelly; Robert Erickson as the guard, and Larry Archibald as the Page to Queen Elizabeth's court.

With Rev. Wesley Mallery as Dudley, the Earl of Leicester, the cast which the Players have assembled for their audiences is an impressive one. David Rush has designed the sets, and George H. Gowdy and his able crew have built them. Margaret Hodgson and Joanne Eklund are in charge of the settings, with Marjorie McGaw and Martha Jane Moffett, properties, Elva Raphael, costumes. The tricky lighting effects, so vital to this play have been created by Kimball H. Spencer. Stage manager is Harriett Connor.

Tickets for all performances are reserved, and may be secured by calling Mrs. George H. Gowdy, PA 9-2728. Special student rates are available for the Thursday evening performance, with a warm invitation extended by the Players to all young people who would find this historical play interesting, and background material for studies.

The version which the Players are doing is the famed Schiller "Maria Stuart," with careful translation by Goldstone and Reich. The Players feel that audiences will thoroughly enjoy the settings, the costumes, the pageantry of 16th century England—when a red-haired daughter of Henry VIII was both King and Queen of England—and when the Queen of Scotland threatened that throne, took a firm stand.

Dear friends,

A lady told us recently that she had never fully realized the meaning of flowers at a funeral until she had experienced the loss of a loved one. The floral cards, she said, are still her treasured possession - a remembrance of those who expressed sympathy in this beautiful way.

Floral expressions add beauty and comfort that cannot be measured.

Respectfully,

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club

The members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club met last Friday evening, November 4, in St. Mary's Hall. Fr. Turke opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer which was followed by a very interesting talk on Catholic Action, the separation of state and church, by Mr. Sam Reid. The door prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nastasi.

After a short business discussion, prseident John Smith turned the meeting over to Paul and Madelyn Planchet, professional make-up artists, who in turn chose seven people from the audience to be made up as characters of history, fantasy and the comics. Those chosen and the characters they portrayed were:

Oscar Baerenwald — Keystone Cop
Sam Reid—Bugs Bunny
Andy Bubser—Baby Boy
George Fiske — Cerano de Bergerac
Sal Freddura—Cleopatra
Fran Capodilupo—Mrs. America of 1961
Norma Sykes—Mammy Yokum

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses who did an excellent job both with desserts and decorations. Members chose a number on entering the hall and then proceeded to the table of the same number where they met many new faces. The following acted as hostesses for the evening:

Dr. Howard and Mary Leary
George and Anne Harris
Greg and Marion Sacca
Ronald and Dorothy O'Hanley
Dr. Amos and Helen Guarante
John and Elinor Reppucci
Joe and Rita Collins
Arthur and Mary Wilson

V. F. W. Activity

It is important that all members of Aberjona Post, 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars assemble in front of the American Legion Home on Vine Street, Friday morning at 10:30 a.m.

At 10:45 members of the Legion, Italian-American Veterans, Disabled Vets, Marine Corps and Veterans of Foreign Wars will march to the War Memorial at the Junior High School to observe Veterans' Day exercises. It is also urged that all service men, not members of the above named organizations, to take part.

Several members and their wives attended the Middlesex County Council banquet which was held at the James A. Logan Post in Somerville this past Saturday evening. Albert E. Thorne, Jr., a past commander of the local Post and who is now serving a term of Middlesex County Commander was honorary chairman of the committee. William F. Cogan of the Woburn Post was toastmaster for the evening festivities.

On Tuesday evening, November 15, there will be a gala spaghetti dinner served at the Post Home on White Street which is open to the public. Inasmuch as the meal is to be served from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m. we feel that this is a wonderful opportunity to bring the children and by the same token get them home early enough for their studies and to bed. Past Commander Ralph Fiore is chairman of the committee.

Winchester Historical Society

On Thursday evening, November 4, the Winchester Historical Society met in the Rich Room at the Winchester Library to hear Mr. Richard F. Lufkin of West Medford give his lecture "Abraham Lincoln in Boston," and see slides pertaining to the little-known story of Mr. Lincoln's two visits to Boston and surrounding cities and towns. Much of the material came from letters written many years ago to his son Robert, and only made public a few years ago.

Mr. Lufkin heads his company of engineers, draftsmen, artists, and cartographers, and some of the slides were sketches and maps made in his offices. There were slides made from old photographs, several showing Mr. Lincoln (without a beard) in his well-cut clothes in the style of his day.

Abraham Lincoln made two visits to New England, the first after he came from Illinois to speak at Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's church in Brooklyn. He was so popular that he had to speak in a large hall in New York City. He had an urgent invitation to speak in Boston, which he did, and it was then that he was first suggested as a possible presidential candidate. From Boston he went to as many cities and towns as time permitted.

The second time was principally to see his son Robert, who was studying at Exeter, preparing for college and a successful law career, and eventually going to the Court of St. James.

In both visits Abraham Lincoln was a most sought-after and honored guest in the finest homes and was much in demand as a speaker everywhere.

In all it was a most interesting and informative evening, as Mr. Lufkin presented his subject in a most pleasing manner. He is most qualified, being president of the Bostonian Society, director of Bay State Historical League, curator of the Medford Historical, and officer in many other historical and patriotic societies.

Remember When?

The picture that appeared in this feature two weeks ago was of the first ambulance in Winchester, a prviately owned affair, the property of Kelley & Hawes. Drawn by a pair of horses, it resembled a hack when not being used as an ambulance.

When used for transporting sick persons an ingenious inside adjustment provided a cot-shaped arrangement long enough to permit the passenger to recline fully.

Identified in the picture positively is Daniel Kelley facing the camera with long coat and derby. The man assisting him with the stretcher is not known. We are indebted to Mr. E. B. Badger of Osterville for identification of the coachman.

Mr. Badger believes the man on the box is "Jim" Murphy, who later worked for his father and himself as a coachman and chauffeur. Subsequent opinions leads the Star to believe Mr. Badger is correct. The picture was taken on Vine Street near the home of Thurston Hall, for many years an actor on the stage an in motion pictures.

Juvenile

The Citizenship Training Group Director, Mr. Maglio, believes that "lack of training in the fundamental qualities of good citizenship and good manhood," is frequently the cause of juvenile crime. Delinquent boys, he suggests, "are neither vicious, nor pathological—simply untrained."

Home Is Key

Juvenile crime authority Dr. Richard Vincent McCann of Andover Newton Theological Seminary believes that lack of stable home relationships is the key to juvenile delinquency.

A boy becomes delinquent, Dr. McCann says, when he finds no admired adults on whom to model his life, or when his self-esteem is so low that he seeks social recognition in violent acts.

Dr. McCann believes that a delinquent's hostility toward his parents is the source of his general attitude toward society, toward all authority. The recognition denied him at home is thus achieved in anti-social acts, or in his gang where status is reciprocally conferred by equally disturbed individuals.

Who's At Fault?

Who is at fault, Dr. McCann asks, when an illegitimate boy becomes delinquent?

Is it surprising that so many juveniles steal cars in a society in which social status is thought to depend on the kind of car one owns?

Again, if the high-pressured advertiser convinces a young girl that all she has to do to become "popular" is to own a cashmere sweater, it is a short step in the life of a disturbed child to steal a cashmere sweater.

In a sense, Dr. McCann believes, the delinquent's failures are simply a reflection of the failure of his family and his society. The task, he says, is clear. Our main interest should not be in punishing those youngsters who go wrong, but rather in helping those who have, and generally in encouraging social conditions that discourage juvenile crime. Discipline, he believes, must be balanced by compassion. Accusation must be balanced by parental self-analysis.

Here is the statistical six-month breakdown on Winchester's juvenile crime:

The Massachusetts Executive Committee for School Television has been appointed by the Board of Education to administer and coordinate this project in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Eastern Massachusetts Council for School Television is a representative body of over one hundred school systems and educational agencies participating in "The 21" Classroom. The Operations Committee of the Eastern Massachusetts Council for School Television is the group which determines the content of the programs presented.

Because of time conflicts and limited facilities, more teachers are unable to use this medium. However, for those students who cannot view the program during school the same presentation may be seen at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 2.

Senior Forum

The Senior Forum chapel service this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. at the First Congregational Church will have as speaker Dr. Donald T. Rowlingson, professor of New Testament Literature at Boston University School of Theology. Dr. Rowlingson is a resident of Winchester and a member of First Church. He has chosen as his topic: "Growing Toward God: Through Athletics."

A graduate of Allegheny College lege and Boston University, Dr Rowlingson also studied at the University of Berlin. His teaching career has been devoted to colleges and seminaries with teaching positions held at Allegheny, and Emory University prior to his coming to Boston University where he has taught since 1950.

The father of two daughters and a son, Dr. Rowlingson knows young people well. His visit to Forum will afford opportunity for another look at their theme of the year "Growing Toward God."

Bucky Nichols and Steve Morison will serve as chaplains with Paul Johnian and Roger Newton acting as deacons and Bud Sundberg and Tom Hinston as ushers.

The Service Projects Committee with Bob Niles and Natalie Palmer as co-chairmen have begun some work to assist the Boston City Missionary Society. Forum as a whole will be able to cooperate in helping the Society through the annual Thanksgiving project of food contributions.

Mrs. Wilson has exhibited in the Boston Flower Show for the past ten years and has won many awards. For twenty years Mrs. Wilson has lectured in New York, New Jersey, and New England. Her keen sense of humor, her artistic ability, and her practical demonstration of what can easily be made for the home, makes her one of the most popular of Garden Club speakers.

Mrs. Wilson is also a popular interior decorator, and has recently married Carl Goddard, the well-known wood sculptor.

Materials will be available at the meeting for making Thanksgiving arrangements. Driftwood, bittersweet, cones, waxed gourds, pheasants will be among the materials on sale, also corsages made by Mrs. Richard Frazier and Mrs. George Lemay.

Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge and Mrs. John Wills are keeping the Winchester Library and the hospital at Bedford nicely decorated with floral arrangements. Mrs. Edward Mansfield and Mrs. Frank Robinson are preparing gay Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets of fruits and flowers for the Home for the Aged.

Aitken brought distinction to the club by winning third prize in the Sears and Roebuck competition for Garden Clubs. It was the planning of plantings for islands in a new shopping center. It was especially significant since professionals were also allowed to enter the competition.

A dessert for this November meeting will be served by Mrs. Hazen Ayer and her committee at 1:30 p.m.

Writes Christmas Seal Letters

Mrs. Russell Searles of Somerville, a patient at the Middlesex Sanatorium and chairman of the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association Christmas Seal campaign, soon will be sending Christmas Seal letters to residents of the County on behalf of all tuberculosis patients.

MRS. RUSSELL SEARLES

Mrs. Searles, mother of two young children will not be with her family during the coming Yule season, but she is thankful her case was discovered early, as she says, "It won't be too long before I'm home again." The annual one time Christmas Seal campaign begins in Middlesex County on Monday, November 14.

Marycliff Bazaar

The annual bazaar of Marycliff Academy Guild will take place at Marycliff Academy on High Street Tuesday, November 15, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. The bazaar will offer many festival attractions for all ages.

Highlight of the day will be the tea room serving from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Luncheon will be served from 12 noon to 2 p.m., and supper at 5:30 and 6:30.

Chairman of the bazaar is Mrs. William Moynihan of Arlington. Co-chairman is Mrs. Timothy Hennigan of Woburn.

Chairman of the tables from Winchester are Mrs. Frank Inserra, food and cakes; Mrs. Albert Maiocco, Christmas cards; Mrs. Andrew Bubser, Jr., and Mrs. Herbert Lord, handicrafts; Mrs. Joseph Collins, religious; Mrs. William McBain, special drawing; and Mrs. Frank P. Maselli, publicity.

Duplicate Bridge Club

There was lots of excitement at the K. of C. Hall on Wednesday, November 2nd, as the Duplicate Bridge Club tried an individual movement for the first time. In this type of event, each contestant is paired up with a different partner on each hand played during the evening.

The event provided for 28 players to complete 20 boards for an average score of 63. Bridge experts are sharply divided on the issue of whether an individual movement is mostly luck or whether it represents one of the most accurate yardsticks of a player's true skill. Perhaps the truth lies somewhere in between.

In any case, the sparks were really flying for a while. In defending against a no trump contract, one player couldn't get his partner to lead the right suit, so he discarded his diamond Ace and then his King to complete a most unusual "high-low" signal. On the final board, one strategist decided to make a non-vulnerable sacrifice bid to prevent opponents from reaching a vulnerable slam. He went down eight tricks doubled, giving up more points than the slam was worth, only to find out that the slam could not have been made anyway!

When the smoke cleared and the results tabulated, one of the top finishers confessed: "I owe it all to my mother-in-law, who made me realize that I had to learn to get along with all kinds of characters." Among the disillusioned was one who confided: "I played brilliantly, but I never got any good partners." The top ten finishers were:

Betty Olive	87½
Richard Smith	83
Nelson Bell	80½
June Reading	75
Greta Hawley	72½
Gloria Butterfield	70½
Blair Hawley	70
Barbara Hichborn	68½
Priscilla Harris	68
Lolly Smith	67

Section B was run as a nine table Mitchell, also carrying an average score of 63. The magic number for victory turned out to be 77 in both fields.

North-South—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sittinger, 77; Esther Davis and Eleanor Sweet, 73½; Janie Gantt and Ernest Pinson, 66½; J. Benoit and G. Benoit, 66.

East-West—Philippa Young and Jerry Wadleigh, 77; Chester Davis and George Sweet, 77; Jean Roundey and Maude Flanders, 71½; Jo Dingwell and Bess Tucker, 63.

Graduates From Officers' Training School

Officer John P. Farrell, a member of the Winchester Police Department, graduated Friday, November 4, from Local Police Officers Training School in Framingham. Graduation exercises were held at the Framingham State Police Barracks, where the school sessions are held, with a reception following at Framingham State Teachers College.

OFFICER JOHN FARRELL

Officer Farrell has been attending sessions at the school for the past month, instruction covering all phases of Police work, law, gunnery, first aid, investigation, and many others.

Selected by the Board of Selectmen to attend the school, there were representatives of the Board at the graduation with Chief Joseph J. Derro, Officer Farrell's parents, Police Sergeant and Mrs. James E. Farrell and the young officer's wife, the former Mary Lou Binding of this town.

Officer Farrell graduated from Winchester High School in 1952 and was the playmaker on the school's great New England championship basketball team of that year. He attended Boston University and has played a lot of club basketball since leaving school, principally in Woburn.

He and his wife and their two children live on James Street. He returned to duty in the center Monday of this week.

Winchester Man National Hobby Winner

Named this week as one of country's sixty winners in a nationwide hobby contest sponsored by a leading manufacturer of hobby tools and crafts is Mr. Wayne Anderson of 34 Mystic Avenue.

He will receive an X-acto No. 85 DeLuxe Knife and Tool Set for his winning entry submitted through Winchester Hobby Shop, 43 Thompson Street.

The Silver Anniversary contest is sponsored by X-acto, Inc., Long Island City, N. Y., leading producer of hobby tools and crafts, including the famed X-acto hobby knife. The firm this year celebrates its 25th year, a quarter century in which its hobby tools have gained wide use throughout the Free World.

The contest continues throughout the remainder of 1960 with additional prizes to be awarded on a monthly basis. Open to hobbyists young and old, the contest has as its objective the encouragement of greater craft skills among Americans.

The contest's only entry requirement is completing an X-acto entry blank obtained at one of the thousands of participating local hobby shops. Winners are selected in X-acto Hobby Headquarters, N. Y.

Each entrant, in addition to becoming eligible for one of ten valuable prizes, receives a special X-acto blade caddy designed to hold replaceable cutting blades during craft work. Presented free, the caddy is X-acto's Silver Anniversary gift to all contestants.

Finger In The Pie

Coo, Caw, Neigh and Purr

Not long ago we had occasion to list some of the many and various words in our language describing animals or humans in groups. We found them infinitely picturesque and fascinating. Now we want to call to your attention words describing the sounds they make, equally amazing in their variety. Onomatopoeia is, we believe, the technical term. But don't let it frighten you — the words themselves are simple and expressive.

We commonly say that hyenas laugh, that frogs croak, that doves and pigeons coo, that eagles scream and that cows moo or low. We naturally think of crows when we hear the word caw, and cats are associated with the words mew and purr. Horses either whinny or neigh, while donkeys and burrows either bray or hee-haw.

Turkeys gobble, wolves howl, swallows twitter and bulls bellow. Bees are associated with humming, as are, of course, tiny humming birds. Sheep either bleat or baa, while snakes hiss and sparrows chirp. Owls hoot or screech, while monkeys either chatter or gibber and lions and tigers roar or bellow. Magpies and blue jays are said to chatter, while parrots talk and ravens croak.

Pigs either grunt or squeal, while mice also are said to squeal and oxen all low. Dogs bark or howl or yelp or, at times, bay, probably at the moon. Peacocks scream, while geese cackle or hiss, and cocks crow or cock-a-doodle-do.

Chickens when quite small are said to peep or cheep, then as they grow older they cluck or cackle or crow, as the case may be. We say that calves bleat, and sometimes apply the word to lambs, along with their more familiar baa. We attach the word drumming to grouse and honk to wild geese, and bears growl, while flies and mosquitoes buzz.

Most of our so-called "dumb animals" have specific sounds associated with them, and therefore are "not so dumb" after all.

Quite a bit worse
Than a storm or a riot
Is a bunch of kids
Who are suddenly quiet!

FREEDOM

You cannot say what freedom is, perhaps, in a single sentence. It is not necessary to define it. It is enough to point to it.

Freedom is a man lifting a gate latch at dusk and sitting for a while on the porch, smoking his pipe, before he goes to bed.

It is the violence of an argument outside an election poll; it is the righteous anger of the pulpits.

It is the warm laughter of a girl on a park bench.

It is the rush of a train over the continent and the unafraid faces of people looking out the windows.

It is all the 'howdys' in the world, and all the 'hellos.'

It is you trying to remember the words of the Star-Spangled Banner.

It is the sea breaking on wide sands somewhere and the shoulders of a mountain supporting the sky.

It is the air you fill your lungs with and the dirt that is your garden.

It is a man cussing all cops.

It is the absence of apprehension at the sound of aproaching footsteps outside your closed door.

It is your hot resentment of intrigue, the tilt of your chin, and the sometimes tightening of your lips.

It is all the things you do and want to keep on doing.

It is all the things you feel and cannot help feeling.

Freedom — it is you.

—Hazel Parker

Us Humans

A friend of ours amused himself one sultry day last summer by sending telegrams to twenty acquaintances selected at random, each message containing the one word, "Congratulations." So far as he knew, not one of these individuals had done anything in particular to be congratulated upon. But each victim took the message as a matter of course and wrote him a letter of thanks. Every one of them had done something that he himself regarded as worthy of a congratulatory telegram!

—Fred C. Kelly
The Wisdom of Laziness

Seventeen million Americans wouldn't go to bed hungry every night if they'd stop dieting.

The supreme luxury of life is sympathetic companionship.

I can imagine no more comfortable frame of mind for the conduct of life than a humorous resignation.

—Somerset Maugham

A Winchester Idyl

(with profuse apologies to
"Old Man River")

Dere's an ol' crick called de Aberjona,
Never seem much lak' a river to me!
Dey pick him up where he use to travel,
Now mo' lak' a ditch he 'pears to be!
Aberjona,
Ol' Aberjona,
He mus' know sumpin,
He don' say nuthin',
He jes' keeps oozin',
He keeps on oozin' along.
He don' plant taters.
He don' plant cotton,
But man! his odor
Am bes' forgotten!
Ol' Aberjona,
He jes' keeps oozin' along.
Too foul to swim in,
Too wide to straddle,
Too tough to look at,
Too thick to paddle;
Ol' rip-rappin'
Six foot long,
Never did stay
Where hit belong.
Turtles choke,
While frogs am tryin'
To swim in de muck,
An' de fish am dyin'.
Hol' yo' nose,
An' turn yo' face,
Yo'll soon be past
Dat awful place!
But Aberjona,
Ol' Aberjona
He don' say nuthin'
He jes' keeps oozin' along!

AND WHAT ARE YOUR NUMBERS, GIRLS? Telephone company float in the big Halloween parade in Woburn. Republican Motorcade

The Republican Motorcade on Saturday was the largest in Winchester's recent history. Well over 100 cars decorated with streamers and posters of the various candidates toured the town for nearly two hours. The "Very Young Republican" band organized by John Totman included Porter Mulford, Dick Clark, Peter Hessler, Jeff Strout, Jon Moody, and Bob Jones and led the parade with their excellent playing of several marches.

Following the band riding in a large open truck, were several "Volpe" decorated cars and a float.

Among candidates participating were Gardner B. Wardwell, candidate for State Auditor; Carleton Leavitt, candidate for County Commissioner; and Mr. O'Donoghue, candidate for County Treasurer. The cavalcade stopped at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Volpe, who graciously greeted the cheering crowd. John signed numerous autographs for the children who accompanied their parents and said a few words.

The motorcade sponsored by the Winchester Republican Town Committee was organized by committee members, Jason Dade, Dick Knight, John Lyman and Dave Wardwell. Mrs. Anthony Derro and Mrs. Clara Roberto gave a great assist in enlisting cars and drivers.

Motorcade jottings: Ralph Bonnell, Sr., with a big smile, Cyn Barone got lost, Charlotte Greer in her sports car, several mothers with their youngsters in convertibles with the top down, Bob Wild and his jeep, a terrific job of Police control under the direction of Chief Derro and Sergeant Elliott.

The next meeting of the Republican Town Committee is November 15 in the East Room of the Town Hall.

Who pays

FOR COLLEGE DAYS?

In most families, it's a two-way effort. Parents make up the difference between the total cost and the amount a son or daughter is able to earn. But sometimes there still isn't enough ready cash on hand.

That's where we come in...by arranging loans to finance children's education at modest bank rates. Prompt, friendly, helpful!

"Queensmen's Quill"

We would like to thank all our friends for attending the Hallowe'en parade in Woburn. We are very grateful for the rounds of applause we were given along the line of march. Many other top drum corps participated in this parade which was one of the finest in which we have participated.

Sunday, October 30, the Queensmen were entered in an invitational standstill competition at the Boston Arena. The corps came in second with a score of 88.3, losing by one point and three tenths to St. Catherine's of Norwood. Our drum major, "Skipper" Crowe, was selected as the best drum major of all the corps present and was presented a trophy.

In this article we would like to introduce you to the instructors of the new Junior Corps and the Drill Team. Teaching the buglers and the marching is John F. Brown of Wakefield, an ex-Princeman and former instructor of the Statesmen Drum and Bugle Corps of Everett.

Instructing on drums is Thomas J. Sellen of Charlestown, a member and instructor of the Thunderbirds, a quickly rising senior corps. The drill team is now being taught by James Surette of Braintree, a member and now instructor of the Princemen.

The drill team has formed a club called the "Queens Cadettes" for the purpose of raising funds and to provide further activities for the unit. Rosemarie Chambers is president, Kathy Collins is secretary, and Pam DiLorenzo is treasurer.

The girls conducted a cake sale last Sunday at the Immaculate Conception School Hall. Many delicious food articles were sold and a decorated cake was raffled off. Doughnuts and coffee were served throughout the morning.

Carol Trocki, Rosemarie Chambers, Roberta Hackett, Nancy O'Connor, Barbara Lancelotta, Mary Cahill, and Lorraine Fratus will represent the drill team in an exhibition in a minstrel show in St. Margaret's Hall in Burlington on the evenings of November 10 and 11. The Queensmen Drum Quartet consisting of Paul Stevenson, John Horn, Jackie Sullivan, and Bob Gillotte will accompany them.

As We Go Marching

This Friday, the Queensmen will participate in the Veterans' Day parade in Woburn. This parade is in the morning and the Queensmen will give their best performance, to make you, our readers, our followers.

"Double Door" Presented By Unitarian Players

In presenting "Double Door," the Unitarian Players scored another hit. Filled with suspense from the start, the mood was sustained throughout the entire performance. The time of the play was the year 1938, and even the appearance of the dresses of the period did not detract from the atmosphere.

The director, Jay Sibley deserves a lot of credit. The assembled cast and crew worked beautifully together, showing excellent team work. This is difficult, especially in a play of this sort, where it would be so easy for any one of a group of actors to emerge as the star.

There was no star. It would be impossible to select any one member of the cast as the best performer. Suffice it to say that so involved did the audience become that on several occasions people instinctively wailed, "Look Out! Don't go in there!" Naturally this resulted in nervous giggles from viewers who could no longer stand the strain. The tribute to cast and director was sincere.

From now until December 31, all Registry personnel will continue working at high speed handling registration applications to make it possible for everyone to have their 1961 registration plates on time.

In addition, we are required daily to process 4,500 license renewal applications. The personnel assigned to this duty at Registry Headquarters could otherwise devote their time to issuing certificates of registration for 1961.

If you receive your license renewal application between now and January one, take it to the Registry branch office nearest you and renew it over the counter.

I am confident you will cooperate during this emergency.

Our Youth Problem - 3

Should Winchester Build Youth Center?

(This is the third in a series of four Star feature stories on juvenile delinquency in Winchester.)

In two previous articles in this special series, the Star has reviewed Winchester's admittedly serious youth problem.

It was pointed out, for example, that 120 juvenile crimes had been committed in this distinguished residential suburb within the last six months alone. It was noted, too, that 84 of these crimes were committed by youths 15-years-of-age or under.

We cited the teenage housebreaks of recent weeks. We lamented teenage beer-drinking and rowdyism on the Common. And just last week we reported at least twelve manhole covers removed in the Symmes Corner area by incredibly irresponsible vandals, posing a very grave danger to children, pedestrians and autoists in the area.

This is the situation. It's serious. And Chief Derro is clearly doing all he can to correct it.

ACCENTUATE POSITIVE

But what can WE do, as a Town, as parents, as residents proud of what is unquestionably one of the finest Towns in New England? What can we do about our youth problem to keep Winchester the kind of place to live we want it to be?

Is it enough to mutter menacingly about "young people today not being what they used to be?"

Is it enough to insist that all these "hoodlums" need is a swift kick, a stout paddling, a year in reform school, or hard work on the farm to keep them off the Common and away from the backdoors of unoccupied homes?

What can we do positively, first to correct an increasingly bad situation, and second to prevent its becoming worse?

YOUTH CENTER

When asked this question most Winchester people contacted suggested a "youth center," generally defined as an organized program of good clean fun to occupy the young mind whose idleness begets the devil's workshop.

And, many people add with emphasis, this youth center would be a good idea even if we had no youth problem. It is not just a form of therapy. It is a needed and healthy form of exercise to be commended to all youths.

ORGANIZATION

Just what IS a youth center? How is it organized? How successful has the concept proved to be in actual practice?

In one nearby town, rather comparable in character to Winchester, the youth center is a going concern, with an official enrollment of some 3100 youngsters of whom about 700 are active members.

Their youth center houses a gymnasium, swimming pool, and bowling alley. It offers boys' programs in judo, boxing, basketball, physical fitness and it sponsors various group games. It provides comparable activities for girls.

An unusual lecture on Diamonds will be presented at Winchester High School today, November 17, at 2:30 p.m. in the Music Room. Gladys Babson Hannaford will speak to geology students and to the Science Club with a special invitation to parents.

Mrs. Hannaford is a trained speaker of broad professional experience, who is also a recognized diamond authority. She knows diamonds from the inside of the industry through work with cutters, wholesalers and retailers, and she has made the most intensive examination of the South African mines ever made by a woman. Her work is recognized by industrial and academic leaders alike.

The lecture will be illustrated with "Blue Ground," samples of the rock formation in which diamonds are found, taken from a "pipe mine" near Kimberley, South Africa; Rough Diamonds, a selection of uncut stones showing their formation and appearance when first taken from the earth; Polished Gem Diamonds, a fascinating exhibit showing the effect of the cutter's art in various styles on diamonds of different weights; Replicas of Famous Diamonds, scale models, as used in the best equipped museums, showing diamonds that have made history; and Industrial Diamonds and Diamond Tools, industrial diamond rough, diamond dust for abrasive work, and diamond tools used in industry. The lecture will conclude with a 16mm color motion picture film giving the audience a complete visualization of diamond mining in Africa.

Miss Helen Skornik, teacher at Winchester High School, has arranged this unusual lecture to be presented without charge as a means of disseminating information about diamonds, their origin, sentiment, tradition ad use.

Martin's prize also includes an appearance on the Gene Jones Sunday evening TV show where he will have an opportunity to share $2600 in bonds.

Watch Out For Tree Work Solicitors

Another good reason to patronize local merchants and firms was offered by Police Chief Derro this week. For some time now, the Chief told the Star, a certain man has been soliciting "tree work" from door to door in Winchester.

If any such person solicits at your door, the Chief urged, please contact Winchester police immediately.

Democrats Assess Campaign Victory, Expect Visit Here by Ray Crimmins

With the campaign a matter of history, the Democratic Town Committee will meet soon to discuss the success of our efforts and the good times we have enjoyed along the way.

"Also, the many new friends we have made here in town will be a subject for reminiscence as we formulate plans for a progressive future.

"It is hoped that we may have for a special guest at one of our meetings in the very near future Joseph Ray Crimmins, who is starting his third term as a member of the Governor's Council. Ray is very popular in this district and has a keen grasp of the duties and accomplishments of the Council.

"Each month, as it rolls around, will see a special guest, chosen each time from the prominent Democratic officials in our State."

Football Victory Ball

Members of Winchester and Woburn High School student bodies will gather Thanksgiving Night at the Winchester High School gymnasium for the 24th annual post-football game Victory Ball sponsored by McCormack's Apothecary.

There will be dancing from 8 until 11:45 to the strains of Al Ayer and his band and colorful decorations will provide an attractive setting for the party, given each year to cement friendly relations between the two schools.

During intermission the usual game trophies will be presented. These include the Charles T. Foley Memorial Trophies, going to the outsanding Woburn back and lineman in the Thanksgiving Winchester-Woburn game; the Hevey Trophy going to the best Winchester lineman in the game and the McCormack Trophy going to the best Winchester back.

To Welcome Governor-Elect Home

Governor-elect and Mrs. John Volpe, who have been vacationing in Florida since the election, are returning to Winchester Sunday, being scheduled to arrive at the Logan Airport at 12:30.

A group of friends are planning to meet him at the airport and upon his arrival in Winchester about 1:15, it is hoped he can be induced to go to the Common to be greeted by his Winchester friends and extended a welcome home as the third Winchester man to be elected Governor, the others being Edward Everett and Samuel Walker McCall.

Veterans Observed November 11

Veterans' Day was observed by Winchester's Veterans' Posts last Friday forenoon with exercises at the War Memorial Statue on the Junior High School lot at the traditional hour of 11.

Officers of Winchester Legion, Aberjona Post, V.F.W.; Italian American Veterans Post and Marine Veterans marched from the Legion headquarters on Vine Street to the memorial, and as the town hall clock chimed eleven, Commander Walter Appleton of the Legion and Commander Thomas Cogan of the V.F.W. placed a wreath at the foot of the statue.

With the colors dipped, the color guards at present arms and the remaining veterans at salute Jerry Kronberg, hidden in the trees, behind the statue played taps and then echo taps.

As the last sad sweet note died away the veterans formed ranks and left the statue to return to the Legion Headquarters. The pitifully few civilians at the ceremony departed for home and another Veterans' Day observance was over.

U. F. Past Half-Way Mark

United Fund efforts in Winchester are well past the half-way mark. The town's quota is $25,000. Last official count by the local UF committee shows 52 per cent of that sum has been donated. At a report meeting scheduled for tonight (Thursday) in the Red Cross Building, the 75 per cent mark is expected to be achieved.

Early this week, residential solicitations in Precincts 3, 4 and 5 reported coverage more than 60 per cent completed. Precinct 3 reported 80 per cent returns. Precincts 1, 2 and 6 were approaching mid-point in their efforts. Solicitations are continuing in all areas.

The local committee's residential division covers the largest area and the greater number of people. It also has the largest group of volunteers. Workers in this division serve residents who do not have opportunity to give to the United Fund at a place of employment as well as many who live and work in town.

Donations from business firms are coming in steadily. Clubs and organizations that usually vote donations at monthly business meetings are always slower to come in, but indications are that the majority of these groups will make generous gifts to this community effort.

"Solicitations will continue," according to Herbert Bixler, Winchester campaign chairman, "until every Winchester resident, business club and organization has been heard from. Division chairmen, captains and solicitors have set complete coverage of the town as their goal.

"Our volunteer workers have already given countless hours of their time, putting drive into this year's United Fund Drive. It is their intention to make sure everyone has this opportunity to contribute to the 288 United Fund agencies in this annual effort that eliminates scores of smaller fund raising campaigns."

Each Class Acts Out Own Drama

W. H. S. Presents One-Act Plays Friday

On Friday evening, November 18th, the curtain rises on Winchester High School's annual One-Act Play Night featuring a one-act play by each class. The production, sponsored by the Curtain and Cue Society, will be presented in the high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the door for the general public and for Curtain and Cue members.

This year three excellent plays with a wide array of casts have been scheduled. The sophomore play "Comin' Round the Mountain" is a light comedy about a small hillbilly town. Many complications arise as the sheriff, "Dynamite Anne," tries to trap a mysterious robber, and one of the young hillbillies tries to win his favorite girl, who always falls asleep while he is proposing to her.

"Utter Relaxation," the junior production, is a situation comedy concerning a man forced by his wife to stay home in bed because of a cold. During his supposed day of relaxation, a series of interruptions wreak havoc on his temporary rest. The senior play, "Four Hundred Nights," is a courtroom scene of an actor, who on the four hundredth night of playing Othello, is accused of the murder of his leading lady.

Of course the production would not be possible without the many people working behind the scenes. Following is a list of those people and their committees.

General chairman, Pam Smith; ticket committee, Judy Donovan, chairman, Judy Towle, Dianne Watson, Joan Denton, Joan Zrodowski; publicity, Joyce Pepi, chairman, Claudia Gordon, Betty Hauk, Merry Reeves, Debbie Nichols, Libby Symmes, Doreen Cullen; reception committee, Jane McKenney, chairman, Nancy Hoffman, Kris Wilhelm, Sue Koch; talent committee, Karen Goethals, chairman, Leslie Sanger and Diane Gentile.

As is the custom, awards will be given to four students chosen as members of the All-Star Cast and 40 Families Protest Extension Of Hollywood To So. Border Rd.

Forty families on Hollywood, Willowdale, Franklin, Pierrepont, Ledyard and Clearwater Roads (and others) attended a November 7 session of the Planning Board to protest the proposed extension of Hollywood Road to South Border Road.

The extension has been proposed in connection with a housing development to be constructed in the Dennett Road area by Mr. James Fitzgerald, Winchester contractor.

With the brush along the proposed extension partially cleared, the residents of this area are thoroughly aroused at the prospect of a direct connection between Hollywood Road and South Border Road, which, of course, feeds into Route 93 at Roosevelt Circle in Medford.

The protesting residents are also alarmed by the fact that with direct access now possible between Main Street and Winford Way, West Medford residents would be able to reach South Border Road via Franklin, Clearwater and Willowdale Roads, and thence up through the proposed Hollywood Road extension to Route 93.

At present Leslie Road is the only street that makes direct connection between Highland Avenue and South Border Road. It connects with Highland Avenue, of course, through Lawson Road.

As things stand now, the Hollywood Road extension can go through either with the direct approval of the Planning Board, which has jurisdiction in the matter, or by default, should the Planning Board not act in the remaining three weeks of its 45-day time limit.

EASEMENT RIGHT

It is known that Mr. Fitzgerald's property deed includes the right of easement from Hollywood Road to South Border Road. Even if Mr. Fitzgerald should obtain the permission of the Planning Board to build the road extension, however, he must still obtain permission from the M.D.C. to gain access to South Border Road.

The Planning Board told the Star it had come to no final conclusion in the matter. It is weighing the issue with great caution, conscious, it says, of the legitimate interests of all parties concerned, and anxious to be absolutely clear on legal aspects of the question. It should be noted that Messrs. George Redding and Nicholas Fitzgerald who both have interests in the matter have disqualified themselves from its discussion and settlement.

The Planning Board is doubtful however, that the traffic hazards attendant upon such an extension are as serious as protesting residents believe. It believes that non-Winchester motorists would scarcely use the residential roads in question to get to Route 93 when South Border Road itself is wide open to them.

SELECTMEN OPPOSED

The Board of Selectmen, while acknowledging that it has no jurisdiction in this matter, is recorded as opposed to the Hollywood Road extension. "We think it is a poor idea," Mr. Bradlee said.

Protesting residents point out that when they bought their property in this area, their streets were safe non-throughways. Now, they charge, they suddenly find themselves living on roads that seem certain to be heavily traveled, leading to a major highway.

IS IT NECESSARY?

"Is all of this good for Winchester?" they ask. "And is it necessary to the success of Mr. Fitzgerald's housing development?" They are also fearful about their children's safety, playing on streets with an average width of 24 feet.

"We bought homes and property in this area with the idea that it was a nice, quiet residential section," one man said. "The Town plan showed only a small strip of land belonging to Winchester. Since this time, additional land has been deeded to Winchester by Medford.

"Now Hollywood Road, which was not shown on the Town plan at that time, as a through road is to become a feeder for Route 93," he added.

"We feel that this proposed extension would change the character of this entire section, and that the value of property in the area would be adversely affected. We have no objection to the housing development as such, but we do oppose this road extension."

Burning Leaves In Street Illegal, Unsafe, Says Chief

In a second appeal to Winchester people, Police Chief Derro warned of potential traffic hazards involved in burning leaves in the street.

"In the first place," the Chief told the Star, "It is illegal to rake or burn leaves in the street, or in gutters. Such fires damage the streets, anl the job of raking leaves is that of Town employees."

Chief Derro said that in response to several complaints on the matter, he made a survey of streets last Saturday evening and had all he could do to drive through areas in which residents were burning leaves on the street.

"The smoke issuing from those fires," the Chief said, "hung like a blanket of fog over the streets, making it almost impossible to pass through. It is amazing we have not had a serious accident as a result of this."

"Again," the Chief said, "I urge the people not to endanger lives in this way."

Africa And U. N. Theme Of Talks

Miss May Milliken's problems classes at Winchester High School sent a delegation of six students to the Beaver Country Day School, Newton, to attend the eleventh Annual All-School Forum. The program this year, "Africa and the U.N." was of special pertinence to the world situation. The delegates were John Hopkins, Lawrance Owen, Jim Cromberg, Susan Nanry, Joe Emerson, Sheila Donahue who were accompanied by Miss Milliken.

A general assembly opened the session in Bradley Hall with representatives of three faiths leading the opening exercises and Mr. Crosby Hedgman presiding. Mr. Harold Robert Isaacs, Research Associate at MIT Center for International Studies, then spoke about the tremendous change in our world and the importance of accepting the Africans as equals.

The delegates were assigned to different discussion groups led by African students attending school here in the United States.

Following lunch, slides of Africa were shown by Elliot Berg, a specialist in African Economics at Harvard University. Concluding the forum an African Ph.D. candidate in Economics at M.I.T. spoke about the African attitude toward the world and their new freedom. He emphasized that Africa in its present state does not wish to take sides in the world conflict but rather to find its own way of becoming a respected world power.

Rotary Club To Welcome District Governor

SANFORD L. FISHER

The Rotary Club of Winchester today will be host to Mr. Sanford Fisher, governor of the 793rd district of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 35 Rotary clubs in the district. He will address the local club and confer with President Frederick W. McCormack, Secretary William A. Wilde, Jr., and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. Sanford L. Fisher is president of Fisher Junior College in Boston and is a member and past president of the Rotary Club of Boston. He was elected as a district governor of Rotary International for the 1960-61 fiscal year at Rotary's 51st annual convention in Miami last June. He is one of 267 district governors supervising the activities of more than 10,600 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of nearly 500,000 business and professional executives in 116 countries throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary Clubs are located, President McCormack asserted in discussing the governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Winchester because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions and fostering the advancement of understanding, good will and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength, President McCormack added. During the past fiscal year, 405 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 47 countries, bringing the total number of Rotary Clubs to an all-time high of more than 10,600 and five geographical regions were added to Rotary's membership roster—Aden, French Polynesia, New Guinea, Ryukyu Islands and San Marino.

Two Local Boys To Face Court For Vandalism

Two Winchester boys from the Symmes Corner area have been apprehended for removing some twenty manhole covers, breaking six radio antennas, cutting down two small trees, damaging four others, and slashing a canvas convertible automobile roof on North Gateway, (reported elsewhere in the Star.)

This particular center is co-ed, sponsoring weekly Friday night dances for the youngsters which have proved popular and successful. The boys' and girls' recreation centers are, of course, separate, housed in opposite wings of the building. There are canteens within the building at which youngsters can buy light refreshments.

PREVENTION

The Star asked one youth center director if he had noticed any direct correlation between the success of his organization and measurable decreases in juvenile delinquency or crime.

The director's answer was prompt: "We think of the youth problem primarily in terms of prevention, not in negative terms of correction." The emphasis, that is, on the positive provision of rational, healthy outlets for normal young energy, rather than a negative and somewhat self-centered battle to reduce annoyances and dangers to adults.

"Our town prevented a serious youth problem by providing recreational outlets for youngsters," the director added.

NO PLACE TO GO

Many people believe it is rather pointless to rail against young boys hanging about the Common, for example, when the plain fact is these boys have no place to go, nothing positive, useful, and interesting to do with their leisure hours.

As a result, it is believed, their young energy, which under favorable circumstances would be channeled into personally constructive directions is expressed in hostile, anti-social acts. It is an evil produced by boredom and frustration.

In the youth center cited, admitstrative positions are held by trained experts. Local volunteers staff the front desk. Local men serve as basketball coaches, or direct athletic programs.

SELF-GOVERNMENT

The question of administering or governing a youth center poses a thorny problem. Time after time, people contacted by the Star on this question replied: "Certainly we should have a youth center, but the youngsters should run it themselves."

If the young people do not run their own organization, it is believed by many, it will become simply another opportunity for adults to extend their authority over youths, an opportunity for the adult ego-gratification which, it is believed, already weakens the value of certain organizations.

The Star continually hears it said that many adults associated with this sort of organization seem to be interested more in their own satisfaction than in the fulfillment of the youngsters they purport to serve.

COUNSELLORS

A concept of youth center administration frequently advanced would incorporate advantages of both adult supervision AND self-government by the youngsters. According to this concept, trained experts in youth center programs would function as counsellors, comparable to faculty advisors as a type of ultimate authority, while the practical programs and operating policies would be under the direction of the youths themselves. This, it is believed, would avoid the extremes of adult dictation, on the one hand, and general anarchy on the other.

Some Winchester people would stop short of a full-fledged youth center, convinced that a swimming pool or skating rink, to name just two suggestions, would do the job.

FINANCES

How would such a center be financed? It is known, for example, that matching funds are available from the Hayden Memorial Foundation in New York, to the extent of some 50% in some cases, we understand. The remaining expense would have to be borne by local residents, either by Town Hall or by local organizations or individuals—or a combination of all three.

The main issue, many are convinced, is to decide whether a youth center would provide at least a partial opportunity to prevent and correct juvenile misbehavior that is caused by lack of means for normal expression energies. It is believed that if there is a genuine Winchester "will," a "way" will be found without significant anguish.

Ronald E. Simonds

Ronald E. Simonds, 52, of 628 Main Street, West Newbury, was fatally injured Friday evening, November 11, at 6:30, when he was struck by an automobile on Route 95 near the Elm Street exit in Amesbury. Police say he was hitchhiking home from Amesbury where he was employed by the Bailey Company.

Mr. Simonds was the son of William S., and Josephine D. Simonds. He was born in Everett, but came as a boy to Winchester attending the Winchester grade schools and graduating from Winchester High School in the class of 1928. The family home was first on Bruce Road and later at 15 Orient Street.

While in high school Mr. Simonds was well known as a football player, playing fullback on the Winchester team that tied for the old Mystic League championship in 1927 and went on to beat Amesbury High School in a post season game that same season. Winchester's present football coach and director of athletics, Henry Knowlton, captained that team.

Mr. Simonds was a former reporter on the old Boston Transcript and later for the Haverhill Gazette.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Marjorie (Parker) Simonds; four sons, Ronald E., Jr., Ernest F., Parker H., and George Simonds, all of West Newbury; his parents, living in Haverhill; two sisters, Mrs. Louise Price of Lisbon, N. H.; and Mrs. Estelle Daniels, living in California. An older brother, Ernest, died in 1920 during the family's residence in Winchester.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the West Newbury Congregational Church. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Topicmistress, Mrs. Ann Pyne, gave out subjects pertaining to "The Good Old Days": Penny Candy, Summer Fun, Old Fashioned Picnic, Thanksgiving and School Days.

Mrs. Mary Ann Quimby, Toastmistress, moderated a symposium composed of the four main speakers. Mrs. Alice Coldwell spoke on Communication, language need not be a barrier between people. Mrs. Beulah Thompson spoke on Women's Fashions, from fig leaf to bikini.

We have sold to date: 1176 pairs of earrings. (Each piece is numbered in our record at date of sale.) These earrings are one-of-a-kind and hand made (gold or silver) with no duplicates except in the fabulous Miraj with no design around them. Miraj with design are one of a kind. Numbers apply to our entire list of designs varying with the demand for each item. Rings sold: 715; Pins: 978; Cuff links: 285 pairs; and so on. This is not great volume but represents years of producing lasting value. Of interest is the fact that about 50% of our work is to order from specially prepared exact drawings.

Three designer-craftsmen are we, joining forces to produce in the workshop next to our newly redecorated showroom. Our purpose here in featuring select gifts is to present other items in good taste as a complement to the displays of our own work. Especially ceramics do we appreciate as an art form and feel should be collected and enjoyed by those who value Macefield jewelry. We do have a new, beautiful group of stonewear "pots" and hope to continue adding names of more of our great New England potters.

We welcome all to view our new look and know that here in Winchester exists a creative, practical, and beautiful art. Macefield, 10-12 Winchester Place.

Busy Week At St. Mary's

On Sunday, November 6, National Catholic Educational Week was inaugurated by the pupils of grade eight. In conjunction with Parent-Sisters Day, the members of the eighth grade class, by means of meaningful exhibits, explained the why, when, and what of Catholic education.

The areas covered by the displays and described with such poise and mastery included the Aim of Catholic Education, Desired Effects of Catholic Education, Religious Teachers, Statistics, Curriculum, Our Teaching Community, The Sisters of St. Joseph, Diocesan School System, Our Religion Class, Our Mathematics Class, Social Studies in Our School, Learning Literature, and Sounding the Depths of Science.

Participating in this program were Nancy Sheehan, Anne Duffy, Jane Staffier, Kathleen Kearns, Monica Hurley, Dawn Dauphinais, Phyllis Kennedy, Marjorie Burns, Maureen Mulloy, Margaret Donahue, Maryann Griffin, Joan Rooney, Ruth Morgan, Kathleen Murphy, Cynthia Ehrgott, Frank Hession, Kevin O'Donnell, Peter McDonald, Gerald Kean, John Bees, Joseph Tranfaglia, Karen O'Donnell, Dorothy Berger, Arthur Gallagher, Ronald Riley, Raymond Rigney.

Also Robert Crotty, Lawrence Dalton, Richard Finnegan, Charles Meek, Kevin Hickey, Carolyn Marchesi, Elizabeth Farnam, and Raymond Connolly. Over three hundred parents listened attentively to their children's lectures and sincerely praised them for their efforts and achievements.

Monday, the senior class of our neighboring Immaculate Conception School, along with the principal and class teacher, visited Saint Mary's. The children showed remarkable interest in all exhibits and explanations; however, Lawrence Dalton held them firmly fixed when he expounded on Dalton's Atomic Theory and the composition of the atom.

Presidential elections and gubernatorial elections highlighted Tuesday. Six boys representing the presidential, vice-presidential, and gubernatorial candidate from each party gave a brief biographical sketch of his life and explained in some detail the party issues. Ballots were distributed to each class and in the course of the morning voting occurred.

Results were tabulated and sent to Grade Eight where final returns were scored and announcements made to the entire school by means of the public address system. All but a small minority split their ticket. John F. Kennedy and John A. Volpe won by an overwhelming majority. With keen anticipation, as alert citizens of a great country, even the first graders awaited eagerly the national results. Grades four through eight were equipped with TV sets and were alerted from the office to history-in-the-making events.

On display in the school library for the week were the Marian Award books for which the eleven girls of Grade Eight received medals on Sunday at the Cathedral. Also a philatelic display of Robert Crotty and Peter McDonald attracted much notice. These were the stamps on exhibit during the past year in Barcelona, Spain and for which they received a beautiful Black Madonna, sacred to the Spanish people. This statue was viewed by many as they utilized the library during the week.

Thursday, the week came to a quiet close, as Grade Eight paid their tribute to those who "gave their lives that this nation might live" in a recitation of "In Flanders Fields" by Lieutenant J. D. McCrae, and J. W. Lillard's "America's Answer".

Arranges Feature At Theatre Conference

The Annual New England Theatre Conference was held this year at Northeastern University on October 29th. This organization includes divisions of professional, college, secondary school, community and children's theatre. Prominent in the Community Theatre Division is Mrs. Howard Chidley of Winchester.

One of the featured events this year was a panel on "The Moscow Art Theatre," for which Carlene Samoiloff (director of the Children's Theatre School and their forthcoming production of Noah's Ark) made the arrangements at the request of the Board of Directors.

The two speakers and authorities on the Moscow Art Theatre were Madame Barbara Bulgakova and Madame Vera Soloviova actresses with the famous company and now prominent teachers of acting in the New York Theatre world. They described their technique and presented examples of student actors and tried to explain the misinterpretations of the so-called "Method" acting.

The introduction of this Panel by Carlene Samoiloff was a showing of some of her remarkable slides from photographs of Stanislavsky, Mme. Olga Chekoff and other famous of this company - all of whom Mrs. Samoiloff knew well in her study and travels with them.

Mme. Soloviova and Mme. Bulgakova were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samoiloff for the weekend which concluded with a Sunday evening meeting including Mr. Edward Thommen, former director of the Poet's Theatre and now at Boston University Theatre Division; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Powers of the Leland Powers School, and Professor Marston Balch of Tufts University.

Mrs. Barbara Burr Shull

Barbara Burr Shull of 4214 Fairfield Avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind., died Tuesday, November 8, at the Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne after a brief illness. She had been in Winchester during the past summer visiting her mother and three sisters here, and her sudden passing came as a severe shock to her family and many friends.

Mrs. Shull was the daughter of Mrs. Lillian (Eldridge) and the late Sidney A. Burr. She was born in Waltham May 4, 1914, and grew up in that city, graduating from Waltham High School in the class of 1931.

She then graduated from the New England Baptist School of Nursing and for a time was a registered nurse on the staff of the Leahy Clinic in Boston. She left the clinic to become a stewardess for American Air Lines and on one of her flights met her future husband. Her family moved to Winchester in 1939 and on November 9, 1940, she and Mr. Shull were married at the Burr home, then located at 113 Church Street, but later for many years on Central Street.

Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Shull lived in many parts of Indiana, as Mr. Shull, a newspaper man, was associated with various newspapers in that state. They have lived in Fort Wayne since he became political editor of the Journal-Gazette there.

Mrs. Shull had many friends wherever she went. In Fort Wayne she was active in the Wayne Street Methodist Church and was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star. She was also a member of the D. A. R., and as a girl headed the Children of the American Revolution in Brookline.

She leaves her mother in Winchester; two sons, George B., and Gregory F. Shull, both of Fort Wayne; and three sisters, Mrs. Rogers G. Welles, Mrs. Merton E. Ober, Jr., and Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong, Jr., all of Winchester.

Services were held in Fort Wayne on November 10 with Dr. Gerald H. Jones, pastor of the Wayne Street Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in the Shull family lot in Twin Hills Cemetery, Pennville, Indiana.

For a gift that's sure to please see the new Smith Corona Galaxy typewriter at the Winchester Star. In colors $127.27 with a recorded typing course.

Mrs. Daisy Frances Mitchell

Mrs. Daisy Frances Mitchell, wife of Benjamin F. Mitchell and mother of Mrs. Bernice M. Phillips of 7 Robinhood Road, died Thursday, November 10, at the Winchester Hospital where she had been since October 21. She suffered a shock last January and was first hospitalized at that time.

Mrs. Mitchell was the daughter of George Goodwin, and Frances (Kendall) Morgan. She was born February 1, 1884, in London, England, spending her early life and receiving her education there.

She came to this country as a young woman in 1906, and first lived in the West End of Boston near Beacon Hill. She and Mr. Mitchell were married in Cambridge in June of 1913, and spent most of their married life in Boston, coming to Winchester from that city three years ago.

Besides her husband and daughter, she leaves two grandchildren, Hugh Johnson Phillips, attending Columbian Preparatory School in Washington, D. C., and Bernice Kendall Phillips of Winchester; a sister, Mrs. Alfred Morgan of London, England; and a brother, Frederick A. Morgan of North Aldershot, Hants, England.

Sarvices were held last Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Dr. John W. Ellison, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

George W. Thibeault

George Wilfred Thibeault of 125 Highland Road, Somerville, a native and former resident of Winchester, died suddenly on Friday, November 11. He and his wife were attending the races at Suffolk Downs when he was stricken with a heart attack and died before he could reach the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mr. Thibeault was the son of John, and Vina (Larravee) Thibeault. He was born August 23, 1897, in Winchester and grew up in town, attending the Winchester schools. The family home was for many years on Water Street, and until his retirement, he was employed at the B. & M. milk terminal in Boston.

On September 5, 1923, Mr. Thibeault married Mildred Furbush of Woburn, and at that time went to make his home in Somerville. Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mildred Fennell of Arlington; a son, George F. Thibeault of Littleton; three sisters, Rose Hopkinson of Winchester, Esther Machado of Somerville and Mabel Lally of Roslindale; also four brothers, Irving of Baltimore, Md., Alfred of Arlington, Lawrence of Somerville, and Douglas, living in New Jersey.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Clement's Church in Somerville. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my relatives, friends and neighbors whose kindness and many expressions of sympathy helped so much at the time of my bereavement.

My heartfelt thanks go also to the employees of the Park Department and the members of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, for their kindly sympathy and cooperation.

I deeply appreciate the many beautiful flowers, spiritual bouquets and religious token given in memory of my beloved husband.

Crawford Memorial Methodist Church

Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed with special services at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday and donations of staple foods will be received. These will be used in baskets for the less fortunate.

The Church School will have a special assembly and worship service in the sanctuary at 9:30 a.m. with a Thanksgiving talk by the Rev. Richard L. McGuire, Assistant Minister. The Rev. H. Newton Clay, minister; Raymond Stillman, Church School Superintendent; and Allister B. MacKay, Superintendent of the Junior Department; will also participate in this service. Mrs. Genevieve Grinnell will be the organist. In a ceremony of Thanksgiving the young people will deposit their gifts of food about the altar.

"For This We Are Thankful" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. H. Newton Clay at the eleven o'clock Worship Service. At this service both the little tots of the Kindergarten and Primary Departments and the adults attending the Morning Service will come forward in a Harvest Jubilee Procession to deposit their donations of food about the altar.

Whatever gifts of food are brought will be divided equally between the Little Wanderer's Home and the Hattie B. Cooper Settlement House in Boston the local social service agency in Winchester. Any cash given will be used by the pastor for needy cases in the parish at his discretion and as necessity arises.

Sunday evening at six o'clock the members of the Youth Fellowship, both junior and senior high, will meet to sort and distribute the donations that were received in the morning. A Thanksgiving Devotional Service and Fellowship Hour will follow.

The Winchester Star
Established 1880 by Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Editorials:

Welcome Home John!

Welcome home, John and Jennie Volpe, from your well deserved vacation in Florida. It has been Winchester's good fortune to welcome few resident Governors-elect during its years as a town, two to be exact, Edward Everett, and Samuel Walker McCall, World War I Governor, who had previously served in the United States Congress.

You are the third resident of Winchester to be chosen to head the Government of Massachusetts. The conduct of your election campaign has strengthened the pride Winchester has had in you since you and your family came to make your home here. The whole town salutes you and wishes for you the success you deserve in discharging the duties of the high office to which you have been chosen by your townspeople and other admirers throughout the State.

We Can Give Thanks

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, a day instituted by the Pilgrim fathers and set apart as an occasion on which to thank God for his blessings to them.

The founding fathers felt they had much for which to give thanks, yet by 20th century standards many would feel they had very little.

Probably the thing they valued most was freedom, freedom of worship, and freedom to lead their lives as they wished within the framework of laws established for the Plymouth Colony.

Freedom is today one of the priceless possessions of those who can still enjoy it. There are many who are not free to worship, free to make their own laws and free to choose those whom they wish to administer them.

Here in America we are very fortunate. We may or may not have liked the results of the recent election, but we were free to participate in that election and free to vote for whomsoever we chose. This is a priceless heritage, and one which in recent years there has been a tendency to take too much for granted.

The size of the votes this year indicates that Americans are again realizing the importance of their franchise. How the slave nations would rejoice to have theirs returned to them.

By and large we have much to rejoice over as we come to Thanksgiving again, and it would not be amiss, in our busy holiday schedule, with its football games, family dinners and other good times, to pause for a bit to express our gratitude to the God of our Fathers and to those from the days of the Pilgrims whose effort and self sacrifice have given us the great country in which we are privileged to live today.

An Opportunity Missed

The election is over, and though they are still not sure by just what margin Senator Kennedy won over Vice President Nixon in the popular vote, there is now no question about the State and County elections in Massachusetts.

One of the election casualties was the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, Edward W. Brooke, a colored gentleman of high integrity, great personal charm and every qualification necessary to discharge effectively the duties of the office he sought.

This is in no way to say that his successful Democratic opponent, Kevin H. White, is in any sense inferior or will do a less able job in the office than would Mr. Brooke.

Friends of the latter may be pardoned, however, a bit of unusual regret over the defeat of Mr. Brooke, not because of any overly strong inter-party feeling involved, but because his election would have meant that we practice what we preach and are not swayed in our voting by a candidate's race, creed or color.

We hasten to state that we do not believe Mr. Brooke was defeated because he is a colored man any more than we believe Vice President Nixon was beaten in Massachusetts because he chances to be a Quaker.

Mr. Brooke's election, however, could have silenced Southern critics who claim that our attitude toward desegregation and other problems posed by Negroes in the South is hypocritical.

The election of Mr. Brooke would also have deprived the Communists of another argument against the tenets of democracy. Persons watching our election in Africa would have less cause to believe that our professed regard for the black man is merely a pose.

Many hoped for Mr. Brooke's election, not because he was a Republican as opposed to a Democrat, not because he was necessarily the better of the two candidates, but because of what his election would have meant in terms of the brotherhood of man so often mentioned in connection with the democratic processes we are so proud of in America.

We are coming! Mr. Brooke's nomination is proof of that. It is unfortunate that he happened to be a candidate when an exceptionally popular Democratic candidate for the Presidency, Senator Kennedy, was carrying nearly all of the party's lesser candidates for office to victory in Massachusetts.

Plans For Common Take Form

Winchester's Common can be a thing of beauty! Every one at last week's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club came away with that belief after hearing Landscape Architect Alexander Heimlich's plans for improving this link with Winchester's historic past.

In recent years Winchester's Common has been running down hill rapidly in appearance. Time was when it was a real beauty spot in the center of the town with its thriving maples, green lawns, well kept walks and fountain, in the basin of which the late Charles A. Lane, former Park Commissioner placed each year a school of gold fish, big fellows that many enjoyed watching as they flashed their way around the shallow pool.

As the maples which pretty much covered the Common grew and spread their branches the Common lawns began to deteriorate, and when walks were placed along Church Street and parking lots were constructed on Waterfield Road and Laraway Road, the roots of the maples were damaged and the trees' demise began.

In recent years many of the dying maples have been removed, the last lot of nine being removed not long ago in connection with the present Heimlich plans.

For some time the Park Commissioners have been alert to the fact that something had to be done to the Common and as a few dollars were found here and there in the Park Department budget they have attempted to better conditions there. At best, however, their efforts constituted little more than upkeep and none knew it better than they.

Attempting to get appropriations from the town meeting for beautification of the Common have been unavailing, not because the members did not know something needed to be done, but rather because there were other things needed more than an attractive appearing Common.

This year, however, the Rotary Club decided to take an interest in restoring the Common to its old attractiveness and making it a credit to the community, rather than an eyesore in the middle of the town.

The Park Commissioners welcomed the Rotary aid in the matter of Common restoration and after several joint meetings with parties interested, decided to retain Alexander Heimlich to produce plans and direct the restoration.

Last Thursday's Rotary meeting provided an opportunity to see preliminary sketches and to hear the Heimlich plans for a beautiful Common in Winchester.

He explained that his idea is to have the Common a thing of color from early spring until late fall with a variety of flowering trees and shrubbery that will bloom in rotation so that as one sheds its blossoms others come into bloom.

Mr. Heimlich expressed his regret at having to remove the maples from the Common, stating that one of the hardest things a landscape architect has to do is get people to understand the necessity for cutting down trees.

He said, however, that nothing will grow under maples and that the condition of the trees necessitated their removal.

Under the new plans there will be a hedge of Dorothy Prior roses along the entire Church Street side of the Common with a row of double Japanese Cherry trees on the Waterfield Road side. A clump of pink almond is to be at the Church Street entrance to the Common and other plantings to be made include alders euanimus, oriental crab-apple trees, hardy roses, dogwood, birches, weeping hemlock, oak and Irish golden chain tree. A row of dogwoods will extend along Laraway Road, and there will be walks all around the Common. The central walk from Church Street opposite the Congregational Church will extend through to Laraway Road.

Mr. Heimlich won a gold medal for his treatment of the grounds of the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston and he used there many of the trees and shrubs he is planning to use on the Common.

He showed the Rotarians and their interested guests slides of these plantings at the hospital, giving his audience an idea of what the Common will look like when the improvements are completed there.

The Park Commissioners have funds to make a start upon the improvements and hope to get an appropriation from the March town meeting to do much of the necessary work. Individuals and clubs, included the Rotary, have evinced an interest in assisting with the project and it is hoped that others interested will want to help.

It is planned later on to have an open meeting at the high school so that garden clubs and interested individuals can see just what is planned to make the Common once more a thing of beauty.

Winton Club, 49 Years Old, Prepares Linen For Hospital

Early in 1911 seventeen women gathered together to sew for a hospital planned by the Winchester Visiting Nurses Association. Initially inspired by Miss Rebecca Fernald and Mrs. George N. P. Mead, the group was organized in June of that year as the Winton Club, named for the Bishop of Winchester, England who was visiting our Town at that time. Miss Viola Sullivan, later Mrs. Russell Stiles was elected as its first president.

On March 11, 1912 a building, now referred to as the "Cottage Hospital," located on the corner of Lincoln and Washington Streets, was opened to the public as The Winchester Hospital.

After many long sessions of sewing diapers, table covers, towels, and many other articles by hand, the Winton ladies served tea on the opening day.

After 1920, when the Hospital moved to a larger building, the nucleus of the present hospital on Highland Avenue, there was a need for greater and greater amounts of linen. The Winton Club set itself the task of helping to provide this linen by raising money.

The First Show

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marion S. Grush an entertaining show of four or five lively numbers were offered, and a nice luncheon of creamed chicken in patty shells, peas and homemade rolls, ice cream, cookies and coffee was served.

The $320 profit realized in this project amazed everyone and encouraged the Club to make the big decision of giving a money-raising project each year and the even bigger decision of assuming the responsibility for furnishing all linen needed by the Hospital. This was the beginning of the present annual Winton Club Cabaret, which last year netted over nine thousand dollars — $9,400 to be exact.

Club Expands

As the Hospital expanded, moving to its present site on Highland Avenue, so the Winton Club grew. As the Club grew in membership, so its work widened in scope, until "Linen" included not only diapers, binders, doctors' gowns, patients' gowns, scrub gowns,—in fact everything that could be made out of cloth for patients' rooms, nurseries, operating and delivery rooms, and kitchens. Last year the cost of these materials was over eight thousand dollars ($8,318.)

Clearly not all of these articles could be made by members. As the amount of "linen" needed increased, much of it had to be bought ready-made. In 1921 the total amount of linen supplied consisted of four hundred and ninety (490) articles. It now consists of over ten thousand ready-made articles alone.

In addition, in order to keep costs as low as possible and also because some articles cannot be purchased, about four thousand articles are made by the Club members. Figures vary slightly from year to year according to the requests of the Hosipital, but the trend is always toward a greater demand.

Linens for Patients

When a patient is now admitted to the Hospital, twelve (12) pieces of linen are immediately put into circulation. If the patient is transferred to the Operating Room, fifty-two (52) additional pieces of linen are needed, ranging in size from that of a handkerchief to a sheet ninety inches by one hundred and eight (90 x 108).

Preparation for the arrival of a new baby requires sixty-five (65) pieces of linen from the time of admission until both mother and baby are tucked in their respective beds. And linen must be furnished in three-fold supply to cover that in use, that which is being laundered, and that which is held in reserve.

Various Groups

The staggering amount of sewing that must be done is now accomplished by dividing the Club membership into groups, each responsible for a particular task.

Huge bolts of cloth, over three thousand (3,215) yards last year, were measured, cut and torn. Once a month, for eight months, six homes become hives of activity as sewing machines whirr and, in assembly-line style, oddly shaped articles are produced according to explicit specifications made by the Hospital.

In 1949, before the most recent expansion of the Hospital, the Winton Club decided that its only money-making project, the Cabaret, needed an ally. The Club was allowed the experiment of a small gift shop, consisting of two second-hand cabinets, in the Hospital lobby, to be open afternoons. During the same hours the Club might serve coffee and tea in the Staff Dining Room and circulate a gift cart to supply patients with small comforts and needs.

Coffee Shop

The experiment was so successful that in 1953 the reconstructed Hospital allotted space adjoining the main corridor for a combined Gift and Coffee Shop. In 1956, because of crowded conditions, the Gift Shop separated from the Coffee Shop and moved back to the Hospital lobby where there was now more space.

Also, the old gift cart, improvised from a wire push cart donated by one of the local markets, was replaced by the large deluxe model now used in most hospitals.

That this second project has been a real service is proved by the fact that the Coffee Shop is open all day Mondays through Fridays and during many evenings. That it has been a success financially is shown in last year's sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) added to the money made by the Cabaret.

Adequately staffing this project has been made possible only through the help of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital, whose volunteers for this service number more than one-third of the women needed.

Winton Gifts

Throughout the years the Winton Club has tried to be generous, within its means, in its one and only aim to be of help to the Hospital.

Each time the Hospital has expanded, the Club has contributed something to that growth. Some gifts, such as paying for extra help during the war years, have been temporary. Some, such as the Dietetic Laboratory, have been outmoded. But there has been a contribution to every Building Fund, and the Winton Club Room for private patients is one of the very early rooms which is still maintained.

Special Gifts

This last year the Club made a special gift to the Hospital in memory of Charlotte Skillings Russell, an honorary member of Winton Club until her recent death. Her confidence and untiring work in the early years as a president of the Visiting Nurse Association, and later as president of the Winchester Hospital during its expansion, helped to make possible the fine hospital we have today.

The Winton Club will be fifty years old this spring. It looks forward to serving a hospital that will again expand.

Again this club will evoke the loyal and adventurous spirit of those seventeen women who, in 1911, offered their support, little realizing perhaps, to what great responsibilities their efforts would lead.

Six of these women are still members of the Winton Club: Mrs. Russell Stiles, (Viola Sullivan); Miss Marguerite Barr, Mrs. Walter L. Claflin, Mrs. Charles P. LeRoyer, Mrs. Marjorie C. Mason, and Mrs. James A. Newman.

A Memo To Clubs

If your club has not yet been contacted regarding a feature story on its activities, it will be. The Star hopes to do a story like this one on every club in Winchester. We feel the stories will be of genuine interest to club members themselves and to the town at large.

Better still: if we haven't contacted you why not give us a buzz? In this way we could publish the stories on a first-come-first serve basis.

Stories should concern the history, objectives, major activities and membership of your club and should not exceed 5½ double-spaced typewritten pages in length. In addition a photograph of a representative club activity will be published.

THE SELF-CONSCIOUS SOCIETY

By WILSON SULLIVAN

If you've been hard put to define the apparently limitless sources of American self-criticism, you may learn much from Eric Larrabee's "The Self-Conscious Society."

Written with labor, the book perseveres from a mannered plea for prairie-tearing jazz to a precis on changing patterns of baby care. It reflects with sustained authority on Vance Packard, pornography, Tennessee Williams, and How-Not-to-Bring-up-Your Children-as-Decorative-Middle-Class-Furniture.

Offered by Mr. Larrabee as a description of "superficial aspects" of U. S. society in terms of Upper Case Man, the book is more properly defined as a rather hurried abstract of recent critiques of U. S. society by Riesman, Whyte and critical kin.

The author, managing editor of American Heritage, celebrates many aspects of American Mass Culture (as opposed to Class Culture), which critics have found "poisonous and contemptible." With Luigi Barzini, Jr., he is persuaded that if we inflate our virtues we have also carried our self-consciousness to absurdity by deploring "imaginary sins."

Imaginary sins? Well, take status-seeking. After all, Larrabee writes, no one HAS to seek status! There's a Grail for everyone, somewhere. Besides, doesn't Upper Case Sociologist W. Lloyd Warner say status symbols are required as motives and proofs of excellence? Who is Vance Packard to awaken the nation to its primary sin when the academic journals haven't?

No, says Larrabee, we are not nearly so evil as the paperback prophets suggest. Sandburg's "fat-dripping prosperity" notwithstanding, Texas DOES have 12 symphony orchestras. But here, citizens, is a REAL problem: the exploited executive squeaking by on $50,000 in his miserable low-ceilinged Sutton Place suite! Foreign aid begins in Manhattan!

This is not, however, a silly book. It's just trite, turgid and without excuse. Its author, moreover, makes a few good points. He does not, in his own words, defend Erskine Caldwell against Dante, and, presumably we have T. S. Eliot to thank for this. And he DOES get in a perennially needed poke at the one-way Transatlantic Dialogue in which Europe dismisses our best as its own, and defines our worst as typical. Moreover, he assaults the invocation of Tocqueville as Holy Writ, and rightly dismisses the facile Jamesian formula whereby the U. S. is "raw, innocent and susceptible," while Europe is "dark, engaging and profound."

Altogether a first-class Voice of America broadcast, the book is occasionally wise: America, Larrabee says, with a certain gauche courage, is not democratic because rootless, not idealistic because stuffed with cake. Nor can we be fully defined in terms of the jukebox and the roadside pottery stand. Nor is jazz, perhaps our primary musical offering, restricted to "city slums and an atmosphere of grimy yearning."

No, indeed, says Larrabee. America's rootlessness may not give the stability of a Decalogue or a class code, but it may have given us, in spite of Barry Goldwater, the "first planetary mind," the perhaps novel, if missionary faculty of considering our thought as universal.

Rail against organization men and industry if you will, Larrabee suggests, these wretched objects of critical scorn have given us new possibilities for individual Grail-seeking—and washing machines. And if we seem to lack stability, it is not, you see, because we are Philistines, it is because our culture is "process," uncommitted to fixed objectives, rejoicing in incompleteness, with no beginning, no middle, and no end.

Mr. Larrabee is almost cogent in his chapter on pornography and censorship. He uncovers the "streak of amiable lewdness" which hides beneath the puritan facade. He cites the moral ambivalence whereby we celebrate the orgiastic violence of Spillane, while we protect our children from DeMaupassant. He suggests that to limit erotica to literary outlaws is to limit erotica to fifth-class writing, and debase the language of normal love and lust.

But this chapter's the best of the pastiche, unless you care about jazz. I believe Mr. Larrabee intended to say more about MAN with these essays than he has. As it stands, "The Self-Conscious Society" sounds for all the world like a bundle of poorly related magazine articles hardbacked for another whack at position and the public purse, with, perhaps, a Christmas gift afterthought for Aunt Edith and her friends.

Planning Board Believes Criticism Unjust

Editor of the Star:

With reluctance, the Planning Board feels compelled to react in print to your editorial entitled, "Why Planning Board Motions Fail," which appeared in the November 10 issue of the Star.

Without attempting to debate the reasons for our failures, we are constrained to speak out against criticism which, we believe, is not justified.

The basis for this editorial is the opinion of a "town meeting member" that town meeting members are "insufficiently informed of just what the Board proposes"—that they "have not known enough about Planning Board proposals far enough in advance of town meetings to form a considered opinion of them"—that there are instances when precinct members "had no opportunity to know in advance of the meeting just what was to be requested."

Your are careful to state that these are the opinions of a visitor to your office—an anonymous town meeting member. But the implication can be made that these are also the views of the Star because they appear in an editorial without refutation. Certainly, you must be aware of all the advance publicity on controversial issues given by our Board to your paper. A review of your publications in the past year will show that essential facts were fully communicated long in advance of town meetings. The proposals for capital expense budgeting, apartment house zoning, limited parking zoning, industrial zoning, and two-family house zoning, among others, were fully covered in your columns. We hope and expect that you made the record clear to your visitor.

In your editorial, you relate an illustration given by your visitor of the Board's failure to inform. It cites the legal hearing on two-family house zoning which was held only three nights before the special town meeting. The statutory notice for this hearing could not be published until after the issuance of the warrant, thus preventing an earlier date for the hearing. You know, however, that the Board published in the Star a notice of a prior informal public hearing in order that the townspeople could become informed of the facts at an earlier date. Such an informal hearing was held and eight persons were interested enough to attend. You published a picture of the hearing and commented on the lack of attendance.

Does your visitor realize that the town meeting members have a responsibility to inform themselves? He should know that they have the opportunities for information—that they can read the Star each week—that they can attend public hearings advertised in the Star—that they can attend precinct meetings when held in advance of a town meeting—that they can obtain and study copies of the Zoning By-Laws of the Town and of the Town Reports—that they can ask questions of the Planning Board.

It has been our observation that advertised hearings and meetings in advance of town meetings are poorly attended. Rarely do town meeting members come to us and request information. We welcome the opportunity to express and exchange views on matters concerning the Town. Could it be that any alleged confusion is attributable in part, at least, to a lack of absorbing interest and initiative in matters of this kind?

We believe that with the exercise of initiative and intelligence, every town meeting member can sufficiently acquaint himself with the basic issues in advance of the town meeting. He can properly equip himself with the knowledge to understand the motions and amendments thereof made at the meeting. This is his duty and opportunity.

It seems to us that the suggestion that motions be prepared and publicized without further opportunity for improvement prior to the town meeting hardly merits comment. Motions are prepared after the hearings and oftentimes suggestions are made which deserve consideration. The Town Meeting is clearly the proper forum for the presentation of motions and amendments. The suggested procedure, in our opinion, would tend to pre-package and stultify the town meeting to the detriment of Winchester.

Very truly Yours,
Winchester Planning Board

Chief Derro Is Right!

Editor of the Star:

I am writing this because I know what Chief Derro says is so!

Part of my living is earned by caring for the offspring of Winchester and surrounding towns, from new born up to 18 years old.

You have to start at age one impressing on these children of today that they cannot rule the roost!

A man once said when he looked upon a new-born baby, there lies a potential tyrant unless brought up right! This is true! Children can be a great joy if started right.

The teen agers today will give you an argument on whether they should eat, sleep or get up in the morning. Most of them get up mean and ready for an argument any way.

Instead of getting $13.50 to $15.00 per day for caring for these children most of us should get twice this amount. These same teen agers from 13 years on, stay up until their parents are ready to go to bed, and then, try to get them up in the morning!

Years ago we were taught respect; today the kids look at you as though you were stupid if you mention respect. If these same kids talk back to their parents, how do you expect them to treat police or anyone who cares for them.

A good whack once in a while is good medicine, but should be given when he or she least expects it.

As far as children coming from nice homes is concerned, some of our most humble homes turn out our most polite children.

Lots of people put emphasis on love. I say love is fine to an extent can and is overdone!

P.S. Parents should accept fact that if their children are mean and fresh, the home is where to remedy same.

Questions Star Package Store Percent

Editor of the Star:

I wish to take exception to the last sentence of your article on the November 8 election in the November 10 edition of the Star. Speaking of the referendum liquor question you stated "On the last question, however, over 50% of Winchester voters expressed a favorable feeling toward package stores."

On this question there were 6350 "No" and 3727 "Yes" votes for a total of 10077 voting on the question. According to my mathematics, an "over 50%" favorable vote on this question would have necessitated at least 5039 votes. If this had occurred, then the question would have passed.

As it stands, slightly over 35% of the voters expressed a favorable feeling toward package stores. Obviously, there is still a large majority of our citizens who do not feel that liquor is in keeping with the character of Winchester nor in the best interests of the Town.

Yours truly,
Jason W. Dade

Pat's Tears Her Tears, Too!

Editor of the Star:

As a recent TV viewer of the "greatest show on earth"—the election of our new President, Mr. John Kennedy, I must admit it is a revolution in religious tolerance and an amazingly young age for Mr. Kennedy destined to such a big, important, supreme job.

Mr. Kennedy won this great honor and God's blessings and guidance please go with it.

However, this tribute is also meant for Mr. Nixon and his very wonderful wife "Pat."

Mr. Nixon is a man who needs no fuss or exuberance — but for "Pat" Nixon this I can't keep to myself.

Never has a sweeter, more lady-like woman been put through a rougher pace. No one ever showed greater strength and noble spirit than she. Her loyalty to her husband and their constant companionship are utterly inspiring.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon are thorough examples of fine Americans dedicated together to a "call of duty and unity."

Happy as I am for Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy's great honor, given by the American people, Mrs. Nixon's tears at the conceding of the election were my tears, also.

Life and fate have a way, sometimes, of offering you a thing and then snatching it away at the most deserving moment.

May the greatest of blessings go with Mr. and Mrs. Nixon all along the way left for them to travel.

Liked Star Campaign Coverage

Some Observations On Juvenile Delinquency

Editor of the Star:

First, I would be remiss in my duties, indeed, if I did not, on behalf of my Democratic Town Committee, thank you for the fine coverage our minority party received in your splendid paper during the recent campaign.

The Democratic Committee chairmen with whom I met in recent weeks expressd much disappointment with their local papers, and expressed keen admiration for ours when I took two or three copies of the Star to our meetings at the Lexington Inn.

Not only did they admire and approve of the political news placement; they noted with appreciation the format of our local sheet, its homey touch (Do you remember when?) and its highclass editorial treatment.

In short, they liked, and I like, the broad intelligent aspects of our local weekly.

Elizabeth C. McDonald
Chairman Democratic Town Committee

So much for our Star.

Now, I have felt for some time that some townspeople might express opinions on the Juvenile Delinquency problem as it is being written up in the Star. One hundred and twenty cases of serious wrong-doing in six months! and we are told about these cases after the misdemeanors have been perpetrated. Is this the kind of constructive policy we should settle for in a town like ours? What preventive measures have been, or are being used?

Driving boys from the Common or Fred McCormack's Corner are surely not constructive acts. In fact, these youngsters when driven to a less open part of Town, can think of worse mischief than that carried on in the environs of the square.

What is the solution? A Youth Center, I should say. Nearly every surrounding town has one or more attractive set-ups for boys and girls of certain ages where they may enjoy athletics, quiet games, or listen to talks by gifted persons who can appeal to the best in our youth.

Some Winchester persons look down their noses at Woburn, our neighbor to the North. Well, for many years Woburn has had a successful Y.M.C.A. And now a group of Woburn citizens have negotiated for the setting up of a Boys' Club, to be affiliated with that famous chain that has been the inspiration for so many boys in so many Communities.

Arlington has the St. Agnes Center, affiliated with St. Agnes' Parish. I spoke in that building last year to a Deanery group and, aside from the hall we occupied, basketball and other activities were being enjoyed. And now, I am told, a group of Arlington citizens is behind the establishment of a Hayden Foundation Center, the Foundation to provide one-half the needed money and the citizens to raise the rest.

Lexington has its Hayden Building and Stoneham has its Swimming pool and its Winter Skating rink and its Boosters' Club through which all sorts of interesting activities are provided for their youth. What's the matter with Winchester? Can we, I ask you, afford to spread on the records of our Town the misdeeds of those youngsters who need our help without offering constructive suggestions to correct a condition which already exists?

Charles Richard Fish

Charles Richard Fish of 20 Myrtle Street, former chemical engineer with the Monsanto Chemical Company in Everett, died early Veterans' Day morning, November 11, at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after a long illness.

Mr. Fish was the son of Ralph Brown, and Marian Ruth (Hatch) Fish. He was born July 3, 1909, in Kensington, N. H., and spent his early life in Kensington, getting his first schooling there. He was graduated from Amesbury High School and from University of New Hampshire with a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering in the class of 1929.

He first worked for a short time for the American Steel and Wire Company in Worcester, later being associated with Monsanto as a chemical engineer for 23 years. More recently he had been associated with the Bridges Engineering Company, as a manufacturers' representative until poor health forced his retirement in 1957.

Interested in the civic life of the town, Mr. Fish was for several years a town meeting member for Precinct 2 and also served a term on the Finance Committee. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, of Winchester Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star; and of the 3-5-7 Masonic Club of the Monsanto Company.

He was actively identified with the First Congregational Church, teaching in the church school for seven years and being a member of the Men's Club.

On September 21, 1935, Mr. Fish married Louise Stinson of Winchester and came to make his home in Winchester at that time. Mrs. Fish survives, with three daughters, Mrs. Marion Fish Newell of Vernon, Conn.; Martha L., and Emily M. Fish, both of Winchester, the latter a pupil at Fairfax Hall in Waynesboro, Va.; and two brothers, J. Theodore, of Glen Ellyn, Ill., and R. Milton Fish of Kensington, N. H.

Services were conducted Monday afternoon at Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church with the minister, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, and his associate minister, Rev. Wesley A. Mallery, officiating. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery, Stoneham.

Masonic funeral services were held Sunday evening at the Bennett-Norris Chapel, the officers of William Parkman Lodge being headed by Walter Josephson, master.

Severely Injured In Auto Crash

Miss Marjory Burke, 34, of 4 Westley Street, was severly injured early Monday morning in an automobile accident on Mystic Valley Parkway in Medford in which a Somerville man was killed.

Miss Burke was believed to have been driving the car of John R. McGrath, 42, of Lexington Avenue, Somerville. She told police she lost control of the car and it collided with a tree. She was found wandering about the area while McGrath was still in the automobile.

Both were taken to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford, where McGrath died shortly after 2 o'clock. Though her injuries were severe Miss Burke is reported as getting along nicely.

Biggest Plurality To Harvey

Winchester Country Club friends of "Jackie" Harvey, known in Middlesex County political circles as Register of Probate John V. Harvey will be pleased to learn that he compiled the largest plurality ever given to a Democratic candidate in the county as he rolled up a plurality of over 118,000 votes in last week's national and state election.

Total figures with two towns missing are Harvey, 318,106; Burroughs, 205,623. Mr. Harvey is one of the Winchester Country Club's best golfers and has many friends throughout the county, in and out of golfing circles.

College Club Art Group

Tomorrow, November 18, the College Club Art Group will have the pleasure of seeing about forty paintings of the well-known artist Andrew Wyeth, in the Exhibition Gallery of the Hayden Library at M.I.T.

Andrew Wyeth is 43 years old, but already has become one of the most noted and admired of America's younger living painters. He learned drawing from his father, N. C. Wyeth, the brilliant artist-illustrator of children's books. Although Andrew Wyeth is strictly a realist in his interpretation of people and nature, he puts more meaning and drama into his subject than meets the eye. It will be a rare opportunity to be able to see so many of his paintings (both water color and oil) in one exhibition.

After seeing the pictures the group will visit the new chapel and the auditorium. These are interesting examples of modern architecture and should be seen by every one.

The meeting at the Gallery begins promptly at 11:00 a.m. It is difficult to park on the Memorial Drive in front of the building, but there is parking space at the back. In order to reach this parking lot, follow these directions:

From Cambridge, follow Memorial Drive to Wadsworth Street, which is the second left after crossing Massachusetts Avenue. (If you use the Northern Artery, you will turn on to Memorial Drive and reach Wadsworth Street from the other direction.) Turn onto Wadsworth Street from Memorial Drive and go one block to Amherst Street.

The College Club group will be permitted to park in this area. Enter the Library and follow the arrow in the yellow symbol to the Gallery on the first floor.

We hope to see many of the members there at eleven o'clock tomorrow. If you need help in transportation call Mrs. Waldo Lyon, PA 9-2246.

Fireside 58 Guild

The November meeting of the Firesdie Fifty-Eight Guild of the First Congregational Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Greene, 25 Canterbury Road, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, November 17. We are privileged to have as our speaker Mr. Howard Niblock, who is Principal of the Winchester High School and a member of First Church.

Mr. Niblock, who has had experience in both private and public schools, will speak on "Preparing Young Students for High School." Refreshments will follow the meeting. All young married women of the church are cordially invited.

St. Mary's Holy Name

St. Mary's Holy Name Society held its monthly meeting at the K. of C. Hall following the 7:45 Mass, which was sung by Father Turke. Richard Hines and Jack Cronin assisted as altar boys. Father Dolphin led all members in reciting the Holy Name Pledge. President John Doherty presided and current business was discussed.

Bill McGaragle announced that a new program is being started whereby thirty families will join in saying the Rosary in honor of Our Blessed Lady of Fatima. These families will alternate in the saying of the Rosary in front of the statue of Our Blessed Lady of Fatima. The statue will be brought to each family's home for a certain length of time and rotated.

Program chairman John Dolan introduced the principal speaker who was Father Paul Delaney, a Maryknoll Missionary. His topic was "The Missions in Japan," a very interesting talk, which was followed by a question and answer session.

Father Delaney has been in Japan for six years and will return again to carry on his work as a Missionary.

The meeting was adjourned with a prayer. Remember the Nocturnal Adoration Society which meets on the third Friday of each month. Members meet between 8-8:15 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall and then proceed to St. Clement's Shrine, Boston, where they spend one hour from 9-10 p.m. Anyone who does not have a car will be provided with transportation, please call PA 9-3995.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Thanksgiving and Christmas if these holidays are to be happy occasions in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

Wakefield Demolishes Winchester 38-12 In League Tilt Here November 11

Almost Away!

Hand grab by Wakefield player trips Mike Bellino as he was ready to take off on a long gainer!

Sachems Completely Outclassed; Wakefield's Passing Game Superb

An alert, hard-hitting, fired-up Wakefield High School football team outclassed Winchester last Friday afternoon, 38-12, in a Middlesex League game before a big crowd on Manchester Field. After a quick touchdown in the opening minutes of play and a subsequent march that was nullified by a penalty after Winchester had reached the Wakefield 10, the Sachems were never in contention.

Wakefield made 19 first downs to eight for Winchester, rushing for 216 yards to the Sachems' 129. DeFeo and Shevlin of Wakefield completed 17 of 23 passes for a tidy 253 yards, while Neville completed one of 10 for 29 yards. Each team had a pass intercepted.

The Warriors lost 80 yards in penalties to 30 for Winchester, but Winchester had many more infractions than that which were refused by Wakefield. Winchester was constantly being called for back in motion and got one personal foul for 15 yards for piling on that set up a Wakefield score. The Sachems fumbled twice, recovering once, while Wakefield lost its only fumble.

Dick DeFeo, Wakefield quarterback and co-captain, gave a really brilliant exhibition of passing, one of the best seen against a Winchester team in a long time. He threw short or long, soft passes right on the button and he got some corking completions from Bob Birch and Warren Bacon.

Taking nothing from DeFeo, it must be admitted that Winchester's pass defense was not of the stoutest, and time and again Scarlet receivers were all alone waiting to grab DeFeo's pin-point passes.

During the first half Winchester held the Warriors to 40 yards on the ground, but the second half the Scarlet rolled up 176, making a lot of this yardage up the middle with Almeida and McNulty carrying. The Sachems were without their first-string center, Morison, who hasn't played since the Reading game, and his first-string replacement, big Norman Stafford, who left the squad last week.

Jimmy Flaherty, too, a first-string backer-up, was out of action with an injured hand, and lacking him and Morison, the Sachems were weak on defense right behind the line.

Winchester, after the first few minutes, just didn't have it, yet on what the Sachems showed against Melrose, and even against Reading, they are no 26 points worse than Wakefield. The Indians of the Aberjona didn't make one of their better efforts against the fired-up Warriors.

Local fans had a chance to whoop it up at the start of hostilities. The Sachems had to kick after receiving the kickoff and Bellino kicked to DeFeo on the Wakefield 39.

On the very first rush Almeida fumbled and Winchester recovered on the Wakefield 39. Bellino broke through to the Wakefield 25 and first down, but a second try by Mikey was piled up without gain.

Neville on a keeper picked his way to the 15, just short of a first down, which Dave Hall got on a buck up the middle to the Wakefield seven.

Bellino got three on a sweep, but then was piled up for a yard loss. Neville, however, on a slant off the Wakefield left tackle bounced off half the Wakefield team to score. Bellino was hit hard and fumbled on the try for the extra two points.

DeFeo ran the Winchester kickoff back from his 20 to the 40, and from there the Warriors went all the way, passes from DeFeo to Birch and Bacon sparking the drive. A DeFeo to Butler pass made first down at the 20, after which Almeida on a sweep around Winchester's left end reached the 8, and another first down.

A DeFeo pass was grounded and DeFeo on a keeper got only two. Winchester piled up a McNulty buck for a yard loss, but on fourth down, DeFeo hit Bacon in the end zone for the touchdown. A pass for the extra points was batted down.

Starting from their 29 the Sachems, aided by a 15-yard penalty against Wakefield for a personal foul, reached the Wakefield 31. Bellino picked up three but on the next play the Sachems' nemesis, a back-in-motion penalty, stalled their drive.

One That Didn't Go!

Neville was snowed back on the 38 on attempted pass play and a second pass was cleanly muffed at the Wakefield 15, Bellino kicking into the end zone on the first play of the second quarter.

Another personal foul stalled what looked like a promising Wakefield drive and DeFeo kicked to Carter at the Winchester 14. Hall busted through to the 25, Bellino added four and Neville dodged and drove to the 45, only to have a back-in-motion penalty stall the drive. A second back-in-motion call drove the Sachems further back and Bellino got off a corking boot from his own 23 to the Wakefield 30, where Tommy Bell downed the receiver in his tracks.

DeFeo tried a quickie pass over the line, but Mike Brink blocked the ball and grabbed it in the air to reach the Wakefield 25. Here Bellino swept right to the 10, but once again the Sachems lost five yards for back in motion, and the ball went back to the 30.

Two tries at the line lost three yards, a long pass intended for Lawrence was off the target and a second one intended for Carter just missed, Wakefield taking over.

A back-in-motion call against Wakefield set the Warriors back to their 25, but here DeFeo arched a long pass down the field to Bacon, who was dropped by Carter at the Winchester 32.

A second pass to Bacon reached the four, but here Mike Brink dropped McNulty for a two-yard loss. McNulty reached the three on a second try and again on fourth down DeFeo hit Birch with a look-in pass for the score. An attempted pass for the extra points was muffed.

Dick Rowe ran the kickoff back to the Winchester 34. A long roll-out pass to Bellino was batted down by three defenders, and a second shorter pass was intercepted by Meade of Wakefield at the Winchester 28.

Here again DeFeo got off a pretty pass to Bacon just outside the goal line and the Wakefield halfback trotted over. A pass for the extra points fell incomplete.

Moments after the kickoff Bellino had the ball jarred from his grasp and Wakefield recovered at the 19. A pass to Birch in the end zone was batted down by Bellino, but another pass to Almeida reached the 7, where Keene brought the receiver down.

Another pass to Bacon was completed at the Winchester 4, but time ran out before another play could be attempted.

During the between-the-halves show the Winchester Band got hearty applause when they spelled out the word "Rotary" and played the Rotary song in recognition of the club's gift to the Friends of the Band and Orchestra of the fine, new chuck wagon in use at the field.

Facing a deficit of 12 points with an 18-to-6 score, Winchester kicked off to start the second half. In spite of a 15-yard clipping penalty Wakefield advanced the ball on the ground to the Winchester 15 with McNulty and Almeida doing the bulk of the carrying. At the 15 DeFeo shot off a pretty pass to Bacon all alone in the end zone for the touchdown, making the score 24-6. A pass for the extra points was muffed.

Winchester couldn't go after the kickoff and Bellino got off another fine kick from the Wakefield 49 to the Wakefield 6.

Here the Warriors got a bad break, for after Almeida reached the 20, McNulty busted through the Winchester line and ran away from two Winchester defenders, 80 long yards for a touchdown. The score was nullified by a clipping penalty and the ball went back to the Wakefield 16.

Almeida and DeFeo reached the 39 and McNulty bulled through to midfield. On the next play a fifteen yarder for a personal foul against Winchester put the ball on the Winchester 26.

This did it nicely. A pass to Butler ate up nine yards as the final quarter began.

Neville knocked down a pass in the end zone, but McNulty broke through to the four. Here the Winchester line racked up McNulty without gain, but on the next play Almeida circled his own left end for the score.

DeFeo passed to Myette, a guard playing end on the play, for the extra points, but Wakefield was offside on the play and the next pass try was muffed.

Winchester had to kick after the kickoff and the Wakefield seconds took over with the ball at the Winchester 47.

With Seabury, a big 195-pound sophomore, doing some strong running and a second-string quarterback, Shevlin, passing effectively the Scarlet moved the ball to the Winchester 11, where Shevlin hit Birch for the score. Shevlin passed to Dennis for the extra points, making ahe score 38 to 6.

Marchant ran the kickoff back to the Winchester 39, and after two passes fell incomplete Neville tossed off a third, on which Bellino made a nice jumping catch at the Wakefield 32.

Bellino then got outside to the Wakefield 17, and Hall drove to the nine. Neville reached the five for a first down and Bellino bucked for two. On the next play Hall drove off tackle for the score. Bellino didn't quite make it on a buck for the extra points, and it was all over, with the joyous Wakefield players and rooters carrying DeFeo from the field as the Winchester fans filed silently homeward. The summary:

K. of C. Dance A Smash Success

A capacity crowd, bigger than that at any of last year's dances, attended the first teen age dance of the season given by Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, at their hall Friday evening, November 11.

Unlike most adults' dances, at which many couples arrive quite late, the teenagers arrived much earlier than the advertised starting time and were impatient to start their dancing. And dance they did—all evening!

The floor seemed crowded, dance after dance. In fact, it certainly was a bit of timely planning on the part of the K. of C. Building Committee to have the floor reinforced last year, because when the orchestra swung out with one of those popular "Jump Dance" numbers, not unlike the well-known "Mexican Hat Dance," the floor fairly quivered, so exuberant were the dancers.

The orchestra was easily the hit of the evening and a change from the record hops of last year, adding pace and color, talent and personality to their performance. "Sunny Side of the Street" and "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" were never played better by the big name bands.

Calling themselves "The Plaids," bedecked in plaid jackets, this popular six-piece orchestra comprises Al Bonney, leader and trumpet; Jim Reid, bass; Phil Mead, clarinet; Jon Hopkins, tenor sax; Dean Anderson, drums, and John Mallery, piano. Very popular in High School, the orchestra is kept busy playing on week end nights both for public and private functions.

Until the strains of "Goodnight Sweetheart," the final number by the band, the K. of C. Committee in charge, had nothing but praise for the decorum of all the young people. This was emphatically echoed by the chaperones in attendance the whole evening.

During the evening Youth Officer James Cogan put in an appearance and was enthusiastic at the fine time all were having. He praised the Knights for making their hall available to the teenagers.

Members of the K. of C. Teen Dance Committee who were present were general chairman William O'Leary; P.G.K. John Mulrenan, Louis Russo, Police Officer William Nash, Roland Nault, and William Kelley.

Chris Towner with his partner won the junior tennis doubles, and Paul Sheeran won the midget singles and shared the doubles victory.

Ned Niblock earned his senior lifesaving award and Reed Billman passed his junior lifesaving test as did Chip Lewis.

Peter Moulton won the music award for his contribution to camp music.

Harold Mugford captained the senior sailing crew that won the championship. Joe Lynch was on the senior football team and Kev Lynch and Paul Sheeran were members of the midget team.

Paul Sheeran won the midget Manual of arms prize drill. Peter Moulton won the position trophy in riflery presented by former Winchesterite George Gould.

Paul Sheeran was the leading midget blue in the activity point system and the elected midget blue leader.

Kev Lynch and Harry Mueller won their midget activity awards and Chris Towner was a junior winner while Russ Hatch, Joe Lynch, Peter Moulton, Garth Moulton, Harold Mugford and Stuart Davis won activity awards in the senior camp.

Sparky Cannon won his gold activity award for earning his award in each section of camp. Five or six boys earn their award every year and Sparky was one of five this year.

Plans for the summer of 1961 at Camp Wyanoke are well under way now and the 53rd year promises to be a good one.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling

The first third of our bowling season has come to a close, and what a climax!

The teams that took first and second places were, at one time, in eighth and ninth places. Now that is something to rave about.

Top honors went to the Diamonds with 24 wins, 12 losses and a pinfall of 10,546. The girls to be congratulated are Captain Phil Corby, Gerry Buzzotta, Florence Ciarcia, Jennie Amico, and Gene Di Donati.

Second place went to the Opals with 22 wins, 14 losses, and a close pinfall of 10,532. To be congratulated also are Captain Kay Lentine, Gert Fiore, Marie Pizzo, Angie Dattilo, and Loretta Frongillo.

That was a mighty fine performance, girls, but I won't hesitate to say you may have to work harder next third because there are several teams that are going to give you a rough time.

Thus far the highest average is held by Ann Caggiano, who incidentally has been on top all but the first two weeks. Good for you, Ann, and that is quite an improvement over last year.

Emily Buzzotta holds the title for highest single with 114. Emily doesn't have a very high score too often, but watch out for her in the next third.

Terry Nappa (watch this girl climb) has the highest three so far with a total of 286.

The fact that we are bowling in thirds is a definite advantage for the teams who finished at the bottom end of the list. Since the points and pinfall scores will start fresh it should give them more of an incentive to improve their bowling.

A special plug for the girls who aren't on the top of the list but who definitely deserve credit are, Hilda Tofuri, Kay Pizzo, Peggy Fiore, Polly Lifave, and, I am sure, many more who could be added to this list.

To conclude, I will say that this third of bowling showed some rather stiff competition and should create a greater challenge between teams this next third.

Marie Pizzo had the lucky number this week.

S. O. I. Bowling

Going into the tenth week of the S.O.I. Bowling League you will still find Boston College on top but this time tied with Yale with both teams winning 29 and losing 7. Yale leads in pinfalls with 12,510 and B. C. possessing 12,476. Boston College has led the league since the first match but Yale has been a very close trailer. And believe it or not these two teams are fighting it out against each other as you are reading this column. Bowling night for the league is Thursdays so the teams are on the way right now.

The results of last Thursday's matches have done much to alter the position of the teams in the league standings. At that time Boston College and Navy were in the one and two positions respectively and at this writing Yale has jumped into a top-place tie with B. C. and Navy still holding third place and Harvard not moving from fourth.

Georgetown has climbed to fifth from sixth and Notre Dame moved from eighth to sixth. Army has dropped from sixth place to seventh with Bates still holding eighth. Alabama held fifth position at this time last week but is now in ninth. The rest of the league finds California, Holy Cross, St. Mary's Maryland and Pennsylvania rounding off the standings in that order.

This evening's matches are most important to the top teams, Boston College and Navy, because this round finishes off the first half of the season with the two top teams of each half rolling it off at the end of the season for the championship.

Boston College has Joe Berardi as its captain with Joe DiIorio, Frank Provinzano, Carl Bertolucci, Roundy Fiore, and Vin Puma to help him out. Yale is led by Moose Bellino with Joe Paonessa, Mike Colucci, Art Dunbar, John Dattilo, Frank DiMambro backing him up.

Both teams are up for this one and every pitch is going to carry a lot of weight, so all eyes will be focused on this match and you can bet your life there will be a lot of excitement as the balls go rolling by. From all the talk there is much pressure on this one but win, lose or draw all will be friends and congratulating and encouraging each other.

It was nice seeing Ben "Oil Man" Gigliotte in the audience last week cheering his team on to victory. Ben has been in the hospital and we are pleased to see him making progress to recovery.

The name to be mentioned here is no newcomer in this particular situation but we again find Chick Vespucci as the winner of the attendance prize. Quite often we hear Chick's name as a winner and all we can say is congratulations and best of luck for the next event.

Towns In Schoolboy Rivalry Since 1891; One Of State's Oldest Grid Feuds

The Sachems of Winchester High and the Tanners of Woburn, bitter rivals on the gridiron since 1891, await the Thanksgiving Day whistle that will send them at each other at the Woburn High Stadium off Montvale Avenue in Woburn, commencing at 10:15.

Winchester and Woburn have one of the oldest schoolboy football rivalries in Greater Boston and through the years have waged some thrilling games. Either would rather beat the other than any team on its schedule; and though the schools compete in different leagues, no luster has been rubbed from their annual meeting on Thanksgiving Day because of this fact.

Woburn competes in the Northeast Conference and was in contention for the league crown until defeated last Saturday by Marblehead. Winchester plays in the Middlesex League and has been out of contention since its defeat by Reading three weeks ago.

As a consequence neither team comes into the holiday classic with its escutcheon bright. Wobrn has lost three games; Winchester has lost two and tied one. Both teams were badly beaten last Saturday in their last game before the Thanksgiving Day battle.

Woburn has beaten Newburyport, 30-0; Andover, 28-12; Winthrop, 24-8; Amesbury, 24-0; and Danvers, 28-0. The Orange lost to Swampscott; 16-22; to Natick, 26-28; and to Marblehead, 8-32. Only in the last game were the Tanners outclassed and in both the Swampscott and Natick games Woburn came strongly in the second half, just missing victory.

It is enlightening to note that in its victories Woburn blanked three of its victims and, granted the whitewashed victims did not constitute too stout opposition, the fact remains that the Tanners have defensive strength. In its losing battles with Swampscott and Natick the Orange tallied 50 points, indicating plenty of offense. No team has been able to hold the Tanners scoreless.

Winchester has beaten Concord, 26-20; Stoneham, 14-6; Cambridge Latin, 38-6; Belmont, 20-18; and has tied Melrose, 14-14. The Sachem losses are to Reading, 22-0; and to Wakefield, 38-12. The Red and Black hasn't shut out a single opponent, and both of its defeats have been in one-sided games.

Woburn has tallied 184 points and given up 102 while Winchester has scored 144 points and given up 130. With both teams facing about the same sort of opposition, these figures could mean that the Tanners have an advantage offensively and defensively over the Indians of the Aberjona.

Scores of preceding games, however, mean very little when the Sachems and Tanners mingle, and even when the two teams met common opponents through the season the scores of these games helped not at all in doping a winner.

Fans who have seen both clubs, and your correspondent is not listed among them, seem to feel Woburn is the better team this year. In beating teams like Danvers and Winthrop decisively and playing teams like Swampscott and Natick on practically even terms the wise ones believe the Tanners have a better record than the Sachems, who haven't beaten a really good team this season and didn't come close in their two defeats.

Winchester's only really good game was its 14-14 tie with Melrose, a game the Sachems deserved to win, and would have won if it had not been for a blocked kick in the final minutes of play. Aside from Melrose, Winchester has been strictly in and out and totally unpredictable. At times the Sachems have played good ball, and if they can reach the form they showed against Melrose they can give Woburn a ball game.

If you must have a favorite the Star would say Woburn deserves this designation which. however, can be strictly an unenviable role in a Winchester - Woburn game, where breaks, a quick score and the condition of the field are imponderables that can mean defeat or victory.

The Tanners have some weight up front wtih Rocky Nelson at 205; Arthur Barrett, 190; and Tom Quinn, 210, in the starting lineup, bolstered by defense players, Bill Lewis, 250; and Ed Sullivan, 210. Winchester has no such size.

During Paul Dorrington's regime at Woburn the Tanners were a single wing, multiple offense team with an offense that was very effective, but not exciting. Walter White, coach for the past two seasons has installed the T, giving the Tanners a lot more color.

In co-captain Donnie Eaton, Mel Schenk and Lennie Burnham, Woburn has three speedy backs, fed by a fine quarterback, Ed Foley, a great all around athlete Woburn fans are comparing with that great legerdemain artist of 1957, Harold Anderson.

In the 69 years of the Woburn-Winchester rivalry Winchester has won 27 games, Woburn, 19, and there have been seven ties. If this does not add up, it should be remembered that in the early years there were several in which either one school or the other did not have a team, or no game was arranged.

Since 1940 Winchester has won 13, Woburn, six and there has been one tie. Woburn last won in 1957 when one of the Tanners best clubs in recent years really outclassed the Sachems, 27-13. Last year Winchester won, 18-8, and in '58 the Sachems outclassed the Tanners, 44-6.

This is another year, and it really looks as though the Tanners have the horses this year. There are also rumors that some of Coach Knowlton's first string players may not be able to play against the Tanners, because of scholastic deficiencies. In Mike Brink Winchester has a fine lineman, in Mike Bellino the Sachems have one of the better backs around. If his blockers will give Mikey some help he can give Woburn some gray hairs.

The season's records of the teams follow:

Pee Wee Hockey Starts Dec. 3

Commencing December 3 and continuing through February 25 Pee Wee hockey, which has proven so popular with Winchester boys, will be held at the Belmont Hill School artificial rink each Saturday morning under the direction of a former Winchester boy, Scott Parrot, and his associates.

This program is a hockey school and not a skating school. If you do not skate fairly well, brush up on your skating on a home town pond, this year, learning to skate backwards, cut both left and right, turn to left and right and stop short.

If you think you do these things pretty well now, mark "advanced" on your application and be at rinkside promptly at 7:30 a.m. December 3. If you need some help in executing these maneuvers, check "beginners" on your application and be at the rink at 9:30 a.m. If you can't do these things at all, don't apply!

To be eligible for the program a boy must be 9 years old by June 1, 1960, and under 15 years as of November, 1960. Each year there have been more applications than could be taken so applicants are urged to hurry. The first 180 applicants will be accepted. Application forms may be secured at the Winchester Sport Shop and any information about the program may be obtained by phoning IVanhoe 4-3701.

The first section of the school extends from December 3 through January 7 and is devoted to fundamentals, skating, stick handling, goal tending. The second section from January 14 through February 25 is devoted to league hockey with a six-team "A" league and a six-team "B" league. Every boy will be a member of a team and play in each game.

All boys must wear helmets and must provide their own skates, sticks, pads and gloves. Goalie equipment will be provided.

The point is, if you are interested, get your application in at once. Remember for information call IVanhoe 4-3701.

Children's Book Week Observed At Library

National Children's Book Week is being celebrated this week in libraries across the country. Have you visited your library to see the exhibit of new books for boys and girls? These books, on display this week only, give both children and parents a chance to browse among them—to compare them—and to make lists for future reference.

What an excellent opportunity for getting Christmas gift suggestions! Books make the very best gifts for children.

Junior High Fellowship Meeting

The Junior High Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will meet on Sunday, November 20, at 4:30 p.m. in the Tucker Room. A film, "The Cheat" will be shown followed by a discussion. The Interest Group Leaders will be present to meet their respective groups and continue planning for the future.

MISS DONNA E. MASON

Miss Donna E. Mason, who is teaching second grade at the Parkhurst School, came to Winchester to teach directly from Boston College School of Education where she received her Bachelor of Science degree in education last June. She had previously done practice teaching in Winchester at the Wyman School.

Miss Mason was born in Boston but grew up in Arlington and graduated from Arlington High School in 1956. Her hobbies include tennis, golf and sailing with tennis having a slight advantage over golf in her book. She has yet to make a "hole-in-one!"

Miss Mason makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Mason, at 11 Orlando Street in Arlington. She is not the first of her family to teach, her mother having taught before her marriage in the elementary schools of Maynard.

Strange Visitor

It was about mid-morning last Saturday when the Star phone rang and a feminine voice asked if we would be interested in a bit of news.

That being our chief excuse for existence during the eighty odd years we have been serving the town, we allowed as how we were all ears.

The voice identified itself as belonging to Mrs. Robert H. Larson of 49 Thornberry Road in the Winchester Estates and the news she wanted to give us was that there was a huge owl perched on the ridge pole of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Hargbols' house at 54 Thornberry Road. A crowd was gathering to watch the bird and Mrs. Larson thought a photograph might be in order.

We told her we would try to alert our photographer, feeling if there was one thing we could not forgive it would be for him to be unavailable at a moment's notice on a Saturday morning after a holiday.

Unfortunately he was not available, but Mrs. Larson kept us informed of the owl's activity, adding the information that the Audubon Society had identified it as a great snowy owl, an arctic bird that seldom gets as far south as Winchester. He was about two feet tall and had a big wing spread.

We informed Mrs. Larson that we were lending every effort toward locating out photographer, but at about the end of an hour she called saying the bird had left the Hargbols' house. It was at this point that our missing camera man called in to know "what was doing!"

He said he would take a turn around the hill, but he apparently had no luck as he returned with no pictures of great snowy owls. Meanwhile Mrs. Larson and editor commiserated each other and returned to the usual chores awaiting them. These arctic birds ought to give us some notice when they plan to do a bit of calling in Winchester.

Special Thanksgiving Service

A special Thanksgiving service is announced by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester for 11:00 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

Open to the general public, the service will be held in the edifice at 114 Church Street. No collections of any kind are to be taken at this service.

Expressions of praise and gratitude to God will be read from the Bible and also from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy in a Lesson-Sermon for the day entitled "Thanksgiving."

The Golden Text is from Revelation (7-12): "Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever."

The latter portion of the service will be devoted to voluntary expressions of gratitude by members of the congregation for God's goodness shown in spiritual growth, healings, and other blessings.

Holy Name Heard Navy Speaker

Commander John Griffin of the U. S. Navy, a resident of Woburn, was the guest speaker of the Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society at the regular monthly meeting last Sunday, November 13.

After a ham and egg breakfast in the school hall, the members retired to the parish hall where Commander Griffin spoke on the "Navy's Role in Global Strategy." Commander Griffin's talk was followed by a lively question and answer period plus a film about the Sixth Fleet's activities in the Mediterranean Area.

President Joseph Cullinane presided over the meeting. Father Kenney is the spiritual director.

Dear friends,

A lady told us recently that she had never fully realized the meaning of flowers at a funeral until she had experienced the loss of a loved one. The floral cards, she said, are still her treasured possession - a remembrance of those who expressed sympathy in this beautiful way.

Floral expressions add beauty and comfort that cannot be measured.

Respectfully,
Fenton H. Norris

Man's real, satisfying identity will be emphasized at Christian Science churches Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul and Body."

Scriptural selections will include this verse: "I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well" (Psalms 139:14).

To be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (302:3-8): "The material body and mind are temporal, but the real man is spiritual and eternal. The identity of the real man is not lost, but found through this explanation; for the conscious infinitude of existence and of all identity is thereby discerned and remains unchanged."

New Telephone Directory Distribution Starts Nov. 18

Delivery of the 1961 Boston telephone directory, bound in an illustrated color cover symbolizing Greater Boston as an educational and medical center, begins Friday, November 18. The job will take about three weeks, with favorable weather.

For the first time in this directory, there will be listings with all-numeral numbers, such as 743-9800, which has replaced SHerwin 3-9800 as the number of the Telephone Company's general and divisional offices.

This style of numbering is already effective for several thousand telephones in Somerville and will be effective December 4 for all telephones in Reading. Its eventual adoption throughout the United States will provide for the greater number of central office codes (the first three numerals) required for the growing number of telephones.

The new directory's introductory pages have been revised to include additional information and to improve arrangement and readability. Included is an expanded list of some of the many hundreds of U.S. and Canadian places, together with their area codes, reachable by Direct Distance Dialing.

Listing pages total 1379, an increase of eight reflecting telephone growth in the directory area since the 1960 edition was published. Listings include revisions for changes arranged through last October 5.

About 500 men and women will do the work of delivering about 950,000 copies of the directory in the 400 square miles of the Boston telephone area. Completion of this delivery will be immediately followed by delivery of the Yellow Pages volume.

Don't worry about that typing error. Eaton's Ko-Rec-Type lets you correct mistakes in typing without erasing. Gives perfect original! $1.19 a package at the Winchester Star.

M. S. P. C. A. Notes

The supply of chairs almost ran out, but, luckily, not the sandwiches at last Monday's meeting of the Winchester Auxiliary of the M.S.P.C.A. held at the home of its president, Mrs. Fred Cardin, of 8 Copley Street.

The crisp fall day saw a record turn-out to see and hear Mrs. Lewis Snow and her movies of the Upbringing of Precious Pugs. Their necessary equipment, their handling and their antics made for a real fun afternoon. Pug "Snowflake Snow" made a personal appearance and was enthusiastically passed from lap to lap.

Mrs. Winthrop Knox spoke of the booming plans for the upcoming cake and novelty sale next Friday, the 18th, at the old Dorothy Muriel store.

Two honored guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Tibbets and Mrs. Carstenson, president and treasurer respectively of the Melrose Animal Shelter group. They told of an arrangement with a local vet for brief care of needy Melrose animals. Although their two-hundred member group meets but once a year at one big annual affair, their accomplishments are many and vary from the rescue of injured dogs and cats from the street to free operations for pets whose owners can't shoulder the fee. Mrs. Tibbets' remarks made the Winchester Auxiliary feel it had better get on its toes and see that Winchester's animals get as good a deal as Melrose's.

Junior Mrs.

A delightful evening's entertainment is in store for members and friends of the Junior Mrs. of the First Congregational Church on Tuesday, November 22, at 7:45 p.m.

At this meeting our voyage will be to the Orient. Through the capable efforts of Mrs. James Shiang we will "see" some of the ceremonies, which are indeed very colorful, held in China during the festivals which occur very frequently, about once a month, and which the New Year is a very important one. To further familiarize ourselves, we will also get a glimpse of the traditions, and of the life and philosophy of its people. A native dance in costume by Mrs. Shiang's children is another highlight of the evening.

Do plan to come and "see". You surely cannot afford to lose so much.

Y. P. F. Paper Drive

The paper drive sponsored by the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of the Epiphany will be held this Saturday, November 19, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Papers may be left at the church, or they will be picked up if donors will call the Church Saturday morning.

The proceeds from the paper drive will be used for the Young People's Fellowship Christmas projects.

The Fortnightly

A very well attended meeting of the Fortnightly was held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Monday afternoon, November 14, with the President, Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch welcoming members and guests. Mrs. William E. Priest led the Club Collect, followed by the Thanksgiving Hymn.

Mrs. Carlyle D. Fiske, treasurer, announced that she had charge of selling candy for the benefit of philanthropies. She said the luncheon had netted a good sum toward the Christmas bags for the Veterans, but she would appreciate any good (used) playing-cards for the bags.

Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist, the former president, read a most interesting report of the three-day State Federation convention, which she had attended in May at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

Mrs. Hatch said that the next meeting would be November 28, beginning at 10:30 with an auction for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund. There will be a Snack Bar. Mrs. Clifford M. Templeton, 8th District Director will be guest of honor. An illustrated lecture on Russia by James R. Uhlinger will be the afternoon program.

She reminded club members that December 12th will be guest night, and suggested that they invite husbands and friends early.

The Institute is Thursday, December 1st at the Y.W.C.A. in Boston.

Mrs. Fiske introduced Richard Friend Lufkin, president of the Bostonian Society, and officer and member of many other societies, who gave a beautiful and much enjoyed illustrated lecture "The DuPont Showplace".

He had lovely and interesting slides of "Winterthur", the 100-room mansion, made by joining the former home of Henry Francis DuPont with Port Royal House, Red Lion Inn, Gov. Wentworth House of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and an early one from Ipswich. These are all furnished in the finest and most authentic antiques and oriental rugs, arranged in liveable rooms.

The gardens and grounds are laid out with flowering shrubs, trees and flowerbeds with the best specimens of each variety, both at Winterthur Museum of Americana in Delaware and the nearby Longwood Gardens, just across the Pennsylvania border. This has the largest conservatory in the world. Mr. Lufkin had slides of the rooms, detail slides of special articles (such as a 14 inch Sandwich glass plate), which were varied with outdoor scenes around the grounds of both.

Mrs. Ralph R. Meigs was in charge of the delicious tea, with Mrs. Paul L. Eaton and Mrs. William Ludlam pouring at the beautifully decorated table arranged with small bronze and gold chrysanthemums as a centerpiece by Mrs. George Lemay.

"Mary Stuart" Exhibit Now At Peck and Peck

A small but interesting exhibit of handmade wax figures to simulate Mary Stuart and Queen Elizabeth is on exhibit this week in Peck and Peck's window, as part of the Parish Players' 35th anniversary presentation of the famed Schiller play "Mary Stuart". The play will be presented in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 17, 18 and 19.

The Players wish to thank Mrs. Miano, manager of Peck and Peck, for placing the miniature exhibit in the window, and hope that Winchester Star readers will stop to look at it.

Union Service At First Baptist

Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, November 23, the Protestant churches of Winchester will share a Union Service to be held at the First Baptist Church at seven forty-five o'clock. "Why Thanksgiving?" is the Message chosen by Rev. Ralph Earle, Pastor of the Second Congregational Church. Music, by a combined choir including some of the choir members of each of our local churches, will be directed by Mr. Raymond Shannon, Organist and Choir Director at First Baptist Church.

The Pastors of the participating churches will take part in the service. Make this a part of your Thanksgiving observance by attending the service in family groups. A warm welcome is extended to all.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Although many of the sixty contestants at the duplicate bridge game on Wednesday, November 9, had been watching election returns until the wee hours the night before, the competition was alert and keen in both sections.

We almost had a triple tie for first place, North-South, in Section A, while the top finishers East-West were only one point apart. This section played 21 boards at seven tables for an average of 63.

North-South

Nancy Atkinson and Greta Hawley, 68½
Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mansfield, 68½
G. Benoit and J. Benoit, 68
Dr. Widdowson and Mr. Parlee, 64
June Nelson and Becky Zimmerman, 63½

East-West

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ross, 73½
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blackler, 72½
Richard Smith and Mr. Wetmore, 69½
Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, 67

Merriam-Woolley had a tremendous evening in Section B, leading both fields by more than 10 points! Perhaps we should break up this powerful team,—but then we might have to face the potent combination of Joy Woolley and Ann Wild!

North-South

Janie Gantt and Ernie Pinson, 70
Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, 68
Nelson Bell and Blair Hawley, 67½
Ann Wild and Jo Dingwell, 62½
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, 62½

East-West

Marjorie Merriam and Joy Woolley, 87
Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, 76½
Ruby White and Polly Dallin, 67½
Laura Grace and Mary Laughlin, 64

Our guest commentator this week is Herb Ross, who offers the following analysis:

One controversial hand played in section A found the top board making 6 hearts. Call it lucky if you wish, because the opening lead made the slam possible. Two others who also bid the slam were not so fortunate. Following is the hand:

North
♠ 10 7 5
♥ 6 2
♦ 6 5
♣ A K 8 7 4 3

West	East
♠ Q 9 2	♠ 8 6 4 3
♥ 5	♥ J 9 4
♦ J 10 7 4	♦ A Q 9 3 2
♣ Q J 10 9 2	♣ 5

South
♠ A K J
♥ A K Q 10 8 7 3
♦ K 8
♣ 6

Both sides vulnerable, east the dealer.

East and West can only pass, but South having 23 points including distribution will probably open for 2 Hearts. North responds with 3 Clubs, and South employs the Gerber or Blackwood convention to find one ace missing and settles for 6 Hearts.

Opening lead was the Jack of Diamonds taken with the ace by East who promptly returned the lead. South then took the trick with the King of Diamonds and the rest was easy, since the Jack of Spades could be discarded on a club. However, if East had returned a club instead of the diamond, the hand could not be made.

Two others bidding a slam were faced with an opening lead of the Queen of clubs. In each instance the Ace of clubs was cashed followed by the King of clubs with the intention of discarding the Jack of spades. When East trumped, South was forced to overtrump with no entry to the board and the hand was down.

Three others made 6 hearts but did not bid the slam. In each case the opening lead was a spade which made the hand simple.

Speculate now on a bid of 6 N.T. Would you make such a bid with this distribution? Probably not, but the fact remains that 6 NT cannot be set with any lead if South follows the same pattern of play and discards the Jack of spades on the King of clubs and leads up to the King of diamonds from the board.

WHS Drafting Students Get On-The-Spot Experience

You might take them for sidewalk superintendents. But it is ten o'clock on Wednesday morning. School is in session, and here is a group of high school boys examining the construction of a new house on Main Street. What are they doing out of school?

These young men are carrying out one of their assignments for the Senior High School class in Architectural Drafting. They watched the pouring of the cement foundation in early September, and will make a weekly visit until the house is completed.

Through the courtesy of the owner and contractor, Mr. Nicholas Fitzgerald, Jr., the boys have the opportunity of observing all the steps in the building of a split-level house with a new type of jet heat furnace. Meanwhile in their regular class periods they are busy with their own designs for a home. They begin in this Architectural Drafting course with the design of a split-level or ranch house. They search through magazines and books for inspiration on a basic plan. After individual conferences with their instructor, they sketch floor plans, learning that plumbing, hallways and closets are important considerations in planning a house.

At the Town Hall the students get copies of Building Laws since it is necessary for a home owner to know the official restrictions and requirements of town and state. Zoning laws are studied. There are other problems to be considered. What is the contour of land on their imaginary plots? Should the living room face east, west or south? How may rooms be best arranged for efficiency and economy?

The Architectural Drafting class meets four times a week. In one period the instructor, Mr. William F. Branley, head of the Industrial Arts Department, lectures on house planning and construction, drawing on his own experiences as a carpenter, on movies and film strips. Two periods are spent in drafting, the fourth in observation. In the spring the students will probably, as last year, study design of a multiple-dwelling unit. At the end of the work on a split-level or ranch house they must present for the instructor's approval a final design showing elevations and a perspective sketch rendered in color.

The course was offered in the Winchester High School because three out of four of the national population in these days own or wish to own their homes. Although it would certainly be helpful to students with architectural ambitions, it is primarily based on a universal interest and need to know. One year of drafting is a pre-requisite for this course.

"In a course such as this," said Mr. Branley, "we learn to realize once again how fortunate we are to have a fine cooperative spirit between the people and officials of the town and the School Department."

Enrolled in the two sections of the course are 32 Juniors and Seniors, who will no doubt be spared the painful experiences of Mr. Blanding building his "Dream House." They are:

Dr. Alfred Hero Will Lecture On Race Relations

Dr. Alfred Hero will give some of the highlights from his forthcoming book on race relations in the South, in the Palmer Room at the First Congregational Church on Monday, November 21, at 8 p.m. His studies of this problem will shed new light on the complex inter-play of forces involved in desegregation. He will also describe some of the effects of this situation on our foreign policy. Desegregation has not been just a domestic problem!

Born in New Orleans, Dr. Hero served as an Army Officer from 1945-54 after graduation from West Point. He has also studied at Vanderbilt University and received his Ph.D in International Relations at George Washington University. Since leaving the service, he has been executive secretary of the World Peace Foundation.

This is the first of two lectures on this vital current problem. The meetings are open to all.

Featured will be three films. In color will be "Union of South Africa," comparing the three ways of life—native tribes, Boer farms, and mining communities. "Our Changing Family Life," notes the changes between 1880 and the present. The third, "Live Teddy Bears," shows the habits and behaviour of the Australian Koala.

On exhibit will be books related to the films and available to borrowers.

A second showing of the film program will be held on Saturday morning at 10:15 a.m. Tickets for the Saturday program must be obtained in the Boys' and Girls' Room before the movies start.

There will be no film program on the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Senior Forum

Rev. Charles E. Batten, professor of Christian Education at Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge and director of Christian Education at the Church of the Epiphany in Winchester, will be the guest speaker at the Senior Forum service this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. at the First Congregational Church. He will speak on the subject: "Growing in Gratitude."

Mr. Batten is a popular speaker with young people. Able to speak their language, aware of their attitudes and needs, he brings Christian thinking to bear on the problems which young people face in the world today.

During the past year Mr. Batten and Dr. Donald E. McLean, also of Winchester, collaborated in the publishing of the book "Fit To Be Tied," a program of preparation for marriage which has been widely used with many church youth groups. Mr. Batten has spoken at Forum on several occasions and will be heard with interest by his many friends.

For the service Leroy Shea will serve as chaplain with Eric Wittet as assistant chaplain. Walter Scott and George Elwell will be deacons and Robert Niles and Bruce Graves ushers.

At 6:00 p.m. this Sunday the first of this season's Class Nights will be held. These evenings are occasions when the separate classes of Forum meet in the homes of their class advisers for sociability and discussion led by the class representatives. The meetings will be as follows: Seniors with Mr. and Mrs. George Gowdy, 4 Lantern Lane; Juniors with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Anderson, 3 Inverness Road; Sophomores with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson, 12 Ledyard Road; Ninth Grade with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Moody, 11 Crescent Road.

The annual Thanksgiving offering of food for distribution through the Boston City Missionary Society will be brought to chapel service on Sunday. A share will also be set aside for use by the Winchester Relief Committee.

In Wellesley Choir

Miss Susan Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Wallace of 2 Dartmouth Street, is a member of the Wellesley College Choir which opened its 1960-61 season on Sunday, November 6, with the traditional Fall Vesper Concert.

During the academic year the Wellesley Choir will sing with glee clubs from Princeton and Yale universities and will present their traditional Christmas and baccalaureate vesper concerts. Choir members also sing at daily and Sunday chapel services on the campus which is located in Wellesley.

A freshman at Wellesley, Miss Wallace prepared for college at the Abbot Academy in Andover.

Christmas Club

Mr. Vincent C. Ambrose, president of the Winchester Trust Company, announced today that checks totaling $117,103 were mailed to all Christmas Club depositors at the close of business on Wednesday, November 16.

The popular appeal of this particular type of savings is clearly indicated by the substantial increases which have been shown again this year in the number of individual depositors as well as the total dollar volume of Christmas Club deposits. The yearly distribution of this money, saved over a 50-week period, gives added impetus to the pre-holiday purchasing power of a large number of prospective retail shoppers.

The 1961 Christmas Club applications will be available at both offices of the Winchester Trust Company, 35 Church Street and 16 Mt. Vernon Street, on and after Thursday, November 17.

Toys For Tots Drive

The "Toys For Tots" campaign for the 1960 Christmas season will be held in this area from November 25th to December 23rd, inclusive. The United States Marine Corps Reserve, the Salvation Army Men's Center, and the Shell Oil Company are again sponsoring the campaign.

This year will be the fourth consecutive season that these organizations have combined their resources to make sure that every unfortunate and needy child in this area will receive a visit from "Santa Claus" by way of "Toys For Tots."

This "Toys For Tots" drive is an annual collection of new or good used toys, given by the general public and distributed to otherwise-forgotten boys and girls. The toys are left at any Shell Service Station, (in Winchester, Preston's Shell in the Center) and picked up by the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve and Salvation Army trucks. Thus, children who would otherwise have no holiday remembrances are given a bit of "Merry Christmas."

All Shell service stations, as well as executive personnel, will be used in the "Toys For Tots" campaign.

Scotch Girl Secretary Here

Last week our attention was called to a pleasant, blonde-haired young lady who was purchasing supplies in the Star stationers' store. She spoke with an accent and a bit of a burr that made us think she came from Scotland and a question elicited the fact that she had come to this country about three weeks ago from Glasgow. Her name, she said is Irene Wilson.

Questioning her further, we learned she is working in the office of a Winchester physician at the Professional Building on Dix Street.

How did she happen to get a job with this doctor, we wanted to know? Did she come to this country to take the job. After all Glasgow is a long way from Winchester and there must be jobs in that ancient Scottish city.

Miss Wilson admitted she did not know anything about the job when she and her mother left Scotland by plane some three weeks ago. She had long felt that there were excellent opportunities for employment in the United States and had made up her mind to come to this country anyway. Her mother, also Irene Wilson, accompanied her for a holiday, but returns to Scotland by plane, December 8.

MISS IRENE WILSON

Miss Wilson's mother is a former Medford girl, and it was natural for her and her daughter to head for Greater Boston when they left Scotland, especially in view of the fact that cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, make their home in Winchester, next town to Medford, at 700 Washington Street.

So over the Wilsons came and out to Winchester they proceeded to the Campbells' home. It was through Mrs. Campbell that Miss Wilson got her job, the Campbell's daughter having been a patient of the doctor in question.

Miss Wilson is delighted with America, so much so that she wants her three sisters left at home to plan to come here as soon as possible. Rosanne is a stenographer in a law office, Mary, an I.B.M. operator; and Wilma is a bookkeeper. Their sister here has no doubts at all of their getting jobs in the United States.

Incidentally Miss Wilson is one of 11 children, the youngest just out of school. She got her education in Glasgow in the elementary and Senior Secondary schools.

Every one does not go to Senior Secondary in Glasgow. One must pass an examination to qualify. Those who do not qualify go to the Junior Secondary, where one can, according to Miss Wilson, get a good education.

She did not go through Secondary School, leaving to go to work in a law office in Glasgow. At 18 she passed the Civil Service examination to become a postal worker and also was successful with a succeeding examination which must be passed by permanent employees.

Three years ago she left the post-office to do personnel and guidance work for a furniture company, and it was from this job that she came to this country.

As we mentioned above, Miss Wilson likes the United States and is especially pleased to find so many fine old houses in Winchester. She attended the Hallowe'en Parade in Woburn recently and was delighted with the ingenuity of the costumes and other features. She likes football on TV, is looking forward to visiting some of the nearby historic spots as soon as opportunity presents itself. Coming from a country that is much older than ours. Miss Wilson expressed herself as surprised at finding so much here that is old as well as historic.

MISS NEW ENGLAND VACATIONER. Pretty 18-year-old Sylvia Gustavson of Winchester, chosen Miss New England Vacationer in a six-state search which won her a week's vacation at any of the 12 Charterhouse Motor Hotels of Hotel Corporation of America and use of an Avis Rent-a-Car, is presented keys by Francis A. Sawyer, executive vice president of Avis Rent-a-Car, left, and Michael Schweiger, manager of Waltham Charterhouse Motor Hotel, right. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid H. Gustavson of 74 Salisbury Street, Miss Gustavson graduated from Winchester High School in June and is now a freshman at Jackson College for Women, Tufts University, where she is majoring in elementary school education. She plans to take her trip during one of her coming college vacations.

Medical Women Plan Unusual Afternoon

"Create a Christmas Hat and Win a Prize" is the theme of the unusual afternoon being planned by the Women's Auxiliary to the Middlesex East Medical Society. On December 8, a Christmas Mad Hatters Card Party will be held at Memorial Hall in Melrose to benefit the Auxiliary's Nursing Scholarship Fund.

Guests are being encouraged to design and wear a hat of any size, shape or description to add to the enthusiasm and novelty of the party. The designer of the winning creation is to be awarded a fifty-dollar hat personally designed for her by Ethel Atkins of Boston. There will be enticing table prizes and a lovely gift table. Refreshments will be enjoyed for the first half-hour of the afternoon.

Among the district chairmen for this scholarship fund project are Mrs. Morton Grant, Mrs. Paul Keleher, and Mrs. Henry A. Magno of Winchester, and tickets are available through them.

Bouve-Boston Presents Carl de Suze

The Alumnae of Bouve-Boston School of Physical Education and Physical Therapy are sponsoring an evening with Carl de Suze and his new illustrated lecture, "Africa, Giant at the Door." The show will be held at Cohen Auditorium, Tufts University, Medford, on Thursday, December 1, at 8:00 p.m. Proceeds from this lecture benefit will go toward the Alumnae Fund Scholarships which are offered to deserving students each year.

Carl de Suze has recently returned from Africa and predicts that "Africa, Giant at the Door" will be a most colorful and timely journey.

The lecture receives its title because today Africa, like a giant at the door, has taken long strides through ages of tribal rule and is presenting herself for admission to the twentieth century.

Mrs. John FitzGerald of 1900 Washington Street, Auburndale, is chairman of the benefit.

New Vocational Center At Morgan Memorial

Handicapped people from all parts of New England will receive job training in Boston under a new pioneer Vocational Rehabilitation project sparked by the Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries, the Federal government and various state agencies.

The new official centralized training center for the six state area will be located in Morgan Memorial's Harry K. Noyes Building, at 927 Washington Street in Boston, and will open with appropriate ceremonies today, Thursday, November 17th.

The new undertaking, set in motion by a U. S. grant of $57,000 and $22,000 contributed by friends of Morgan Memorial, will seek to evaluate the potential of each handicapped person, provide the proper training and work conditioning, and find interim employment.

A total of 115 handicapped people, victims of all types of crippling diseases, visually handicapped, amputees, cerebral palsied and epileptics will make up the first contingent of trainees; more handicapped persons will be brought into Boston for rehabilitation and job training as members of the first group are restored and moved out into business and industry.

An open house between 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and a dinner program will be held tonight at 6 o'clock attended by representatives of state and federal groups, business and industry and others, at Morgan Memorial, to signal the start of the program.

Mr. Warren H. Thompson of Framingham, president of the Goodwill Associates of Morgan Memorial Goodwill Inn, states that special recognition will be given to the early founders of the Noyes Center of Morgan Memorial, where this project will be housed. Vincent P. Clarke of Winchester, president of Morgan Memorial, will cite Mrs. Harry K. Noyes of Newton for her vision in establishing the Rehabilitation and Industrial Training Center in memory of her late husband, Mr. Harry K. Noyes.

Another unique feature in the new centralized program is that living quarters will be provided for the trainees.

When the new operation begins, it will be the first facility for training handicapped in such a comprehensive program in the New England area.

Our Youth Problem - 4

Juvenile Officer Has A Big Responsibility

(This is the last in a series of four Star feature stories on juvenile delinquency in Winchester.)

Do we REALLY need a Special Juvenile Officer in Winchester? How many times have you heard that question from skeptical people convinced that our youth problem is "not all that bad?"

Perhaps a good way to answer this question is to take a looksee at just what our Special Juvenile Officer, James Cogan, has been doing in the six months since his appointment by Chief Derro.

In this six-month period from April 18 to October 26, Officer Jim has interviewed 139 juveniles involved in trouble, and 206 parents. He has investigated 103 cases of the 120 juvenile crime cases, and has visited Winchester schools 27 times in connection with his work.

That's an impressive record, we think you will agree. It's all part of the Winchester Police Department's all-out drive to curb and prevent juvenile crime. It is a campaign in which every Winchester police officer is directly or indirectly involved.

In this same six-month period Special Officer Cogan appeared in nine juvenile court cases, and referred two cases to doctors, six to church authorities, and nine to police departments in other towns.

In eight cases of restitution for juvenile crimes, Officer Cogan reports, $495 was paid in cases involving Town-owned property and $205 in cases involving privately owned property.

As listed by Officer Cogan himself, these are some of the duties of a special juvenile officer:

1. Investigation of all crimes in which Juveniles are involved or suspected.

2. Prepare all Juvenile cases for Court if this action is necessary.

3. Prosecute all Juvenile cases in Court.

4. Keep in touch with all Juveniles on probation in conjunction with the Court Probation Officer.

5. Making weekly visits to Juveniles who have not reached the point where Court action is necessary but who have had trouble with the Police.

6. Giving talks to any groups that may wish to familiarize themselves with the Juvenile problems.

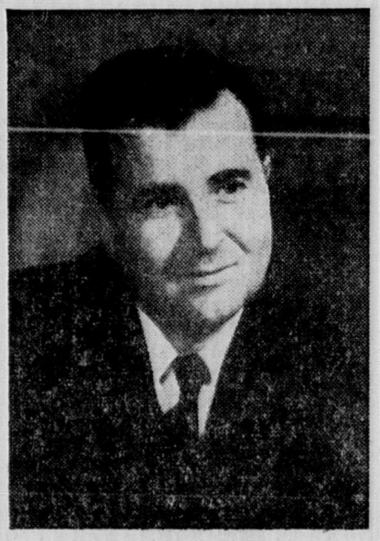
Dr. Asa Knowles Gets DeMolay's Legion of Honor

Dr. Asa S. Knowles of 25 Arlington Street, president of Northeastern University, received the DeMolay Legion of Honor from the International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay, in the Quincy Masonic Temple Tuesday, November 22, at 8:00 p.m.



DR. ASA KNOWLES

President Knowles, a former member of Quincy DeMolay and an alumnus of Thayer Academy, was honored by DeMolay for "His outstanding contribution to youth."

DeMolay is the largest fraternal organization for youth in the United States with some three million members.

Mildred Swinson, Psychologist, Warns of Emotional Repression

Fear of the expression of strong emotions is a real weakness in our American culture. This was the concern of Miss Millred Swinson, psychologist from McLean Hospital, who spoke in the Rich Room of the Library last week sponsored by the Winchester Mental Health Association.

Grief, joy, anger, and other every day feelings often embarrass the average American adult, Miss Swinson said. And rather than accept them honestly, we develop instead a sophisticated cover-up which tends to destroy rather than build up our emotional health as individuals and as groups.

More than fifty people heard Miss Swinson open the first of three programs on "Growing Up," which the Association is sponsoring this year. She spoke subsequent to the showing of a film, which developed the story of the impact of average parental emotions and dreams upon the life of a boy from infancy up. It showed possible results from different ways of handling some every day childhood situations.

Mrs. James Willing, Association president, introduced Miss Swinson and chaired the evening. She announced that the second film of the series will be presented sometime early in January or February.

Next Wednesday morning, November 30, at the home of Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick, women members and friends of the Winchester M.H.A. will gather for coffee and discussion of some of their objectives. Mrs. James Wingate, program chairman, will introduce as special guest, Miss Jo-Ann Glotfelty, director of Volunteers at McLean Hospital. Miss Glotfelty will speak informally on some of the special features of volunteer service in the field of mental illness.

In the past there has been a separation between people suffering from severe emotional illness and the community. This separation is beginning to break down and the need for understanding of this problem on the part of the community and its leaders becomes paramount. It is to promote this understanding that the membership committee of the Winchester M. H. A. is directing this morning program.

Among those serving with Mrs. Richard Alt, membership chairman, in planning this morning are Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. Duane Belden, Mrs. Paul Fitzpatrick, and Mrs. John Sexton.

Dr. Zovickian Promoted

Dr. Anthony Zovickian of 77 Grove Street has been promoted to the post of Assistant Professor of Surgery at the Boston University School of Medicine.

Dr. Zovickian is a graduate of Harvard College and of the Yale University School of Medicine. Prior to his appointment in Boston he was Instructor in surgery (plastic) at the Johns Hopkins University Medical School.

It's Up To Planning Board

228 Petition Town To Bar Hollywood Road Extension

Some 65 residents of the Hollywood Road area attended a special meeting of the Planning Board at the Town Hall Monday evening to protest the James J. Fitzgerald Contracting Company's proposed extension of Hollywood Road through too South Border Road in connection with a 35 to 40-house development the Company is planning to build around a horseshoe known as Dennett Road.

Mr. Lane, acting as chairman of a three-man board, sitting without the chairman, George B. Redding, and Nicholas H. Fitzgerald, explained that these members were abstaining from consideration of the Hollywood Road problem because of interest they have in the development. Mr. Redding, he said, had acted as attorney for the Symmes Family in sale of the land and Mr. Fitzgerald is financially interested in the corporation that is to construct the development.

Mr. Lane explained that the meeting was a part of a regular meeting of the Planning Board and for that reason discussion would have to be brief. He further stated that the Planning Board would have to make its decision in the matter of the development soon or it would go by default.

Mr. Garvey, a Winchester attorney and assistant District Attorney for Middlesex County, represented the protestants to the extension of the road and presented to the Planning Board a petition signed by 228 residents of the area affected urging the Board to deny the extension.

Mr. Garvey in a brief summation of the reasons for the protest said that the M.D.C. is building a huge traffic circle at the Medford end of South Border Road and with this completed traffic on Route 93 will be greatly increased.

Continuing, Mr. Garvey felt that the proposed Hollywood Road would become a mecca for drag addicts with resulting dangerous conditions throughout the area, the streets of which were not designed either for speedy driving or to ac-

Christopher Columbus Club Sends Delegation to Army-Navy Classic

A group of members and friends of the Christopher Columbus Club, Raymond Place, Winchester, plan to attend the 1960 Army-Navy football classic in Philadelphia this week end. Two Winchester boys, Frank Dattilo and Joe Bellino, will prominently participate in this event.

The party of forty will leave the club by bus, Friday, November 25, at 9:00 a.m., stay two nights at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia, witness the game, and depart at 10:00 a.m. November 27 for Winchester.

Films of the trip from start to point of return will be made for showing, together with other available films, at a Sports Night to be announced early next year.

The enthusiasm of this group is unbounded and a Navy win will climax the trip.

Though not officially a part of the Christopher Columbus delegation, many local fans are driving to Philadelphia in private cars to root Bellino and Navy on to victory.

Children Present "Noah's Ark"

The "deluge" has already begun as hundreds of Winchester children have their tickets already for the colorful performance the Community Associates are presenting Friday, December 2, at 3:30 p.m.

Another performance to fill demand is the one to be staged Saturday, December 3, at 2:00 p.m. Actors and audience join in singing as animals march. This is drama, drums, laughter, songs for you—come see! Tickets at Hevey's and McCormack's and at door.

Big Audience Is Delighted

W. H. S. Presents Four One-Act Plays

Before a large and enthusiastic audience, the Annual One-Act Play Night, sponsored by the high school's Curtain and Cue Society, was presented Friday evening, November 18, in Memorial Auditorium. All in all, some seventy-five students participated in the affair, which was a resounding success.

The evening got under way with the presentation, by the sophomores, of "Comin' Round the Mountain," a play with a hill-billy theme, which brought continual peals of laughter from the audience. The cast was exceptionally well-balanced, and the production rolled along with almost perfect timing in the farcical situations.

A feature of the performance was the mastery of the difficult southern dialect by the members of the cast. That the cast was enjoying itself was most apparent, and the spirit of the old-fashioned "meller-drama" was caught by the spectators, who likewise spent a happy half hour. Donna Cartier and Linnie Butts deserve much credit for directing the production, the cast of which consisted of Betsy Woodward, Gary Callahan, Candee Callaham, Robert Joyce, Nancy Waldron, Andrea Mattisen, Jan Thomas, and Jeff Peckham.

The second play of the evening was a serious drama entitled "Four Hundred Nights." This was presented by the senior class. Cast members displayed a remarkable maturity in their approach to a modern tragedy. The plot of the play, a court-room drama, revolved around the murder of an actress by an actor in the Desdemona death scene from "Othello."

A re-enactment of the killing was presented in court as part of the defense for the actor. This scene was particularly effective as portrayed by Al Bonney and Ann Ryan. Turning in excellent performances also were John Hopkins and Martha Lee Wood as the prosecuting and defense attorneys, respectively. Ronald Papile, Phillip Dunn, Donna Dean, Jeanne Chase,

Reception On Common

Governor-Elect John A. Volpe Welcomed Home By Hundreds

Governor-elect John Volpe and his attractive wife, Jennie, returned to their Winchester home last Sunday from a well deserved vacation in Florida. On their way to Everett Avenue they found hundreds of their fellow townsmen and friends on the Common waiting to welcome them. It was difficult to estimate the number present as many did not join the closely packed group around the speakers' platform, instead occupying vantage places along Laraway Road, on the railroad overhead and along Church Street. Estimates went as high as one thousand persons and it could be there were that many present. The wholly informal gathering was arranged by a group of the Volpe's friends.

The Governor-elect's party was due at the Common at 1:15, and well before that time people commenced to gather there. By 1 o'clock there were several hundred scattered about the Common. Keeping the crowd in good humor were "The Plaids," popular high school dance band, augmented for the occasion by extra musicians. In the group were Richard Soucek, trombone; Dean Anderson and John Chane, drums; Al Bonney and Jim Cronberg, trumpets; Phil Mead, clarinet; and Jon Hopkins, saxophone.

Several cars of the Volpes' friends drove in to the Airport to meet them when they alighted from their plane, and quite a few of their friends from Boston and East Boston were also present, some even driving out to Winchester with the motorcade.

The Volpes' plane was early, giving the Governor-elect and his family time to go to the nearby Don Orione Home in East Boston for a quiet moment, and prayer in the beautiful chapel, given by the Governor-elect in memory of his father, the late Vito Volpe.

From the Home the motorcade formed and proceeded to Winchester, led by a State Police car with uniformed troopers. At the Medford line many more Winchester automobiles joined the motorcade as well as a Winchester Police car driven by Officer William Nash.

Led by the Winchester Police and State Police Cars the Motorcade proceeded to the Common where a Police escort under Sergeant John Elliott directed traffic to provide space for the line of cars along Laraway Road. Police Chief Joseph J. Derro was also on hand to see that things went smoothly.

Vandals Smear High School

A new record in schoolboy "pranks" was set this week when vandals hit Winchester High School with a spray gun of red paint. The youths smeared the front doors and brick entrance of the building, the back wall and door of the high school leading to Coach Knowlton's quarters and the left south door of the building where the paint was flung fifteen feet high. On the back wall of the high school the words "Woburn 40, Winchester 0" were smeared in red.

Quick action by the police saved the buildings from permanent damage. Sgt. Farrell and Officers Parsons, Martell and Callahan got hold of some gasoline and removed most of the paint.

Woburn High School also suffered an assault, smeared alternately with white, red, green and gold paint on various sides of the building.

Roche Seen Slated For Post In Kennedy Administration

Charles D. Roche, Jr. of 14 Fairmount Street is reported to be in line for an important post in the Kennedy Administration.

The Star has checked recent reports that the former Winchester and Harvard star halfback and Boston Herald reporter might be appointed to succeed George Allen as head of the U. S. Information Agency, or to serve on the White House staff.

"There is nothing definite to report," "Chucker" Roche told the Star. "In any case, the announcement would come from Mr. Kennedy. I am sure that the President-elect has more pressing things to concern him than me just now."

CHARLES D. ROCHE, JR.

Mr. Roche, 35-year-old father of five, has been an adviser to President-elect Kennedy throughout the campaign. He took leave of absence from the Boston Herald last January to assist the Senator in his key primary contests in Wisconsin and West Virginia.

A Harvard classmate of the President-elect's brother, Robert, Mr. Roche also assisted in massive drives to register nearly ten million new voters, "particularly," one report says, "in areas with Democratic leanings."

Mr. Roche won four varsity letters at Harvard, from which he graduated in 1950.

A native of Woburn, he played football, basketball and baseball at Winchester High School.

Married to the former Kathryn Cox, he served in the Western Pacific area combat during World War II and served in the Orient with the Army's Central Intelligence Division.

Army Back Son Of Former Winchester Girl

Everyone knows about Joe Bellino; of his All-America football stature, of his ability as a baseball player, of his all-time Navy scoring record against Army, made last year, and lots more. He is the reason many experts think Navy will prevail over Army Saturday at Philadelphia. Only potent Duke has held "Joe the Jet" scoreless this year. Army doesn't figure to do it!

Given the unenviable job of playing Bellino during this last week of Army practice for the service classic Saturday has been a kaydet, not known to many here but with a real Winchester background.

He would be Pete King, Army back, who has been running Bellino plays all week and who has been wondering along with his imitating chores how Giuseppe can do such a heck of a lot of running and hold his speed.

Pete's Winchester angle is his mother. She was Caroline Nichols, who with her sister, Janet (now Mrs. Donald Dalrymple), was a fine athlete in her schoolgirl days at Winchester High, captaining the field hockey team, if memory serves.

Caroline and her husband, Herbert King, live in Plainfield, N. J. Her son, Pete, has black hair, stands 5ft., 9in., and weighs in at 185, pretty much Bellino's dimensions. He has been playing in the Kaydet backfield all year and is expected to see service against Bellino and Company Saturday.

Governor Names Rigney

Governor Foster Furcolo has named Raymond I. Rigney of 35 Nathaniel Road to be Budget Commissioner and a member of the Commission on Administration and Finance, replacing Kermit C. Morrissey who has resigned. The nomination has been submitted to the Executive Council for approval.

Mr. Rigney, a World War II veteran, has been deputy commissioner of the Department of Commerce since 1957 and a member of the Massachusetts Atomic Energy Commission since 1958. A graduate of Holy Cross College with an M.A. from Boston College, he has done graduate work at Boston University and has taught in the Boston and Somerville schools. He is a past president of the Holy Cross Club of Boston and the Holy Cross Alumni Council as well as a member of the New England Football Officials Association.

Mr. Rigney is married to the former Anne T. Callahan and is the father of six children, Raymond I., Jr., Paul, Michael, Maureen Anne, Susan L., Peter E., and James F. Rigney.

UF Reaches 80% of Goal

Winchester's efforts in the United Fund campaign reached the 80 per cent mark early this week. At that time, $20,000 had been raised, with $5,000 more to go to reach the community's goal.

In the residential phase of the drive, Precincts 3 and 6 had reached 100 per cent. Precincts 1 and 4 were over 90 per cent. Precinct 5 was 75 per cent in, and Precinct 2 was 65 per cent reported in.

The local committee had pledged to continue in action until everyone in town had been contacted and given the opportunity to donate to the fund drive. Residents who may have been overlooked or were out of town when the United Fund volunteer called, may get in touch with precinct chairmen as follows:

Precinct 1—Joseph D. Hall, PA 9-1211

Precinct 2—Charles L. Moore, PA 9-4050

Precinct 3—Raymond W. Hillman, PA 9-6545

Precinct 4—Ted Knowlton, PA 9-5694

Precinct 5—Arthur P. Bonney, PA 9-1718

Precinct 6—Charles T. Doucette, Jr., PA 9-4363.

Discipline Theme Of Panel At Noonan School

Does discipline mean I must spank my child?

What kind of help may I ask of the school for my child's adjustments?

What makes a child defiant?

Why doesn't my teenager pay attention to me?

How can I deal with my neighbor's misbehaving child?

Answers to these questions and others will be explored at the Noonan School Parents' Panel on Discipline to be held at 8 p.m. on November 30.

Two Delegates At Field Service Conference

Louise Phelan and Barbara Stewart, seniors at Winchester High School, were delegates November 11 at the Second Annual American Field Service Conference held at M.I.T.'s Kresge Auditorium. This conference was sponsored by the Massachusetts Council of Public Schools and the World Affairs Council.

Mr. Elliot Richardson, United States Attorney for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts addressed the delegates on the American governmental system in this political year. Louise and Barbara then took part in small group discussions and exchanged ideas with a girl from Uruguay and a boy from Switzerland concerning their families, schools and impressions of America.

Following a United Nations film "Power Among Men," the Winchester delegates took part in a discussion led by an Italian girl.

Local Pucksters At Lynn

Winchester High School will participate in the New England Invitation Hockey Jamboree at the North Shore Sports Center Saturday evening, November 26, playing the Maine state champion, Lewiston High, at 7 o'clock.

Other pairings are Roxbury Memorial vs Reading at 6, Archbishop Williams vs Stoneham at 6:30, Walpole vs Malden Catholic at 8, Needham vs Wakefield at 9 and Medford vs Malden at 9:30.

Feature games are undoubtedly the Winchester-Lewiston and Malden Catholic-Walpole games. Winchester, runner up in the State Tourney last year faces off against the Maine champion, while Malden Catholic, state champion, takes on a near state champ in Walpole.

Social Science Teachers Attend Convention

While Winchester's high school pupils are enjoying their Thanksgiving recess this week end, a number of their social studies teachers will be attending the meetings of the National Council for Social Studies whose annual convention is being held at the Statler-Hilton in Boston.

As president of the New England Association of Social Studies teachers, Mr. F. Meredith Cooper is serving as co-chairman of the committee on local arrangements. In this capacity he has been working for several months with Dr. Thomas J. Curtain of the State Department of Education.

For the first time in nearly 15 years this national meeting has come to New England, bringing with it leaders in the field of social studies education. Beginning with a series of visits to social studies classes in Greater Boston schools earlier in the week, many of the conventioneers will make a pilgrimage to Plymouth on Thanksgiving Day for a visit to the Plymouth Plantation and a traditional Thanksgiving dinner.

On Friday and Saturday a series of more than 40 meetings will be held at the Statler, with the topics ranging all the way from a lecture on "What We Should Teach About Russia," to a discussion of the use of new teaching machines in the social studies. One of the main attractions will be an extensive exhibit of teaching materials prepared by leading publishers and exhibitors.

Miss May Milliken welcomed convention visitors to her class in Problems of Democracy at the Winchester High early in the week. She will serve as recorder for a meeting on "The Growing Metropolis" on Saturday. Local teachers assisting the hospitality committee include Louise Cone, Jane Malone, Roland O'Neal, George Watson, Linda Kennedy and John Parker.

STORY BOOK CHARACTERS AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

(See Story)

Story-Book Characters Visit School

Monday morning twenty-eight characters from favorite books walked into the fourth grade classroom at the Mystic School. These were children in Miss Lydia Whittemore's class who had been given a special week end assignment celebrating National Book Week.

In addition to listing in alphabetical order their own reading books, they were asked to come to school in the costume of their favorite character. In class they played "Who Am I?" Their acting and factual descriptions were so good that the identity of each character was quickly discovered.

"Peter Pan" was portrayed by Laura Simeone and Marianne Thorp; "Pinocchio" by Thomas Grehan and Susan Swanson; "Huckleberry Finn" by Tracy Farrell, Jack Papadinis, and Theodore Sullivan; "Robinson Crusoe" by Andy Porter; "Gretel" by Marilyn Richardson, Susan Ciche.

Also "The Blue Troll" by Paul Fontaine; "Mr. Hardy" by Richard Chandler; "Sam Houston" by Jeff Armstrong; "Turvy" and "Fern" from "Charlotte's Web" by Jean Hoyt and Libby Hopkins; "Little Lame Prince" by Peter Knight; "Rumpelstiltskin" by Andrea Blanch; "Alice in Wonderland," by Barbara Davy.

Others were "Bronze Feather" by Stephen Dalziel; "Timmy" of "Lassie" by Jerry Ulm; "Dick Whittington" by Gretchen Bates; "Dorothy" of "Wizard of Oz" Donna McLean; "Mr. Fix" Ted Shasta; "Witch" from "Hansel and Gretel," David Sprogis; "Gypsy," Barbara Davy, Cheryl Jordan, and Rose-Marie McCutcheon.

S. O. I. Bowling

Since the League bowls on Thursday evenings and this is Thanksgiving week, the next matches will be rolled on December 1. This next meeting will mark the beginning of the eleventh rolls and one still finds Boston College in first place.

Last week B. C. defeated a fighting Yale team who came roaring in like lions but left the scene of action as tame as lambs. In the first string Yale, with Capt. Art Dunbar, Mike Colucci, John Dattilo, Frank DiMambro and Moose Bellino, started off strong by winning this string by 37 pins but "go get 'em" Boston College came back to take the next two strings and most pinfalls for a successful evening.

These two teams were tied for tops at this time last week but B. C. has gone out in front now with 32 and 8 with Yale holding 30 and 10, although the latter is in front in pinfalls, 13,949 to 13,939 for B. C.

At this stage of the schedule we find Navy still in third place. Harvard has dropped from fourth to fifth place with Georgetown changing places with Harvard. Last week Notre Dame was in sixth and has moved down one notch while Army has climbed from seventh to sixth. Bates moved from eighth to ninth while Alabama climbed one place from ninth to eighth. Then we find the remaining teams California, Holy Cross, St. Mary's, Maryland, and Pennsylvania rounding out the standings in the given order.

Your correspondent made the rounds while the bowling was taking place and said to Sam Bellino, "How's the bowling Sam?" Sam's response was "72-75 and whatever the last might be if that's what you call bowling." His brother Moose who was one of the roaring lions previously mentioned was not in a talking mood after his loss to the leading B. C. team.

Then there was "Little Neno" John Mangano who had no business on the Yale bench but he was certainly voting for Yale to upset B. C. But "Pippy" DiIorio took care of him.

It was quite a picture seeing Rich "Builder" Riga and Paul "Carpenter" Carpinteri of the Maryland team using their rulers to measure the width of the alleys to foot themselves at the proper angles for various shots. This was all corrected when Bill Fiore came along to discard the rulers and raising his thumb at eye level instructed the bowlers to use a softer delivery. This was carried out for one roll and then all moments of thought went to just releasing the ball any old way and it brought results!

Three attendance prizes were drawn and awarded this time and victors were Guy Galello, Bob Fiore, and Dom Vespucci. Dom's brother won it the previous week so there's nothing like keeping it in the family.

Next week B. C. takes on twelfth place St. Mary's but the members of the team are not taking it too lightly because the challengers are aiming at upsetting the tables. St. Mary's has Capt. R. Tauro, Gaspar and Tony Lentine, Bill Maggio, Joe Paonessa and Dom Provinzano. Dom will be bowling against his kid brother Frank and it should prove quite exciting.

The big match of the evening, however, will be between second place Yale and third place Navy, which will be worthwhile seeing.

St. Mary's Mothers' Club

The monthly meeting of St. Mary's Mothers' Club was held Wednesdey evening, November 16. Mrs. Fred Cause, president, called the meeting to order at 8 p.m. Monsignor John M. Manion opened the meeting with a prayer, after which he read a very interesting and educational article on "Nutrition for a Child." Monsignor Manion promised further articles of this nature at future meetings, which was enthusiastically received by all the mothers.

A demonstration and timely one followed on Christmas decorations and wrappings and was presented by a most talented and charming demonstrator who modestly asked to withhold her name, but who nevertheless well deserved the hearty applause of the mothers.

All eyes were focused on this demonstration, as many of the novelties were made during the demonstration and from the questions asked afterwards when all were invited to view and examine the novelties, gifts and wrappings, it certainly was evident that everyone enjoyed the demonstration and our sincere thanks is extended to a most gracious and talented guest.

A most appropriate table decoration, The Horn of Plenty, made at the demonstration was given as an attendance prize, and the lucky winner was Mrs. Ernest Reardon. Thanks to Chris McDonald who was in charge of this most entertaining demonstration.

Refreshments followed, and were served by the fifth grade mothers, with Mary Falzano in charge, our thanks to them also.

There will be no December meeting, giving the mothers more time to devote to holiday shopping, but we do wish to call attention at this time to a special date in January, the 25th, a Wednesday evening, and be sure to mark that on your engagement book. Our now famous Country Store will be held on that date.

One very special feature, and of utmost interest to the young fry is the drawing of a miniature Thunderbird car, child's model all-electric, of which the mothers will no doubt be hearing plenty about from their children, so we need not go into any further details on this subject.

We would like to mention at this time that the attendance at the meetings so far has been excellent and we trust it will continue, and with the growing interest in our activities being displayed, we may hope for 100% attendance in the near future.

Parkhurst Luncheon

The executive board of the Parkhurst Parents' Association entertained the teachers at luncheon on Tuesday, November 15. Mrs. James Hollinshead, luncheon chairman, opened her home at 1 Hilltop Road for the occasion. Everyone on the board assisted in preparations, but most of the work was done by Mrs. Hollinshead and her committee of Mrs. Roland Robison, Mrs. Albert Tatarian, and Mrs. Frank Bower. This was a very pleasant affair enjoyed by all present.

This year parents of Parkhurst children are going to be asked to participate in a Phantom Bazaar. The school is still operating under the temporary overcrowded conditions, with the auditorium being used for a classroom, so there is no room for the annual Children's Christmas Bazaar which we have had for the past few years. Mothers will be contacted by Phantom Bazaar workers for a small contribution. These funds collected will be used for our donation to the Scholarship Foundation and for gifts to the school.

Men's Club To Hear Local Sportswomen

The Men's Club of the First Congregational Church anticipates a special treat on Tuesday evening, November 29th, when Mrs. Maribel Vinson Owen, Winchester resident for many years, participant in the 1928, 1932, and 1936 Olympics, runner-up to Sonja Heinie, and trainer of champions, will address them.

Co-starring on the same program will be Miss Barbara Sittinger, graduate of Winchester High School and Wellesley College, who for five years has been associated with resort activities both in New England and New York. As a "living-in" tourist, she has intimate knowledge of the Alpine countries, Germany, France, Russia, Switzerland, and Austria.

It is anticipated that this combination of winter sports experts will give the club a novel and exciting evening.

Our New Teachers

Miss Nancy Dunlop, new sixth-grade teacher at the Parkhurst School, came to Winchester from far afield, having taught fifth grade last year in Bloomington, Minn., a suburb of Minneapolis. She likes Winchester and teaching in the town.

MISS NANCY J. DUNLOP

Miss Dunlop was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but moved as a girl to Des Moines, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dunlop, still reside.

Miss Dunlop graduated from Roosevelt High School in Des Moines and from Iowa State University with the A.B. degree in 1959. She is not an enthusiastic hobbyist, but sort of has a liking for water sports, reading and knitting.

Collector's postage stamps and albums now on sale at the Star office on all price levels. An excellent way to give youngsters a sense of geography and history and a constructive hobby.

A True Fish Story!!

We came by this quite by accident, and though we were given no exactly clear mandate to print it, we think the story too good not to share with the readers of the Star.

From an unimpeachable source comes this fish story to end all fish stories!

It seems Miss Lydia J. Whittemore, sixth-grade teacher at the Mystic School, spent nine thrilling days of her past summer vacation fishing in the northern wilderness of Maine, on Lake Munsungun and on Chase and Buffer Ponds with all the canoe portages, black flies and green-heads fishermen seem to find so wonderful.

Doubtless the late Charles A. Lane or some of his Moosehead fishing devotees of bygone days would know the location of Munsungun, Chase and Buffer, and whether the adventure that befell Miss Whittemore at the first named is likely to be encountered by anyone chancing to drop a line in this particular body of water.

To your wholly uninitiated editor what happened to Miss Whittemore could happen only once in a lifetime and then only in Maine. Ask "Hi" Moody or Harry Gilson if we are not right!

Now every fisherman worth his creel and sinkers loses the best fish he hooks on any particular fishing safari as a pretty regular thing. It is happening all the time. Who of us has not listened to an avid disciple of the late Isaac Walton describe the one that got away from him, giving a sort of loose idea of this particular fish's noble proportions with his hands and arms, and facial expression?

So it was with Miss Whittemore. She lost the biggest lake trout of the season in Munsungun, and she has the necessary documentary proof that this statement is gospel truth. And how, you may well ask, does she know her near-catch was the biggest fish hooked in the lake with the Injun name?

A good question! She knows because three weeks later a New York sportsman brought up the same identical fish, and measurements and weight established the finny denizen at the very pinnacle of all the trout taken from Lake Munsungun in the summer of 1960. (There are of course always larger fish taken "years ago!")

And answering the other question which immediately comes to mind, how did she know it was the same fish? Hooked in the fish were Miss Whittemore's spinners, which the New York sportsman returned to her after securing her address from her guide.

Not being a fisherman, we would have supposed the gallant thing to do would have been to send on the fish complete with spinners. Noblesse oblige, and all that sort of thing! Fishermen however seem to cleave to that other ancient code of caveat emptor and to the best of our knowledge Miss Whittemore got back only her spinners. The big fish is not for that usual trophy spot above the fireplace mantel!

Newspaper Association Picks Bellino

Announcement was made last Friday that the 1960 Newspaper Enterprise Association All-American football team has Joe Bellino ensconced at one of the halfback slots, he and the brilliant halfback and end, Mike Ditka, being the only easterners chosen.

The "All" backfield comprises Jake Gibbs of Mississippi at quarterback, Joe and Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State at halfbacks, and Bob Ferguson, the bulldozer from Ohio State, at full. That is a lot of backfield men.

Mr. and Mrs. Safety Visit Wyman School Pupils

"Mr. and Mrs. Safety" and their children illustrated in a colorful assembly program the rules of safety in daily life for their young classmates and parents last Thursday and Friday at the Wyman School. The cast included all the pupils in Grade II taught by Miss Louise Bond.

What is the story behind the assembly programs given in all our elementary schools? In this case safety precautions, which are taught in the social studies class as a reinforcement of home instruction appealed to Miss Bond as a theme for an assembly program.

With this in mind, she began discussions with her second graders on the safety rules which could be presented effectively on the stage. Slowly the loose outline of a play emerged which would show the necessity of obeying traffic signals, the dangers of playing with matches, of pursuing balls into the street, or leaving toys around.

Since it would be difficult for second graders to cope with writing the entire play, Miss Bond made a cohesive whole from the suggestions and ideas of the students. If a suitable poem could not be found in print, she composed one herself. Then at last rehearsals began, not too many of them to dilute spontaneity and enthusiasm, but enough so that each child learned his part and usually everyone else's.

Costumes were not especially necessary for this play, but the characters of Mr. and Mrs. Safety,, played by Kurt Woodward and Kathryn Ross, would be more effective if they appeared in grown-up clothes. A few props, simply constructed, could be used by Richard Bannister reciting "Safety the Horse" or by Dana Smith in the "Ready Matchstick."

An appropriate background was needed for the mechanics of the play where the entire class would be on the stage, and would add color and reality. So in art periods the pupils trouped to the assembly hall where they would work on the large-sized paper which eventually represented the front of a house with windows.

A performance of professional standards is not expected, although the children usually give a fine performance. Each child contributes in some way to the production, learning that a successful group project depends upon cooperation and work. The pupils gain experience from their assembly programs in music and linguistic arts, often acting with a poised assurance surprising for their age and experience.

The Wyman play "The Safety House" opened with an introduction by Robert Herrmann. The cast of actors also included Frederick Green, Billy Woods, Teddy Day, Leslie Johnson, Chiara Johns, Francis Cullen, and Larry Spang. Poems about dogs and safety were given by Phyllis Runci, Cynthia Gustin, John Cumming and Eric Neurath. John DeVries and Susan Wheeler played "Children Who Bumped Heads."

In the Rhythmic Ball Playing scenes were Martha Wingate, Cynthia Dillon, Susan Wheeler, Mary Harvey, Lyn Sullivan, Robert Herrmann and Larry Knowlton. Taking part in the choral speaking were Mark Carlson, Douglas Claflin, Paul Fitzgerald, Marc Harrington, Ralph Roberto, Richard Tambone, Jill Butler, Alison Pywell and Karen Stiles.

Dartmouth Club Sports Night

Wilbur Volz, Dartmouth College backfield coach, and Howard Chivers, one of New England's famous skiers, will be the featured speakers at a Sports Night sponsored by the Dartmouth Club of Mystic Valley on Tuesday, November 29. The meeting will be held in the White Spot restaurant on Route 3 in Woburn.

WILBUR VOLZ

Volz, who has coached the Indian backs since 1954, will review the 1960 football season, and will take a look at the Big Green's prospects for next year. He will also show motion pictures of some of the most exciting plays in which Dartmouth participated during the past season.

Howard Chivers, who now manages the Dartmouth Skiway, will discuss and show movies of this new ski area which is gaining recognition as one of the outstanding slopes in the East. He served as co-captain of the championship Dartmouth team in 1939, was selected for the 1940 Olympics which were canceled because of the war, and raced in Chile as a member of the Pan-American team. He captured a number of U. S. and Canadian championships, and also served as ski coach at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

All Dartmouth men and their families in the Mystic Valley area are invited to attend the Sports Night. A social hour will commence at 6 o'clock, to be followed by dinner and the sports program.

WHS Band At Turkey Day Gridiron Tilt

The traditional Thanksgiving Winchester-Woburn football game, once again featured the 72 member marching band of Winchester High School. Under the direction of Mr. Wendell S, Withington these faithful band members have played at all the football games this fall.

Half time shows the agile and talented Tumblettes have entertained Sachem fans with such formations as the traditional WHS WIN, T42, and before the election VOTE JACK & DICK.

Prior to the game on Thanksgiving the crowd was welcomed with a large "HI" while the band played "Hail, hail, the gang's all here." At half time the band formed a large Indian tepee, a church and a football.

The Winchester High School marching band has worked hard this fall as students give up their Thursday activity periods for practice. For their efforts and colorful contributions the Winchester community would like to thank them.

NO "PERSECUTION"

We talked with Juvenile Officer Cogan about these problems this week.

"The thing that troubles me," Jim said, "is that the kids seem to be getting the idea that we're trying to 'persecute' them. Nothing could be further from the truth. All we're trying to do is to protect Winchester people—and that's what we're paid for—and at the same time help these kids to stay out of trouble which will destroy their future lives."

We asked Jim what he felt were the principal causes of delinquency as he's seen it. "That's a tough one," he said. "There are a lot of causes. But two causes stand out as far as I'm concerned. The first one is lack of adequate supervision by parents. Half the time parents simply don't know where their youngsters are. Many times a mother or father of a delinquent will tell you: 'Well, I just assumed that he was at so-and-so's place!' I think such assumptions are dangerous. The second big cause of juvenile crime is that these kids simply have nothing to do with their leisure time."

Jim doesn't think a youth center is going to solve all of our problems. "But it will be a step in the right direction. It will at least give the kids something to do but nothing will ever take the place of home training."

We asked what Jim had in mind when he spoke of a youth center. "First of all," he said, "it should have a gym, maybe a swimming pool, a few bowling alleys, perhaps an outdoor hockey rink and maybe some woodworking shops. I'd like to see group games, too, something like the Police Athletic League in which we have a good deal of fun.

"But one thing is sure about the youth center. The kids have got to run it themselves. Certainly we will need an adult committee of some thirty prominent citizens to underwrite this thing and serve as a source of final authority. But the actual operation of the thing should be left to the young people, and the adults should keep in the background. As I see it now, the government of the center would be left in the hands of a youth committee, a group of youth officers elected by the membership of the center, perhaps once a year."

Have we made any progress on building the youth center to date?

"We've done a good deal of scouting around," Jim said. "And we hope to have an adult committee incorporated by early March. As a matter of fact we have the contribution 'thermometer' used on the common during the Hospital Building Fund Drive all stored away for the time when we have our town-wide drive for a youth center. We're optimistic and feel certain that Winchester is going to come through for its young people 100%.

EVERYBODY'S INVOLVED

"This youth problem," Jim continued, "is not just a special assignment for a juvenile officer. First of all, every officer on this force is, in a sense, a 'youth officer,' and every officer is concerned with this problem and has to deal with it every day in one way or another. So don't play me up.

"This is Winchester's problem and we need everyone's help. We need money. We need understanding by parents and young people of what we're trying to do. But most of all we need a realistic acceptance of the problems we face and a determination to solve them with constructive ideas."

A Jigger Of Gems

Maybe half a jigger is more accurate. This wording is devised to catch the attention of all: those who have a jigger handy, keen for a hint of some new mix; and those who might be ready to take a firm stand in opposition. To please the sense of sight not taste do we offer our measured creation, just waiting to be seen.

Seven moonstones, two Columbian emeralds, three turquoise, and a small diamond are combined. The inspiration: colorful stained glass. The idea: to catch this effect in a jewel. The design: stimulated by an interest in the ancient, primitive manner interpreted in a contemporary style to create a one of a kind original.

In this piece each stone is a different size; each is fitted with a frame of pure gold, a marvelous color with the stones (not 14K). The frames are spaced apart and connected by tiny pure gold beads. The shape strived for was an uplifting, poised in flight, airy form and so it is, hanging from a thin green gold wire neck-loop. The diamond is so placed at the link to add to the suspended in air effect.

More fabulous gems are set with much less thought and feeling and are shown in great cities. This work of art can be seen in Winchester with many others signed by Macefield. Enter 12 Winchester Place, opposite Police Station.

commodate great numbers of motor cars. He gave it as his opinion that extending Hollywood Road to South Border Road would result in attracting great numbers of automobiles into a heavily populated area and could prove very dangerous to children living there. Property values he felt would surely decline in the event the road is extended.

Mr. Garvey proposed two alternatives to the proposed extension of Hollywood Road. The first would be a cul-de-sac, around which traffic would move to exit from the development the way it had entered. The second was to extend Dennett Road to a meeting with Town Way.

He pointed out that there are now in Winchester several developments with cul-de-sac layouts and felt the development on the Symmes land would prove no more dangerous than they have been. He urged the developers to go slowly since too many persons' rights are involved to make a hasty decision and layout.

He stated that he believes the developer is interested in the welfare of Winchester and does not want to do anything harmful to any part of it. He urged that the developer, Planning Board and protesting property holders sit down together with competent engineers and see if a satisfactory solution can not be arrived at.

Mr. Garvey said no resident of the area is opposed to the development, but many more than the 228 signers of the protesting petition are strongly opposed to the extension of Hollywood Road to South Border Road.

Mr. Lane said he wanted to make it plain that the Planning Board has no interest in the development and extension of Hollywood Road, except to pass upon it as a Planning Board. Mr. Fitzgerald and his engineers have made a proposed layout, he said, and the Planning Board is constrained to consider it in the light of applicable statutes.

The Planing Board, he said, does not exist to prevent developments but to control them and have them proceed in orderly fashion. The Planning Board can act only in accordance with the law and Supreme Court decisions have not as yet established beyond doubt the extent of the power Planning Boards actually have.

They must, he said, at all events, proceed in accordance with the statute and must have legal grounds to stop a development. Otherwise they can be forced in court to issue the permission denied without supporting law.

Replying to Mr. Garvey's mention of other developments with cul-de-sacs, he said that these developments have "stub roads" into undeveloped contiguous property providing for any future development.

The Planning Board, he continued, is taking no arbitrary stand in the matter of the Hollywood Road extension. He assured the protestants the Board sympathizes with their position and will not be prejudiced in arriving at an opinion because of the interest two of its members have in the development.

Mr. Borggaard expressed himself as appalled at the possibilities in the development. He told the meeting all the youngsters in his neighborhood now play ball in front of his house and asked what would happen when some 70 more children are added to this group. No provision for any playground is included in the development.

He claimed there is a lot of traffic in the neighborhood now and will be much more if Hollywood Road is permitted to join South Border Road. He wondered why Hollywood Road had been made 50 feet wide when the other streets of the neighborhood are much narrower. On Franklin Road he said with cars parked both sides there isn't room for a man on a bicycle to pass. He wondered if the proposed development had been thought about when Hollywood Road was laid out.

Mr. Borggaard said that with Hollywood Road leading directly from South Border Road the south bound traffic would go through the 40-ft-wide Franklin Road and Town Way to Playstead Road in Medford since Mystic Lakes prevent a more direct route.

The only other speaker was Mr. Putnam of Goddu Avenue who opposed the extension of Hollywood Road, being fearful of the safety of his and others' children from the greatly increased traffic. He had bought his home, he said, because he had felt that particular neighborhood was a good one, in which to bring up children. The increased traffic due to the connection of Hollywood Road with South Border Road would remove its attractiveness.

Mr. Lane, in closing the meeting, stated that there would be an opportunity for protestants to be heard on the coming Monday night when the Planning Board will hold another meeting. In reply to a question he said nine o'clock would be a better time for those wishing to attend than earlier.

From the closed ranks of the protestants came the reply, "When the roll is called up yonder we'll be there!"

Volpe

As the cars drove into Laraway Road the crowd surged in that direction, only to find that the Volpes had alighted on Church Street and were proceeding to the speakers platform from that direction.

The crowd quickly shifted its position to intercept the Governor-elect and his lady, bursting into spontaneous applause while the bandsmen played martial music. It was necessary for the police to force a path through the well wishers who were eager for a closer look at the Volpes.

Many were greeted personally by the Governor-elect and his wife, hands were wrung, hugs and kisses exchanged as the spontaneous applause continued. Mingled with the more formal "Hello Governor" were "Hi, John!" "Hi, Jennie" as old friends waved and cheered.

Just before the Governor-elect arrived an unidentified gay nineties automobile, black with profuse yellow striping, pulled in at the Common. The car was driven by a man with "handle-bar mustachios" and the passengers were veiled ladies with old fashioned sailor hats and leg-o-mutton sleeves.

With the Volpes on the platform were their son, Jack, the Governor-elect's mother, Mrs. Vito Volpe, and his sister, Mrs. Leroy Gonnella, both of Wakefield; and Mrs. Volpe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sante Benedetto, also of Wakefield.

Also on the platform were William J. Speers, Jr., a hard worker in Volpe's campaign for the Governorship; H. Gardner Bradlee, chairman of the Board of Selectmen; and Ralph H. Bonnell, National GOP Committee member and former chairman of Selectmen.

The speaking was all commendably brief. Mr. Speers introduced the speakers in his usual effective fashion, reminding those present that the occasion was only the third when Winchester has been privileged to welcome one of its citizens as Governor. Mr. Bradlee brought to the Volpes the official welcome of the town and Mr. Bonnell paid brief tribute to the Governor-elect.

Mr. Volpe, bronzed from his southern vacation, flashed his infectious smile and got an enthusiastic round af applause as he stepped to the microphone. He immediately got a laugh when he said that the occasion would be a "good one for a rally."

He said he had been characterized as a political tyro, but added that he had really learned fast!

Expressing his own and his wife's heartfelt appreciation of the welcome accorded him upon his arrival home and the support given him by Winchester during the hectic days of the campaign, he told his audience that he never had any real doubt of the outcome of the campaign, though he had to keep reassuring Mrs. Volpe while they were listening to the returns from Boston.

He said that up to nine o'clock he had to do a bit of reassuring himself but as the night wore on he became more and more sure of the outcome.

The Governor-elect said he felt rested and ready to tackle the difficult problems awaiting him when he assumes his duties as the State's chief executive. He believes, he said, that the men and women serving in the Massachusetts State Legislature, are good citizens, first of all, and not simply Democrats and Republicans.

He hopes and expects he will have their support in his effort to develop a good program for Massachusetts and is looking forward to their help in implementing such a program.

He said he would lend every effort toward restoring the kind of government that will return Massachusetts to her old tradition and rightful place in the forefront of the leading states of the nation.

At the conclusion of the Volpe address Mr. Speers got one more laugh as he suggested that the members of the motorcade re-enter their cars and "proceed to the Governor's Mansion."

Editorials:

Eight Million Voiceless Voters

With the vote for President of the United States still going on and the Kennedy popular vote shrinking with each new announcement one wonders what would have happened on November 8 if the eight million voters who could not vote had been able to cast their ballots. Certainly an additional eight million ballots could have made a great difference in the outcome of the election either way.

When we say "could not vote" we are referring primarily to the voters who moved from one state to another and were unable to make the necessary arrangement to re-register in the state to which they had moved, or to get an absentee ballot from the state they had left.

We had the plight of such voters brought to our attention during the recent Presidential campaign by a newcomer to Winchester from the midwest, who had not been in Massachusetts for the year necessary to register to vote here.

Arrangements for an absentee ballot could not be completed in time for election so he and his wife were unable to vote for the Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates of their choice.

Incidentally, have you ever made application for an absentee ballot? Exact answers to some of the questions on some of the applications can be difficult to make, and, of course, all are sworn statements made under penalty of the law.

It is estimated that American citizens moving from state to state prior to a Presidential election, who are unable to complete arrangements to vote would if they could vote, cast enough ballots to swing the Presidential balance in a number of states in a close election.

In a post-election copy of News Week a widely known columnist called attention to this deplorable fact and urged that something be done to remedy an intolerable situation.

This writer found many of those unable to vote because of voting law restrictions are for the most part executive sales and other business personnel who lost their 1960 votes because of being shifted from state to state. There seems no good reason why such persons, for the most part falling well within the boundaries of intelligent and enlightened voters, should not be able to cast ballots for President and Vice President, but the fact remains in many instances, eight million instances, if you will credit the News Week figures, they can not.

Chiefly they can not because of the requirement of a year's residence in a new state before voting. This year of residence is required by 35 states. Three states require two years and others, six months.

It may be that newcomers to a state should not be permitted to vote at once for candidates for office in that state. After all if the voter has been but a short time in a new domicile, he could not vote intelligently for the purely local candidates presented upon the State ballot.

President and Vice President, however, are something else again. Anyone who has been living anywhere in the United States in a Presidential election year surely ought to know enough about the candidates for the two top executives of the land to vote for the ones of their choice wherever they may chance to be living.

Apropos of the one-year residence requirement, it is reported that the American Heritage Foundation, a non-partisan organization that worked on getting out the vote during the last election, finds three states have loosened their residence requirements for voting eligibility. California now requires 54 days, Missouri, 60 and Ohio, 40.

Can not some Federal legislation be enacted, making it possible for every one who is a registered voter anywhere in the United States to vote for President and Vice President wherever he or she chances to be after a nominal residence in the new community, thirty days perhaps? Such legislation would apply to voting for President and Vice President only.

One suggestion made to the Star is that a voter being transferred from the city or town where he is registered would apply to the town or city clerk for a certificate or other legal proof that he had been a voter in the community and that he is leaving to take up residence elsewhere.

When this properly attested paper is so issued the departing voter his name is immediately stricken from the voting list in his former community so that he can vote for President and Vice President only in the city or town to which he is going.

Whether such procedure would leave loopholes for unscrupulous political machines to further their voting ends is a question. Whether such a system is legal or workable we do not know. It seems relatively easy to administer, and granting the honesty of our town and city clerks and election officials, there seems no good reason why it should not work.

Meanwhile, if such a system can not be used, then something better ought to be devised and legislated into law. It is unfair to the voters, to the candidates and country that eight million citizens can not vote for the President and Vice President who will head the government under which they must live and work for the next four years.

Why?

A former commander of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, and a widely known and universally respected resident of the town of long standing, came to the Star Office last week end in no very pleasant frame of mind.

In a bundle he had the red, white and blue ribbon bow from the wreath at the War Memorial statue together with some broken soft drink bottles, candy and gum papers, and toilet tissues which he had picked up at the base of the statue. He found the wreath had been knocked from the spot at which it had been placed at the base of the statue by representatives of the town's Veterans' Organizations on Veterans' Day, the flowers pulled from the wreath and strewn about the ground. Apparently apples or pears or some sort of fruit had been spattered over the statue as if they had been thrown at it.

Our Legionnaire friend expressed himself as entirely unable to comprehend what would prompt any one to desecrate a place memorializing the sacrifices of Winchester men who gave their lives in their country's service in all wars. I should think, he said, a war memorial would be safe from spoilers' hands, but apparently nothing is safe any more. Public respect for things that used to be considered sacred has well nigh vanished with many, if not most, of the old fashioned virtues.

The Star, of course, does not know who was responsible for despoiling the War Memhorial. It has been painted a couple of times before big high school football games and the trees and shrubbery planted to beautify the grounds around the statue have been run through and broken down until they now appear ragged and unkempt.

It is always easy to blame teen agers for mischief, malicious or otherwise, and of course, teen agers may be responsible for what was done at the War Memorial. Then again it may have been younger children. It seems hardly possible adults would do such things.

And getting right down to it, there seems no excuse for any one to treat a War Memorial so cavalierly. If it were not for the men, whose devotion and sacrifice are commemorated by the statue at the corner of Main Street and the Parkway none of us might be enjoying our present privileges, if indeed we would be here at all! Certainly those responsible for the desecration of our War Memorial, be they old or young, would not be indulging in any such activity!

A Welcome From The Heart

That was a heart-warming welcome home extended Governor-elect John Volpe and his charming wife, Jennie, by his Winchester neighbors and friends on the Common last Sunday. Though the hour of the Volpes' arrival interfered with a lot of Sunday dinners there were still some thousand well wishers present, eager for a look at the Governor-elect and to wish him and his good wife well.

Here was no formal reception-type of greeting. This welcome home was a democratic salute to a Republican Governor-elect, spontaneous, homely, enthusiastic, heart-felt! As the Volpes were assisted through the crowd by smiling police officers there were hugs and kisses exchanged with long time friends by the bronzed Governor-to-be and his sun-tanned First Lady of the Commonwealth.

There were hearty handshakes and pats on the shoulder as John and Jennie inched toward the speakers platform, the Governor-elect pausing occasionally to greet some child, whom a proud parent was trying to restrain.

That gathering on the Common last Sunday meant just this. Winchester likes the Volpes, is proud of the Volpes and behind the Volpes. During their 24 years residence in town they have made friends among persons of all walks in life, and now Massachusetts has endorsed their home town's opinion of them.

Good luck, John and Jennie, all of Winchester extends congratulations and sincere best wishes as you approach the posts of Governor and First Lady of the Commonwealth.

Rotary's Record Of Service

Winchester has a fine group of service organizations within its borders, and many improvements of a community nature have been made by these clubs in addition to the assistance they are constantly giving to deserving local charities.

The Winchester Rotary has been known from its inception for its good works in the community, its improvement and building programs at the Winning Farm, the Girl Scout Cabin, the radio station at high school, the new chuck wagon for the Friends of the Band and Orchestra and the club's generous contribution to the hospital building fund, to name only a few.

Now the club has interested itself in the proposed beautification of the town's Common. For several years now the club has been watching the deterioration of the Common and this year set out to do something about it.

A series of meetings with the Park Department resulted in the retaining of Alexander Heimlich, a well-known landscape architect, to plan for and execute a program of beautification for the Common. Now the club has evinced its interest in the program in an even more effective and practical way.

In aid of the program the Rotary has voted the sum of $1200 and the club plans to continue its interest in the plans for improvement, helping with these plans wherever possible.

The Park Commissioners are naturally very happy over the Rotary's action and are hoping that other organizations may wish to follow the Rotary's lead and subsidize some portion of the beautification program.

Individuals may also share in the campaign. Already two Rotarians, President Fred McCormack and Past President Alfred Elliott, have paid for trees being set out in connection with the beautification plans.

The Park Commissioners hope the improvement of the Common will turn out to be a real community project. The Rotary is leading the way toward that end with its usual enthusiasm.

Friends Of Winchester Hospital Help To Ease Burden Of Illness

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital, an organization now in its tenth year, performs a dual role.

First, it is dedicated to publicizing and interpreting the Hospital in the communities it serves, and to performing volunteer tasks within the Hospital which will give comfort and pleasure to patients and assist Hospital personnel in fulfilling non-professional duties.

Secondly, and perhaps of equal importance, the Friends' organization affords its members opportunities to help where help is greatly needed and wanted. A sincerely active volunteer takes home with her an inner glow derived from her knowledge that she has contributed greatly to alleviating pain and easing the burden of illness.

The Heart of this organization is the Volunteer Services Program active at the Hospital in providing such services as these:

Book Basket
Children's Hour
Clerical Assistance
Coffee Cart, Coffee Shop
Favors
Gift Cart
Mending
Messenger Service
Patients' Flowers
Puppets Uniforms
Television

All Welcome

Newcomers and all residents of Winchester, Reading, and Wilmington, as well as surrounding communities, are welcome to join the Friends.

By contacting Mrs. Robert J. Grenzeback, PA 9-2873, chairman of Volunteer Serivces, more detailed information of the inner workings of the services may be obtained. If interested in participating, prospective members are interviewed and given a tour of the hospital by one of the vice-chairmen of the Volunteer Services Program.

Each of the varied services is headed by a chairman who schedules the assignments of hours within her particular service.

If circumstances prevent the giving of volunteer hours, it is still possible to become a member and offer support to the Friends by payment of regular or sustaining membership dues. Dues are the only source of income to cover the operational costs of the organization.

The Friends work hand in hand with other groups serving the Winchester Hospital, always with the approval and support of the hospital administration.

Pledge of Friends

As members of the American Hospital Association, the Friends, together with hospital auxiliaries across the country, take the following pledge:

"Believing that the Hospital has a real need of my services as a volunteer worker.

"I will be punctual and conscientious in the fulfillment of my duties and accept supervision graciously.

"I will conduct myself with dignity, courtesy and consideration.

"I will consider as confidential all information which I may hear directly or indirectly concerning a patient, doctor, or any member of the personnel, and will not seek information in regard to a patient.

"I will take any problems, criticisms or suggestions to my Volunteer Services Chairman.

"I will endeavor to make my work of the highest quality.

"I will uphold the traditions and standards of this Hospital and will interpret them to the community at large."

Service Primary

Primarily the contribution of the Friends to the Winchester Hospital is one of service.

Through funds raised from their annual Waltz Evenings, the television service, and other projects determined annually by the Ways and Means Committee, however, material gifts of equipment and money are also made to the hospital. As an organization, the Friends pledged $7500 to the recent Hospital Building Fund Drive.

The Friends, with Mrs. George A. Marks, as president, is governed by an Executive Board comprised of the officers, three directors, the chairmen of the standing committees, delegates as non-voting members, and the administrator of the hospital, ex-officio.

Meeting at least eight times annually, the Board conducts the business of the organization and prepares for a vote by the membership at large on any matter involving a change in the by-laws.

Open-Heartedness

The organization is one of warmth, open-heartedness and a dedicated desire to serve. It is an excellent opportunity for new residents to become acquainted with their hospital and also with the loyal women who serve it. In many instances new arrivals have found it the answer to settling in and feeling "at home" in their new community.

The membership now numbering in excess of 700 is a most representative group. It is comprised not only of sincere women with time on their hands, but of many mothers of growing families who give unstintingly of their time and talents to assist in its successful operation.

9,388 Service Hours

During its last fiscal year, 9,388 hours of service were given. Both in-hospital and duties performed outside of the hospital are included in this total.

Awards worn on the cherry-colored Volunteers' uniforms are made for in-hospital services beginning with 50 hours of service. Services performed outside of the hospital are recognized by names placed on a scroll located in the hospital.

Women accepting positions of leadership and responsibility within the organization are not included in either of these two categories. Administrative in nature, the hours given by them would swell to an unbelievable total the sum of the time given voluntarily to the hospital by the Friends.

The organization strikes a most responsive chord with teenage girls. During the past summer more than 600 hours of service were given by 54 Junior Volunteers from Winchester and Reading.

Cut Hospital Costs

Are the Friends needed and wanted? Yes! Mr. Reese E. James, hospital administrator, is deeply appreciative of the continued diligence and loyalty demonstrated by the Friends. New services are added and staffed as the hospital stretches and expands.

An integral part of the hospital family, the organization is performing a useful service to both patients and the community at large. Interpreted in dollars and cents, the Friends contributed $12,000 in services during the past year.

Had this work been accomplished by paid employees, the operational costs of the hospital would have been increased by that amount and the cost would then have been reflected in patients' bills.

The Friends hold three open meetings each year, one in October, February and May. The program at each of these meetings is related to the work of the hospital and furthers the aim of public education in this field.

A Memo To Clubs

If your club has not yet been contacted regarding a feature story on its activities, it will be. The Star hopes to do a story like this one on every club in Winchester. We feel the stories will be of genuine interest to club members themselves and to the town at large.

Better still: if we haven't contacted you why not give us a buzz? In this way we could publish the stories on a first-come-first serve basis.

Stories should concern the history, objectives, major activities and membership of your club and should not exceed 5½ double-spaced typewritten pages in length. In addition a photograph of a representative club activity will be published.

THE MEANING OF APARTHEID

By WILSON SULLIVAN

The incredible dimensions of Negro slavery in South Africa were made incontestably clear to the world on March 21, 1960.

On that day, 67 Negroes were killed and 186 wounded at Sharpeville, when white policemen fired into a mass of unarmed, grinning African men, women and children demonstrating peacefully against white supremacy. Seventy percent of the victims were shot in the back without warning.

The horror of this tragedy and South Africa's brutal system of "Apartheid"—total racial segregation—are defined with precision and passion in "The Tragedy of Apartheid" by Foreign News Editor Norman Phillips of the Toronto Star. Mr. Phillips' three-day "detention" in one of the vermin-ridden jails of this "Christian democracy" gives added authority to this startling on-the-scene report.

What is Apartheid? What does it mean for the South African Negro?

Apartheid means three million whites ruling 10 million Negroes as virtual slaves, huddled in separate living compounds. It means an average 38-year Negro life expectancy in disease-torn, hunger-plagued slums. It means the hated I. D. passbook which the Negro must always carry under pain of arrest, flogging and forced labor on a jail-farm. It means death from illness for 355 out of every 1000 Negro babies before the age of six and 55 of every 100 Negroes before the age of 16.

Apartheid means a monthly Negro wage of $15.62 in a gold mine with monthly profits of $2,800,000. It means 700,000 whites owning and occupying 250 million acres while 6,000,000 Negroes occupy only 35 million acres. It means, Phillips writes, five voiceless Negroes, imprisoned for crimes so "heinous" as missing a curfew, packed into a single jail cell 5x7 feet, lying in their own filth, eating out of rusty tin cans, detained incommunicado without warrant, charge, or trial.

And Apartheid means whole towns systematically flogged by Mr. Verwoerd's bully police. In the schools it requires giving a Negro child only enough knowledge to enable him to carry out orders. It may also prompt a government ruling forbidding whites to shake hands with Negroes, a flogging for attending a white church service. It means an ultimate ratio of one doctor to one million Negroes.

What of the white supremacists? What does Apartheid mean for them? Can they really live with themselves? Yes, indeed, Phillips writes, the Africaner whites consider themselves chosen instruments of God's will to save White Christian Civilization against the "Black Tide."

Anointed by the Dutch Reformed Church, and heavily infiltrated by the Hitlerist white racists of the "Broederbond," the Verwoerd government insists that God's full grace is denied to the Negro, that the Negro's very poverty and disease are evidence of his pre-ordained inferiority, his greater propensity for sin.

For the once pro-Nazi Mr. Verwoerd, Apartheid seems to come as easily as barring refugee Jews from South Africa during the Nazi terror. Nor does the Prime Minister seem to experience substantial discomfort in asserting the Christian basis of his reign while his policemen assault an old man in the streets of Cape Town or shoot a Negro baby strapped to its mother's back.

Even while lying stricken by a white man's bullet in an attempted assassination a few months ago, Mr. Verwoerd insisted that Apartheid would be maintained as long as there were guns to maintain it. Besides, he insisted, didn't 99% of South Africa's Negroes believe in Apartheid with a full heart? If foreign journalists and communists would only mind their own business there wouldn't be any trouble at all! In any case, Phillips reports, Verwoerd has said he would rather see South Africa poor under white domination than rich under a commonwealth of white and black.

That Mr. Verwoerd is physically able to see anything is due largely to the Christian intelligence and statesmanship of three remarkable Negro leaders, Chief Albert Luthuli, Robert Sobukwe and Philip Kogasana. By pursuing Gandhian techniques of nonviolent protest against their "superior" white masters, these men, in the face of the most brutal white violence, have averted the racial bloodbath that would ensue should Negro leadership pass to terrorist or gangster elements now held in check by the Negroes themselves.

The "Christian" officials of Mr. Verwoerd's government, of course, will not deign to sully themselves by consulting with these Negro statesmen. They have jailed them instead, preferring to deal with the kind of violent rebellion that can be suppressed with machine guns and claimed as evidence of Negro "savagery."

letters to the editor

To the Parents Of High Schoolers

Editor of the Star:

Driver Education, as a formal course, entered the high school curriculum in the early 1930's. Since that time, the progress of the course has been astounding. More high schools now provide driver education courses for more students than at any time in the history of the subject. During the 1959 school year, 63% of the nation's public high schools provided driver education for 68% of their annual number of beginning drivers. In the face of critical attacks on driver education, this new, high mark should encourage greater effort to provide a complete, high-quality Driver Education Course for every young motor vehicle operator.

The purpose of Driver Education in the high school is twofold: (1) to teach the student, through carefully guided practice, the fundamentals of car operation; and (2) by thorough classroom instruction, to lay a foundation of KNOWLEDGE that will prepare him to meet the challenge of driving intelligently and lawfully on today's busy highways. If you, the parents, consider a course such as this to be an important part of your child's life experience, will you insist that this program be maintained and enlarged to include all eligible students within your school system?

Edwin H. Wiest, Newton

Dr. Joseph P. Lynch, Jr.

Dr. Joseph P. Lynch, Jr., 43, of 32 Grove Street, chief psychiatrist at the Carney Hospital, died Wednesday, November 16, at the New England Deaconess Hospital after an illness that began the Saturday before Labor Day when he was stricken with a brain aneurism upon completing a round of golf at the Winchester Country Club. He underwent a successful operation and was believed to be recovering nicely when his condition took a turn for the worse, with all efforts to save him of no avail.

Dr. Lynch was the son of Joseph P., and the late Mary (Hurley) Lynch. He was born November 8, 1917, in Marlboro and grew up in that city, graduating from high school in Marlboro and from Holy Cross College in the class of 1939.

He received his medical training at Boston University School of Medicine, from which he was graduated in 1943, interning at City Hospital in Boston. He and the former Irene H. Kelley of Milton were married February 12, 1944, and lived in New York until Dr. Lynch went overseas to serve in the European Theatre with the Army Medical Corps in World War II.

Mrs. Lynch followed her husband abroad and returned to this country with him. He was separated from the service with the rank of major and, with Mrs. Lynch, lived for three years in Marlboro before coming to Winchester in 1951. They lived first in Alden Lane and in recent years on Grove Street.

Dr. Lynch had been medical director of the Glenside Hospital in Jamaica Plain since the summer of 1958. He was also on the staffs of the Tufts Medical School, Winchester Hospital, Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford and the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn. He maintained offices for private practice at 270 Commonwealth Avenue in Boston.

He was a member of the Holy Cross Club of Boston, of the Holy Name Society and the Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. Mary's Parish and of the Winchester Country Club.

He leaves his wife and three children, Joseph P., III, and Irene H., 13-year-old twins, and Kevin Lynch, 10; also his father, and two brothers, John H., and Donald J., all of Marlboro.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem High Mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Interment was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Marlboro.

Rev. John S. Clancy, S.J., of Fairfield University, Conn., was celebrant; Rev. Edmund L. Parker, deacon; and Rev. Francis X. Turke, subdeacon.

Seated in the sanctuary, with the pastor of St. Mary's, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Manion, were Rev. James L. Duffy, S.J., of Boston College; Rev. Francis Hart, S.J., and Rev. Charles Dunn, S.J., of the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester; Rev. Paul Harrington of the Archdiocesan Court of Boston, Rev. Thomas O'Malley of Shelburne Falls, Rev. Henry J. Evers, pastor, and Rev. Thomas D. Conway, curate, of the Immaculate Conception Church, Marlboro; and Rev. Francis Kelleher of St. Barnard's, Concord.

Honorary bearers were Dr. Thomas Caulfield, Dr. Joseph Crehan, Dr. James McNulty, Dr. Herbert Minkel, Dr. Lawrence Rockwood, and Dr. Joseph Ryan. A large group of physicians and friends, numbering about fifty, acted as escort at the church.

A delegation of nuns from the Carney Hospital attended the funeral with representatives of the Glenside Hospital. Staff members were present from the Winchester, Choate, Carney and Lawrence Memorial Hospitals, and there was also a delegation of business and professional men from Marlboro.

He had been a corporator of the Winchester Savings Bank since 1952 and a trustee of the bank since 1958.

A ready smile and friendly manner, with great enthusiasm and willingness to serve made many friends for Mr. McIntyre among persons of all walks in life, all of whom were shocked by his sudden passing.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, John, Jr., (Jack), and a daughter, Jill; also his mother, living in Providence.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. H. Newton Clay, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Keyes, who was the Winchester representative at the Alliance National Conference held at the Hotel Barcelona in Miami Beach, Florida, from October 31 to November 4, will speak about the Conference. After Mrs. Keyes' talk a film concerning early detection of cancer will be shown. This is sponsored by the Winchester Visiting Nurses' Association. There will also be a short film on the Elliott P. Joslin Camp for diabetic boys. The camp which serves boys who have diabetes and need a camp experience, selection of whom is made without regard for race, color, or creed, has had the twhole-hearted support of the Winchester Alliance since its founding in 1948.

A Buck and a Doe

That is what that fearsome hunting trio, Al Elliott, the "Homespun Boy;" Brother Sid and Fred Giggey of Woburn bagged on their recent safari to the wilds of Milo, Maine.

Al got a buck and Fred Giggey, the doe, or maybe it was the other way around. Sid evidently had a bad attack of buck fever from which he failed to recover in time to be an effective hunting force. "Wait till next year," says Sid.

The boys made their headquarters at the Dillon House in the center of the town and made their trek into the woods by truck and jeep. Often they were in as far as seven miles, but with their complete knowledge of woodcraft none had the slightest qualms.

It has been rumored about town that the hunters actually bought their catch at a premium price per pound, and the Star in an attempt to flag the rumor down, asked the "Homespun Boy" about it.

"I," said Mr. Elliott, "plead the Fifth Amendment! After all, no man can be made to testify against himself!"

D.A.R. Committee Of Safety Chapter

Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, regent of the Committee of Safety Chapter, presided at the meeting on Monday, November 21 at the home of Mrs. Hiram F. Moody. Mrs. Michael Macdonald, Jr., and her committee served a delicious dessert at the beautifully decorated table with Mrs. Moody pouring.

After devotional exercises, recommendations were read and voted to give the annual donations to five accredited D.A.R. schools for under-privileged in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Dakota, and International College in Springfield, Mass. Then Mrs. Everett Kidder said she would be taking Christmas gifts to Hillside School, Marlboro, Mass. They could use clothing for boys from 8 to 16 years (new or good used), games, etc. Money would be most welcome.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman read an interesting and well-written article on "National Defense," urging members to do everything possible not to give up our hard-earned freedom.

Mrs. Moody asked for centerpieces and Christmas decorations for exhibition for the December 19 meeting at the home of Mrs. William Goodhue at 13 Herrick Street.

Mrs. Symmes then introduced Mrs. Albert E. Richardson, Jr., of Medford, state chairman of American Music, who gave a bit of her background. She was the third from the youngest in a musical family of ten children in a small mill town of 700, where "sings" were early evening entertainment. At Christmas time all children of the three nationalities took part in carol singing, and all received gifts from the tree. She said there was no discrimination nor any juvenile delinquency.

She told the history of Fred Waring and Roland Hayes, who contributed so much to American music. Then she had everyone singing ("Even those who couldn't") the new Massachusetts D. A. R. song. It was most enjoyable.

Nagels Leave For Europe

Dr. Max R. Nagel of 3 Carriage Lane, and his family left Winchester last Monday for The Hague, Netherlands, where the doctor will fill a two-year assignment as scientific advisor at the Air Defense Technical Center of the NATO Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE).

While living in Winchester, Dr. Nagel was the chief of the Thermal Radiation Laboratory at the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories at L. G. Hanscom Field, Bedford. This laboratory is a major focal point for basic research on infrared radiation, and its application in missile defense, surveillance, and reconnaissance.

In his new assignment Dr. Nagel will work on an international basis in the same area as a scientific advisor to the NATO forces.

Accompanying Dr. Nagel are his wife Angelica and son Stefan. His son, Michael, who is now at Yale, will join the family next summer and then spend his junior year abroad at the University of Munich, Germany.

On their way to the new place of duty, the Nagels will stop over in New York and in Germany. They also plan a ski vacation in Austria over the Christmas season.

Mrs. Mabel Grey, a member of the family at the Home for Aged People, is recovering from the effects of a broken hip sustained last week in a fall at the Crawford Memorial Church.

Plays

and Sheila Donahue were commendable in smaller roles. The directors, Judy Canniff and Marilyn Long, paced the play nicely and made the most of the suspense and pathos inherent in the play.

The final play of the evening was entitled "Utter Relaxation," a modern farce. Concerned with a dyspeptic and disgruntled businessman who is confined to his bed with a cold amid anything but relaxing conditions, the comedy seemed to delight the audience. Performing capably in the leading roles were Robert Carroll and Sally Leighton. Also excellent in minor parts were Sandra Simpson, Sue Bennett, William Sandberg, and James Reid. The final culminating scene found the audience almost helpless with laughter.

One Act Play Night is unique among the school's dramatic production, as it is a competitive affair, and the difficult task of deciding on awards was in the hands of three judges. These were Mr. Frank Thayer, president of the Unitarian Players, who served as chairman; Miss Constance Trickett of the Winchester High School Guidance Department; and Guild Nichols, a member of the senior class. As Mr. Thayer remarked, the task assigned them was not easy in the light of the fine performances of the evening.

Suitable awards were given to the following: All-Star cast, Robert Carroll, Jeanne Chase, Robert Joyce, Ann Ryan; best director, Donna Cartier, Linnie Butts, the Marion Bailey trophy, the Junior class play, "Utter Relaxation."

An all-high school talent show was presented while the judges were deliberating. This proved to be another feature of the evening. Produced by Karen Goethals, the program consisted of the Octette, a girls' singing group, a dance by Jeanne Chase, the Gleemen, a singing and instrumental group; Sue Nanry, vocalist; and the Plaids, a swing band composed of high school boys. All of the performers won the hearty approval of the audience.

One-Act Play Night was produced by the students themselves under the supervision of Thomas Morse and John McLaughlin of the high school faculty. Sports Illustrated Features Bellino

That widely known and popular "Sports Illustrated" magazine, at the newsstands Wednesday, has a feature story on Winchester's gift to Navy football, Joe Bellino, devoting the entire front cover to the former Winchester three-sport star in his dress blues.

The story by Roy Terrell is several pages in length and stresses the fact that Saturday's football classic between Navy and West Point at Philadelphia would be an even thing were it not for Bellino. "Joe the Jet" makes the difference and is the reason many experts pick Navy.

Painting Of Generals To First Army HQ

The 23,856 square inch, rectangular oil painting, "General John J. Pershing and the A. E. F. Generals," painted by George B. Matthews in the Minority Room of the Senate in 1925, has been accepted from Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker by First Army Commander Lieutenant General Edward J. O'Neill for permanent display in Pershing Hall, Governors Island, N. Y.

Forty-nine generals are shown in the painting, standing with General Pershing. There are Lt. Gen. Hunt Liggett, who became the First Army Commander succeeding General Pershing on October 16, 1918; General Tasker H. Bliss, military representative of the U. S. on the Allies Supreme War Council until the end of the World War I; Peyton C. March, U. S. Army Chief of Staff during the last months of the War; and Lt. Gen. Robert A. Bullard, who later became the first Commander of the Second U. S. Army.

Including the gold-painted frame, the entire work of art measures 18 feet, 7 inches, by 10 feet, 2 inches. Too large to pass through any door or window in Pershing Hall, the frame was dismantled, the canvas rolled, and the entire art work reassembled inside the building.

The realistic painting was a gift to the Department of the Army's Collection of Historical Properties from Miss Mary Purman, daughter of Carroll Purman, a Washingtonian who commissioned the painting in 1925.

Finger In The Pie

Never a Dull Moment!

Perhaps we should take some compensation for living in this difficult and dangerous era from the fact that it is also an unprecedently momentous one! An American born before March 4, 1933, and alive, say, in 1960, has lived through the most exciting and dangerous period in his country's history. During his lifetime, the United States:

Came to the brink of complete economic collapse. . . .

Escaped the disaster and at the same time preserved democracy and free enterprise. . . .

Fought the bitterest and most destructive war in its history, and won it. . . . .

Discovered atomic fission and loosed a new source of power capable of destroying all human life. . . .

Took the lead in forming the United Nations. . . .

Contributed billions of dollars for relief of suffering people of other nations and for the rehabilitation of their war-shattered industrial plants. . . .

Found itself opposed by an aggressive communism, and had to face the fact that to some peoples totalitarianism had a stronger appeal than democracy. . . . .

Became acutely aware that the American Negro would no longer remain a second-class citizen. . . .

Fought a nasty, costly war to preserve the independence of the Republic of Korea. . . .

Watched, with consternation, the Soviets launch a space satellite. . . .

Launched a satellite of its own, the first of many.

Iced Drink

How cunnningly the ice holds back
And lingers underneath,
And lets you raise and tilt the glass,
Then clacks you in the teeth!

Those of us who worry about what TV may do to our children's reading must face this fact; in the first six years of television's grasp on the nation the sale of children's books increased 100 per cent! The population hike during this period was 8 per cent.

Cynosure

My car's a two-tone color job,
And very much admired, too,
There is the part I polished
And the part I was too tired to!

Not the international press syndicates nor the television networks nor the radio industries are the biggest users of the telephone lines. The largest is Muzak, the producer and programmer of background music. Muzak is heard in the Bronx Zoo, under water in Eaton's Motel Pool in Hamilton, Ohio, at baseball games in Fenway Park, and at J. P. Morgan's banking houses. It is supposed to improve the morale of industry workers, help fish propagate, and make a dinner more appetizing. It may well do all of these, but it certainly proves two things: (1) It would be nice to own stock in Muzak, and (2) Americans are afraid of silence.

Manipulation of the Mass Media

How terrible to think of 200 million Russians, many of them intelligent and observing, cut off for forty years from objective knowledge of the world both inside and outside their country, and even worse, fed a steady diet of anti-knowledge about the rest of the world. But hoist with their own petard! Russian insistence on educating scientists, screening every intelligent child, is bound to develop an educated middle class. Now the scientific attitude is eternally at war with dogma. Of these youngsters, so rigorously disciplined in science, many even now fail to take their political indoctrination very seriously. How long will the dam of anti-knowledge hold?

Tidbits

Seen It Once!

A couple from the country left a New York theatre after the second act because the program said: "Act III, same as Act II."

The new elevator man went to his boss and asked to have the day off to help his wife with the housecleaning. "Jim, I am always glad to grant any reasonable request," said the boss, "but your wife has phoned and said she would not need you." "Mr. Jones," replied Jim, "There are two persons in this building who handle the truth loosely and I am one of them. I'm not married."

A pretty young nursing student and her doctor fiance had just broken their engagement. The nurse was telling her girl friend about it. "Do you mean to say," gasped her friend, wide-eyed, "he actually asked you to give back all his presents?" "Not only that," sniffed the young Florence Nightingale, "he sent me a bill for 36 visits!"

Our Precocious Youth

Comedian George DeWitt tells of a fact-finding youngster who faced his mother one day saying: "Didn't you tell me the stork brought me?" "Why, yes dear." "And I weighed eight pounds?" "Uh-huh, yes." "Well," for your information," said the boy, "the stork hasn't the wingspread to carry such a load!"

First Distribution of Kind

UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., Shares Offered Via Prospectus Ads In Newspapers

In what is believed to be the first distribution of its kind in the history of the mutual fund industry, UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., is today commencing the initial public offering to American investors of its common shares at a price of $10 per share.

Shares of this new investment company are being offered during the Initial Offering Period through newspaper advertisements which are complete reproductions of the Fund's prospectus. The double-page prospectus ad, designed to be the actual "point of sale," contains an order form offering the reader an opportunity to buy shares direct-by-mail.

H. NELSON CONANT

President, UBS Fund

This direct-to-the-investor distribution of shares is being handled by the Fund's exclusive underwriter, UBS Distributing Corporation, 210 Newbury Street, Boston, a wholly-owned subsidiary of United Business Service Company.

In conjunction with the prospectus ads, the Fund's underwriter is offering the UBS Fund of Canada shares by mail. Preprints of the prospectus ads along with other information are being mailed to a select list of potential investors. The Initial Offering Period expires at 4:30 p.m., December 31, 1960. During this Initial Offering Period lower sales charges are in effect and the minimum order is 100 shares.

The initial offering price of $10 per share on purchase of less than $25,000 includes sales charge of 4.9%. Reduced sales charges (and offering prices) are in effect on larger purchases.

UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd. was incorporated on October 15, 1959 as a Canadian company and registered under the U. S. Investment Company Act of 1940. As is always the case, such registration does not involve governmental supervision of the management of the Fund or its investment practices or policies.

The primary objective of UBS Fund of Canada is capital growth. The Fund will invest its assets principally in the securities of Canadian companies.

A. HAMILTON BOLTON

Vice President, UBS Fund

All net income and capital gains received by the Fund will be reinvested and no cash dividends will be paid. Therefore, it is anticipated that shareholders will not be subject to U. S. income tax unless their shares are sold or redeemed at a profit.

In addition to the tax features and the unusual direct-to-the-investor method of sale, UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd. also features both Canadian and American investment advisers.

The Fund's Canadian adviser is Bolton, Tremblay & Company of Montreal which participates in the management of investments totaling more than $200 million. Included among its advisory clients are several Canadian insurance companies and three specialized mutual funds available to residents of Canada.

The American adviser is United Investment Management Corporation of Boston. This company is a subsidiary of the Boston investment counseling firm, United Investment Counsel, Inc., which also serves private and institutional investors with assets of more than $200 million. United Investment Counsel, Inc. is an affiliate of United Business Service Company, the publisher of United Business Service, well-known investment advisory service.

The president of this new Canadian fund is H. Nelson Conant, president of the United Investment Counsel, Inc. The first vice president is A. Hamilton Bolton, president of Bolton, Tremblay & Company.

In addition to Mr. Conant, the American directors include Donald P. Babson, vice president, United Business Service Company; Richard R. Higgins, president, The Kendall Company; Philip E. Lawrence, vice president, United Investment Counsel; and Vincent C. Ziegler, persident, Gillette Safety Razor Co.

In addition to Mr. Bolton, the Canadian directors of the Fund are Douglas W. Ambridge, president, Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Limited; Herbert H. Lank, president DuPont of Canada Limited; and Maurice Tremblay, chairman, Bolton, Tremblay & Company.

After the Initial Offering Period, shares of the fund will be offered on a continuous basis at net asset value, plus a sales charge of 6% of the offering price on sales of less than $5,000. For purchases of $5,000 or more, the sales charge is reduced.

Authorized capitalization of the Fund consists of 10,000,000 common shares (par value $1) and 1,000 deferred shares. The Fund does not intend to issue any of the deferred shares.

It will have many special attractions including the newly formed Greater Boston Civic Ballet, under the direction of the famous choreographer and teacher, Mary Corbett Burns. There will be a surprise twist to the traditional Winton Club Drill, and possibly a beatnik number and a tap line.

Another 1961 innovation will be dancing during intermission on Thursday night (Theater Night) as well as the usual dancing on Friday and Saturday (Cabaret Nights).

A new acoustical system is being loaned this year by Mr. Ralph W. Swan, president of Exec-U-Phone Systems, Inc., who lives at 91 Church Street.

Start thinking about the Winton Club Cabaret. Would you like to be in the show? Talent Night is scheduled for Sunday, January 15, and rehearsals will start immediately thereafter.

UBS FUND of CANADA Ltd.

A DIVERSIFIED INVESTMENT COMPANY

UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., was incorporated on October 15, 1959, as a Canadian corporation and will be a closed-end Investment Company until the conclusion of the Initial Public Offering of its shares whereupon under the terms of its Charter it will become an open-end Investment Company.

PROSPECTUS • SEPTEMBER 22, 1960

UBS FUND OF CANADA, LTD. is a MUTUAL FUND designed to give investors A CONVENIENT MEANS OF INVESTING in the securities of companies outside of the United States, and particularly IN CANADA

THE FUND'S PRIMARY OBJECTIVE IS CAPITAL GROWTH — which it will seek primarily in three ways:

First — by investing selectively in a diversified portfolio of securities which in the opinion of the Fund's management offers better-than-average opportunity to share in the future of Canada's economy.

Second — by accumulating and reinvesting all net income and capital gains under Canadian tax law.

Third — by providing the professional management of a Canadian and American Board of Directors.

There can, of course, be no assurance that the objectives of the Fund will be achieved and the value of shares upon redemption may be more or less than investor's cost depending upon the market value of portfolio securities. There is always risk in any investment but it is believed that risks can be reduced through prudent management of the Fund.

OFFERING PRICE $10 (U.S.) PER COMMON SHARE

The offering price includes a sales charge of 4.9% (maximum) of the offering price in transactions involving less than $25,000. For the reduced sales charge on larger purchases see below.

MINIMUM PURCHASE $1,000

THIS INITIAL OFFERING OF UBS FUND OF CANADA, LTD., SHARES EXPIRES AT 4:30 P.M. (E.S.T.) ON DECEMBER 31, 1960.

Thereafter the Common Shares will be offered for sale at net asset value plus a sales charge of 6% (maximum) of the offering price as described below, and will be redeemable at full net asset value without any repurchase charge.

Rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission require the following statement on the front cover of every Prospectus relating to any security registered under the Securities Act of 1933:

THESE SECURITIES HAVE NOT BEEN APPROVED OR DISAPPROVED BY THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION NOR HAS THE COMMISSION PASSED UPON THE ACCURACY OR ADEQUACY OF THIS PROSPECTUS. ANY REPRESENTATION TO THE CONTRARY IS A CRIMINAL OFFENSE.

A COPY OF THIS PROSPECTUS HAS BEEN FILED WITH THE SECRETARY OF STATE OF CANADA IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THE COMPANIES ACT (CANADA) 1934.

INVESTMENT POLICIES FOR CAPITAL GROWTH

The investment policies of the Fund are founded upon a firm belief in Canada's prospects for economic growth. While no one can guarantee economic growth, Canada's current economy, natural resources and expanding population appear to offer a sound basis for this belief in Canada's future. The primary objective of UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., is to provide long-term growth of capital by investing principally in the common stocks of companies which appear to have greater-than-average growth potential, and by accumulating and reinvesting all net income and capital gains under Canadian tax law.

To achieve its primary investment objective it is anticipated that the Fund will be principally a "common stock fund." The Fund may however invest in any type of securities including bonds and preferred stocks as well as common stocks, and may make investments in different types of securities in such varying proportions as its management believes most appropriate in the light of current economic and market conditions.

In accordance with its Charter the Fund will invest at least 60% of its assets taken at market value (other than Government securities) in the securities of companies whose principal activities and interests are located in Canada. The remainder of its assets may be invested in securities of issuers deriving their income mainly from sources outside both the United States and Canada. Purchases and sales of securities will be made as judged necessary by the Fund's management to best achieve the Fund's objective of long-term growth. While it is not the Fund's policy to concentrate investments in any particular industry, the management of the Fund may invest not more than 25% of the total amount of the Fund's assets in any one industry.

During the Initial Offering Period proceeds from the sale of shares will be held in cash, and during the initial period of the Fund's operations it is anticipated that a substantial portion of the Fund's assets may be temporarily invested in bonds or other debt-type securities.

The investment policies controlled by Charter provisions and the policy with respect to industry concentration cannot be changed without shareholder approval.

There can, of course, be no guarantee that the Fund's investment objectives will be attained since there is risk inherent in any investment. But it is believed that risks can be reduced through careful selection, prudent diversification, and continuous supervision by competent investment management.

A. Hamilton Bolton and Maurice Tremblay are each the owners of approximately 50% of the outstanding voting stock of Bolton, Tremblay (Bermuda) Limited and Paul T. Babson is the owner of all the outstanding voting stock of United Investment Counsel, Inc. For information with respect to the officers and Directors of the Advisers and persons affiliated with the Fund who are also affiliated with the Advisers, see information contained under the captions, "Officers and Directors of UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd." and "Additional Information."

The Investment Advisory Agreements require the Canadian and American Advisers to furnish the Fund continuously with an investment program. The Advisers have agreed to provide the Fund with all necessary office facilities and personnel and to pay the compensation of all officers, directors, and employees of the Fund who are connected with either of the Advisers.

The Investment Advisory Agreements will continue in force until December 31, 1961, and thereafter from year to year so long as approved annually by the Fund's shareholders or Board of Directors. Both agreements are subject to termination by the Fund on 60 days' notice and terminate automatically in the event of assignment by the respective Advisers.

Total Payment For The Combined Services Of Both Canadian and American Advisers will be a quarterly management fee of 5/32 of 1% of the Fund's average net assets. This fee is to be reduced, however, if the annual expenses of the Fund (including the management fee but exclusive of taxes, interest, and brokerage charges) should in any year exceed 1% of the Fund's average net assets.

Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreements, the American Adviser will retain approximately 40% of the combined management fee. The balance of the fee will be paid to the Canadian Adviser's parent company Bolton, Tremblay (Bermuda) Limited who will pay the Canadian Adviser a fixed annual fee plus expenses.

Both United Investment Counsel, Inc. and its affiliate United Business Service Company have by contract agreed to provide (from their staffs of more than 105 full-time employees) research and statistical services to the Fund. United Business Service Company is the publisher of the weekly United Business Service, reports on business and investments, through which it acts as adviser to businessmen and to other individual investors with an estimated total of over $2 billion in personal investment holdings.

CAPITALIZATION OF THE FUND

Authorized Capital — The authorized capital of UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., consists of 10,000,000 Common Shares and 1,000 Deferred Shares, all of a par value of $1. The Fund has agreed not to issue any of its Deferred Shares, which were created to permit the redemption and repurchase of Common Shares under Canadian law.

Non-Cumulative Voting — These shares have non-cumulative voting rights which means that the holders of more than 50% of the shares voting for the election of directors can elect 100% of the directors if they choose to do so, and, in such event, the holders of the remaining less than 50% of the shares voting for the election of the directors will not be able to elect any person or persons to the Board of Directors.

Other Provisions of Common Shares — Each Common Share entitles the holder thereof to one vote at all meetings of shareholders. All shares have equal rights to participate in any cash or stock dividends that may be declared, and in the assets of the Fund in the event of liquidation. Common Shares have no preemptive rights and when fully paid are not subject to further call or assessment. While the Fund does not have any general right to compel redemption of its shares, Common Shares owned by residents of Canada may be redeemed by the Fund at any time at the option of the Board of Directors. The rights of Common Shares may not be modified except by By-Law approved by two-thirds of its votes cast at a meeting of shareholders called for this purpose.

A NEW Mutual Fund

IMPORTANT FEATURES OF UBS FUND OF CANADA, LTD.

UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., offers investors:

A diversified investment in Canada — its resources, and long-term prospects.

Tax benefits for American investors — both investment profits and dividend income of the Fund can be reinvested at little or no tax cost as described under "Tax Status of the Fund."

Both Canadian and American Investment Advisers — an international team of investment specialists from United Investment Management Corporation (Boston) and Bolton, Tremblay & Company (Montreal).

Direct-to-the-Investor Sale of Shares — an opportunity to invest with direct-by-mail convenience.

TAX STATUS OF THE FUND

No U. S. Corporate Income Tax — The Fund does not intend to engage in trade or business in the United States, or to have a permanent establishment there, or to derive any taxable income from sources within the United States. It is, therefore, expected that the Fund will incur no United States income tax liability.

No Canadian Capital Gains Tax — The Canadian Income Tax Act does not tax capital gains realized by corporations on the sale of securities purchased for investment as distinguished from profits realized from trading in securities. The Fund does not intend to "trade" in securities.

Little or No Canadian Corporate Income Taxes — Dividends received by a Canadian corporation from taxable Canadian corporations are, with certain minor exceptions, not subject to the Canadian income tax. For those years in which the investment income of the Fund consists solely of dividends from such taxable Canadian corporations, the Fund will pay no Canadian income tax on its income.

If and to the extent that the income of the Fund includes interest and other taxable items in any year, the Fund will pay a tax at regular rates on taxable items (current rates are 21% on the first $25,000 and 50% on the balance) OR the Fund may, if more advantageous, elect (within 90 days after the beginning of any tax year) to be taxed as a "non-resident-owned investment corporation." (provided Canadian residents own less than 5% of the Fund's shares) in which case the Fund would pay taxes at the flat rate of 15% on all of its net income including dividends, computed without certain expense deductions.

It is expected that the Fund will elect to be taxed as a Canadian corporation, but the Fund may elect to be taxed as a "non-resident-owned investment corporation," if such an election appears to be more advantageous.

TAX FEATURES FOR SHAREHOLDERS

No Current U. S. Income Tax — Since it is the intention of the Fund to accumulate and reinvest all of its net income and capital gains and to pay no cash dividends, it is anticipated that U. S. shareholders will not be subject to U. S. income tax unless shares are sold or redeemed at a profit.

U. S. Capital Gains Tax Treatment — Profits realized by a United States shareholder upon the sale in the open market of all or any part of his shares held more than six months will be taxable at current capital gains rates which in effect are one-half the rate on ordinary income with a maximum rate of 25%. Profits realized upon redemption of all of a shareholder's shares or of an amount sufficient to reduce his proportionate interest in the Fund to less than 80% of his interest prior to the redemption will also ordinarily qualify for capital gains treatment. Reference is made to Section 302 of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code for a detailed statement of conditions under which stock redemptions will receive capital gains treatment.

No "Built-in" Capital Gains Tax Liability — Since there is no Canadian capital gains tax, investors purchasing UBS Fund of Canada shares will not be buying a "built-in" capital gains tax liability. Investors purchasing shares of U. S. investment companies that have substantial accrued but unrealized capital gains in their investment portfolios often incur such a "built-in" liability, since such gains are subject to tax whenever realized.

The Fund to Maintain Reserve to Pay Canadian Withholding Tax for its Shareholders — If a shareholder surrenders his shares for redemption and the Fund, as contemplated, has decided to be taxed as an ordinary Canadian corporation, a Canadian withholding tax is payable. In substance this tax currently amounts to 15% of the amount of the Fund's accumulated net income (excluding capital gains) which is allocable to such shares and in respect to which no such tax has previously been paid.

UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., will pay this withholding tax for its shareholders from a reserve set up for the purpose. There will be credited to this reserve and deducted as a liability in determining the Net Asset Value of the shares of the Fund an amount equal to the maximum withholding tax (currently 15%) payable upon the Fund's accumulated earnings (excluding capital gains). Until actually expended to pay withholding taxes upon redemption of shares, the amounts in the reserve may be invested for the purpose of earning additional income and capital gains for the Fund and its shareholders.

The payment of the withholding tax from the reserve results in an automatic tax deduction for shareholders. Under certain circumstances U. S. Income Tax credit may also be available to shareholders.

If the Fund elects to be taxed as a "non-resident-owned investment corporation" the withholding tax upon redemption is imposed only on that portion of the Fund's income accumulated during the period when the Fund was subject to tax as an ordinary Canadian corporation.

Canadian Estate Tax and Succession Duties — The Canadian Estate Tax Act imposes an estate tax of 15% on the value of property situated in Canada of a person domiciled outside Canada at the time of his death, provided the value of such property exceeds $5,000 and provided further that the 15% tax cannot reduce the value of the property below $5,000. For the purposes of this tax, shares and stocks of a Canadian company are deemed to be property situated in Canada at the time of death of a person domiciled outside Canada. Any such tax paid by the estate of a United States shareholder will be available as a credit against the United States estate tax.

No succession duties will be payable under present laws to any Canadian province upon the death of a person domiciled outside Canada holding shares of the Fund if the certificates for such shares are situated outside Canada at the time of death.

Statements as to Matters of Law set forth above relative to the tax status of the Fund and its shareholders have been made on the authority of Messrs. Goodwin, Procter & Hoar of Boston, Massachusetts, as to matters of United States Law, and Messrs. Howard & Stalker of Montreal, Quebec as to matters of Canadian Law. All such statements are considered by counsel to be correct interpretations of existing statutes and treaty provisions as presently applied but no representation is made or intended that changes in the law or its application will not be made.

PURCHASE OF SHARES AFTER INITIAL OFFERING
DETERMINATION OF NET ASSET VALUE AND PRICING OF SHARES

After the Initial Offering Period Common Shares of the Fund will be available to investors on a continuous basis at the offering price as of the close of business on the day the order is received by the Fund's Principal Underwriter, UBS Distributing Corporation, or its agent, The Merchants National Bank of Boston. Orders received either at or after the close of business, or on any day which is not a business day, will be executed at the offering price as of the close of business on the next succeeding business day. A "business day" means any day on which the New York Stock Exchange is open and the "close of business" means the time of closing of the New York Stock Exchange.

The offering price of the Common Shares of the Fund is based upon Net Asset Value plus a sales charge (adjusted to the nearest cent) as follows:

For purchases of less than $5,000 the maximum sales charge will be 6% of the offering price; for purchases of $5,000 but less than $25,000, 5%; $25,000 but less than $50,000, 4%; $50,000 but less than $100,000, 3%; $100,000 but less than $250,000, 2%; $250,000 or more, 1%.

These reduced sales charges apply to aggregate purchases by the same persons who qualify for reduced sales charges during the Initial Offering Period. In addition such reduced charges will be available with respect to aggregate purchases of shares made within a 13-month period pursuant to a written statement of intention accepted by the Fund's Principal Underwriter. The minimum original order will be $300 after the Initial Offering Period.

The Merchants National Bank of Boston as agent for the Fund will determine the Net Asset Value of the Fund's Common Shares. Briefly, the determination of Net Asset Value of each share is made by dividing the total number of outstanding shares into the current value of the Fund's net assets. Computation is made to the nearest cent.

In determining the current value of the assets of the Fund, securities for which market quotations are readily available will ordinarily be valued on the basis of the last sale price (or bid price if no recent sale is reported). Other assets will be taken at fair value determined under authority of the Board of Directors. Liabilities will include the reserve set aside to pay Canadian taxes for shareholders upon redemption of their shares as explained above.

Orders for shares of the Fund are subject to acceptance by the Fund's Principal Underwriter, UBS Distributing Corporation, and the right is reserved to refuse to accept any subscription for shares.

INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

The Charter and By-Laws of UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., contain the principal restrictions which the U. S. Investment Company Act imposes upon diversified open-end investment companies of the management type.

The Fund will not, except for Government securities, invest more than 5% of its assets in the securities of any one issuer nor acquire more than 10% of the voting securities of any one issuer. The Fund is also prohibited from purchasing the securities of any company which has a record of less than three years continuous operation.

The Fund will not engage in the purchase and sale of real estate, commodities or commodity contracts, nor will it purchase securities for the primary purpose of exercising control or management. The Fund will not borrow money except for extraordinary or emergency purposes and then in an amount not exceeding 10% of the value of its assets taken at cost, and the Fund will not lend money to any person except that it may purchase a portion of an issue of publicly distributed bonds, debentures or other debt securities.

Provisions of the Fund's Charter prohibit the purchase of securities on margin, the short sale of securities and the participation by the Fund in any joint trading account in securities. The Fund is prohibited from acquiring any interest in the business of any person who is a broker or dealer or is engaged in the business of underwriting or distributing securities or is an investment adviser. The Fund is also prohibited from underwriting the securities of other issuers and from acting as a distributor of securities of which it is the issuer except through an underwriter. In addition the Fund is prohibited under its Charter and By-Laws from acquiring the securities of other investment companies except by purchase in the open market where no commission to a sponsor or dealer results from such purchase other than the customary broker's commission and then only as and to the extent permitted by the U. S. Investment Company Act of 1940.

None of the restrictions set forth under this caption may be changed without the consent of shareholders.

$10 (U. S.) PER SHARE

This offering price includes a sales charge of 4.9% of the offering price and applies to purchases of less than $25,000. For reduced sales charges on larger purchases see below.

For purchases of $25,000 or more during the Initial Offering Period the sales charge (and the offering price) is reduced as set forth in the following schedule.

Amount of Purchase	Offering Price Per Share	Sales Charge as a % of Offering Price Per Share
$25,000 but less than $50,000	$9.90	3.94%
$50,000 but less than $100,000	$9.80	2.96%

Orders for shares of the Fund are subject to acceptance by the Fund's Principal Underwriter, UBS Distributing Corporation, and the right is reserved to refuse to accept any subscription for shares. No order of less than $1,000 can be accepted during the Initial Offering Period. The Initial Offering Period expires at 4:30 P.M. (E.S.T.) on December 31, 1960.

RIGHT OF REDEMPTION AT 100% OF NET ASSET VALUE

After the Initial Offering Period the Common Shares of the Fund may be redeemed for cash at 100% of the Net Asset Value per share in effect at the time. (For the method of determining Net Asset Value see above.) The cash proceeds from redemptions will be paid in U. S. Dollars or at the option of the shareholder in the exchange equivalent (as determined by the Fund) of Canadian Dollars and such proceeds may be either more or less than the investor's cost depending upon the market value of the portfolio securities at the time of redemption.

To redeem his shares, a shareholder need merely give appropriate written notice to the Fund or the Custodian, and deposit his share certificate, properly endorsed and in order for transfer.

Orders for redemption will be executed at Net Asset Value per share determined as of the close of business on the day the shares are received by either the Fund or the Custodian, as the case may be, except that when at the time of such receipt the New York Stock Exchange is not scheduled to be open thereafter on that day for more than three hours, then such shares will be redeemed at Net Asset Value per share determined as of the close of business on the next business day on which the New York Stock Exchange is open. Payment will be made within 7 days after shares have been duly deposited for redemption.

Subject to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and other Governmental authority, the determination of Net Asset Value may be suspended by or under authority of the Board of Directors at times when (a) the New York Stock Exchange, the Montreal Stock Exchange or the Toronto Stock Exchange is closed, (b) trading on any of such exchanges is restricted, (c) an emergency exists as a result of which it is not reasonably practicable for the Fund to dispose of securities owned by it, or to determine fairly the value of its assets, or (d) the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other Governmental body having jurisdiction may by order permit such suspension for the protection of shareholders.

If the determination of Net Asset Value should be so suspended, and its determination thereby postponed beyond the date on which it would normally occur, the shareholder may (1) withdraw his request for redemption, or (2) leave his request in effect and his certificate if any, on deposit, in which case redemption will be effected at Net Asset Value per share as of the close of business on the first day following suspension upon which a determination of Net Asset Value is made.

DIRECT-TO-THE-INVESTOR DISTRIBUTION OF SHARES BY THE FUND'S PRINCIPAL UNDERWRITER

The direct distribution of UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., shares to investors is a distinctive feature of the Fund. This method of distribution provides investors with an opportunity to purchase shares with direct-by-mail convenience.

Babson, Sargent and Howland listed above, the officers and Directors of UBS Distributing Corporation also include Robert H. Smith, President and Director, and Robert S. Moore, Assistant Treasurer.

U. S. CUSTODIAN AND TRANSFER AGENT

The Merchants National Bank of Boston, 28 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, is Custodian for the Fund and will have custody or control of all of the Fund's cash and securities (except for not more than $25,000 Canadian which may be maintained in a Canadian bank or trust company), but takes no part in determining the investment or other management policies or decisions of the Fund.

The Merchants National Bank of Boston will also act as Transfer Agent for the Fund.

Such registration is required before a public offering of the Fund's securities may be made in the United States but does not involve governmental supervision of the management of the Fund or its investment practices or policies. In its Application the Fund, its officers and Directors and the Custodian have entered into various agreements and undertakings and it is the purpose and objective of these agreements and undertakings to subject the Fund, the Custodian, the Investment Advisers, the Underwriter and the officers and Directors to the provisions and requirements of the Investment Company Act of 1940 in substantially the same manner and to the same effect as though the Fund were organized and operated under the laws of the United States.

The Commission may, (pursuant to a consent agreement filed by the Fund) on its own motion or that of any shareholder, revoke its Order. In such event the Commission may direct, as an incident to such revocation, the distribution of the Fund's assets to its shareholders and the Custodian would make such distribution pursuant to the Commission's Order.

Christmas Mailing Expected To Set Record

Faced with the possibility that the 1960 Christmas season will set an all time holiday mailing record, Winchester's Postmaster, Thomas J. Gilgun, has announced that he's starting his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign immediately.

The Postmaster offers these helpful mailing tips to insure delivery of your Christmas cards and gifts on time.

First, check your Christmas card list very carefully, — make sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

Second, for your Christmas gift packages, stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape.

Third, remember that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package by adding the appropriate First Class postage to the package itself.

Fourth, buy your postage stamps now. Don't wait until the last minute when long lines form at the stamp windows.

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels. The Post Office will also supply free labels which read, "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out of Town Delivery," so that you can sort your Christmas cards into two groups, with addresses all facing one way, thus insuring fast delivery.

Use only First Class postage on your Christmas cards. Cards sent by First Class four cent, or seven cent Air Mail, may include personal handwritten messages. First Class mail also receives full forwarding and return service. Don't fail to put your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Not only is this socially correct, but it helps tremendously to keep the mailing lists of both you and your friends up-to-date.

Postmaster Gilgun says that with your help he'll get the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1960 Christmas mail rush by putting on extra mail clerks and carriers, and by arranging for expanded facilities all around.

The Postmaster requests that you make it a point to mail your Christmas cards and gifts for the most distant points well before December 10th. Those for nearby destinations should be mailed by December 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Dear friends,

The first Thanksgiving would have been impossible but for the generous sharing of food by the Indians. Now that our country is blessed with food in abundance, it behoove us to share with impoverished nations and, more important, to teach them production techniques that have made our country so abundant. Such practical Christianity is needed to evolve a world thankful for Christ and for freedom.

Sincerely,

Fenton H. Norris

No Poultry Bones For Dogs

At the Mass. S.P.C.A's Angell Memorial Animal Hospital in Boston the holiday turkey, chicken, goose or duck can be more than something pleasant to think about and to eat—it can mean real trouble for canine patients when the bones are eaten after the holiday is over.

According to Dr. Gerry B. Schnelle, chief of staff of the hospital, poultry bones are eaten with relish by almost all dogs, but the leg bones in particular tend to splinter into sharp fragments which cause much discomfort and at times serious illness for the canine pet.

The flat bones of the body of the bird are less dangerous, but must be given in moderation and after a meal and never when there is competition among dogs for the food. If such bones are chewed leisurely and not bolted, they can be digested by all except puppies and those lacking physical strength.

No bones about it—poultry that is, is the best rule for dogs around the holiday season.

Have you played Chessers? It's a game, and you can get it, and other new games at the Winchester Star.

Winchester Garden Club

The November meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Friday, November 18, at the lovely home of Mrs. Rowland Patrick, 1 Ledgewood Road.

The hostess served a most delicious dessert in her very formal and beautifully appointed dining room. The pourers were Mrs. Warren Whitman and Mrs. Deran Hintlian.

The president, Mrs. Chandler Symmes, welcomed each and every one, and after the business chairing introduced the program chairman, Mrs. W. Campbell Ross. Mrs. Ross was very enthusiastic in her praise of the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Bena E. Suzan. Mrs. Suzan is known and well liked by people all over New England for her vital and interesting lectures on many subjects. Her lecture was, "Let's Celebrate Thanksgiving."

It was most fitting that the speaker came from Cape Cod, where the first Thanksgiving was celebrated. She told us that of all the holidays observed in this country, there is none so typically American as Thanksgiving. It is a legacy from the Pilgrims, cherished because of the traditions that surround it.

She showed us how to use the old-fashioned containers to advantage, such as the Horn of Plenty, which signifies a full harvest. She used lovely old baskets filled with fruit and flowers, cranberry scoops, genuine old stove tops and unique arrangements that have an appeal to the children.

Her closing remarks included this very old verse:

November's Gift

However flowerless the ways of grim November
However dull and drear the days
we should remember
One happy time she sets apart for royal living
A gift to cheer and bless each heart
It is Thanksgiving!

Holly-Berry Fair At Methodist Church

On Wednesday evening, November 30, the doors to the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will open again to its annual Fair, this year, the Holly-Berry Fair. At 6:30 p.m. a delicious chicken dinner will be served by the men and women of the church and prepared by Mrs. Charles Deroo.

The Fair chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Donaghey, has announced that shoppers will be able to purchase many hand-made articles that will fulfill their Christmas needs.

For example, lovely aprons, all sizes and all types. To brighten your home, useful and decorative articles from the House Beautiful Table. The children love to shop at the Small Fry Shopping Center, just for them and priced for them. The Simmering Kettle will feature tasty jams, jellies, pickles and relishes.

Tots-to-Teens is the place to find an unusual gift for some loving child. We also have many, many outfits to fit name brand dolls and others. For those who want unique decorations for their home at Christmas, visit our Holiday Nook. The Food Table will display baked goodies from the ovens of some of the best cooks in town. For those interested in the unusual, you won't want to miss Sue Armstrong's Collector's Corner. If you have a sweet tooth, you certainly will want to sample our delicious homemade candies. You'll also be pleasantly pleased if you purchase one of our Surprise Packages.

At the Treasure Chest you can browse until your heart's content, among china, glassware, fireplace equipment and many odds and ends. If you just love hats, you're sure to find one to your liking, at the Chapeau Corner. Many lovely handkerchiefs will be another feature the Fair is well known for.

The men's table, with Herman Erikson and Erland Van Laecken in charge, will have a great variety of tools.

While you sip your morning coffee or afternoon tea, a capable baby sitter will be on hand to care for the little ones.

Year after year, many of our townspeople make sure they have luncheon at the Methodist Church during Fair time. The beef steak pie to be served this year deserves top billing. Be sure not to miss this.

You'll enjoy shopping in this holiday atmosphere, created by Mrs. Donald Maxwell, Mrs. John McIntyre and Mrs. Henry Dempsey.

The dates again, Wednesday evening, November 30, and all day Thursday, December 1.

United Fund

At the halfway mark of the United Fund residential campaign last week Winchester's percentage of collection was 21.8. Forty per cent was the goal set for the halfway mark and only 10 communities reached or bettered this figure. Wellesley led with 61 per cent, followed by Sherborn with 60.

Winchester Police Association Held Annual Ball

The big auditorium of the high school was well filled last week, Wednesday evening, when the Winchester Police Relief Association held its annual concert program which has replaced the dancing days of the old Policemen's Ball.

The main auditorium was well filled with an overflow in the balcony and all who attended indicated by their applause and enthusiasm that they liked the stage show.

Herb Warner filled the important post of Em Cee for the show and discharged his duties ably, filling in nicely between numbers.

There were seven individual acts of professional entertainment that brought back nostaligc pangs to the old timers in the hall who remembered the long gone vaudeville shows.

Opening with the Kirks in fun on wheels, the show moved swiftly ahead with Jimmy Ray in a "Magical Fantasy" and Charlie Rozella, billed as the "Mad Musician." Franklin and Astrid in a balancing act were well received and were followed by the Em Cee himself doubling with Betty Warner in "Sweethearts of Song."

Vicki Taylor and "Ronnie" had the big audience laughing with their "Sparkling Rumor" and the final number was perhaps as popular as any. McHarris and Dolores were billed as "Rhythm is their business" and they proved that they knew their business with their high class stepping.

An unexpected addition to this act was the appearance on stage of a young Winchester boy, Jimmy Howell, who got quite a hand as he attempted to mimic the nimble McHarris.

Ruby Newman furnished the music for the show under the direction of Milt Brodie.

Sgt. John H. Elliott was chairman of the entertainment committee with Sgt. D. Irving Reardon as treasurer.

Officers of the Relief Assn. include Andrew Crawford, president; Douglas Martel, vice president; treasurer, Chief Joseph J. Derro; secretary, Joseph L. Quigley; trustees, Sgt. John H. Elliott, Robert A. Elliott and Sgt. John J. Dolan.

A Mean Outlook

"Now winter's cold hand descends upon the land. Don't rely on a fair sky. Nothing could be dumber than a cold Indian summer. Rain, snow, sleet, and wind, little wonder Adam sinned."

Pessimistic, depressing, dull and dank. That's what the Farmer's Almanac is for November, 1960. It has little good to say.

Interesting celebrations still to go: the celebration of Charles Dickens' visit in 1867 on November 19th; Thanksgiving Day, on Thursday, November 24; the 52nd anniversary of the Christian Science Monitor on November 25 and Benedict Arnold's visit to Quebec on November 29.

And the Almanac's poem for November:

"Now sportsmen with tantivee to the field
Repair, in hopes it will some pleasure yield;
Old age must stay at home, for fear of cold,
And misers chuse to stay to count their gold."
—Poor Robin, 1745.

And by the way, ye citizens of Winchester, the 1961 "Farmer's Almanac" has just arrived at Ye Star, and is selling mighty quick-like.

It contains a nice illustrated version of Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard."

And it contains jokes like this:

"Father—Have you anything to say before I whip you, Bobby?

"Bobby—Yes, sir, it's going to hurt me worse than it does you."

The Almanac also provides you with dates on sunsets, tides and weather, one year in advance!!

How fast do birds fly? The Massachusetts Audubon Society says that the majority of small land birds travel at speeds between 20 and 30 m.p.h., geese and ducks usually range from 50 to 55 m.p.h., while some shore birds on extended flights regularly reach 40 to 60 m.p.h.

"Mary Stuart"

Parish Players Give Notable Production in Little Theatre

The Cast

Mary Stuart—Marian Blake
Hannah Kennedy, her servant—Doris Stone
Sir Amias Paulet, her guardian at Fotheringay — Leon A. Blanchard, Jr.
Sir Edwin Mortimer, his nephew—Jerry Rosen
William Cecil, Lord Burleigh, Lord High Treasurer—George Connor
Queen Elizabeth — Rosalind Lynch
Count L'Aubespine, Ambassador from the Court of France—Henry Fitts
Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, Master of Horse—Wesley Mallery
George Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury, Lord Privy Seal—Woodford Wilcox
Sir William Davison, Secretary of State—Larry Smith
Sir Andrew Melvil—John MacLellan
O'Kelly—Donald Moffett
Guards — Robert Erickson, Donald Moffett

These Parish Players are ambitious. They don't stay put! Coasting along in the even tenor of their way (and even that is good!) they suddenly, without warning, tackle a production that would test the mettle of a professional company. We refer to Schiller's famed "Maria Stuart" (Goldstein and Reich translation).

In this intense drama it was Schiller's intention to interpret a dramatic clash of interests in terms of vivid contrast of personality, with unmistakeable prejudice in favor of Mary Stuart. His interpretation hinges on the insight that Elizabeth was the true prisoner, her humanity smothered under responsibilities and ambitions, condemned by intrigue to a terrible loneliness. This history-making conflict between two extraordinary women, each a queen in her own right, each of whom both won and lost, dominates the play.

Here is full-bodied, unashamedly romantic drama, filled with resounding language, and stuffed with more plot than there is time to describe. It covers a relatively short space of time, from the moment Mary learns the judges have found her guilty until her execution at Fotheringay, but within that time enough happens to stock a dozen plays. Treachery vies with treachery, guile with guile, until it's no wonder Elizabeth curses Mary for bringing confusion upon her kingdom.

What praises can one give Marian Blake that have not been lavished on her before? Her Mary is queenly, valiant, scornful, majestic, and believably the charmer who could win men's hearts. No detail, facial expression, or tragic undertone did she miss. She moved with grace, carried herself with pride, and spoke her lines with passionate sincerity. She brought intelligence and imagination to the part. A fine performance of a difficult role.

No less an achievement was that of Rosalind Lynch in the role of Elizabeth the Queen. If, as the program says, she has not essayed dramatic roles before, we should be glad that she has at last come to them. Her acting was in vivid contrast to Mary, but equally impressive. Blazing with jewels, she swept on and off stage in gorgeous robes, pleasing the eye as she delighted both mind and ear with her picture of a clever, brilliant woman who knew when to cajole, when to be kind, and when to be cruel, yet withal was fatally unable to make up her mind. Excellently done. A long and many-faceted part.

In his first Parish Players venture (but not, we hope, his last) Wesley Mallery tackled the strenuous role of Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, favorite at court, valued counsellor, forever torn between two loves, walking the difficult and dangerous tightrope of political and moral expediency. In this trying part he had to plumb the depths of a great variety of emotions, and we must say he acquitted himself with credit, and looked handsome in the doing.

We may as well admit that in their colorful Elizabethan costumes Messrs. Mallery, Fitts and Blanchard were a credit to their sex, leading one to ponder how far man in general has wandered from his once colorful estate. Not only were they handsome in tights, but they filled them well. At least one of the three, hovering in the rear while a photograph was in progress, was summoned to the front by Director Grant with the caustic comment, "Those legs must be preserved for posterity!"

As the brooding, sinister Lord Burleigh, forbidding and malevolent in demeanor, but unremittingly loyal to his queen, George Connor was thoroughly at home, and produced one of the best of his finely etched character portraits.

Woodford Wilcox lent distinction and authority to the part of the Earl of Shrewsbury. Here, one felt, was indeed a man, kindly, trustworthy, ripe in worldly wisdom—a persuasively human character.

Leon Blanchard, Jr., endowed the part of Sir Paulet with due dignity, albeit a certain pomposity.

We learn that Jerry Rosen is ambitious histrionically, and understandably so, for he gave a vigorous and colorful impersonation of the aspiring, impetuous, and ill-fated Sir Mortimer. His several monologues were effectively and dramatically rendered.

Henry Fitts appeared at ease in the role of Count L'Aubespine, displaying a poise and assurance that lent freshness and charm to the part.

In the short role of Sir William Davison, Larry Smith made the most of his unhappy predicament.

John MacLellan brought to the role of Sir Andrew Melvil the saintly dignity which it demanded. In the touching scene of Mary's resignation and absolution, we thought a high point of religious fervor and poignancy was reached. The audience rendered the perfect tribute of complete silence; not a cough was in evidence.

As Hannah Kennedy, loyal, kindly, and trustworthy servant, Doris Stone gave a sympathetic performance.

The incidental roles were competently played.

We thought the scene at Fotheringay where the two queens confronted each other was not only the dramatic crux of the play, but in its grouping and picturesque costuming resembled an oil painting come to life. This was also true of several other scenes.

The two interior scenes successfully suggested the richness and solidity of castle walls, and the one exterior was adequate and picturesque. Accompanying sounds were realistic.

On the whole, a triumphant achievement of the Parish Players, possibly their best to date.

We are well aware that such a fine production of an ambitious and intricate play could not have been achieved without the wizardry of Harlan Grant's direction behind every look and gesture, word and declamation. His was the magic wand to weld so many and diverse talents into a perfect whole.—R.J.

Buying Shirts

When the Mrs. goes shopping for hubby's shirts, she should know exactly what he likes in the way of style, size and comfort. If the man of the house starts out with the right kind of shirts, there won't be complaints later about tight, stiff collars, according to Mr. Melvin S. Crosby, general manager of the Wakefield Laundry.

One of the most important factors in choosing a shirt is to know whether a man prefers a soft or stiff-collared shirt. New shirts that have stiff collars usually are constructed to keep that stiffness regardless of how the shirt is laundered.

The same is true with soft-collared shirts. A new shirt that has a soft collar is not designed to be starched and may bear labels reading: "Do Not Starch." Curling ends on soft-collared shirts is almost a thing of the past. Button-downs and collar stays, some permanent and some inserted before each wearing, give the American male the comfort of a soft collar plus a neat appearance.

The textile maintenance authority also explained that shirt buyers should know what is preferred in height of collar, spread of the collar in front, shape of collar points, type and color of fabric and style of cuffs as well as degree of stiffness in the collar.

Business And Professional Women Meet

On Wednesday evening, November 16, members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church were privileged to travel to the Orient with Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hebb, by means of colored movies taken on their recent trip. San Francisco was the starting point of the tour, which then continued via Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines. The pictures were beautiful, showing in many places the touch of the artist, and Mr. Hebbs' interpretation was most interesting throughout.

Mrs. George French and her committee served a delicious dessert and coffee prior to the meeting, and Miss Leonor Rich led the group in the worship service.

Women's Republican Club

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester was held on Wednesday, November 16, at the home of Mrs. Walter D. Abbott, 27 Lawson Road. The coffee hour was followed by the business meeting at which the president, Mrs. Blackham, presided.

Mrs. Blackham, in reviewing briefly election results in Winchester, said that she was proud of the effective work which the Republican women had done in the town. The hard work and long hours incidental to the election were cheerfully and even enthusiastically accepted by the club members.

After Mrs. Bell, the secretary, had read the minutes of the last meeting, the treasurer, Miss Niedringhaus gave the treasurer's report. The post-election balance as of November 16 was $456.95.

Mrs. Bell then announced that she must resign as club secretary as her family is about to move to New Jersey. The resignation was regretfully accepted, with many expressions of appreciation for her many activities in the Republican cause.

Mrs. Blackham next led a discussion of plans for the December meeting to be held on December 14 at the home of Mrs. Don S. Greer, 82 Arlington Street at half past two. Mrs. Dwight L. Cart is to be the speaker of the afternoon. Christmas carols are promised and the usual festive tea.

Mrs. Saltmarsh reported for the Ways and Means Committee that their suggestion for a money-raising event was to have a spring bake sale. The Board members voted approval of the idea.

The February meeting is scheduled to be an evening meeting at the home of Mrs. Volpe.

Duplicate Bridge Club

A large turnout of 20 tables competed for the monthly master point awards at the Duplicate Bridge Club on Wednesday, November 16. Some new faces were seen in the winner's circle in Section A, which played 21 boards for a 63 average. Betsy Root provided the most plesant surprise to all of us, especially her parents, as she paired with Alvin Swonger most successfully.

Section B drew 12 tables, playing 22 boards for an average score of 110. Way out front with a score of 143½ was life master Chet Davis and his wife Marian. When we were asked earlier this year, by a charming lady bridge enthusiast, what she had to do to get to be a "life mistress," we couldn't come up with an appropriate answer. We know now that we should have said: "Marry a life master."

The Open Pairs Championship of the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club will be held on Wednesday, December 7th, starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. It will be a one session event with no qualifying round. Persons holding the season playing privilege and all Winchester residents are eligible to compete. Since the field will be limited to 44 pairs due to capacity of the hall and other considerations, it would be advisable to sign up in advance. Entries may be turned in at the club's regular game on Wednesday, November 30, or by calling Greta Hawley at PA 9-0471.

Board No. 17 from Section A is a classic example of the type of close and delicate decisions frequently encountered in duplicate bidding and play. With neither side vulnerable, you are sitting East holding; S- K J 8 5 4 3, D- A Q 10 7, C- J 5 3. The bidding has gone:

North	East	South	West
pass	1 S	double	2 H
3 C	pass	pass	3 S
pass	?

What action do you take at this point? If you passed, South contested again with four clubs, West said four spades, and North bid five clubs. If you had decided to go four spades yourself instead of passing, the auction would still come around to you again as five clubs. What do you do now? Well, here's what actually happened at the table.

Best results NS were obtained by Walker-Schofield when they pushed their opponents to five spades and set them one trick for plus 50. At all other tables, the scoring was on the EW side of the ledger. One EW pair collected a puny 50 points when they failed to double a five club contract and then set it only one trick! Similarly, one EW team was allowed to have it for four spades making just four for 420 points.

If there can be any such thing as "par" on this board, however, it must be either five clubs by NS doubled or five spades by EW. Watson and Fitzgerald got an above average score NS by going down two tricks in their sacrifice bid in clubs for minus 300. Two EW pairs, the Blacklers and Mainbergers, bid and made the five spades for 450 points and a fine score. Fredna and Andy Perkins got the top score EW when they found the only defense which could set the club bid three tricks against the best possible declarer play at their table! Can you discover the winning line and the secret of their success on this board?

Christmas Concert

The musical organizations and Curtain and Cue members are already working on another memorable program for this annual event.

Autumn in the Fells

It is Autumn in the Fells
Cool days, cold nights fortell
The harvest days are here
That Winter is drawing near.
Strong winds sough through the trees
Mid whirls of gorgeous fallen leaves
Rich brown, red and gold
Now mingle with the leafy mold.

Squirrels scamper here and there,
Busily harvesting to prepare
Stores of nuts, and acorns as they go
Against Winter's ice and snow.
The woodchuck waddles round
O'er brilliant, leafy, covered ground
Now grown so plump and sleek,
Well prepared for Winter's sleep.

Vales with light blue tinted haze
Bring sultry Indian Summer days
All through this balmy weather.
Our feathered friends now flock together
For they know it nears the time
To wing their way to southern climes.
What a masterful design
Are the Fells in Autumn time.

P. Warren Foley, Jr.

Antiques Study Group

The November meeting of the Antiques Study Group was devoted to the showing of summer finds by the members. Mrs. Paul Stoneman had charge of the meeting in the Rich Room of the Winchester Library on November 15. She called upon people to tell about the things they had brought. A great variety of antiques was exhibited, representing many different collecting hobbies.

Mrs. Stoneman had some blue glass she had found. Mr. Clarence Blake showed many pieces of early American glass and a Staffordshire "Statesplate." One of the unusual collections was a variety of glass hats in all sizes and colors belonging to Mrs. Russell Thompson.

A paper on Tiffany favrille was read by Mrs. Norman Duehring. Mrs. Adin Bailey, who goes in for cookie boards, showed examples. Mrs. Ernest Shorrock and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Shorrock, had examples of their hobbies, English royalty in china and early bottles. Mrs. Theodore Atkinson told of an interesting day spent in New York state at the auction of a woman who trained elephants for the Barnum and Bailey circus, acquiring among other things a Bennington Parian vase. Mrs. Percival Mott told the story of her emerald and ruby brooch. Miss St. Claire had English pottery and Mrs. Pekonis, overlay glass. Pewter was brought by Miss Hilda Sanderson.

At the December meeting the theme will be Christmas, and members are asked to bring anything appropriate to the season. Two films will be shown, one on Williamsburg and one on the early settlers of New England.

The centenary of the Civil War is to be celebrated all over the country in 1961. So, most fittingly, the club will devote the January meeting to mementos of the Civil War Period. The subject is such a broad one one and there is so much of interest in the period that a lot of interesting things should turn up and the occasion should be one of the most memorable of the year.

Papermate, Sheaffer's, Parker, Esterbrook, and Scripto pens and fillers available at the Star office, 3 Church Street.

Mail Early For Christmas

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun said today, "Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Winchester this year."

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is a month away by the calendar, it's Christmas every day at the Post Office from now on.

The Postmaster advises, "Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

He said further, "If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attemtping to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from."

Always send your Christmas cards by First Class mail and be sure to include your return name and address on each Christmas card envelope.

Send all Christmas mail going long distances before December 10th. Follow up promptly with cards and gifts for local delivery.

Mail "Early and Often" for a merrier Christmas!

Mrs. Penner Will Review "Waste Makers"

Mrs. Albert J. Penner, who has delighted many audiences with her "Book Reviews," will open the Special Events Lecture Series at the First Congregational Church on Tuesday, December 6th. She will review "The Waste Makers" by Vance Packard and a new novel, "Peacable Lane" by Keith Wheeler. Other books which might make good Christmas gifts will be mentioned and will be on display.

Mrs. Penner says that home-making is her career and reading her hobby. She has had other responsibilities and experiences, too. Among other things she has been in the Church and Economic Life Department of the National Council of Churches and is now on the National Adventures in Reading Committee of the Congregational Church.

The three-lecture series will continue on January 31st. Mrs. Penner will again review books of interest at the time.

LWV Units On Civil Service In Massachusetts

The subject of the next series of units to be given by the League of Women Voters of Winchester will be "Civil Service in Massachusetts." The source material for this unit has been prepared by the Public Employment Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Malcolm Masters.

Some of the questions that will be discussed at these study meetings are: 1. How does Civil Service affect your pocketbook? 2. How are other states improving their merit systems? 3. What is the effect of Civil Service in our Winchester Town Government? 4. What is the Massachusetts "self-survey?"

The entire field of Public Employment is of primary importance to every resident of Massachusetts. The League has continued its study of the Public Employment system in Massachusetts, with emphasis on Civil Service, in order to support sound personnel practices.

Come to one of the following unit meetings, whether or not you are a League Member, and participate in the discussions.

Queensmen's Quill

The Queensmen have officially ended their regular parade and competition season and now go into the winter season of learning new songs, drum beats, and maneuvers. The hard work and long practice sessions during the next few months will determine the results of next year's competitions.

The Queensmen have started a club. The club will run social events for the purpose of raising funds, and adding to the morale of the corps.

They are starting off by running a public dance to be held at the Winchester High School gym, Saturday, December 3rd. If this dance is a success we hope to have more in the future. The dance is for teenagers of high school age and up.

Fenway, a great disc-jockey from WMEX will be present with a couple of rock and roll acts, and it should be a really good party.

Medical Women Luncheon Meeting

On Thursday, November 17, the Women's Auxiliary to the Middlesex East Medical Society enjoyed a most delightful luncheon meeting at the Colonial Country Club in Lynnfield.

Mrs. Phillips C. Davis of Wakefield presented a timely program on "Seasonal Decorations and Arrangements," demonstrating and exhibiting her very unusual Thanksgiving and Christmas displays and exquisite flower and fruit arrangements. A charming speaker, Mrs. Davis sent members and their guests home brimming with ideas for decorating for the coming holidays.

At a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Clinton Bagenstose, president, members of the ways and means committee outlined plans for the coming "Christmas Mad Hatters Card Party," to be held at Memorial Hall in Melrose on Thursday, December 8. This event is the auxiliary's annual fund-raising effort to benefit their nursing scholarship fund, and promises to be an afternoon of fun, beginning with refreshments at 1:00 o'clock. Table prizes are to be awarded as well as doorprizes, and two prizes will be given for the most original novelty Christmas hats created and worn by those attending.

The next meeting, to be held on January 18, 1961, will be a joint dinner meeting with the Middlesex-East Medical Society. This combined meeting of the men's and women's societies will be highlighted by a program to be presented by Mr. Gilbert Merrill, who is assistant director of the Museum of Science in Boston.

Denmark Postman Designs TB Stamp

Story Thus Far

(The year 1871 seemed bleak to Dr. Edward L. Trudeau as he moved to the Adirondack mountains where he intended to spend his last days—a victim of the White Plague—tuberculosis. Trudeau's recovery stunned the medical world. Rest appeared to be a key for unlocking the TB mystery. With help from friends he opened the first TB hospital. Victims flocked to him for treatment and he cured many, but there was always a dire need for sufficient funds.)

A modern crusade was needed to finance Dr. Trudeau's first hospital.

The crusade began on a nationwide basis in 1904 with the organization of the National Tuberculosis Asociation. The emblem chosen was that of the first crusades—the double barred cross.

There was also growing interest in the TB problem in other countries. In Denmark, a post office worker named Einar Holboell wished he could do something to help the children who were suffering from the sickness. One year, as he sorted the heavy Christmas mail, a thought struck him: "Suppose we could get people to buy a special Christmas stamp while the holiday spirit of giving is strong—if every letter and package had a seal—there might even be enough money to start a hospital for children."

The Danish postmaster liked the idea, and the King of Denmark asked his people to support the plan.

Thus the first Seal Campaign in the world took place in Denmark in 1904—the same year that the National Tuberculosis Association was formed in this country. The warm-hearted Danish people took to the idea at once. Einar Holboell's Christmas stamps soon brought in enough money to build a children's tuberculosis hospital.

Some of these first Christmas Seals came across the sea on letters and gifts to people in this country. One of these, a Danish American writer named Jacob Riis, received one of Holboell's stamps on a letter from his old home.

Riis knew the tragedy of tuberculosis. Six of his brothers had died of the disease. He wrote a magazine article about the success of the Christmas stamp in Denmark. In this article he pleaded for some one to borrow the Christmas stamp idea from the Danes to fight the disease in this country.

Editors Note—This is the third in a series sketching the history of the TB Stamp. The next article concerns a lady from Delaware.

Youth Fellowship Elects Officers

The Junior High Methodist Youth Fellowship at Crawford Memorial Methodist Church elected officers last Sunday night and the following were named: president, Wendy Newman; secretary, Linda Knight, and treasurer, Jean Henry. The committee chairmen elected were Linda Peterson, recreation; Bruce Erickson, worship; Steve Poole, program; and Joanne and Ingrid Berg, hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin L. Keeler have been named as the Adult Counsellors for this organization which is also directed by the Rev. Richard L. McGuire, assistant minister.

Following the election last Sunday the Junior High group joined with the Senior M.Y.F. in preparing and packing about thirty boxes of food that was brought for distribution at Thanksgiving. The staple foods were divided between the Little Wanderers' Home, the Cooper Community House and the local agency for distribution of Thanksgiving baskets.

Harold Dover Remembers When

The Star had a welcome letter from a former widely known resident of Winchester, Harold Dover, now living in Frederick, Maryland.

Harold, who last worked in Winchester at Walter Roberts' Jenney Station just above the center while his wife, Maude, was secretary at the Mystic School, sent along two pages from the magazine section of the Baltimore Sun, devoted as you may have guessed to Winchester's gift to Navy football, Joe Bellino.

In his accompanying letter Harold tells how much he and Mrs. Dover are enjoying the "Remember When" series now running in the Star and of the memories the recently published picture of the old District School House No. 7 in South Woburn brought back to him.

This building when used as a school was in South Woburn before Winchester separated from Woburn and became an incorporated town.

After it was no longer used as a schoolhouse the building became a residence and later was taken over by Mr. Daniel Kelley as a funeral home, the first of its kind in Winchester. It is now used for this purpose and is known as the Bennett-Norris Chapel.

It was as a residence that Mr. Dover expressed his chief interest in the building, for he made his home in it as a boy going through high school. Harold Pierce, who played a lot of baseball for the high school while an undergraduate, lived in the other side of the house.

Mr. Dover recalls leaving the house with his 'cello on the days when the high school orchestra played at assembly in the modest assembly hall on the second floor of the old high school, now the junior high school. He recalls some of his orchestra mates as the editor, Charlie and the late Roy Downer, Frank Rowe, Sadie Felber Weld, Gretchen Avery Butler, the late Esther Cutting Clark, the late Nellie Haley Leduc, the late William E. Ramsdell, Phii Savage and Harold Bugbee. There may have been, and probably were, others.

Mr. Dover was one of the biggest men of his time in school, weighing perhaps 175 pounds! He played center on the football team and the same position on the basketball team in his junior year.

Yes, Harold, those were the good old days! Keep an eye on our "Remember When" series you may see another shot that will kindle happy memories.

Professional Methods Conquer "Tattle-Tale Gray"

Even though it's an old problem, homemakers are sometimes still puzzled when their linens and clothing have that "tattle-tale gray" look and a feeling of harshness.

When whites are no longer a sparkling white and when garments feel stiff, a homemaker will usually find that water or supplies are at the root of the problem, according to American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the professional laundry industry. The homemaker may be using water that is not hot enough or that is too hard. In the line of supplies, she may be using too much or too little soap or detergent. She may fail to use bleach or other laundry products aimed at brightening and softening fabrics. Perhaps she may have too few changes of soap or rinses.

For laundering, the water temperature should be maintained at 140 to 160 degrees. In professional laundries, whites are washed at a minimum of 160 degrees, resulting in greater soil removal and whiteness. Depending upon the type of garment, color and fabric, other washables are laundered at scientifically determined temperatures suitable for maximum soil removal.

While it is impractical and difficult to maintain high water temperatures in a home, thermostatic controls assure the same even temperature in professional laundering.

Because they know that hard water causes washables to lose their brightness, requires more soap and may cause garments and linens to become stiff, professional laundries use soft water. If a homemaker repeatedly washes in hard water, insoluble calcium and magnesium soaps are formed and adhere to the fabrics. Eventually, this causes a stiffened and discolored condition accompanied by a rancid odor.

To overcome the tendency to use too little or too much in the way of supplies, professional laundries use scientific methods of washing. Varied soaps are used, with the amount and type depending upon the articles to be washed and the temperature of the water. For an average family wash, there are from three to five complete changes of soap, and from eleven to thirteen complete changes of fresh water. Of these changes of water, from four to six are used for rinsing.

A carefully measured quantity of bleach, according to the pounds washed, is added to the suds for stain removal and as a germicide. Then bluing is added to restore whiteness.

Other special supplies are also used. For example, a special softening agent may be used for no-starch shirts and a specific solvent for heavy grease stains.

By scientific washing—using soft water at a suitable temperature and using carefully controlled amounts of supplies — professional laundries avoid "tattle-tale gray" and stiffened washables.

Miss Massachusetts To Make Concert Debut

Brenda Crovo's Mother Winchester Girl

Brenda Crovo, the beautiful and gifted Readingite who was recently chosen Miss Massachusetts and reached the ten finalists in the Miss America contest, will make her debut as a concert artist when she appears as guest soloist with the Reading Symphony Orchestra at its first concert of the season on Saturday evening, November 26, at 8:30, in the Reading Memorial High School.

Winchester interest in the event stems from the fact that the young artist's mother is a Winchester girl, the former Mildred Gurney, who lived before her marriage on Hemingway street and is a graduate of Winchester High School.

While everyone in and around Boston as well as throughout the nation had an opportunity to see and hear Miss Crovo on television in the Miss America finals, this is the first time that large numbers of residents in this community will be able to do so in person. Thus the opening concert of its orchestra will be a gala occasion for Reading and for the young woman who brought such renown to her town and state.

Miss Crovo, who has a lovely and well-trained soprano voice, will sing two groups of songs, one consisting of compositions by Giordani, Grieg and Lara; the other, of selections from Showboat, Carousel and My Fair Lady. Weston Brannen, the conductor of the Reading Symphony Orchestra, and William Kline, of Needham, the guest conductor, plan an unusually interesting and entertaining program for this "Pops" concert.

Flowering Dogwood

Common Acquiring Smart "New Look"

If Chinese crab apple trees burst out on Winchester Common in all their Oriental splendor this Spring, don't be alarmed. It's all part of a scheduled "New Look" for Winchester Common that got under way two weeks ago.

Directed by horticulturist Alexander Heimlich of Woburn, the renovation of the Common will make it a garden beauty sport, running the gamut from Japanese cherry trees to Balkan pine trees with frosted cones. It will be so designed as to be in bloom during every season of the year.

To date Mr. Heimlich has planted the following:

(1) Through a $1200 Rotary donation: a line of flowering dogwood trees runs the entire length of Laraway Road, including pink dogwood, intense pink Prosser dogwood, Cornus Florida white dogwood, and double white gardenia dogwood. In addition, Rotary has donated four upright yew trees, two hemlocks and two late-blooming dogwoods.

(2) With $525 donated by the Town, Mr. Heimlich has planted a row of Chinese crab apple trees along Church Street, three white Japanese cherry trees along Waterfield Road and Korean beauty bushes and Irish golden chain trees at the corner of Waterfield and Laraway Roads.

And those two fine evergreens that have just gone up in the middle of the Common: Santa didn't bring them. Al Elliott and Fred McCormack did. The Homespun Boy donated the silver juniper—or "juniperus pyramidiformis," as Al puts it — while the Friendly Apothecary came forth with a Balkan Pine with frosted cones.

Al allows as how his tree is bigger than Fred's but this newspaper wishes to remain objective in these Rotary rhubarbs. It is our journalistic duty, however, to report a rumor that Al threatened not to pay for his tree unless it was bigger than Fred's.

Mr. Heimlich told the Star that this is the first of one of three plans, which will ultimately show the details of the new Common right down to the tulip petals.

Chamber Music Society Planning Concert Series

The Winchester Chamber Music Society, a newly formed group of serious music lovers, announces a series of three Sunday afternoon concerts to be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Date for these are January 29, March 5, and April 16. All the music for these concerts will be under the direction of Eleftherios, Eleftherakis, violist, conductor and supervisor of music in the Winchester Schools, and Gregory Tucker, professor of music at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Further details regarding this brilliant and welcome addition to Winchester's cultural life will be available later this month. Inquiries may be addressed to the office of the Society, at 41 Canterbury Road.

United Fund At 95% Mark

Work of the United Fund Campaign Committee in Winchester is virtually completed, with 95 per cent of the town's quota achieved. There still remains several small residential areas where contacts have not been reported complete for various reasons, according to Herbert E. Bixler, Winchester United Fund chairman. "Mop-up," he says, continues in those sections.

Tufts Professor To Speak on UN

Dr. John H. Spencer, recently appointed Professor of International Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University, will speak at the General Meeting of the League of Women Voters of Winchester. This meeting will be held in the Rich Room of the Winchester Library at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, December 7.

DR. JOHN SPENCER

Professor Spencer's educational background is international in character. He was graduated from Grinnell College in 1929; received his M.A. from Harvard in 1931; received his LL.B. from Harvard in 1941. He attended the University of Paris between 1931 and 1935, earning a State Doctorate in Law. Between 1934 and 1935, he was at the University of Berlin where he was in charge of American legislation and participated in the research activities and consultations of the Institute.

Since 1943, Professor Spencer has been Senior Advisor to the Ethiopian Government in both Political and Legal Affairs. In this capacity, he has prepared all the Foreing Policy Statements of that government and has represented Ethiopia at the United Nations since 1945. He served as Representative of Ethiopia to the Paris Peace Conference in 1946 and to the London Suez Conferences of 1956.

Get Your Dog A License; It's The Law!

Of the 1500 dogs tearing about Winchester a good many are not licensed and innoculated against rabies as they should be, Chief Derro said this week. The Chief reminded dog owners that they are legally required both to license and innoculate their dogs.

The immediate problem that prompted the Chief's statement was an accident Tuesday in which an untagged dog was injured near 778 Main Street. The police spent two hours looking after the stricken animal. The dog is still unclaimed.

Democratic Town Committee To Hear Talk by Ray Crimmins

"The date to be chosen for the December meeting of the Democratic Town Committee will be announced in the next issue of the Star. The speaker for that evening has already sent his acceptance," the Democratic Town Committee reported this week.

"Governors Councillor Ray Crimmins' gracious communication left no doubt of his interest in our accomplishments," the Committee reported. "Popular with all members of our Committee, we look forward to meeting with him.

"The reasons for the uncertainty of our December date are the reports of illness in several of the families of our members. There should be, however, a favorable, outlook for next week's announcement.

"As things shape up now, we may look forward to two events in January: a Telephone Bridge in which several members will participate and a meeting at which our speaker (to be invited soon) will be Secretary of State-elect Kevin White. Kevin is well liked by the Democrats here in Winchester and, it is also of interest he is one of the active members of the new younger Democratic group, which aims to take an important interest in future party affairs in our Commonwealth.

"Discounting any untoward exigencies that may arise in the months to come, the Democratic party here in Winchester is looking forward to a constantly growing success as the Town Committee and its fifty young, enthusiastic associate members share plans which are ambitious and constructive."

L. W. V. Survey Shows:

Swimming Pool, Skating Rink Top Choices Of Town Youths

Last week the Star concluded its survey of adult opinion and police statistics regarding Winchester's youth problem. One conviction held by a number of Winchester people and reflected in this series was that a youth center would go a long way toward providing positive, constructive outlets for the energy of our young people.

But what do the young people of Winchester think about this problem themselves? What would they like to see in a youth center?

The League of Women Voters thinks it has the answer.

Last summer these indefatigable civic-minded women have conducted a poll of 964 Winchester students from grades nine through twelve, asking them what recreation facility they would most like to see in Winchester.

Seven hundred and thirty-four of them said they would like to see an indoor swimming pool built in Town, while 619 students said they would like to see a skating rink constructed.

Of the 964 students polled, 576 of them felt that "no place to go" is a major problem.

The L.W.V. survey was conducted with the cooperation of the School Department and the help of the High School Parent-Faculty Advisory Council. The poll was actually part of the league's general survey of public recreation facilities and opportunities in Winchester. The complete report will be available upon request very soon.

The League survey is revealing in other aspects. The women found, for example, that 712 of the 964 students belong to church groups, that all do most of their studying week nights, and 330 have two hours free every day, their leisure time varying from none to all afternoon.

Merrow, Phaneuf Officers Of Michigan Chemical Firm

Of interest to Winchester people is a new organic chemical company in Michigan for the reason that two of its principal officers are present or former Winchester men. The new company is Lakeway Chemicals, Inc. Its president is Normand Phaneuf, formerly of Winchester, and its vice president and a director is Oscar E. Merrow of 19 Glengarry.

The new company is about to start construction of a manufacturing plant on a 40-acre tract in Egleston Township in the Muskegon area in Michigan. The company plans to produce specialty synthetic organic chemicals to be used in the manufacture of finished products such as plastics and resins, elastometers (i.e., rubber-like materials), dyestuffs, perfumes, flavoring materials and other organic chemicals.

President Normand Phaneuf of Lakeway Chemicals formerly lived on Canterbury Road and Church Street. He is married to the former Ruth Ann Merrow of Winchester. They now live in North Muskegon, Michigan. Mr. Phaneuf has been constantly engaged in the production and sales of chemicals, principally synthetics and organics, since his graduation from Tufts University in the early 1940's. First a department superintendent for Monsanto Chemical Company in Everett, he was subsequently production manager for Union Paste Company in Boston. The Carwin Company in North Haven, Conn., and most recently has been vice president of the Ott Chemical Company in Muskegon.

Vice president Oscar E. Merrow was for many years executive head of a large wholesale building material company in Boston and Worcester. In recent years he has been engaged in business consulting, has been administrative assistant to the Selectmen in Winchester and has just concluded a managerial task in the successful campaign for Congress of F. Bradford Morse of Lowell. Mr. Merrow will continue to live in Winchester.

Winchester Fans Attend Army-Navy Game

A group of forty-one Winchester fans left from the Christopher Columbus Club, Friday, November 25th at 9:00 a.m. by chartered Greyhound bus to attend the Army-Navy football game. The bus, decorated with large signs stressing "Winchester, Mass., Our boys, Bellino 27 and Dattilo 88," proceeded from point of departure down Washington Street, through Winchester Center circling the Common, over Church Street — Philadelphia bound.

Organized cheers, led by Howard Kirby, Frank Provinzano, and Paul MacDonald, were practiced until the group had them down pat. "Anchors Aweigh" and other appropriate songs led by Joe McKee, Paul Goodwin, and William Carroll, accompanied by Neilo Callahan, and Frank Provinzano on the harmonica were rehearsed to perfection.

Upon arriving at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel about 5:15 p.m., the party adjourned to their assigned rooms to freshen up and subsequently meet again to inform all in the hotel that Winchester, Mass., was adequately represented and prepared to back her boys, Bellino and Dattilo.

By pre-arrangement, the bus arrived at the hotel at 10:45 a.m. the day of the game and loaded aboard all Winchester people that could fit in, and then treked to the stadium.

After the pre-game activity of the Corps of Cadets and the Brigade of Midshipmen, Frank Provinzano, Paul Goodwin, Dom Olivadoti, Paul MacDonald, Peter Lonigro, and several others circled the track surrounding the field displaying the excellent signs which had been previously removed from the bus. Moving pictures from the time of departure to return were made.

Planning Board To Call Hearing On New Hollywood Rd. Project

At a meeting of the Planning Board at the Town Hall Monday evening, it was announced that James J. Fitzgerald, president of the South Border Road Park Corporation, had written the Board petitioning for a delay in the consideration of his application to construct 39 houses in what is to be known as South Border Road Park on land of the old Symmes Farm.

Mr. Fitzgerald presented to the hearing a new plan showing the elimination of the controversial entrance of Hollywood Road to South Border Road and replacing it with a cul-de-sac or turn-around.

The new plan also shows an emergency entrance and egress from the development to the bridle path running parallel to Whitmore Brook, adjoining the old anti-aircraft installation. The developer is to construct a paved stub on South Border Road Park land, approximately 850 feet down the Whitmore Brook Bridle Path as far as land owned by the M.D.C. Land beyond the paved stub is passable in an emergency, but would not attract motorists who have no vital reason to pass over it.

Leo F. Garvey, attorney for residents of the Hollywood Road, Symmes Park section who strongly opposed the connection of Hollywood Road with South Border Road, informed the Planning Board the new plan for the development would be agreeable to his clients, and Mr. Fitzgerald stated that the South Border Road Park Corporation is satisfied with the new layout.

The Planning Board took the new plan under advisement and Acting Chairman Franklin J. Lane announced that there will be another hearing on the revised plans. The date for this hearing has been tentatively set for December 19, if complete plans are available by that time.

Bellino Gets The Big One

Joe Bellino has added to his other trophies and all-team choices the coveted Heisman Memorial Trophy, awarded yearly by the Downtown Club of New York to the outstanding football player of the year.

Bellino is the first Navy player to win this award, and no one came close to challenging him for the honor. He was chosen in nationwide balloting by 1130 sportswriters and broadcasters. He led the voting in each of the five polling districts, East, South, Midwest, Southwest and Far-west. He is the 26th winner of the trophy, which he will receive at a dinner in New York December 8.

Besides the Heisman Award Bellino was chosen for the Coaches' All-American Team, successor to the old teams selected by Walter Camp. He has also been chosen on the Associated Press All-Eastern Team and on the Eastern College Athletic Conference All-Eastern Team on the basis of weekly votes by sportswriters.

Described as the greatest player he has ever seen by his coach, Wayne Hardin, Bellino has also won the Sporting News Trophy and the Maxwell Award, named in honor of the former great official, Tiny Maxwell, and given each year to the outstanding football player in the nation.

Bellino made a new Annapolis record this year by scoring 110 points and gaining 834 yards in ten games. He holds the Navy record for most touchdowns (three) against Army. In three years he has gained 1664 yards and made 192 points, scoring in 22 of the 27 games he played in.

2 College Boys Will Face Court In $1500 Fire

The flames shot up along the door casing and swept up to the ridge pole before the fire was brought under control by firemen. Fire damages were estimated by Chief Callahan at $1500.

Fire authorities found burned paper in the immediate area of the bathhouse. Police discovered automobile tire tracks.

Mrs. Boutwell Museum Hostess

Mrs. Roswell M. Boutwell, III, of 23 Sheffield Road will be a hostess on a "Know Your Museum" tour of the ladies' committee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts on December 14. This visit is one of a series to acquaint museum members with the various departments, some of which are world famous.

The early-American rooms in the museum have been installed to show the finest examples of home surroundings in which early Americans from Pilgrim times through the Revolution and the new republic. Mrs. Boutwell and her group will be conducted by Assistant Curator Richard H. Randall on a guided tour of this collection which contains many famous historic objects, such as the Paul Revere Liberty Bowl. These Boston Museum members' tours will commence again in January, often going "behind the scenes" at the museum.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Two sections of regular Mitchell duplicate were played at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Wednesday, November 23. Early in the evening, Lolly Smith commented that since it was the night before Thanksgiving she would probably be up until 4 a.m. baking pies, but didn't want to miss her weekly game. Well, we just hope her pies came out as well as her bridge, for she and Dick led the EW field in Section A, which played 21 boards for a 63 average. The results were:

North-South

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Scofield, 77½

Mary Wetmore and Barbara Diamond, 67

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ross, 66

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mainberger, 65

East-West

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 77½

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sittinger, 75½

William Wetmore and Leo Diamond, 74

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blackler, 71½

SECTION B
North-South

Thomas Kell and Blair Hawley, 49

J. Benoit and G. Benoit, 45½

Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball, 42

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong 35

Since the movement involved a skip round and sitout, the EW field in Section B had to be computed on a percentile basis. The leaders were:

James Bradley and Alvin Swonger, .562

Ruby White and Polly Dallin, .519

Herbert Wood and Jock Olmsted, .515

Gloria Butterfield and Jo Dingwell, .500

Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, .500

The club Open Pairs championship, to be held next Wednesday evening, is already shaping up as a "wide open" affair. Defending champion Marge Sexton is playing this year with Barbara Sawyer. Among the husband and wife teams, the list of leading challengers includes the names of Blacker, Davis, Hills, Kimball, Sittinger, Smith and Symmes, as well as Walter and Trudy Mainberger, winners of the mixed pairs championship earlier in the year. Other regular partnerships with consistently fine records include Wood-Olmsted, Wild-Dingwell, and Woolley-Merriam. For a dark horse team, watch out for newcomers Gloria and Lloyd Butterfield.

In the "editorial" section this week, we offer a slight change of pace. Consider the following situation:

DIRECTOR'S DILEMMA

West	North	East
	♠ 4
	♥ K Q 9
	♦ J 8 6
	♣ K Q J 7 5 3
♠ K 9 6 3 2		♠
♥ A 8 7		♥ J 6 5 2
♦ 9		♦ K Q 10 7 5 4 3 2
♣ A 10 4 2		♣ 9
	South
	♠ A Q J 10 8 7 5
	♥ 10 4 3
	♣ 8 6

With neither side vulnerable, West is dealer and bids one spade. North, who thought West had passed, then bid one club. East quickly called one diamond (perhaps he, too, had failed to hear the opening bid; or maybe he didn't feel strong enough to say two diamonds over a sufficient bid of two clubs by North). South promptly called for the director.

As director of the section, you come over to the table and are informed of the situation. What is your ruling? Having made the correct ruling (that East's bid condones the insufficient bid by North), you then return to your own table.

You are no sooner settled than the distress call comes again. You are now informed that South had bid one spade, followed by three passes. Everyone agrees that the contract is one spade — but by whom? West contends that his was the initial spade bid and that at no time during the auction was any higher bid made. This being the case, his valid bid had not been superceded and he should be the declarer.

South disagreed, claiming that his was the final bid and therefore the contract should be his. What is your ruling here? One final question for the experts—is there a line of play which will permit South to make four spades against any defense?

On Unbeaten Soccer Team

Robert G. Brine, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Brine, 7 Laurel Hill Lane, is a member of the Dean Junior College's successful soccer team. The "Red Demons" won eight games while losing none and were declared the undefeated champions of the newly created Junior College Soccer League. This is the first undefeated soccer season that Dean has ever enjoyed although the Deanites came near having an unblemished season last year, losing but one game to American International College varsity team. This year the "Red Demons" have avenged this lone defeat by defeating AIC by a score of 2-0.

The Dean team played in an intersectional post-season game Friday, November 18, against Orange County Community College of Middletown, N. Y. The game ended in a tie score and there is a possibility that the teams will play another game to determine the mythical national champions.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Flanigan of St. Sebastian's School performed the 4 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception in the Lido Room of the Fresh Pond Restaurant in Cambridge.

Mrs. Lucille Correia of Burlington was her sister's only attendant, wearing a red taffeta gown with a full skirt and a matching tiara and shoes. She carried red and white carnations.

Mrs. Logan, mother of the bride, wore a hunter green and blue satin dress with matching flowered hat and a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. LaJoie, wore a Dior blue satin dress with matching jacket and blue velvet hat. She carried white carnations and delphinium on her purse.

HOW TO ROAST PORK PERFECTLY
Let the roast stand at room temperature about 1 hour prior to roasting. Start your oven at 325F, or slow. Put roast, fat side up, in an open roasting pan, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Do not sear; do not add water; do not cover. Roast 35 minutes per pound of pork, or until a meat thermometer registers 185F. Plan on a 15-minute rest period out of the oven for the roast before you serve it. This makes the carving job easier and neater. It also gives you time to make gravy if you and your family like gravy.
For a superbly seasoned pork roast, we recommend the following: For a 6-pound roast, mix 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon thyme, ½ teaspoon mace or nutmeg, 1 tablespoon paprika. Mix well, and pat on fatty side of meat before roasting.

The roster on the bus included "Mike" Bellino, father of the illustrious Joe and the following:

Mitchell Lilley, bus driver; Gaetano Maiullari, Francis Allen, John Ambroso, William Branley, Neilo Callahan, William Carroll, Charlie Collins, Paul Connors, Rocky DeTeso, Nick DiiZo, Jerry Esposito, Dave Farioli, Joe Feccia, Richard Giacalione, Paul Goodwin, Sam Graziano, Tony Graziano, Dr. Donald Horley, Marty Joyce, Howard Kirby, Clem Landry, Peter Lonigro, and Nick Luongo.

Also Archie MacDonald, Paul MacDonald, Rube McDonough, Paul McHugh, Joe McKee, Sandy McKenzie, John McPartlin, Thomas McPartlin, John Mercurio, John Mercurio, Jr., Dom Olivadoti, John O'Neil, Frank Provinzano, Don Roberts, George Snyder, Ben Stevenson, and Nick Zamanakos.

Seen at the game were: Chief of Police Joseph Derro and Mrs. Derro, Selectman Saltmarsh, Richard Penta, Mario Lentini, Pete Provinzano, Joe Tansey and son Richard, Dr. and Mrs. Barone, Mr. and Mrs. Bellino, Sam and Moose Bellino, Fred Ives, Jr., Fred and Rita McCormack, Richard McCormack, Mrs. Donald C. (Geraldine) Roberts, Anne Tansey, Ernie Luongo, Shine Amico, Paul Amico, John Volpe, Jr., Richard Violante, Bob Johnson, and many others.

One of the highlights of the bus ride was Sandy McKenzie so generously digging down to pay the numerous road tolls and Guy Maiullari, equally as generous telling the toll collectors to "Keepa Change."

The trip photographer, Nick Luongo, wearing his press card prominently, took pictures of the event from all the best vantage points, and was most ably assisted by Nick DiZio who carried the accessory equipment. Incidentally, prior to the game, Nick DiZio was seen shaking the hand of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Robert "Sam" Murphy, former State Legion Commander, rode on the bus from the stadium to the hotel along with the rest of the Winchester group.

After the game, Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo visited the Ben Franklin hotel and greeted their many Winchester friends.

Later, the fans went to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and met the Captain of the Navy team, Joseph A. Matalavage along with Coach Wayne Hardin, both of whom lauded Bellino, Dattilo and the enthusiasm of the Winchester fans.

After again wishing the best to Joe, Frank and their girl friends who were on their way to the post-game football banquet for the players, we returned to our hotel for an evening of celebration. During the evening Bill Branley, Nick Zamanakos, Paul McHugh, Rocky DeTeso, Don Roberts, Richard Giacalione with other friends had the pleasure of a visit, lasting several hours, from Cadet Richard E. Eckert, the Army quarterback, who so magnificently directed his team in the second half, Eckert, who will return as quarterback, says "Watch out for us next year."

Winchester's war cry "Hallloh" will forever ring in the ears of the Philadelphians.

Departing from Philadelphia 10 a.m. Sunday we arrived home at about 6 p.m. exhausted, hoarse, but still enthusiastic, to be greeted by hundreds of friends. First to leave the bus was Don Roberts, playing "Anchors Aweigh" on the harmonica. A very nice collation for all was served in the Christopher Columbus Club.

The group extends their appreciation to all who contributed to the success of this long-to-be remembered trip, especially: Mitch Lilley, our bus driver, John DiBona, for refreshments on departure and return, Bob Jackson, for an excellent job in making the signs, and the Christopher Columbus Club, for food donations and use of quarters. The Orange Bowl Game in Miami is close by. Are you also going by plane?

The committee: Paul Connors, Paul McHugh, Howie Kirby, Nick DiZio, and Don Roberts.

Spencer

Between 1936 and 1938, he was in charge of research for the Division of Far Eastern Affairs, U. S. Department of State. Subsequently, he was with the U. S. Department of Justice, resigning from this position to serve in the Operational Intelligence Branch of the U. S. Navy in World War II.

Professor Spencer presently lives with his wife, Margareta, and his 9-year-old daughter, Karin Jean, on Myopia Road in Winchester. Mrs. Spencer is of Swedish origin and was with the Swedish Foreign Service in Washington, D. C., when she met Dr. Spencer. Karin Jean is bi-lingual in Swedish and English and is in the fifth grade at Parkhurst School.

The title of Professor Spencer's speech is "Analysis of Recent Trends in United Nations Diplomacy." Major problems that Professor Spencer will cover are the significance of recent changes in U.N. membership, enforcement of U.N. decisions in the political field, the reasons for the failure of the U.N. to solve some of the world's political problems, and the point at which a domestic issue becomes international in scope. At the close of his speech, Professor Spencer will answer questions from the audience.

Because of the general interest in the United Nations, the League of Women Voters has scheduled its December meeting for 8:00 p.m., so that men, as well as women, will be able to attend. This is a crucial period in the history of the major force for world-wide cooperative living. Do not miss this timely discussion by a man whose background qualifies him so brilliantly to present facts about the United Nations, and to interpret them through the knowledge of his experiences.

Air Force Gets 42-Year-Old WW I Relic from Winchester Man

A faded, exhaust-streaked painting of an American flag, cut from the fabric of a World War I fighter which flew in the first AEF (American Expeditionary Force) mission in France, was turned over to the Air Force Academy (November 17) by a Winchester executive.

Presentation of the 42-year-old relic was made by Daniel P. Morse, Jr., of 3 Sanborn Place, to Major General Kenneth P. Bergquist, Commander of the Air Force Command and Control Development Division at L. G. Hanscom Field Bedford, Mass.

The flag, roughly 28 inches square, came from the side of the Spad fighter flown by Mr. Morse (then a lieutenant in the Air Service) during the historic April 12, 1918 mission by three aircraft of the First Aero Squadron. Official insignia of the Squadron, the flag will be enshrined with other remembrances of the pioneering days of air warfare at the Air Force Academy in Denver, Colorado.

The insignia was unearthed by Lt. Col. Kimbrough S. Brown, executive officer in Plans and Operations at the Air Force Command and Control Development Division, while searching for first-hand information on the "Lost Battalion" of World War I fame.

His research brought him in touch with the Winchester man, who was deeply involved in the story. Mr. Morse had taken command of the 50th Aero Squadron in mid-summer of 1918. Aircraft under his command located the "Lost Battalion" and made the first recorded aerial re-supply drop in U. S. military history.

During their discussion of the "Lost Battalion" incident, Mr. Morse offered to turn over the old insignia to the Air Force.

Although Colonel Brown's job at AFCCDD is far removed from the battles and aircraft of World War I, he has built himself a spare-time reputation as one of the country's top authorities on the early days of war in the air and especially regarding WWI aircraft.

Mr. Morse himself is an aircraft pioneer, learning to fly in 1916 with the Aviation Section of the U. S. Army Signal Corps. He was among the first American aviators to reach France, arriving there early in 1918. Mrs. Morse also gained recognition for her work with the overseas Red Cross during that time. During World War II, Mr. Morse spent much time in the Pacific area with the Inspector General's Office of the Army Air Forces as a Colonel.

He presently is in charge of the aluminum division for the Waghorn-Brown Company of Merrimac, N. H., construction engineers.

Carrying on the Air Force tradition, a son, Major John Morse, is currently stationed at Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico, where he is engaged in research work involving a supersonic-sled that rockets along railroad tracks in the New Mexico desert.

Gesture

As the result of this friendly gesture a meeting of the officers of the Winchester Student Council have been invited by the Student Council of Woburn High School to meet with its members at Woburn today to discuss plans of obviating the recent acts of depredation and strengthening the friendly relations between the two schools that have existed for so many years.

At a meeting of the Winchester Student Council held Monday the council expressed the opinion that the members of the student body should be informed of any anti-social acts for which students are responsible, the consequences of such acts and of police action that can and will be taken in the event the culprits are located.

The Star is informed that the great majority of the Winchester student body is fed up with the sort of thing done before the Thanksgiving Day game and is eager to see a stop put to such actions.

Art Association

A unique program is planned by the Winchester Art Association for their coming meeting December 6 at 7:45. Mr. R. Eric Erickson, floral designer will lecture to the group in the Rich Room of the Winchester Public Library.

Here is an opportunity to sample the fascinating hobby of flower arranging at its best. Mr. Erickson brings a fresh approach to the art of floral arrangement. He has won many first prizes at the New England Flower Shows plus the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's Bronze and Silver medals. His years as a professional florist, plus lecturing, teaching and dramatic experience make this program a must for your group.

Demonstrating as he talks, Mr. Erickson creates with a dramatic flair, floral moods and pictures utilizing clever containers and unique accessories. The necessity of using many flowers, he says, is proven wrong, for simplicity is the keynote of art. Whether it be for a party conversation piece or simply a touch of the out-of-doors to brighten a small apartment, there is something for every occasion.

As owner of the Park Florist in Arlington, Mass., Mr. Erickson firmly believes that the flower shop in your neighborhood is actually an art center, selling living creations.

Mr. Erickson will include an accent of Christmas in his demonstration and lecture.

On display for the month of December in the library gallery will be an unusual group of paintings by Boston Liturgical artist Allan Rohan Crite, which depicts the Christmas story of the Americas against a background of four major cultures - English, Spanish, African, and Indian.

Mr. Crite studied at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for over seven and one half years and other schools. He is a layreader in the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts and has lectured on Liturgical Art in schools, colleges and seminaries. He has exhibited nationally and has work in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and other museums, schools and colleges and churches, academies and private collections, and has murals and altarpieces and stations of the cross in churches throughout the country. He is the author of two books published by Harvard University Press, "Were You There", and "Three Spirituals" and another book published by the Society of St. John the Evangelist, "The Prayer of Consecration". The Department of Social Service of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts has published his illustrated meditations on Holy Week and Christmas.

Be sure to mark your calendar for December 6, and plan to attend this fascinating evening.

Grady Back With Gilbane

William A. Grady, formerly of 76 Sheridan Circle and a graduate of Winchester High School, has returned to the Gilbane Building Company in a new capacity as sales administration manager. Many will remember Bill, who was a sales engineer, and a project engineer in the office of the architect for the $20 million IBM Electric Typewriter Plant in Lexington, Ky. In his new position, he will report directly to William Gilbane, vice president, and will be responsible for supervision and coordination of all sales, financing, advertising and public relations for the company.

Bill brings to Gilbane an extensive background in the architectural, engineering, and construction fields, including seven years active duty with the Civil Engineers Corps, U. S. Navy during World War II and Korea. He holds the rank of Commander, U. S. N. R., and until recently was Commanding Officer of CB Div. 3-19, Huntington, N. Y. He returns to Gilbane from a position as assistant to vice president and general manager, Rex-Spanall, Inc., a subsidiary of Chain Belt Co. He was also an associate of Fordyce and Hamby, Architects and Engineers, N.Y.C.

A 1938 graduate of Northeastern University, where he received his B.S. in Civil Engineering, Bill also attended the University of Connecticut Evening School of Law. He is a Registered Professional Engineer, and a former member of the Connecticut Society of Professional Engineers, Exchange Club of Hartford; and a member of the Navy League.

Editorials:

Well Done Men!

Two Winchester boys completed their regular season with the Naval Academy football team last Saturday in Philadelphia, each doing his part in Navy's 17-12 victory over the Army.

Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo have cevered themselves with glory by their athletic prowess at the academy, by their good sportsmanship and general deportment in and out of school, on and off the athletic field. They have reflected great credit upon their school, their families, their state and especially their home town, now known across the country.

Dattilo and Bellino were born into humble homes to hard-working parents. They knew little luxury growing up, but they did know affection and encouragement as they came to appreciate the sacrifices their parents made to ensure them an education and a good start in life.

Football, if you will, has given them a start far beyond anything envisaged by their parents, but it is to the parents primarily that both boys are grateful. They have made the most of their opportunities to benefit from the opportunity football has given them and their success story is one from which any boy or girl can well profit.

Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo did not get where they are by loafing, indifference and irresponsibility. They have worked hard and given the best that is in them. Their conduct has been irreproachable. They richly deserve the success that is theirs.

For Joe Bellino this success has eclipsed anything known in recent years. His list of honors won in gridiron warfare is very probably greater than that of any previous player. He has accepted his honors proudly but modestly, adding to the esteem in which he is held from coast to coast.

And for Frank Dattilo there is general admiration for the part he has played throughout the successes won by his boyhood friend. With no trace of envy he has supported the high opinions expressed of Joe Bellino and rejoiced in his outstanding success. There can be no greater display of character than that.

A Fine Gesture!

Elsewhere in this paper is the news story detailing the action of the Winchester High School Student Council, the members of which voted Tuesday to take from their treasury a sum of money to help pay for the removal of the paint smeared on Woburn school buildings and other property before the big Thanksgiving Day game. No one knows whether or not it was high school pupils who did the damage, but the Council evidently felt that the student body of the school shares in the responsibility.

Many have decried the failure of youth to accept responsibility. Here is evidence that our boys and girls can make themselves responsible, and for something in which no one can take any pride. What is even more encouraging is that the officers of our student council are to meet with the student council of Woburn High School to discuss ways and means of preventing further acts of rowdyism by high school students, and to ensure continuation of the friendly relations that now exist between Woburn and Winchester High Schools.

A Lesson From Wellesley

Samuel M. Graves, principal of Wellesley High School, is among the most recent educators to raise his voice over the Motor Vehicles law that permits boys and girls to drive automobiles at age 16. His protest was naturally prompted at this time by the tragic fate that befell some of his students in an automobile accident before Thanksgiving.

Mr. Graves was for many years a history teacher and for a time interim principal at Winchester High School. He is widely known here and his opinions about what is good for young people should be interesting to many parents who know him as one genuinely interested in the welfare of boys and girls.

Many other educators, police officials and particularly coaches and directors of physical education will support Mr. Graves' contention that a boy or girl should attain the age of 18 before driving a potential instrument of destruction like an automobile.

At 18 most boys and girls are through high school and the problems that stem from the general use of cars by high schoolers would cease to bother. Even more to the point is the fact that repetitions of the fatal accident in Wellesley will be avoided by keeping our high school youngsters from behind the wheel.

Friendly Rivalry Threatened

Every one interested in, and friendly to the future of Winchester High School football, especially those who have enjoyed the long rivalry between Winchester and the neighboring city of Woburn deplores the hoodlumism that occurred before the big holiday game this year. It is bad enough to smear paint over school buildings and athletic property, but when a church is also a target for the depredations of these misguided fans one can be pardoned for wondering whether anything is safe.

We have been told that boys and girls were in the party that visited Woburn, but whether any feminine paint slingers joined in the reprisals we do not know. Unfortunately none of the marauders was caught either in Winchester or Woburn so there is no way of knowing whether, as some claim, the culprits were not school pupils at all.

Let us hope that they were not. Certainly relations between Winchester and Woburn High Schools have been very friendly in recent years. Coaches and the captain of each school attend a football rally at the rival school the day before the holiday classic and in every instance they have been cordially received by the student bodies. Each Thanksgiving evening members of both schools have fun together at the big victory ball held at the Winchester High School gymnasium. In the 24 years these dances have been held there has been no untoward incident and the friendliest spirit has prevailed.

This year's game at Woburn further emphasized the spirit of good sportsmanship prevailing between the two schools. The teams gave no quarter and asked none, but their play was hard and clean. Here again both teams and the intensely partisan crowd behaved in exemplary fashion. Bands saluted the rival stands and were enthusiastically applauded. When the final whistle blew victors and vanquished met in the center of the cleat-torn field to congratulate each other in true sportsmanlike fashion. So far as teams, student bodies and communities are concerned, the rivalry is intense but friendly, and certainly, to be continued!

That is why it is so unfortunate that a few irresponsible youngsters, if they were youngsters, can in a thoughtless moment undo all that has been done to strengthen friendly athletic relations with a rival we have been meeting on the gridiron since 1891.

We are all lucky that the rival paint slingers did not fall afoul of each other and a brawl take place resulting in serious injury to some of the participants. We narrowly missed one in the center not so long ago.

The Star at that time commented on the implications of such a brawl, should there be one, and voiced the opinion that injury to young people from either Winchester or Woburn, on top of continued damage to property in both communities could result in the breaking of football relations between Winchester and Woburn, a contingency to be regretted.

In past years we have twice had our War Memorial statue painted before big football games. It is a costly job to remove such paint and restore the statue to the condition in which it stood when it was erected to memorialize our service dead of all wars. Here again one wonders why young people of communities like Winchester and its football rivals would stoop to such desecration of a memorial to service dead.

Only those responsible know why they do such things. Only they know whether they were members of a high school student body when they engaged in such depredations.

If they are, or were not, it is too bad, of course to blame our high school boys and girls for something they did not do. The reputation for actions of this sort which our youngsters have been establishing in recent years, however, makes it easy to lay these most recent instances of anti-social acts at their door.

We are hearing more and more about the need of a Boys' Club in Winchester. Many friends of young people feel that one is badly needed. Perhaps it is, but until our young people start showing a lot more respect for community property and evincing a much greater sense of appreciation of what is being done for them now there are many we fear who will wonder.

The Clubs Of Winchester - 4

Fortnightly Club Has Wide Range Of Educational, Civic Interests

Organized in 1881, named in 1882 and admitted to the General Federation of Women's Clubs in 1896, The Fortnightly Club has defined its basic objective as "the promotion of social, educational and civic interests." The Club's color is yellow; its flower is the rose.

The Fortnightly was founded about one year after The Winchester Star first rolled off the presses. On December 19, 1881 twenty-two ladies met at the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Nowell to "concert measures for bringing forward a plan for the formation of a Women's Club in which mutual good should be aimed at, and the mental, moral, and physical improvement of its members promoted."

From the time of its first President, Mrs. Ann B. Winsor, Fortnightly has been faithful to these principles.

In 1884 Fortnightly took the first steps to introduce industrial training in the public schools and to establish an evening school for adults.

When the School Committee agreed to pay the salary of a Master for the evening school, Fortnightly, aided by the Baptist Society, assumed the rest of the expenses and supplied volunteer teachers.

Manual Training

Two years later, the Club itself organized a manual training class in which boys were taught carpentry and girls sewing. Some years later the public schools themselves took over this form of education.

Fortnightly also held classes in physical education until the School Department introduced it in the regular curriculum.

Pioneer Effort

District nursing is another area in which the women of Fortnightly were pioneers. At a meeting called by Mrs. E. O. Punchard, club president from 1897 to 1899, club members were addressed by physicians, nurses, and interested citizens, and the movement first gained momentum.

When Winchester welcomed home its servicemen and women from war to "make the world safe for democracy" on the third and fourth of July, 1919, the Fortnightly took part in the joyous parade.

Help Veterans

Two years later, on February 28 and March 1, 1921, the Fortnightly assisted the American Legion in a successful bazaar to raise money for sick and disabled soldiers.

Again, in September, 1923, both organizations conducted an equally successful lawn carnival to raise funds for furnishing a memorial room in the Legion house in recognition of Winchester men who gave their lives in World War I.

Christmas Tree

In 1926, three years before the Great Depression, The Fortnightly presented the Town with an evergreen tree to be lighted during the Christmas season. Also at this time carol singing around the lighted tree was instituted and has remained a tradition ever since.

When in 1930 the Commonwealth observed the Tercentenary of the Founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, Winchester, like many other Towns in the Bay State, held local celebrations.

The Fortnightly's contribution to the pageantry of this occasion was a parade contingent of ladies dressed in period costumes riding in old-fashioned carriages.

Citations

In January, 1945, several months before V-J Day and the end of a sceond world war, Fortnightly was honored for another demonstration of patriotic spirit. A citation from the United States Treasury saluted the club women for "patriotic cooperation in behalf of the War Finance Program."

The Fortnightly has also been cited by the American Red Cross for the number of service hours given by its members.

In addition, a citation has been received for "dedicated service on behalf of a better community" sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Meets at Church

Although Fortnightly does not have a club house as such, it does have a club house fund. It meets now at the Social Hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Meeting times: every second and fourth Monday of the month, unless a holiday necessitates a change of schedule. The regular business meeting begins at 2:00 p.m. Membership in the Fortnightly is unlimited.

Varied Interests

Club members take a keen interest in many subjects: the American Home, Art, Community and Hospital Service, Conservation, Drama, Education and Scholarship, International Relations and the Foreign Service, Legislation, Literature, Music, Preservation of Antiques and related subjects, which comprise varied programs of interest and value.

Scholarship

Every year the Club gives a $100 scholarship to a deserving young woman who wishes to become a teacher.

The Club also gives generously to philanthropies, the United Fund, Care, American Red Cross, and the Home Fronters.

At Christmas time "ditty bags" are made, filled with useful articles and taken to the Chelsea Naval Hospital and the Veterans' Hospital at Bedford. Several hand-made afghans are also donated to the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

Interest in Government

One of the primary interests of Fortnightly members is pending legislation. Important bills in the House and Senate are discussed by the members.

With art so popular at Winchester High School, the Fortnightly gives first and second prizes and "honorable mentions" to outstanding junior and senior water colors. These paintings are on display at one of the spring meetings of the Fortnightly. The prize pictures are then displayed at the State Federation's meeting and, if one of them wins a prize there it goes on to Washington.

Literature, Too

The Fortnightly holds a session on literature once a month in the Rich Room of the Library. This year's special study will be concerned with the life and works of American authors.

Two afternoon sessions held in private homes are given over to international relations. Interesting speakers enrich these programs.

Musts for Fortnightly women include a luncheon to start the Club year off, a wonderful book review by Mrs. Marion Rudkin, and a Food Sale.

THE HEALTH HUCKSTERS

By WILSON SULLIVAN

"The Health Hucksters" by Ralph Allen Smith, in the tradition of "The Hidden Persuaders," is another Upper Case Expose and you have every right to say "Not Another!" But I believe you will read this book with shock, anger, and profit and that you will admire its author for accuracy and courage.

A "health huckster," Mr. Smith explains, is anyone responsible for "the falsifying or distortion of medical truth for commercial profit." Through the collusion of ad agencies, drug manufacturers, and distributors, this billion -dollar-a-year national deception is conducted on TV, by mail, and in the press to the tune, for example, of $500 million for unprescribed and largely unneeded vitamin pills a year. Because these bandits are still beyond the reach of a federal government interested in protecting the consumer, Smith adds, the public is at their mercy.

Take vitamins. With America's balanced abundance in food, doctors agree, it is almost impossible not to get enough vitamins. Doctors prescribe them only in instances like pregnancy or pre-surgery when the body requires added nutriment. Doctors know, too, that more vitamins than you need are worthless.

The "health hucksters," however, in a massive multi-million-dollar campaign, have so undermined public confidence in the nutritive value of basic foods that they are able to sell such self-prescribed pap as this: iron-deficiency pills a scant 25% strong as they should be, dependent for their "kick" on 12% alcohol; fatigue-fighting pills, found, on analysis, to contain an elixir no more exotic than the caffein equivalent of two cups of coffee.

Among the primary dangers of these quack medicines, Smith points out, is that they often obscure real illness, precluding its early diagnosis and cure.

* * *

It would be a mistake, Smith warns, to assume that such exploitation is practiced by "quickie" quacks alone. Actually, he writes, the most reputable firms embrace the evil. The twelve leading toothpaste companies spend $25 million dollars a year to convince you that their dentifrices, perfectly adequate as cleansing agents, give your enamel lifetime protection. And of course you pick up the tab. Your family-size tube of Goody Gleamer costs ten cents to make. How much did you pay for it?

And cold tablets: Unethical drug firms persuade you to buy $260 million worth of cold killers a year in spite of the fact that doctors insist that the role of antibiotics in the conquest of colds is at best undetermined, and, in all probability, inconclusive. They point out that, progress in space notwithstanding, rest, good food, warm clothes and aspirin are still the best medicine for colds.

Let's look at weight-reduction schemes. Smith says we spend $100 million a year on them, accepting assurances that we can lose 37 pounds without giving up mashed potatoes and pork gravy, simply by eating over-rich dietary candy, tumbling about in electric vibrators, swallowing purgatives, or anaesthetizing our taste buds! The fact is, of course, that you lose weight one way—and one way only—by reducing caloric intake . . . by dieting at a recommended rate of two fat pounds a week.

* * *

Other frauds cited by Smith:

(1) The Cholesterol Scare: the insistence by advertising front-men that saturated fats produce atherosclerosis and heart disease, the sacred assurance of your cooking oil manufacturer that he made his oil with your heart in mind. The facts? The A.M.A. has warned of dangers in "tampering" with the cholesterol level and insists that the role of cholesterol in heart disease is not established. Sound advice to the worried: Less gravy, fewer fried clams.

(2) The Science-Nature-Food Cult: the assurance be pseudo scientists, preferably white frocked, that seaweed, pollen and vinegar cider will make you a substantial threat to Charles Atlas or Amelia Earhart.

(3) The $1.5 billion Cosmetic Pitch: the ads that promise you liberation from physiologically based wrinkles, the departure of 20 years from your life if you only latch onto Royal Bee Jelly or placental salve.

(4) The incredible war of the cigarette industry against the now conclusive proof that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer; the shocking fact that the manufacturers began using cheaper, stronger tobacco when they discovered that their life-giving filters were killing the taste of milder tobaccos. Result: Cigarettes are more deadly than ever.

"Spirit of 1960"

Editor of the Star:

My son and I were privileged to be amongst the one hundred thousand people who saw the thrilling game between Army and Navy at Philadelphia yesterday. To say the least, everything was fantastic—the game itself, the vast throng, the marching of the cadets and midshipmen, the entertainment, and mostly, Joe Bellino.

In this age of conniving, it was an inspiration to see Joe, an authentic All-American, twisting and faking through a great Army team, his only thought the honor and glory he was bringing to his Ma and Pa, to his beloved Navy and his home town of Winchester.

As we stood in Arlington National Cemetery late this afternoon and watched the Marines lower the flag from above the Marine Monument of Iwo Jima, we could not help but imagine the spirit which Joe Bellino would have mustered had he been amongst the brave men who planted the Stars and Stripes on that Pacific Island.

In our home town of Lexington we hear a great deal about "The Spirit of 1776;" in Philadelphia Saturday we saw in Joe Bellino "The Spirit of 1960." At his tender age, a famous American.

Jim Corrigan
Sincerely,

Dogs At Football Games!

Editor of the Star:

The enclosed picture was not taken at one of our local football games, but similar ones could have been taken at every game we had this season. We do not go to these games to see a lot of dogs running over the field interfering with the game as well as the between-the-halves activities.

Something can be done about the dogs at the games, but will anyone do it? It would pay to make it someone's responsibility to impound the dogs when they come into the field.

It's a little late in the season to make this squawk but another season is coming and there is plenty of time to make plans.

J. F. Fitzsimmons
4 Robinson Circle

Ed. Note—The picture, which we regret we can not reproduce, is of a Wellesley High School back who has just hurdled a dog on the field during the Thanksgiving Day game with Needham. We heartily echo Mr. Fitzsimmons' "Squawk."

Following "Joe" In California

Editor of the Star:

You no doubt have noticed that recently our mailing address for the Star was temporarily changed from 22 Lawson Road to 1018 De Vore Avenue, Bakersfield, Calif., where we have been following very closely, the play of "Bullet" Joe Bellino and his Navy teammates, hoping that next Saturday will see them conquering Army and end up as Washington's opponent in the Rose Bowl on New Years' Day.

To show you the impact little Joe has made across this country of ours we are forwarding the two enclosures. No. 1 is a photograph taken from an October issue of a Wisconsin (Wausaw) paper where Mrs. Terhune and I were visiting with our daughter's family on the way to California for a six months visit. Item No. 2 speaks for itself—a grand picture of No. 27 on the November 19th cover of the Bakersfield, (Calif.) Family Weekly.

After these have served their purpose, if they have any value to you, we would appreciate your forwarding same to the Bellino family for a scrap book which when completed will be the story of one of the greatest football players in Winchester and Navy Academy history.

The Bakersfield address is that of the family of our oldest daughter which will be headquarters for us Terhunes while we view the wonders of these western states of our wonderful scenic country.

Regards to all of you folks at the Star.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Terhune
Bakersfield, Calif.

In Praise Of Winchester People

Editor of the Star:

Undoubtedly there are many reasons why it is a joy to live in Winchester, but to my mind the principal one is the people that live here. It seems to me the spirit of Winchester people is never more apparent than in the energy and patient, cheerful effort which United Fund workers put into their job. This job has its share of frustration, work, even occasional unpleasantness, and has no glamor at all, but nevertheless a small army of workers has been hard at work for almost a month now making sure that every resident of Winchester as well as its businesses has an opportunity to give.

From the Junior Red Cross, who prepared workers' kits, to the large corps of solicitors, everybody has gone at the job with a zeal and determination which defies particular mention. One special honorable mention should, however, go to the Precinct 6 organization for being the first to report 100% coverage.

As this is being written the final calls are being made and some of the precincts are still at work. I'd like to express my thanks to all United Fund workers, thanks which are entirely inadequate but nonetheless sincere, but even more I'd like to express my pride at being associated with such responsive, dedicated, and human people. Winchester is indeed fortunate in many ways.

Herbert E. Bixler
Winchester Chairman
United Fund Campaign

From Mr. Corcoran

Editor of the Star:

May I express my appreciation to the citizens of Arlington, Winchester and Medford for their support of my public record and for the principles of responsible government.

I wish Senator Farnam a successful term and offer my cooperation toward the solution of the many problems which will affect the people of Arlington, Winchester and Medford.

To the many people who worked so hard for my candidacy as State Senator, I will be forever grateful.

Sincerely,
Lawrence E. Corcoran

Youth Center

Editor of the Star:

A few weeks ago you had an article in the Star about a youth center for Winchester. I have grown up in Winchester and I know what it is like to have nothing to do after school or on a Saturday. I am for a youth center very much. I think it is needed very badly but that it should be run by students.

Have you heard anything about a "family plan" at the YMCA? In this plan a family pays $35 for the use of the YMCA by the whole family for a year. There is a boys' director and a girls' director with a supervisor over them. There is a complete program set up for both boys and girls using the gym, swimming pool, ping-pong tables, bowling alleys, etc. The instructors are older teenagers, mostly senior high school and college boys and girls, interested in working with children, some of whom are physical education majors. The junior leaders work under them, a group of high school students not as experienced. Thus they get a chance to learn while teaching. Many of the junior leaders later become full instructors.

The YMCA in West Roxbury is now using this plan very successfully, and I suggest that Winchester look into it. A youth center run by the town alone is apt to be influenced too much by it, but a YMCA sends out a supervisor who is experienced in this field, and knows what he is doing. I believe in this way action can be taken faster and more efficiently.

J. Howard Wright

J. Howard Wright, proprietor of the Wright Roofing Company and a widely known resident of Winchester for the past 15 years, died suddenly, following a heart attack, Tuesday morning, November 29, at his home.

Mr. Wright was the son of James F., and Susan (Halliday) Wright. He was born May 11, 1896, in Holyoke and grew up in that city, graduating from Holyoke High School. He received his bachelor of science degree in engineering from Dartmouth in 1919, and his master's degree from the same college in 1920.

While in college during World War I he served in the Dartmouth Unit of the Student Army Training Corps. He then enlisted in the Army Corps of Engineers and was awaiting overseas duty when peace was declared.

For a time after his discharge he engaged in general engineering and contracting, but for the past 34 years he had been in the roofing business, first with the Philip Carey Manufacturing Co., and since 1929 with his own business, the Wright Roofing Company, in the management of which he had the active assistance of his wife.

He was a member of the Winchester Rotary and of Sagamore Lodge, A.F.&A.M., of Medford.

On September 2, 1922, Mr. Wright married Marjorie Salter of Haverhill, who survives with two sons, Dr. Roger H. Wright of Manchester, N. H., and Alan F. Wright of Aiken, S. C.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, officiating. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

W. V. N. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Winchester Visiting Nursing Association board was held at the public library on Friday, November 18, at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Thomas Purtle, the president, asked for the reports of the following committees which make up the board, the education, finance, nominating and public relations committees. The education committee chairman reported that the new educational film on cancer, sponsored by the V. N. A., had been shown in various churches and was well received.

Mrs. Doris Wiklund, our Winchester public health director, gave a very interesting report of the nursing activities of the previous month stating that the nursing staff had made 402 house visits, 250 of which were to sick patients needing bed care. This fine nursing care is available to all Winchester people at cost.

Mrs. Wiklund also gave her report on the stimulating convention of the Mass. League for Nursing, at which she was chosen to represent the public health nursing viewpoint on a panel of five, discussing the Patient's Bill of Rights drawn up by the National League for Nursing.

The geust speaker was Miss Edna York, director of nursing at a 120-bed hospital near Madras, India, a mission hospital supported by the Seventh Day Adventists. Miss York, here getting her clinical experience in public health nursing at our Winchester Visiting Nursing agency, related the unbelievable superstitions, ingnorance and poverty which must be contended with in the slow process of education.

Chitel's Retains Services of N. Y. Fashion Expert

Chitel's will soon be adding a stunning new line of women's sportswear to its already distinguished collection. Jack Chitel told the Star this week that he has retained the services of Lenore Sill, noted women's fashion consultant of New York.

This makes Chitel's, already one of the best-stocked stores of the New England suburbs, virtually unique in this area.

"This sort of thing wouldn't go in most towns," Jack said. "But I think Winchester deserves it, and that Miss Sill will help us to build up an even better collection.

"There's just no substitute for having a fashion expert close to the pulse of the fashion houses in New York. Miss Sill will have the authority, after a phone call to Winchester, to buy clothes we think Winchester women will like. In this way we can keep up with the very latest trends and enrich our collection with the varied and really 'knock-out' styles as soon as they come out in New York."

Jack expects the first shipment of new women's sportswear in by Christmas.

Mrs. Ann E. Durant

Mrs. Ann E. Durant of 24 Symmes Road, widow of William A. Durant and a native of Winchester, died Saturday, November 26, at the Winchester Hospital after several months illness following a much longer period of failing health.

Mrs. Durant was the daughter of the late Edward P. McKenzie, for many years Winchester correspondent for the Woburn Daily Times, and the late Mary A. (Burke) McKenzie. She was born September 15, 1907, in Winchester and grew up in the town, attending the Winchester schools and being graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1925.

From high school she went to A. Storrs & Bement, Boston paper house, where she remained for 15 years, later working in the office of the S.S. Pierce Company in Boston.

On October 19, 1940, she married William A. Durant, clerk of the Highway Department of the City of Medford, and for 16 years they lived in Medford. They came to Winchester when Mr. Durant became ill two years before his death in 1956.

In recent years until her health failed Mrs. Durant had been a real estate broker in the office of Ruth C. Porter on Thompson Street in Winchester. She was a member of the Boston Real Estate Board.

Mrs. Durant leaves two sisters, Lucia C., and Mary G. McKenzie; also two brothers, Alfred P., custodian at Winchester High School, and Edward A. McKenzie, foreman of the Winchester Tree Department.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

Norman R. Catharin

Norman R. Catharin of 25 York Road, retired treasurer of Stone and Forsythe, Boston paper products firm, passed away on Wednesday, November 23, at his home.

Mr. Catharin was the son of James D., and Mary (Tall) Catharin. Born in Chelsea, he grew up in that city, graduating from Chelsea High School and establishing a reputation as a fine schoolboy football player. He was never tardy or absent during his 12 years in school.

Mr. Catharin was graduated from Dartmouth, and during his undergraduate days coached three high school football teams. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

He first worked in the office of the Thomas G. Plant shoe company, but later for 25 years was associated with Stone & Forsythe, retiring only recently as treasurer of the company.

Aside from his home and business he devoted his time chiefly to church work and private charity. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary (Stack) Catharin.

Mr. Charles Curry conducted funeral services last Saturday at the Beals Funeral Home in Medford. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Miss Susan Gustin

Miss Susan A. Gustin, daughter of the late Frank and Nellie (Walley) Gustin, and a native of Winchester, died in Roxbury on November 16 in her 75th year.

Miss Gustin's early years were spent on her father's farm on Cambridge Street, where he made a specialty of early hot-house cucumbers, and was a pioneer in the raising of large quantities of outdoor pansies. Later the family moved to farms in Woburn and Lincoln.

She was for many years a practical nurse and was much esteemed for her agreeable and sunny disposition. She retired a few years ago.

Funeral services were held in St. Teresa's Church in Roxbury on November 19, and burial was in Dedham.

John E. Rines

John E. Rines of 54 Everett Avenue, late owner of the former George F. Carleton Co., manufacturers of men's and women's slippers, in Haverhill, died early Tuesday morning, November 29, at his home after a short illness. He had lived in Winchester since 1934.

Mr. Rines was the son of Clarence and Nellie (Starbird) Rines. He was born March 22, 1888, in Norway, Me., but went as a boy to Haverhill and grew up in that city, being educated in the Haverhill schools.

As a young man he was a cashier in the First National Bank of Haverhill before entering the slipper manufacturing business of his father-in-law, the George F. Carter Company. He remained with the business until it was liquidated in 1947, at which time he was the sole owner. He retired at that time.

Mr. Rines was for some time associated with his father-in-law in operating orange groves in Orlando, Fla., and from 1943, after the death of Mr. Carleton, until 1958, at the time his own sight became badly impaired, he operated the groves himself.

He was a Scottish Rite 33rd Degree Mason, a Knight Templar and a member of the Shrine. He was also a member of the Parish of the Epiphany. One of the founders of the Knight Templars Eye Foundation, Inc., he was secretary and a trustee of the organization at the time of his death. He had attended a meeting of the Foundation in Chicago earlier in the fall.

Mr. Rines was twice married. His first wife, Mrs. Maude Carleton Rines, died November 8, 1955. On November 14, 1956, he married Florence M. Martin of Haverhill, who is his only survivor.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon at the Dole & Child Funeral Home in Haverhill with Dr. John W. Ellison, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Burial was in Linwood Cemetery, Haverhill.

Henry F. Quill

Henry F. Quill of 6 Nelson Street, a lifelong and widely known resident of Winchester, died Sunday, November 27, at the Winchester Hospital where he had undergone an operation. He was 53 years old.

Mr. Quill was the son of Patrick, and Sarah (McFadden) Quill. He was born November 3, 1907, in Winchester and attended the Winchester schools and Winchester High School, first working for the old Economy Grocery Company when it was located at the corner of Main and Thompson Streets.

Persons of all walks in life came to know him at the market and all who knew him held him in esteem, particularly admiring his courageous fight against the painful ravages of arthritis with which he was long afflicted. For the past 10 years he had conducted the Winchester Answering Service, used by physicians and other professional people of the town. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Parish.

On January 28, 1934, Mr. Quill married Margaret A. McManus of Medford, who survives, with a daughter, Madeline R., and a son, Henry F. Quill, Jr.; a brother, Edward J. Quill of the Winchester News Company and a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Burke, all of Winchester.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Wiklund Honored

At a recent convention of the Mass. League for Nursing, Mrs. Wiklund, the director of the Winchester Visiting Nursing program, was signally honored. She was chosen on a panel of five to participate in a discussion of the Patient's Bill of Rights which was drawn up by the National League for Nursing.

MRS. DORIS WIKLUND

This panel was chosen across the board to be representative of all angles of a good nursing program and was composed of Mrs. James Donovan, a trustee of Peter Bent Brigham, representing the hospital administration; Mrs. John Harrington, representing community administration; Mrs. Doris Wiklund, representing the public health nursing; Mrs. Frances Burns, Boston medical writer, the patient's angle; and Mrs. Mary A. Miller, assistant director, Department of Hospital Nursing, National League for Nursing, the hospital nursing service.

The moderator was Dr. Leon Sternfeld, M. P. H., health commissioner of Cambridge, and the presiding officer was Miss Mary A. Maher, president of the League for Nursing.

Following is the Patient's Bill of Rights, which was discussed and accepted as a basic concept on which to build:

The Patient Has a Right to Expect

1. That he will receive the nursing care necessary to help him regain or maintain his maximum degree of health.

2. That the nursing personnel who care for him are qualified, through education, experience and personality, to carry out the services for which they are responsible.

3. That the nursing personnel caring for him will be sensitive to his feelings and responsive to his needs.

4. That, within the limits determined by his doctor, the patient and his family will be taught about his illness so that the patient can help himself, and his family can understand and help him.

5. That plans will be made with him and his family, or if necessary for him, so that, if possible, continuing nursing and other necessary services will be available to him throughout the period of his need. These plans will involve the use of all appropriate personal and community resources.

6. That nursing personnel will assist in keeping adequate records and reports and will treat with confidence all personal matters that relate to the patient.

7. That efforts will be made by nursing personnel to adjust the surroundings of the patient so as to help him maintain or recover his health.

Basic Assumptions

Nursing care encompasses health promotion, the care and prevention of disease or disability, and rehabilitation, and involves teaching, counseling and emotional support as well as the care of illness.

Nursing care is an integral part of total health care and is planned and administered in combination with related medical, educational, and welfare services.

Nursing personnel respect the individuality, dignity, and rights of every person, regardless of race, color, creed, national origin, social or economic status.

Observed 95th Birthday

Mrs. Hanna Hall of 4 Holton Street, one of Winchester's oldest residents, observed her 95th birthday last Sunday afternoon at Knights of Columbus Hall with a gala party attended by more than 200 friends and relatives.

The Em Cee then gave a brief biographical sketch of the guest of honor, who received 110 birthday cards and telegrams from Flint, Mich.; Quincy, Hamden, Conn.; San Francisco, Calif.; and her native Skane in Sweden.

Mrs. Richard Allison sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Menton. Richard Carlson of Branford, Conn., presented tap dances and Palladino's three piece orchestra from Revere furnished background music.

The feature of the party came with the cutting of the huge birthday cake made by Emile Marquis, topped with 95 molded individual cakes.

John DiBona, Harold Peabody of Rockport, Stuart Capron of Dorchester, Tony Danielson of Woburn and Peter Benson, long time friends, made appropriate remarks and personal congratulations were extended by Governor-elect John Volpe and Mrs. Volpe, and by Rep. Immaculate Conception Campfire Girls

Another year of interesting activity has begun for the Campfire Girls of the Immaculate Conception Parish in Winchester. With the purpose of Campfire in mind, namely, "to perpetuate the spiritual ideals of the home" and "to stimulate and aid in the formation of habits making for health and character," meetings have already begun in the homes of the various group leaders. Group leaders for this year are the following: Mrs. Helen Garvey, Mrs. Mary Avakian, Mrs. Eleanor Morris, Mrs. Ann Bisso, Mrs. Bertha Heitz, Mrs. Jane Lord, Mrs. Helen Shea, and Mrs. Mary Collins.

The Parish Committee, under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Marie Colella, and the spiritual director, Rev. Rene J. Saulnier, have already begun plans for a most interesting year. On October 23, the Fly-up ceremony took place in the Parish Hall, at which two Bluebird groups became Campfire Girls. On November 11, the girls and their leaders went by bus to the Wallex Skating Rink in Waltham for a most enjoyable roller-skating party.

Plans are now in the making for a trip to the LaSalette Shrine in Attleboro to see the Christmas crib and lights; for a trip into Boston to see the Ice Follies; for a Communion Sunday and Breakfast; and for many other and varied activities throughout the year.

The girls are now busily preparing for the next big event of the year. Our own groups, as well as the other Winchester and Woburn groups will be ringing your doorbells for the annual Campfire Girl Candy Sale. The girls will be in uniform, and the candy boxes are clearly marked, so that you can be sure that the candy is Campfire candy. The candy will also be on sale at the First National Store in Winchester on Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3, 9 and 10, and at Hevey's Pharmacy, the entire time of the sale (December 2-12). It is through the sale of this candy that the Campfire program is partially financed.

Let us hope that the program will continue as successfully as it has in the past to fulfill the Law of Campfire: To worship God, seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, be happy, a working pattern for a full rich life.

Principal Niblock At Conference In Columbus

Mr. W. Howard Niblock, principal at Winchester High School, recently attended a Pilot Conference sponsored by the North Central Association for Schools and Colleges under contract of the United States Office of Education. This conference was held in Columbus, Ohio with Mr. Niblock the New England representative.

The purpose of this conference was dissemination of practices and principles on the educational uses of television. In December of 1959, a seminar of technical specialists in educational TV was held in Chicago to establish guide lines for its most effective use. The primary discussion at the Ohio conference was centered around these proposed suggestions.

The educators were orientated as to the present status of educational TV. They were given a tour showing the technical aspects involved in lesson preparations, TV rehearsals and the making of video tapes. Present research on the refinement of this media was also discussed.

Specific examples of the use of educational television in New York and Denver were cited. The state of Oregon is also utilizing this medium on the college level in courses where the number enrolled is insufficient for a teacher's time and consequently the same material may be given to all students in state institutions at the same time via TV.

Financial support, of course, was a necessary problem for discussion. In many areas the pupils are assessed, the deficit being the responsibility of the community or appropriations are made through legislature. The Ford foundation is presently supporting the aerial experiments of disseminating television classes in the Midwest, and other college funds are being designated for the purpose of fulfilling this need.

Educational TV "is here to stay," commented Mr. Niblock. It is a new medium which needs to be refined, and the need is urgent as evidenced in the population increase and ratio of available teachers. A further problem he cited was the availability of channels for educational purposes. The Federal Communications Commission is under the competing influence of commercial and educational concerns, and a year from now all the channels will be taken. Fortunately for the Boston area, WGBH is designated for educational programs.

It is the responsibility of the delegates who attended this Ohio conference in many cases to initiate conferences in their own states and then in the local areas. As Mr. Niblock was at one time vice president for a television course in the humanities he was an appropriate delegate to be chosen from New England.

The Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club of Winchester High School met last Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Music Room to hear Mrs. Svi Westreich talk on Israel, some of its accomplishments thus far, its hopes for the future, the life of its people, the education of its youth.

Mrs. Westreich was born in Jerusalem, and while in her early teens, entered the Underground in 1944 to help refugees find a home in Israel; in 1946 she entered an agricultural school near Tel-Aviv to learn how to make the best use of the land as a means of helping her country, and while in this school, met the man who was to become her husband.

She took part in the defense of Jerusalem against the Arabs in 1948, then attended from 1948-51 a Hebrew University in Jerusalem to study sociology and psychology so she could teach the youth of Israel more effectively, especially the children of the new immigrants.

She was married in 1951 to Mr. Westreich, and both came to this country in 1954 to study; she graduated in 1957 from the University of Pittsburgh with highest honors in sociology and psychology. During these years she managed to find the time and energy to teach in the schools of Pittsburgh.

She is now teaching in Dorchester, and plans to continue graduate work at Harvard in the field of Human Relations, and hopes to be able to remain long enough in this country to gain her doctorate. Meanwhile Mr. Westreich hopes to finish his studies for the doctorate in nuclear physics at M.I.T. in a year or so.

Israel became a state in 1948 with a population of about 650,000, and in the twelve years since, this figure has grown to about 2,000,000, with people, both Jews and Gentiles, coming in from many lands to begin life anew in a new land.

They came to work as farmers, as educators, as doctors, as business men, and as industrialists, and all cooperate for the elimination of poverty and slums. People enter Israel freely, for the policy is to admit all who wish to enter.

There is a unique type of communal organization which includes about 80,000 people altogether, found, not in the cities, but in the country areas. These communal organizations or settlements are called Kibbutz which vary in size from two hundred to a thousand people, with some composed of adults and their children, and others of young adults of eighteen or over. The individuals own no property, but the group receives for the work which it does for the good of the country, education, medical care, shelter, and dining halls.

The members of these communal settlements have done a great deal of work in developing the desest areas of Israel to make them suitable for agriculture, as well as assimilating many newcomers into the life of Israel. In some of the communal settlements, the children do not live with their parents, but with their own group under the supervision of adults, and so escape the usual causes of friction between parents and children. The parents visit them, and they their parents, and strangely enough, or perhaps naturally enough, the ties between parents and children are stronger than usual.

In their education, the students in these communal settlements are not subjected to the formal examinations which we are familiar with, nor are they divided by grades, but are given the opportunity to show before large gatherings of fellow-students and parents what they have learned. Each student goes as far as his ability permits, and since there are no formal examinations, the teachers decide what students have the ability to do work at the college and university levels, furthermore, in the high schools of these communal settlements, the faculty and the students together often choose what the curriculum shall be, hence the students are more than ordinarily interested in their work.

Young men and young women are required to serve in the army which is equipped with modern weapons and commanded by highly competent officers. While in the army, these young people have the opportunity to learn various trades, so the army is a popular institution, considered well worth the money spent on it. In addition to its regular duties, the army participates in agriculture, roadbuilding, and in whatever other ways its services can be used.

Finally, Israel is guiding the undeveloped states of Africa and Asia towards freedom, independence, and democracy by helping them in education, in medicine, in industry, and in government, and in whatever other ways they can.

The speaker was enthusiastic about her subject, and interested the students so much that there were requests for a return engagement, so altogether the members of the Philosophy Club spent a profitable hour.

Morgan Memorial Winter Appeal

The annual $100,000 winter appeal of the Morgan Memorial was launched today.

The funds are urgently needed, said Henry E. Helms, executive secretary, to keep 400 handicapped people gainfully employed each day at Goodwill Industries and to maintain eight social service agencies serving all ages, from nursery children to aged people at the Eliza Henry Home.

Helms stressed that the Morgan Memorial seeks only twenty per cent of its operating costs.

"Eighty per cent of our costs are derived from the sale of reconditioned merchandise," Helms said, "the thousands of tons of clothing and unused but repairable household items sent to us. These articles are repaired, mended, repainted and made to look like new and sold in our thrift stores. Ours is the largest private agency serving the handicapped people in New England."

The campaign committee will comprise some one hundred members of the Board of Directors and Corporate members.

Helms stated, "that within a normal working lifetime a rehabilitated handicapped worker will pay $10 in income taxes for every dollar invested in his rehabilitation.

The Goodwill Industries plan, born in Boston 58 years ago, has spread to 125 U. S. cities and seventeen foreign lands.

75th Annual Meeting Today

N. E. Assn. of Colleges, Secondary Schools at Statler Hilton

Representatives of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will honor the long history of the group at its 75th annual meeting Friday, December 2, in the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston. In a special anniversary program, they will hear leaders in education—William C. Hill, former principal of Classical High School in Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Douglas Horton (Mildred McAfee), former president of Wellesley College; and Claude M. Fuess, headmaster emeritus of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. Mr. Hill and Mr. Fuess are former presidents of the Association.

Reviewing the Association's history, President Nils Wessell of Tufts University, who is the current president of the Association, observed:

"Differences of opinion have always characterized New England educators. This is a matter of pride, for out of such differences have come innovation, leadership, and forward progress in New England secondary schools and colleges."

As in other years, the more than 1,000 delegates from institutions in all of the six New England states, in addition to their business sessions, will hear national leaders discuss issues of the day.

The New England Association frew out of the earlier Massachusetts Classical and High School Teachers' Association. Dr. Fuess, surveying this history, says creation of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools "would have been impossible without the dynamic, persistent influence of president Charles W. Eliot of Harvard."

Eliot was brought into the plan by three imaginative members of the earlier teachers' association—John Tetlow, headmaster of the Girls' High and Latin School in Boston; Ray G. Huling, principal of Fitchburg High School; and William C. Collar, headmaster of Roxbury Latin School.

At the 75-year landmark, Dr. Fuess said, these are the ideas of most concern to New England educators:

1. More attention to talented pupils.
2. Harder and longer periods of work for most students.
3. Examinations for advanced standing in college.
4. Emphasis on moral and ethical values.
5. A revival of discipline in all its aspects.
6. Concerted efforts to achieve unity and continuity in the educative process.

Present officers of the Association, in addition to President Wessell, are:

Vice Presidents: John C. Boyden, director of admissions of Deerfield Academy; and Bertram H. Holland, headmaster of Brookline, Mass., High School.

Secretary - Treasurer: Dana M. Cotton of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, a resident of Winchester.

Executive Committee: Miss Elizabeth M. Fitch, headmistress of Miss Hall's School, Pittsfield, Mass.; George R. Perry, principal of Bristol, Conn., Eastern High School; and William C. Fels, president of Bennington College, Bennington, Vt.; Harold F. Scott, principal of Warwick, R. I., Veterans Memorial High School; Frederick C. Copeland, Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.; Charles F. Hamilton, Belmont Hill School, Belmont, Mass.; and Walter G. Patterson, Needham, Mass., High School.

Delegates to the anniversary from Winchester include Mother Dorothy McGuire of Marycliff Academy and Principal W. Howard Niblock of Winchester High School.

Cliggott to Be Project Intern

Edward D. Cliggott of Winchester, graduate student at Cornell University, has been appointed a project intern in the Newfield (N. Y.) Central School for 1960-61.

Mr. Cliggott is the son of Mr. Denis J. Cliggott of 10 Winthrop Street. He received the bachelor of arts degree from Cornell in June 1960. While an undergraduate at Cornell he was a member of Psi Upsilon social fraternity, Book and Bowl Club and the recipient of the LaVerne Noyes Scholarship.

During the spring semester Mr. Cliggott will teach full time at the Newfield School where he will work closely with Donald Hickman, resident supervising teacher. He completed a two-week observation period at Newfield prior to the opening of the fall semester and is currently taking courses at Cornell.

The Junior High School Project under which Mr. Cliggott is studying at Cornell is designed primarily to train teachers for the junior high school level. It is a cooperative program between the Cornell School of Education and junior high schools in southern and central New York. At the present time it is sponsored by the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Project interns are graduates of colleges of liberal arts. Upon completion of a fifth-year of graduate study, teaching and research, they will receive a masters degree and permanent certification to teach in New York State.

Current Crisis In Africa

Mr. Walter C. Carrington will speak Monday evening, December 5, at the First Congregational Church on "The Current Crisis in Africa." Emphasis will be placed on the problem of race relations and the repercussions of the recent developments in Africa on international relations throughout the world.

WALTER CARRINGTON

His experience while participating in the Experiment in International Living during the summer of 1959 in Nigeria will illustrate many of his conclusions.

Mr. Carrington graduated from Harvard College and Harvard Law School and is at present an attorney and member of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

This is an open meeting to be held at 8 p.m. in the Palmer Room, under the sponsorship of the Adult Education Committee.

Chosen For Business Training

Susan Scott of Winchester, a senior in the Retailing department of Lasell Junior College, Newton, has been chosen to be in the group of 95 Lasell students who will be engaged in off-campus training in various department stores throughout the East from Thanksgiving through December 24.

Designed to furnish the student with firsthand experience in merchandising techniques and store management, this field work is closely integrated with the theoretical and classroom aspects of the Retailing curriculum.

Miss Scott, who will receive her training at Jordan Marsh Company, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Scott, 2 Lagrange Street.

Neighbor Series Features Winchester Man

Ted Ashby Writes Of Norman Harrold and His Pendulum

Winchester readers of the Boston Globe never miss Ted Ashby's feature column, "Calling on the Neighbors," a column devoted to interesting and little known facts about persons who live in your town or possibly next door.

Not long ago he devoted his column to Carlene Samoiloff and her relaxing program for children and adults. The November 23 edition of the Globe carries Mr. Ashby's story of the mysterious pendulum of Norman Harrold, Hood Company employee, whom many have seen at the wheel of a big Hood truck in the center.

Mr. Harrold, who makes his home at 22 Lincoln Street, comes from a well-known Winchester family of long standing. His parents were the late Police Lieutenant and Mrs. John A. Harrold, and Retired Police Chief Charles J. Harrold is his brother.

Following is the Ashby story:

"Norman Harrold believes he can locate oil, water or minerals anywhere in the world without leaving his residence at 22 Lincoln Street, except to spot-check the locale.

"And:

Find missing persons; pinpoint malignant growths; track hurricanes; even tell what's wrong with a watch that has ceased to run.

"It's done, he said, through radiesthesia.

"I have dedicated this work to showing mankind what God has given. I am trying to impress man with what powers he has, but of which he doesn't take advantage."

* * *

"The dominant theory of radiesthesia, it appears, is that everyone and everything has a serial number. So, to find his answers, Harrold has but to match up those numbers. They are revealed by what he calls an Abbe Mermet pendulum.

"Abbe Mermet was a French priest stationed in Switzerland. It was he who wrote the book, procurable only in Europe, called 'Principles and Practice of Radiesthesia.

"The pendulum is made of metals which Norman said are not for identification. If held between fingers of the right hand while employing the left hand as an antenna, the pendulum answers pertinent questions put to it.

"A clockwise motion means yes; counterclockwise, no."

"What would you need to locate a missing person?"

"Just a sample of material that had been worn close to the body of the missing person, which hadn't been washed or handled by many others."

"His radiesthesia technique would first give him the direction then the distance.

"Then I would have to spotcheck the location."

"Could you find out where I was spending my vacation?"

"If I had, for example, an old bedroom slipper of yours, I certainly could."

"He could locate a missing plane, too, he added.

"Harrold has an assortment of divining rods used by dowsers to locate water, but points out that he doesn't need them.

"As a matter of fact, I could walk through your Globe building with my hands in my pockets and tell where water beneath it, if any, was. My thumbs would tell me.

"His thumbs also would get a message at the race track, Harrold, 54, stated.

"If, as the horses came out of the paddock, I stood with hands tucked into the top of my trousers, thumbs exposed.

"I couldn't tell you which horse would finish first. But I could tell you which one was in the best physical condition to win."

Marycliff Minstrels

Marycliff Minstrels, better known as the "High Street Strutters," will make their debut Friday, December 2, at 7:45 p.m. at Marycliff Academy Auditorium. Local talent and semi-professional acts will be supplemented by the usual kickline and chorus.

Highlights of the entertainment include the frosh, as Happy Hobos; a bit of humor with Abbott and Costello; the sophs, as Hawaiian Hoop Dancers; the Septettes and Juniorettes, harmonizing groups; and special guest artists.

Old favorites as "Carolina In The Morning," "Harvest Moon," and "Pretty Baby" are among the 12 numbers sung by the chorus.

Father David Cummiskey, S.J., from Boston College, acts as production manager. Proceeds of the show will cover the school's donation to the coming Ecumenical Council.

Local cast includes: Paula De Pietro, Martha Collins, Nancy Collins, Jane Magee, Marilyn Romano, Susan Kennedy, Martha Brigham, Barbara Maiocco, Christine McBain, Mary Clair, and Kathryn Bubser of Winchester.

Home and Garden Club

A gay and festive spirit pervaded the Parish House of Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Wednesday, November 18. Beginning at 1:30 Mrs. Hazen Ayer and her committee served a very delicious and gala holiday dessert. In keeping with the Christmas theme Mrs. Joseph Vaccaro and Mrs. James Mason had decorated the table in gorgeous red snapdragons and Christmas greens.

Very beautiful corsages made by Mesdames Richard Frazier, Rolf Eliassen and George Lemay were featured. Pheasants, cones, and other materials for making Thanksgiving table decorations were on sale.

Mrs. Frederick Cole presided over the business meeting, announcing two very unusual awards that had been made to the club. The first was an award made at the V. A. Hospital at Bedford, given to the club in recognition of its unusual voluntary service given to the hospital. This includes floral arrangements, holiday gifts and decorations under the supervision of Mrs. John B. Wills and Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge. It also included horticultural therapy which is regularly conducted by Mesdames Harold Twombly, chairman, Edward Mansfield and Frank Robinson.

The second award had come to the club through the work of Mrs. Alexander P. Aitken whose landscape design submitted to the Sears Roebuck shopping center contest had won third prize. This was especially notable since professionals had been allowed to enter the contest.

The business meeting concentrated on the approaching Christmas Workshop and Greens Sale to be held on December 7 at the First Baptist Church, opening at 10:00 and closing at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Granville Gilpatrick's hard-working committee have prepared a very unusual and lavish assortment of Christmas arrangements, wreaths, swags, garlands, corsages, containers, bird feeders, and all kinds of delicious homemade foods. All through the brisk autumnal days Mrs. Gilpatrick's lovely home has been filled with women hard at work to present to their friends in Winchester the most unusual and artistic achievements ever made available for Christmas decorating.

Her committee follows:

Mrs. James Newman with the fine help of Mr. Newman will be heading up the Bird Comfort Table. Bird feeders, food, and small hand-painted birds will be available.

Mesdames Richard Frazier, George Lemay, and Rolf Eliassen have an unusual assorment of holiday corsages.

Mrs. John Chipman has charge of all kinds of materials, cones, ribbons, wire, frames and everything needed for do-it-yourself people.

Mrs. Linwood Fitzpatrick is chairman of new and used containers, posie boards, oasis blocks, and holders of various kinds.

The food table is under the supervision of Mrs. Edward Mansfield and Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge. Mrs. G. Y. Hills has the many beautiful Della Robia wreaths that have been so artistically created, Mrs. Theodore Atkinson has the kissing balls and Mrs. Bert Gove the green wreaths. Decoration for coffee tables, fireplace mantles and inside doors are also available.

Mesdames Richard Keppler and Percy Bugbee will serve a very lovely Christmas luncheon to all those fortunate enough the have made reservations prior to December 1. Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge is in charge of tickets.

Mrs. Helen S. Wilson of Nahant had chosen for her theme, "Christmas Arrangements." Her unusual ability to create beautiful decorations out of inexpensive materials and her ingenious use of what most people discard made her talk a very helpful beginning to the holiday season for the average household. Her strong emphasis upon variation of size, color, texture sent everyone home with practical helps in planning the season's decorations. It was a great day for creating a holiday mood.

Mail Early For Christmas

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun said today, "It's later than you think! Let's not wait until mid-December to get our Christmas cards and gifts in the mails. By taking action now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time."

The Postmaster asks your special cooperation in being sure that your return address and the recipient's address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and send your Christmas cards by First Class mail so that you can include handwritten messages, making your Christmas greetings more personal. Also, you'll be certain that they'll be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary. Mail your Christmas cards in two bundles, using free labels that you can get at the Post Office, which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY."

The Postmaster asks the cooperation of all business firms to delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after December 25th, to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

Beginning December 12, service windows at the Post Office will be open 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. You can avoid standing in line to mail your packages and to buy stamps by going to the Post Office before 10:00 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Mail your Christmas cards and gifts for out-of-town destinations by December 10th. Those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Library Film Program

Members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra accompany Phyllis Curtin as she sings ancient provincial songs of the French countryside in one of the films being offered at the Public Library this week end. "Songs of the Auvergne" combines music with pictures of French village life to provide artistic entertainment for the eye and ear.

Children and adults will be fascinated when "Michael Discovers the Magnet." A young boy puts on a magic show for his friends and illustrates magnetic properties.

Real animals play all the parts in a charming adaptation of one of Aesop's fables, "The Fox and the Rooster." In this picture, clever narration, superb musical score, and unique pictorial content combine to create a memorable experience.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday which is Family Night and at 10:15 a.m. Saturday morning for children of school age who have tickets from the Boys' and Girls' Room.

Woburn Daily Times

Little Michele Maietta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maietta and granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Angelo Maietta, gets a warm greeting from Governor-elect Volpe and his first lady at their recent "Welcome Home" on the common.

Senior Forum

Mr. Robert M. Mulford, executive secretary of the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, will speak at the Senior Forum chapel service at the First Congregational Church.

When Mr. Mulford accepted Forum's invitation to speak neither he nor Forum knew that at the appointed time he would also be organist for the Forum chapel services. He has recently accepted this responsibility to take the place of Mrs. Nelson Bell who soon will be leaving Winchester. However, Mr. Mulford is undaunted by multiple responsibilities and will serve Sunday both as organist and as speaker.

Mr. Mulford is a long-time friend of Forum, having two young people of his own family who are now Forum alumni. He has been very active in the life of First Church, serving as a deacon and as chairman of the Music Committee, as well as a Forum adviser.

Mr. Mulford's work takes him all over Massachusetts in connection with children's and young people's needs. He has a ready grasp of the problems which face young people in society today. Last winter he attended the White House Conference on Children and Youth.

His hobby is playing tennis in summer and the organ year-round. It is out of this musical interest that he has accepted the post as Forum organist. His subject for the talk on Sunday will be "Practical Christianity."

The service will be conducted by Marilyn Beckley, chaplain and Jane McKenney, assistant chaplain. Barbara Lewis and Karen Gulaker will be deacons and Sally Clark and Judy Morison ushers.

The annual Christmas tree sale will be headed this year by a committee composed of Mike Brink, Frank Curtis, Rich Starkweather, and Rich Penner. Proceeds will benefit the Spring Conference Fund.

Woburn Wins Thanksgiving Day Classic From Winchester, 24-14

HOLD THAT TIGER. One Woburn rush that didn't go. Winchester tackler downs own player with Woburn ball carrier as Bob Benineasa (84) and Kit Lawrence (80) close in.

Orange Peels

It would have been hard to get a better day for the big game, plenty of bright sunshine, little or no wind and not too cold for the spectators; that is, for those who happened to be in the sun!

The field was not too good in the worn places anytime and pretty slippery when the sun got overhead. The footing didn't seem to bother the Woburn backs, especcially Eaton and Schenck, who ran fast and hard all morning.

Forutnately both of Bellino's long touchdown jaunts were along the sidelines, where the turf was reasonably good.

Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo, former Winchester grid stars waiting to play with the Naval Academy team against Army Saturday, sent the Winchester team a pregame telegram saying "Beat the heck out of Woburn and we will beat the heck out of Army. This will be the last game for many of you. Make it your best. Good luck. (signed) Frank Dattilo and Joe Bellino."

A surprise visitor at the game was Ray "V for Victory" Hayward, former faculty manager of athletics and a teacher of English for many years at Winchester High. Ray, now retired, and his wife, Dorothy, make their home at Chebeague Island, Maine. They were accompanied at the game by their daughter, Janet, and her family.

We saw Andy Lentine, former Winchester High football captain and Boston College lineman, at the game. Many, who remembered his sterling play in high school, wish there were more like him coming along. After college Andy coached at Bates and Springfield with Wendell Mansfield, his coach at Winchester High.

The head and shoulders you saw high above the crowd between the two Winchester stands belonged to Winchester's mayor, H. Gardner Bradlee, who was bothered not at all by people standing in front of him.

We got a glimpse of "Big Jim" Fitzgerald, former Winchester High tackle on the unbeaten team of 1922 and All-Eastern tackle at Tufts. "Harpy" doesn't see many Winchester games in a season, but never misses a Woburn game.

Both school bands played and marched well and it was a nice gesture on the part of the Woburn band, upon entering the field, to face the Winchester stands and play "On Winchester."

The Winchester between-halves stunt consisted of the band forming a church and the Tumblettes going into the church to the playing of the familiar Thanksgiving Hymn "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come." Edson Kimball directed the Woburn musicians and Wendell Withington, the Winchester tooters.

We saw "Moe" Russo, hero of Winchester's 14-13 victory over Woburn a few years back. "Moe" looks like running fullback sweeps would be a bit harder for him now than in his undergraduate days.

The policing of the huge crowd was very good, with Chief Tom Maguire in personal charge. Especially the area around the players' bench was kept clear so that Coach Knowlton was able to find replacement players when he wanted them!

Rev. James Garrity, a great football fan while at St. Charles Church in Woburn, was on hand for the game. He never misses and is a great favorite with Woburn fans and all the Winchester fans who know him. Father Garrity was a lot happier after this year's game than he was for the two preceding years.

There were few seats (none in the sun) by 9:30, and before 10 o'clock all the stands were jampacked. The police estimated upwards of 12,000 at the game, and they probably were not far wrong. The stands held 5,500 and there were a lot more than that standing around the field, inside and outside the fence.

The big crowd was orderly and good natured; partisan, of course, but fair enough. The game itself was clean and did not at all reflect the feeling over the pre-game paint-smearing incidents in both towns. At the final whistle the players gathered together in the center of the field to extend mutual congratulations and "threats" for next year.

Trophy winners for Woburn were Co-Capt. Jim Morrison, best lineman, and Don Eaton, best back; for Winchester, Capt. John Reardon, best lineman, and George Neville, best back.

In reply to many questions, the Star wishes to state that our sports writer does not make any Winchester selections, nor do the Winchester coaches. This is in no sense a reflection on the choices.

Eaton Woburn Star. Bellino Scores Twice Huge Crowd Sees Ancient Rivals Clash

A hustling, scrappy Woburn High School football team carried too many guns for Winchester in the big Turkey Day classic between the two schools at James J. Connolly Memorial Stadium in Woburn, turning back the often erring Sachems by 10 points, 24-14.

The size of the score does not at all tell the story of the game. The battling and alert Tanners almost completely dominated play, and yet it was anyone's ball game as late as the middle of the final quarter when the score was 18-14 in Woburn's favor. A 51-yard touchdown sprint by Don Eaton at that point put the game beyond the Sachem's reach.

Eaton was Woburn's star, scoring three touchdowns, the one just mentioned, another on a pass from Eddie Foley in the end zone in the early minutes of the game and the third on a slant from five yards out toward the end of the third quarter. Mel Schenck made the other Tanner touchdown on a 30 yard gallop at the very beginning of the game.

"Mikey" Bellino made both of Winchester's touchdowns, the first on a 76 yard pass play with George Neville throwing. The second came on a bit of lateral hipper-dipper with Neville in the opening minutes of the final quarter covering 78 yards over all.

Though Eaton got the glory a lot of the credit for springing him into the clear belongs to the Woburn line, whose primary blocking on his carries was particularly effective. Eaton, who runs with a halfback's speed and a fullback's power, is hard to bring down once past the scrimmage line.

A huge crowd, estimated by the Woburn Police as reaching 12,000 jammed every inch of available space around the gridiron. At 9:30 there were virtually no seats left, and the hills around the field were black with people long before the opening kickoff.

Statistics

Woburn had a much bigger edge than the score would indicate. The Tanners made 14 first downs to three for Winchester; rushing for 298 yards to 123 for the Sachems.

The Tanners threw 23 passes, completed eight for 105 yards and had two intercepted. Winchester completed three of 16 passes for 106 yards and had four intercepted The Sachems drew but one penalty which was refused by Woburn. Woburn last three 15 yarders to the officials, two for clipping and one for holding. Winchester fumbled four times recovering twice. Woburn fumbled twice, recovering once.

Foley did some very effective pasing early in the game, completing seven of his first ten aerials. He completed two of his last 13 for for a net gain of one yard, one of his passes being completed for a four yard loss. Neville completed only two gaining passes, his other completion was for no gain.

Woburn Scores Quickly

Woburn struck quickly. The Tanners couldn't go after receiving the kickoff and Foley kicked to Bellino who was downed at the Winchester 35.

Immediately Neville faded and tossed off a long pass intended for Bellino. Co-Captain Don Eaton intercepted for Woburn and ran the ball back to the Winchester 43.

Schenck was piled up for a yard loss, but a forward lateral from Foley to Burnham to Schenck reached the Winchester 30 and first down. On the next play Foley faked a pitch-out to Eaton and handed off to Schenck on a counter. It looked like a Winchester lineman had a clean shot at him but failed to hold him, and the speedy "Mel" broke through to cut for the sidelines and flee 30 yards into the end zone as the Woburn stands howled their glee. Foley's attempted pass for the two extra points fell incomplete.

Winchester failed to mount an offense after receiving Barrett's kick-off, which Carter fumbled outside at the Winchester 36.

Rowe broke through for five and Neville added three. On third and two Bellino was short of first down and kicked to Eaton who was brought down with a pretty tackle by Neville.

Woburn was called for clipping on the play and the ball went back to the Woburn 22. Eaton picked up seven and then made real yardage, only to have the play called back for holding.

The ball went back to the 15. Foley on a keeper reached the 22, but on the next play Foley was snowed under back at the 15 and Barrett kicked.

Fumble Leads to Score

Carter took the ball and handed off to Bellino who was swarmed under at the Woburn 48. On the next play Rowe broke through the line for a first down, but had the ball knocked from his grasp and recovered by Woburn at the Orange 36.

Morison broke through to drop Burnham on the 31, but a screen pass from Foley to Eaton went all the way, only to be called back when the official ruled he had stepped outside at the 25.

Schenck hit the line for three and Eaton added six, but Foley on what looked like a pass play, was piled up back at the 22 and it was fourth down and seven. It was obviously a pass play coming up and such it turned out to be with Foley lobbing a pretty pass to Eaton for the score. A Winchester defender was in position to knock down the pass, but failed to do so and Woburn had a 12-0 bulge. Most of those in the crowd on both sides of the field figured at that point the size of the score was all that was left in question.

Another Foley pass for the extra points was knocked down and Woburn kicked to Marchant who got back to the Winchester 30.

Winchester Misses Score

The teams changed goals for the second quarter and Winchester came to life. Carter broke through for six, Neville added two and Bellino made Winchester's initial first down of the game at the 43.

Bellino bucked for two and then Neville arched a long pass down field which Rowe gathered in at the Woburn 19. "Dicky" had to wait for the ball and turn to grab it, being dropped after only a short carry. A lead pass and the speedy sophomore would have been long gone!

Bellino on a sweep left drove to the six and the Winchester stands were yelling for a score. Rowe broke through to the four, but Bellino was racked up for a three-yard loss, and on an attempted sweep right, Mikey slipped and lost three more, the ball going back to the ten.

Here Neville bootlegged the ball nicely as Bellino drew the defense to the right and rifled a pass into the left end zone where Kit Lawrence was running all alone. The pass was, however, overthrown, Lawrence was unable to get to it, and the six points Winchester could have had went by the board. They could have changed the whole complexion of the game.

This was one of the turning points of the game, for a Winchester touchdown at this time would have made the score 12 to 6 or 7, according to the conversion and put the Sachems right in the ball game.

Fumble Stops Woburn

Taking the ball at the 10 Woburn drove and passed its way to the Winchester 14 and first down.

Here a first pass was knocked down and a second overthrown. A third pass was completed to Eaton but the Woburn back fumbled when he was hit and Morison recovered for Winchester at the Sachem 13.

Three passes fell incomplete and Bellino kicked to the Winchester 40. Three straight Foley passes were knocked down by Winchester and Foley kicked to Bellino at the Winchester 15 as the half ended.

Winchester Scores

Local fans had a chance to whoop it up with the resumption of play. Bellino after having a hard time picking up the ball at the kickoff ran out to the Winchester 23. Bellino picked up two to the 25, but a counter was piled up for no gain.

Here Neville again bootlegged the ball nicely and tossed off a pass to Bellino in the left flat. "Mikey" took the ball between his 35 and 40, and dodging and faking his way past two defenders, straightened out and fled along the near sideline, easily distancing the Woburn deep field defenders. A corking block at the Woburn 40 by an unidentified Winchester boy didn't do Bellino any harm, but by and large it was great individual effort.

Bellino rolled out to pass for the extra points, but had trouble grasping the ball which squirted from his hand to kill the points-after try.

Woburn Again

Bellino's kickoff was returned to the Woburn 38, and from here the Orange, showing an impressive ground attack, went all the way.

After Burnham picked up 12, Eaton in four tries reached the Winchester 30, Schenck contributing four yards and a 1st down at the 36.

Here a draw play lost two, but Foley on the option made first down at the Winchester 26. A quickie pass fell incomplete, but Schenck countered for eight and Eaton made first down at the 15.

Eaton scored from there in two plays, his first drive reaching the five and his second, a slant off tackle, going over. Schenck failed to get over for the extra two points.

Brink Intercepts Pass

Morrison intercepted a Winchester pass after the kickoff, but three plays later Mike Brink, a demon in the Winchester line all morning, intercepted a short one over the line and was downed on the Winchester 35.

Three plays later a smashing tackle jarred the ball from Carter's hands and Woburn recovered at the Winchester 29. Winchester braced at this point and took over at its 22.

Lateral Pass Scores

Here Neville on a keeper was forced back nearly to his five yard line, but kept his feet, and dodging and pulling away from tackler after tackler advanced to his own 40 on a nice bit of individual running.

At the 40 George lateraled off to the left to Bellino and once again "Mikey" went all the way, 60 long yards into the end zone as the Winchester fans yelled themselves hoarse.

Once again Neville called on Bellino and Mikey slanted over off tackle for the two extra points and an 18-14 count with perhaps six minutes remaining. Six were enough.

Bellino kicked short to Pereira who got back to his 47, Schenck got only two yards on a sweep, but on the next play the Woburn line opened a big hole through which Eaton streaked into the clear.

Another for Eaton

He was by Bellino in a flash and though "Mikey" recovered and gave chase the speeding Woburn boy had position on him and gradually pulled away. They tried to send Eaton up the middle for the two extra points but the Winchester line piled him up short of the line.

From here in both coaches used second string lineups, though Coach White paid Winchester the compliment of returning his first team to action when Neville intercepted a pass and got back to his 20 with the ball.

A pass to Bellino fell incomplete and on the next play, a Bellino pass from a rollout was intercepted by Doherty who got back to the Winchester 25 just before the final whistle sounded.

Eaton was outstanding for Woburn with the entire Orange middle line showing to advantage. For Winchester Mike Brink was outstanding in the Winchester line and Bellino, with all 14 points in a losing cause to his credit, was perhaps as good a back as there was on the field. Give him a line like Woburn's to run behind and he'd put on a show. The summary:

Our New Teachers

Mrs. Norman Smith, first grade teacher at the Parkhurst School, is not really new to the Winchester school system at all, she having taught here ten years at the Wyman School before going to Lexington. In Lexington she taught first grade for two years, returning to Winchester this fall.

MRS. NORMAN SMITH

A native of Maine, Mrs. Smith now lives in Lexington. She graduated from E.M.C.S. preparatory school in Bucksport, Me., and has both the B.S. and Master's degree in Education from Boston University where she was elected to Pi Lambda Theta, national scholastic fraternity.

Her hobbies are writing and public speaking, and one of her short stories won an award in the short story series run in the former Boston Post. She also has an award for excellence in public speaking.

Winchester Sextet Opens with 1-0 Win Over Lewiston

The 1960 edition of the Winchester High hockey team made a successful debut last Saturday night with a 1-0 upset victory over Lewiston High of Maine at the Lynn Sports Center. The feature match of the six game card saw the Sachems outhustle the State of Maine Champions and runner-up for the New England title last year.

The winning tally came in the second period on a spectacular face-off slap from the stick of Bill Callahan. Lewiston had just lost a player through a penalty and a face-off was called to the right of the Lewiston goal. Callahan's quick swipe at the dropped puck found the far corner of the net at 3:31 of the second period.

For an opening game the pace was very fast. Bob Tierney picked up where he left off last year with an outstanding performance in the Winchester goal. He made two very fine skate saves on the hard shooting Mainers.

Hockey enthusiasm at the high school continues to increase. Last week when candidates were called out, sixty boys reported to Coach Frank Finigan. This week will find additional candidates from the football team skating for the first time. Only two lettermen have returned from last year's Middlesex League champions. Captain Bill Callahan has been converted from right wing to center. Bob Tierney in the goal should further improve on last year's very competent performance with more experience under his belt. From this group Coach Finigan will choose the club that will open the Middlesex League season on Tuesday, December 6, with the strong Melrose sextet at the Boston Garden.

The summary:

Winchester	Lewiston
G. Bob Tierney	Labrack
R.D. Steve Wilson	Caron

Another Big Day for Joe

Bellino and Dattilo Help Navy Sink Army in Final Game Against Cadets

Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo, regular left halfback and left end on the Naval Academy football team for the past three years made their final game against Army last Saturday in Philadelphia a winning one as the Middies sank the Cadets, 17-12, in a real squeaker.

Some 300 fans from Winchester made the trip to Philadelphia, including two bus loads who left from the Christopher Columbus Club at 9 o'clock last Friday morning. Emblazoned on the side of the buses were the words, "Go Navy. Winchester, Mass., Philadelphia-Bound, Joe and Frank, Our Boys!" The signs got the local contingent cheers all along the route to Philadelphia and when paraded around the field got enthusiastic applause from the Middies and brandished fists from the Cadets.

Joe the Jet Bellino. Scored first touchdown against Army. Saved game with pass interception.

The game started in like a Navy route, but as he has done so often before, Bellino pulled the Middies out of a deep hole early in the game and soon after started Navy to victory.

The Army line was really piling up the Navy forwards during the early minutes of the first quarter and Army had kicked outside at the Navy one. Most of those watching the game, live or on TV, figured it would be some time before the Middies could get out of such a hole. How wrong they were!

Calling on his ace when the chips were down, Spooner, Navy quarterback, handed off to Bellino. Like lightning Joe was through a hole in the Army line and from that slight advantage, he gave a great illustration of why he is everyone's All American. Dodging, sidestepping, faking and using every wile of a top runner's art, Bellino worked his way to the sidelines and fled 58 yards into Army territory to put the Navy back in business. He was caught from behind for the first time in his career only because his dodging technique permitted a Cadet to get position on him.

Running with the second Navy unit toward the end of the first quarter Bellino drove over from four yards out for the game's first touchdown. It was supposed to be a slant play, but seeing the inside plugged, Joe simply skipped out side and cut back, driving into two cadets at the goal line so fiercely he carried them into the end zone with him.

That was Bellino's only score, but he might have had another later in the game if an official hadn't prevented his catching a long Spooner pass at the very lip of the cadets goal.

With a 17-0 lead at the half everyone was figuring Navy comfortably in victory port, but the Army came out with other ideas. Grinding out touchdowns in both the third and fourth quarters, the Cadets narrowed the gap to 17-12 and really looked good to win over the tired Navy boys.

The final 10 minutes of the game were anxious ones for Navy, especially when with plenty of time remaining Army recovered a Navy fumble on the Navy 17 yard line. It was Bellino who fumbled, and this miscue actually added to his stature as a sportsman, for he refused to blame the handoff which most viewers felt was not in the basket.

Fortunately Army tried a lateral on third down, from the Navy six, the ball was knocked loose and finally recovered by Army outside at the 19. A pass play failed on fourth down and Navy took over.

The Middies had to kick and Army with about a minute remaining ran a screen pass up close enough to bring back the jitters to all who knew the Army quarterback, Blanda's reputation as a passer. One long one would do it.

The long one came, but "Darlin Joe" got between the receiver and the ball, grabbing the leather at the very goal line and running it out 55 yards to ensure the Navy victory.

After the game it was one long glory road for Joe. He was carried from the field by enthusiastic friends from the Plains, assisted by Hilarious Middies. "Moose" Bellino had one of the famous Bellino legs, but the other local enthusiasts could not be identified. Every one privileged to see it thrilled to Joe's appearance with his arm around his mother in a post-game interview, his famous smile being at its best.

During the game TV closeups were shown of Joe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michele Bellino and their son, Tony, surrounded by the Plains rooters. Waving frantically in front was Tony Lonigro, and peeping over the Bellinos' shoulders were Selectman and Mrs. Saltmarsh and Police Chief and Mrs. Derro.

It was literally hours before Joe could change from his football to his Navy uniform and leave the field dressing rooms, so huge a delegation of newspapermen surrounded him. He finally got out and with his girl friend, Ann Tansey, was driven by Bob Johnson, Joe's personal taxi man, out to relatives of his mother outside the city, passing up the team supper to meet with his family from far and near.

Tearing himself from the mobbing he got from his youthful relatives, Joe returned down town and visited his brother Sam in the Ben Franklin Hotel where the Army was staying. He was immediately spotted by a Cadet football player as he went through the lobby and was given an enthusiastic welcome from the other Cadets present.

Everywhere Joe went he was besieged by well wishers, seeking autographs for their ticket stubs or just wanting a look at a great football player. Wives of Navy brass kissed him, their husbands slapped his muscular back. He was very patient with every one, acknowledging greetings alike from strangers and friends, talking to children and even going out of his way to greet a little old lady who had waited patiently for an hour to see him and wish him well. He also found time to visit and greet a little polio victim who was all starry eyed as he talked to her and gave her his autograph.

Joe and Ann finally got to go to the Army-Navy Ball about 10 o'clock and closed out the day by making a personal visit to the Naval Academy Commandant's room at the hotel for more enthusiastic congratulations from the Navy Brass assembled there.

The next day saw Joe and Ann being driven to New York for his appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show as a member of the Coaches All America, the team that stems from the old number one teams of the late Walter Camp.

Most of the motorists passed en route recognized Joe and waved or shouted greetings, to which Bellino invariably replied.

All in all it was a great day for Joe and Frank and Winchester. There was one sour note. Throughout the game announcer Curt Gowdy referred to Dattilo as "Dattil-y-o." Seems as if someone should have straightened him out on that, and we personally weren't happy over interrupting the Navy Alma Mater to give us a comedian's advice on Christmas shopping.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

Here we go into the second third of our bowling season.

As a start we see a few of the lower teams starting to make a better showing.

The Sapphires won three points from the Topazes to help themselves to first place. They ended in fourth place in the first third, which may prove there will be some changes in the future listings on team standings.

The Opals are still going strong. They ended up in second place in the first third and are right in there pitching to maintain the same position.

It is unfortunate for her team that Gerry couldn't make it to bowling last week, for it might have made a difference. Nevertheless, the "lowly" Emeralds (ninth place in first third) upset the first-place Diamonds by three to one. I understand the Emeralds gave their opponents a rough time.

Seems our energetic chairman has put in her "two cents worth." Ginger, you bowled a lovely score of 114. Knowing the way Ginger bowls, I'd say she can top that score in the weeks to come; but believe me, it is a high enough single score to be envied by many. Nice going, Ginger.

To bowl 100 or better is ordinarily the standard set by many of the higher bowlers, whereas for the lower bowler if an 80 can be reached it is quite an accomplishment. A low bowler coming through with an 80 can be quite a booster shot to her team.

Such was the case with two girls, one, Kay Pizzo, who hit 87; and the other, amiable Evie Giacalone, who bowled her first 80. (Maybe Evie's score was the booster shot the Emeralds needed?)

Marie Santoro's average has climbed considerably. It shouldn't be long before her name is on the top-ten list.

Included on that list we should be seeing a few more, namely, Phil Corby and Grace Del Solio. You are both good bowlers; try to find your way up higher on that list.

I guess it is inevitable that a Fiore should have a lucky number sooner or later. This time it was Gert Fiore.

Cub Scouts Visit Nike Site

Members of Dens 4, 5, and 6 of Pack 503 enjoyed a memorable experience on Friday, November 25, 1960 when they were guests at "C" Battery, Fifth Artillery, Burlington Nike Site, in Burlington. The Cubs owe a debt of gratitude to Capt. John W. Turner, Commanding Officer, who arranged the visit, and to Ward Officer William Morris, who conducted a guided tour for the boys.

The tour included observation of the launching area which is located off Route 3, and the control area located off Winn Street. Ward Officer Morris explained the operation of both areas. The Cubs were thrilled to see a Nike Ajax Missile brought up on topside and elevated to a launching position.

Members who attended under the supervision of Den Mothers Mrs. Claude E. Shannon, Mrs. Malcolm B. Lesley, and Mrs. Kurt Kruger were:

Den 4: Linwood Bender, William Byford, Henry Magno, Stephen McConnell, Peter Mason, Michael O'Brien, Robert Shannon.

Den 5: Richard E. Bennick, James R. Caudill, Carleton Croft, John Harrington, Richard Hillger, Peter Richardson, Edwin Van Valey, William Worcester.

Den 6: Tom Ulfelder, Peter McClennan, Norman Krueger, John Harvey, William Fowle.

Mr. Claude E. Shannon, Mr. Charles L. Corderman, Assistants to Mr. Sidney L. Crook, Master of Achievement.

Miss Paula Potter Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Collins, 3 Harrington Road, was elected a dormitory president at Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, N. J. All-Winchester Field Hockey Team Played Old Timers

At the North East Field Hockey Tournament, held the week end of November 19 in Albany, N. Y., an unprecedented event took place which aroused great interest and speculation among the powers of the North East Women's Field Hockey Association. This event was an impromptu exhibition game between some of the old timers and an all-Winchester team of 11 top-notch players. No other town has been able to do this.

The question from everywhere "What is the inspiration for such enthusiastic interest in Club Hockey after high school?" The answer was "Enthusiastic and popular high school coaches, themselves active in Club Hockey and also to the interest and co-operation of our local paper, the Winchester Star, reminding people not only of the sports interest involved but the important role it plays in friendly international relationships."

In Winchester we have Millie Barnes and Ellie Keady, both excellent coaches and superior players in their own right.

An hilarious game, with many rules broken and new ones invented to allow Old Timers to maintain a sort of equilibrium with the youthful and strong Winchester team, lent a moment of relaxation to the tense and hard played sectional games. The players were as follows:

Alison Hersey—Boston I
Eleanor Keady (C)—Boston I
Marilyn Chase—Boston I
Janice Collins—Boston I
Betsy Snell—Boston II
Peg McNally—Boston II
Sandy Lawson—Boston III
Agnes Bixler—Hampshire I
Stephanie Hersey — Hampshire III
Betty Bixler—Winchester High School
Agnes Bixler, Sr.—Former U. S. Touring Team

When on Sunday afternoon the North East Team was finally selected, three Winchester names appeared on the forward line, Alison Hersey, lw; Eleanor Keady, li; and Marilyn Chase, cf.

On North East Reserve was Agnes Bixler as li, while Jan Collins made ch on North East III. N.E.W. Peg McNally. Truly a wonderful record for Winchester.

The last competitive event for the season is the National Tournament to be held this year in San Francisco during Christmas vacation. Fifty-four people from the North East area have already signed up to go, a surprising number considering the distance and time.

Another interesting feature of the North East Tournament in Albany was the first appearance of two guest teams from Ontario, Canada and thus creating an International atmosphere. These teams, composed mainly of British newcomers to Canada were interested in building up Club Hockey in Canada as it is organized in the U.S.A. with eventually a Canadian team to compete with a U. S. team and thus contribute toward a closer relationship between the two countries.

MIKE BELLINO

Captain-elect of Winchester High School Football Team

"Mike" Bellino, star fullback on this year's Winchester High School football team was elected to captain the 1961 eleven at the meeting of the letter players Monday morning.

"Mike", younger brother of "Joe" Bellino, Navy All American, has completed two years as a regular in the Sachems' backfield, and this year has been the team's most consistent ground gainer and scorer, as well as doing the punting, playing on defense and passing on occasion.

This year Mikey with a so-so team has scored 14 touchdowns and five two-point conversions for a total of 94 points. He has been a marked man all year both as a ball carrier and pass receiver, yet only three of the eight teams played, Wakefield, Reading and Stoneham have prevented him from scoring.

Heads Gridders At Belmont Hill

A Winchester boy, Eric Bradlee, son of Selectman and Mrs. H. Gardner Bradlee of Lorena Road, has been elected captain of the football team at Belmont Hill School for the 1961 season.

Bradlee has played two years as a regular guard on the eleven, this year playing most of the other line positions as emergencies arose. He is 5ft. 10in. tall, weighs 165 pounds and entered Belmont Hill as a sophomore after playing freshman football at Winchester High School.

Stephen C. Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Brock of 89 Main Street has been pledged by the Alpha Chi Chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity at Lake Forest College in Lake Forest, Ill. A recent graduate of the Winchester High School, he is now a freshman at Lake Forest.

Noonan Pupils' Thanksgiving Program

On Tuesday, November 22, the pupils of the Noonan School presented their Thanksgiving Day program. The mistress of ceremonies was Ruth Thompson.

The opening number was the singing of "The Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Miss McGowan's fifth graders. Original stories about the pilgrims were told by Elaine Shea, Sandra Fitch, Robert Drown, Jan McCarthy and Leslie Stokes.

Mrs. Butler's fourth graders had choral singing of "For Health and Strength" and "Come Ye Thankful People Come."

Helen Baghdoyan, Kenneth Crosby and Audrey Elliott from Miss Davis' third grade sang "Father Lead Me Day By Day."

A piano solo was played by Emily Kuo and followed by a poem "The Pilgrims Came" recited by Marjorie Crosby.

A short play, "The Pilgrims Give Thanks" was dramatized by Miss Edwards' fifth and sixth graders with Charles Lucier as the announcer.

The program concluded with the sixth grade students of Dr. Fagerland's room singing in three part music the "Hymn of Praise" and "America."

Dear friends,

The first Thanksgiving would have been impossible but for the generous sharing of food by the Indians. Now tha. our country is blessed with food in abundance, it behoove us to share with impoverished nations and, more important, to teach them production techniques that have made our country so abundant. Such practical Christianity is needed to evolve a world thankful for Christ and for freedom.

Sincerely,

Fenton H. Norris

Thanksgiving Day Service Held By First Church

The daily importance of gratitude to God was emphasized at the special Thanksgiving Day service held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester.

Featured in the service were expressions of gratitude by members of the congregation for the blessings which God's goodness had brought into their lives.

These voluntary testimonies included mention of healing of physical disorders of various types through the application of scientific prayer.

"Thanksgiving" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for the day, which was composed of selections from the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Here Tomorrow! Noah's Ark

The Children's Theatre is at it again and though chaos is hearty at rehearsals, the exciting drums of Jimmie Von Rosenvinge; the flashes of lightning and color of the lights in the storm sequel, on the really handsome painting of the scenery by the children; the lovely songs of Mrs. Flint's Musical, (which many children in the audience already know), and sung by the 41 children from ages 4 to 14; not to mention Noah and his family, many of whom are "pros" and "semi-pros" by inheritance; all make this an experience well worth your time and the ticket price.

The Community Associates are presenting the Friday performance at 3:30 p.m. when John Worcester will play Noah, and Betsy Callaham will play Mama Noah.

The Saturday performance will be at 2:00 p.m. and Edward Marcy plays Noah and Sue Bassett plays Mama Noah. Many of the children play two or three roles, as children of the Adams birthday party, animals, waves, or scoffers deriding Noah. Do not miss this thrill-packed 40 days on the Ark.

Get your tickets at Hevey's or McCormack's Drug Stores, or at the door of the Winchester High School Auditorium on December 2 or 3. The mothers should pick the children up about 5 o'clock on Friday.

Have you played Chessers? It's a game, and you can get it, and other new games at the Winchester Star.

The Fortnightly Federated Club

Monday, November 28 was a busy and enjoyable day when The Fortnightly held an all-day meeting at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. It began with a lively auction of very desirable articles contributed by members and auctioned by Mrs. Carlyle D. Fiske and Mrs. Harold H. Given, and which netted a fine sum for the Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Kingman P. Cass and Mrs. George H. French, aided by an efficient committee, served a delicious and popular snack bar at noontime.

At 2 p.m. Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch, the president, called the members and guests together for the regular meeting, which began with an invocation by Mrs. Paul Atwood.

Mrs. Charlotte Dodge of "Welcome Wagon", sponsored by the merchants and churches, brought her basket to show the articles that she took to the many new families moving to Winchester each month, mostly from other states..

Mrs. Gerald Mosher announced an International tea on December 15 at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul Atwood. Speaker probably from Luxemburg.

The Literature meeting will be held in the Rich Room, Library, on Wednesday, December 7 at 2 p.m. The speaker will be Mrs. Blanche Barnard, who will present "Mary Ellen Chase and her works". All members are invited.

Mrs. Clifton Templeton, 8th District Director, was the guest of honor, who announced that her Reading Club was holding an 8th District Conference, called "Information, please" on February 10th.

Mrs. Given introduced the speaker, Dr. James R. Uhlinger of Worcester, who gave a most interesting illustrated lecture on "Russia As I Saw It", which had touches of humor during their closely guarded tour of Leningrad and Moscow. Their small group were guests at the largest hotel in Europe at Leningrad, across from a beautiful garden park, where women did most of the outdoor work, including cutting the grass with sickles!

He had pictures of churches closed by communists, but showed a small Catholic chapel in the American Embassy for their use with Father Dionne of Worcester as priest. He showed pictures of the Baptist Union (inside and out), which is packed every Sunday three times a day, and of the Russian Orthodox churches, as well as a "Shrine against all Religion" for its minority Communists. He showed a picture of a golden set of church utensils, and a diamond-studded book behind an iron grilling.

He visited the Fair (1959), and was amazed at the long lines of Russians waiting their turn to see the American exhibits, and who were especially interested in household appliances, as T.V. sets are the only electrical things allowed by the government. The city people have to live in government-owned, ill-constructed apartment houses, while those in the country live in small log-cabins with no conveniences.

He said there were youth groups called "Pioneers", something like Scouts. He went into the subway, which is a memorial, with large pictures of Lenin and Stalin at the ends.

He had a chance to visit Moscow and its huge, up-to-date University, when in that city. He found the people friendly and courteous, and said that about 80% of the population were not communists. However, there was always the feeling of being spied upon by the numerous police.

Recent Births

Lt. and Mrs. Donald R. Rizzo (Polly Kroell) at Fairbanks, Alaska, announce the birth of a daughter and second child, Kathy Joan, October 4th. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Kroell and Mrs. Antonio Rizzo. Great-grandparents living in Winchester are Mr. Oscar R. Kroell and Mrs. John H. Totman.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan T. Ruggles (Audrey Smith) announce the birth of their son, Peter Ralph, November 25, 1960 at the Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mrs. Ralph S. Smith of Winchester and Mr. Clifford L. Ruggles of Waltham.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gustin of 9 Warren Street announce the birth of their fifth child, third daughter, Susan, on November 25 at the Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Commander and Mrs. Elmer B. Robinson of Amherst, New Hampshire and Mr. Lester C. Gustin Sr., of Winchester.

Friends Of Winchester Band And Orchestra

The Friends of the Winchester Band and Orchestra held its annual meeting Wednesday evening, November 16, in the Music Room of the High School. In spite of the added attraction of the Policemen's Entertainment in the auditorium, the meeting was well attended.

Annual reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Robert Williams, and the treasurer, Mr. Clarence Gay, indicating a successful year just completed, particularly in the matter of perfect weather for the football games this fall. Also noted was the willing participation of so many parents in staffing the new Chuck Wagon donated this year by the Rotary Club.

The nominating committee, represented by Mr. Gordon Bird, tendered the following list of officers, all of whom were duly voted into service: president, Mr. Byron Graves; vice president, Mr. Walter Josephson; secretary, Mrs. Clarence Gay; treasurer, Mr. John MacLellan; and chairman of Concession Stand, Mr. Robert Williams.

The main business of the meeting centered around discussion of the custom of awarding jackets and blazers to those seniors who had played with the band or orchestra for their four years in High School. Several suggestions were made for substituting a different type of award, but a final vote showed that those parents present favored giving the jackets and blazers as usual at least until the present senior, junior and sophomore classes have completed their requirements of four years' service.

Mr. Graves appointed a committee to study further the advisability of awarding a scholarship to some deserving student in future years. He appointed Mr. Robert Williams as chairman of the group, with Mr. Gordon Bird, Mrs. Alan Switzer, Mrs. Vincent Carroll and Mr. Walter Josephson to serve on the committee with him.

Mr. Wendell Withington spoke informally about the various ways in which the members of both musical groups had been honored in past years, and about the point system which is being tried this year. He also gave the following list of dates on which at least one unit of the band or orchestra would be involved in playing:

December 10—New England District

December 16 — Christmas Concert

February 11 — Lexington-Winchester orchestras at Lexington

April 7—Spring Concert

May 6—N. E. Music Festival at Bedford, En Ka Fair date and Memorial day, and High School Graduation.

During the social hour while cider and doughnuts were being enjoyed, Mrs. Williams presented Mr. Graves with a "small gift" in appreciation of his untiring efforts to keep the concession stand operating at peak efficiency. The gift proved to be a minute replica of a Chuck Wagon, complete with equipment and signs.

Wadleigh School Damaged Again

The Wadleigh School was damaged again last Thursday. Vandals smashed the back door of the old Town landmark and damaged the fire escape. Police also reported some damage in the interior of the building.

Thomas Drapeau, Superintendent of School Buildings reported the vandalism to police who will hereafter keep a closer watch on the property. Drapeau said this was the fourth or fifth time recently when the school was maliciously damaged.

"Noah's Ark" to Be Presented at The Children's Museum

The reputation of the Children's Theatre School is growing and they are honored to be invited to present their "Noah's Ark" production next week, Saturday, December 10, at 2:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Museum.

It will be another interesting experience for the young actors to play "out of town" as well as to visit the Museum and its fine educational exhibits.

To Entertain

Mrs. Frank McCullough will open her home on Thursday, December 8 to entertain the Lorena George Circle with a Christmas party. Assisting Mrs. McCullough will be Mrs. Arthur Barker. Dessert with coffee will be served at 1:00 p.m. Mrs. Stanley Kinsley will conduct the business portion of the meeting which will be followed by a Christmas program arranged and presented by Mrs. Frank Smith with Miss Persis Richardson assisting.

Remember When!

Last week's "Remember When" picture shows the old Prince School which stood for many years on Church Street on the lot on the easterly side of School Street extending from Church Street through to Dix Street. The homes of Mrs. Alice V. Murray and Dr. William D. Barone are located on the old Prince School lot with the school building standing nearer the Church Street side.

The Prince School was built some time after 1865. It was in that year that the town decided better accommodations must be had for the high and grammar schools. The lot at Church and School Streets was bought as a site for the high school. Previously high school classes had met in the upper rooms of the old Gifford grammar school then standing in the center.

The high school lot was at that time adjacent to the site of the old Lt. James Converse house, built soon after 1650.

For nearly 40 years the school at Church and School streets served as a high school for the town. Then after the opening of the new high school, now the junior high on the Parkway at Main and Washington Streets, the former high school became the Prince School. It was used for a sixth grade building, to which boys and girls from the town's elementary schools went for a year before going on to the Wadleigh school, still standing on Washington Street at Mt. Vernon Street, which then housed the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

The old Prince School was torn down during the school rebuilding program between 1922 and 1924. For a time, before they were moved to the building behind the Wyman School the building housed the offices of the Superintendent of Schools.

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club

The next meeting of St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club will take place in St. Mary's Hall, December 7, when a "Mock Trial" will be presented. You will have the opportunity of seeing actual procedure in a criminal case before a jury.

The cases which will be presented will be based on those actually tried in the Middlesex County Superior Court. The selection of a jury will be chosen from among the members. The judge will be an experienced lawyer.

We hope that as many members as possible will attend. This experience might be of great value to you later on. However, we hope no one actually has to use it but why not attend "court" and be prepared!

Refreshments will be served after the trial.

St. Mary's Sodality

Reception of new members will be held Tuesday, December 6th at 8:00 p.m. in the church. Reverend John Cantwell will be the guest speaker. Immediately following the services, a social will be held in the school hall.

Saturday, December 3rd is the regular Sodality Communion Mass at 9:00 a.m.

JR. RED CROSS STUDENTS at George Washington School making Thanksgiving favors for the Bedford V. A. Hospital.

Pupils Make Holidays Happier For Patients

Holidays mean more to some people than to others and to the patients at the Bedford V.A. Hospital every holiday is one of anticipation. The candy cups, the tray favors and posters which the school children in Winchester and other towns contribute throughout the year are an exciting feature of their day.

Anyone who has seen the originality and attractiveness of the work of our children can appreciate how much their contribution means to the veterans. Every candy cup and favor is cherished and kept by these men as a special memento of the holiday for which they were made.

The schools participating in the Bedford V. A. Hospital program and responsible for one holiday a year are:

Parkhurst School—Hallowe'en
Washington School—Thanksgiving
Wyman School—Christmas
Lincoln and West Side Schools—Valentine's Day
Noonan and St. Mary's Schools—St. Patrick's
Mystic School—Easter

Collector's postage stamps and albums now on sale at the Star office on all price levels. An excellent way to give youngsters a sense of geography and history and a constructive hobby.

The Junior and Senior high girls did the Mexican hat dance and the Hokey Pokey. This was considered to be a very successful and happy occasion which all of the Winchester girl scouts had an opportunity to attend.

Nine Boys Deny Obscenity Charge

Nine local boys were interrogated by police last Saturday shortly after 8:00 p.m. in connection with obscene writing in the wet cement wall at the Yagjian home at 66 Grove Street.

Denied entrance to the Yagjian home during a house party, a large gang of several youths allegedly demonstrated their pique by inscribing their sentiments in wet cement. Upon questioning by police, they denied doing this. They were apprehended by police on Grove Street near Fenwick Road.

Studio Guild Holds Fine Show

One of the best things about this show of amateur paintings in the Guild's studio, over Randall's, was the range and catholicity of the subjects.

In trying to evaluate the pictures from that standpoint, we came out with these figures: 13 abstracts, 5 genre, 21 landscapes, 9 buildings, 3 flowers, 7 portraits, 6 still lifes, and others unclassified in this exhibition of about 70 pictures.

Without question, the water colors were the best painted and the abstracts the most interesting, showing thought and care and a definite desire to communicate the artist's idea to his waiting audience.

Here and there we found a combination of these two traits, first rate craftsmanship and a definite idea, struggling for expression. The popular vote showed that Winchester people seized these pictures at once.

Ardys Cairncross's "Reflection Over Wedge Pond," winning the most watercolor votes, gives forth peace and serenity, embodied in lovely color and arrangement.

Edna Hedman's casein of "Night City" came second with many votes, a charming picture of city lights and excitement.

Among the oils, guests chose Charlesanna Detra's "Breath of Air," a very interesting picture of a court between brick walls with an indistinct woman resting against one of them; a picture of great imagination and charm, showing what a true artist can do, transforming brick walls and squalid surroundings into a thing of beauty.

Dorothy Howard came second with her beautiful and striking trees laden with snow, painted with a palette knife and a limited palette, thus creating brilliance and restrained color.

Mr. Maynard, the instructor, and the members of the Studio Guild, are to be congratulated for a fine, enjoyable show.

Auxiliary Police News

Thirteen Auxiliary Police Officers assisted the Winchester Police by covering the Town of Winchester during the Police Concert at the High School, Wednesday evening, November 16th. Routes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 were covered by patrolmen or cars between 6:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. A total of 61 man-hours were donated.

Chief Moffett directed his men and checked all route patrolmen by car. Lt. Donovan of the Medford Police, and Deputy Chief Wier and Lt. Puzzo of the Winchester Auxiliary, were at the Station and Winchester Center.

Woburn officers took over patrol cars in outlying districts of the Town. Officers of the State Police relieved all personnel from 12:30 a.m. to 7:00 a.m., the following morning.

Eight Auxiliary Police Officers worked Thanksgiving eve, covering the War Memorial, High School, Junior High School, and Manchester Field from 7:30 to 12:30. Chief Moffett again co-ordinated the activities of his men and checked all points by car.

Eight men also worked Thanksgiving night during the victory ball, covering the same posts. No vandalism or trouble was experienced during these patrols.

Chief M. G. Moffett of the Winchester Auxiliary Police has just submitted the following annual report to the Winchester Board of Selectmen.

"I respectfully submit my report of the duties performed by the Winchester Auxiliary Police Department for the year 1960.

The Auxiliary Police consists of twenty-seven men—Chief, Deputy Chief, 1 Captain, 2 Lieutenants, 4 Sergeants, and 18 Patrolmen. We have two cars equipped with Gonset two-way radio sets. We are now in need of a Gonset at our headquarters, Station No. 2, on Park Street.

Every Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m., we hold pistol practice. On Sundays, church traffic duty is performed, with eight men doing two hours each. In all we have had twenty-four special details, including Hurricane Donna. Total hours of duty performed was 6,000.

I trust the citizens of Winchester realize and appreciate the extra police protection they receive.

A list of the duties performed include the following: Lions Club Carnival, Rotary Club Auction, En Ka Fair, Hurricane Donna, Hallowe'en, July 4th weekend (3 nights), Labor Day weekend (3 nights), Sunday Traffic Duty, Little League, Kiwanis Fish Derby, Two-alarm Fires, Civilian Defense Meetings, Town Meetings, Town Elections, Lincoln School Mothers' Club, Lowell, Everett and Boston Meetings of Mass. Council Hails Kennedy and Volpe

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus has every reason to be proud of Brother Knights John F. Kennedy, President-elect, who is a Fourth Degree member of Bunker Hill Council, 62, in Charlestown, and John A. Volpe, Governor-elect, who is a Fourth Degree member of Winchester Council, 210.

Grand Knight James Wharf has the unique distinction in having a brother knight, a Democrat, as President during his tenure of office and a brother knight, a Republican, as Governor of Massachusetts. It is certainly a challenge which both men have accepted and the Council wishes them successs in their endeavors.

New Chancellor

Frank Farley, Council Warden, has been elected to Chancellor to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Kearin Dunn whose teaching post in Cohasset made it impossible for him to devote the time necessary to the office.

Whist and Bridge Party

The recent Thanksgiving Turkey Whist and Bridge Party is reported a success by chairman Edward McManus. The Council is indebted to everyone who cooperated in any way to make the success possible. Chairman of prizes Richard Fiore, D.G.K., particularly points out the Council indebtedness to the many donors of the fine prizes, including turkeys.

Hallowe'en Dance

Chairman L. C. Thibeault, P.G.K., reported at the most recent Council meeting that this affair also was a success, with everyone attending enjoying themselves to the utmost. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes and some were most outstanding.

Our Lady of Fatima Guild

A new Guild within the Council has been established, which is the second of its kind in the Nation. Having for its purpose the promoting through prayer vocations to the Priesthood, the Brotherhood and Sisterhood in religious life, the Guild was first established in one of the Councils of New Mexico.

Catholic activities chairman William McGaragle, reading of the success of the work in New Mexico, deemed it worthy of adoption in Winchester and with the priests of both St. Mary's and the Immaculate Conception parishes and Grand Knight Wharf and the Council in accord, the Guild has been established.

Grand Soiree

Patricia Newhall and Roger Heard are Winchester members of the committee in charge of the Tenth Annual "Grand Soiree" to be given December 3 at the Oval Room of the Sheraton Plaza in Boston by the Intercollegiate Club of Boston for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

VOL. LXXX, NO. 14 WINCHESTER, MASS., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1960 PRICE TEN CENTS

Official U. S. Census

Town Population Stands At 19,376

Winchester's population, according to official Federal statistics, is 19,376, as of April 1, 1960.

This figure includes every man, woman and child actually and officially residing in Winchester.

It does not include individuals living temporarily in the Town, individuals merely visiting here, or absentee Winchester people living abroad or in other parts of the United States.

The Federal census was conducted here between January 15 and the latter part of July of this year. It was under the direction of Mr. William Little of 94 Arlington Street.

The official population count for Massachusetts, as of April 1, 1960 was 5,148,578, a gain of 458,064 or 9.8 per cent over the 4,690,514 inhabitants of the Commonwealth in 1950.

The annual Town census conducted this year as required by State Law put the official population of the Town at 20,193 as of January 1, 1960.

Bomb Scare At High School

The telephone rang at the High School at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday, and a disguised girl's voice on the other end told Mr. Thomas Morse that there was a bomb on the first floor of the school set to go off at 2:30, just fifteen minutes later.

Winchester police and fire authorities responded immediately to the report, cleared the building of students and made a thorough check of the building for the alleged bomb, to no avail. No bomb could be found. It was another "Scare."

Police Chief Joseph J. Derro told the Star that the ten-year state prison penalty for bomb scares cited in Chapter 269 of the General Laws as amended Section 14 will be asked for any such offender apprehended, and found guilty, juvenile or not.

"We will go all the way on this matter," the Chief said. "It couldn't be more serious."

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation

The annual meeting of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation will be held Wednesday evening, December 14, at 7:45 p.m. in the speech arts room of the high school.

All interested to hear of the fine work the foundation has accomplished during the past year are very welcome to attend this meeting.

The foundation is quite unique in the way it has been organized to offer financial assistance to any deserving young high school graduate who wishes further education. Its mission is becoming increasingly important with the rise in the number of college applicants and the corresponding rise in tuition. The foundation has had good reason to be proud of the record made by its many scholarship recipients in the past, and is looking forward to the service it can render in the future.

Auto Window Is Smashed

Mrs. Donald Bowman of 10 Seneca Road reported Friday night at 6:20 o'clock that an unknown person had broken the rear window of her Pontiac while it was parked in her driveway. Mrs. Bowman told police she thought it must have been accidental because she knew of no reason why anyone would want to damage the car deliberately.

Chidleys To Entertain Speaker

Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley will have as their house guest at Grey Rocks in Fernway, Miss Margaret Jane Fischer while she is in New England speaking under the auspices of the New England Theatre Conference, of which Mrs. Chidley is Special Projects Chairman.

Miss Fischer, who is well known in this area for her reviews of the Broadway theatre, has just returned from London and will speak on "The London Season — 1960," with special emphasis on its relationship to the American Theatre and those plays to be done in this country.

On Sunday, December 11, at 3 o'clock Miss Fischer will speak at the Tufts University Arena Theatre under the auspices of "Pen, Paint and Pretzels," Tufts undergraduate dramatic society.

Monday, December 12, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening Miss Fischer will speak in the Community Room of the Concord, N. H. Savings Bank, sponsored by the Community Players of Concord, and on Tuesday, December 13, the Boston Conservatory Drama Department is bringing her to Boston to speak in the Boston Conservatory Auditorium, 31 Hemenway Street, Boston, at 8:15.

Miss Fischer is no stranger to Winchester audiences, she having been enthusiastically received here when she spoke before the Winchester College Club two years ago.

Lions Sponsor Essay Contest

Winchester Lions are again sponsoring an essay contest for children in the public and parochial schools of Winchester, grades one through six, on the subject, "What My Eyes Mean To Me."

All children of Winchester in grades one through six are urged to enter this contest and the Lions are hoping that teachers will encourage their pupils to participate in the contest and assist them with their essays. It has been suggested that the essays could be a class activity or a project in the English classes.

Peter Marchesi, a Winchester Lion and president of the Woburn Wholesale Cotts Beverage Company, is again offering bicycles as prizes to the winners. The winning boy and girl will each receive a fine Raleigh bicycle.

Winchester At Woburn

Winchester High will open its current basketball season next Tuesday afternoon at Woburn, playing the scrappy Tanners in the Woburn High gymnasium, commencing at 3:15, first and second teams.

Winchester will enter this game without a captain, there being no returning letter player in the entire Sachem squad. Last year's unbeaten Jay Vees are the backbone of this year's varsity, and the Tanners should furnish ample indication of just how strong that backbone is going to be.

Democratic Town Committee Plans Talk by Ray Crimmins December 14

The Committee will hold its December meeting in the East Hearing Room at the Town Hall on Wednesday, evening, the 14th.

The speaker of the evening, Joseph Ray Crimmins, member of the Governor's Council from our district, will explain several matters which have to do with the duties of the Council.

Following his talk the speaker will answer questions and much of his information will be of interest, especially to the new members of our Committee who are deeply interested in the future of our party here in Winchester.

So imporant do we all consider the agenda of this meeting, that each member of the Committee will have the privilege of inviting a guest for that evening.

Plans for the January meeting are already being formulated with the prospect of having our newly-elected Secretary of State, Kevin White, as our guest speaker.

At Conference

Mr. J. Edward Schlener of 22 Allen Road, attended the annual distributor sales meeting of Sylvania Electric Products held in Bal Harbour, Florida this week.

Mr. Schlener is Eastern regional sales manager in Sylvania's Semiconductor Division. He has been with the company since 1952.

Sylvania engineering, manufacturing and sales executives from all parts of the United States are attending the meeting, held at The Americana Hotel, to discuss trends in merchandising, market research, advertising, public relations, credit, and communications as they pertain to entertainment and industrial electronics.

Children Present 'Noah's Ark'

"Noah's Ark" arrived safely atop Mount Ararat at Memorial Auditorium last Friday and Saturday when the Community School Associates presented The Children's Theatre School in an adaptation of the Biblical classic.

Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, directed the production, based on the books, "Children of the Ark" by Marjorie Dell Tuzik, and "Noah" by Andre Obey, with music and songs by Jane Flint.

Accompanied by Mary Witham on the piano and the "Nite Owls" trio, the children acted out the roles of man and beast entering the ark with spirit and charm.

At one point in the performance the house fell in with a chorus of roars when a dog made an unscheduled appearance on the stage. Only Noah, (John Worcester, on Friday night), remained unruffled, as it was his job to do.

"This was definitely not a realistic touch," Mrs. Samoiloff said. "That dog had no rehearsing whatever."

The production was praised for its color and extremely good lighting. The artistic high point of the afternoon was the extremely effective "flood" scene in which several children simulated the rising waters with a long roll of undulating blue-green silk.

Car Careens Into Driveway

A Chevrolet operated by Edward C. Federico of 47 Waverley Road, Woburn, careened into a sunken driveway on Cambridge Street, near the Winchester Conservatories late Tuesday.

The Woburn man told police he swerved his car sharply into the driveway to avoid hitting an Oldsmobile operated by Pietro LaCascia of 189 Cambridge Street who was reportedly backing out of his driveway. The Oldsmobile reportedly struck a tree as it was backing out of the drive.

Mr. Federico reportedly suffered bruises and abrasions and said he felt "dizzy." He was taken to the Winchester Hospital and released to a private doctor's care.

Five Winchester Executives Aid In R.C.A. Space Project

Five Winchester executives at the R.C.A. plant in Burlington are participating in a project of great importance to the United States' drive to develop a "find stage" satellite vehicle and a satellite inspection system, R.C.A. announced this week.

The executives are Mr. William B. Kirkpatrick of 20 Ardley Place, general manager; Mr. Mervin J. Shuman of 4 Fairlane Terrace, personnel manager; Mr. Joseph F. O'Connell, 423 Highland Avenue, operations Control manager; Mr. Thomas S. Weeks, 3 Everell Road, plant manager; and Mr. Ralph S. LaMontagne, 8 Hawthorne Road, marketing manager. Many of the R.C.A. employees in Burlington live in Winchester.

R.C.A. has been chosen to develop the find stage vehicle and the inspection system, with the contract to be awarded in the near future. If successful, R.C.A.'s present program, a technical experiment, could lead to a system to rendezvous with an unknown satellite in orbit for identification purposes. The launch vehicle for this system is known as the "Atlas/Agena B." The Air Force program will be managed by the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, with technical supervision by the Aerospace Corporation.

"The project will be developed by a group of selected scientists throughout RCA's Defense Electronic Products," said Arthur L. Malcarney, an executive vice president in Camden, N. J. Mr. Malcarney explained that the Project Management will be located in Burlington, and that the Inspection Payload portion of the contract will be designed and manufactured by RCA's Astro-Electronics Division in Princeton, N. J., whose recent work included the TIROS I and II weather satellites.

Both Aerojet-General and AVCO were associated with RCA in preparing the proposal.

Golden Wedding For Wintons

Two widely known former residents of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Winton of York Village, Maine, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Saturday, November 12.

A surprise family dinner was given in their honor by their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Winton, Jr., of York Village, Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Winton of Reading.

The dinner was held at the Robert Wintons, Jr., in York Village and was attended by twenty relatives.

Ellen and Bob Winton came to Winchester in 1910 and throughout their long residence made many friends. Their residence was on Forest Street until 1948, when they moved to York Village, Maine.

Local Fans Eye Orange Bowl Classic

The Winchester Bellino-Dattilo Committee, in charge of arrangements for the trip to Miami and the Navy-Missouri Orange Bowl football game in that Florida resort city on January 2, report that active interest is being manifest in their plans.

Already 89 reservations have been made for the trip south on the especially chartered plane and money for the reservations is coming in nicely.

A total of 107 paid reservations is necessary to secure the chartered jet, and while the committee has no doubt that more than that number will seek reservations, it is urging Winchester fans who want to make the journey to the game to get in their reservations at once.

Already out-of-town football fans are seeking inclusion in the Winchester plane, and while the Committee wants to do everything possible to ensure local fans accommodations, they feel it is only fair to warn all interested to make their reservations as soon as possible with Robert E. Johnson, chairman of the Bellino-Dattilo Committee, either by mail at 53 Wedgemere Avenue, or by phoning PArkview 9-3112. Cash must accompany all reservations.

Among the out-of-town people making reservations are the parents of Sid Driscoll, big Navy tackle, whom many remember from his attendance at the Bellino-Dattilo dinner at the Town Hall last year.

Aside from the last chance to see Joe and Frank in intercollegiate football action, the trip to the Orange Bowl constitutes a great and very reasonable vacation in the South. The $195-fee includes everything, round trip by jet, taxis to and from the airport and game, ticket for the game, twin-bedded rooms at the luxurious ocean-front Barcelona Hotel, meals and drinks aboard plane, all breakfasts, all dinners, three private cocktail parties, a night at the Eden Roc Night

Will Survey Possible Sites

Name Youth Center Committee; Boys' Club Plans Survey Here

The subject of a youth center for Winchester moved out of the realm of speculation and closer to reality this week when Police Chief Derro announced that an adult committee had been named to take initial exploratory action on the matter.

At the same time Special Juvenile Officer James Cogan, a prime mover in the youth center drive, announced that on December 13 a survey of Winchester's youth problem and a study of possible sites for a youth center would be made by a Boston Boys' Club official.

On that day, he said, Mr. Edgar W. Rylander, New England Director of the Boys' Clubs of America, will visit Winchester to discuss the youth problem with Chief Derro.

Shortly after Mr. Rylander's visit, Officer Cogan told the Star, the adult committee will meet to review the Boys' Club officer's report on the Town and to discuss the ques-

On the Steering Committee for the Youth Center are: Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro; Fire Chief James Callahan; Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr.; Lester Gustin; John S. Morgan, Jr.; Juvenile Officer James J. Cogan; Father James Kenney, Catholic Chaplain; Rev. Mr. Joseph O'Donnell, Protestant Chaplain; Jerry B. Foster, architect; and Paul Wilson Sullivan of the Winchester Star. The committee will be enlarged to some thirty members at a later date.

Here is the usual procedure followed in organizing a Youth Center:

(1) Interested Town residents organize a steering committee "and invite a field staff representative of Boys' Clubs of America to the meeting." The Steering Committee is charged with the responsibility of handling all preliminary organizational work.

(2) The field staff representative, if requested to, will assist the committee with a survey of the youth situation in the Town. "Such a survey," the Boys' Club feels, "will determine how effectively the needs of boys are being met in the community." There is no charge for the survey.

(3) As soon as the need for a boys' club is established, the organization is incorporated, advised by a lawyer as to proper legal procedure.

(4) Legal counsel prepares a constitution and by-laws.

(5) A board of directors is organized, officers are elected, and special committees are established.

(6) A site for the youth center is selected.

(7) Cost of building construction is estimated and a one-year operating budget is determined.

(8) Fund-raising campaign should be organized.

(9) An executive director should be hired.

Parking Lot Behind the Town Hall Not Throughway, Chief Derro Says

Winchester motorists were strongly urged this week not to use the Town Hall Parking Lot as a throughway from Washington Street to Mount Vernon Street.

Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro told the Star that the Town Hall parking lot is intended only for vehicles whose drivers have specific business to conduct at Town Hall. The fact that the parking lot may be entered from both Washington and Mount Vernon Streets, he said, does not mean that it is a throughway.

The Chief pointed out that the lot is crossed continually by children on their way to the special children's entrance at the rear of the library, and by youngsters on their way to school.

"Throughway" drivers constitute a special hazard, the Chief said when they drive at undue speed through this area. A pedestrian entering the lot from Mount Vernon Street cannot see cars coming toward him until he turns the corner of Town Hall; at that point it might be too late should the vehicle be proceeding as quickly as many of them do now.

Restitution Of $1200 In Bathhouse Fire

The youths were scheduled for appearance in Woburn Court Wednesday morning.

Parcel Post Carrier Joe Donaghey Retires After 41 Years of Service

Wednesday when Parcel Post Carrier Joseph W. Donaghey returned his truck to the Winchester Post Office at the conclusion of his day's work he ended with his retirement at that time, a service extending over 41 years, all at the Winchester office.

Householders far and wide throughout Winchester know "Joe" Donaghey. His long service has made him almost a legend with them, and with the local merchants whose packages he has also delivered. "Joe" has seen many come and go in the center and about town. There are few old timers in town he has not known and who have not known him, for Joe was born in Winchester and grew up in the family homestead on Water Street, attending the Winchester schools.

He was appointed to the Winchester Post Office staff in 1919 by the late Postmaster John F. O'Connor, whom long time residents will recall as proprietor of a drug store at the southerly corner of Main and Thompson Streets where Dorothy Muriel's was until recently located.

When Mr. Donaghey was appointed to the local Post Office he became the first and the only parcels post carrier there. His appointment marked the inauguration of parcels post service in Winchester.

First deliveries were made from a horse-drawn democrat wagon hired from the then stable of Kelley & Hawes on Winchester Place. At the end of a year the wagon was replaced by a government-issued motorcycle and side car, reclaimed by the Army and returned to this country from France after World War I.

After a year of use the reclaimed cycle literally fell apart and the local Postmaster returned to Kelley & Hawes, hiring this time a horse and long-bodied delivery wagon.

This means of delivery was given up after about a year, and at that time carriers were granted permission to contract with the government for the use of their own automobiles or trucks.

Mr. Donaghey made such a contract, putting in service one of the old Model T Ford trucks. This was followed by other trucks, beach and ranch wagons until two years ago when the Post Office Department gave the local office its so-called "Post Office Vehicle," a broad closed body truck with right hand drive. It was from this vehicle that "Joe" stepped when he concluded his last run in the parcels post service Wednesday.

When "Joe" entered the post-office service at the Winchester office, then located on what was Common Street at the site of the present Winslow Press, there were eight letter carriers attached to the office, one rural carrier and three clerks, all ladies; Miss Robinson, Miss Daley and Miss Sweeney, the latter a sister of the proprietor of Sweeney's Harness Shop in the square.

During all the years Mr. Donaghey drove all kinds of equipages on the town highways he never had an accident. He is rightly proud of this record he takes into retirement, and was warmly congratulated upon his achievement by the present Postmaster, Thomas J. Gilgun.

Times have changed in many ways since "Joe" Donaghey drove over his parcels post route in town in a democrat wagon. Now the office handles on an average 50 bags of parcels post daily, with from 15 to 20 packages, according to size, in a bag.

Joe comes from a family well known in Winchester. He was one of eight children, four of whom are now living, Jack, a past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks and retired foreman of the Park Department; Tom, an employee of the Boston & Maine, living in Stoneham; Arthur, a carrier at the Stoneham Post Office and Joe, himself. Deceased are two sitsers, Mrs. Annie Stover, Mrs. Mary Hennessey, former bookkeeper at the Winchester Trust Company; and two brothers, Sgt. James P. Donaghey of the Winchester Police Department and Robert Donaghey, a veteran of World War I.

NASHOBA COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL IN CONCORD

Winchester Contractors Build Concord School

The Nashoba Country Day School, an ultra-modern intermediate-grade girls school, built by the Winchester contracting firm of Zaffina & Luongo, was opened in Concord last week. Classes began in the new school only four months from the time the foundations were poured. Joseph Zaffina and Ernest Luongo, both residents of Winchester, stress the fact that modular methods of construction and prefabrication of many components contributed to the unusually short building time.

Architecturally unusual features of the new school include virtual elimination of space-consuming halls and interior passageways. All rooms open onto the large entry and reception space. The balcony serves as a combination fire escape and exterior passage, and shields the classrooms from sun glare in late spring and early fall. Newly developed Lam lighting fixtures are used to give an even, shadowless illumination of desk surfaces that is at least twice the minimum required in Massachusetts schools.

Newsy Paragraphs

Anthony DeLuca of 10 Spruce Street told police Tuesday that someone had entered the premises of the home he is building at 6 Bates Road and stole four gallons of paint and brushes.

John "Big Jack" Richardson, retired fireman and employee of the highway department, is at the Winchester Hospital, where he is to undergo an operation.

Letter Carrier Paul Quigley returned to his home last Sunday after a week's illness at the Winchester Hospital.

She leaves five daughters, Mrs. Mary Zampelli, Mrs. Ralph Tauro, Mrs. Richard Brogna, all of Winchester; Mrs. Margaret Russell of Medford and Mrs. James Beaton of Woburn; a son, Fred R. Iovanni of Winchester; nine grandchildren; and 12 great grandchildren.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem High Mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church.

Rev. Rene J. Saulnier was celebrant, Rev. James F. Kenney, deacon, and Rev. Edmund L. Parker of St. Mary's Church, subdeacon. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Saulnier.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert P. Cook of Arlington, Mrs. Robert A. Johnston of Winchester, and Mrs. Roderick S. Thomson of Baltimore, Maryland, formerly of Winchester, seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the First Parish Unitarian Church, Arlington, on Saturday, December 3, and interment was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Clarence O. Stevenson

Woburn Florist Native of Winchester

Clarence O. Stevenson, 37, of 61 Pearl Street, Woburn, a native of Winchester, died suddenly, probably some time Thursday evening, December 1, while on a hunting trip in New Hampshire.

The exact time of Mr. Stevenson's death is not known. He went with friends to his camp at Pleasant Pond in Deerfield, N. H., last week Wednesday. His friends left him to return to Woburn Thursday, and during the evening Mr. Stevenson telephoned his wife as was his custom.

It is believed that the stroke to which his death is attributed took place almost immediately after his phone call. When he did not call Friday night his wife became alarmed and Saturday evening he was found dead on the floor of the camp.

Mr. Stevenson was the son of William H., and Marie E. (Schober) Stevenson. He was born in Winchester, attended the Winchester schools and was in the wholesale and retail florist business in Wilmington, continuing his wholesale business after the fire that recently destroyed his retail florist's shop.

Mr. Stevenson had made his home in Woburn for the past 16 years. He was a member of the North Congregational Church in Woburn and the Wilmington Rotary.

He leaves his wife, the former Marjorie Dobbins; two daughters, Barbara M., and Marjorie E. Stevenson; three sons, Peter O., Kenneth R., and Gordon C. Stevenson, all of Woburn; his parents, living in Winchester; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Qualey of Woburn and Mrs. Marjorie Anderson of Wilmington; and four brothers, William, of Arlington, Franklin and John, of Winchester, and Sanford Stevenson of the United States Air Force.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Graham Funeral Home in Woburn with the Rev. Robert Eddy of the North Congregational Church of Woburn officiating. Burial was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

The Salvation Army "Friendly Visitors" spread Christmas joy in hospitals and homes for the aged as they distribute gifts and a cheery message. Fifty-five hundred such gifts will be distributed in Boston by the League of Mercy before Christmas Eve.

Honors Still Piled on Bellino

Heisman Trophy the Big One Of All Football Awards

When Joe Bellino won the Heisman Trophy last week by an overwhelming majority of votes from electors all over the country he won football's top award, the real Congressional Medal of Honor of the gridiron world.

Many who thrilled to the announcement that Bellino is the recipient of this coveted award have no idea what the Heisman Trophy is, or for whom it is named.

It is awarded each year by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York to the outstanding intercollegiate football performer of the season. Among others who have won it are Clint Frank, Davey O'Brien, Tommy Harmon, Frank Sinkwich, Doc Blanchard, Glen Davis, Johnny Lujack, Doak Walker, Dick Kazmaier, and Pete Dawkins. With these and others from the yearly cream of the college football crop Joe Bellino of Winchester now takes his place.

Heisman Gridiron Great

John W. Heisman, a little fellow physically, was one of the giants of football. He played at Brown and Pennsylvania and commenced his coaching career at Oberlin in 1892. His first team had a perfect record and during his 36 years of coaching he rated with the top echelon teachers of the game.

Coaching at Georgia Tech, Penn., Washington and Jefferson and Rice, among others, he rolled up an outstanding won-and-lost record, and he is generally credited with nagging the Rules Committee into legalizing the forward pass.

Other football historians credit him with instituting the center snap a year before Alonzo Stagg, and he introduced at Georgia Tech his Heisman shift which became one of the most feared offensive weapons of his day. He produced three unbeaten teams with it, and once while at Tech beat one of his opponents, 222-0!

John W. Heisman was one of the founders of the American Football Coaches Association, serving for two terms as president. He was also the first athletic director of the Downtown A. C., the organization that perpetuates his memory with the Heisman Trophy.

Best Back in Nationwide Poll

Since his last batch of honors Bellino has been named college football's back of the year in a nation-wide poll conducted by United Press-International. He also has made Look Magazine's All American Team selected by the 1100 members of the Football Writers' Association of America.

He has also won the Maxwell Trophy (No. 1 player in the east), the Sporting News Trophy (No. 1 player in the east), and membership on the Sporting News, United Press-International and Associated Press All America Teams.

Gets New Navy Trophy

Perhaps none of these awards will mean more to Bellino than the one he was awarded last week-end at the Naval Academy.

First of its kind, it has been awarded to Bellino by the United States Naval Academy Alumni Association of Philadelphia as the individual who has contributed most to the promotion of good will for the Academy.

The award, an inscribed plaque, will be presented to Bellino at the annual Athletic Night meeting, January 13, at the Philadelphia Naval Base Officers Club.

Mrs. Carolyn S. Corey

Mrs. Carolyn S. Corey of 5 Governors Avenue, widow of Charles H. Corey, died Saturday, December 3, at the Winchester Hospital at the age of 80 years.

Mrs. Corey was the daughter of James and Sarah Jane (Fricker) Stevenson. She was born May 30, 1880, in Rochester, N. Y., and on January 23, 1901, was married to Mr. Corey, former vice president of the Waltham Chemical Company, who died May 10, 1959.

For a time after her marriage she and her husband lived in Auburndale, coming to Winchester in 1926. She was a member of the Church of the Open Bible in Woburn.

Mrs. Corey leaves a son, Stevenson Corey of Winchester; also three grandchildren, Nancy, Charles, and Barbara Corey, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Monday evening at the Church of the Open Bible, with the pastor, Rev. Carlton Helgerson, officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery, Seabrook, N. H.

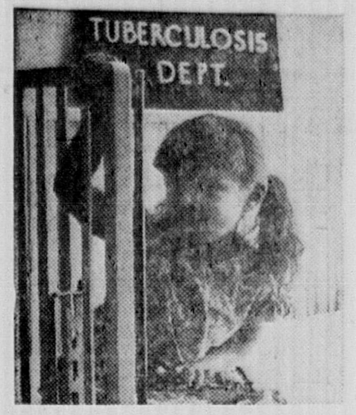
TB Statistic



TUBERCULOSIS DEPT.

Here is a statistic—pre-schooler Diane Jones—one of the 60,000 new active cases of TB reported last year. Christmas-Seal supported research helps to fight this disease.

Your Baby Sitter

What do you know about your baby sitter?

You hire someone to come into your house and stay with your children while you take a well-deserved evening out. She plays with your children, gives them their supper, puts them to bed, carries them the glasses of water they demand before settling down. For a few hours she's as close to your children as you normally are.

Of course, you know her. She's that elderly woman from down the block, or from the agency, or the teen-age daughter of your best friend. You know that she's reliable, that the children like her.

But are they safe with her? Are you sure that she doesn't have an infectious disease that might be passed on to your children? Are you as cautious about your baby sitter's health as about her character, the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association asks?

If the baby sitter arrived coughing and sneezing you'd send her home, sorry as you might be to miss your fun. But, tuberculosis has no warning symptoms in its early stages. Unless you know that your baby sitter has been examined and found free of tuberculosis and other communicable disease, you can't be sure that your children will be safe with her.

Many older women, when asked about their health, will say proudly, "I haven't been to a doctor in years." It's nothing to boast about. Tuberculosis has no respect for age and gray hair. In fact, it is becoming increasingly a disease of older age.

You owe it to your children to inquire into the health of your baby sitter, the association concluded. And if she's offended? Well, they're your children, aren't they?

Converse Market Proves Virtue Is Its Own Reward

"How do you manage to do it?" asked a housewife at the Converse meat counter, picking up a luscious-looking rib roast priced at what would normally elsewhere bring only meat loaf to her table.

When service and value are words that flow as naturally as corpuscles in your blood stream, running a store which keeps adding new fans to a throng of loyal customers just seems to follow naturally.

Profits Shared With the Community

"There's no secret to how we operate," Converse's never-quiescent owner, Nick Andon, said as we managed to pin him down one day. "Since we are an independent store, we don't have to show large profits to a group of stockholders. What would normally go into greater profits we put into better qualities and lower prices."

This formula, wonderful as it sounds, isn't exactly easy to put into practice, and we pressed Nick for further details. "Naturally, to get good quality you have to have a good staff," he said. The heads of his four main departments, who assist him in buying, are all men of long experience in their fields. Converse meat and produce are not mass bought, but individually selected each week from whichever are deemed the best sources. Nick is also proud of every one of his sixty employees, each of whom is thoroughly versed in the Converse doctrine of service.

Customer Wants Studied

Just running a supermarket is a plenty complicated business, as anyone can guess from the fact that some 6,000 different items are carried beneath one roof, each one, from fried grasshoppers to floor wax, requiring managerial knowledge and decisions. But these seem to be matters of simple routine, and the areas which receive special study are the reports of polls and surveys on what supermarket customers want.

Taking one poll as a sample, convenient parking, assistance in unloading carts, into-your-car carrying service, well-oiled non-defective carts, courteous checkers, free check-cashing, and bonus tapes are a few items high on the list of what supermarket customers clamor for, all of them provided at Converse.

This undoubtedly helps account for the metamorphosis of the Converse Fruit Market of 1944 into the Supermarket of 1960, with an estimated 8300 customers a week, and an annual gross of 2.5 million dollars.

Community Loyalty Cited

"We want to thank everyone for their past support, said Nick, and we want to keep on hearing from our customers what we can do to serve them better in the future."

Where Converse Market and its community are concerned, it looks like a case of mutual admiration!

New T. B. Seal Design Attractive

The design for the 1960 Christmas Seal was submitted by artist Philip Richard Costigan in 1958. Costigan was born in England, went to school and college there, majoring in fine arts at King Edward's College. After further art study both here and in England, Costigan settled down to make his home and work in Lenhartsville, Pennsylvania.

An artist of great versatility, Costigan has designed crystal for Sweden textiles, wallpaper, posters, and silverware for England. His designs in fine china have been exhibited in European and American museums.

Costigan has a highly personal interest in the fight against tuberculosis. An uncle who was living with him died of the disease. You'll see Costigan's design when your Christmas Seals arrive in the mail this week. You can help keep everybody safe from TB by using Christmas Seals on your cards, letters and packages.

A committee met last month with an almost impossible task ahead—to recommend one out of some 500 designs for the 1962 Christmas Seal. The call for designs went out last spring to art schools, known artists, and to newspapers and magazines. Designs came in during the following months from children, high school students, housewives, businessmen, and professional artists.

During October a group of art experts met with the committee, representing TB association workers all over the country, to consider all the designs, with the art experts' suggestions to guide them but by no means to limit their choice. As a result of many hours of careful deliberation, one design finally came out on top. It was accepted as the 1962 Christmas Seal.

No Letter Player Available

Winchester Hoop Men Busy Preparing for Coming Season

With not a single letter player returning this season, big Jim Phillips, basketball coach at Winchester High School, is going to have his troubles producing a team to equal those which have brought championships and winning basketball to Winchester in recent years.

A huge number answered the Coach's recent call for candidates, but many of them will be dropped from the varsity squad when the cut is made this week.

During the past two weeks the candidates have had rigorous conditioning exercises with drilling in offensive and defensive plays, and scrimmages.

Thus far the team has scrimmaged a strong alumni quintet comprised of Vandy French, Bill Leighton, Bobby Freeman, Paul White, Jim Fitzgerald, Tom Black and Bill Wilson. This group of former stars proved too good for the varsity, but the undergraduates made a good showing against superior all around strength.

A second scrimmage was held against Malden, Eastern Massachusetts Class A champs a year ago, with two starters returning. In this scrimmage the Sachems rather more than held their own with the depth of the Winchester squad a big factor.

This week Winchester scrimmaged both Beverly and Everett in preparation for the opening game with Woburn at Woburn December 13.

The Tanners will be stronger than ever this year and on their own small court may well pull an upset. Winchester plays its first four games away, at Woburn, Arlington, Brookline and Lexington, the last a Middlesex League game.

The first home game is December 27 with Concord, another Middlesex League game. Reading is generally picked to win the Middlesex League crown in basketball as it did so handily in football, with Belmont, under the veteran Mel Wenner, reported to be another strong club.

In this group is last year's undefeated junior vasity team intact, and this group will be the backbone of this year's varsity. A complete list of candidates by classes include:

Seniors—Ambfose Devaney, Jack Brenner, Rod Gay, Jim Callahan, Jim Flaherty, George Neville, Kevin Mawn, Danny Graham, Paul Roberts, Leroy Shea, and Philip Dunn.

Prof. Fitzgibbon Speaks to N.Y.C. Newton Alumni

John Paul Fitzgibbon of 7 Madison Avenue West, Associate Professor of Philosophy at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, will speak to the New York Newton Club Saturday, December 10, at the Junior League Club House, 130 East 80th Street.

Pursuing the theme that "Education doesn't stop when one earns a degree," Professor Fitzgibbon will bring New York alumni up to date on new developments in the Newton plan of education, and describe for them how they are being put into practice by the administration, the faculty and the students.

The group, whose members include 114 Newton graduates and former students from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, will hear also a report on the Annual Giving Program, now half-way through its initial two-month effort to gain financial support from nearly 1,000 alumnae. Miss Ann E. Corcoran, director of development, will give them details on the New York area campaign, and the part alumnae giving will play in bringing about construction of a million-dollar chapel, immediate goal of the development program.

Sachem Six Tied By Melrose 2-2

Making up for their lack of experience with an abundance of hustle and excellent position play, Winchester's hockey team had to be content with a 2-2 tie with strong Melrose in their first Middlesex League game of the 1960-61 season.

The Tuesday afternoon encounter at the Boston Garden saw Winchester take an early lead even though short-handed by a tripping penalty. Phil Davenport gained control of the puck in the left hand corner and drilled a pass to the front of the cage where it bounced off the skate of a Melrose defender for a Sachem score at 3:42 of the first period.

Melrose came back strongly with a pretty pattern as senior left wing Ken Morris passed behind the net to Jim Umile who pushed the puck out deep to defenseman Paul Hurley who let go a sizzler on which goalie Bob Tierney was completely screened. This tied the score at 6:52.

The second period proved scoreless as each team put together scoring opportunities but failed to capitalize.

The Indians were flying at the beginning of the third period. Bill Callahan drove in from the right side and a hard forehand shot found the twine at 0:48 seconds of the period. This lead looked good as the Winchester defense came on strongly.

At 5:15 of the last period, however, Melrose cleared the puck from their end on what appeared to be an icing situation which would cause a face-off in the Melrose zone. The referee waved off the icing call and Phil Dyer, standout Melrose forward, took the puck from the side of the Winchester net and stuck it by Tierney to give Melrose a tie.

Tierney was outstanding in the Winchester goal as he turned back 26 testing shots from the fast Melrose team. Pete Greenlaw had 20 saves for Melrose.

Winchester returns to the Boston Garden on Saturday afternoon, December 10, at 3:00 p.m. to battle arch-foe Belmont. Belmont defeated Stoneham 7-2 in their initial game.

Winchester's opening effort in defense of their Middlesex League title was a surprise to many. Having graduated all but two of last year's starters, the Sachems still exhibited the position play that has typified Winchester clubs of the past years.

Health for All

"I like tomatoes, but tomatoes don't like me."

You have heard that statement, or similar ones. Maybe you have laughed at it. But allergy is no joke. Doctors take it seriously. Allergic diseases are seldom fatal, but the symptoms are always distressing. Sometimes there is so much discomfort that work, sleep, appetite, and recreation are interfered with and general health suffers.

Allergy is sensitivity, or hypersensitivity, to substances which are harmless to most people, according to the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association. About one person in ten is allergic to something. The substances that cause allergy are called allergens, and there are hundreds, even thousands of possibilities: pollens, house dust, furs, various foods, feathers, cosmetics, drugs, and even heat, cold and sunlight. The most common allergic diseases are hay fever, asthma, skin disorders like hives, and stomach and intestinal disturbances.

These diseases are not imaginary. If you have allergic symptoms, you should get medical advice both for immediate relief and future protection. The doctor can make tests to discover the allergens which are causing trouble. Sometimes this is easy, but frequently it requires great patience.

Once the causes are discovered, you can learn to avoid the troublemakers as much as possible. Drugs may be prescribed to ease symptoms. In some cases injections, medicines, and vaccines are given to desensitize the patient. With complete cooperation with your doctor, you will be able to save yourself from years of unnecessary suffering and disability, the Association concluded.

It was also announced that, on December 9, Mrs. Gilbert Hood would open her home to the members of the Winchester Smith Club and their guests, at which time the remaining stock of holiday candles will be displayed and sold. This will be the last "Candle Coffee" of the season. Mrs. Hood and her hard working committee will be the hostess at this coffee, which will be held from 10 to 12 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m.

"The Fun Of Figure Skating"

Author,
Maribel Vinson Owen,
Winchester Resident

If you are a figure-skating enthusiast, and more and more seem to be these days, this new book, "The Fun of Figure Skating" by Winchester's Maribel Vinson Owen, is for you. If you just like to skate, and want to get even more fun out of your activity on the ice by skating properly, the book is still for you. For Mrs. Owen starts at the beginning with the fundamentals on which you build skating skills, believing with all sports teachers and experts that without a sound background in your individual sport you get nowhere.

A native of Winchester, Mrs. Owen, the former Maribel Vinson of High Street, is a Radcliffe graduate and a long-time ice star. She held the North American Singles Figure Skating Championship for several years, as well as the North American Pair Championship. She was a member of three Olympic teams, and this past winter watched her two charming daughters, Maribel and Laurance, compete for the United States in the Olympic Winter Games at Squaw Valley.

In all Mrs. Owen has taught more than 4,000 skaters, ranging from housewives, businessmen and children to such skating greats as Tenley Albright and six members of the latest Olympic team.

Though she believes that no one can become a champion without rigid grounding in fundamentals, she also believes, as the title of her book would indicate, that skating is fun. She calls figure skating "art-sport," and that also tells us something.

In her book Mrs. Owen describes skating as the sport for everyone. The book is dedicated to her "skating family," mother, father, husband, and daughters. She says almost any normal person can skate well if they want to badly enough.

First of all Mrs. Owen tells what one should wear when skating, advocating correct skating costumes, not only because they make for greater freedom in skating but also because the beginner is actually less conspicuous if properly garbed, especially when rink skating, where most of the skaters wear correct skating dress.

Such things as the fit of skating boots and how to ensure a correct and lasting fit are covered in Mrs. Owen's book as well as the finer points of the skater's art.

Starting with "First Strokes on the Ice," the chapters include "The Four Basic Edge Positions in Eight Classic Spirals," "The Four Rolls—The Waltz Eight," "Starting the School Figures," "Completing the Fundamental Figures," "Free Skating," "Ice Dances" and a final chapter entitled "You Are a Good Skater Now."

Mrs. Owen's book is illustrated with photographs, diagrams and illussrations by Robert Riger, widely known sports illustrator, whose work regularly appears in such magazines as "Sports Illustrated." It has a foreward by R. Norman Wood, head hockey coach at Princeton University. Published by Harper & Brothers, its publication date in the East was December 7. It is available of course at the Spaulding Bookshop.

Summarizing the book, it has everything you need to make you a good skater, except the desire, and reading the book with its purposeful illustrations may even provide that!

Each year, across our country, the Salvation Army extends Christmas aid to nearly 1.5 million persons.

Crawford Church Will Dedicate Pulpit Bible

A new Pulpit Bible in the Revised Standard Version will be dedicated at the morning worship service at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church this Sunday at 11:00 o'clock, with a special litany prepared by the pastor, the Rev. H. Newton Clay.

The Bible is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Warsky and will be a memorial to Mrs. Warsky's mother, Mrs. Ellen A. Frennier.

The day will be observed both as Universal Bible Sunday and the Third Sunday in Advent. Advent music will be featured in the service, with a solo, "O Come to My Heart Lord Jesus," sung by Mrs. Gloria Maifeld, soprano.

Pictures of "The Nativity" will be shown to both Youth Fellowship Groups; the Junior High Fellowship at 4:00 p.m. and the Senior M.Y.F. at 6:00 p.m.

Don't be disappointed! Get your Phillips Brooks Calendar at the Winchester Star.

Unitarian Alliance

At the next meeting of the Winchester Unitarian Alliance on Tuesday, December 13, at 2:00 p.m., the members are in for a rare treat when Mary Jane Anderson and Jay Sibley will entertain in a program of music and monologue. Jay Sibley, who is known professionally as Jacqueline Langdon, has been described as "another Ruth Draper," who will bring a tear to your eye and a cheer to your heart with her varied array of hilarious and touching sketches.

The harp has long been considered one of the world's most captivating instruments, and with the artistry of Mary Jane Anderson, the appeal of light classic and familiar ballads reaches a new high.

Following the entertainment tea will be served by Mrs. Thornton Stearns and the members of her committee, and there will be a sale of Christmas gifts, many of them hand-made by members of the alliance.

Babysitting will be available, as always during the Alliance meetings.

What's DIFFERENT About
THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Even from the outside, you can see that the Catholic Church is defferent from all others.

And it is easy to mistakenly imagine that the chief difference is in the things that can be seen . . . the clergy, the Sacraments, the forms of devotion, the Catholic respect for the authority of the Pope.

But the thing that makes the Catholic Church unique is this:

It claims to be the True Church of Christ . . . and the only one.

This claim is often resented, and sometimes ridiculed, by honest and devout people of other faiths. They regard it as an evidence of Catholic arrogance . . . an affront to their own sincerely-held convictions . . . a scheme of the Catholic Hierarchy to destroy other church bodies.

The plain fact is, of course, that the Catholic Church made this same claim during the reign of Peter, the first Pope, nearly 2,000 years ago, and has continued to do so down through the centuries. It was obviously not designed, therefore, to offend present-day Christian church bodies.

Christians generally agree that there can be only one True Church. And for the first 15 centuries of Christendom, a reference to "the Church" meant only one thing to Christians everywhere—the Catholic Church. Today there are hundreds of church bodies professing to be Christian, yet differing from one another in basic doctrine, forms of worship, and attitude toward the authority of the church.

This creates a bewildering problem for those seeking Christ's True Church. And we have no desire to criticize or offend those who sincerely make a choice different from our own. But we are happy—yes, eager, in fact—to explain why nearly 400 millions of people today accept the Catholic Church as the True Church, just as our Christian forefathers did in apostolic times.

You may not agree with Catholic teachings and beliefs, even after reading the powerful evidence we are prepared to sumbit. But if you are confused . . . and feel that you have not found the True Church . . . we invite you to investigate the Catholic claim and decide for yourself in your own good conscience. Just fill in the coupon and we will send you, without cost or obligation . . . and in a plain wrapper . . . a tremendously interesting pamphlet on the True Church. Nobody will call on you. Write today — ask for Pamphlet No. A-16.

Editorials:

Solving Our Youth Problem

Those who have been following the Star's series of special articles on "Our Youth Problem" should have no doubts remaining over the contention that Winchester does have such a problem. Many have scoffed in the past when those in a way to know about such things have said that there is a juvenile delinquency problem in Winchester. The Star in its attempts to point out this fact has been subjected to criticism on the part of those wishful thinkers who believe our young people can do no wrong.

Our young people are certainly no worse than those in other communities, and they should not be. As a matter of fact Winchester boys and girls have less reason for getting into trouble than those in cities and towns where the living average is not as high as it is here.

Winchester children, or a great many of them, come from homes above the average financially and from parents, well educated, who insist on the best possible schools and other facilities for their youngsters. And yet in view of recent evidence one has to wonder to what avail are the advantages we have named in keeping our young people out of trouble with school and police authorities.

If you have read the youth problem series in the Star you know that official police statistics made available to the paper by Police Chief Derro show that there were 120 juvenile crimes committed in Winchester between April 18 and October 26 this year. This in itself is bad enough, but when you examine the statement further and find that of the 120 cases of juvenile crime 84 involved youths 15 years old and under your surprise increases.

Youths 15 and under committed seven of the eight cases of larceny listed in the Police statistics while 20 of the 24 cases of malicious mischief in the six months period involved youths of the same age bracket.

You can not laugh off statistics of such import, even though few people care much for statistics. When you find that two of our college boys, home for Thanksgiving, set fire to one of the town's bathhouses, when you are told that a group of juveniles broke into a private dwelling, used it for some time and removed liquor they found on the premises to a barn with the intent to sell it to minors; when you discover that two young girls defaced one of the town's school buildings; when you learn that another young group broke 20 windows in a new house and ruined the interior plastering; when you are informed that a nine-year-old boy broke into several stores in town to commit larceny the statistics we have mentioned become most significant.

We have a juvenile problem in Winchester, together with our neighboring cities and towns. The sooner we accept this fact and take action to see what can be done to better conditions, the nearer we will be to a solution.

The Police, with the appointment of Chief Derro started to do something about the situation when the Chief appointed Officer Jim Cogan to the newly created post of juvenile officer, first such in the history of the local department. Here again Officer Cogan's activities during the past six months should prove enlightening to those who perhaps still feel that our kids are above reproach.

Officer Cogan in the past six months has interviewed 139 juveniles involved in trouble with the police. He has interviewed 206 parents, he has investigated 103 of the 120 cases of juvenile crime occurring in Winchester and has visited Winchester schools 27 times in connection with his work.

In addition to this he has appeared in nine juvenile court cases, referred the cases of two juveniles to doctors, six to church authorities and nine to out-of-town police departments. In eight cases of juvenile crime he has had $495 paid in restitution in cases involving town-owned property and $205 in cases involving private property.

What does this all add up to. To the fact that Winchester does have a youth problem. A juvenile officer would not have had to engage in the activity just enumerated if it did not!

So much for the fact that a youth problem does exist here. Now, what should be done about it. There are of course many ideas in this field. There are those who believe that the authorities should quit pampering kids that get into trouble and prosecute them as they would any malefactor. Then there are those who believe all youngsters who get into trouble, even those who smash $2400 religious statues are simply misunderstood and if given sympathetic understanding will eshew their error and return to the paths of righteousness.

Between these extreme views, one perhaps as mistaken as the other, are the ideas held by every day men and women who are honestly concerned with the direction in which our youth is headed and who want to do something constructive about it.

What does Officer Cogan think about it all. First, and to the Star this is very significant, he believes that parental guidance and responsibility for the actions of young people is all important. Much of the trouble into which juveniles get themselves, especially younger juveniles, is due to the fact that the parents take no thought to what they are doing during the day, or night, in many instances are not even at home to advise, correct and encourage as these all important parental actions are needed. The Star believes that nothing can take the place of parental control and a good home environment in the upbringing of children, and in support of our contention we offer you "Joe" Bellino and Frank Dattilo, first string Navy football players and rugged young men that few would care to encounter in a dark alley with only one way out.

At the town testimonial dinner given these successful young Midshipmen last year both credited their parents and home life as the most important factors in the success they have achieved. There have been those who have gotten along without good parents and home influence, but there is no question that the job of growing up right is a lot easier where boys and girls are part of a good home with parents ready to love them, encourage them, and if necessary, punish them on their way up.

Aside from parental responsibility for control of young people, what is there that can be done to help them turn their activity into constructive channels? Officer Cogan believes a boys' club, or a youth center is the answer. There are those who will support this thinking strongly. As a matter of fact there will few who will decry the desirability of a youth center.

Such an organization has been proposed in Winchester, even talked about a bit at town meeting, but it has never gotten beyond that stage. The apparently everlasting school building program has made it hard for other expensive projects to get a sympathetic hearing from a tax conscious group of town meeting members. The same has been true of proposed hockey rinks and swimming pools.

And yet the League of Women Voters in their polling of 964 pupils from grades nine through twelve, asking what recreational facility they would most like to see in Winchester found that 730 wanted an indoor swimming pool and 619 preferred a hockey rink. Of those polled 576 said that they found "no place to go," especially during week-ends a real problem.

Apparently the boys' club idea or youth center is going to be thoroughly investigated as a possibility for improving the youth of the town. Juvenile Officer Cogan is strongly in favor of such a facility and already a steering committee has been formed to get the idea off the ground.

On this committee as of now are Police Chief Derro, Fire Chief Callahan, Officer Cogan, Selectman Saltmarsh, Lester F. Gustin, Jr., of Gustin Construction Co., Attorney John S. Morgan, Jr., Paul W. Sullivan of the Star, Architect Jerome Bailey Foster, Rev. James F. Kenney of the Immaculate Conception Parish and Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church.

This would seem to be a representative group, one capable of exploring the youth center idea carefully and effectively presenting their findings to the town. The Star personally would like to see represented in this initial steering committee, some one of the type of Coach Knowlton or Coach Muerling, men trained in the field of recreation and able to assist the group in avoiding some of the pitfalls in which the uninitiated might well stumble.

Somewhere along the way the Star has heard that the boys and girls believe they should themselves run any youth center that may be built here, with voluntary assistance from parents or other interested adults.

It is the Star's opinion, for what it may be worth, that any such setup as this will not work, and should not be attempted, granted a boys' club or youth center is a project for which the town will go. We think anyone at all acquainted with the problem will agree that such recreational facilities should be headed by a thoroughly trained director, who knows boys and girls and how to institute a successful recreational program and keep it running.

Years ago when Mrs. Woodside got a recreational project going in town by her own efforts the year that a trained director handled the activity, (which was largely limited to basketball), the program was a great success. The following year the program was turned over to two local men, on the "need-a-job" basis and it did not last out the year.

Running a boys' club or recreation center is a job for a person trained for that sort of thing, just as a legal question is one for a lawyer to decide, or the prosecution of crime, a police matter. Your knowledgeable recreation director will of course avail himself of the assistance of the boys and girls who use the club. Leaders will be chosen and function under him, but don't depend on unsupervised boys and girls to run a successful recreation program, or upon the average parent for effective guidance in the recreation field.

Another Tradition Passing?

Another long-time New England tradition, the call fireman, is believed to be on the way out. Not because he is not, or has not been a valuable adjunct to the successful fighting of fires, but because the conditions that made the call man a useful member of the fire department have changed materially and are continuing to change.

More and more homes and businesses are locating out of town, or on the outskirts of communities. This makes it harder for call men to reach fires and more necessary to have a larger force ready to leave fire headquarters with the apparatus at the first stroke of the gong.

Some fire departments have already ended call man service, a service that has stood New England communities well for many years. What the future holds for call men in Winchester remains to be seen. They have done their part effectively in fighting Winchester's fires. The town is in their debt whatever happens.

Toastmistress Club Provides Experience In Public Speaking

WINCHESTER TOASTMISTRESS CLUB MEMBERS, all set to evaluate a speech, to time it and to deliver it are, left to right, Miss Hilda Hope, timer and evaluator; Mrs. Phyliss Pierson, treasurer; Mrs. Evelyn Sostek, secretary; Mrs. Hope Powell, president; Mrs. Barbara Harrington, vice president; and Mrs. Beulah Thompson, speaker.

Your speech is over. You have put time and effort into preparing it. Do you sigh with relief, sit back and relax?

Not if you're a Toastmistress Club member! You've still got to face evaluation of your speech in terms of its strengths and weaknesses. Did you have "whiskers?" Or perhaps "fig leaf hands?" These are just two of the questions a Toastmistress evaluator may direct at you.

When a Toastmistress evaluator accuses a speaker of having "whiskers," she means that the speaker's words were not clean cut. The speaker "and ahh-ed," or just "ah-ed" throughout the talk. The term "fig leaf hands" is used to indicate lack of gestures, static delivery, hands clasped together.

But all is not negative! An evaluator considers the good points in one's speech, too.

Speech evaluation, however, is just one of the activities of the Toastmistress Club. Club women are trained not only in public speaking but in parliamentary procedure and in major aspects of church, civic and club activities.

International

The International Toastmistress Clubs were organized in 1938 by wives and friends of California Toastmasters. The infant non-profit corporation was to be international in scope to afford women everywhere the opportunity for self-development through study of the technique of effective speaking and leadership.

The first Toastmistress Club on the East Coast was the Winchester Club, formed in 1948. Charter members, Miss Hilda Hope and Mrs. Alice Coldwell are still active. Following the lead of the Winchester club, there are now 19 clubs in the New England region.

Speech Training

A Toastmistress club meeting is planned to give each member training in speech and leadership skills so that, when an opportunity comes to use these skills in some other situation, the member will feel competent to handle the assignment.

Each meeting has a hostess, whether the meeting is held at a member's home, restaurant, or public hall. Being hostess consists of creating an atmosphere of friendliness and welcoming guests. Invocation or grace is presented at the opening of the meeting.

Topicmistress

The Topicmistress of the evening presents subjects to the members for impromptu talks. These short talks help members overcome timidty and give them experience in speaking before a group.

The extemporaneous talks are usually one of the highlights of any Toastmistress meeting. One may receive a subject of which she knows little, and filling two minutes, talking while thinking, is as stimulating for audience as speaker. The invaluable aid that these short topics offer the members is will power. The words "I can't" are unknown in a Toastmistress' vocabulary.

Business, Too

The business portion of each meeting offers training by participation and gives the member a feeling of confidence when she is asked to take office in some other group. The business meeting is usually brief.

Rotating at different meetings are talks on Parliamentary Procedure, Lexicology and Grammar. Parliamentary knowledge is useful in any organization. The Lexicologist informs members on the derivation and use of words. The Grammarian notes common errors in grammar, phraseology, pronunciation, and enunciation.

Programs

The program, usually consisting of prepared speeches, is eagerly awaited at each meeting. Speakers either choose their own subjects, present assigned subjects or adhere to a theme. All methods involve excellent training. Taking an assigned part on a program presents an opportunity to learn to organize and express ideas within a specified time in an objective, acceptable, effective and pleasing manner.

Each meeting has a Toastmistress who presents the program. Her job is to introduce the speakers correctly and interestingly, and to tie the program together.

Clock Watcher

Gone are the days of the after-dinner speaker rambling on and on, putting his listeners to sleep.

An important person at each Toastmistress meeting is the Timer. Every action is alloted a certain amount of time — known beforehand to the participating member — and the Timer keeps close watch. Starting and stopping at the right time establishes an extremely important liaison between speaker and audience.

Evaluator

The Evaluator is the last participator on the program. She not only evaluates the speakers, but all participants in the meeting, watching audience reaction and noting how the meeting as a whole was conducted.

Evaluation informs members of specific points on which to improve. All assignments, except the elected officers, are changed at each meeting so Toastmistress members may learn by doing.

Five Towns

The Winchester Toastmistress Club is composed of women from Winchester, Medford, Arlington, Woburn and Melrose. Meeting every second and fourth Monday evenings, the club alternates its location between the Common Room, Church of the Epiphany, and homes of various members.

Several times a year, joint dinner meetings are held with other Toastmistress Clubs from the greater Boston area.

An annual event that members of the Winchester Toastmistress Club look forward to is the joint meeting with the Lexington Toastmasters Club. With the Toastmistresses against the Toastmasters, sparks and eloquent phrases fly.

Workshops

Toastmistress events, other than local, include workshops between New England clubs — all part of Toastmistress International Council 5. Workshops are informal discussions between clubs, in which one club may help another apply a technique of speech or leadership training. Council meetings serve to draw the New England clubs closer together.

The event that climaxes a Toastmistress' year is the International Convention. Members start working early in the year preparing their speeches. Speech contests are first held in the individual clubs. Winners then compete on the area level and the winner of the area level continues on to the regional level.

The speech contest winner of each region (Winchester Toastmistress Club belongs to the Northeast region) competes at the International Convention. At the convention, 24 hours before the speech contest, contestants are presented three titles and allowed to choose one. This assures all participating equal preparation time and subject matter. The 1960 convention was held in Los Angeles last July. Delegates were present from such distant points as Bangkok and South America, as well as from most parts of the United States.

The present officers in the Winchester Toastmistress Club are Mrs. Hope Powell, president; Mrs. Barbara Harrington, vice president; Mrs. Evelyn Sostek, secretary; and Mrs. Phyliss Pierson, treasurer.

The committee chairmen are: Mrs. Mary Ann Quimby, Grammarian; Mrs. Alice Coldwell, Librarian; Mrs. Beulah Thompson, Hospitality; Miss Hilda Hope and Mrs. Ann Pyne, Program; Mrs. Inez Yagjian, Lexicologist; and Mrs. Pamela Papadinis, Publicity.

A commercial heard on imaginary station I.T.C. (International Toastmistress Clubs) expresses it well — "Are you run down, tired, scared and nervous when talking publicly? Do you shun chairmanships and offices in organizations for lack of knowledge on how to manage them? Then you need the thinking woman's answer. Your local Toastmistress Club! It will give you the spark and push you have been missing. Hurry to the nearest telephone, (you won't be obligated) and dial PA 9-0427 to realize how the Winchester Toastmistress Club can help you. Soon you too will be using the Toastmistress motto — "To love our language, and use it with grace and facility."

THE FADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER

By WILSON SULLIVAN

"No single newspaper, with two or three brilliant exceptions, will bring an educated man anything like all the news he needs to know of his city, the nation, and the world."

That's the verdict of Professor Carl E. Lindstrom, former managing editor of the Hartford Times, in his blistering new book, "The Fading American Newspaper."

Consistently scooped by television and radio, Lindstrom argues, the metropolitan newspaper is going the way of gaslight, because it has failed to respond intelligently to revolutionary forms of competition. Capitulating to the business ethic, it has lost its punch and power in "a hollow attempt to be all things to all men."

Once dedicated and influential, Lindstrom writes, the U. S. press is effectively silenced or inhibited by advertising interests, who regard it not as the Constitutionally protected source of information but as a "great friendly shaggy pet that wants to play." Instead of educating and leading men, he adds, the press has embraced mediocrity, becoming stereotyped, "massively common, and undiscriminating as to taste, intelligence, social needs and civic responsibility."

* * *

The American press, Lindstrom believes, is the most parochial in the world. Most editors, he says, operate on the theory that "There's no readership for foreign news," by which they mean that world affairs do not yield as much profit at the news stand as, say, Ava Gardner's love-life, murder in Detroit or a fire around the corner. When the penny press does take note of the world, it does so largely in terms of crisis, dropping a story as soon as it loses its sensational appeal.

For Mr. Lindstrom, the editorial page epitomizes the decline of the American press. This relic, Lindstrom writes, is "the vermiform appendix of the American newspaper, of no known use, its potential for trouble slight and easily contained."

Offending no one, the editorialist stands safe, grave and grey on solid neutral ground. But no one fancies a milktoast, Lindstrom points out. "Opinion to be respected must be firm, thoughtful, unmistakable. To attempt being all things to all people is to be nothing much to anybody."

Determined to keep the community atmosphere friendly, "sweet" and homey, Lindstrom says, the newspaper editor habitually "looks the other way," particularly when one of his accounts is involved. With controversial dirt swept neatly under the rug, the high-speed presses roll with tidbits for all the family tucked into rare space not occupied by ads: astrology, recipes for dandelion wine, advice to the lovelorn, bird-watching, backgammon—everything but reliable news.

Supplementing this family fare as "circulation-builders" are community contests and other specimens of gimmickry including preposterous "full color" pictures, seldom in register and apparently dedicated to the proposition that red is orange and blue is purple.

* * *

Recent newspaper strikes, Lindstrom suggests, indicate that people are simply not dependent on their second-rate newspaper for information more profound than that dispensed on TV or radio. In the Presidential election the almost instantaneous communication of these media made newspaper coverage seem superfluous and anticlimactic.

In spite of this basic defect, newspaper editors still subscribe to the tradition of the "scoop," convinced that only the story with "just-new breathlessness" is "news." The result of this stubborn rejection of facts, Lindstrom believes, has been emphasis on "immediacy" rather than quality of content, a pointless straining for new "leads," a surrender to minutiae and half-told stories.

Indeed, Lindstrom writes, the U. S. press is doing its best to validate Mr. Webster's definition of "journalese" as colloquial English marked by "superficiality of thought and reasoning, clever or sensational presentation of material and evidence of haste in composition."

The failure of the press to fulfill its Constitutional mission to inform the public, Lindstrom believes, has already taken its major toll: America's vast unawareness of the revolutionary world around it and consequent recklessness and complacency in national conduct.

letters to the editor

Why Is It?

Editor of the Star:

Following is an open letter to our distinguished fellow-Townsman, Governor-elect John A. Volpe.

In the recent political campaign in Massachusetts, as far as I noticed, you were the only one seeking a major office who brought up the vitally important matter of Highway Safety.

Not too long ago on T.V.'s "Starring the Editors," David Brickman of the Malden News, when questioned, said he was quite sure that when you became Governor, you would be very much interested in a traffic safety program.

In the thought that any private person has the right to move for enforcement of the law, why is it that the people of this great Commonwealth of Massachusetts sit idly by and allow from ten to twelve people every week to meet tragic death on our highways? Perhaps we might find some reason for thought in the following paragraphs from a wonderful editorial in the Boston Daily Record of March 16, 1959:

"Why is it that, unless a man's own home is directly affected by a tragedy, a death on a street means so little to so many of us?"

"And usually it is a form of death that is no respecter of persons. Perfectly innocent people die in twisted wreckage as swiftly and as agonizingly as the hare-brained crackpots who cause the disasters."

"People possessing the greatest and rarest of skills, irreplaceable to mankind, have their lives snuffed out as casually as the dolts who turn automobiles into murder instruments."

"The public and official apathy about automobile accidents is a monstrous thing and utterly unworthy of intelligent and responsible Americans."

So. Mr. Volpe, because you are a sincere and intelligent man, may I please ask you why it is that so many people are allowed to die so needlessly? Is it because many of us have neither heart nor soul? Or is it simply that we take the time to go to the polls to vote some one or another into public office and then care nothing further about what goes on?

Two years ago, a special highway patrol was advocated along with a no-fix ticket. Two years have passed and we have neither, while in the meantime at least a thousand persons have died from accidents on our highways.

Recently, we were informed that there would be an 11% increase on the cost of our compulsory insurance, to total around five million dollars. Would it not have been better for our Legislature to have accepted the findings of the special committee to have given us the protection on the highways and the no-fix ticket such as the state police have in effect, and as a result saved many of these lives and lowered the cost of insurance?

We cannot possibly save these lives without the proper amount of law enforcement. We cannot get very far as long as corrupt politicians don't care and police officials continue to fix.

Time is of the essence. Human life is at stake!

Respectfully,
Jim Corrigan

Stand on Teen Driving Antedated Tragedy

Editor of the Star:

Thanks a lot for the attention your editorial column pays to teen-age problems. Your editorial "A Lesson From Wellesley" was especially appreciated.

I would like to point out that my stand against licensing the 16 and 17-year-olds was strengthened but not prompted by our recent tragedy. As long ago as October 1956 when legislation on the subject was pending I sent the following letter to Wellesley's State House Representative and Senator:

"In view of the fact that the automobile is contributing to the problems connected with the high school age group, I would like to go on record as strongly recommending a change in the age at which car registrations and drivers' licenses are issued from age 16 to at least age 18.

"It seems to me that you, as a member of the General Court, have an opportunity to advocate a piece of legislation that can work for the good of all. May I have an indication of your reaction to this proposal."

I hope that during this coming session of the legislature there will be many who will want to call for action on this subject and will so inform their law-makers.

In the meantime I have written to Governor-elect Volpe urging him to take the initiative in his opening message and support legislation, looking toward the elimination of the automobile from the high school age group.

"Well Done!"

Editor of the Star:

Your paper deserves a sincere "Well Done" from the volunteers and staff of the Greater Boston United Fund for the vital role you played in telling the story of this year's campaign.

Your assistance, in light of this year's national and local elections, cannot be too highly praised. An informed public is essential to the success of this or any campaign; in giving the United Fund far more than basic cooperation you have become a main factor in promoting "People Helping People."

Sincerely yours,
Boone Gross

Country's Proudest Town

(from "The Sport Trail" by James E. Doyle in the Cleveland Plain Dealer)

"The Governor-elect of Massachusetts and the year's most famous college footballer both live in the town of Winchester . . . And if you'll agree with all the other residents of that town that Navy's Joe Bellino is one of the greatest of all-time All-American backs, they'll forgive you for not knowing the name of the Governor-elect . . . It was a handsome run that John Volpe made at the polls two weeks ago . . . But even his best Winchester friends must admit that a run of that type couldn't be compared with the runs of Joe Bellino."

Health for All

Especially For You

At some time during our lives we all have to take medicine—and the label on the medicine bottle has been designed especially for you. Because certain information about medicine cannot be placed on the small space of a prescription label, the Middlesex TB and Health Association offers the following advice for their safe use:

Follow the directions given you by your doctor either personally or by way of the instructions on the label.

Never take a medicine prescribed for someone else, even though you feel you have the same illness.

Never take medicine in the dark. Always be sure to read the label—and be sure you're taking what you think you're taking.

If you run out of medicine, phone your physician and let him make a decision about continuing it.

All medicines should be labeled. If the label begins to come off, stick it back with a strip of cellophane tape.

Close the medicine container immediately after using. Some medicines get stronger, others weaker, if the container is left open.

Pour from a bottle of liquid medicine with the label up. This keeps the label clean and easy to read.

Above all, keep all medicines out of the reach of children.

Remember that medicines are scientifically compounded chemical preparations designed to perform certain specific things in the body. They are prescribed for a particular condition for a particular individual for use at a particular time.

CHANCEL CHOIR OF THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, to present Christmas vesper service with junior choirs.

First Congregational Church Christmas Vesper Service

The Senior Choir and the two Junior Choirs will present a beautiful Christmas Vesper Service on Sunday, December 11, at 4:30 p.m. in the Church Sanctuary.

The musical program will be directed by Robert A. White, choir director and Miss Yuko Hayashi, organist. Members of the church school, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Reed, Religious Education director, will present Tableaux during several of the anthems. Mr. Wesley Mallery, associate minister, will read selected passages from the scripture.

The service will include several carols sung by the senior choir, two carols by the junior choir, and a Bach Cantata "For Us A Child Is Born" presented by the senior choir.

Four soloists will take part in the service: Mrs. James Shiang, soprano; Miss Flora Mardigian, contralto; Mr. C. Ray Bryan, tenor, and Mr. John Kern, bass. We encourage people to come early to hear special Christmas organ selections played by Miss Yuko Hayashi.

This is a family service and pageant. It is hoped that many parents will bring their children to this lovely portrayal of the meaning of Christmas as told through song, tableaux, and scriptural reading.

The Christmas Vesper Service will be followed by a family supper in Chidley Hall. Families are requested to bring sandwiches, cocoa, coffee and dessert will be served for 25c a person. There will be carol singing. We hope to see your family there.

Reservations may be made at the Church School Office, PA 9-1056 before 5 p.m. Friday, December 9. All families of the church are welcome to attend.

About Your Social Security

The Social Security Amendments signed by the President on September 13 will bring eligibility to an additional 285,000 retired workers and their survivors throughout the country.

The amount of work people need to qualify for benefits is reduced. Instead of needing two calendar quarters of work for every four quarters after 1950, the number of required quarters is now one for three. A minimum of six quarters of work is still required. Anyone who has been told in the past that he did not have enough covered work should get in touch with his social security office, if he has at least 1½ years of work. Benefit payments under this change can begin with the month of October (payable in November).

An additional 25,000 people, many of them aged widows, will benefit by changes in the law. Payments can be made to widows, aged dependent parents, and disabled sons and daughters of certain qualified workers who died after March 31, 1938, and before January 1, 1940. The aged dependent widowers of women workers who died before September, 1950, may now get benefits also. October 1960 was the first month for which these benefits could be paid. In all cases of eligibility an application must be made before payments can start.

Several significant provisions of the Social Security Amendments of 1960 have up to now received little publicity. Among these provisions are the following:

Beginning with the month of December, the monthly benefit of each child of a worker who has died will be three-quarters of the amount that the worker would have received if he had lived and drawn retirement benefits. Not all families will get increases. Where only one child is entitled to benefits, the child is already getting the amount payable under the new law. Also, families now receiving the maximum amount that can be paid will not get an increased check. The increased amounts will be added automatically to the checks received in January, 1961 (for the month of December, 1960).

A further change allows benefits to be paid to wives, stepchildren, and adopted children of retired and disabled workers, if the relationship has been in effect for at least one year. In addition the lump-sum death payment can now be paid directly to the funeral director if no widow or widower of the deceased survives, and the person responsible for the payment of the burial expenses agrees to this disposition, or if no one assumes responsibility for the burial expenses within 90 days of the date of death.

For further information about these amendments, phone, write, or call at your social security district office at 2 Trowbridge Street, Cambridge, UNiversity 4-3900.

A Memo To Clubs

If your club has not yet been contacted regarding a feature story on its activities, it will be. The Star hopes to do a story like this one on every club in Winchester. We feel the stories will be of genuine interest to club members themselves and to the town at large.

Better still: if we haven't contacted you why not give us a buzz? In this way we could publish the stories on a first-come-first serve basis.

Stories should concern the history, objectives, major activities and membership of your club and should not exceed 5½ double-spaced typewritten pages in length. In addition a photograph of a representative club activity

Thousands of pounds of candy are distributed by the Salvation Army each holiday season to children, to the imprisoned, to the lonely and to servicemen. In the Greater Boston area close to 15,000 individuals will receive a Christmas gift from the Salvation Army.

THE SALVATION ARMY

GLAD TO HELP THE SALLIES! Governor-elect Volpe contributes to Salvation Army's Christmas Campaign.

Theories Of Probability Are Discussed

"The probability is 9 to 1 that two students in this group have the same birthday," said David Lev of the Information Technology Laboratory at the first meeting of the WHS Math Club on Wednesday, November 30.

The 44 students present strongly challenged this statement of Mr. Lev, who was illustrating the theory of probability. But investigation proved that four pairs of students had the same birthday.

The speaker discussed the importance of the theories of probability, information and measurement of information in industries which require computing and information gathering machines. He also showed the group how the hazy, meaningless photographs of objects in space taken by satellite cameras are clarified and evaluated by mathematical reasoning.

The topics covered in the lecture are not part of the regular high school curriculum.

The student officers in the Math Club are Ambrose Devaney, president; John Fenoglio, vice president; Dean Anderson, secretary; and William Eddy, treasurer.

Volpe Opens Salvation Army Christmas Drive

Governor-elect John A. Volpe officially opened the Salvation Army Christmas Program with the initial contribution today at the traditional kettle tended by Captain Louise Davidson. At the same time he joined with Lt.-Colonel James Hepburn, Massachusetts Divisional Commander of the Salvation Army, in issuing an urgent appeal for continued generosity on the part of all Greater Bostonians to "keep the kettles boiling."

Mr. Volpe pointed out that this special financial assistance is needed during the Christmas season to guarantee toys for youngsters, clothing for the very "neediest children," baskets of groceries for underprivileged families, dinners for homeless men and other services provided by the Christmas Cheer Program.

"Nearly 20,000 individuals," the Governor-elect noted, "were assisted by the Salvation Army last year, and with our full co-operation the Salvation Army can help even more this Christmas."

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons, as well as those with small children and limited incomes, need help at Christmas if this holiday is to be a happy occasion in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season, gifts of money, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

S. O. I. Bowling

Since the S. O. I. bowling takes place each Thursday evening, there was no competition during Thanksgiving week. League matches resumed last Thursday and Boston College still maintains first position, although 12th-place St. Mary's took three points from the leaders at the last outing. Those giving such stiff opposition to the top team were R. Tauro, "Slim" Lentine, Billy Maggio and Joe Paonessi.

The last bowling session produced no major change in the standings. Boston College, Yale and Navy still hold the top three positions. Harvard moved from fifth to fourth, Army from fifth to sixth; and Georgetown dropped two notches, from fourth to sixth.

All eyes will be focused on two very important matches at the next get-together. Yale trails first-place Boston College by a mere two points. Boston College takes on upset-minded eighth-place Alabama. The leader is comprised of Captain Joe Berardi, Vin Puma, Frank Provinzano, Joe DiIorio, Carl Bertolucci, and Ralph Fiore; while the challengers have a confident group in Sonny Gallello, Rocky DeTeso, Dan Gattineri, Ted Peluso, Mike Saraco and Dom Gallello.

On another alley second-place Yale is in for a rough night bowling against dangerous and fast-coming Harvard.

Yale, comprised of such competent bowlers as Capt. Art Dunbar, Moose Bellino, Mike Collucci, John Dattilo, Frank DiMambro and Joe Paonessa, faces a Harvard lineup of Capt. Hokie Procopio, Frank Dattilo, Jim Figlioli, Angie Amico, Bill Fiore and Ben Gigliotti.

Attendance prize at the last meeting was won by Carl "Money-Mad" Bertolucci. If he's not bowling he's collecting money, and this time we see him collecting two ways. Well, we can't all win, Carl, so congratulations. But watch out next time.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

The cold weather we had last Wednesday certainly didn't affect the bowlers. On the contrary, the bowling scores proved it was quite warm on the inside.

For a brief moment I was ready to run for the smelling salts, for there lay Dolly, literally out cold. The reason? She got a strike! There you are, Dolly, it can be done!

That was just the beginning. There were two girls who really had a fabulous night. First it was Terry Nappa, who (she was due sooner or later) bowled a terrific single of 123, and a 3-string total of 308. Terry can certainly make those bowling pins follow her command.

This you won't believe (she still doesn't, herself), but Evie Giacalone bowled 100 in one string and a total of 247. In that 100 string she earned the "$50" bonus. She bowled three spares in a row! They tell me she took the score sheet home to show her family. I wouldn't blame her if she framed it! That is something to be proud of.

Notice that we have strangers in the 100 circle. It is good to see the old standbys, but it is about time we are hearing from more of the others. There are many good bowlers who have yet to show their worth.

Just look where the Garnets are! They are in sixth place now, which proves they are no easy mark and will demand more respect. Keep it up.

The Sapphires are really going wild. They came through with the highest team pinfall for a single string of 465. It will take some bowling to beat that score.

Talk about having an option on the lucky number! The Opals have kept it on their team for three weeks. This time it was Kay Lentine.

Toastmistress will be Barbara Harrington, Topic Mistress will be Hilda Hope. The Education will be presented by Mary Ann Quimby. Topic Critic will be Evelyn Sostek; Member Critic, Beulah Thompson and General Evaluator, Mary Ann Quimby.

Toastmistress is an organization of women who want to be able to think clearly and express their thoughts with ease and confidence. Its training marks the difference between idle chatter and organized opinions spoken effectively. All interested women are invited to call Pamela Papadinis, PA 9-0427.

Chris Powers of Pond Street, known to motorists throughout the Mystic Valley through his association with the Ideal Oldsmobile Co. of Medford, returned home December 1 from the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary after an operation for the removal of a cataract. He expects to be able to return to his business in the near future.

Hockey Team Elects Captains

At the annual banquet held last Thursday night, it was announced that Carole Lawson, 85 Pond Street, and Jane Hess, 4 Mayflower Road, were elected co-captains for the 1961 Winchester High School girls' field hockey team.

Carole was one of the team's leading scorers in 1960, while Jane bolstered both the offense and the defense from her position at left halfback. Both girls are juniors who will give Winchester a strong nucleus for next season's ambitious schedule.

The banquet was held at 7 Winslow Road, home of one of this year's tri-captains, Barbara Stewart, who starred at the wing position. Guests included the entire regular varsity squad plus some of the alternates, invited through the courtesy of Barbara and her fellow captains, Joan Denton, 11 Manchester Road, and Martha Maloney, 6 Lincolnshire Way.

Following the banquet, complete with appropriate decorations, a victory cake and table favors for all, the team presented their coach with an engraved sterling silver Paul Revere Bowl. The coach, Miss Eleanor Keady, is one of the stars of the All-New England women's field hockey team. Her untiring efforts in molding a successful varsity from a small returning group of last year's squad won the plaudits of followers and team members alike.

W.H.S. Library Plays Vital Educational Role

The backbone of an educational system is composed of the concepts that are learned by the individual. These concepts are passed on from generation to generation either by word of mouth or via the printed page. Today we are confronted not only with a wealth of knowledge from the past but also by newly discovered principles, particularly in the field of science.

ELIZABETH LIVINGSTONE

Consequently the formidable task of having these materials before us for use is delegated to the library systems of a community in the form of books. Thus to a degree the educational achievements of a community or school, depend upon the availability of a wide assortment of information.

This is a brief look at one such facility within our community—the Winchester High School Library. The role of the library in the public school is important as the service center for students and faculty. Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Livingstone, Winchester High School's library seeks to serve the student body and teachers with all types of materials in supplementing the needs of the curriculum.

The library's book collection numbers about 9,000 with fifty-six periodicals and six newspapers including daily Boston editions, the Sunday New York Times, the Winchester Star and the English publication of the Manchester Guardian. Students are free to borrow materials from the library on a two weeks basis with renewal privileges. As the library opens with school, students are able to use it before and after school and during their free periods.

The materials are selected and organized to supplement as much as possible the curriculum being offered. The strongest sections are social studies and English. There is a definite lack in foreign languages although a start has been made through the Carrier gifts and a foreign language periodical.

New fields such as psychology, require starting from scratch. Books art selected upon teachers' suggestions, demand, and recommendations of professional journals. The average cost of a book is now over $4.00 as compared to $2.75 a few years ago. This necessarily curtails the purchasing of new books with a budget still geared for the $2.75 allotment.

Standards for School Library Programs published by the American Library Association sets the following as adequate standards in library purchasing. For every student body over three-hundred, it is recommended that from four to six dollars be spent per pupil annually in library materials. A further suggestion is one library staff member for each group of three-hundred students.

This past year, the Winchester High School library was able to spend only $1.16 per student with the average cost of a book now being $4.40. These previous suggestions, of course, are high standards, but nevertheless worthy of consideration if the library is to maintain a high quality.

This high school collection can naturally only begin to supply necessary material. Consequently students are encouraged to use the school's facilities and then go to the public library for additional resources. One of the high school library's main functions is to acquaint students with library procedures and resources so that they will make better use of libraries wherever they may be.

At the public library Mrs. Leila Jane Roberts works with the young people. Teachers cooperate with her in assignments and needed materials as much as possible. The school library's collection for most needs is adequate, but in some assignments to large groups and papers requiring many sources, the students need to include public library resources.

There are several specific gifts that have enabled the purchase of materials otherwise impossible. The Robert W. Keeney Memorial, in honor of the head of the English department from 1930 to 1955, was presented by the class of 1955 for books. Friends also made possible Mr. Keeney's portrait and additional books.

A friend of the late Earl W. Carrier gave a gift of French and German books and dictionaries.

From the class of 1959 were books on literature which strengthened the 800's, especially the drama section.

The Wilder Parkhurst Fund provides interest to buy books for the high school library and special materials that cannot be otherwise purchased.

The high school librarian, Miss Elizabeth Livingstone, is familiar to Winchester residents as she was born and raised here. Miss Livingstone graduated from Winchester High School in 1927, then attended the University of Maine and Simmons College School of Library Science. For four years she worked in the Winchester Public Library when the present building was first erected. Following this she spent five years at Lasell Junior College before coming to Winchester High School in the spring of 1945.

Our New Teachers

Mrs. Ruth Graham, who teaches third grade at the Parkhurst School, came to Winchester in March of 1959 as an assistant in the kindergarten at that school. In September, 1959, she was transferred to the fifth grade at Parkhurst, and this year became a regular member of the Parkhurst staff.

MRS. RUTH GRAHAM

Mrs. Graham is a Woburn girl. She was born in Woburn and graduated from Woburn High School in 1935. She graduated from Fisher Business College in 1937 and until her marriage in 1940 was a secretary at the Massachusetts Limb and Brace Co. in Boston.

In 1955 Mrs. Graham entered Lesley College and from that time until 1959 conducted her own private kindergarten in Woburn.

She continued her studies while teaching her kindergarten and after she came to Winchester in March of 1959, combining her studies and teaching with raising three children.

Mrs. Graham and her husband, who is an instrument man at Monsanto Chemical Company, make their home at 8 Charles Street in Woburn. She lists the only hobby she can find time for as music, playing the piano and choir singing.

High School Get-Together

This Friday, December 9 the Community School Association is sponsoring a High School get-together to be held in the High School gymnasium from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

There will be a variety of fun, things to do including card games, ping pong and dancing.

The evening's activities are being run by the student government and all sophomores, juniors and seniors are invited to attend.

Please wear school clothes and come to have fun!

Training At Connally AFB

First Lieutenant Douglas W. Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins of 242 Highland Avenue, has been assigned to James Connally Air Force Base, Texas, for pre-flight and primary basic navigator training.

A 1952 graduate of Winchester High School, Lieutenant Hawkins received a degree in English from Amherst College in 1956, and a commission in the Air Force through the ROTC program.

LT. DOUGLAS HAWKINS

He captained both his high school and college basketball teams and continued his interest in the game by playing and coaching while in the service.

Students in the navigator program receive basic, radar and celestial navigation training in the T-29 aircraft, the Air Force's "flying classroom." After their 35-week training period at James Connally AFB, the officers are assigned to Air Force installations throughout the world, serving with Strategic Air Command or Military Air Transport service units.

James Connally AFB is part of Air Training Command, which trains personnel for America's expanding aerospace force of aircraft and missiles.

Winchester C. C. Sponsors Friendly Bonspiel

The fifth annual Friendly Bonspiel will be held at the Winchester Country Club Curling Rink this coming week end, December 10-11. The purpose of "The Friendly" is to bring together, early in the season, rinks from the various New England Curling Clubs to further the good friendship that continues to grow each year among fellow curlers.

The "Friendly" differs from most Bonspiels in that no rinks are eliminated from play. Instead the winner is decided on the greatest number of points scored on a plus and minus basis.

Twelve rinks will compete representing the following clubs. Albany, Brae Burn, Highland, Nashua, Norfolk, T.C.C. Brookline, Wellesley, Weston and Winchester.

The popularity of curling is growing in this section as evidenced by Brae Burn having just completed building their new rink and Weston having a team for the first time to enter in this Winchester competition.

Dr. Angelo Maietta is the chairman of this year's Bonspiel which promises to be as interesting and enjoyable to both participants and spectators as the successful Friendlies of recent years.

Legion Post Entertains

Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, is holding its annual Charitable Fund Turkey Drawing on Saturday evening, December 10, at the Legion Hall on Vine Street, starting at 8 o'clock.

There will be dancing to a jazz band with other forms of entertainment during the program.

All members of the Post have been busy selling tickets and during the evening there are to be twenty turkeys given to the lucky ticket holders. A door prize is also to be presented to the lucky person holding the winning ticket.

This annual function is for worthwhile causes in which Winchester Post participates, such as, Junior Legion Baseball, Christmas Kiddies Party, welfare of several needy families in the town, educational scholarships, Boys' State Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, Veterans' Hospitals and others.

Chairman Ben Cullen has an industrious committee, comprising Walter Appleton, Richard Dexter, Emilio Del Rossi, Frank Provinzano, Ben Stevenson, Al Lynch, John Cullen, John Bourinot, John Doherty, Sandy McKenzie and Kingman Cass are working hard to make this function a successful one and he hopes to see many of you at the affair. Proceeds are for excellent causes and you will certainly enjoy yourselves, so come on down and be a part of it.

SECOND DOWN, THREE TO GO! Linesman Tony Saraco snapped at Wakefield game this fall.

Saraco Well Known To Football Fans

Ask any regular attendant at Winchester football games who the stocky little chap holding the line marker is, and it is dollars to doughnuts he will answer, "Tony Saraco". "Tony" has been serving as linesman so long that most of the fans know him by name. He has been handling the lineman's job at Winchester games since 1947, so long that he is almost taken for granted as an integral part of the local football scene.

Those whose knowledge of Winchester football goes back to the forties remember Tony as a fiery little halfback on some of Coach Knowlton's earliest teams in town. Henry himself thinks highly of Tony's football efforts as an active player and could have done with some of his fighting spirit during the season just past.

Tony is now a carrier out of the Winchester Post Office, assigned to Route 12. He was born in Winchester on Oak Street and was graduated from Winchester High School in 1944.

He still recalls his final season at Winchester in 1943. He and Frank DiMambro flanked Sam Tibaudo, one of Winchester's great all time fullbacks, in the backfield of the '43 team, a team that had a 6-3-1 record.

Woburn with "Butter" Abreu, beat Tony's team, 7-6, but after the game it was learned that Tibaudo played most of the morning with a shoulder injury that handicapped him tremendously. Tony will always contend if Sam had taken himself out the team might have won since they had as second string fullback a burly youngster by the name of John West who was mighty hard to keep bottled up, especially by a tired opposing team.

Tony still recalls the Danvers game of 1943 when "Rat" DiMambro ran from deep in his own territory for a touchdown, only to have the play called back for a 15 yard penalty.

"I ran interference for him on the play," recalled Tony, "and I ran it again for him when he repeated his touchdown dash on the very next play. This time the ball was not brought back! DiMambro also had a great day against Wakefield in '43, and there have been few backs in Winchester's history faster straight-a-way than this same little speedboy.

Tony went into the service from high school and after his boot training at Sampson, N. Y., was stationed in Newport, R. I., until he was assigned to the U. S. S. Torrence, a KA (cargo attached) ship.

The Torrence went south through the Panama Canal and into the Pacific, she and crew seeing action in the Philippine Campaign and at Okinawa during World War II.

While in Hollandia, New Guinea, Tony ran into Harold "Moon" Boardley, a Winchester boy, who had been with him at high school. After a gabfest over old times Harold loaned Tony a bundle of Winchester Stars after first extracting Saraco's bible oath that he would return them.

Tony got out of the service in 1946, and did a bit of stake handling that year, but it wasn't until 1947 that he took over the lineman's job at all Winchester games, now extended to duty at out-of-town games in which Winchester participates.

With Tony on the lines Winchester doesn't have to worry about having to gain more than the necessary 10 yards for a first down, or about the other team having less than ten yards to get. Tony watches those lines like a hawk!

In 13 years of service, Tony has missed one Winchester game, that at North Quincy several years ago. Sickness among the staff at the Post Office made it impossible for him to get to that one.

Tony is unmarried and makes his home at 33 Hemingway Street with his mother, Mrs. Anna Saraco. In the picture he is wearing the jacket presented him by the High School A.A. in recognition of his long and faithful service to the school.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive

The Winchester Muscular Dystrophy Drive has raised over $1,200 to date, Chapter President Norman Veenstra has announced who also stated that a deep vote of thanks goes out to each volunteer and contributor of this worthy cause.

In the Greater Boston Area over 200 victims of this crippling and fatal disease, for which there is no known cause or cure, will be helped through the purchase of wheel chairs, braces, lifts, etc. A free clinic is maintained at Massachusetts Memorial Hospital and research grants at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Harvard University and Boston City Hospital.

Muscular Dystrophy is the wasting away of healthy muscle tissues in over 200,000 victims (two-thirds of which are children that will rarely outlive their teens).

Have you played Chessers? It's a game, and you can get it, and other new games at the Winchester Star.

Dear friends,

The modern funeral service has evolved in response to public wishes from the more primitive service of our forefathers. The funeral director receives thorough training in the technical skills of his profession and the development of his innate tact, courtesy, patience and understanding.

We continually strive to become more proficient in our professional duties.

From James (1:17) the following will be read: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

Lions Bulb Drive Successful

The president of Winchester Lions Club, Frank Klayda, wishes to extend his sincere thanks to all the residents of this community who helped in the bulb sales, in the interest of eye research. The drive, according to chairman Salvatore Bonasera, was a complete success.

The proceeds, according to the past president, Mr. A. A. Zirpolo, in charge of Public Relations, are earmarked for eye research with a portion of it set aside to assist Winchester families who need medical assistance, glasses, etc.

Lions of Winchester are devoting their time and energies to stamp out this horrible disease, blindness. It requires the co-operation and assistance of all our citizens to continue this important project.

Again the Lions of Winchester wish to say, "we are grateful and humbly repeat, Thank You."

Mail-Early Campaign In High Gear

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun put his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign into high gear today.

The Postmaster said, "We're heading into an all time record for Christmas mail this year. Every facility of the Post Office has been expanded to render maximum service. We've added extra trucks and personnel. Special mailing schedules have been set up to insure prompt handling of the tremendous flood of both incoming and outgoing Christmas mail."

"The vast volume of Christmas mail is only part of our problem," the Postmaster continued, "Carelessly written names and addresses, poorly wrapped packages, insufficient postage, and other oversights are bound to result in delays and disappointments."

You can be sure of delivery of your Christmas cards and gifts before Christmas Eve if you will follow these simple requirements:

1.—Be sure your Christmas card and gift mailing lists are up-to-date.

Couples Club Yule Dance

The annual, gala, semi-formal Christmas dance of the Couples Club of the First Congregational Church will be held Friday, December 16, from 9:00 to 1:00 in Chidley Hall, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edwin Nelson of 6 Herrick Street.

Mrs. Nelson announces that the committee is going all out to provide a very joyous evening to help celebrate not only Christmas but the new official name of the club, now known as "The Congregators."

Music will be provided by Ken Reeves Orchestra which is renowned hereabouts for extremely danceable and varied music tempos to insure the dancing pleasure of all who will attend.

The committee, with the able assistance of their husbands, has been working feverishly to decorate the hall in the spirit of the season and rumor has it that Chidley Hall will be transformed into an extremely attractive setting for this annual Christmas dance.

The committee is also extremely secretive about arrangements for refreshments but the indications are that they will be palatable and unusual. In the party spirit, there will be surprise gifts for some of the lucky people attending.

One of the highlights planned for the evening will be the singing "Two-By-Fours" who will provide intermission entertainment.

Mrs. Nelson has informed the Star that her very active committee is made up of Mrs. Henry Gerould, Mrs. Warren Wells, Mrs. Frank Bates, Mrs. Philip Cabot, Mrs. Paul Gilpatrick, Mrs. Harold Pyne, Mrs. Jay Finn, Mrs. Richard Osgood, Mrs. Abe Zimmerman and Mrs. Robert Erickson.

All those wishing to make reservations for The Congregators Christmas Dance for Friday, December 16 in Chidley Hall should contact Mrs. Jay Finn, PA 9-1459; Mrs. Henry Gerould, PA 9-0514; Mrs. Philip Cabot, PA 9-5135; Mrs. Edwin Nelson, PA 9-4587. Dress, semi-formal.

Sachems Finish with 4-3-1 Record

Winchester Had Fair Gridiron Season. Third in Middlesex League.

When Winchester High dropped its 24-14 game to Woburn at Woburn Thanksgiving forenoon, the Sachems concluded a season which by Winchester standards can not be considered one of their better records. You have to go back to 1949 to find a comparable Winchester record. The Sachems lost four games that year but played a ten-game schedule. This year the locals lost three and tied one in eight games played.

Many high schools would be elated at winning a majority of their football games, but Winchester's year-in year-out success on the gridiron finds many fans dissatisfied with winning a mere majority of games.

Actually the Sachems, with their personnel this fall, did well to win more than they lost, and though he has had many years with better records, this year's team must rank with Coach Knowlton's best coaching efforts.

This year's team was strictly in and out, totally unpredictable and seldom playing up to its potential. As a matter of fact the Sachems played only one good game all season, that against Melrose, a game in which a blocked kick meant the difference between a win and a tie.

The blocked kick was made possible by an experienced Winchester back being out of position, and this sort of play was typical of the Sachem games all season. In all of the three games Winchester lost the local boys were completely outclassed, yet they showed potential enough to have made close games out of all three.

This year's team seemed generally to lack desire, and though at times they played as well as any opponent they met there was never any consistency to their effort.

Mike Brink on the line and Mikey Bellino in the backfield were outstanding for Winchester and Brink must rank with the real good linemen of recent years. Steady at all times, he made many key tackles and blocks, while his constant pursuit of the ball enabled him to recover opposing fumbles that helped the Sachems a lot.

Bellino, though seldom reaching his potential, was still one of the best backs hereabouts, and given a little blocking, would probably have scored many more times than he did. A good kicker and a fair passer, he was Winchester's only threat behind the line. At times Neville passed as well as any one in the league, but he lacked consistency, though how much this was due to lack of protection is a fair question.

This year's team regularly had Bell and Lawrence or Benincasa at ends; Captain Reardon and Horn at tackles; Brink and Dattilo at guards and Morison or McCormack at center. The backfield comprised Neville at quarterback, Carter, Keene, Hall and Geoghegan at halfbacks and Bellino at fullback.

Of this group only the captain-elect, Mike Bellino, Benincasa, Dattilo and Hall will be back another year. As a matter of fact, Hall, who was unable to play against Woburn because of scholastic difficulties, may not be in town another fall, since his father is an Air Force officer and likely to be transferred. Tommy Bell, junior end, is moving with his family to New Jersey.

Bolstering next year's chances are Donlon, end; Niblock, tackle; Vozzella, guard; Stafford, center; Colliander and Rowe, backs. All of these boys saw service with the varsity this year.

Donlon, Stafford, Colliander and Rowe were members of this year's Jay Vee eleven, which lost only its final game to Wakefield. Other members of the team were Bond, end; Nowell, tackle; McNeill and Mahoney, guards; Mooney, center; Casalinuova and Macdonald, backs.

Winchester got away to a reasonably good start, beating Concord in a good enough first game, 26-20. The Sachems then beat Stoneham, 14-6; Cambridge Latin, 38-6; and Lexington, 20-6.

Then came the tie with Melrose, high point of the Sachems' play all year. High for this game, Winchester couldn't get up again for Reading and lost, 22-0. The locals came back to beat Belmont, 20-18; but dropped its last two, to Wakefield, 38-12, and Woburn, 24-14. Most of the Sachems' games were close enough to be exciting, though hardly well played.

Winchester finished third in the Middlesex League behind Champion Reading and runner-up, Melrose. Wakefield finished fourth.

Confirmation At Epiphany

Bishop Anson P. Stokes, Bishop of Massachusetts, will administer the rite of Confirmation to a large class at the Church of the Epiphany during the Family Service at 9:15 a.m. Sunday, December 11. There will be a reception in Hadley Hall following the service, at which the newly confirmed and other members of the parish may meet the Bishop.

Senior Forum

Dr. Frank E. Duddy, Worcester Area Minister for the Mass. Congregational Christian Conference, will be the speaker at the Senior Forum chapel service this Sunday at 9:15 a.m. at the First Congregational Church, using as his topic "Windows Toward God."

Dr. Duddy has a long interest in young people in the church, dating from his days as a parish minister when he was very active in youth meetings and conferences. For many years pastor of North Congregational Church in Cambridge, he was minister to several families who have since moved to Winchester and are active in First Congregational Church here.

His present work in the Worcester area brings him in touch with the large numbers of students who are at school in that part of the state. Recently a "campus minister" has been appointed to work in Worcester private schools and colleges. Dr. Duddy's interest in young people has helped bring about this development.

Phil Dunn and Rick Osgood will serve as chaplains with Dave Bird and Bruce Carpenter acting as deacons and Jon Moody and Bill Palmer ushers.

Rehearsals are in progress for the annual Christmas play which will be presented by the Forum Dramatics Committee in Chidley Hall on December 18. Co-chairmen of the committee are Linnie Butts and Bucky Nichols. The adviser is Mrs. James Hollinshead.

For this dramatic service the morning chapel is held in Chidley Hall and the play takes the place of the morning address. All Forum parents and friends are invited to attend.

The Social Committee has met to make plans for the annual Mistletoe Dance which is scheduled for December 28 in Chidley Hall. Dianne Watson is chairman of the committee and will shortly be announcing further plans for this semi-formal dance.

Junior Mrs. Guild

The December meeting of the Junior Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will be held on Wednesday, December 14, at 7:45 p.m. in the Palmer Room. Inasmuch as this is a work meeting for the Friendly Service, it is urgently requested that all members attend.

Also we are reminded to bring with us at this time any one of the following items: birthday kits, complete with cake mixer, favors, etc.; story books, craft materials, first aid supplies, patterns, good useable clothing, shoes (no high heels), household linens, vitamins, etc.

For further information and for pick-up service telephone Mrs. Willis O. Hooker, PA 9-0855.

The above articles are to be distributed to the Indian churches of South Dakota through the generosity of the Friendly Service Groups across the nation.

Items are given to the church and the church people sell them for a few cents an article. The money received is then sent to the native Missionary Society which uses the money to support some of the Indian pastors.

Let us extend our "brotherhood" for this great needy cause and truly fulfill the spirit of Christmas in all of us.

Epiphany's Tuesday Group Yule Program

The Tuesday Group of the Parish of the Epiphany will have Kathleen Emerson Blaney as their guest speaker at the pre-Christmas meeting on Tuesday, December 13, beginning promptly at 3 p.m.

"Christmas Comes to America" will be the theme of Mrs. Blaney's talk highlighting the contributions of many lands and cultures to American Christmas customs. The explanation of origin and group singing of four Christmas carols, and a Christmas table setting with china, crystal, cloth, and silver from Mrs. Blaney's famous collection of antiques will be special features.

Mrs. Joseph Gibson's charming home at 14 Wedgemere Avenue will be the meeting place; Mrs. Charles Nichols, chairman of the Tuesday Group, will preside; and Mrs. Richard Carr's committee will be responsible for the tea hour which follows the program.

Duplicate Bridge Club

Combining six clear top boards with steady overall play, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson scored a well-deserved victory in Section A of the WDBC game on Wednesday, November 30. Behind the two leading pairs, East-West, there was a total spread of only one and a half points in the final scores of the entire remainder of the field, attesting to the closeness of competition throughout.

North-South

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, 78½

Helen Davenport and Georgie Gamage, 74½

Ann Wild and Jo Dingwell, 72½

James Bradley and Alvin Swonger, 70½

East-West

Kay McConnell and Barbara Sawyer, 78½

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, 65½

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sexton, 60

Ruby White and Polly Dallin, 60

In Section B, the Mainbergers showed that they were rounding into top form for the Club Championship by leading both fields in impressive fashion. On the ten table Mitchell movement with an 84 average, the results were:

North-South

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mainberger, 108½

Tom Kell and Blair Hawley, 104½

Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison, 92

Jane Wyllie and Betty Borgstrom, 87½

Philippa Young and Jerry Wadleigh, 86

East-West

Bob Armstrong and Bob Pritchard, 104½

Margaret Elwell and Donna Redpath, 103

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 93½

Dr. Widdowson and E. Parlee, 92½

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ross, 90½

For our three remaining bridge dates in December, the 14th, 21st, and 28th, the Club has arranged to have an extra player on hand for each of these Wednesday evenings. Any person, therefore, who is without a partner may simply come down to Knights of Columbus Hall before 7:30 p.m. with full assurance of being able to get into the game. No prior phone calls will be necessary. Since the atmosphere is relaxed and the accent particularly on fun during the Christmas season, we would especially welcome and encourage newcomers to Winchester to try out our games during the remainder of this month.

Many years ago, Culbertson pointed out some of the ways in which bridge could be compared to military warfare, particularly in respect to strategy, communications and timing. In the present era of duplicate bridge ascendancy, many of those precepts come even more clearly into focus.

In many of the classic wars of antiquity, massed armies faced each other in battle array across the field of combat. A bugle would sound, and the forces would engage each other in a clash of sheer power. Some players seem to approach every bridge board in this same spirit.

On the other hand, a small but mobile band of warriors would almost certainly be slaughtered to the last man by marching out to meet a vastly superior force. How much more effective it would be to let the foe line themselves up in impregnable armor at the expected battlefield, while you lead your ragged band to the now unprotected enemy castle, capture the princess and escape with all the gold and other riches!

The bridge parallel, of course, is obvious. You are sitting South, as dealer, and pick up the following hand against vulnerable opponents: S- 2, H- 9 8 7 6 5, D- 5, C- J 9 7 4 3. You may follow the normal course of passing and await developments. You may decide to clog up the bidding room by a call of three hearts. At one table, South was not too happy about either of these alternatives.

If North turned out to have enough count for an opening bid, the opponents would still have the balance of power and a probable fit in the higher ranking suit. If North were weak, the EW potential would be almost unlimited, or so this South reasoned. The heart suit was almost too short and shabby for an opening preempt, and a three heart bid would make it almost impossible for NS to then find what might have turned out to be a better sacrifice in clubs. Furthermore, an opening three bid always alerts the opponents to the possibility that they may have a slam their way.

South decided to put a burr in the saddle and bid one spade. If doubled there, he intended to run to two hearts and would be happy to play it there. If doubled again, he planned to bid three clubs. By this time, partner would know that the spade bid had been false and would now be in a position to choose between clubs and hearts at the three level. All very interesting theory, but we'd like to know what this South would have done if partner had jumped his opening bid to three spades, holding four to the queen and a scattered twelve points!

The bidding, however, actually veered off on an entirely different track. Here's what happened:

North
♠ A 5

♦ 10 7 6 4 3 2
♣ K 10 6 5 2

The bidding went

South	West	North	East

We won't offer any comment on these bids or on the resultant play of the hand; but on this occasion, at least, South had run off with the beautiful princess!

Glee Club Opens Season

To Sing Here December 17

The Mystic Glee Club gave its first concert of the season last Monday evening, December 5, at the Parish House of the Congregational Church in Reading. The varied program included traditional Christmas numbers and lighter music. Tonight the club will give a concert of sacred Christmas music at the Congregational Church in Malden.

On Saturday evening, December 17, the club will present its annual Christmas concert at the Junior High School in Winchester. This concert under the leadership of Wendell Withington, popular Melrose resident and able choregus who is well known as director of music in Winchester schools, will present a varied program of traditional Christmas music ranging from anthems through spirituals to show tunes.

It is predicted by Victor Guilbault, president of the club, that the concert with a program adjusted to the expressed preference of past audiences, will be received with even more enthusiasm than previous concerts. Austin Nanry of 239 Mystic Valley Parkway, is in charge of tickets.

The Mystic Glee Club has for over twenty years enjoyed the support of the residents of Arlington, Medford, Melrose, Reading, Wakefield, Winchester, and Woburn.

Papermate, Sheaffer's, Parker Esterbrook, and Scripto pens and fillers available at the Star office, 3 Church Street.

Fashions For Women

Miss Linda Faiola, Arlington designer, will present a collection of original designs at Simeone's White Spot, Woburn Four Corners on Wednesday, December 14, at 6:30 p.m.

Miss Faiola, a graduate of the Modern School of Fashion and Design, lends an interesting touch to this collection through the use of fabric and color. This presentation is open to the public.

Woburn Daily Times

STUDENT COUNCIL HEADS EXCHANGE CHECKS. Beverly Cummings, president of the Woburn High School Student Council, at a joint meeting held last Thursday at Woburn High School presents a check to Guild Nichols, president of the Winchester High School Student Council, receiving a check in return. Both checks were drawn from the funds of the Student Councils and were in payment for the damage done property in Woburn and Winchester before the football game between the two schools on Thanksgiving.

In accordance with estimates furnished by school authorities of both communities, and approved by Principal W. Howard Niblock of Winchester High School and Principal Henry D. Blake of Woburn High School, the Woburn Council paid $10, and the Winchester Council, $50. The money was turned over to the city and town treasurers respectively.

In addition to the exchange of checks, voluntarily voted by the two councils, the members discussed plans they hope will obviate future damage to property by students and continue the present friendly relations between the two schools.

Home Building Declined Here During October

Suburban Boston Real Estate "Trends," published by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of 50 Franklin Street, Boston, shows Winchester's real estate activity as indicated by the number of deeds recorded dropped somewhat during October of this year over October a year ago. In 1959, the number of deeds recorded was 38 against 24 this year.

Permits issued for new dwelling units during October of this year were six, as against 11 a year ago. The same figures for 10 months this year however, show a gain of 113 over 102 in 1959.

Real estate activity in the Boston suburban region in October, indicated by the number of deeds recorded was about even with October 1959, showing only a scant one per cent decline.

The total number of new dwellings undertaken, however, was 38 per cent less. For the first 10 months of 1960 deeds recorded were 8 per cent less than in the same months last year. The number of new dwellings undertaken was 15 per cent less than a year ago, or 16 per cent counting only houses privately financed.

The Framingham area again led home sales activity in October, with Norwood, second, and Waltham, third. Woburn, which includes Winchester, Salem, Quincy and Lynn were at or above the median of the 13 suburban areas.

Included in the Woburn area are Billerica, Burlington, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Tewksbury, Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn.

Billerica, Reading, Tewksbury and Wilmington show gains in deeds recorded this October over last with Woburn even for both years, Billerica, Burlington, Reading, Tewksbury and Wilmington show gains for 10 months this year over 1959.

Billerica, Burlington and Woburn show gains in permits for new dwelling units during October of this year over October of 1959, with Burlington and Wilmington showing the same figures for both years.

Billerica, Tewskbury, Winchester and Woburn show gains in permits for new dwelling units for 10 months this year over 10 months a year ago.

Total figures for the Woburn area show a decrease in deeds recorded during October of this year compared with October of 1959, respectively 301 to 307. Deeds recorded for the area during 10 months this year were 2789 against 307 a year ago.

Permits for new dwelling units in the Woburn area were up during October this year 128 to 120 in 1959. For 10 months, however, there was a decline in permits, 1160 this year to 1300 in 1959.

Winchester Man Retires

Ronald O'Hanley With Gas Company 34 Years

Mr. Ronald P. O'Hanley of 142 Arlington Street, assistant manager of the Mystic Valley Gas Company, retired Monday from that position after 34 years in the gas company's service. He was promoted to assistant manager from his former post of public relations director of the gas and electric companies.

Mr. O'Hanley was one of the best known officials of the two utility companies, having appeared before the public on behalf of his companies on many occasions and having often spoken before the governing bodies of the communities served by the companies.

He was appointed by the then Mayor Walter E. Lawrence of Medford, the first chairman of the Medford Housing Authority in April of 1948. As such he organized the authority and served as its head until he moved to Winchester in 1952.

Mr. O'Hanley has served in many local philanthropies, is a member of Malden Rotary, an active worker in and member of the Chambers of Commerce of both Malden and Medford, and is a member of the investment board of the Medford Savings Bank.

Crawford Church Youth Choir

The newly organized Youth Choir of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, with about fifty voices of young people between fourth and ninth grades, is preparing to sing for the first time in public at both of the morning worship services of the church on Christmas Sunday.

The singers will be resplendent in new choir vestments of the cassock and surplice type. After Christmas it is planned that this choir, as well as the Senior Choir will participate in the services every Sunday.

Mrs. Gloria Maifeld of Lynn is directing the singing and Prof. Roland Nadeau will be at the organ.

The minister, the Rev. H. Newton Clay, announced this week that plans are being formulated for the observance of a Choir Recognition Sunday in June at which time those choir members with outstanding records of loyalty and attendance would be given special recognition.

Florence Crittenton Christmas Meeting

The home of Mrs. Don Greer, 82 Arlington Street will provide the setting for the Christmas meeting and tea of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion. The date is December 16 and the time is 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Richard R. Pettingill, program chairman, has announced that Mrs. William Austill of Watertown will be the speaker. Her topic will be "Christmas Customs Around the World." A program of Christmas carols will conclude the meeting. Mrs. F. O. Adams and her tea committee are planning a beautiful Christmas tea.

All members are urged to take time in this busy season to enjoy this Christmas program.

Recovering From Broken Hip

Mrs. Mabel Grey, a member of the family at the Home for Aged People, is reported as recovering nicely from the effects of a broken hip she sustained three weeks ago in a fall. She is at the Winchester Hospital and will be confined there for some time to come.

Mrs. Romeyn Guest Speaker

The Women's Fellowship of First Baptist Church is happily engaged in planning their annual Christmas tea. Special invitations have been sent to the women of the other Winchester Protestant Churches.

Gladys Starrett Romeyn (Mrs. James K. of Melrose, the guest speaker, needs no recommendation, her charm, talent and graciousness having been shared by many at several previous occasions in Winchester. She has chosen as her subject "Long Ago Is Now," a Christmas story which shows that the angels of yesterday are still at work today.

A very special tea is being prepared by the Lorena George Circle of the Fellowship. Mrs. Joseph M. Dunn will lead the devotions.

Friends of First Baptist Church are cordially invited to share the thrill of the true Christmas spirit which will prevail in the Church Social Hall, Wednesday afternoon, December 14, at 2:00 o'clock.

Bell Ringers Of Cape Ann Here Dec. 13

"The Bell Ringers of Cape Ann" will play at the Christmas meeting of the Women's Association of the First Congregational Church. They will play following dessert, in Chidley Hall, Tuesday, December 13, at 1:15 p.m.

The old art of bell ringing has become so popular in the last ten years that there are now 300 groups in the United States. The program of the Cape Ann group consists of folk songs, carols, favorite tunes, hymns, and classic themes. It has been enjoyed by many audiences: church and civic groups; in the Currier Art Gallery in Manchester; in the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston and on the White House lawn at the time of the lighting of the National Christmas Tree in 1956.

This group uses 15 hand bells, handled by groups of three. The "Bell ringers of Cape Ann" belong to both the New England Guild of Hand Bell Ringers and the American Guild of English Hand Bell Ringers. The group was organized in 1938. With several changes in personnel they have been performing continuously since then with the exception of two or three years during the war. The director is Mrs. Helen M. Runkle.

Following the Bell Ringers, Mrs. James Shiang will dedicate the "Woman's Gift." This gift will be divided among these timely fields; Massachusetts Aided Negro Congregational Work; The Angola West Africa Mission and the Ryder Memorial Hospital in Puerto Rico.

Mrs. George E. Connor will exhibit a 300-year-old Creche and answer questions about the interesting figures which compose it.

To help with Chritsmas gift ideas there will be the Fair "After-Sale." Christmas bags for elderly ladies for the Boston City Missionary Society will be brought in at this meeting.

No reservations are necessary. All of the women in the church are invited. Baby sitting will be provided. The hostesses are: Mrs. John Munro, Mrs. Arthur H. Anderson, Mrs. Harry Easton, Mrs. Percy Cooke, Mrs. Dana Sawyer, Mrs. William Kimball, Mrs. Howard Niblock, Mrs. John Woodruff, and Mrs. Bradford Bentley, chairman.

Jim Cusack Named

Jim Cusack, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cusack of Lakeview Road, has been elected president of the recently founded Tewksbury Junior Chamber of Commerce.

T. B. Christmas Seals

Christmas Seal reminders went in the mail early this week as the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association contacts residents of the county who have not as yet replied to their Christmas Seal letter.

Fully realizing that many householders handle their budget at the beginning of the month, the Association hopes to spark County contributions which will bring the '60 campaign up to its 1959 mark for this time. A running tally on contributions indicates the total slightly behind that of 1959.

Payroll deductions, coin boxes and at-work-solicitation are not used by the Christmas Seal campaign. The Association believes contributors should have the choice of participating or not participating in the campaign on a purely voluntary basis. Each resident in the County is contacted by mail at his home, in this way all contributors are confident their contribution is confidential.

As the Christmas Seal campaign progresses, volunteers are needed more each day to help with the myriad job of opening and recording the Seal contributions. Volunteers are urged to call Miss Cay Rogers, director of Volunteer Services at the Association in Burlington—BRowning 2-2866, for details on how they can help.

To Practice Surgery In Winchester

After a training period in the field of clinical surgery that was highlighted by his becoming resident surgeon at the famed Memorial Hospital for Cancer and the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York City from 1954 to 1959, Dr. Brock Lynch recently announced his intention to take up private practice in Winchester.

DR. BROCK LYNCH

A graduate of Winchester High School and the Yale University School of Medicine, Dr. Lynch was at one time chief resident in surgery at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Boston. Despite his absence from Winchester during much of his career, notably during World War II when he was a seaman in the Navy and the Korean War when he was Chief of Surgery at a U. S. Air Force Base Hospital, he has always considered Winchester "home," as well as the locale where he one day hoped to set up practice in his chosen specialty.

His schooling began in the primary grades at the Mystic School when he lived at 16 Chestnut Street. In 1935 he began at Winchester Junior High School and later entered high school years in the old Wadleigh Building. With the class of 1941 he was graduated from Winchester High School, having achieved the distinction of completing the fours years with a straight-A average.

Mr. Wade Grindle, then principal of the High School, recalls also that he was that year editor of the school paper, the "Red and Black," and included in his extra-curricular activities a year as president of the Dramatic Society, under the guidance of Miss Marion Bailey of the English Department. In addition he played leading roles in two of the class plays and found time to appear in each of four annual WHS Vaudeville Shows presented each spring.

His pre-medical education was received at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Indiana. His studies were interrupted by the war after three undergraduate years when he enlisted in the Navy. However, he was given special permission to return for the 1945 convocation at which he was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree while in Naval uniform. Having already been accepted as a medical student at Yale, he was stationed at New Haven for enrollment under the Navy V-12 program to pursue his intended studies in medicine.

In June 1947, Dr. Lynch received the degree of Doctor of Medicine and began internship at Western Reserve in Ohio at the University Hospitals of Cleveland. The following year he returned East where, except for two years in the Air Force, he has remained. At the New England Medical Center, Harrison Avenue, a year of basic science was carried out on a Teaching Fellowship at Tufts Medical School wherein he helped in the Department of Pathology, teaching second-year medical students. He then narrowed his attention to the field that was to interest him for the next ten years, clinical surgery and in particular the treatment of cancer.

As an assistant resident in surgery at the Malden Hospital, Malden, he came for the first time into association with his father, Dr. Clement F. Lynch, and his uncle, Dr. Leo J. Lynch, both noted surgeons actively practicing in Malden. He followed this with a year as assistant surgical resident at the New England Medical Center and the affiliated Tufts Medical School only to have his training interrupted by the outbreak of the Korean conflict. This event, however, proved to be an opportunity in disguise.

The Air Force Medical Corps offered a commission to the young surgeon in July 1951 and within twelve months he found himself Chief of Surgery at the Base Hospital at Mitchell Field, Hempstead, Long Island. Because this was Headquarters for the First Air Force and also Headquarters for CONAC, the entire Continental Air Command, he had an unparalleled opportunity to care for enlisted men, officers, and dependents flown in from all parts of the world.

In this key position he commanded Medical Corps officers in all the surgical specialties while holding the rank of a Captain where the Air Force Table of Organization ordinarily called for a medical officer with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

After the war he returned to Boston where Dr. John Spellman, Clinical Professor of Surgery at Tufts Medical School, accepted him for the post of Chief Surgical Resident at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton. Dr. Spellman, being the then president of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society, was influential in persuading Dr. Lynch of the growing concern of the public in the field of cancer and helped him obtain an American Cancer Society Fellowship in New York City.

Upon completion of a year in the surgery and radiation treatment of malignant disease at the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases (68th Street, New York City) he decided to remain for further experience. This entailed an additional two and one half years pursuing the treatment, principally by surgery but also by chemotherapy and radiation, of the patients who presented themselves with all the complex problems that cancer can involve. This is the only hospital in the world apportioned to represent parts of the human body: the Bone Tumor Service, the Breast Tumor Service, the Gastric Service, etc. He then returned to make his home with his parents at 51 Bacon Street.

Readers of the "Winchester Star" will recall Brock's work as a tap dancer. Among his local appearances in the Boston area were the aforementioned Vaudeville Shows and the Winton Club Show of 1941. (That year he was the first soloist since the 1920 original cabaret to perform while still a student in the High School). More recently he danced at the Town Hall in the Cabarets of 1959 and 1960.

In the latter "The Star" reported "the amazing tap dancing" he displayed as a Spanish Toreador and in the former the versatility shown by interpreting four different rhythms in dance form: waltz clog, soft shoe, ballet waltz and "strut" tempo. President of Winton Club, informed "The Star" that this year's production chairman, Cynthia Moore, has asked him to perform in the January Cabaret. Because he has been for two years on the staff of the Winchester Hospital, for which the Winton Club raises funds exclusively (contributing $10,000 from the proceeds of the January Cabaret), Dr. Lynch answered her invitation by saying: "I wouldn't miss it!"

Among the medical papers published by him were these two in the field of tumor surgery: "Construction of the Duodenum by Annular Pancreas," which appeared in "Annals of Surgery," March, 1954 and "Tracheitis sicca following Radical Larynx Resection, Treated by Enzymatic Digestion with Bovine Desoxy-ribonuclease," published in the "New England Journal of Medicine" in March, 1957.

The president of Cardinal Cushing College in recognition of his interest in education and the goals of the Holy Cross Fathers of Notre Dame University appointed him a member of the Board of Advisors. (A more recent Board appointment for their Chestnut Hill Avenue campus was that of Dr. Dennis Haley, former superintendent of schools of Boston and now president of Suffolk University). Four years ago Dr. Lynch, because of his interest in education and background in the French language, was named regional director of the Sarto Foundation, a non-profit charitable organization with headquarters in Manchester, New Hampshire.

Dr. Lynch's practice will involve "the detection and treatment of Neoplastic Diseases," that is, tumor surgery and the diagnosis of tumors. He has long promoted a program of complete physical examinations on apparently well men and women, and continuing this after the age of 40 on an annual basis. He is planning to open his office December 8 at 175 Washington Street in the McDonough Professional Building.

Registrar Points Out Uninsured Driver Menace

In 1959, 19,895 revocation notices were sent to Massachusetts registrants as the result of cancellation of insurance and over half of these persons did not turn in their plates. Our enforcement officers had to go out and pick them up and many could not be located. In some instances we found the addresses given were vacant lots or vacant buildings and in some cases the registrations were issued to non-existent persons.

Such cars, of course, are uninsured and unregistered according to the law and are a menace on the highways. We have apprehended some of these persons on roadblocks. If the insurance companies were not so lax in allowing people to get plates and were required to have the plates returned before cancellation of insurance our men would be available for more law enforcement and educational work.

Attention, 16mm Projector Owners

Recently the staff of the Public Library compiled a list of the films which are owned by the library and available for circulation. Copies of this list may be procured at the main desk in the library. The films are related to topics in American history and several are in color.

They are of general interest and range from topics as diverse as Colonial Williamsburg and the Supreme Court. They are loaned for a one week period as are magazines and phonograph records. Particular films may be reserved for specific dates if a borrower gives sufficient notice. There is also an extensive film strip collection available for borrowing.

Copies of both these lists were mailed to each of the schools and churches, and additional ones are available for any interested individuals.

Fine packets of foreign postage stamps now at the Star office in packets ranging from ten cents to one dollar. Also on hand: albums from 25 cents to $8.95, and stamp hinges.

Finger In The Pie

Yardsticks

We call those handy wooden gadgets with which we measure things "yardsticks." There are, however, mental yardsticks, too, and nine times out of ten our reaction to a particular person, situation, or thing is determined by them. For example, our estimate of procedures in the United Nations may well depend upon how well we are posted on the many factors involved. A yardstick, and an important one. Ditto, our efficiency on voting day. Yardsticks are frequently the result of experience, which perhaps is one reason why the percentage of successful second marriages is larger than that of first ones. In such critical days as these, it is well to keep our "yardsticks" strictly up to date, ready for any and all emergencies.

Not all of us can be distinguished authors, actors, painters, composers, or playwrights. But it is the privilege of all of us to render the tribute of appreciation, without which art would perish. From our own experience, a most convenient and practical yardstick for the appreciation of a particular object, device, or artistic achievement is to ask oneself the question: "What could I accomplish if I myself had to make, invent, or do this?" Under such critical scrutiny even the familiar electric light glows with all the allure of the mysterious and unattainable. A few applications of this yardstick and one grows truly humble at the vast group of things which cater to our comfort and pleasure, and which we could not by any stretch of the imagination reproduce. The story of "Robinson Crusoe" dramatically poses this particular dilemma, with the not-too-surprising result that necessity or desperation bring out qualities and abilities in us which might otherwise go latent and undiscovered.

Oddly enough, such yardsticks are capable of being misused—or perhaps we should say overused! Two ladies were discussing (guess what?) women, of all things, when one took occasion to remark to the other: "No woman is perfect, you know." "Oh, yes, there was one," said the second, with conviction. "And who might she be?" queried the first. "My husband's first wife!" (A misused yardstick, if ever there was one!)

Twixt beauty and charm there's a difference
That's perfectly simple to see . . .
I notice a beautiful woman,
A charming one notices me!

Us Humans

A man loved a woman, but she laughed at him. Then, through grief, he became ill, and was like to die, in very despair of her love. Whereat pity touched her heart, and pity grew to love. When he came to know this, having now the love he had so yearned to possess, he rejoiced greatly, and arose from his bed.

And straightway he began to love another woman.

—Harry Benson

Sweater

What a little boy is told
To put on, when his mother's cold.

Wonderment

Snowflakes fall in unaccountable, unimaginable billions during every snowstorm. Sometimes they are big and moist, sometimes little and hard and dry. They always have six points; in that way they are all alike. But in no other. No snowflake has ever been seen that was an exact twin of any other snowflake—and scientists have carefully examined and photographed thousands of them. Snowflakes are complete individualists; every one a pattern unto itself.

Tidbits

A Negro teamster and a small boy were riding along, when the driver, to while the time away, cracked his whip at objects along the roadside. "Let's see you hit that leaf," said the boy. One crack sent it whirling into the air. "Tickle that scarecrow's ear," the boy requested. Again the whip snapped accurately, without disturbing the stuffed effigy. "Oh," cried the boy excitedly, "there's a hornet's nest! Hit that!" "No, suh!" replied the Negro, "a leaf am a leaf, and a scarecrow's a scarecrow, but that thing am an awganizashun."

An Aberdeen lady was buying a birthday present for her husband. In the gent's department of a big store she asked for a collar, size 16. The assistant inquired in surprise, "Only one, madam?" "Yes, certainly, only one," said the lady haughtily, "do you think I'm a bigamist?"

"What we want to do," said the speaker, "is to get rid of Socialism, Radicalism, Bolshevism, Communism, and Anarchism." "While you're about it," chimed in a weather-beaten old man, "could ye throw in rheumatism?"

We have been accused of being partial to cats. We plead guilty. But there's no reason to be unfair about it. Here is one of the best poems we've seen about dogs:

My Friend the Dog

I've never known a dog to wag
His tail in glee he did not feel,
Nor quit his old-time friend to tag
At some more influential heel.
The yellowest cur I ever knew
Was to the boy who loved him true.

I've never known a dog to show
Half-way devotion to his friend;
To seek a kinder man to know,
Or richer; but unto the end
The humblest dog I ever knew
Was to the man who loved him true.

I've never known a dog to fake
Affection for a present gain,
A false display of love to make
Some little favor to attain.
I've never known a "Prince" or
"Spot"
That seemed to be what he was not.

And I have known a dog to bear
Starvation's pangs from day to day,
With him who had been glad to share
His bread and meat along the way.
No dog, however mean or rude,
Is guilty of ingratitude.

College Club Art Group

Tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, the College Club Art Group will meet at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for their third excursion.

Miss Eleanor Randall, one of the Museum's well-known lecturers, will conduct a tour through the galleries, to point out and discuss with us the portraits by John Singleton Copley and Gilbert Stuart.

Many of the paintings of these two celebrated colonial artists are familiar to us, but it will be a pleasure to see others also that we have not seen before, and to hear about the significance of these two important men in American art.

There is ample parking space at the Museum. Whether you come by the Fenway or by Huntington Avenue, turn on Museum Road and from Museum Road enter the parking area. Parking Lot 2 is for visitors. If you enter the Museum from the Fenway side (which is near parking lot 2,) walk through the building and meet the group in the Huntington Avenue lobby.

Please note that the time of meeting is promptly at 10:30.

4 Local Women Helping to Plan Yule Fair, Tea

Mrs. Frank Clarke, Mrs. Paul McCarthy, Mrs. John R. Healey, and Mrs. John Gahan of Winchester are assisting general chairman Mrs. John J. Hanrihan of Westwood in preparations for the 13th annual Christmas Fair and Tea to be given by the Janet Stuart Guild of the Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The Fair and Tea will be held in Barat House Tuesday, December 13, instead of the week end before the holiday as in previous years.

This year's bazaar will start at 1:00 o'clock and continue until 6:00 o'clock. Tea will be served continuously during the afternoon.

Living holiday Christmas trees trimmed with cranberry and popcorn strips; a modernistic guilded tree decorated with birds, butterflies, ribbons, and tiny gifts; Christmas decorations painted on the walls and hand-made Christmas sprays with a variety of lollipops and trinkets at each table—all will be features.

The highlight of the Fair will be an unusual group of Florentine Plaques which were obtained by the Guild from Italy for the event. The public are most cordially invited to see and visit the Fair.

Republican Club To Honor Volpe

An official Inaugural Dinner for Governor-Elect John A. Volpe will be held at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, Boston, on January 6, at 6:15 p.m., the day after he takes office, it was announced recently by Richard S. Treadway, president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts. The club is the oldest and largest organization of its kind in the nation.

President Treadway, who was also chairman of the victorious Volpe Campaign Committee, stated that the club is tendering the traditional inauguration dinner in cooperation with all other Republican organizations of the state. He anticipates a capacity audience to greet the guest of honor.

A distinguished dinner committee, headed by Mr. Treadway, as chairman, is planning and making arrangements for the gala affair. Its officers include three vice chairmen; Ambassador Thomas A. Pappas, GOP National Committeeman Ralph H. Bonnell, and GOP State Committee chairman Daniel E. McLean.

To Discuss College Training For Police

Leo L. Laughlin of 79 Bacon Street, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Boston, is one of those participating in a conference today with members of a committee, named by the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, called to discuss college-level training for the police officers of the Commonwealth.

The committee was invited to the University by Professor Robert Sheehan, head of Northeastern's new department of Law Enforcement and Security.

Speakers at the luncheon conference will stress the need for University police education, particularly in light of the growing rise of serious crime in this country. They also will emphasize that police training will have to be centered in our universities and colleges, if the police officer is to become recognized as being truly professional.

In his speech prepared for delivery today Professor Sheehan praised the work that has already been done in police training and education by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Massachusetts State Police.

Other speakers included Dr. Asa S. Knowles, N. U. President; Dr. James J. Brennan, professor at the School of Police Administration, Michigan State University; and Clifford Fernestrom, assistant field director of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute.

Library Film Program

A travel film, one on animals, an Aesop fable, and Ludwig Bemelman's irrespressible Madeline join to form the program for Friday and Saturday morning this week.

Country of Islam describes Morocco's economy, culture, and religion by telling the story of a Moslem boy who leaves his village home and journeys to the city in search of further education.

Those who enjoyed the TV presentation of Madeline will appreciate this child's fantasy of a little French girl, the only one of twelve who does not conform.

Animals of Alaska shows brown bear, moose, caribou, walrus, and many other wild animals typical of the Northland, and explains their living habits.

A woodsman loses his rusty axe and refuses to accept better ones until he is assured that he is welcome to them in the film, The Golden Axe. This charming story points up the moral that honesty is the best policy.

Thomas Morison Plays Role In Glass Menagerie

Thomas Lincoln Morison, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Morison of 4 Bruce Road, and a junior at Williams College, Williamstown, has a part in Tennessee Williams' award winning drama, The Glass Menagerie, to be presented at the Adams Memorial Theatre, December 9th and 10 (Friday and Saturday).

Produced by Cap and Bells, the undergraduate dramatic club of the college, the play will be directed by Robert Mathews, assistant to the director of the theatre.

The Glass Menagerie was Williams' first successful play and is hailed by many as his finest effort. Unlike many other works by this playwright, the theme is one of great delicacy, portraying a mother's efforts to reconcile to her two children the bitterness of society and her subsequent attempts to secure a better life for them.

Mr. Geno has been in business for himself for five years, and has consistently gained esteem as one of Greater Boston's progressive hair stylists.

His brother, Mr. Alfred, will manage the Woburn salon. Also assisting him is Mr. Milio who has studied in Italy and most recently has served with Pierre of Newbury Street, Boston.

Among those included on Mr. Geno's Boston staff are Miss Margie and her sister, Miss Rita.

Howell Named Vice President

Herbert H. Howell's election to a vice presidency in Arthur D. Little, Inc., was announced by Earl P. Stevenson, chairman of the Board of Directors of the international industrial research company. Mr. Howell continues with his administrative responsibilities in ADL's Engineering Division.

Mr. Howell, who lives at 16 Niles Lane, joined ADL in 1950 after working five years with the Wright Aeronautical Corporation and two years with the Applied Physics Laboratory of Johns Hopkins University.

He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he majored in mechanical engineering, and he has done graduate work both at M.I.T. and the Stevens Institute of Technology. He now belongs to the Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Management Association.

Name to Be Inscribed On Memorial

Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes of West Harwich, formerly for many years a well-known resident of Winchester, is one of the Republican National Convention Delegation of 1952, whose name will be inscribed in the bronze of a memorial commemorating the nomination of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952. The memorial is to be donated to the National Park at Gettysburg, Pa., by the 1952 National Convention Memorial Committee.

Antippas Article In B. U. Manual

A plan of city and town government which could revive "partisan politics" in this state has been published in the 1960 Massachusetts Municipal Manual being distributed state-wide to municipal officials this week by Boston University's Bureau of Public Administration, according to Dr. Lashley G. Harvey of Boston, Bureau director and editor of the Manual.

"The plan has been given little publicity in the state although its widespread adoption could mark the end of non-partisan politics in Massachusetts' city and town government," Dr. Harvey said.

Andrew Antippas, former executive director of the Cambridge Civic Association now a member of the foreign service in Washington, D. C., wrote the article, entitled "Plan F—Optional City Charter." A Winchester boy, graduate of Winchester High School, Mr. Antippas is the son of Mr. Frank Antippas, proprietor of the former Splendid Lunch.

This article is one of several special features appearing in the 1960 Manual which is again being sent without charge by Boston University to city and town officials throughout the state.

14-Inch Snowfall

Roaring Blizzard Paralyzes Town

A rip-snorting, swirling, howling, and generally wicked blizzard hit Winchester shortly after midnight Sunday and proceeded to dump fourteen inches of wind-swept snow.

Only at dusk Monday did the paralyzing storm, one of Winchester's worst December blizzards, decide it had been unpleasant enough and called it quits.

In some places the northeast wind, icy and piercing, tossed up drifts up to 18 feet high.

The blizzard closed schools both Monday and Tuesday, tied traffic in knots, stopped busses, trains, and taxis, forced pedestrians into the streets, gave Christmas business a nasty wallop, and in various and sundry ways stopped everything in its tracks.

The only people who seemed to be enjoying the storm were observed to be wearing snowshoes or carting sleds behind them. The rest of us grumbled and faced up to the icy air that followed.

Superintendent of Streets, Jim Wakefield and his men were on the streets by 12:30 Monday morning. By 3:30 a.m., Jim says, some 60 men were plowing streets and clearing sidewalks.

Twenty snow plows and two new snow loaders were called into action to get the Town out from under one of our worst December storms.

By Tuesday morning most of the streets were cleared except for a few inaccessible byways. By noon Tuesday, snow loaders and shovelers were at work on the second stage of clearance, removing the snow as completely as possible from the business center.

No injuries or deaths were reported as a result of the storm.

The job of snow clearance was a joint operation by the Town Highway, water, sewer, park and cemetery departments.

Parked Cars Made Snow Removal Difficult

Fighting a blizzard like the one Winchester experienced on Monday is difficult enough for the highway crews, and it is made doubly difficult by the careless parking of automobiles on the street.

Naturally, if a car breaks down on the highway there isn't much that can be done about it. The Star does not refer to these cars, but to those whose owners have left them on the street because it was inconvenient to get them into driveways or their usual parking places.

Not only do these cars give the Highway crews a hard time in their attempt to clear streets of snow properly, but they also penalize the careful citizen who gets his automobile off the highway and keeps it off during the storm.

A car on the street during a snow storm makes it necessary for plows to swing around it, leaving a wide unplowed area in front of the house next to the parked car. This gives the cooperating resident, whose car is where it should be, a much longer shovel from his driveway to the street than is necessary, and snow shoveling, especially after a 14-in. storm is no particular fun.

We have seen several street corners, at which you can go only one way because a carelessly parked car made it necessary for the plow to leave a huge rampart of snow across the end of the streets impossible to buck through.

The town has voted the necessary authority to the Superintendent of Streets to move cars in his way while plowing snow. Many would like to see this authority involved against careless parkers during such storms as Monday's.

Deadline

For just a moment during the big storm Monday afternoon we wondered whether an Alaskan sourdough or a space man had stamped into the Star office. However, when he had stripped off a few outer wraps our visitor turned out to be the old tennis impresario, Blair Hawley, who had "frogged it" all the way down town from his habitat on Ledgewood Road. That, my friends, on a day like Monday, was no hop-step-and-a-jump. That was a lot of walking! And he came? To bring us an article for the Star he had promised on Monday! Just shows what tennis and a rugged constitution can do for a man!

Policy of "No Drinks for Drivers" Urged by Riley for Holiday Parties

Registrar Clement A. Riley issued an urgent appeal for safety and sanity during the Christmas and New Year's holidays this week. A good rule for party goers to follow, the Registrar said, would be "NO DRINKS FOR DRIVERS."

"The holiday party season throughout the Commonwealth is now in full swing. Last December 58 died in traffic accidents and 9,600 were injured," the Registrar added. "Many drivers were trying to get home after holiday parties.

"As Chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee," Riley said, "it is my duty to warn everyone planning holiday parties to make sure no intoxicating drinks are served to drivers.

"At a recent meeting in my office, all enforcement officials agreed to work as a team this month to apprehend and prosecute all drivers of motor vehicles who have been drinking," Riley said.

"You can help your enforcement officials to prevent traffic accidents during this holiday season by arranging for door to door delivery for your celebrators.

"Make this your holiday party rule — NO DRINKS FOR DRIVERS," Riley concluded.

Merry Christmas to All

Christmas Carols

The Fortnightly is reminding one and all of the Christmas Eve Carol Singing around the lighted tree on the Common at 7 o'clock.

Bundle up warm, good voice or not so good, come and join Mary Ranton Witham and the High School Brass Quartette.

May the spirit of the Christ Child find room in the inns of all our hearts as we celebrate His Birthday, and may Christmas be a deeply joyful and blessed season for all.

Is This The Answer?

As the town debates the question of building a youth center many eyes are turning to the deserted Wadleigh School as a possible solution. Is this the answer? Please see editorial on Page 6.

Chadwick Urges Reforms In Legislative Procedure

A seven-point plan to reform State legislative procedure was submitted to the Winchester Star by State Representative Harrison Chadwick of 24 Everett Avenue this week. The text follows:

"The public has every reason to be vigorous in its condemnation of long sessions of the Legislature," Rep. Chadwick said. "The 1960 session, the longest in our history, has been the most expensive and has accomplished relatively little.

"To make sure the General Court prorogues in a reasonable length of time, some changes in our present set-up are needed.

"1. We should abolish the 'right of free petition,' which means the privilege of having every bill submitted to the Legislature acted upon by the Legislature itself. Only the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Republic of Iceland go to this extreme. All other sovereign governments permit legislative petitions to be screened by committees.

"I believe committees, by a 4/5 vote of the members, should be allowed to pigeon-hole matters assigned to them for consideration. When notice of such action is received in the Legislature, there could and should be a provision to revive the matter by a 2/3 vote in concurrence of both branches. This system, by early elimination of bills that have no chance of passage, would save printing costs and enormously reduce the work load. This is the most needed change in the direction of efficiency.

"2. Next, the 500 - 600 bills that annually are filed relating strictly to home-rule matters should be eliminated by constitutional amendment from consideration by the Legislature. This would further reduce the work load.

"3. Thirdly, no late-filed bills, should be admitted unless of a real emergency nature. The constant admission of late-filed bills tends to keep the session going on and on.

"4. A fee of $2.00 should be imposed on each petition for legislation that is filed. This would help to defray printing costs, and would discourge crack-pot bills and 'repeats' in the second year of the session.

"5. Both the House and Senate should have strict rules that no bill can be held in any committee more than three weeks after its initial public hearing except by a 2/3 vote in both branches. Under present procedures, many a bill has been stalled in some committee for weeks and even months with obvious effects upon efficient operations.

"6. An electric recording system should be utilized in the House of Representatives, and night sessions should be banned in both branches except in cases of extreme urgency. Under these circumstances, more work and better work would be accomplished in normal daytime business hours.

"7. If these things were done, it would be feasible to limit the length of sessions by constitutional amendment to six months. (New York limits its sessions to three months.) Six months would give ample time for full consideration to all necessary legislation, and a June 30 termination date would conveniently coincide with the end of the fiscal year.

League of Women Voters Plans To Revise "Inside Winchester"

The second of a series of workshops to study revision of the "Inside Winchester" booklet, conducted by the Winchester LWV will be held in the Rich Room of the Library Thursday morning, December 15, at 10:00 a.m.

A conducted tour of the Library will be made in an effort to familiarize members of the group with the many special services which the Library offers in addition to the most widely known ones of home circulation and reference. For example, the Rich Room contains the valuable Lincoln-Lee collection which is kept up to date by funds bequeathed to the Library.

The Rich Fund also supports a collection of 16MM films pertaining to American History for use by groups or individuals at home. Other areas to be explored are the provision for appointing a librarian and her staff, the cost of maintaining the library, types of reference material available, etc. Mrs. Zach White and Mrs. William MacKenzie have prepared a preliminary report for use as a framework in researching these problems.

The first meeting in the workshop series dealt with the Public School System. Mrs. Howard Aiken, publicity director of the Winchester Public Schools and a former president of the Winchester League, spoke on the Winchester Schools, with special emphasis upon administrative structure. The materials studied at these first two meetings on the Schools and the Library will form the nucleus of the January League Units.

Stephen Yale Is Ordained

Stephen Lake Yale, formerly of Winchester and Cambridge, was ordained last Tuesday, December 13, into the Congregational ministry in a ceremony at Allin Congregational Church, Dedham, where he served three years as assistant minister during his theological studies.

He is now an assistant minister at the Congregational Church of Manhasset, Long Island.

Among the ministers participating in the ceremony were Dr. George G. Parker of the Manhasset church, who preached the ordination sermon; the Rev. Elton W. Brown, minister of the Allin church, who gave the vows; and the Rev. David S. King, chaplain of Amherst College, who delivered the charge to the minister.

Mr. Yale was graduated from Winchester High School, Amherst College and the Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Yale of 100 Memorial Drive, Cambridge. The family formerly lived at 12 Ardley Place, Winchester.

Volpe, Mother Observe Joint Birthday

Mrs. Filomena Volpe of 1282 Main Street, Wakefield, mother of Governor-elect John A. Volpe of 10 Everett Avenue, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening, December 8, when she found herself the guest of honor at a double birthday party for her and her distinguished son at the home of another son, Patrick, at 1276 Main Street, Wakefield.

The Governor-elect was born on his mother's birthday 52 years ago. Wednesday was his mother's 80th birthday anniversary. It was hard to tell at the party which one was more pleased with the other.

Mrs. Volpe had warned her friends and relatives not to call at her home on her birthday because she was going out to dinner on that evening. She went, too, being the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sante Benedetto of Wakefield, parents of Mrs. John Volpe.

Leaving the Benedetto home Mrs. Volpe was surprised when she was taken to the home of her son, Patrick, and even more surprised when upon entering the house, she was greeted by the Governor-elect and some 50 more relatives and friends. A chorus of "Happy Birthday, Nonna" got things away to a good start. Among the guests were friends Mrs. Volpe had not seen for 10 years. Hugs and kisses were exchanged including a big birthday kiss for Governor-elect John from his mother.

Governor-elect Volpe presented his mother with a handsome Paul Revere bowl, and in turn received gifts from his own family, his wife, Jennie, his son, John, Jr., a freshman at Boston College, and his daughter, Mrs. Jean Rotondi, of Long Beach, Calif.

Sale Of Local Stations In Progress, Says B & M

The Boston and Maine Railroad confirmed reports here this week that negotiations are under way toward the sale of both the Winchester and Wedgemere railroad stations. Confirmation was made by a B. & M. executive.

As of the moment, however, the executive added, no sale papers have been passed. In harmony with established real estate practice in such matters, he explained, the Boston and Maine prefers not to divulge the names of negotiators until the "buy-and-sell" papers have actually been signed.

When papers are signed, a railroad public relations official told the Star, the B. & M. would notify the local press immediately.

The B. & M. made this statement in response to Winchester Star inquiries regarding reports that local entrepreneurs had purchased the stations.

"Don't pay too much attention to these reports," B. & M. spokesmen told the Star. "Take the station sold in Haverhill. We heard reports that everything from a donut factory to a rug-cleaning plant was going in there—everything but a Barnum and Bailey Circus. But as of now, as far as I know, no deeds have been passed for the sale of either the Winchester or Wedgemere Stations."

Reports concerning the sale of the stations touched off speculation concerning the use to which the Wedgemere Station wuold be put, since it lies within a residential district.

Prospective owners of the Winchester Station face no such problem, since it is located in a business zone.

Reports that the negotiations for sale of the stations were in progress were confirmed by several reliable sources. This was also the understanding of Town officials and prominent businessmen contacted, business men noted for having their ears particularly close to the gorund.

Rotary Notes

Dr. Daniel H. Gray, assistant to the president of the Middlesex County National Bank, was the guest speaker last week at the regular luncheon meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club in Masonic Apartments. President Fred McCormack presided.

Dr. Gray gave a most interesting and timely talk on economic conditions as 1960 draws to a close and made something of a forecast of what to expect in 1961.

Most economists seem agreed that there will be a recession of some sort during the early days of the New Year, after which conditions will pick up again. All are agreed that there will be an increase in taxes under whatever name they may be called.

Chairman John Wilson reported that already plans are under way for the next auction to be held in the spring. With Al Elliott's deer rifle as a starter there seems to be no limit as to what the auction will offer this year, though John is in doubt as to whether to offer the rifle for sale as sporting equipment or an antique.

Today's Rotary meeting is always a red letter event, since on this occasion the Club plays host to the Winchester High School football team.

Bassford Leaves For Japan to Aid Chemical Project

Mr. Marshall C. Bassford of 8 Grassmere Avenue, project engineer with the Chemical Division of Stone and Webster Engineering Corp. in Boston, left San Francisco International Airport via Japan Air Lines' DC-8C Jet Courier recently to work with the Japan Chemical Co. in Tokyo.

Stone & Webster Engineering Corp. is sending company personnel to other countries as part of a project to help foreign businesses. Mr. Bassford will stay in Japan for eight months.

Youth Center Adult Committee Being Formed

The adult committee for Winchester's proposed Youth Center is being formed. The Star learned that several prominent local citizens have accepted membership on the committee, and it is expected that most, if not all, names of committee members will be available for publication in the Star next week.

In connection with the Youth Center program, Mr. Edgar W. Rylander, New England director of the Boys' Clubs of America, will visit Winchester Monday, December 19, to discuss the town's youth problem with Police Chief Derro. Mr. Rylander was scheduled to visit here this week but was forced by the blizzard to cancel his plans.

Bellino, Dattilo Guests Of President-Elect

Joe Bellino and five other Massachusetts members of this year's Navy football team, including Joe's fellow townsman, Frank Dattilo, were guests of President-elect John F. Kennedy at the latter's home in Washington Wednesday evening.

The meeting came about as the result of Bellino's hint, after winning the Heisman Trophy, that the one thing necessary to make the season complete for him would be to lunch with Kennedy.

Kennedy heard about it and was delighted. He immediately made arrangements to meet Bellino and his Massachusetts team mates Wednesday night. No lunch was involved, but probably the boys at this point could get along without lunch.

Besides Bellino and Dattilo, those invited were tackle, Sid Driscoll, Waltham; fullback, Ronald Bell, Chelmsford; guard, Dick Fitzgerald, Haverhill; and tackle, Ronald Testa, Watertown.

President-elect Kennedy, who survived heroically in World War II as a Navy lieutenant, (junior grade), has been an enthusiastic player and follower of football since his school boy days. He played football at Harvard though he failed to make the varsity team, and doubtless had a great time discussing the gridiron game with his youthful guests last evening.

Elementary Schools On One Session

Commencing today the Winchester elementary schools will be on single session until road conditions improve.

Sessions will commence at 8:30, fifteen minutes earlier, and continue until 2, with a lunch period from 11:30 until 12. All pupils must bring lunches.

Morning session of kindergarten will be from 8:30 at 11:30, with the afternoon session from 12 until 2 p.m.

Where Do They Go?

We were walking down from the Library in back of Town Hall by Mill Pond after the storm Tuesday and there was the pond all frozen over and covered with snow, and not a duck to be seen.

Where do they go, these little wild creatures, when the pond freezes over? We looked under the bridge and we couldn't see them, and we crossed the street and looked over the Aberjona toward the Plains and we couldn't see them.

How do they protect themselves? Do they think enviously of their domesticated cousins who are snug and cozy in Dorothy Lord's barn in Woburn? Should we take care of them better than we do? Could we if we wanted to? Does anybody know?

Bomb Scare At Junior High Second In Week

Police checked out another bomb scare in the schools this week.

This time is was in the junior high school, where Mrs. Morris received a call on Wednesday afternoon at 2:45. She said a soft-spoken boy's voice on the other end of the line warned that a bomb would go off in a few minutes. Police and fire authorities checked and cleared the building and searched for the bomb, to no avail.

Don't Call Police Station

Police and fire authorities urged Winchester parents not to call the police and fire stations concerning no-school reports in stormy weather. The no-school signal sounds at 7:00 o'clock on doubtful mornings, and parents are urged not to tie up police and fire lines, for the obvious reason that they may be preventing the inflow of emergency calls.

Animal Rescue League Asks Town's Help

The Star this week received this Christmas message from the Animal Rescue League of Boston, in the form of a letter from the league president, Mr. Carlton E. Buttrick:

"Dear Friend,

"As we approach the Christmas season, we hope there is joy and happiness in your household.

"If you have a pet, we know he or she is well fed, comfortably sheltered, and, no doubt, lavished with affection beyond its wildest dreams. Fortunately, this is typical of most homes and households. But being a friend of all animals, we know you are concerned, too, about the animals that have no homes and no one to give even the affectionate pat that the lost or abandoned pet looks for so longingly; you are concerned about the horse that serves mankind in his daily rounds on the bridle path; and you are concerned about the cat or dog that has gotten himself into an inextricable situation and requires human assistance in his rescue. These are things about which the league is concerned, also, but because friends like you are willing to help us financially, we are able to take the necessary and appropriate action when the situations arise.

"The Christmas season reminds us again of the blessings of the past and the hopes we have for the future. It is a time for joy and happiness as we share our own blessings with others. In you sharing, we hope you will remember the stray and unwanted cats and dogs, the burdened horse that plods his daily rounds, the frigthened cat in the tree, the injured dog in the inaccessible coal pit—all of these that are helped by you through your support of the Animal Rescue League of Boston.

"Please send us your check, addressed to

Animal Rescue League
10 Chandler Street
Boston, Mass.

so we may continue to serve these less fortunate animals the Creator has placed in man's care.

"Sincerely yours,
Carlton E. Buttrick
President."

Lois Powers Bigelow

Many Winchester residents were saddened by the sudden death of Lois Powers Bigelow in Bryn Mawr, Penna., December 9, as the result of an automobile collision. The daughter of Henry Glover and G. Barbara Bigelow, former Winchester residents now living at 1740 Northeast 25th Avenue, Pompano Beach, Florida, Miss Bigelow was born March 30, 1935, in West Medford.

She attended the Wyman School, was graduated from Winchester High School in 1952, and received the Rotary Club Scholarship for outstanding scholastic achievement. During high school, Lois was an active participant in the Senior Forum and Little Theatre Beneath the Spire at the First Congregational Church.

Following graduation from Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, in 1956, where she majored in sociology and was on the dean's list, Miss Bigelow received a full-tuition fellowship from the Mental Health Association for graduate study at Bryn Mawr College.

During this time she did field work for the Children's Aid Society in Philadelphia, and upon receiving her master's degree in social work in 1958, Miss Bigelow continued to work with adoptive infants at the society. Evidence of her devotion to the hundreds of children with complex medical and psychological problems in her case load is found in an album bulging with photographs of her "babies."

In January, 1960, Miss Bigelow began work for the Montgomery County (Pennsylvania) Bureau of Public Assistance and served 95 underprivileged Negro families, most of whom live in a public housing unit in Pottstown, Pa. She devoted many extra hours to her clients, working with great dedication and compassion.

Children and grown-ups alike would pop out of apartment doors with problems large and small to be solved by "Miss Lois" whenever she drove up. "The Lemon Drop," her yellow Anglia, was a sign of hope to them all. Upon leaving a client's apartment, she would find the little car filled with bouncing children waiting to be greeted affectionately, each one by name.

If a client faced eviction because of non-payment of rent, Lois would raise necessary funds. If a client wanted to visit a son in reform school many miles away and lacked funds for the trip, she would drive the client on her own time. If a small child had no shoes, she would find someone to buy them. If a client wanted to support her family by opening a beauty parlor, Lois would help her borrow the money to purchase equipment.

The State of Maine was Lois Bigelow's real love, and she had hoped eventually to do public assistance work there as she had during one summer vacation in Portland. Her favorite sport was ice-fishing and winter trips to Bates College meant a chance to share this interest with her former sociology professor.

Miss Bigelow is survived by her parents; her aunt, Mrs. Jerome A. Turrell of Miami Beach, Florida; her uncle, Martin Lynch of Lexington; her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Fritch of Winchester; and her nephews, Douglas and Vernon Fritch, and niece Andrea Fritch.

Funeral services this Thursday at 10:45 will be conducted by Dr. Dwight L. Cart in Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church. Mary Ranton Witham, organist, will play. Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie T. Bowe

Mrs. Nellie T. Bowe, widow of William Henry Bowe, and a former widely known resident of Winchester, died Monday, December 12, at Fairlawn Nursing Home in Leominster. Four years ago, after the sale of her home at 181 Mystic Valley Parkway, she went to visit her daughter, Mrs. Waldo B. Bushnell, in Leominster, on the way to Florida. While with her daughter she fell and broke her hip, being confined to the hospital and nursing home since that time.

Mrs. Bowes was the daughter of Dennis, and Jane (Dunne) Broderick. She was born March 29, 1873, in Waterbury, Conn., and grew up on a farm there, marrying Mr. Bowe January 8, 1900.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowe came to Winchester in 1909, making their home at 181 Mystic Valley Parkway, in the house sold by Mrs. Bowe when she went to Leominster. She was a Rotary Ann, a member of the Fortnightly Women's Club, the Unitarian Church and the one-time Ladies' Friendly Society of that church.

Mrs. Bowe's husband died in 1938. Besides her daughter, Ruth, in Leominster, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Howard Robbins (Helen Bowe) of Cambridge; two sons, William, of Milton, and Richard of Wolfeboro, N. H.; 12 grandchildren; fourteen great-grandchidren; and a sister, Mrs. Janice Addison of Miami, Florida.

Private funeral services were held at the Bennett-Norris Chapel with the Rev. Robert A. Storer, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

"My heart patients," says a celebrated Boston cardiologist, "usually work a lot harder after getting heart trouble than they ever did before, whether they like it or not."

His remark is representative of the modern frame of mind about the cardiac patient. Just as the soft life, the rich food, the physical inactivity that are believed to lead to heart attacks must be abandoned when the attack occurs, so thay must be replaced by a new regime.

Assuming the patient has sufficient physical reserves on which to build, he is likely to be told to return to the kind of life he should have been leading all along.

And part of the prescription, more often than not, is directed toward the patient's family: no coddling.

Once a cardiac lesion has healed, rest and inactivity do not prolong life. On the contrary, it is believed today that too much rest is likely to lead to physical and emotional incapacity.

It is significant that of nearly 1000 heart patients given exhaustive testing by highly-skilled teams of cardiologists, social workers and vocational counselors in the Massachusetts Hearts Association's work classification unit programs, the overwhelming majority have returned to work, and have been the better for it. It should be borne in mind, too, that these were "problem patients, whose doctors hesitated to advise a return to steady activity without the benefit of highly expert consultation.

Work is normal to living. It is vital to the physical and emotional well-being of the individual—the heart patient fully as much as his neighbor. Since heart disease now afflicts one million Americans, it is also important to the national well-being. Unless they can support themselves, a staggering number of people will be dependent upon their families and their communities.

In the cardiac patient, it has been found that his physical problems often are more easily solved than the psychological difficulties that may be created by his family, employer or community. Their attitudes are vital to his recovery and return to the status of useful, productive citizen.

Among the social influences that can hinder recovery would be overprotective families, advice from well-meaning but misinformed friends, news stories and broadcasts dramatizing heart disease with incidents of sudden death, even overly-restrictive medical counsel.

Another discouraging factor, in the life of the recovering cardiac, is industry's reluctance to hire heart victims and the possibility that in some instances workmen's compensation and similar laws may be deterrents.

But many forces are at work to restore the heart patient's self-respect and dignity. Chief among them should be his own family.

3 table-poons olive oil
2 tea-spoons tarragon
1 tea-spoon salt
6 thick lamb chops, shoulder or rib

Mix wine, tarragon, salt and olive oil to make the marinade. Place chops in a shallow pan or dish, pour marinade over meat and let stand at least 2 hours, longer if possible. Turn chops a few times so that all surfaces are seasoned well with the marinade. Broil or grill each side until temptingly brown, basting or brushing occasionally with some of the marinade. Take care not to overcook. In fact, we recommend cooking lamb until pink only because it's so much more flavorful. Once you try lamb (roast or chops) rare or pink you'll never serve it any other way. Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

A careful review by a New York heart specialist, Henry I. Russek, has suggested that, in order of decreasing frequency, the following are the factors immediately preceding a serious heart attack: sustained tension; improper diet or excess weight; lack of exercise or more commonly, exercise for which the individual has inadequate training; hereditary weakness; excessive cigarette smoking.

All of these factors, to a greater or lesser degree, can be dealt with in the home, that vital force in the regulation of our lives.

The successful business or professional man, no matter what the tensions are during his working hours, is relatively relaxed during these hours because he is trained for his occupation. He has "know-how," assurance, the support of associates, and hired help, and stimulation of the challenge of conflict. When he comes home and is brought face to face with equally real problems of family, social life, and sporadic play and vacation—occupations for which he may be inadequately trained—his arteries, when they should be resting, are subjected to strains which are overwhelming.

He is fed by a wife proud of her cooking, by his friends' wives if he is out calling for the evening; or worst of all by the chef in the best restaurant in town, a diet rich in animal fats and high in calories.

If he leaves his plate half empty or asks for special dishes, he is subtly called "gauche" or made to feel queer, eccentric, or at worst, a martyr to a doctor's diet.

His temptation when at home is to don his slippers, light a cigarette, sit down in front of the television set and relax for the evening, or even the week end. Unless he is wisely urged, he will spurn a walk in the fresh air before bed time or a workout with the axe, saw, or snow shovel. If nagged to get his daily exercise, he is likely to do it in a spirit of rebellion, and perhaps to excess and overload his coronary circulation. Wives are prone to outlaw certain activities such as snow shoveling, running, and stair climbing as lethal activities, rather than assist in establishing a reasonable pace in these excellent muscle developers by example and suggestion.

The wisdom of man has not yet advanced to the point where two young people in love will seriously consider heredity, as far as heart attacks and strokes are concerned, before taking the trip to the altar. However, eventually, the family, mainly by example, will play a very important role in the strengthening of the blood vessels of future generations through the application of the teachings of genetics.

A potent weapon in the battle against the destructive effect of tobacco, on the blood vessels, is the example in the home. A non-smoking father and mother bring up non-smoking children.

Here, then, are five activities of the candidate for a heart attack which can be influenced by home and its people in such a way, that perhaps, the attack can be prevented, or at least postponed.

The drama of life, with its climax in the actual heart attack, reveals complex interrelationships. The story involved the total life situation. We tend to emphasize the individual factors such as stress, diet and tobacco, but really the "symphony" or "harmony" of life is nearer the answer.

In this age of speed, the home can be the most complete haven of peace and serenity left to harassed man.

Health for All

How Long Will You Live?

It may be a long time. Right now, you may not be thinking of the years ahead. You're still going strong. You can't do everything you could at 25, but you certainly aren't ready to be put on the shelf.

"On the shelf," useless and dependent, that's the way too many of us think of old age. But that's only one kind of old age. And it's the kind that can be avoided if you start planning now.

If you want to be thoroughly alive as long as you live, the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association recommends that you start a campaign to improve and keep your health. The old "stitch in time saves nine" was never truer. Your happiness at 70 depends on the stitches you take now. If you don't already have the habit, begin now the practice of getting a physical checkup at least once a year. A number of the diseases that make dependent invalids of old folks start quietly without any outward sign that something is wrong inside. Only a doctor with his scientific tests can spot them. And almost every kind of sickness responds best to treatment in its early stages.

Tuberculosis is one such disease. It's tragic to see an older person shut in by TB. He might be up and about and living a full life if his disease had been discovered earlier. And a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray would have helped to find it.

To be sure that your later years are not shadowed by preventable illness and despondency, take full advantage of modern medical science. Get the physical checkup habit and follow your doctor's advice, the Association concluded.

Miss Clark Mr. Zecha Engaged

MISS BARBARA M. CLARK

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Barbara MacWilliam Clark, daughter of Mrs. Edward H. Bailey of 3 Greeley Road and Mr. Alexander M. Clark of Newbury, to Austen Victor Lauw Zecha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aristede William Lauw Zecha of Djakarta, Indonesia.

Successful High School Get-Together

Last Friday, December 9, an estimated 600 members of the High School attended a get-together sponsored by the Community School Association and run entirely by the Student Government with the help of their advisor Mr. Meredith Cooper.

It was an extremely successful affair featuring card games, ping-pong and, of course, dancing to records jockeyed by Ronnie Papile. During intermission the glee men, consisting of John Mallery, John Rollingson and Mal MacKenzie entertained with close harmony a la Kingston trio and were a tremendous hit.

Later the girls served coke and homemade cookies, which, needless to say, were well appreciated.

We, of the Community School Association, are delighted that so much interest and enthusiasm was indicated on the part of the student body and would like to encourage all members to participate. In this way the get-together evenings could continue to be a lively flourishing entertainment activity for all our high school students to enjoy.

Storm Forces Democrats To Cancel Meeting

The blizzard forced cancellation of this week's meeting of the Democratic Town Committee, originally scheduled for Wednesday, December 14. Chairman Elizabeth C. MacDonald will announce the time for the next meeting soon. Governor's Councillor Ray Crimmins had been scheduled to speak at the Wednesday meeting.

Kiwanis Holds Yule Party

Kiwanians held their annual Christmas party last night at Masonic Hall. A turkey dinner was served from 6:30 p.m., and the children of members were delighted both with a visit from Santa Claus and a fine puppet show. Chairman of the affair was Joseph Pappalardo. The annual installation of Kiwanis officers, by the way, is scheduled for January 7 at the Woburn Country Club.

Both natives of Woburn, Mr. and Mrs. Parker were married in Boston December 9, 1910. They have made their home in Winchester since 1920 and both have many friends about town.

Mrs. Parker was for 40 years employed at the Winchester branch of the New England Laundries, starting when it was the Winchester Laundry under Arthur T. Downer. She retired in 1955. Winchester, Melrose Tie

The Winchester 9th grade hockey team came from down under to tie the Melrose Freshmen 3-3 at the Boston Arena last Saturday morning. While the Winchester boys, who were making their debut on Arena ice, were getting adjusted to their new surroundings, Melrose slipped the puck into the Red and Black net a couple of times in the first period.

Although they managed to do it again in the early part of the second period, Winchester was obviously settling down and organizing to take the offensive into their own hands. The break came when Barry Johnson, first string right winger, surged down the ice and slammed in Winchester's first tally.

In the third period, he did it again and the tying goal was scored by Dick Murray, who was playing right wing on the second line.

The home town defense, consisting of Captain Victor Lawson and Ed Cutting, looked excellent. These boys skated well and broke up many plays before the Melrose lines could get shots at the local cage.

The next game for Winchester is Saturday, December 17, at 9:30 a.m. at the Boston Arena against Stoneham. The Saturday games are all played under the auspices of the Suburban Junior Hockey League, to which Winchester has belonged for the past five seasons.

The coaches again this year are Rep. Harrison Chadwick and Ron MacKenzie, who played hockey for Winchester High and Dartmouth. Both coaches feel the squad has good potential and are helpful of a promising season as soon as the team coordination now under development takes shape.

The subject of the February Units will be "Town Meeting," the information for which will be prepared at similar workshops to be scheduled. Mrs. E. J. Dieterich, first vice president of the Winchester League, is chairman.

Since "Inside Winchester, U.S. A." was published in 1956, over one thousand copies have been distributed. New residents of the town have found it a concise and invaluable guide to an understanding of town affairs. Girl Scouts have used it as a reference in earning merit badges; teachers in the Winchester Schools have used it as an aid in teaching Civics; these and many other local organizations have exhausted the League's supply.

Because of the many requests for its revision and reprinting, and the generous financial support of local friends of the League, work has been started to up-date this booklet. By June, 1961, most of the material will be covered and the "sifting" and "drafting" should begin. A tentative publication date has not yet been decided.

Any new residents of Winchester, whether or not they are members of the League, should find participation in this project a stimulating and rewarding experience. If you do not know who appoints the Fire Chief; if you do not know what the duties of the Selectmen are; if you do not know who is eligible to vote at Town Meetings; if you do not know who the Fence Viewers are, you should be helping to review "Inside Winchester, U.S. A.".

The governor-elect assisted his mother in cutting the elaborately trimmed yellow, triple-decked birthday cake in the midst of a family circle including John's brothers, Patrick and Peter, and his sister, Mrs. Grace Gonnella, all of Wakefield. Another brother, Richard, was out of town, but Mrs. Louise Bernabeo of Woburn, Mrs. Volpe's sister, was among those present. Also present were a number of Mrs. Volpe's long-time friends who had come with her from Descosansonesco in Italy 51 years ago.

Members of her family said Mrs. Volpe had wanted nothing for her birthday, except being the mother of the governor of the commonwealth.

Chadwick

"Besides the program outlined above, strong and skillful leadership on the part of the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House is essential. They must be on the job full time, and they must rise above petty and partisan differences in order to serve the best interests of all the people. Otherwise, both the private citizen and the rank and file legislator is helpless in his quest to attain a prompt, business-like and effective legislative process."

Collision On Main Street

A Ford operated by Wilfred M. Letellier of 107 Shawsheen Avenue, Wilmington, proceeding north on Main Street, was in collision with a parked delivery truck owned by the Roxbury Liquor Mart of West Roxbury Monday. The driver of the delivery truck, Mr. Joseph G. Flynn of 32 Welch Street, Malden, was making a delivery in the area at the time. Letellier reportedly cut his lip in the accident and said he would see his doctor. The Letellier car was damaged on the entire right front end. The delivery truck was towed to Haggerty's Garage.

Traffic Violator Crackdown

Registrar Clement A. Riley, chairman, Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, today called an emergency meeting for a statewide crackdown on traffic violators.

Colonel John C. Blake, executive officer, Massachusetts State Police; Chief Joseph B. O'Kane of Weymouth, chairman of the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, and superintendent Edward L. Connelly of the Metropolitan District Commission agreed that the increase in traffic accidents and fatalities demands drastic action to protect the motoring public and pedestrians.

Starting at once, all enforcement officers of the Commonwealth will report automobile registration numbers with description of speeding cars to the Registrar for immediate action when it would be too dangerous for the police and the motorist to book them on the spot. The Registrar will suspend the licenses of the offenders on these police reports.

Offenders will be prosecuted in court and in addition, will have their licenses suspended.

Enforcement will be concentrated on the following traffic violations: driving after drinking, unreasonable speed, failure to drive in the right-hand lane and on the right of the center of the highway, failure to give signals when changing directions, and failing to respect the rights of pedestrians.

These officials also agreed that this enforcement program will be permanent.

Toastmistress Council Meets

Council No. 5, Northeast Region of the International Toastmistress Clubs, Inc., met last Saturday, December 10. The meeting was held at the Hotel Edison in Lynn. Council No. 5 encompasses Toastmistress Clubs in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and upstate New York.

Guest of honor was Miss Mabel Pierson of Cleveland, Ohio, regional supervisor of the Northeast region. The program theme was "Improvement Is Our Most Important Product" with evaluation, program planning and the 1961 speech contest featured.

Winchester Toastmistress Club was one of the hostess clubs with President Hope Powell giving the invocation. Other Winchester members attending the council meeting were Ann Pyne, Inez Yagjian, Hilda Hope and Pamela Papadinis.

Council meetings are invaluable in helping neighboring Toastmistress Clubs to advise and help each other on minor problems. The next meeting for Council No. 5 is in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, next April.

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

Sachem Sextet Tied By Belmont 2-2

Winchester's icemen again were foiled this week when a last period goal by Belmont's Bill Monahan gave the Belmont High hockey team a 2-2 tie.

The game was sparked by numerous penalties as each team hustled for victory. In the second period six penalties were handed out as the tempo of the game increased.

Belmont drew first blood after a scoreless first period when Jim Wood drew the Winchester defense to the side and passed smoothly to John Gardiner who banged it home at 1:46. This lead held until late in the second period when Phil Davenport gained control of the puck in the Belmont end, snapped it to Callahan whose shot was not on the net, but a deflection by Dick Tierney went past the Belmont goalie at 8:46.

Over the years, Winchester's hockey teams have come out for the third period with thoughts only of scoring and this held true again. Winchester controlled the face-off as Dick Tierney drove in on the right hand side, slithered a pass to Phil Davenport who lit the light at 0:08 seconds. This lead looked as if it were in danger all the way through the period as Belmont put on countless offensive thrusts. It was not until 7:49, however, when Belmont's Wood gained control of the puck in the Winchester right hand corner. Tierney had no chance to save as Bill Monahan tied the score.

This marks the second tie for Winchester in two outings. Both teams that the Sachems have faced have had excellent skaters and puck carriers. The effect of Winchester's inexperience, with only two lettermen returning, has been partly lessened by their position play. They seem to be in the right spot most of the time and this has hurt the opponent's offense.

Winchester is now in a two way tie for fifth place in the standings but this is a deceptive position. They have two points by virtue of their two ties. The teams ahead of them have three points with one win and a tie to their credit.

The Sachems will face-off this Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at the Boston Garden with strong Watertown. Watertown defeated Reading last Saturday and is one of the favorites in the league race this year.

The summary:

Winchester—G, Bob Tierney; ld, John O'Callaghan; rd, Steve Wilson; lw, Davenport; c, Callahan; rw, Dick Tierney.

Spares—Ryan, Wilson, Reardon, Joyce.

Belmont—G, Mahoney; ld, Courtney; rd, Wilcinski; lw, Monahan; c, Boyls; rw, Bettencourt.

Spares—Berman, Rooney, Young, Wood, Gardiner.

1st period—No scoring

2nd period — Gardiner (Wood) 1:46; Tierney (Davenport, Callahan), 8:46.

3rd period—Davenport (Tierney) 0:08; Monahan (Wood, Boyle) 7:49.

Car Skids, Hits Tree

Shortly before 1:00 a.m. Monday, Mr. Kenneth I. Chase of 6 Quincy Park, Beverly, proceeding west in a Pontiac station wagon on Forest Street toward Winchester went into a skid and hit a tree opposite Forest Circle. The car was smashed on the right side and towed to Haggerty's Garage. Mr. Chase reportedly suffered bruises on both legs and told police he would see his doctor.

Remember When?

This cut is of Winchester Center in 1880, showing the old gate-tender's shanty which stood for so many years in the square. We cannot identify the building in the background, and hope that some of our readers may be able to do so.

The gate-tender's shanty sheltered the men who raised and lowered the old manually operated gates when the Boston and Lowell and later the Boston and Maine went through the center at grade.

The old shanty was finally torn down, for a guess in the forties and replaced with a brick two-storied tower, the first floor housing the crossing tender who operated the electrically controlled gates, and the second floor being used by the police officer doing traffic in the center.

The building of course was razed when the work on the overhead commenced.

Fire In Barn

Firemen answered an alarm reporting a barn on fire at 11 Forest Circle Saturday at 9:24 a.m. Janice Galiazzo, 14, told the police that she had entered the barn to feed her horse and discovered the water pipes frozen. When she applied a lighted paper to the pipes in an attempt to thaw them, she said, hay in the barn ignited. The property is owned by Joseph Galiazzo.

The Winchester Star

Editorials:

Is The Wadleigh School The Answer?

In connection with any youth problem which Winchester may have you are likely to hear advanced as the reason for the kids hanging around and getting into trouble, "they have no place to go." The youngsters themselves continually make this statement. Examined closely you have to find there is something in such a contention.

Now arguing that in the "good old days" kids didn't congregate in the center, were not always under foot, were not continually getting into trouble with the police and at school, gets us nowhere. In the old days high school and junior high pupils, (they were grammar school pupils then), went home to lunch and few of them went to the center unless they had an errand there. Nor should we forget that there were not so many boys and girls in town then as there are now. By the same token there were fewer to get into trouble, and also nowhere near the trouble to get into. Parental supervision in the "good old days" was much more effective than now when parents see their youngsters only at breakfast and supper time, if then.

The school-served lunch and the automobile have changed conditions for our young people. The school lunch keeps many of them from home all day while the automobile gets them many places, good or bad, to which they could not have gotten on foot or by bicycle.

Where did the old time youngsters congregate? The boys, many of them, played baseball or football on a convenient vacant field in their neighborhood. Few neighborhoods in those days were without them, but almost none have them today. It is the easiest thing in the world for boys and girls, too, with no necessity for going home, to gravitate from the school to the center, and once there, remain there, because there is "no place to go."

This is not to say that such procedure is desirable or that people are not justified in complaining of a group of hulking youngsters lounging about street corners or on the common. But the problem still remains, at least according to many, of where else can they go.

There are some in town who believe a boys' club or youth center will solve the problem, and already a steering committee has been formed to push for such a building. We think every one will agree that a youth center would be desirable. Whether there will be the same unanimity of opinion over the necessity for such a facility is hard to predict.

There is a way to provide the boys and girls with a place to go, and perhaps make a modest start toward the more diverse facilities of a youth center.

We refer to the old Wadleigh School building. For years now it has stood unused. All attempts to use it for school purposes have failed. The school committee is inalterably opposed to its use as a school. It has also been turned down as a possible place for office buildings now housed in private buildings. Mr. Elliott, a builder of considerable experience, has expressed the opinion that the building is structurally sound and could be used for school purposes if properly conditioned. If it can be fixed up to be used as a school, it surely can be put in shape to serve as a meeting place for boys and girls.

We have no elaborate plan in mind, and believe no such plan is needed. If the building is structurally sound, why wouldn't it be possible to fix up the basement for a coke bar with flats for cooking hamburgers and frankforts. Inexpensive tables and chairs would provide a place for boys and girls to gather and "shoot the breeze," which seems to be their principal occupation on the Common and McCormack's corner. A couple of ping pong tables and perhaps a pool table might be included.

Upstairs provision could be made for card and other game rooms, with a small hall and juke box, or record player, for dancing, made by knocking out the partitions between two rooms.

This use of the Wadleigh School as a congregating place for our boys and girls is not exclusive with the Star. Since the publication of our series on the town's youth problem, several have spoken to us and favored such use.

The building would seem to be admirably situated for such a meeting place, with adjacent parking space, out of the center, yet near enough to the center to be accessible to all parts of town.

The location of the building would also be advantageous in the event the plan to use the gymnasiums and other facilities of the senior and junior high schools should be adopted. Several, experienced in recreational matters have told the Star they believe this would be an adequate and relatively inexpensive substitute for a new and exclusively boys' club or youth center building. We already have many of the facilities that a youth center would provide, standing much of the time unused.

Naturally School Department cooperation in connection with the use of school facilities for recreation would be necessary, but several of the school buildings have been and are being used now for such activities as badminton and the Police Athletic League basketball program, to name only two. The Star believes the School Department would cooperate in any program, the object of which is the betterment of the youth of the town. As a matter of fact the School Department has already done some preliminary investigation in this matter of recreation as a cure for delinquent juveniles.

Putting the old Wadleigh in shape for use as a youth canteen or meeting place ought, if it can be done, to be considerably less expensive than building a new building, and it would be available much sooner. It might serve as a guinea pig for the youth center idea and an index of how popular and how necessary such a facility is in Winchester. Certainly the Wadleigh Building, put in reasonably good shape, could serve as a meeting place for the boys and girls who are complaining that they have no place to go. Conducted by a person trained in such matters, recreational programs of a sort suitable to the building could be instituted.

The Star would like to know what the boys and girls think of this idea. We will welcome opinions of parents or other interested residents. We offer the plan for consideration. We feel it has some merit. There are probably some objections, and these we would be glad to hear about.

There is right now a great deal of discussion of the youth problem, and here in Winchester public opinion is more and more concerning itself with doing something constructive about a situation that informed persons believe is far more serious than many are willing to believe.

A Holiday Hint For Drivers

The holiday season is breathing down our necks and everywhere people are making plans. Some of these plans, especially for celebrations of sorts, will doubtless involve wassail, either in bowls or on the hip. To wassail or not to wassail is pretty much a question to be settled by the individual. Some will eschew the flowing bowl and others flock to pay it homage. So much for that!

This holiday season as every holiday season there will be accidents, slight, serious or fatal, for which the principal cause will be liquor. Many a convivial gathering has ended in tragedy, with some of its participants landing in a hospital or morgue. Careful consideration of this fact can prevent such unhappy endings.

Shun that last one "for the road" as you would a peevish cobra. Heed the advice, "You've had enough." Let the cold sober member of the group take the wheel of the homeward bound car.

All this is old advice to veteran party-goers and wassail addicts. They may or may not consider it sound, and they may or may not act upon it. There would be a lot less grief attendant upon the holiday season if they would.

This advice is, however, not offered to the veteran, good as it may be for, and applicable as it unquestionably is to him! We raise our voice in the wilderness for the benefit of those young people who will be going to their first big holiday parties this year.

Don't go overboard, don't try to show the old timers how much you can hold! Don't drive if you have any doubt of your ability to do so safely, or if a friend tells you, you are in no condition to operate a car.

Acting on this last advice can help you to comb a few gray hairs, or at least prevent an overnight stop at some police station and subsequent appearance in court. Most people, we believe, will feel there are better and more pleasant ways to spend their time.

The Hazards Of A Bomb Scare

Winchester High School had another bomb scare last week, a girl's voice announcing by telephone to the school office that a bomb on the first floor of the school would go off within fifteen minutes of the call.

Naturally the police and fire departments were notified and the pupils evacuated from school.

Like its predecessors this bomb scare was some misguided kid's idea of a joke. Few will see any humor in it, and there is always danger in a mass evacuation of youngsters from a building, as well as the hazard of having several hundred boys and girls on the street without police protection. It is entirely possible for one or more of the youngsters out of school to be hit by a swiftly moving automobile or truck. We wonder how the person promoting the bomb scare would feel if one of her best friends were seriously injured or killed because she wanted to upset the school routine.

Chief Derro has announced that no mercy will be shown any one caught spreading a bomb scare, and the penalties for such action are severe. The Chief urges any one possessing information, no matter how slight, that may lead to the apprehension of any person responsible for a bomb scare to communicate with him, promising that the name of the one advancing such information will be held in strict secrecy.

Belmont Bans School Driving

Belmont is the latest community in which the school committee has voted to prohibit high school students from driving to and from schools. The vote, three to two, came after a heated debate and the ban was invoked as a safety measure and an experiment in education. Somehow the notion that scholastic grades are affected by the habitual driving of automobiles by school girls and boys will not down.

The recent tragic accidents involving teen agers are undoubtedly causing many to ponder the advisability of making cars available to young people under twenty, and the Star has heard rumors that a bill raising the driving age in Massachusetts will be introduced at the next session of the legislature.

Home And Garden Club Aids In Protecting Trees, Plants

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Last year, The Winchester Home and Garden Club celebrated its 25th anniversary. It was a gala event which demonstrated vividly the progress made in the art of floral decoration. However, decoration is but one small facet of the club's activities.

To stimulate the knowledge and love of gardening and to aid in the protection of native trees, plants and birds — that is the never ending goal of this club, which was started back in 1934.

In the Spring of that year a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. T. West on Mason Street. A set of by laws and a constitution for governing the new organization were drawn up by a committee consisting of Mrs. Clifton Hall as chairman, Mrs. Ashley Hayden and Mrs. West.

By-Laws Adopted

At a meeting on June 19 in the Winchester Public Library the by-laws and constitution were officially adopted and Mrs. Alonzo Woodside was chosen to be the first president of the organization which is now known as The Winchester Home and Garden Club.

Unfortunately, the names of the charter members were never recorded, but in the first annual report (dated June, 1934) the late Mrs. Norman Mitchell recorded the officers: Mrs. Alonzo T. Woodside, President; Mrs. Torr W. Harmer, Vice President; Mrs. Norman Mitchell, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Chester F. Wolfe, Treasurer; Mrs. Sylvester Taylor, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Elisha Goodwin, Chairman, Membership; Mrs. Lucius Smith, Chairman, Social Committee.

Pioneer Meeting

Some months previous to this meeting, Mrs. George Henry, Mrs. Woodside, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Hayden had met with groups of Winchester men and women who were interested in civic improvements.

Mrs. T. Storer of Boston and Washington had urged Mrs. Henry to organize a Winchester Chapter of the National Better Homes and Garden Association. This organization especially stressed the importance of more victory gardens, better homes, better gardens, more and better recreation and playground areas.

Plant Sale

To raise funds for this project, Mrs. Woodside arranged a most successful plant sale at the Edmund Sanderson's Electric Shop on Mt. Vernon Street in May, 1934. Here, Mrs. Woodside's inspired leadership and enthusiasm kindled the spark that led to the actual organization of The Winchester Home and Garden Club.

Even in the early years of the club, there was never a lack of enthusiasm. Every president has contributed much to the club's remarkable importance, success, and growth. Prominent speakers never fail to find a well-attended and appreciative audience awaiting them. The social hour is always friendly and pleasant.

Harvest Festival

One of the club's first ambitious undertakings was a Harvest Festival held in the recreation hall of the First Baptist Church. Men and women members worked feverishly many days and nights building rustic stands on which to show their flowers, arrangements, and horticultural produce. It was truly a show that launched all succeeding flower shows in Winchester.

Flower arrangement was, at this time, just being recognized as an art. Members began intensive studying to become proficient arrangers. The club is proud of the many awards that have been given to its members for their outstanding arrangements in the Boston Flower Shows and in the local and surrounding town shows.

Through the years, other members have brought recognition to the club in the form of awards and citations for meritorious work in horticulture, landscape design, and volunteer service.

Civic Projects

The civic projects of the club are numerous and varied. During the war years more victory gardens were planted locally. Seeds were sent to a grateful England. Flowers and produce have been sent weekly through the Flower Mission to Boston for distribution in the Boston Hospitals, and to the Lovell General Hospital at Camp Devens.

Under the devoted leadership of Mrs. Harold Twombly, a group of women annually decorate the hospital rooms and wards of the disabled veterans now at the Veterans Hospital in Bedford. Also, members assist in the important work of garden therapy.

Yule Projects

Each year, Christmas wreaths and decorations made by the club members have been placed in the Home for Aged People, the Winchester Hospital, and the Winchester Public Library.

A bird bath and feeding stations were given to the Home for the Aged, and window boxes and gardens have been planted there to beautify the grounds.

A long-range plan for landscaping the Public Library grounds was devised for the club by Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood, Mrs. John Chipman and Mr. John Wills have been most helpful in its execution.

Hostesses

Upon two occasions, the club has been hostess for the East Middlesex District of the Garden Club Federation.

Occasionally, members of friends open their homes and their gardens to the club. Here the attractive arrangements, especially designed by members are shown to advantage; and refreshments served in these gardens and homes are most enjoyable.

Every year the really exciting affair in Winchester is the Christmas Work Shop and Greens Sale. This event launches the beautiful decorative themes of the approaching holiday season. Proceeds from the sale of the many items made and donated by members help greatly in financing the various philanthropic activities of the club.

"Togetherness"

Togetherness of purpose and spirit is an important factor in the club's success and popularity. Its civic interest is recognized and appreciated. Its future is extremely promising and important. Its current membership is in excess of 200.

This year, with Mrs. Frederick W. Cole as president, it will again reach new heights. The following officers will sustain her in making 1960-61 another memorable year in the club's history:

Honorary President, Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside; Vice President, Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffe; Second Vice President, Mrs. Percy Bugbee; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Walter P. Keyes; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Robert Baylies; Treasurer, Mrs. Carlton J. Dane.

THE SILENT LANGUAGE

By WILSON SULLIVAN

Why is it that after spending billions of dollars on foreign aid Americans are disliked or merely tolerated abroad? Why so many voices saying: "Yankee, go home?"

Anthropologist Edward T. Hall, former director of the Point Four training program, suggests why in "The Silent Language."

Our failure to reach understanding with foreigners, Dr. Hall believes, is caused not by malice on our part, but by ignorance of what is considered correct in other countries, ignorance betrayed in our conduct.

Noble slogans notwithstanding, Dr. Hall explains, "we are constantly communicating our real feelings in our silent language—the language of behavior," the language of gesture and manner. If our attitude toward foreigners is in fact patronizing, suspicious, or contemptuous, our actions—in spite of our words—will betray us: hesitation in entering a native hut, for example; a tone of "let-me-show-you" arrogance; a mannered sigh that shouts: "Why can't the Thai learn to boil water for ice cubes?"

Conditioned to these attitudes, Dr. Hall observes, we are largely unaware that they exist, unaware of the resentments they engender in non-Americans. More than this, he writes, we ingenuously believe that what is for us "normal behavior" constitutes a kind of universal or natural law whose correctness should be obvious to all men of good will. It is precisely this short circuit in cultural communication, Dr. Hall believes, that is the major obstacle to American success abroad.

Dr. Hall cites several points of difference in American and foreign attitudes:

(1) We pride ourselves on our "forthrightness," our "straight-from-the-shoulder" informality, our ease in "making friends," our breezy brightness in social gatherings. Many foreigners, however, resent what they consider our "lack of subtlety" and finesse, our "loudness," our "pushy" over-familiarity, our indiscreet capacity for intimacy at a moment's notice.

(2) We like conferences to be brisk and brief, to end on schedule, to "get to the point," to delegate "mere details" to sub-committees. Others are willing to confer as long as the discussion requires, distrust delegating authority, insist that details be worked out across the table.

(3) For us, fifteen minutes is too long to wait beyond appointment time. Others, with less sense of urgency, think nothing of being an hour late for an appointment.

(4) The upper-class British accent strikes some Americans as arrogant and effete, whereas the British consider our accent coarse and corrupt, an assault on the sensibilities.

(5) In the U. S. religion is compartmentalized, seldom allowed to interfere with business or politics. In other cultures it exercises a dominant influence in all social spheres, demanding the understanding respect of all foreign visitors.

(6) We insist that recipients of agricultural aid plow in the spring; some of them, however, are convinced that early plowing is a desecration of pregnant Mother Earth.

(7) Similarly we demand pure water, while some Arabs think dirty water tastes better and makes men smart, brave and fertile.

Who's right? Obviously, Dr. Hall points out, it is a question not of "rightness," but of cultural difference. To deal with such differences, we must forego judging them according to our standards. We must understand that what is "abnormal" or absurd to us is quite correct and "normal" for others.

When we look at another culture, Dr. Hall reminds us, we are simply looking at a different way of organizing life, different assumptions about man, his family, his state, his economy and his God. To coexist and cooperate with these cultures, Dr. Hall observes, we must accept them on their own terms.

But perhaps above all, Dr. Hall concludes, we must understand our own culture, become conscious of our behavior, which is now left to undisciplined instincts. By analyzing our culture, he says, we free ourselves from its restraints, learn what is essential in it, where it can be compromised or revised in our relations with others.

Discovering the local origins of our own behavior will also help us to be more objective in dealing with other nations, Dr. Hall adds. Objectivity would free us from the black-and-white mentality whereby we declare every nation not "with us" to be "against us." Objectivity would deliver us from the crippling belief that all who disagree with us are "red," "pinko," arrogant, ungrateful or just plain mean. We will discover, perhaps, that they're just different.

Youth Center Is the Home!

Editor of the Star:

To one, like myself, who has been engaged in work with Juvenile Delinquents for several years, the present discussion of the efforts in Winchester to help boys and girls who are prone to run into conflict with the law, is most intriguing. But there are some things that have not yet been said, and I will draw on my experience with the Boys' Clubs of Boston and Waltham, Good Will Inn, and Middlesex County Training School to call attention to other facets of the problem.

The idea commonly expressed in such discussions is that there are certain remedies, which, if tried, could solve the problem. And the implication is, that because no one has had the initiative to try these remedies, "which 'we' advocate," we have the problem with us.

The fact is juvenile delinquency is an extremely complex matter. There are no "over-all" solutions. "Get tough, beat them up," say some. "Give them a good talking to," say others. ('We' know the magic words) "Appoint a Police Officer to work with juveniles." (And thereby risk destroying the image of authority of one who must enforce the law.) "Open a Youth Center or Club," say others. In the list of juvenile crimes from April 18 to October 26, (published in the Star) how many of these crimes, could we claim, would not have occurred if we had a Youth Center? If we are to even partially mitigate the problem, we must approach it on a deeper level than that of these palliatives.

Why? Because each juvenile with whom we deal has a different personality. What will work with one will not work with another.

Take the universal problem of vandalism. Who has the answer? The best that I know is that vandalism is a gang activity triggered by a "leader" with a strong, built-in, subconscious feeling of revenge against the community, school, or home.

He gathers about him, being a leader, companions, some slightly disturbed, some young ones trying to be "big shots" with the gang, some fearsome ones who do not dare to be "chicken." The disturbed leader actuates his ingrained animus, the others follow the suggestive lead.

Obviously, the approach to vandalism is through the spotting of the "prime mover," and we will find in him the makings of a criminal battling with society. Now what can reach the "crooked streak" in that individual's make-up? Certainly not punishment, nor good advice, nor by playing ping-pong in a Youth Center.

It may be that the boy is an incipient psychotic. That phase should be explored by a psychiatrist, and if found so, he should not be turned loose in the community for further contaminating and destructive activities.

If the boy is capable of being set right, the intimate friendship of a man of strong character, who can start building up a constructive relationship, inculcating feelings of self-respect and goodwill, gradually breaking down the anti-social resistance. This requires a long period of patient, loving, personal relationships between man and boy. This is the philosophy of the "Big Brother Movement."

Now as to punishment. Those "in the know" are thoroughly aware that punishment, corporal or otherwise, will contribute nothing to the rehabilitation of some boys. They also know, that with some other boys, nothing else will work. It is generally accepted that corporal punishment with boys over 14, or thereabouts, is not a sound disciplinary technique. But every child needs the security and guidance of a firm of disciplinary hand. Again the method must be adapted to the individual.

Prof. and Mrs. Sheldon Glueck of Harvard, great authorities on delinquency, have given us the fruits of their long scholarship for our guidance. Out of every 100 delinquents studied they have found that about 30% will respond to the ordinary efforts and will not get into further trouble. About 40% may or may not completely respond, but will be worth working on. The lower 30% will prove to be incorrigible, and the principal effort should be to protect society from their depredations.

Another method for guidance that the Gluecks have given us, is that of detecting delinquent traits in incorrigible children in the elementary grades This can be done by the co-operation of teachers, school psychologists, and social workers, working according to principles that the Gluecks have worked out over a period of years.

Now a few remarks about the proposed "Youth Center." As a community project, it must be without denominational orientation, (unlike the Y.M.C.A. for instance). All of the churches in Winchester have religiously oriented programs, religious and social, for youth. What is left for a "Youth Center" to do? To compete against church youth activities with their religious orientation, or to provide an activity by which parents can rationalize and contine on with, their neglect to provide home recreation and sociability for their youth? The real "Youth Center" is in the home.

The Boys' Clubs of America are designed to serve boys living in underprivileged areas where families and housings are deficient and subnormal. The homes of Winchester are not from some points of view said to be "deficient or subnormal." But it can be said in truth that the alcoholics of the "cocktail parties" and the alcoholics of the slums are equably the "cup bearers of alcoholic degeneracy" and the youths of the community are the victims, whether in a "well-heeled" suburbia, or in the dirty, disorderly slums of a city.

Here is a quotation from the Christian Science Monitor of December 6th:

"Philadelphia Police Commissioner Albert Brown places the problem in broader perspective when he speaks of the need for people to understand that "delinquency is the end result of a moral deterioration of the community. Young people don't live in a vacuum, they reflect the attitudes and values around them. In order to lick the problem, we need to lift the moral tone of the community."

For a Community Recreation Center

Editor of the Star:

Now that the move for a Youth Center is in the Steering Committee stage, I have an idea I'd like to offer for consideration.

Valuable as a Youth Center might be, I feel that a Community Recreation Center with facilities for all ages would be of even greater service to the town. Some of my reasons are:

First—Youths and adults doing things together establishes a better relationship than adults merely providing for youth. Example: a volley ball league with players of different ages on each team.

Second—Financial support would come from a larger group if all residents knew there would be opportunities for all. Example: morning activities for retired men and women — movies, checkers, chess and so on.

Third—Agencies in the town now providing some recreational facilities could easily be brought into a plan appealing to all ages,—churches and schools for instance.

Finally—Among our adult citizenry there would emerge men and women interested and able to lead youth groups with a beginning interest in the same subjects. Example: collections, discussions, models, wood carving, and almost unlimited other hobbies.

Your December 8 editorial stressing the need for professional leadership is so right.

Let's give some thought to a Community Recreation Center with activity for all—including a strong emphasis on youth.

A Friend in Need At Christmas

Editor of the Star:

Quite often we have sent in items to you because we take an interest in people and enjoy writing.

Now, as Christmas approaches and in the thought that our articles might possibly have made us a new friend here or there, we ask a favor.

There is a little Indian family at 111 W. Nora Street, Thief River Falls, Minnesota. The father, Raymond Oliver, is an Air Force veteran. Danny, two years old and Junior, four, are expecting a baby brother or sister for Christmas.

Perhaps an outgrown little snow suit, a pair of overshoes, a sweater or an unused toy. Maybe a child's prayerbook, a Christmas card or a little something green from an Irish friend.

Whatever or whoever, we shall always be grateful.

Sincerely,
Jim Corrigan

T. B. Testing Should Be Compulsory

Editor of the Star:

In answer to the article on tuberculosis in last week's issue of the Star, I wish to say it should be compulsory for everyone in our town to be tested for this disease.

Many a person cannot afford a doctor or is ashamed to go to a doctor because of lack of funds these days, so the examination should be compulsory.

Why do old folks baby sit? Merely because they cannot earn money in other ways for a bare existence.

S. S. does not pay enough for a couple to live on or come near it, therefore the baby sitting comes in more than handy to live.

There is so much taken out of our young folks' pay today in taxes they cannot pay their bills, so many of them have to ask their wives to work so they must hire motherly baby sitters.

Sincerely,
Mrs. L. E. Chase
Winchester

P.S. If the tuberculosis association would set up a place to be tested free, I am sure many would go voluntarily.

B.&P.W. Guild Yule Decorations

The Business and Professional Women's Guild was hostess to the Women's Association of the First Congregational Church on Wednesday evening, December 7, in Chidley Hall. Coffee was served at 7:30 in the rear of the hall, following which Mrs. Frederick Withington, president of the guild, opened the meeting and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Dwight L. Cart led the group in the worship service.

The guild was most fortunate in being able to present at this time Mrs. George E. Ham of Arlington, well known among garden clubs and similar groups throughout New England and in New York State. She was introduced on this occasion by Mrs. Philip Johnson, program chairman, and spoke on "Christmas Decorations."

Mrs. Ham is a delightful person and presents her works of art in a most interesting manner. Before the meeting, she had located many of her cone and fruit arrangements on tables at the side of the hall and, as she spoke, these were brought to her, one by one, and placed in the spotlight against a bright red backdrop. Mrs. Ham spent days and weeks collecting material—shells, cones, fruits, greens, etc., and her arrangements are most effective. Some were simple and some very formal.

There was a large group present and all were intrigued. Some wished they could create similar masterpieces, which in Mrs. Ham's skilled fingers, seemed so easy to make; and some of the more clever will no doubt try.

Town School Children In Christmas Tableaus

Christmas is a wonderful time even in school. In the elementary schools holiday decorations make festive the corridors and classrooms. The Wyman School children gather on the stair landings each morning to sing carols. Assembly programs are in rehearsal. Teachers with Miss Jeanne Loudon and Miss Virginia French are busy helping pupils to realize through art and music the true spirit of Christmas.

The Wyman School will have an assembly on Monday, December 19, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium. Every child is participating in the presentation of Christmas scenes in tableau and song. The first grade is responsible for "Christmas Lullaby," the second for "Gifts at Christmas" and the third for "Christmas Eve." The fourth grades are working on the theme "Decorating for Christmas," the fifth on "Home for Christmas." The sixth graders will be "Joyous Carolers of Long Ago."

The Washington School assembly takes place Tuesday, December 20, at 2 p.m. Miss Phyllis Roberts' sixth grade class will present "The Clockmaker," based on an old German legend. The play emphasizes gift-giving in the spirit of love. The clockmaker is played by Jonathan Osgood. The children with the help of Mrs. Frances Houghton have made all the scenery including backdrops and flats for the three acts in the shop, street and cathedral. Both fifth grades will sing carols as part of the background music.

Two performances will be given on Wednesday, December 21, at the Mystic School, one at 10 a.m. for lower grades, and one at 1:15 for the upper grades. The fifth grade classes under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. Eileen Hartwell and Mrs. Judith Pomeroy, are rehearsing for their play, "The Christmas Angel." They will tell how a greedy and selfish princess learns the true meaning of Christmas. The cast of the morning play will act as carolers for the afternoon performance while the morning carolers turn into actors and actresses.

On the same day (December 21) at 2 p.m. the Noonan School pupils gather in the auditorium for Christmas songs and tableaux. The children in Grades I through III will represent the lighter side of Christmas, illustrating the traditional holiday tree, Santa Claus and his reindeers. The upper grades represent the spiritual side of Christmas. The stained glass windows and murals for the backdrops are the work of the fifth and sixth grades.

The Lincoln School children along with those from the West Side Elementary School will have their assembly from 7 to 8 on Wednesday evening, December 21. The Christmas story will be portrayed in tableaux, and music which is traditionally an integral part of the holiday. Mr. Theodore Janner, music supervisor, will play the violin between scenes as well as the obligato for the children's chorus.

There will be no Christmas assembly at Parkhurst to the regret of Principal Albert Sutula, who says that all available space is being utilized to house temporarily additional children from the West Side School.

Parents and friends of the students are invited to attend these assemblies in the Winchester elementary schools.

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

New hearts for old!

Only to the medically uninitiated does this have the unreal ring of a phrase from science fiction. Transplantation of human hearts is not just around the corner, but there is no reason to believe it cannot be successfully done one day.

Modern surgery is almost a miracle. There are few limits to what the world's great surgeons can do. As early as 1906—half a century before the Russians boasted of it—an animal head was transplanted in this country. Hearts have been transplanted too, in animals; surgically speaking, the experiments have been successful. (But the patients, to borrow the classic cliche, died).

The major roadblock preventing transplantation of hearts is the same factor that sharply reduces the number of persons upon whom kidney transplants can be made—rejection.

Kidney transplantation has come a long, long way in a few years—largely in Boston and to some extent with support from the Massachusetts Heart Association. Reasons for this support are obvious—the heart and kidneys are very closely allied in the body, particularly in the field of high blood pressure, one of our foremost killers. The kidney depends on the heart for its blood supply and fuel.

Through the trail-blazing of kidney research, some of the answers in heart transplantation may be found.

Kidneys may be transplanted between identical twins because the rejection factor does not exist. They are fashioned, not of two eggs, but of one egg which has split in two.

What happens in non-identical individuals?

As the embryo develops its own tissues, it learns to recognize them as what we call cells. Similarly, it learns to recognize—and reject—foreign tissues. This does not occur early in the embryo's career, however, and medical science has taken advantage of this embryonic naivete to inject foreign cells with the result that when the animal—in this case, the mouse—is born it is possible to transplant successfully skin or kidneys from the other animal. It is possible even to take rat tissue, inject it into a mouse embryo and when the mouse is born it has the ability to manufacture diseases common to both animals.

This, however, is not the avenue being pursued in humans; it is fascinating but it has various drawbacks.

In the adult, the forces that recognize foreign agents are well developed; they constitute one of our major defenses against infection. Antibodies are formed to kill off the invading force—be it a streptococcal infection or a transplanted organ.

The approach more recently favored is to destroy the "defending" tissues, especially in the lymph glands, through X-ray radiation. If enough is given, the defense forces are totally destroyed, foreign tissues can be introduced and it will live.

The destruction following massive radiation, however, is tremendous. It includes the bone marrow that produces blood, and the marrow must be replaced with living marrow of the type desired.

In humans, the problem of just how much radiation to give has not yet been totally resolved. Also, even when bone marrow is successfully transplanted, it too tends to develop antibodies against the body into which it has been injected.

Another avenue has been to give less radiation so that the tissue is not entirely destroyed and while the defending forces are knocked out the new organ takes over. This also is in its infancy, and has far to go.

Researchers hope one day to see the development of drugs that will act like X-ray, and will be able to knock out the body's defense forces without destroying the individual. More needs to be learned about tissue compatibility so the right people can be matched up for transplants.

It points up dramatically the needs, the promise and the probable rewards of diligent, continued research in a field so large as to challenge the imagination.

A Good Word For Youth From Mrs. Witham

We received a very nice telephone call at the Star this week from Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham of 75 Bacon Street. With all the talk about the wrong things youngsters are doing these days, Mrs. Witham thought she might like to pass a little positive news along.

"Out paper boy for the last few days has waded through deep snow in order to put our newspaper in the door slot so that it won't get wet," Mrs. Witham told us. "I think that's pretty nice and I just wanted to pass on a good word for the youngsters."

Mrs. Witham is no stranger to children. Most recently she provided piano accompaniment to Carlene Samóiloff's production of "Noah's Ark," produced by the Children's Theatre School and presented under the auspices of the Community School Associates.

Mother-Baby Care Course Ends At Red Cross

A mother-baby-care course has just been completed at the Winchester Red Cross Chapter House under the leadership of Mrs. Walfred Wiklund, executive director of the Winchester Visiting Nurses' Association.

This was a six-weeks- course at which seven couples had the experience of getting first-hand information on how to care for the new addition to the family.

Praise was indeed high for Mrs. Wiklund's informal and informative demonstrations on all phases of baby care and in her ability to create confidence in even the greenest of parents-to-be.

Due to the enthusiasm of this group, the Red Cross hopes to continue to provide similar classes for expectant parents. Anyone interested in joining a future class is invited to contact the local Red Cross by phoning PA 9-2300.

Impressive Ceremony in New York

Bellino Presented With Coveted Heisman Award

With his mother and father, his brother, Sam, and his girl friend, Ann Tansey, among others from Winchester looking on, Joe Bellino was formally presented the coveted Heisman Award at the Down Town Athletic Club, home of the donors in New York City, last Thursday evening. Leading figures in the sports and newspaper world were present, and the preliminaries to the presentation were most elaborate, commencing at 4 o'clock with the gathering of school football stars, coaches and sponsoring members of the Athletic Club on the 17th floor roof garden of this plush establishment.

At 5 o'clock the school stars had a reception with Bellino, followed by a social hour in the 3rd floor cafe to which the ladies were invited. At 6 o'clock official pictures of Bellino were taken by the club photographer to hang in the club with previous Heisman Trophy winners.

At 7:30 p.m. Bellino was given a reception in the 18th floor lounge, to which only the club's distinguished guests and the press were invited. Dinner was served at 8:30, tables being set on the 7th, 13th and 15th floors of the club to accommodate all the guests.

At 9 o'clock the Heisman Memorial Trophy was presented to Bellino in the club gymnasium where eulogistic remarks were made about the Winchester football flash by representatives of the Navy, the club and press, including Wayne Hardin, football coach at Navy, and Ed Sullivan, New York columnist and TV star.

Sullivan was the principal speak- and told of asking Mr. and Mrs. Bellino about Joe, and his early life in a effort to find out what sort of boy he had been. In reply Mr. Bellino said Joe had always been a friendly boy, quick to see any one he knew and greet him with a friendly "Hi!" Mrs. Bellino added that Joe, even as a small boy, had been thoughtful and considerate, ready to sympathize with and help her whenever she had been ill or upset.

During the ceremonies Captain Asbury Coward, Navy director of athletics, paid high tribute to Bellino as a man and potential naval officer, telling of the respect and esteem in which he is held by his associates at Annapolis, and announcing that Joe is to be a company commander at the Academy, with three stripes. Coach Wayne Hardin, echoed these sentiments, and told what Joe had meant to this year's Navy team, repeating his opinion that Bellino is the greatest football player he has ever seen.

Bellino was given an ovation when he arose to accept the trophy from Clifford E. Deming, president of the Down Town A. C.

Joe said that the award ceremonies were the high point of his life and receiving the Heisman Trophy his biggest thrill. He acknowledged the assistance he had been given along the way by friends, all of whom were, however, too numerous to mention.

He did pay tribute to his high school football coach, Hennie Knowlton; to his parents, his four brothers, Vito, Sam, Tony and Mike, and his sister, Betty; to his head coach and assistant coaches at Navy and to his team mates at Annapolis, whose efforts he said, were largely responsible for his being able to do what he had done on the gridiron.

In closing he said that it would be his greatest wish to prove wholly worthy of the honor shown him in the award of the Heisman Trophy.

After the presentation there were radio broadcasts, autographs and a big party in the club's third floor cafe, to which the ladies were invited.

The day following the trophy award Mr. and Mrs. Bellino were taken on a club-sponsored shopping tour of the principal stores in New York. The Bellinos, Miss Tansey and Dr. William D. Barone, family doctor who delivered Joe, made the trip to New York in a big donated Cadillac with Sam Bellino at the wheel.

Ninth Grade Vocal Ensemble Holds Musicale

On Tuesday, December 6, the Ninth Grade Vocal Ensemble presented at the Winchester Country Club a Christmas Musicale for members of the MU Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International honor society for women teachers. The ensemble was directed by Mrs. Eleanor Thistlethwaite, supervisor of music at the Junior High School.

The program consisted of "Masters in This Hall," "Joy to the World," "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "The First Noel."

The group members are the following students: Elizabeth Lantz, Marcia Russell, Rebecca Fitts, Susan Buchanan, Laurie McLean, Patricia Shinney (sopranos); Leslie Dalrymple, Susan Keppler, Lynn Anderson, Margaret Rich, Patricia Pyne (altos); Louis Briasco, Russell Hatch, Brian Kincaid, John Holland (tenors); Richard Penner, Jonathan Moody, Robert Eddy, William Hopkins, William Hoyt (basses).

S. O. I. Bowling

Boston College, under the competent leadership of its captain, Joe Berardi, has been able to keep a firm grip on first place and hopes to keep up the pace for the next and final match of the first half, when it takes on fast coming Harvard.

Harvard has "Old Man" Hokie Procopio as its leader with such men as Frank Dattilo, proud father of Navy fame Frank, Jr., Jim Figlioli, Angie Amico, Bill Fiore and Ben Gigliotte giving him strong support. The winners of the first half will compete against the leaders of the second half in March for the league championship.

So with this in mind, Boston College has its aim set on staying on top for this last match which could be in progress as you are reading this column. Yale is a close second and can tie for the leadership if they take three points and if B. C. drops three points. Time will tell.

At this time last week Boston College was on top with Yale in second place. The two teams are still in the same positions. Navy and Harvard were tied for third last week and now we find Navy in third place with Harvard dropping to fifth.

Army was tied with Georgetown for fourth place last week but Army now holds that place alone and Georgetown has moved to sixth. Notre Dame and Alabama were tied for fifth in the standing a week ago and now Notre Dame holds seventh with Alabama holding ninth. Bates has dropped from sixth to eighth, California from seventh to twelfth, Holy Cross was eighth and is now eleventh, St. Mary's held eighth with Holy Cross and is now in tenth place. Then follow California, Maryland and Pennsylvania in that order.

Andy Buzzotta was last week's winner of the attendance prize and was happy to join the ranks.

Winchester's No. 2 Wins

Curling Season's First Bonspiel

Winchester Country Club was host last week end, Saturday, December 10, and Sunday, December 11, to other New England Curling Clubs in the first Bonspiel to be staged locally.

It was the home club's fifth annual friendly Bonspiel which was inaugurated to further friendships among fellow curlers in this sport that continues to grow in popularity in this part of the country.

In keeping with the spirit of this particular competition, no rinks were eliminated from play and the winner was decided by the number of wins and plus and minus points.

All rinks were very well matched as evidenced by the fact that no club was able to win all three matches. It was not until the last stone had been played Sunday afternoon that the winner was decided.

This proved to be Winchester's. No. 2 rink consisting of Chet Steadman, Larry Trevett, Bob Bennink and Charlie Eaton, skip. Plus wins of 7 over Albany and 8 over T.C.C. No. 2 along with a minus 2 loss to Nashua gave the home club a total of plus 13 which was enough margin to nose out second place Norfolk.

Winchester's other rink was made up of Ron Davis, Ed Sanford, Ralph Bonnell, Jr., and Ralph Bonnell, Sr., as skip.

Included as part of the pleasant festivities was a curlers' dinner Saturday evening, at which a warm welcome was extended to participants and their guests by Bonspiel chairman, Dr. Angie Maietta, Winchester's curling chairman; Jim Wilcox and the country club's vice president, Stan Neill.

It was the unanimous opinion that under Dr. Maietta's able direction, Winchester had conducted and enjoyed another successful friendly Bonspiel.

Final standings: Albany, minus 6; Brae Burn, No. 1, minus 6; Brae Burn, No. 2, plus 5; Highland, plus 10; Nashua, plus 1; T.C.C. No. 1, minus 1; T.C.C. No. 2, minus 6; Wellesley, plus 3; Weston, minus 5; Winchester No. 1, plus 6; Winchester No. 2, plus 13.

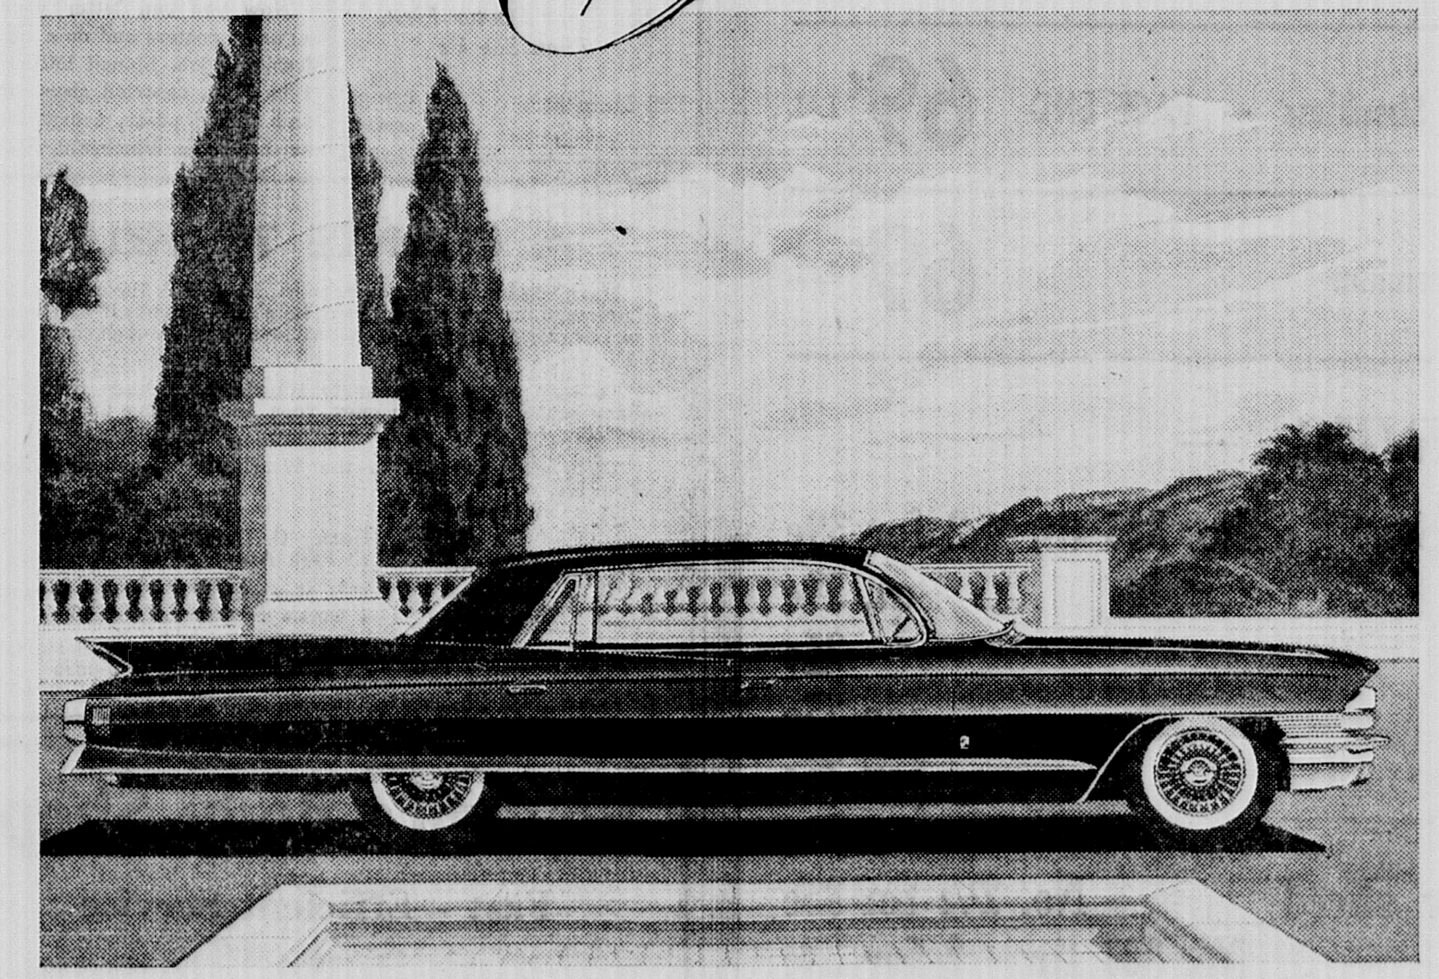
Cadillac



World's easiest way to say "Quality"!

In any company—in any land—there is one word that is instantly recognized and understood.

The word is "Cadillac"—and the meaning, of course, is "quality".

And it is understandable, we think, that Cadillac should have become a part of the universal vocabulary.

For its devotion to excellence has been of such a degree—and of such a tenure—that the car has become the world-wide symbol of everything good and desirable in a manufactured product.

This truth has never been more beautifully expressed than it is in the current Cadillac.

Inspiring to look at . . . thrilling to drive . . . rewarding to own—it is truly the master achievement of motordom's master builders.

And Cadillac has imposed on its construction the most rigid standards and restrictions ever placed over the assembly of a motor car.

More than fourteen hundred separate inspections now guard the quality and goodness of every Cadillac—and the results of this crusade for perfection can be seen . . . and felt . . . and sensed.

Here is superb craftsmanship in every body line . . . skillful tailoring and magnificent workmanship in every interior . . . and wonderful solidity and quietness in every mile of ride.

Don't you owe yourself a personal appraisal of this 1961 "car of cars"?

Your Cadillac dealer will provide the car and the keys for a demonstration at any time.

We know you'll agree that it says "quality" with an eloquence all its own.

Scott Playing Hockey For Colgate

Richard Scott, a junior from Winchester, is one of 10 returning lettermen on the 1960-1961 Colgate University hockey team. Scott is currently playing defense on the team's second unit. With only one senior listed on the roster, Coach Ole Kollevoll will be depending on sophomores and juniors, like Scott, to carry the Red Raiders through the season.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie J. Scott of Wildwood Street, Dick is a graduate of Winchester High School, where he played varsity hockey and freshman football.

The Raider sextet dropped its opener to Priceton 8-3, on December 2. The skaters face a tough 21-game schedule as Colgate continues to rebuild in hockey. Last year was the university's first in intercollegiate competition since 1951.

Among the teams on the schedule are Middlebury, Yale, M. I. T., Northeastern, Harvard, Hamilton, Williams, Massachusetts, and Bowdoin. In addition, Colgate will appear in the Cornell Invitational Hockey Tournament over the Christmas holidays.

Student notebooks, paper and dividers at the Star office, 3 Church Street.

Senior Forum

The Senior Forum will present its annual Christmas Dramatic Service Sunday morning at 9:15 in Chidley Hall. A play entitled "Seasons Greetings" by Helen Louise Miller will be presented by the Dramatics Committee whose adviser is Mrs. James Hollinshead.

The cast of characters will include Diane Burnham, Richard Starkweather, Reed Lowry, May Mumma, Marilyn Beckley, Jan Thomas, Pam Smith, Philip Dunn, Frank Curtis, and Joanne McClennan.

Also assisting in the play will be Bucky Nichols, Linnie Butts, directors; Leslie Dalrymple, prompter; Richard Starkweather, stage chairman; Dean Ericson, stage properties; Dorothy Williams, scenery; Roger Newton, lighting; Carolyn Switzer, hand properties; Carol Arlanson, make-up, and Marilyn Long, publicity.

The chaplains for the service will be Clifford Sundberg and John Heaton. Leroy Shea, Jim MacDonald, Bob Niles and Bruce Graves will serve as deacons. The ushers will be Bob Ryder, Dwight Bellows, John Deans and Stephen Emery. The Forum Choir will sing and Mr. Robert Mulford will be accompanist.

Forum's Christmas sharing project consists of presenting gifts suitable for teen agers which will be made available to families assisted by Boston City Missionary Society. Such gifts may be brought to the 9:15 service on Sunday.

Uniformed Winchester High School Band Began In '41
Wendell Withington Director Since '54

You are sitting in the stands on Manchester Field awaiting the start of a high school football game. You have watched the teams limber up, kicking, passing, catching passes and running signals. Suddenly the home town stands break into a cheer. The band is coming on the field.

Preceded by the school banner, cheer-leaders and tumblettes, the scarlet coated black trousered boys and girls proceed from the north gate of the field onto the gridiron, passing between the northerly goal posts. The sun glints from the towering sousaphones and flashing trombones. The trumpets blare, the woodwind tootles, the glockenspiel tinkles, the cymbals clash and the drums thump away.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL BAND AND TUMBLETTES entertain crowd during half time at football game on Manchester Field.

Playing "On Winchester" or perhaps "Our Director," the band salutes the applauding stands, marches the length of the field and then files to reserved places in the stand. If you are a normal individual you thrill to all this and are proud of the fact that Winchester High School has such a band.

How many know much of anything about what has gone into the effort to give Winchester such a fine musical unit. When you hear the splendid rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" do you ask yourself how this came about, or do you just take it for granted. The band you hear each Saturday at the home and out-of-town football games, the band you have thrilled to in the Boston Garden, in Memorial Day parades and at the warm-up for the En Ka Street Fair each year didn't come of age on any hit-or-miss basis.

Away back in the early nineteen hundreds the high school had a band. It wasn't very large and we suspect the balance and pitch were not exceptional; but it was a band. Our boyish ears listened awestruck to its strains.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

Although there didn't seem to be as much excitement and cheering as we have heard in previous weeks, with the exception of bowlers on alleys 5 and 6, there was, nevertheless, a lot of good bowling recorded by the end of the night.

It was the Garnets vs. the Topazes on alleys 5 and 6, and the Garnets are really showing strength by outbowling a team like the Topazes. Garnets have moved into 5th place, which is quite a feather in their caps.

The other two teams that had quite a battle were the Sapphires and the Emeralds. Sapphires went over the Emeralds 3 to 1, but their team standings remained the same. Good to see the Emeralds still holding the fort.

The eighth-place Jades of the first third are now in third place. There sure have been some changes made. They have quite a team, Captain Grace Del Solio, Dolly Petite, Bobbie Ungaretti, Emily Buzzotta and Polly Lefave. Your good bowling is showing!

As you read further on you will be surprised at the strangers on the high bowling list. If I am not mistaken it is the first time these girls have bowled 100 or better.

Louise is the one who really had a good night with the high three. Good for you, Louise; we should be hearing more from you.

Marie, you made the top ten list and high single! Hope to see you stay with it.

Another girl who has really climbed is Mary, who hit 100. Although she has been on the top ten right along, her average shows steady improvement and she is another one who will show higher scores as the weeks go by.

Well, Lil, you were welcomed to the "100 circle" with that 102! Glad to see you joined that club.

On the whole, with the exception of a very few, the averages of the girls have improved considerably. It does make a difference when the girls bowl every week.

Hope to see Ann Caggiano back with us soon and feeling like her old self again.

Seems Terry Nappa manages to get her name in one way or another. This time she held the lucky number.

The modern funeral service has evolved in response to public wishes from the more primitive service of our forefathers. The funeral director receives thorough training in the technical skills of his profession and the development of his innate tact, courtesy, patience and understanding.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science Church Services Sunday.

Scriptural selections will include Christ Jesus' striking response to his disciples' call for help during the tempest at sea:

"And his disciples came to him, and awoke him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish. And he saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm" (Matthew 8:25,26).

A correlative citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The belief that the universe, including man, is governed in general by material laws, but that occasionally Spirit sets aside these laws,—this belief belittles omnipotent wisdom, and gives to matter the precedence over Spirit" (83:16).

The Fortnightly

Literature Committee

On Wednesday afternoon, December 7, at the Rich Room, there was a meeting of the Literature Committee with Mrs. Blanche Barnard giving a most interesting paper on Mary Ellen Chase, with short reviews of some of her books.

Mary Ellen Chase was one of eight children, born in Blue Hills, Maine, about 70 years ago. Her father was a lawyer and Greek scholar, and much interested in birds, and whose mother was a hardworking and efficient woman, who found time to write stories.

She graduated from the University of Maine, and taught literature and history in various schools and colleges in Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin, etc., and in Minnesota, where she received her Master's degree from the University. From there she went to Smith College to be an assistant-professor in literature, where she remained until her retirement in 1946. Her classes were extremely popular, although she was personally very reserved.

She spent many summer vacations in the South of England and much of her spare time gardening and writing novels and articles. One book was called "This Is England" (essays on life there). Many of the novels were about the people along the Maine coast, especially boatbuilders and fishermen — such as "Windswept," "Uplands" and "Silas Crocket" (story of five generations of a Maine family). Besides she wrote such books as "The Bible and Common Reader," "History of the Hebrews" and stories of the New and Old Testaments.

Since her retirement she has continued her interest in gardening and bird-watching, which her father had taught his children.

Program to Aged

A group of local young people will present an unusual and moving Christmas program on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for the elderly women at the Home for Aged in Boston, under the leadership of the Social Service Guild, First Congregational Church.

Four students of Miss Glenne Grant's "Theatre for Young People," Laura Baker, Carol Boggs, Craig Nickerson, and Bud Blanchard, will take their Christmas program to the Home. Miss Grant, who lives and has her studio at 22 Pierrepont Road, is directing and costuming the program.

WVNA

The December meeting was held in the Rich Room of the library on December 9 with our president, Mrs. Thomas L. Purtle, presiding. Two guests were present, one a daughter of one of our local physicians and a senior at Boston College, Miss Eunice Maietta; and Miss Muriel Le May, a public health nursing consultant. Miss Maietta is at present gaining her public health nursing field experience on the staff of our association.

Annual reports were given from the personnel, finance, education, public relations, nominating, hospitality and house committees.

Mrs. Eugene Pollard reported on the all-day workshop, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, which she and Mrs. Lee Aubrey attended. The society would like to have service groups organized in various parts of the state which would implement the services of the American Cancer Society in the treatment of cancer and also to make possible check-ups for cancer detection through our local physicians.

Mrs. Wiklund told in her report of the many conferences she has had with school officials regarding school problems. She was also present, as a member, at a conference of the School Health Study Committee of the Massachusetts Public Health Association held in Newton. There was a discourse on school physical planning for water and sewage supplies, arrangement of cafeterias, health rooms and other auxiliary rooms. Sun and window glare is another factor that has been overlooked by architects of some of our newer schools. Vision was one of the topics of the conference, there being much difference of opinion as to the best screening methods. One of the first needs, it was agreed, is the screening of three-year olds to detect those children who are not using one eye early enough to be correctable. Testing early for color blindness is another need, since much of the work of the early grades is based on color sense.

Mrs. Wiklund said there is a growing interest in generalized public health programs; the United Community Services is holding Winchester up as a good example in the field of financing as well as in this service.

The annual meeting of the WVNA will be held January 18 at 2 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank d'Elseaux.

Kindergarten Tea At Noonan School

Miss Mary McAuley and Miss Edwina Guyer, teachers of Kindergarten at the Noonan School, were entertained last week at a tea given by the room mothers.

Red and white carnation corsages, matching the table center piece, were presented to the guests of honor.

Mrs. Andrew Odin, chairman of the refreshments, was assisted by Mrs. Earle Elliott, chairman of Room Mothers.

Other helpers at the attractive Christmas tea table were Mrs. James Costello, Mrs. Fred Donovan, Mrs. Francis Mardulier, Mrs. John McElwee.

Pourers were Mrs. Frank Brooks and Mrs. Andrew Odin.

The next event on the Mothers' Association calendar will be the Christmas party for the children at the school. It is being planned by Mrs. Francis Mardulier.

Duplicate Bridge Club

The open pairs champions of the Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club for 1960 are Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, who emerged victorious from a tough field of forty pairs in the championship event held on December 7. By means of a scrambled Mitchell movement and "twinning" the boards so that both sections played the same set of hands, it was possible to produce a single winner based on comparable scores. The Roots played a consistently strong and steady game all evening, beating everyone whom they met in "face-to-face" combat except the team of Wood and Olmsted, who handed the Roots their only zero in the tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Root fired their most devastating thunderbolts when they scored two clear top boards in a row against Marge Sexton and Barbara Sawyer, thus effectively knocking the defending champion and her partner out of the running. The field played 21 boards for an average score of 136½. The leading teams, in order of finish, were:

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root, 181

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis, Jr., 170

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mainberger, 168

Thomas Kell and Blair Hawley, 167

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, 156½

Gerry Lawrence and Betty Yeomans, 156½

Nancy Atkinson and Greta Hawley, 155

Seven other pairs were grouped right behind the winners and deserve recognition for their excellent performances. With just a bit more luck on one or two boards, any of the following could have finished in the money.

Herbert Wood and Jock Olmsted, 150

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Butterfield, 148

Laura Grace and Mary Laughlin, 148

Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball, 146½

Maude Flanders and Jean Roundey, 146½

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes, 146

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mansfield, 143½

Other players who came through with above average scores were:

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, 141½

Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison, 141

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Long, 140

Ann Wild and Jo Dingwell, 139

Ann Dean and Kay Dunn, 138½

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong, 138

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ross, 137½

It is interesting to note that everyone who scored better than average results has been attending our duplicate games on a fairly regular basis, proving the old adage that practice pays off. We don't quite dare say that "practice makes perfect" because we're pretty well convinced that there will always be room for improvement in duplicate bridge.

We have selected the business double as our editorial theme this week because the ability to make close decisions in this area can result in rich rewards at the bridge table. The textbooks give adequate coverage on the lead-directing double and the Lightner slam double, so let's focus on a specific area where you have nothing but your own judgment to gide you.

Sitting West, you are going to be on lead against a three no trump contract. You hold: S-5, H-10 9 3 2, D-K Q 10 8, C-K J 10 9. There was no definite defensive bidding by either you or your partner during the auction. Would you double? The answer of "Never in 100 years" may come forth immediately and indignantly! After all, we haven't nearly enough to set three no trump, we have no right to place any particular strength with partner, and we certainly don't want to alert declarer to where the defensive power lies!

But wait a minute! Have we considered all the facts? Of course not, because we have not yet studied the bidding. When this board was played in the championship round, five NS pairs reached three no trump. The typical bidding sequence started with a one-club call by South. You pass. North bids one spade and South responds with two diamonds.

At this stage you can begin to draw inferences, but will naturally continue to pass. After North raises to three diamonds, South goes into a deep trance before coming up with his final bid of three no trump. Your moment of decision has now arrived. South's second bid suggests that he holds two legitimate minor suits. He has failed to raise spades and has refused to go directly into no trump. This improves the texture of your hand considerably.

North's next bid of three diamonds limits his strength. It may also mean that he has no great enthusiasm for no trump and hasn't a solid enough suit to rebid his spades. Since South can't raise spades, and you hold a singleton, where is the missing spade strength likely to be? You have attractive suit to attack (hearts) and the other three suits are all well placed for the defense. How many minor suit tricks will South take, for example, if his opening bid included the queen of clubs and/or the jack of diamonds?

The normal result on this board turned out to be down three or four tricks, vulnerable, which produced about 200 points for EW. At one table, however, where the business double was made by West, an alert East read the message correctly and led back the minor suits through South at every opportunity—setting him five tricks and 900 points.

On the calendar of coming events, the club's Christmas party and open house will be held this next Wednesday, December 21, at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Louise Kell and Ann Dean are planning a social hour from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. which will feature a punch bowl and other refreshments. The monthly master point game will start at 8:00, so be sure to reserve the date. Even if you come down without a partner, you will be paired up with someone else before play starts.

Like games? We have some new ones just in. Try Chessers, Spill & Spell, Take 12, and Never Say Die, Not a game exactly but just as fascinating, Construct-O-Straws, fun with soda straws and connectors. Two sizes, $1.00 and $3.00 at the Winchester Star.

For the purpose of this Section, lot width is to be measured between opposite side lines through that part of the dwelling where the lot is narrowest. In the case of a corner lot, the shorter street frontage shall be considered the side line.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Zoning By-Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Massachusetts, at a Special Representative Town Meeting held on October 6, 1960, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on November 17, 1960.

Cadillac Smashing Sales Records

Public acceptance of the 1961 Cadillac continued to smash sales records for Cadillac Motor Car Division during November, Harold G. Warner, the division's general manager and a vice president of General Motors, announced recently. Mr. Warner's statement was made available to the Star by "Hi" Moody, proprietor of Moody Motor Sales, Cadillac distributors for Winchester.

Cadillac domestic retail deliveries for November totaled 14,757 with these results:

It was the greatest November of all time.

The 11-month total of domestic deliveries is more than 9,000 units ahead of the 11-month totals for 1955 and 1957, Cadillac's previous best years.

Sales for the 11-months surpassed the entire year of 1959 which was the third best in Cadillac history.

The November accomplishment of 14,757 surpasses by more than 1,000 the former record established in 1955 when 13,680 Cadillacs were delivered during this month.

In fact, Mr. Warner pointed out, the November sales were the third best month in Cadillac's 59 years, surpassed only by December of 1958 and October of this year.

The November performance swelled the 11-month delivery figure to 138,499, more than seven per cent above the former high year for the division which was 129,139 in 1957.

Additionally, this 11-month total surpasses the entire year of 1959, the division's third best, when 133,715 Cadillacs were delivered to the domestic market.

"This record breaking performance is an overwhelming endorsement," Mr. Warner said, "for the 1961 Cadillac from every aspect—styling, mechanical excellence, reliability, comfort, convenience and performance. This new model is receiving the most outstanding reception of our 59-year history."

A Green Christmas?

Give up all plans for a White Christmas; it's going to be green.

So says that fountainhead of all cracker barrel wisdom, the sovereign Farmer's Almanac for December, 1960.

"Gone are the leaves, all except Eve's," says the omniscient Almanac. "Not so wild, calm and mild. Hit the sack, winter is back. Rain or snow, who's to know? Christmas green so it seems. Fine and cold. Our story is told."

What is December famous for?

Well, day by significant day, here are the milestones:

December 1, 1958: The great Chicago school fire.

December 9, 1746: Boston's original codfish cooked.

December 15, 1809: Napoleon divorced Josephine.

December 16, 1682: Annie Laurie was born.

December 22, 1956: First gorilla born in captivity.

Winter begins officially at 3:27 p.m. on December 21.

Marycliff Entertainment

Santa Claus and shepherds from Palestine are coming to Marycliff on Sunday, December 18. The eighth grade, assisted by grades six and seven, will present "The Shepherd's Christmas," an operetta by Otis M. Carrington.

The playlet tells of the heavenly message conveyed to mankind long ago by the angels. It brings this message down through the centuries to modern days.

Carolers appear in Scene 2 when the curtain opens to reveal a modern scene of Christian charity. Carolers Paulette Addario, Rosemary Burke, Lucille Cannava, Patricia Chabot, Suzanne Ferreira, Catherine Lord, Elaine Paladini, and Janis Matthews entertains shut-ins on Christmas Eve.

Angels Bring Good Tidings

Susan Luick and Kathleen Kennedy play the roles of Mary and Joseph respectively. The Wise Men are Jo Anne Boyd, Deborah Cella, and Donna Romei. Karen Tow is the attendant. Alice Paes, as the Christmas Angel, brings good tidings to the shepherds, Donna Inserra, Paula Goldberg, Cheryl Taverna and Gail Reynolds.

The kindergarten is playing host to Santa with a skit called "Bells," while Grade 1 is presenting "Stars." Grade 2 will amuse Old Saint Nick with "The Doll Songs;" Grade 3 will march the "March of the Candy Canes." Grade 4 are "Snowflakes," and Grade 5 will do the "Song and Dance of the Pixies."

Rednose Helps Santa

Rednose, Santa's able helper, is portrayed by Linda Finamore; Santa will be played by Claire Romano.

Raimond Bianchi, a real Jack-in-the-Box, will give a performance of tricks and stunts for Santa Claus.

Living In Cincinnati

Mrs. Frederick J. Donahue, widow of Fred J. Donahue, and a resident of Winchester since the mid 1920's, is now located in her new home at 6969 Thorndike Road, Mariemont 27, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati. The Donahue home was at 15 Mystic Avenue until its sale this summer.

Mrs. Donahue's daughter, Pauline, her husband, Lt. Col. E. J. Hansen, USA, and daughter, Jacqueline, are now enroute from their home in Monterey, California to take up permanent residence in Mariemont, Ohio. Colonel Hansen is retiring this month from the Army after 20 years of military service, and will enter private business in Cincinnati.

The four Donahue sons, all of whom attended the local Winchester schools, have settled with their families in other states; and only one son, Dick, is living in New England. Fred, Jr., lives in Chevy Chase, Maryland; George lives in Manhasset, Long Island, New York; Bob lives in New Orleans, Louisiana; and Dick has his own firm in Keene, New Hampshire.

Newton College Offers New Scholarship Plan

Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., president of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, announced a new plan to make it possible for good students within commuting distance of Newton to receive up to $3,000 in tuition scholarships.

The plan aims at giving a college education to girls who meet the entrance requirements, but cannot compete academically with the highest ranking candidates for scholarships.

Any girl who applies and proves she can maintain the academic standards will receive a scholarship carrying enough aid to make it possible for her to go to Newton and take part in the campus life. The new awards will include the scholar's transportation costs so that her commuting expenses may be covered in full or in part.

The Newton administration is convinced that some good students can be given a chance to attend college if the requirements for scholarships are the same as those for entrance.

Mother Husson explained in announcing the plan, "the large number of applicants, far more than the college has space for, makes the admission policy so selective the college no longer needs to consider its scholarship program a means of attracting outstanding talent. Therefore, the new program in no way entails a lowering of academic standards. With Newton's resident enrollment so much increased that it is no longer possible to give more than a few resident scholarships, the college now feels it can offer this aid purely as a public service to make college study possible to a certain number of deserving students."

"Although Newton was established primarily as a resident school," Mother Husson said, "the Trustees have long felt the need for a broader representation from among the qualified students in Greater Boston. This plan, we hope, is a partial answer."

Interested high school students should phone or write Mother M. H. Quinlan, R.S.C.J., dean of studies, for an appointment.

Founded in 1946 on the former Schrafft estate in Newton Centre, Newton College is one of an international group of liberal arts colleges and secondary schools run by the Society of the Sacred Heart.

The college has an enrollment of more than six hundred students from all over the United States and many foreign countries. Its forty-acre campus offers accommodations for 525 resident students, all of whom live in buildings constructed in the last six years.

Baby Sitting Real Responsibility

Staying with young children while parents are away from home has become popularly known as "baby sitting." Older sisters and brothers and other relatives often take this job over. In some instances the job is done quite profitably by teenage girls and older women in an effort to supplement their income.

Commenting on the subject, Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Public Health, said that many local agencies, health departments, visiting nurse associations and youth organizations, have long recognized that taking care of young children properly is a serious responsibility. In fact, great emphasis and encouragement has been given to these organizations with the setting up of programs where courses in baby sitting are conducted. In some communities a local baby-sitting register has been established which is cooperatively administered by schools and other organizations.

In essence, according to Dr. Grace Hussey, director of Maternal and Child Health Division, authorities agree that both parents and persons who baby sit must consider and be prepared to meet all eventualities that come with caring for children.

Dr. Hussey offers the following suggestions:

Select a sitter who likes and understands children. All youngsters, especially babies, sense immediately whether or not a person is friendly and loving. Nervous high-strung people make children tense, unhappy and insecure.

If you child cries when left with a particular baby sitter after several times, consider a new person.

Parents should return home at an arranged, specified time. Do not expect sitters to handle other household chores. It's wise for Dad to check any stove or heating system before leaving the house. Keep in mind that carbon monoxide poisoning comes from improperly vented or defective heaters.

In conclusion Dr. Hussey suggested that the sitter should, if possible, visit the home in advance. This acquaints her with the child, his eating and bedtime habits and familiarizes her with the home. A list of telephone numbers for emergencies such as doctor, police or fire department should be available and parents should tell where they can be reached at all times.

A leaflet called "You're in Charge" may be obtained by writing to the Division of Maternal and Child Health, 88 Broad Street, Boston.

The happiness and saftey of your child is of prime importance and depends on you. Choosing a responsible sitter is the key to an enjoyable "night out" with peace of mind for Mom and Dad.

Band

We can not recall the names of all those who played in this band, perhaps the first in Winchester High School history. We recall a boy called "Father Dobbins" played the cornet, (they didn't have trumpets then), and Paul Dotten, a member of a family civically prominent in Winchester for many years, played the trombone. Later Mr. Dotten was to become a crack euphoniumist with the Detroit Elks Band.

It may be Ralph Arnold was playing cornet also. He was playing the instrument at that time and would have been somewhere in that time bracket. Later he played French Horn in theatres on the West Coast and did a lot of band and orchestra playing there.

So much for the personnel of that history-making band. Sometimes a high school boy by the name of Howard Snelling, beat time for the group with an umbrella. He was the school cheer-leader at the time and probably doubled in brass to lead the band.

It was a long time after this earnest musical effort, probably in the twenties, that Winchester tried to start another band. We remember "Wellie" Stevens played cornet in this one, and at times was the only musician at the football games, shrilling on his cornet whenever Winchester did anything noteworthy on the gridiron.

Incidentally the band of the early nineteen hundreds, as we recall, played at baseball, not football games. Once Winchester hired a band for an Arlington baseball game. We can remember hearing the music at our desk in the old Gifford School, and it did not take us long to get to Manchester Field when school was over. There is nothing like a band to draw a crowd!

From time to time after the twenties efforts were made to start a student band, but without financial support these efforts bore no fruit and were soon abandoned. Their cumulative influence, however was helpful and many in town as other schools commenced to have them began to ask, "Why don't we have a band?"

It wasn't until about 1941 that a real constructive effort was made to start a student band. There were interested boys and girls available, but it was felt that the band effort would gather little impetus if the young musicians were not uniformed.

Paper drives were being held occasionally in those days and it was decided to hold a paper drive to raise money for a start toward a band, to buy uniforms and possibly an instrument or two of the more expensive sort.

Led by the example of Miss Marion Bailey, at that time a faculty member at Winchester High, cellars were turned inside and out and paper that was sold for $1500 was collected by students and band enthusiasts.

At that time Miss Alma Stoddard was director of music at the high school and to her initiative and persistence belongs the principal credit for the organization of the first real Winchester High School band.

The band played at a number of school events, and though by present standards it left much to be desired, it was a start and a good one.

In 1946 Fred Felmet succeeded Miss Stoddard, and it was due to his outstanding ability as a musician and teacher, to his drive, discipline and indefatigable efforts that the Winchester High School band became of age.

Mr. Felmet left Winchester in 1954 to return to Montgomery County, Maryland, when his superintendent of schools, Dr. Forbes Norris, returned there to direct the Montgomery School system. In his place Winchester was fortunate to secure Wendell Withington, director of music in Melrose and a resident of that city.

Mr. Withington built skillfully on the foundation laid by Mr. Felmet and the band under his capable and sympathetic direction has continued to move forward.

The success of the band prompted more and more boys and girls to wish to become members, and as the instruction grew too much for one teacher, Fred Murray was secured from Needham to fill the band instructional gap in the elementary grades.

A real enthusiast and dynamic leader Mr. Murray has proved an invaluable assistant to Mr. Withington and the two complement each other nicely.

They start working with the youngsters at the fourth grade level, feeling that little progress can be made before age nine. At that time instrumental class lessons are offered interested youngsters, and strange as it may seem, the brass and woodwind have their classes together with the percussion having theirs separately.

In response to a question Mr. Withington explained that the idea behind the collective class lessons is to get the children acquainted with ensemble playing right from the start. And what about the glockenspiel? This instrument is classed with the bells under brass and woodwind, but generally speaking the pupils playing this instrument have played piano and pick it up quite quickly.

Classes are at three levels, fourth grade, fifth grade and sixth grade. After the first level the instructors often suggest private lessons to enable the youngsters to progress more rapidly. These of course must be paid for by the pupils. Class instruction at school is free. Pupils must secure their own instrument which they can buy or rent.

From the class lessons the boys and girls so minded go into the Elementary School Band, directed by Mr. Murray. Band membership is strictly on an audition basis with as high a percentage as 85 accepted. Among those who are not accepted are some who are urged to repeat their instruction and try again. Because misfits are pretty much discovered in the early class stage most of the youngsters are able to make the band.

The next step upward in the progress of the young musicians is membership in the Junior High School Band. There are two such this year because of the two sessions of school, Mr. Withington taking the morning class meeting in the afternoon and Mr. Murray, the afternoon class that rehearses in the morning. There will of course be two Junior High bands when the new school on the Well Field is in use.

Upon entering junior high, band becomes elective, even though a boy or girl has played in the elementary school band. At least 75 per cent of the boys and girls continue band in junior high.

Band at high school is also on the elective basis and though most of those who have played in elementary or junior high bands would like to continue, it is often virtually impossible, because of accelerated courses for some boys and girls to schedule band.

The high school band has two sit-down rehearsals a week during school hours, each lasting 55 minutes. These are held in the music room of the senior high school which accommodates 75 to 100 musicians. One activity period Thursday morning is devoted to drill, marching maneuvers and band formations. If it rains on Thursdays, it is necessary to use a part of the regular rehearsal time for this practice.

Mr. Withington has a good march book, which is the backbone of his band's repertory. He does however try to work up one new number each week, and in addition to rehearsals and marching drill the band has a last minute rehearsal just before the game each Saturday on the high school practice field.

A conscientious boy or girl, in addition to his ensemble work, does individual practice on his instrument in the school practice rooms and in all will devote about five to six hours a week to his band membership, not counting the time spent on engagements.

Mr. Withington says he "dreams up" the formations you see each week at the games. A lot of work goes into these. First the formation is charted and each band member is assigned to a place in it by number. The formations are first gone through with great care individually, then by files and finally by the entire ensemble, first without music and then with it.

Changes in formation are made from time to time, with the exception of formations that are so popular they are held from year to year, like the Thanksgiving church and Pilgrim formation.

Mr. Withington graduated from New England Conservatory of Music where he majored in Music Education with a minor in organ. He is organist of a church in Melrose and director of the popular Mystic Glee Club in Winchester. Mr. Murray graduated from Boston University with a music education major and trumpet minor.

When a boy or girl commences the study of music he or she lays the foundation for appreciation of a cultural art that will remain through life. Being a member of a musical group like a band is a great experience for any youngster, enabling him to get the benefit of being a member of a "team" even though he has no athletic skill. Music and especially band is one of most rewarding of all extra-curricular activities, if it should not be classed on absolutely even terms with many class room subjects.

Remember these things the next time you listen to our high school band. It all didn't just happen. Remember the faithful men and women, "friends of the Winchester Band and Orchestra," who man the canteen operated to raise funds for the organizations. Remember the help given by En Ka, Rotary and other organizations as the band marches onto the field. It didn't just happen! A lot of hard work and skillful instruction have gone into the band to raise it to its present standard. It is a real cooperative effort, and one of the best such efforts in town."

Youngsters Play For Sallies

If you happen to be near the corner of Summer and Chauncy Streets, Boston, any afternoon you may pause and wonder what brass band is out in this weather. If you are curious, you will find out.

Each afternoon between 4 and 6 p.m., a group of Salvationists Teenagers gather to bring some of the traditional Yuletide music to people whose minds and time is preoccupied with the necessity of getting the Christmas shopping done.

These youngsters, who so freely give of their time and energy, serve to remind us that there is more to Christmas than the buying of gifts and the preparation of a meal. Christmas is a time when we should take a little time to think of others who are not so fortunate.

In front of this group of young musicians stands a Salvation Army Christmas "Kettle." Many of those who come to hear the music stay to give in order that they, too, may be a part of the larger meaning of Christmas—by sharing with others.

Fine packets of foreign postage stamps now at the Star office in packets ranging from ten cents to one dollar. Also on hand: albums from 25 cents to $3.95, and stamp hinges.

Finger In The Pie

Gone But Not Forgotten!

It has been in our mind to say a word or two in this column about the old B. F. Keith Theatre on Washington Street, of vanished but nostalgic memories! Our boyish dreams are all tangled up with acts or players who frequented this "palace of vaudeville." In fact, a complete folk-lore could be developed around incidents and people connected with it. It was small, and of the intimate type, but in the eyes of a mere boy, glamorous in the extreme. There was always, first of all, the hard-working and endlessly adaptable orchestra, including the ever fascinating "little man in the tinshop." There was—if I remember—an engine room, kept spotlessly clean as my lady's china closet—an unfailing source of wonderment to visitors, and as unfailingly displayed to them.

We recall the two stagehands—one tall, the other very short—a veritable Mutt and Jeff of that day, who came out between acts, swept up, moved scenery, etc., to the sound of varied catcalls, handclapping, and other expressions of approbation or derision. They were as much a part of the show as the vaudeville itself. No one ever did discover their true names, but no performance at B. F. Keith's could happen without them.

"Rush seats" for the second balcony were available at (believe it or not 25c each. At a given signal the doors opened, and up the stairs would scramble a motley mob of young and old, intent on best possible value for their money, with seats in center section front as the reward only of the strong-hearted and the fleet-footed. Did I say "only?" Ah, but there were exceptions! Frequently — a problem never solved — one emerged triumphant from this initial burst of speed only to find several elderly, well-upholstered ladies comfortably established, like mattresses, in the coveted locations. Whether they were charwomen on their day off, or favored relatives of manager or staff, no one ever knew. But there they were! There was, too, a tall, ministerial-looking gentleman of unruffed dignity who met the mob halfway as they achieved Upper Heaven, marshaled and ushered them into seats, and generally saw to it that they eased down a bit and comported themselves vaguely like ladies and gentlemen. I remember, too, that ultimately he was placed under arrest for indulging his secret propensity of flipping small chunks of steel or iron ore onto the heads of the unsuspecting audience below.

I remember, too, the final performance as vaudeville gave its last gasp, the tremendously enthusiastic audience of the "faithful," and a bill star-studded with only vaudeville's very greatest names, including one actress (whose identity escapes me now) who demonstrated unusual histrionic technique by reading selections from the telephone book and imbuing them with all the tenseness and the thrill of drama!

And the performers! How we would scan advance billings in breathless anticipation of our beloved favorites! Space allows mention of all too few: there were W. C. Fields, the Lunatic Bakers, Eva Tanguay, Nora Bayes, Harry Lauder, Marshall Montgomery, Charles Seamon, Ruth St. Denis, Valeska Suratt, Ethel Barrymore, Cecilia Loftus, Will Rogers, Ada Reeve, Houdini, Joe Jackson, Ching Ling Foo, Dainty Marie (the pioneer, I'm sure, of all "strip teasers," but she did it in the air!) Bert Williams, and many, many more. One came out of a good, eight-act Keith vaudeville walking on air, with a thrill that unenlightened spirits can obtain only from a cocktail or two!

Those were the days!

A friend of ours recently discovered in a Houston cafe a juke box containing one blank record which silence-loving customers could play for five minutes. What's the most popular selection? You've guessed it — the blank!

Tidbits

Husband (after two-hour session with car) "I've got her reassembled and here are two parts left over."

Wife, "Well, I'm glad you didn't have all your trouble for nothing, dear."

Every man needs a wife, because sooner or later something is bound to go wrong that can't be blamed on the government.

The man who thinks old soldiers simply fade away probably hasn't tried on his old army uniform lately.

Women have three ways of meeting a domestic crisis . . . going home to mother . . . having a good cry . . . or rearranging the living room furniture.

Catnap

As the kitten and cat
  Like to sleep on my hat,
It now bears a thatch
  Of hairs that don't match.

What shall I do
  To be topped by ONE hue?
Keep hat-colored cats,
Buy cat-colored hats,
  or go bareheaded?

McManus Warden

At the most recent meeting of Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Clumbus, Edward McManus was elected Council Warden, filling the post previously held by Frank Farley, who is now Chancellor.

In Memoriam

The Knights visited Lane's Funeral Home recently to pay final respects to the Dads of Brother Knights Henry Quill, Jr., and Gene and Paul Mottolo. Mr. Quill was also the brother of popular Knight Ed Quill.

In Sick Bay

P.G.K. Al Barnard and Honorary Member Joe Moffett are both hospitalized according to D.G.K. Richard Fiore, chairman of the Sick Committee of the Knights. The members wish them a speedy recovery.

Two Important Events

The Past Grand Knights will take over the places of the regular officers of the Council on the night of December 19 to confer the honors of the First Degree of Knighthood on a new class of candidates, the first of Grand Knight James Wharf's administration. Past Grand Knight L. C. Thibeault is in charge of the affair. A special feature this same evening will be a Dialogue Mass demonstration which Lecturer Joe Cullinane has arranged for the membership.

Rev. Rene Saulnier and Rev. James Kenny, both Knights of the local Council and curates of the Immaculate Conception Parish, will explain the liturgy of the mass in full detail in a very impressive ceremony while stating the meaning of the various liturgical objects used.

Latin phrases will be translated, which all adds up to a very informative discussion. It is expected that the membership will attend this meeting in great numbers.

Children's Christmas Party

Children of members up to and including 10 years of age will throng K. of C. Hall on the Sunday of December 18 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon to greet Santa Claus, sing carols, enjoy movies, ice cream, candies, and receive gifts from St. Nick. Chairman Dick Fiore, D.G.K., warns members however not to forget that December 12 was the last day to register children for this affair. All members were duly notified in the last Council monthly bulletin of this event.

New Year's Eve Party

Chancellor Frank Farley, chairman of the annual New Year's Eve Party announces that the affair will take place on Sunday night, January 2, 1961 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Tickets are limited and the Knights will have first choice in procuring theirs for a limited time, after which the general public will be privileged. Music will be provided by the popular Ken Thorpe and his orchestra.

K. of C. Annual Track Meet

The 35th Annual Track Meet sponsored by the State Headquarters Knights of Columbus will be held at the Boston Garden on Saturday, January 14, 1961. Many Olympic stars are scheduled to compete and it promises to be the best ever. District Deputy Charles Doucette is hopeful of engaging a bus to transport Winchester Council members in a group if there is enough demand. Members should contact him.

Promoted To Full Colonel

Word has just been received through Colonel Peter O. Ward, Deputy Commander of the XIII U. S. Army Corps at Fort Devens, that the Secretary of the Army has signed the commission promoting Lt. Col. James R. Stewart, Jr., of 7 Winslow Road to the rank of full Colonel.

COL. JAMES R. STEWART, JR.

Colonel Stewart is the Commanding Officer of the 320th (Reserve) Special Forces Operational Detachment (Airborne), new, elite troops of this nation's new Army. With units in the Boston Army Base, the Roslindale Reserve Center, Manchester, N. H., Reserve Center; and Camp Kilmer, New Jersey; the 320th is the only Special Forces Unit in the First Army area, which includes New England, New York and New Jersey.

Colonel Stewart organized the 320th in June, 1959, and its highly specialized personnel have distinguished themselves in two Summer Field Training tours at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Basically composed of Parachute personnel, these units are trained in many diverse skills of standard Army qualifications, as well as special operations, indigenous only to their type of organization.

A veteran of World War II, Colonel Stewart saw duty in Hawaii and the Philippine Islands as an Artillery Commander and as a Training Staff Officer of the Southern Islands Area Command. Prior to being chosen to organize the 320th, he was the organizer and director of the Artillery Department in the 1030th U. S. Army Reserve School at the Boston Army Base.

Although having over 22 years of active and reserve duty, the Colonel is an active parachutist and leads his men in all their rugged physical training, so necessary to the conditioning of Special Forces Teams for the purposes for which they are organized.

Survival training weapons, demolitions, medical services up to surgery, and the all-important communications skills are supplemented with mountain climbing, skiing skin diving and archery are among the techniques developed in these personnel.

The higher grades and ranks are the rule rather than the exception when comparing these Special Forces units with conventional Army troops. Although small in numbers, they make up for this deficiency, and more, by their versatility and crafts.

Colonel Stewart is also the president of the only Reserve Officers' Association Special Forces Chapter in the United States. Designated as Chapter 45, this unit received photographic recognition in the December ROA publication "The Officer."

Like solitaire? Now you can enjoy more than 50 different kinds of solitaire card games to intrigue you. All in compact box complete with board, cards and instructions. $3.49 at the Winchester Star.

UBS Fund Orders Pass Million Mark

"Orders received for shares of UBS Fund of Canada—offered initially two weeks ago via a series of double-page Prospectus ads in major U. S. newspapers and by direct mail—have passed the $1,000,000 mark," UBS reported this week to the Star. This is believed to be the first time that a Mutual Fund has been launched in such a manner.

"The $1,043,700 total included orders received through December 6, and is in addition to the original organization capital of the Fund. Shares of UBS Fund are being offered at $10 per share during the initial offering period which ends December 31," UBS added.

"The double-page Prospectus ad, designed to be the actual point-of-sale, contains an order form offering the reader the opportunity to buy shares direct-by-mail. In addition direct mail has been used during the initial offering period to reach 80,000 potential investors," UBS said.

"The Merchants National Bank of Boston, acting as agent for the Fund's underwriter, UBS Distributing Corporation, has already received orders from investors in 41 states, the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone, Hong Kong, Argentina, Chile, Mexico, and Norway. Minimum order during the initial offering period is 100 shares," UBS reported to the Star.

"UBS Distributing Corporation of Boston, a wholly-owned subsidiary of United Business Service Company, is the exclusive underwriter for the Fund's shares. Brokers or dealers have not been used to distribute the UBS Fund shares.

"During the initial offering period, the $10 price includes a sales charge of 4.9 per cent on purchases of less than $25,000. After December 31, 1960, shares will be offered on a continuous basis at net asset value plus a sales charge of 6 per cent of the offering price on purchases of less than $5,000," UBS said.

"The primary objective of UBS Fund of Canada is capital growth. The Fund will invest its assets principally in the securities of Canadian companies," UBS told the Star.

"All net income and any capital gains received by the Fund will be reinvested and no cash dividends will be paid. Therefore, it is anticipated that shareholders will not be subject to U. S. income tax unless their shares are sold or redeemed at a profit.

"In addition to the tax features and the unusual direct-to-the-investor method of sale, UBS Fund of Canada, Ltd., also features both Canadian and American investment advisers," UBS continued.

"The Fund's Canadian adviser is the investment counsel firm of Bolton, Tremblay and Company of Montreal. This company participates in the management of investments totaling more than $200 million, and included among its advisory clients are several Canadian insurance companies and three specialized Mutual Funds available to residents of Canada," UBS added.

"The American adviser is United Investment Management Corporation of Boston, Mass. This company is a subsidiary of the Boston investment counsel firm, United Investment Counsel, Inc., which also serves private and institutional investors with assets of more than $200 million. United Investment Counsel, Inc., is an affiliate of United Business Service Company, the publisher of United Business Service, well-known investment advisory service," UBS concluded.

Christmas At W. H. S.

The music and dramatic organizations of Winchester High are making their final preparations for their annual Christmas program, which will be given tomorrow in the Memorial Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The program will begin with a processional, "O, Come All Ye Faithful," which will be performed by a double string quartet and Mixed Glee Club.

Following selections of traditional Christmas choral music will be sung by the Mixed Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Withington and accompanied by Miss Joan Denton.

Curtain and Cue, the dramatic organization, will present a delightful Harlequinade, "Columbine Madonna," which is directed by Mr. McLaughlin, and stars in its cast are Jeanne Chase as Columbine, Dianne Gentile as Pierrot, Betsy Woodward as Harlequin, Sue Bennett as Scaramouche, and Pamela Smith as Pantaloon.

Following the play will be a short intermission, followed by two selections played by the orchestra, "Three Songs for Christmas" and "March of the Toys."

The Octette Plus will harmonize once more to bring to the stage a beautiful Christmas medley.

James and Terry Cronburg, Alta Merritt, and Neil Kirkpatrick combine forces in a Brass Quartette to play some selections.

The Girls' Glee Club with the accompaniment of Joan Denton will sing a number of selections, including "O Come Let Us Worship," by Brahms, and "Glory in the Highest," which was written by Davis.

"The Christmas Story" will be read by Philip Dunn.

Familiar Carols will be sung by the Glee Club and the audience.

Grateful appreciation is extended to our two student chairman, Judith Leavitt and Joanne Sullivan the usherettes, Barbara Stewart, Joanna Hill, Madelyn McGarahan, and Judy Seddon. Members of the ticket committee are Claudia Kirkpatrick, Tom Joiner, and Mary K. Hart. Publicity was under the direction of Clifford Sundberg.

Get into the Christmas spirit by attending the annual Christmas program tonight at the high school.

Good Advice On Giving Pets For Christmas

Dr. C. Lawrence Blakely, director of Surgery at the Mass. S.P.C.A. Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, in offering advice to the public regarding the selection of pets for Christmas has this to say:

"It is a very dangerous practice to purchase a young wild animal with the thought of making it a domestic pet, regardless of how appealing it may appear as a baby in a pet shop. These animals very often become vicious and serious bites and scratches result.

Dr. Blakely also pointed out that there is much unintentional cruelty inflicted on animals at this time of the year because of the lack of knowledge about the care of animals given as Christmas gifts.

Dogs and cats make the best pets and if one or the other is to be included on the Christmas list for a child it should be understood that an older person will have the responsibility of providing the proper food and shelter for the animal.

Before such a gift is selected, Dr. Blakely says "Be Sure the Christmas Pet is Welcome."

DiIanni Appointed

Harris, Upham & Co., members New York Stock Exchange, Boston Stock Exchange and other leading security and commodity exchanges, announced recently appointment of William D. DiIanni as a Registered Representative.

Mr. DiIanni will make his headquarters at Harris, Upham's new Copley Square office on the 2nd floor of the McGraw-Hill Building, 607 Boylston Street, Boston. Mr. DiIanni makes his home in Woburn.

Christmas Program At the Library

The Library will have a special Christmas program in the Rich Room Friday evening, December 16, at 7:30 p.m. Instead of the usual films, filmstrips from the Library collection will be shown.

The story of the well-known poem, "A Night Before Christmas" will be one of the features, and the audience will sing carols in connection with the filmstrip. Another well-known classic, "Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens, is presented in the filmstrips in such a way that it will interest small children as well as adults.

Two less familiar stories will round out the program: "The Littlest Shepherd's Gift" and "Christopher Mouse" the latter with a musical accompaniment.

This Friday night film program, designed for the entire family, will be repeated Saturday morning at 10:15. Tickets for the Saturday program will be obtained in the Boys' and Girls' Room.

The filmstrip collection was started by a gift from the Ministers' Association of Winchester. There are eleven filmstrips dealing with subjects related to the Christmas season and it is hoped that Church Schools will make use of these during the season.

New School Opens After The Holidays

The new Johnson Road School will open its doors to students on Tuesday morning, January 3rd. The School Committee has received notice from Mr. Sumner Andrews, Chairman of the Elementary School Building Committee, that this building will be ready for occupancy by December 23rd.

Pupils from the Johnson Road School district, presently housed in the Parkhrust and Lincoln Schools, will start the new year in a modern building designed to meet today's educational needs. They will be on a single-session schedule, as are all other elementary schools during the bad weather. Their day will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 2:00 p.m. with a lunch period in the classrooms from 11:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The Kindergarten session will be from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

The Johnson Road School is unusual in design with three separate sections connected with covered passage ways. The lower section has two Kindergarten rooms, the auditorium-gymnasium and the Principal's office. The upper two levels each contain six classrooms.

For the present, the two lower levels will be occupied by the students. The upper level will accommodate the increase in school population of this district expected in the near future.

Mr. Albert Sutula, as announced previously, will act as Principal of this school as well as of Parkhurst. Mr. George Greer is the teacher in charge. Mrs. Margaret Withington will be the secretary, and Mr. Edwin Stafford, the custodian.

During the Christmas vacation books, equipment, and classroom furniture will be moved into the new building so that the Johnson Road School will be ready for the pupils on January 3rd.

Christmas Party Time At The Town Hall

The Town Hall employees have their annual Christmas party today from 12 noon to 1:00 p.m. Forty employees will participate in the big holiday event.

Carroll's catering service will supervise the edibles department by way of a delicious luncheon. These parties have always been popular and this year should prove no exception.

The committee in charge of the Christmas party include: Mrs. Nancy Coulter, Mrs. Alice Dempsey, and Mrs. Harriet Graves.

Cars Collide At Main Street And Parkway

Officer Donald Murphy reported a collision at the intersection of Mystic Valley Parkway and Main Street at midnight last Wednesday.

He said a car operated by Stue Pearson of 78 Cottell Street, Medford, travelling north on Main Street, was in collision with a 1959 sedan operated by Dorothy Davis of 160 Summer Street, Reading. The Davis car was proceeding east on the Parkway. No personal injuries were reported, Officer Murphy said.

Priscilla Morrill Named to Play Leading Role in New York Drama

Priscilla Morrill (Mrs. Paul Hendley Bryson), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Messer of 1 Priscilla Lane, has been chosen for the leading role in a new comedy for the off-Broadway theater, "The Sudden End of Anne Cinquefoil."

The play concerns the first feminist in American history and was written by Richard Hepburn, brother of actress Katherine Hepburn. It will be presented January 10 by Richard Barr, the producer, at the East End Theater on 4th Street.

Mr. Hepburn's feminist is purely imaginary. He has set his play in Charleston, South Carolina in the early 1700's, with a cast of eleven.

Miss Morrill's part is described by Mr. Barr as one of the longest roles he has seen in his entire experience.

JHS Schedule To Be Reversed

The Winchester Junior High School schedule will be reversed at the beginning of the third quarter on Monday, January 30, 1961.

At that time students from the Washington, Lincoln and Mystic School districts will attend the morning session, which starts at 7:45 a.m. Students from the Parkhurst, Wyman and Noonan districts, who have been in the morning session for the first two quarters, will attend the afternoon session at 12:45 p.m.

All public schools in Winchester close today for the Christmas vacation. School will begin again on Tuesday, January 3.

Boys' Club Expert Here

Survey Youth Center Sites

The need for a youth center in Winchester was confirmed this week by a high ranking official of the Boys' Clubs of America.

In a special visit here, during which he conferred with Winchester Police Chief Joseph J. Derro and Special Juvenile Officer James Cogan, Mr. Edgar W. Rylander, New England Director of the Boys' Club, surveyed possible sites on which a new youth center might be constructed.

It is known that Mr. Rylander viewed one particular site frequently mentioned as a possible site with particular favor.

Mr. Rylander cautioned the Town, however, to proceed on this matter with caution, not to rush things and to consider all contingencies before making a definite commitment.

The Boys' Club official also discussed questions of finances with the Chief and the Juvenile Officer. He said it was extremely important that public-spirited citizens of means get behind the program and help get the ball rolling.

The Chief and his Juvenile Officer are still contacting several local citizens who might be interested in serving on a 30-odd member adult committee.

Several civic-minded and qualified Townspeople have already been contacted, and have expressed a desire to serve.

Kirby A. Baker Is Elected Phi Beta Kappa At Harvard

Kirby A. Baker of 7 Grove Street, is one of the sixteen Harvard College seniors to be elected in the first semester to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Election to the "Senior Sixteen" is one of the highest academic honors a Harvard student can receive.

The choosing of the "Sixteen" in this term, an old Harvard tradition, indicates the great confidence placed in the students that they will be among the top ten per cent of their graduating class in June.

Additional members are elected to the honor fraternity at that time.

Baker, a math major, is a resident of Lowell House and is a member of the Organ Society.

A graduate of Winchester High School, he is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James G. Baker.

Church-Wildwood Street Collision

At 12:30 p.m. last Thursday a Pontiac operated by Cora G. Letch of 164 Washington Street, Medford, was in collision with a Chevrolet station wagon operated by Everett Mitchell of 7 Gardner Place and owned by the West End Chevrolet Co. in Waltham. The accident, in which no personal injuries were listed by police, was reported by both operators.

B. U. Professor Urges:

"Give Youth Roles In Youth Programs"

A more active role for young people in the planning and administration of youth programs is called for by Boston University Professor William Kvaraceus in an article recently published by the Tufts Civic Education Center.

"Young people are seldom consulted in the planning, organization, or conduct of state and local programs," Dr. Kvaraceus writes. "In a sense they are disfranchised, and at best they may only play a role of passive participants in the functioning of state and local departments and agencies."

Young people's role now Dr. Kvaraceus adds, "is to take and to receive."

Most of us, he says, expect the cooperative effort by outside authorities like policemen, psychiatrists, social workers, teachers, recreation directors to manage the youth program, "but these team approaches generally omit or exclude the most important players—young people themselves."

PIE IN SKY

As things now stand, Dr. Kvaraceus, adds, most adults are convinced that the role of youth is 'not to reason why," but only "to look for more pie in the sky." "Mature and responsible adult citizenship," he warns, "will not emerge out of this kind of youthful experience of learned dependency."

Among ways and means by which "the interests, energies, and talents of youth can be tapped," Dr. Kvaraceus suggests, is the concept of the Advisory Youth Council. As Dr. Kvaraceus envisages such a council, it would "serve as an instrument to communicate with youth and as a means of working closely with the younger members of the community."

CAREFUL, NOW, NO SHORTS! Electricians and town park department crews prepare the lights on the Christmas tree at the common.

Will Sing On Common

Christmas Eve Carollers To Honor Birth Of Christ

A beloved Winchester tradition will be observed on Saturday night, Christmas Eve, when Townspeople, young and old, join together on the Common to sing carols.

The singing of traditional Christmas hymns honoring the little Babe of Bethlehem will begin around the lighted Town Christmas Tree at 7:00 o'clock p.m. It is hoped that this will give everyone a chance to have supper and get down to the Common in good season.

As the Fortnightly puts it "Bundle up warm, good voice or not so good, come and join Mary Ranton Witham and the High School Brass Quartette." Come and sing. Meet your neighbors. When it comes to caroling, it is really the spirit that counts, and the real Christmas spirit is conveyed in Christmas music. (Please see the Star's Christmas editorial on Page 6.)

The Big Day will be with us in a little more than 48 hours. As your Star goes to press, church choirs begin their rehearsals for Christmas concerts; mothers prepare special tiny gifts for Christmas stockings, children peek in closets and corners for the gifts "Santa" will bring; and the last flurry of last minute-shoppers prepares for a massive assault on local stores.

It's "the season to be jolly," too, and Winchester people, young and old, are cheering along in a whirl of parties. Then a week's rest and we hail the second year of the sensational space-age sixties.

Seek Youth In Two Cases Of Molesting

Both Winchester and Medford police were seeking a young man for molesting girls in both towns last Saturday between 5:45 and 6:30 p.m.

A Tufts Road girl reportedly was molested by the young man, and her father reported the matter immediately to Winchester police, who are still investigating.

It is not known whether the young man had a car, although since he presumably was the same youth who showed up in Medford to molest another girl on Playstead Road, it is assumed he had a car parked nearby. In any case the Tufts Road girl was unable to get his registration number.

Girl, 5, Hit, As Truck Backs Up

Five-year-old Louise Skinner of 4 Quigley Court suffered a broken collar bone last Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 p.m. when a Ford panel truck struck her while backing up.

Operator of the Ford truck was Charles J. Tofuri, 41, an employee of the Mid Town Catering Company in Woburn. Tofuri told police he had looked before backing up but saw no one. Tofuri lifted the girl up and carried her into her home. Louise was admitted to Winchester Hospital and released early this week under the care of Dr. Garcelon.

Traffic Lights at Highland and Main Will Be Proposed by the Selectmen

Residents near the intersection of Highland Avenue and Main Street will be pleased to learn that the Board of Selectmen plan to submit an article in the Warrant for Town Meeting in March, 1961, to reduce traffic hazards at the intersection.

Chairman H. Gardner Bradlee told the Star this week that the Selectmen would recommend construction of an island at the Main Street base of Highland Avenue, in addition to flashing red lights. He said the Selectmen would also recommend a flashing green light on Main Street at the intersection, plus a pedestrian's push button light-control for crossing Main Street.

Since Main Street is a state road, Mr. Bradlee explained, final plans must await word from Beacon Hill. Total cost of the project has been estimated at approximately $3,000, with the bill to be picked up by the Town and the work to be done by Winchester employees.

The Selectmen acted in response to petitions that something be done to reduce hazards in this heavily traveled area.

There have been several accidents at the intersection, which is especially dangerous during morning and evening commuting hours. At present, cars entering Main Street from Highland Avenue must take a calculated risk.

In recent months police have made special spot checks in the area for speed-limit violators and have called into the station several motorists reported by nearby residents for speeding.

At the same time, Mr. Bradlee told the Star, the Board will recommend action on the dangerous intersection of Cambridge and Wildwood Streets. The Selectmen hope that the cost of the project will not require another article in the warrant. Included in the project, Mr. Bradlee suspects, will be widening of the eastern end of Wildwood Street from 24 to 30 feet, again depending on the cost.

Big Mystic Frozen Over

Big Mystic Lake froze over last Tuesday night after the storm.

The law of averages shows that it will remain frozen until the second or third week in March, Marshall Symmes tells the Star. Once it freezes, Marshall says, it stays that way until the Spring.

Time was when there was a good deal of ice boating on Big Mystic when it froze over the way it has. Has this sport, involving a good deal of fun and healthy exercise gone the way of the kerosene oil lamp?

J. Paul Marcous Heads Heart Fund Winchester Drive

J. PAUL MARCOUS

J. Paul Marcous of 3 Madison Avenue West has been appointed general chairman of the 1961 Heart Fund in Winchester, it was announced by John B. Hynes, 1961 state chairman and former Boston mayor.

Mr. Marcous is with the New England Telephone Company. During his years of residence in Maine, he served as a volunteer leader in Chamber of Commerce projects, civil defense organizations and numerous fund drives.

The 1961 campaign will be conducted through February — Heart Month — in this community and across the state and nation. It will be climaxed on Sunday, February 26, when a community-wide house-to-house canvass will be made to accept contributions.

"Cardiovascular disease is our foremost health problem," Mr. Hynes declared in announcing the appointment. "It accounts for more than half of all deaths in Massachusetts, as well as untold disability, economic hardship and suffering."

"It is of first importance that we band together to support as generously as possible programs of

Joe Bellino Gets Mighty Ovation At Special High School Assembly

Joe Bellino, Winchester High School's most illustrious football star, returned to his old school Monday morning to speak at the annual Fall Sports Assembly. Winner of the Heisman and Maxwell Trophies as the outstanding college football player of the year, chosen on all the top flight All-America teams, named the best back in the nation and voted the winner of a new Naval Alumni award to the Midshipman who has done most to promote good will for the Naval Academy, Bellino was accorded an ovation by the school student body and faculty.

He brought with him the coveted Heisman Trophy, football's top award, a huge bronze replica of a football player in action, and this was on display at the platform of the auditorium during the assembly.

School Principal W. Howard Niblock presided and welcomed Midshipman Bellino and the other guests. He explained that both Bellino and his class, and teammate, Midshipman Frank Dattilo, had been expected for the assembly, but that the plane on which Dattilo was expected would not get in until later today.

Referring to the high school teams being honored at the assembly, Principal Niblock said they were good teams, even if their won and lost record was not as good as some of the teams of the past. They were good teams, he said, because they had done their best. Winchester, he added, plays to win, but is able to lose with good grace, and this is important because winning and losing is very much a part of life.

Rotary Notes

Winchester Rotary was host to the Winchester High School football team and their coaches at last week's luncheon meeting in Masonic Apartments. Head Coach Henry Knowlton called upon Senior Manager "Bucky" Nichols to introduce the players individually, and then showed a film of a game during Joe Bellino's senior year on the team.

Coach Knowlton got a laugh when he ventured the opinion that the Rotarians would rather see this film than that taken at the Woburn game Thanksgiving.

President Fred McCormack presided at the meeting and welcomed two new members, Dick Norris of the Bennett-Norris Funeral Service and Bill Sullivan of the Winchester National Bank.

Today the club is playing host to the Winchester High School Cross Country team and their coach, Tom Morse. It is also expected that Winchester's Navy football stars, Joe Bellino and Frank Dattilo, will be guests.

Merry Christmas!

Sincere personal wishes for a happy holiday at home for ALL of you from ALL of us!

Dr. Allen Evans

Former Epiphany Rector Died In Philadelphia

Word has been received here of the death on December 16, at Bryn Mawr Hospital in Philadelphia of Rev. Dr. Allen Evans, a former rector of the Parish of the Epiphany.

Third rector of the parish, Dr. Evans was born March 28, 1891, in Haverford, Pa. He attended the Haverford schools, was graduated from Yale in the class of 1914 and studied for the Episcopal priesthood at the Philadelphia Divinity School. He was ordained a deacon in June of 1917, and a priest in January of 1918.

During the year 1916-1917, Dr. Evans was a YMCA worker and from 1917-1918, during World War 1, he was an assistant chaplain in the United States Navy. He then served in 1918-1919 as chaplain with the 104th Infantry of the 26th Division, seeing service overseas.

Dr. Evans was named assistant at St. James in Philadelphia in 1920 and became rector and priest-in-charge at the Church of the Atonement in Morton, Pa., in 1921.

After two years at this post he came to the Epiphany in Winchester, succeeding Rev. Murray W. Dewart, who had resigned to accept a call to Christ Church in Baltimore. Dr. Evans was instituted as rector of the Epiphany January 21, 1923, and served the parish for four years, during which time the final addition of the old parish house was completed.

While in Winchester Dr. Evans was actively identified with the Legion. He offered prayer during the exercises which dedicated the War Memorial Statue on the Junior High School lot, and participated in the parade that was a part of the dedication program.

Very popular with young people, both in and out of his parish, and generally liked throughout town, Dr. Evans' decision to leave Winchester to become rector of Trinity Church, Hewlett, L. I., was generally regretted.

Dr. Evans was at Trinity from 1927 to 1937, and then was for ten years dean of Philadelphia Divinity School, a seminary of the Episcopal Church. He was canon at the Cathedral Church of Christ in Philadelphia in 1947, and rector of Old St. Peter's Church in that city from 1947 to 1954 when he retired.

Dr. Evans was associate field secretary of the Episcopal National Council from 1923 to 1925 and again from 1929 to 1933. He then became executive secretary of the Bishop White Prayer Book Society. He was the author of a book, "Adventures for God in Two Churches."

He leaves his wife, Elizabeth; a son, Allen, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Walker, Jr., two sisters, a brother and seven grandchildren.

Prior to coming to Winchester four years ago and to his position with the Lincoln Lab, he was in public relations work in Farmsdale, Long Island, N. Y. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Parish.

Mr. Rose leaves his wife, the former Lauraine Toulac; a son, James A. Rose, Jr., and a daughter, Susan E. Rose, both of Winchester; a brother, Joseph E., of Revere; and seven sisters, Mrs. Irene Buckley, Mrs. Elmer French, Mrs. Victor Zayak, Mrs. John Perry, Mrs. Frederick Dean, all of Revere, Mrs. Frances Griffin of Chelsea and Mrs. Edward Lynch of Melrose.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass at the Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret McGovern

Mrs. Margaret M. McGovern of 27 Loring Avenue, widow of Terence McGovern and a resident of Winchester for more than half a century, died Saturday, December 17, at the Winchester Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. McGovern was born 80 years ago in County Mayo, Ireland, the daughter of John, and Mary (Flood) Tighe. She came to this country as a young woman, and during her long residence in Winchester she made many friends, who learned of her passing with regret. She was a member of the Sodality of the Immaculate Conception Parish.

Mrs. McGovern's husband died in April, 1956. She leaves a daughter, Miss Mary A. McGovern of Winchester, and two brothers, William and Martin Tighe, living in Ireland.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem High Mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Tanning Company Splits Melon

A $45,975 profit sharing melon was split among 345 co-workers of the Hartnett Tanning Company of Ayer on December 17. Harry E. Damon, Jr., of Winchester, is the plant manager of the firm.

The Ayer firm is nationally known in the leather industry for its profit sharing plan, and the latest distribution was the company's 30th consecutive distribution and covered a six months' period ended August 31, 1960. The tanning firm shares 30 per cent of its profits before taxes with its workers.

Another Winchester man, who is part of the Hartnett management organization, is Everett Stone, pasting department supervisor.

Mrs. Josephine O'Brien

Mrs. Josephine O'Brien, 72, of 31 Prince Avenue, widow of Walter F. O'Brien, died Wednesday morning, December 14, at her home after a brief illness.

Mrs. O'Brien was the daughter of William F., and Mary J. (Killibrew) Hargrove. She was born July 13, 1888, in Winchester and grew up in town, attending the Winchester schools. For 39 years, until her retirement seven years ago, she was an employee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. She was a member of the Thomas Sherwin Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America and of St. Mary's Sodality. She and Mr. O'Brien were married October 16, 1918.

Mrs. O'Brien leaves a daughter, Mrs. James Burke, with whom she made her home; two sisters, Mrs. George Kitchen and Mrs. Loretta Thomas, both of Winchester; and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held Saturday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

research, education and community service. Thousands of lives have been saved in Massachusetts already with medical advances made possible by Heart Fund research. But much more must be accomplished as quickly as possible so that the mortality figures may be sharply cut."

"This can happen only with enthuiastic support from all corners of our Commonwealth. I anticipate a highly successful campaign."

Children's Theatre Is Honored

Winchester youngsters who participated in the Children's Theatre production of "Noah's Ark" are still basking in a glow of pride after bursting into print in Boston's three outstanding newspapers, The Christian Science Monitor, The Boston Globe, and The Boston Herald.

The Globe ran a first page story by writer Douglas Crocket on the production, conveying the hilarity of a dog's unscheduled stage appearance half-way through the play.

The Monitor ran an illustrated feature article in its Youth Section by Lyn Shepard with a true behind-the-scenes flavor, in addition to an interview with theatre director, Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff.

The Herald published three pictures in its Rotogravure, Sunday, December 18.

Mrs. Samoiloff and her children have certainly won great admiration and higher standing among Winchester people. The children presented the Biblical classic not only in Winchester but at the Children's Museum where they were praised for their skill and enthusiasm as minor Thespians.

Mrs Samoiloff asked the Star to thank everyone who assisted in any way with the production and to thank Winchester people in general for their kind interest in the children and their fine turnout for the performances.

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

More than 30,000 children are born with heart defects every year in the United States.

A generation ago this was a medical tragedy, bringing drastically limited—and often drastically shortened—lives to the victims.

Today, 75 to 80 per cent of such children can be helped by surgery, much of it pioneered in Massachusetts' great hospital laboratories, with financial support from the Heart Fund.

Congenital heart disease, however, is little-understood outside of medical circles. Here are some of the questions most frequently asked by parents of children with inborn heart defects:

1. What is meant by "congenital heart defect?"

An abnormality developing before birth in the infant's heart or in the major blood vessels nearby. There may be a hole in a wall between two chambers of the heart; or an open passage between two blood vessels which should not be connected; or a narrowed valve or blood vessel obstructing the bloodflow. These may impair the circulation and hamper growth and energy.

2. What is a "blue baby."

A blue baby may have a malformation of the heart or of major blood vessels nearby, preventing the blood from getting enough oxygen. Low-oxygen blood is a dark, bluish red, so the skin and lips take on a blue tinge. Blueness may also result from conditions other than congenital heart defects.

3. Why do congenital heart defects develop?

The cause is not known in most cases. It is believed that if the mother has German measles in the first three months of pregnancy, there is a chance the baby's heart may be damaged. The role of viruses and heredity are under study.

4. Must all children with operable heart defects have surgery?

Not if the defect is mild, as they often are.

5. Can women with congenital heart defects have children?

Many of them can do so safely but it should be discussed with the family doctor before a decision is made.

6. Do congenital heart defects cause mental retardation?

No.

For more general information on this subject, send a postcard to Heart, 636 Beacon Street, Boston. For specific information, consult your doctor.

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

Nowhere is it more true than in the field of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Rheumatic fever, which often leads to rheumatic heart disease, is a major childhood crippler—all the more dangerous because it is an "invisible" crippler.

And the last rheumatic fever "season" in Massachusetts (rheumatic fever makes its appearance in the winter months) was a heavy one. There is every reason for parents to exercise keen preventive care in the season to come.

Upswings in rheumatic fever incidence always are associated with upswings in the incidence of "strep throat," rheumatic fever's forerunner. Prevention is accomplished simply by conquering "strep throat," for as many as three "strep" infections out of 100 may be followed by rheumatic fever.

Following is a check list to clip and save in what the medical profession sincerely hopes will be a season of sharp observation of children by their parents.

If a child has a sore throat and has any of these symptoms, call your family doctor immediately:

1. Did the sore throat come on suddenly?
2. Does the child complain that the throat hurts most when he swallows?
3. Does it hurt under the angle of the jaw when you press gently with your fingers? Are the neck glands swollen?
4. Does the child have a fever, and how much? ("Strep" usually brings 101 to 104 degrees.)
5. Has the child headaches or nausea?
6. Has the child been in contact with anyone who has had scarlet fever or a sore throat?

Prompt medical care in most cases will forestall a bout with rheumatic fever, a disease of long duration even when it is not followed by rheumatic heart disease.

Should the youngster contract rheumatic fever, modern medicine today is better equipped than ever before to manage the disease successfully. Recently the cortical steroids have emerged as an effective weapon against it, and recurrence can be prevented with penicillin therapy, with the effectiveness of a vaccine.

But with the right care, many children who otherwise will spend long months in bed can be kept healthy.

Keep a close watch on them this winter!

"Christmas At W.H.S." Draws A Good Turnout

DULCET STRAINS! Director Wendell Withington leads combined W. H. S. choral groups at concert last Friday.

It was cold and stormy outside, but cheery and heartwarming within at Memorial Auditorium last Friday evening when the music and drama groups of Winchester High School presented their traditional program, "Christmas at W.H.S." Considering the adverse weather conditions, a surprisingly large audience was in attendance. One got the general impression that they were glad that they had braved the elements.

The program got under way with a solemn processional of the large, vested Mixed Glee Club, which marched into the auditorium singing "O Come All Ye Faithful," striking a keynote for the type of program to follow. The group then assumed positions upon ramps in front of the stage, and were impressive in their rendition of "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," "Carol of the Bells," "Mary Had a Baby," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Joy to the World." Gwen Eugley, a sophomore who has a soprano voice of unusual quality, was soloist with this group.

The next half-hour of the program was presented by Curtain and Cue, the dramatic society of the high school. Their offering was a harlequinade, "Columbine Madonna," by Glenn Hughes. The play, which was directed by John McLaughlin of the faculty, concerns the problems of Columbine and her associates of a French theatrical troupe in devising a play that will capture the true Christmas spirit. After many amusing situations, the group rescues an abandoned babe, and discovers the greatest drama of all.

The play was pleasing to the eye, with a simple but beautiful setting and colorful and original costumes. The pace was fast and light, and the climax was well done.

Jeanne Chase, who is evidently a dancer as well as an actress, handled the complex and many-sided roles of Columbine with unusual skill and finesse. Diane Gentile, playing the difficult part of the cynical Pierrot, demonstrated a mature flair for comedy and satire, that delighted the audience.

In other roles Betsy Woodward was a winsome and eager Harlequin, Pamela Smith gave a good comedy portrayal of the garrulous Pantaloon, and Sue Bennett proved to be a charming and graceful Scaramouche. The gay, festive air of the drama and its "different" approach to the Christmas theme, seemed to win over the audience from the start.

The second half of "Christmas at W.H.S." opened with two selections by the orchestra, which did its usually fine job in its careful rendition of "Three Songs for Christmas" and "The March of the Toys."

The stage was then taken by the popular Octette Plus (four) group, consisting of Linnie Butts, Susan Gray, Laurel Ingraham, Carole Lawson, Sally Leighton, Constance Littleton, Martha Maloney, Debbie Nichols, Peggy Padelford, Leslie Sanger, Patricia Sexton, and Elizabeth Symmes. Joan Denton was the accompanist.

The girls gave a spirited, precise, and melodious performance of a medley that included "The Bells" and "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas."

No program of Christmas music would be complete without a brass ensemble playing the traditional and beloved carols of the season. In this area a brass quartet composed of James and Terry Cronburg, Neil Kirkpatrick, and Alta Merritt, performed well and in good harmony.

The next portion of the program was given over to the Girls' Glee Club, a large and well-trained group, who opened their repertoire with "O Come Let Us Worship," by Brahms, and Schuetsky's "May Now Thy Spirit." The remaining numbers, "Away in the Manger," "The Virgin's Slumber Song," "Glory in the Highest," and the beautiful "Venite Adoremus" were interspersed with selections from St. Luke's gospel of the Christmas story. The Bible readings were effectively narrated by Phillip Dunn.

The grand finale of the evening was the singing of the familiar carols by the glee clubs accompanied by the Double String Quartet. The audience was invited to join in, and soon the auditorium was filled with song, providing a suitable climax to a delightful evening.

Judith Leavitt and Joanne Sullivan were student co-chairmen of "Christmas at W.H.S." in which more than one hundred students participated. Our high school youth are always impressive in such performances as this, and they reflect credit upon Mr. Withington, the musical director of the evening, and Mr. McLaughlin.

Selections from this program will be heard early Sunday evening on WBZ radio station.

Epiphany Creche Service

Each Christmas Eve the Church of the Epiphany invites the rest of Winchester to join in the beautiful and joyous celebration of the preparation of the Creche. Held at 7 p.m. so that families may come with even their younger children, this service is especially appropriate for those who wish a Christmas Eve service, but do not feel free to attend the midnight celebration of Holy Communion.

As the story unfolds during the singing of the traditional carols, and reading of the lessons on the Nativity, the seventh grade girls place the figures in the creche, which is later moved outdoors for the Christmas season. This service is unique among Winchester churches and it is hoped that many non-Episcopalians will wish to share in it.

An interesting feature of this church's celebration of Christmas is the beautifully decorated Tree of Life, which is symbolically adorned with a star, to represent God, white ribbons indicating His blessings to men, colored lights denoting the various races of men, and thirty-three red roses for the thirty-three years of Christ's life on earth.

The Erskines Have Their Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Erskine of 41 Lake Street observed their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday afternoon with a unique open house at their home.

The observance was unique in that the guests did not know for what they were invited "to the Erskines." Upon their arrival they found themselves a part of the silver wedding anniversary party which was attended during the afternoon by nearly one hundred relatives and friends.

Assisting the Erskines in dispensing hospitality were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Maietta of Blossom Hill Road. Guest of honor was Mrs. Erskin's 90-year-old mother, Mrs. J. W. Webster of 11 Lebanon Street.

Among other guests were Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Mrs. O'Donnell. Mrs. O'Donnell added greatly to everyone's pleasure by her artistic singing of the favorite Christmas number, "O Holy Night." Miss Leonor Rich was the accompanist.

Hugh J. Erskine and Margaret Webster of Lexington were married in the First Baptist Church of Lexington December 15, 1935. They came immediately to make their home in Winchester in the old Erskine family homestead on Lake Street where Mr. Erskine was born. Mr. Erskine still carries on his father's business of furniture moving and storage.

Mrs. Erskine is a librarian, now serving as librarian at Newton High School. She will be recalled by many as former reference librarian of the Winchester Public Library, and before that she filled a similar position in Arlington.

Christmas Gift Ideas From the Chief

"What shall I give for Christmas—a practical gift, or one that will give pleasure?"

Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro, whom you probably never suspected of being a Santa Claus at heart, is willing to attempt an answer to that universal question.

"Why not give both?" he suggests, and presents a prepared list of Christmas gift suggestions. Here it is:

1. A set of automobile seat belts. They are practical because they save lives and prevent injuries; the pleasure comes in the satisfaction of knowing this.
2. A set of reinforced tire chains. Their practicality is time-tested, and it's a real pleasure to have them around when caught on the road in severe snow or icy weather.
3. A flashlight-flare device, for use when stalled, etc.

"These gifts, and others in their category, show thoughtful concern for the welfare and happiness of others," the chief said, "and they remind us of our responsibility to drive safely."

Incidentally, Chief Derro pointed out that some gifts of greatest value cost nothing at all to give.

"Try giving the right-of-way to another driver or pedestrian. By driving carefully you can give the gift of life itself to someone, and what could possibly make more sense at Christmas time?"

Post Office Closing at Noon Saturday

With the Christmas mail load hitting its peak within the next few days, Postmaster T. J. Gilgun expressed his appreciation today for the town's cooperation with his annual "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign.

"While it's too late to talk about early mailing of Christmas gifts and cards," the postmaster said, "you can avoid disappointing your friends and loved ones on Christmas Day by using air mail. There's still time for local deliveries, but be sure to send all Christmas cards by first class mail, and do include your return address on all Christmas card envelopes and package labels."

Postal employees are digging in for the final drive to get everything delivered by Christmas Eve. The post office will remain open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday, December 24, from 7 to 12 noon.

Sachems Lose Third Straight To Brookline, 59-45

Again Winchester was stopped cold as the Sachems suffered their third straight defeat of the season, 59-45, at Brookline, Tuesday. This is the first time a Phillips-coached team has ever lost three consecutive high school games.

Trailing by seven points, going into the second period, the Sachems soon fell behind and the half ended with Brookline holding a comfortable 14-point advantage.

It was the first half that lost the game, for in the next two periods, Winchester tied Brookline by scoring 28 points.

During the second half the Sachems began to show a little bit of the speed and spark they were missing. Right guard Jack Brenner, connecting on his jump shot from the key, rolled up 19 points to finish, as the game's high scorer, Captain Fred Wisemain of Brookline followed closely with 14.

Most of the first half Brookline's advantage was gained by their speedy captain, Wisemain, who seemed to be everywhere at once, faking the local guards into the floor.

His quick reactions and shiftiness were too much for Winchester to handle, especially during the first quarter when he scored 10 of his team's 19 points.

The Sachem's inability to control the boards is serious for unless they get someone in addition to forward Rod Gay helping to snag rebounds, it is going to be a long losing season.

Junior center, Dick Bond, taking the place of ailing center Ambrose Devaney, did a fairly good job in the rebound-snagging field yet Winchester still needs more spirit and fight!

This frigid Wednesday was also a fateful day for our Junior Varsity team as they too fell in defeat to the Brookline Jay Vee's, 50-42, their first defeat in more than 20 games.

High scorers for the Sachems were John Lane, John Peckham and Bruce Fitzgerald with 11, 11 and 10 points respectively. Top hoopsters for Brookline notching 12, 11, and 10 points were Pete Forman, Harry Wertzman, and Paul Kramel.

Winchester held a 2-point lead at the half, 26-24, but was lost in the rush as Brookline outscored them in the second half 26-16.

Nevertheless both our teams, Varsity and J.V. are bound to do much better, once they return to Sachem courts, for the first home game with Concord on December 27th.

Committee Of Safety Chapter, D. A. R.

On Monday, December 19, a well-attended and enjoyable meeting of the Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the beautifully decorated home of Mrs. William W. Goodhue, with the regent, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, presiding.

After the opening exercises, Mrs. Everett F. Kidder told how she and Mr. Kidder and the Symmes drove to the Hillside School in Marlboro the day after the storm with a carload of sweaters and other clothing, sporting equipment, models, toys, and candy from the chapter, all of which were greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman had a very interesting article on National Defense of Our American Heritage and the average citizen's response to it.

Mrs. Roy Wilson has a list of members shut-ins and those in nursing homes who would appreciate cards and visitors. Three are Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. Scales.

Mrs. Harold M. Twombly announced that two of our members would give the program: Mrs. Hiram F. Moody and Mrs. William C. Cusack.

Mrs. Cusack gave the story of some famous Christmas days, such as the first in the New World celebrated by Christopher Columbus in 1493; by Captain John Smith near Jamestown, Virginia, in 1606; the Pilgrims just off the Mayflower in 1620; Peter Stuyvesant in New York in 1646; Washington's Crossing of the Delaware in 1776, and his resignation from the command of the Army in 1782.

Mrs. Moody read in a most pleasing manner Sara Orne Jewett's delightful story "The Empty Purse." It was about Miss Debbie James, who had no money that Christmas to make gifts for friends. She fixed a quilted petticoat for an older lady in the poorhouse, which she delivered Christmas Day. On the way home she sent a young mother and little Susy to the mother, and stayed to take care of ailing Nellie. Then she went to see a wealthy friend who was alone for the day, and had tea with her. When she reached home she found another friend had left a note and some nice gifts.

Then everyone went into the dining room, where Mrs. Michael MacDonald, Mrs. Kingman P. Cass, and Mrs. Harry D. Locke had prepared a very delicious Christmas tea at the attractive and gay table. Mrs. Harry S. Parson poured.

Christmas Masque

On Christmas Eve at five o'clock, a program of song, movement, poetry and pageantry will be held in the Winchester Unitarian Church. Following a program of carols by the Junior Choir and the Youth Choir under the direction of Mr. George Blair, a colorful presentation of The Nativity will be given.

Rev. Robert A. Storer will be the narrator, Mrs. Margaret Worcester the chorister, and Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham, the organist. Young people from the Motion Choir and the High School youth group will depict the angels, shepherds, kings and gift bringers of the legend.

This service for the family, which usually takes less than an hour, is always a delight to the small children. The offering will be used for the benefit of the Unitarian Service Committee.

A tree will be decorated by the Church School members with gifts of money to be sent to the Unitarian Brotherhood Church in Lagos, Nigeria. Decorated candles will be distributed to all children. These will be used at the Christmas dinner table, to be lighted by the children as they give the blessing for the family.

Music for the entire program is under the direction of Mr. John Stirling, well-known New England organist and music teacher and will include Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

The Senior Choir, Young People's Choir and Junior Choir will all sit on special staging erected for this program and lighting effects will be an interesting feature of the program.

The Winchester Star
Established 1880 by Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Editorials:

> "I heard the bells on Christmas Day
> Their old familiar carol play
> And wild and sweet, the words repeat
> Of Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

These words written by the beloved poet, Longfellow, have an especial significance this year as Christmas comes to a world that is little better than an armed camp with actual combat here and there around the globe threatening to drag us all into one great holocaust.

Nineteen hundred and sixty years ago the angels over Bethlehem sang of "Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men." The Christ child in the manger beneath them, whose birthday we celebrate, preached the gospel of peace and brotherly love throughout his adult lifetime, finally losing his life because he urged people to "love one another."

No other person in all history, no matter his stature, has been able to match the influence on the world of the Babe of Bethlehem. None has brought so much happiness to so many people. His precepts of peace and good will are ageless, and as applicable today as they were when the angels echoed them on that starry, long-ago night above the stable where the Saviour of the world lay.

Never in all the world's history have peace and good will been more needed than they are today. What better time is there to dedicate ourselves to the spreading of these Christian principals than on the birthday of Him with whose coming the Christian era was born.

You don't have to be rich to have a merry Christmas. You don't have to give costly presents, decorate lavishly, give or attend costly parties, to share in the Christmas spirit. It wasn't until old Ebenezer Scrooge of Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" gave of himself to his less fortunate clerk, Bob Cratchit, and the latter's family that the true joy of Christmas came home to him. We, none of us, will be truly celebrating Christ's Birthday until we give ourselves to the task of promoting his teaching, of doing our bit in our humble way toward bringing about "Peace on Earth Good Will Toward Men!"

Carols On The Common

Once again this year on Christmas Eve, commencing at 7 o'clock, the Fortnightly Woman's Club will sponsor its annual carol sing on the Common.

For more than 30 years the Fortnightly has been holding these pre-Christmas get-togethers, and those who attend them have found them a rewarding experience. Whole families have enjoyed being together at the lighted tree and singing the old familiar carols with all their tradition and appeal.

As usual Mary Ranton Witham, organist and choir director at the Unitarian Church, will direct the carol singing, and a high school brass quartet will provide an accompaniment for the voices.

If you haven't participated in a carol sing on the Common, this would be a good year to begin a custom we predict you will like well enough to continue from year to year. Gathering on the historic Common, singing the old songs, rubbing elbows with friends, old and new, — what better way is there to start the Christmas holidays. Try it! You will be glad you did!

Stream-Lining The General Court

Apparently Winchester is not alone in attempting to do something about the length to which its town meeting sessions are dragging. The Great and General Court on Beacon Hill is also commencing to wonder about the length of its sessions and the amount of work the legislators are asked to do while the sessions are in progress. Strangely enough Winchester's Representative Harrison Chadwick is involved in both the town meeting and General Court problem.

As Town Moderator Mr. Chadwick has tried hard to stream line our town meeting sessions without encroaching on free speech and the right to be heard which is the privilege of all citizens, whether town meeting members or not.

As a member of the Legislature Mr. Chadwick has some ideas which he believes can reduce the length of the legislative sessions and reduce the amount of work the legislators are called upon to do. Reducing the work load will naturally enable the members of the house and senate to more carefully consider the business that comes to them.

Mr. Chadwick feels the "right of free petition" should be abolished. The "right of free petition" means that every bill submitted to the Legislature must be acted upon by the Legislature itself. Everywhere except in Iceland and Massachusetts governments permit legislative petitions to be screened by committees.

It is Mr. Chadwick's opinion that a committee by a four-fifths vote of the members should be permitted to pigeon-hole matters assigned to them for consideration; except that the Legislature, when so notified, could by a two-thirds vote of both branches revive the matter.

This procedure by early elimination of bills that have no chance of passage would, in Mr. Chadwick's opinion, save printing costs and greatly reduce the Legislators' work load.

There are some 500 to 600 bills filed annually relating to strictly home rule matters. These would by a constitutional amendment be eliminated for another great saving in the work load. No late-filed bills, except those of a real emergency nature should be admitted for consideration by the Legislature, and in Mr. Chadwick's opinion a fee of $2.00 should be imposed upon each petition for legislation filed. This would help defray printing costs and prevent crackpot bills and repeats.

Mr. Chadwick feels both the House and Senate should permit no bill to be held in committee more than three weeks after its first public hearing, except by a two-thirds vote of both branches, thus obviating the stalling of bills in committee for weeks and even, months.

An electric recording system is advocated for the House by Mr. Chadwick with the banning of night sessions, except in cases of extreme urgency. More and better work would result from such procedure, he belives.

Mr. Chadwick feels that adopting the measure he advocates above would make it feasible to limit the length of sessions by constitutional amendment to six months with cutting the time necessary for full consideration of any necessary legisaltion.

For fourteen years Rep. Chadwick has been a member of the Great and General Court. In that time he has had ample time to study the House in action and the improvement in procedures he is advocating are the result of his own experience as a legislator. It is to be hoped that they may be given thoughtful consideration by those able to improve our State Legislative processes. The public had little satisfaction in the most recent Legislative sessions.

A Heart-Warming Incident

Every once in a while we see something that makes us think people are pretty nice after all. This heart-warming incident took place the day after the big storm and involved an elderly lady and a young man crossing the center.

The lady was carefully picking her way while the young man strode through the snow with the confidence and quick reflexes of youth. As he passed the lady he evidently noticed she seemed hesitant about crossing the street. Returning, he asked if he could help her.

Now the lady wanted no one's help, and refused him pleasantly enough however, and this is where the entire incident had its appeal. The young man in no way resented the refusal. With a cheerful grin, that bespoke his respect for the lady's independence, he lifted his hat and went his way, leaving the lady to go hers.

This she did and the incident was closed, but we hugged to our heart all day. Often you will see some one help another in need of assistance across a busy street. You won't however, see a more cheerful acceptance of a polite refusal of assistance than the one we saw in the center last Tuesday. It was well worth seeing!

A Dangerous Practice

The piling of snow around the tree on the "island" in front of the Unitarian Church where Waterfield Road meets the Parkway has interfered with the view of drivers of motor vehicles sufficiently to cause a dangerous situation there.

At any time, and especially during the holidays there is a great deal of traffic passing that point while pedestrians pop in and out of the intersections, almost, if not quite hidden by the huge pile of snow. It has been more good luck than design that there has not been an accident because of the lack of vision.

Ths Star does not recall such conditions in other years and hopes they will be avoided in plowing after succeeding storms.

Show Appreciation

Christmas is one of the two great days of the church year and every where pastors and music directors have devoted much time and energy to preparing special religious and musical programs in honor of the day.

Winchester churches are no exception and listed in today's Star are many of these services in which the public is cordially invited to participate.

These are well worth attending, and by our attendance we can to some extent repay the pastors and choristers who have worked so hard to make these special Christmas services pleasing and worth while.

It isn't much to ask that we take the slight trouble necessary to go to an event prepared for our enjoyment and to honor the Christmas season. There can not be a better place to commence our holiday observance than in the church of our choice.

ON TUESDAYS, A LARGE GROUP OF LADIES MEET to sew for Friendly Service, under the leadership of Mrs. James Denton.

"To improve our time and talents in such a manner as to promote the interests of religion and benefit mankind, and believing the present to be a day of action — a time when all are called upon to unite . . . in doing good."

Thus, in careful Spencerian penmanship in a ledger now yellow and brittle with age, a lady once wrote —around her a gathering of taffeta-gowned friends watched, anxiously advised. This was the year 1840, the 24th of June, and the ladies were putting on paper their dream of a "South Woburn Female Benevolent Society." For them it was an undertaking, almost an adventure, but all 32 of them believed sincerely in the organization they were forming.

From the dream of these few ladies, who even in their day were mindful of "a day of action," has come the present Women's Association of the First Congregational Church. The 32 pioneers of 1840 would not have been suprised at today's active membership of several hundred members.

Mrs. John Symmes was elected the first President of that early Society. The ladies met in one another's parlors, over best teacups they planned their program, then rolled up lace cuffs and went to work. Early secretarial reports make mention of "sewing on quilts" — quilts and warm bedding for needy families. They made clothing for families at home and at mission posts abroad. They sent supplies and money to white, Negro and Indian peoples through schools and hospitals. Small as this group was, their boundless energies served their own church, and managed to answer calls for help from those in need.

And these ladies were finding it most pleasant to meet together, sew together, to share in church work!

The names of these "Female Benevolent Society" women read as a page from the town's historical files, Mesdames Symmes, Johnson, Cutter, Richardson, Peirce, Wyman, Kendall, Shattuck, Hutchinson, Parker, Russell. In a day when husbands were active in town affairs, working towards a township of Waterfield-Winchester, their ladies were alert to the growing needs in church and community, to the widening horizons abroad.

In 1849, the name of the Society was changed to "Western Missionary Association," and Mrs. Charles Russell was its first President. In the ensuing years, modestly penned reports tell of the enormous amount of work these women accomplished. They cut and stitched tailored suits and overcoats, warm dresses, layettes, boxes of clothing for families in missions abroad, as well as in their own town.

Funds then were raised by annual dues of fifty cents per lady, but gentlemen might become "honorary members" of the Association by contributions of fifty cents or more. We find nostalgic notations "from a gentleman, five dollars to be tucked in overcoat pocket for a needy man," or "donation of ten dollars from Mr. S. to purch. yard goods."

But the founders were growing older. Younger women in the church wanted more than "just sewing," and young mothers with young families wished to become acquainted. So a second group was formed, "Young Ladies' Missionary Society." This was the quiet years, before the turn of the century, 1899. This Society was the mother of the present Mission Union.

The young and energetic new Society collected barrels of good clothing and sent them abroad; it helped decorate and furnish rooms of the newly opened Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon Street; it was active in the Winchester District Nursing Association; its members alternated with work for the Red Cross. They were deeply interested in sending food and clothing to lands where famines had devastated whole areas.

Their charter had been most succinct, "to encourage among the young people of the church a missionary spirit . . . raise money for missionary and home work." This they did, with splendid zeal!

This Society was the first to have a Fair, and under the leadership of Mrs. Belcher they staged a most attractive and ambitious Fair in the Town Hall! They set up booths and made the hall fragrant with home cooked foods, and they earned the huge sum (for that day) of $428.

The World War I years saw the women of the First Congregational Church joining women of other churches in working for servicemen and their families, working for the Red Cross, sending help to women and children in the war lands. In order to stay longer at their sewing jobs, the ladies began to hold monthly luncheons, at first timidly charging ten cents per plate!

These luncheons are still held once a month, and today they provide an opportunity for the Friendly Sewing ladies to stay at their machines longer, for others, it is an occasion to see old friends, meet new ones in the church.

In 1940, the ladies of the famous "Ladies' Western Missionary Society" made a last will and testament that is a most unique and beautifully written piece of literature. With that document, they merged formally with the Mission Union. It was their 100th birthday, it was their final meeting. It marked growth and progress, but it also had a moment of homesickness for the older members. Miss Edith Swett was the presiding officer.

In April of 1944, the present Women's Association was established. The church had grown, the women's groups were restless for new interests, and this new Association had ample provision for departments, such as missionary, home church, service men's interests, sewing, study, young mothers, business women.

The Planning Committee, which had worked many months to achieve this practical Association, included Elise Belcher, Frances Chidley, Myra Coon, Margaret Copland, Helen Farnsworth, Anna Grosvenor, Helen Hall, Elizabeth Nardin, Clara Palmer, Ruth Mallory Smith, Helen Tozier, and Inez Blaisdell, the chairman.

For the first Association, Mrs. Robert M. Keeney was elected president; Mrs. Erskine N. White, secretary; Mrs. James McCormick, treasurer.

Mrs. William I. Palmer had served the Mission Union as its faithful treasurer for 35 years — on that 35th anniversary, the members presented her with a lovely lacquer box. In the new Association, her work was not completed, she was asked to remain as member-at-large, and to lend her understanding and courage to the new board.

Today there are five lively Guilds in the Women's Association, Mission Union, Social Service, Junior Mrs. and Business and Professional Women. There is a Home Church Committee which maintains the furnishing and equipment of the Parish House and sanctuary, altar flowers and church choir vestments. And there is now "Fireside Fifty-Eight" to unite young married women in a program of fellowship, service, study and worship. These women are indeed reminiscent of the 32 ladies of 1840!

The Business and Professional Women's Guild is unique in that its members are of many ages, many interests and professions, and from many churches, all bound together by the pleasure of meeting and working together in this Guild. The Social Service Guild is pledged to work for others, the Boston City Missionary, Seamen's Friend, Metropolitan State Hospital Volunteers. Its biggest program is the Friendly Sewing Service which is carried on prodigiously each Tuesday.

The work of the Women's Association is far-reaching. Through its Fair and its pledges, it supports Friendly Service and Social Service work; it reaches out to smaller churches, schools, hospitals in our own land and abroad; it helps Caney Creek in Kentucky, with the same fervor it helps Children's Haven in Boston.

The members assist Mrs. Ross Thomas, their missionary in India; they help schools and hospitals in Greece, Turkey, Puerto Rico; they are active in Hungarian Relief and the care of Indonesian refugees.

The women enjoy study groups, they meet and sew on Tuesday, their Fair committees find pleasure in gathering during the year to create gifts for their bazaars. They contribute to the redecorating of their church, to the Steeple Fund, to the care of its buildings.

Today the Women's Association of the First Congregational Church reaches out to many women with many interests, many talents—they work in useful ways that would have delighted greatly the 32 ladies who were once courageous enough to form their "South Woburn Female Benevolent Society." It would have pleased them—yes, but not have surprised them.

For this was truly their vision, and their faith.

THE OTHER SIDE OF JORDAN

By WILSON SULLIVAN

Over 50 per cent of America's 18-millon Negroes now live outside the South. How are they doing?

Not a great deal better than they did in Dixie, says former Arkansas editor Harry Ashmore in "The Other Side of Jordan." Negroes may sustain greater hope for the future in the precincts of abolition, Mr. Ashmore believes, but in most ways they face traditional White hostility when they cross the River Jordan in search of the Promised Land.

Given the vast redistribution of Negro population in urban U. S. A. since World War I, Ashmore writes, the race problem is no longer "the exclusive or even the primary property of the South." If Dixie has its Faubus, persuaded that "the flowering civilization of Arkansas (is) about to be engulfed by a rising tide of blacks hell-bent on miscegenation," he says, the North has its urban Negro ghettos, its labor union discrimination (and its obvious college "quotas"), drawing the color line as hard and fast as ever did General Lee.

Similarly, Ashmore says, if the South has tried to translate prejudice into law, the North tries to pretend that it doesn't exist, looking the other way while crime, disease, stunted education and poverty hold Negroes in thrall.

How do the Negroes feel about this? What are they doing about it? What does the future hold for race relations?

Mr. Ashmore sees no truly revolutionary elements in the present situation in American cities, despite extreme Black Nationalist, separatist splinter groups like the "Muslims." But the signs of economic, political and social change, he says, are unmistakable. In all great U. S. cities, he writes, the Negro's traditional timidity and emotional withdrawal are giving way to "the driving force of impatience," a conviction in Adam Clayton Powell's words that "the timetable of freedom is no longer in the white man's hands."

There is more militant talk among Negroes of all classes than ever before, Mr. Ashmore has discovered, more concerted pressure against race barriers. Significantly, he says, the cautious, legalistic leaders of the N.A.A.C.P. are being replaced by more active and imaginative young members of the Negro intelligentsia, like the college students who staged the recent "sit-in" demonstrations in the South.

Encouraged by the United States Supreme Court's "sweeping redefinition of Negro rights," and by the emergence of free Negro nations in Africa, Ashmore explains, the rising Negro middle class, enriched by education, seeks to "live and work and attend school in circumstances that are in accord with their means and ability, and without reference to their race."

In this restrained, balanced and compassionate book, Harry Ashmore adds substantial light on a subject immured in sentimentalism and dogma. He need not have apologized for it as "journalistic." At its best, journalism has been a fairly sharp cutting edge of progress. When sensitivity, detachment, and plain human warmth are added to this sharpness, as Mr. Ashmore has added them, journalism can be very substantial indeed.

It is perhaps as much in his reportorial detail as in his measured analyses that Mr. Ashmore conveys the plight of our urban Negroes—details like these:

The beat-up Negro in a Harlem bar, downing his 30-cent doubles "to get through the long night and reach oblivion."

The "rising young" Negro doctor, "accepted" by Westchester County, respectably conservative, trying to forget his "shameful" brothers in the slums.

The Negro political kingpin with abundant Napoleon brandy, pampered by servants and "remarkably pretty women," junketing from one European spa to another, hepped up in the abstract about civil rights, but oblivious to housing improvements in his domain.

Harry Ashmore's prose is frequently powerful. He writes of a Harlem family of 13 jammed into five tiny rooms in a rat-and-roach-ridden flat: "where the garbage moulders in halls pocked with old obscenities carved by forgotten residents, and where the shrill voices of angry tenants echo, unheeded, through the night."

What's ahead? A "nervous time" for everyone, Mr. Ashmore concludes. "In a brief moment in our history, the Negro's aspirations have leaped far ahead of the means presently available for their achievement."

Critical Of High School Athletic Rule

Editor of the Star:

The Belmont Pee Wee Hockey program has youngsters from 17 towns participating. Since I am the founder and director of the program and also was a resident of Winchester most of my life, as was my family before me, I quite naturally have a particular interest in the progress of Winchester youth in general and specifically in hockey.

Testimony to this is the fact that last year's first line which contributed substantially to the team's success under Coach Finigan's expert direction, was man for man and position by position the same line that played together in the Pee Wee program.

Interest in these fine boys, all of whom were academically accomplished, did not end with graduation. As a member of the Dartmouth College enrollment committee I encouraged and promoted their scholastic interests and objectives.

One of these three outsanding boys is now a solid member of the class of '64 at Dartmouth, another is at Harvard, and a third is at Tilton Academy doing strong college certificate work.

All this is by way of documenting the fact that the Pee Wee hockey programs in the Greater Boston area, all of which are directed by conscientious men uninterested in self aggrandizement, are agents, along with the school, interested in the development of youth.

Winchester's athletic director says that boys playing for the freshman hockey team can not play for any other team. There were two reasons given this writer; first, that the school insurance did not cover the boy playing on an outside team; and second, that the boy might be injured in outside competition and as a result be lost to the school cause.

Perhaps there have been additional reasons conjured since the question was asked as to why such a monopolistic and opportunity-denying rule should exist. The fact remains that the Pee Wee programs carry their own insurance on the players. They are protected under this coverage as well as, if not more fully than they are under school auspices.

This is not a valid reason for the rule. The fact remains that a boy playing shinney hockey at Winter Pond, or hanging around the corner of Church and Main Streets is more likely to get injured either physically and/or academically, (thus becoming lost to the school cause), than he would participating in an American Hockey Association sponsored game, policed by paid registered officials.

Other towns, not even plagued by double sessions and the resulting exclusion of the 7th and 8th grader from the hockey program, support the Pee Wee programs and are far-sighted enough to realize that, unlike basketball, where playing facilities are owned and made available by the school, ice facilities are extremely limited and the school is physically unable to provide the youngsters playing hockey at the freshman level adequate ice time.

The following are quotes from the recorded minutes of a meeting of the National Education Association of the United States: "Agents interested in youth development should meet and work together in the common interest rather than becoming too absorbed in promoting their own programs and selling them to children."

I have always been more than anxious to cooperate in the sole interest of the boy. I further quote: "The school, in reaching a decision as to whether or not it wishes to cooperate with other organizations, takes as its first consideration the needs and interests of the pupils."

I feel badly that the Winchester boy is being denied the opportunity afforded by the Pee Wee programs. The school must realize that the freshman hockey program doesn't adequately serve "the needs and interests of the (hockey) pupils."

Compared to basketball one hour a week of hockey practice is little time indeed, but to further deny the interested participant an opportunity to take part in an organized outside program that can and does properly supplement a necessarily inadequate school program is a mistake for which the individual interested in hockey must suffer.

The policy of the Belmont Pee Wee program will be to take its applicants from those towns that appreciate that which the program is trying to do, namely, make ice available to the boy interested in hockey along with instruction in the fundamentals of skating and hockey. Until such time as Winchester is ready to underwrite the cost of their own rink (a very expensive proposition) or provide their freshman program with considerably more rented (thirty dollars per hour) ice time and extend the program to include 7th and 8th graders, I sincerely suggest that they do not deny their freshman hockey players the opportunity available to others and the opportunity that the school itself can not provide.

In closing I urge that Winchester freshman team members be allowed to participate in the Pee Wee program. The boys are the ones who will suffer if this rule is not changed. As agreed at the meeting of the National Education Association of the U. S. "The school in reaching a decision as to whether or not it wishes to cooperate with other organizations, takes as its first consideration the needs and interests of the pupils."

Is the town ready to put up a hockey rink so hockey facilities will match basketball facilities, or at least appropriate additional funds so that ice time can equal court time?

We'll be glad to help if the Athletic Director in Winchester makes it possible for the boys to take advantage of our facilities. "The cooperation that exists between the school and an outside agent should be free and impartial with both the school and the outside agent making their suitable contribution."

Scott Parrot, Director
Belmont Pee Wee Hockey

Interested In Star Article

Editor of the Star:

In your December 8th issue you have a picture of a model of the ship Arabella being shown to a group including Senator Saltonstall and our Governor-elect John A. Volpe. This is of interest to me since in the "Group of Settlers from England," mentioned as accompanying Sir Richard Saltonstall on that famous voyage in 1630, was one of my immigrant ancestors, Thomas Philbrick. He came from Lincolnshire with his wife and six children and his name appears on the Saltonstall Founders Monument on the Watertown Parkway.

According to the Weare, N. H. history his homestead in Watertown was on the north-west corner of Belmont and Lexington Streets. He then moved his family to Hampton, N. H., and five generations later a direct descendent, Richard, who was a seaman in his early life, was on a vessel taken by the British in the War of the Revolution. Later it was recaptured by the prisoners and some of the crew and run into Charlestown, S. C., where it was sold as a prize.

Richard used a portion of his prize money to buy a horse, rode home to Hampton and bought a farm in Weare, N. H. He was one of the early settlers there and built what was said to be the first wool carding machine in this country. It was operated by water power developed from a stream running through the farm.

Richard had nine children by his two wives and a son, George, married Maria Burnham of Goffstown, N. H. Diantha was the fifth of their ten children and she married William Stanley Stevenson of Lowell, Mass. He was a photographer, painter of miniature portraits and producer of silhouettes using a pantograph-like piece of equipment to trace the profiles. They moved to Maine and now lie buried in the Stevenson family lot in a cemetery near Freedom, Maine.

In the same cemetery is the grave of William's father, Colonel William Stevenson. He lived near Liverpool, England and at the age of fourteen was "pressed" on board the British Frigate Guerriere and three years later was taken prisoner at the time of her capture by the U. S. Frigate Constitution in the War of 1812 and carried to Boston. When set free he went to Maine where he married and became a respected citizen of his new country. In May 1837 he was elected Lieut. Colonel of the Maine State Militia.

A daughter of William Stanley Stevenson and his wife Diantha was named Esther Diantha and she married Calvin Powell Eldred of Sheldon, Vermont. He was named after his mother's father, who was the son of Col. Miles Powell of that famous family in the early history of Lanesboro, Mass. The Lanesboro records show eleven other Powells in the Rovolutionary Army. I am the only child of Esther and the first Calvin Powell Eldred.

Following other marriages our grandson is the fourth Calvin Powell Eldred. He lived with his parents on Harrison Avenue, Winchester, until their move to Talladega, Alabama. "CP," as he is known to his friends, is now a first year student at Indian Springs Boys Preparatory School, Helena, Alabama.

Sincerely yours,
Calvin P. Eldred

Recognized Star Picture

Editor of the Star:

I recognized the picture of the old gates immediately. I remember it well and the buildings around it. That building with the three chimneys was originally a tenement block.

The storess on the front had various occupants. The ones I remember best are the first Chinese Laundry and the first Restaurant in town, which was run by Mr. Richburg.

I do not know who owned that fine house on the corner but I used to visit a family who rented it.

Beyond that is the home of Sam Davis who kept the shoe store. Back of the shanty stood the Town Scales. I wonder if any one remembers Martin Morse, who was the night man on the gates. How about it Mrs. Smith or Roland?

M. L. B.

The Old Welcome House?

Editor of the Star:

Regarding the picture in the Star of December 15, showing the gate house at the railroad crossing in 1840.

The building back of the gate house at the right is the Old Welcome House (as known at that time) and was occupied as a lodging house with a restaurant in the first story.

In the early nineties, this was partly destroyed by an early Thanksgiving morning fire and was rebuilt. Later it was torn down and the new building built which is now occupied by the Hillside Paint and Wallpaper Co. and others.

The dwelling at the left (corner of Church and Main Streets) was removed in the late eighties or thereabout and the present White Building erected, now occupied by McCormack's Apothecary and others.

A bad fire in this building April 18, 1951, destroyed the top story. As a result this top story (used as a public hall) was removed shortly after the fire.

The high building at the left and rear of the Welcome House was the old Winn Stable on Park Street.

For a New Recreation Center

Editor of the Star:

In answer to your article on using the Wadleigh building as a youth center we wish to say that it was a very interesting article to read. We also would like to congratulate you on being the first adult to give a definite plan for a youth center.

After giving this plan careful consideration, we feel that this plan is feasible on paper, but in reality it could not substitute as a youth center. The youths of Winchester need something more than a place to buy refreshments and "shoot the breeze." They also need more recreation than ping pong and pool. This same type of plan was used fifteen to twenty years ago in the building that was torn down across from the Savings Bank. This plan failed because it didn't have enough to offer the youngsters.

The amount of money that it would take to rebuild the inside of the Wadleigh building to meet the requirements of both local and state laws would go into the thousands. Instead of rebuilding a run-down building, a new building could be built that would be more appealing to the youngsters. This building could offer the facilities a youngster needs and wants.

We sincerely hope that when the proposition of a youth center is placed before the citizens of Winchester that they will act with the intention of how the youth center will affect and benefit the youngsters, not the cost of the project. Money has no value when it means producing reliable and capable citizens of tomorrow.

Sincerely,

Likes Wadleigh Idea

Editor of the Star:

I think that having a Youth Center at the old Wadleigh School is a splendid idea.

Having the young people themselves organize and run the Center is, I believe, the secret to success. I saw this in operation in Delaware, Ohio, and I know how much it means to teen-agers to make their own rules and feel that they are in command. They may get their parents to help with decorating and getting started, but they are capable of carrying on by themselves and they enjoy having a feeling of responsibility. The only adult supervision needed is a paid adult couple to open and close the building in the evening and to be in attendance at the snack bar.

Perhaps each class in the High School could choose a representative and these three students could be the Executive Committee. They, in turn, could appoint other committees, such as "Discipline Committee," "Clean-up Committee," etc. A small admission fee, say 10c, is a good way to accumulate a little capital for miscellaneous needs. The snack bar is, of course, self-supporting.

Asks That Walks Be Shovelled

Editor of the Star:

I would like to ask the people of Winchester to shovel their sidewalks. Five or more years ago Town meeting voted down appropriating money for this except near the schools and on certain thoroughfares.

Large numbers of commuters going to and from stations, as well as many children, as young as kindergarten age, are walking in the icy streets. If a pedestrian were hit by a car or truck in front of your house, you would surely wish you had shoveled a path at least. Few lots in town have an extremely large frontage and we have only two or three real snow storms most years.

We are asking the people in our neighborhood to shovel their sidewalks. Will you shovel your walk, or have it done and encourage your neighbors to do the same?

Agrees With Mr. Bentley

Editor of the Star:

The letter of Mr. Brad Bentley in "Letters to the Editor," published in the Star of December 15, contains valuable suggestions. With them I heartily agree. And your editorial on using the old Wadleigh School building for the project is most appropriate.

Now let's get together and push these two ideas, the use of the old Wadleigh School building as a Community Center (with professional leadership) bringing the younger and older people together in common activities. This would be a very constructive step forward, as far as group activities with delinquents is concerned.

Hostesses At Washington Reception

Two Massachusetts women have been honored in being selected to serve as hostesses to assist Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the reception for distinguished ladies.

The reception, one of the major social events of Inaugural week, will be held in the National Art Museum, Wednesday afternoon, January 18.

The Bay State women invited to stand with the wives of the President-elect and Vice President-elect are Mrs. Charles D. Roche of 14 Fairmount Street, and Mrs. Richard K. Donahue of 91 Mansur Street, Lowell.

Their husbands were members of Senator Kennedy's campaign staff through the primaries, National Convention and the Presidential campaigns. Mr. Roche, a Boston journalist and former Winchester High and Harvard sports star, and Mr. Donahue, a Lowell attorney, left their regular businesses to assist Senator Kennedy.

Mrs. Roche and Mrs. Donahue each has five children.

The reception for Distinguished Ladies provides the opportunity for the wives to the chief executives to meet the wives of the members of the U. S. Congress, Supreme Court, Cabinet and Diplomatic Corps, as well as others prominent in the Capital social scene.

Her head piece was of matching velvet and feathers, and she carried an exclusive sidesweeping arrangement of Scotch heather and cymbidium orchids.

For her niece's wedding, Mrs. Shanklin wore an emerald green satin brocade sheath. Her corsage was of pale green cymbidium orchids.

The grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Carlotta Castrioto de Mattos wore an imported French black silk sheath and her corsage was of pale green cymbidium orchids.

Living With Your Heart

On the way up?

You may be more susceptible to hypochondria than the man who already has that vice-presidency.

In an age where "morbid anxiety about the health, often associated with a simulated disease and more or less pronounced melancholia" (the medical definition of hypochondria) is increasingly considered the province of the person with too much time on his or her hands, and too little work to do, this may seem astonishing.

But studies in a metropolitan suburb have found that the area, housing principally people trying to rise socially and economically, produced a much higher rate of psychosomatic illness than more stable communities, homes of those who had already "arrived."

Investigators laid this to the heavy stress of the life of the "upwardly mobile" person, as against the cushion of security and success enjoyed by those whose struggles are behind them.

The answer to hypochondria for these people, as for the other millions who suffer every disease yet discovered without actually having them, is—see your doctor. If he tells you that your fears and symptoms are false, you can believe him.

Today's hypochondriac, in a public better educated than ever before about disease, has the widest variety of imaginary ills from which to choose in all of recorded history.

An overactive imagination coupled with the stresses of mid-century living and the wide variety of aches and pains to which humans are susceptible, can prove a powerful combination.

In some cases, it can do as much harm to the victim, and to those around him, as the disease itself.

It is entirely possible, for instance, to frighten oneself into a first-rate facsimile of a heart attack—even to the point of collapse. This can happen in spite of the fact that most chest pains, fainting, dizziness and palpitations have nothing whatever to do with the heart.

In the long run, most of our pains and fears turn out to be meaningless. The strange uneasiness of fright, the "heavy chest" that goes with sorrow, the persistent pain close to the breastbone, born of neurosis—they pass, and we are none the worse for them.

We are born; we live; eventually we die. The statistics are comforting; more of us are living longer and healthier lives than ever before regardless of our occasional ailments.

So let the doctor be the judge of your condition and, if you suffer from "ailments" that cannot be found by modern medical science, remember this:

The ailment is not within you—but the cure is.

A Fascinating Game

Based On Quick Counting and Skill In The Selection Of Plays

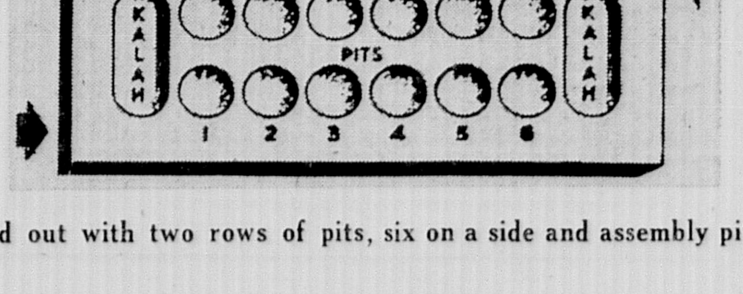
"Kalah" has arrived at the Winchester Star, in time to solve your Christmas gift problem for anyone who enjoys a real game of skill.

Kalah, a centuries-old numerical game of wits based on quick counting and skill in the selection of plays, is a real brain teaser.

It is also known as the "pebble game," because natives often play with pebbles in holes in the ground comparable to the 12 pits on the playing field.

How is this game played and what is its objective?

Examine the illustration below:



The game field is laid out with two rows of pits, six on a side and assembly pits called Kalah's at either end.

The purpose of the game is to concentrate as many counters as possible in your Kalah. The game ends when all of the PITS on one side are empty. The score is the number in excess of counters in all PITS at the start of the game.

Available in all price ranges.

Santa Comes To Town

"MY, OH MY, WHAT A LONG LIST!" says Santa to one of his little visitors at Filene's Winchester store this Christmas week. Santa talked to many little tots in town this week and was welcomed as warmly as ever.

Florence Crittenton Meeting

Florence Crittenton Christmas meeting was the victim of last week's rather violent weather. However, a group of hearty souls met at the home of Mrs. Don Greer, 32 Arlington Street on Friday, December 16. Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, vice president of the Circle, opened the meeting by welcoming the members and their guests.

The opening devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Bradford M. Bentley. Mrs. Ernest Wright read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved as read. Mrs. George Gowdy gave the treasuer's report.

Various committee reports were given by the chairmen who were able to get to the meeting. A report was given for Mrs. James Chaffe on the success of the ticket sales for the fashion show which was held at the John Hancock Building on November 30. As a result of this hard working committee and the cooperation of the members in buying the tickets.

Mrs. Richard Pettengill, program chairman, introduced the speaker of the day, Mrs. William Austill. Mrs. William Austill's subject was "Christmas Around the Worlds." She began by discussing some of the lovely Christmas customs of the Scandinavian countries. Jerusalem, Israel, Poland and India are countries whose customs proved interesting to the group.

Mrs. Austill closed her interesting talk with the hope that the light which shines and is so symbolic of Christmas would continue to shine around the world and bring peace.

Mrs. Ernest Wright and Mrs. Walter Winship led a brief period of carols.

The Christmas tea which followed the meeting was served by Mrs. F. O. Adams and the members of the tea committee.

Bellino At Baseball Banquet

In between accepting football honors during his brief Christmas vacation at home Joe Bellino is finding time to attend tonight's banquet given by Ralph Wheeler, Boston Herald sports writer, at the Hotel Lenox in Boston for the members of his Malden City Club baseball team.

Ralph has been running the Malden City Club nine for many years and each year "throws" a banquet for his players. Bellino has caught for the club since he was a junior in high school, even continuing to play whenever his duties at the Naval Academy would permit.

Naturally Ralph and Bellino's teammates on the City Club looked forward to his presence at this year's banquet and were greatly disappointed when they learned he would not be able to attend because of practice for the Orange Bowl game.

When Joe found out he would be at home on Christmas leave he phoned Wheeler and suggested that they have dinner the Thursday before Christmas. Wheeler immediately got busy, moved the date of his banquet ahead to tonight and notified his delighted Malden City players that Joe Bellino will be with them after all!

First Win Over Winchester Since '47

Sachem Hoopsters Nipped By Tanners, 44-42

A fine fourth period surge, led by Woburn's left guard, Ed Foley, took the win out of Winchester as the Woburn Tanners slid by the Sachems 44-42 at Woburn, Wednesday, December 14.

Foley, a three-sports veteran for Woburn High, scored 7 of his team's 11 fourth-quarter points to beat the Sachems for the first time since 1947.

More than 300 fans crowded the tiny Woburn gym for the season's opener, and with bated breath, watched as the Woburn Tanners came from behind in the closing minutes to tie the game 39-all on a Foley jump shot.

With less than two minutes remaining, the Tanners surged ahead to a 44-39 lead on a foul shot and jumper by Foley for three more points and a neat under-the-basket lay-up by left forward Nick Bowers.

With the clock ticking away its last 55 seconds, the Sachems, on a last-ditch effort, slashed the Tanner lead to two points on a foul shot by guard Jack Brenner and a 15-foot jumper by hard-driving forward Rod Gay.

Seven seconds remained when the ball was tied up at the Winchester end, causing a tip-off. Winchester recovered the Brenner tip-off, but was unable to score before the clock ran out on one of the closest Woburn - Winchester games in many years.

High scorers for Woburn with 12 points were Ed Foley and Jim Donovan. Forwards Rod Gay and Jim Callahan, notching 11 points apiece, seemed hampered by the tiny Woburn court and were unable to use their most effective weapon, the fast break.

Nevertheless, both teams, exhibiting fine sportsmanship and showmanship, put on an all-out effort and should do very well this season.

Winchester Wins JV Game

The situation was a little one sided in the JV game as the Winchester junior varsity team scalped the Woburn JV's 53-17.

With 6ft., 3in. Bobby Watson and Len Timpone controlling the boards and fine marksmanship by right guard Jim Devaney, who led the scoring with 11 points, the Sachem junior varsity looked very promising.

Following is the varsity summary:

Maribel Vinson Owen, noted figure skater, will be teaching her fine art at the M.D.C. skating rinks in Belmont and Medford this year.

Mrs. Owen told the Star she will be at Medford every Wednesday afternoon between 3:30 and 5:00 and in Belmont every Tuesday afternoon, also between 3:30 and 5:00 o'clock.

The famed skating teacher, who coached her two daughters Maribel and Laurance in the 1960 Olympics in Squaw Valley, is herself an ice star. At the Medford and Belmont rinks she will teach both beginners and intermediates.

Mrs. Owen, a native of Winchester, is the author of "The Fun of Figure Skating," revised edition, which was reviewed in the Star of December 8.

Badminton Season Resumes Jan. 3

Thursday, December 22 will bring to an end the first half of the local badminton season. Recognizing the general state of exhaustion which usually follows the holiday activities, the Winchester Badminton Club will suspend operations on Christmas week. No sessions will be held on December 27 and 29.

However, club president, Al Kajander announces that the second half of the badminton season will open at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 3rd, at the high school gymnasium.

So why not make a New Year's resolution to come down to as many of the regular Tuesday and Thursday nights sessions as you can? You'd look a long while to find a better way of combining sheer fun and healthful exercise, particularly at such a reasonable fee. Give it a try soon and remember, the first night's play is dues-free to newcomers.

Dwinell Harvard Scorer

Jim Dwinell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dwinell, Jr., scored one of the goals that enabled Harvard to snap Army's two-year winning streak of nine games last Saturday night at Smith Rink, West Point.

The Crimson won, 3-1, and Dwinell scored the final Harvard tally on a breakaway and pretty back-hand flip.

There was quite a Winchester tinge to the game with Dwinell playing for Harvard and big Jim Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cullen of Bacon Street, and Dave Harkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Harkins of Samoset Road, in the Army lineup. Dwinell and Harkins were forwards for their respective teams. Cullen played defense.

Completed Basic

Three Winchester boys, Owen Reardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reardon of Myrtle Street; Peter Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Cullen of Mystic Valley Parkway; and Roy Chute, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Chute of Horn Pond Brook Parkway, have completed eight weeks of basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., and are now getting advanced training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

The young soldiers will arrive in Winchester December 21 for 10 days leave during the holiday season.

Winchester Welcomes Bellino Home To New Honors This Week!

Improved Sachems Come from Behind

Winchester Tips Watertown, 3-2, For Middlesex Win

Winchester, continuing its improvement in position play, staged a third-period comeback to defeat a fast-skating Watertown sextet, 3-2, in a Middlesex League encounter at the Boston Garden last Saturday, December 17.

Goalie Bob Tierney backboned an outstanding team effort that enabled Winchester to register its first league win in the young season.

Defending champion Winchester had to come from behind twice to gain the upset win.

Penalties were sprinkled throughout the game with both the Sachems and the Townies each receiving five.

With two Winchester players in the penalty box, Watertown took an early lead as Kevin Pond knocked the puck to Joe Murray stationed about ten feet in front of the Winchester goal. Murray banged the rubber by Tierney at 1:33 of the period.

Winchester stormed back with Dick Tierney finishing off a Davenport to Callahan to Tierney passing combine. The score came at 2:38.

In the second period Watertown's Jack Callahan caught the Winchester defense up ice and drilled a pass to Kevin Pond who batted the puck into the far corner for a 2-1 lead. This held up for the remainder of the period.

It was not until the Sachems came out for the third period that they showed their usual hustle and drive. Paul Ryan, junior wing, playing as if he wanted to win, dominated the play in the corner and came out with the puck by sheer determination to tuck it by the Watertown goalie for the tieing score at 2:45.

This ignited the Sachems. Bill Callahan picked up the puck in the Winchester zone and skated through the spread Watertown defense for a breakaway score at 6:56.

Winchester continued to put pressure on Watertown for the remainder of the game and when the final bell clanged, the Sachems returned to the win column after successive ties with Melrose and Belmont.

The Sachems now are in a two-way tie with Belmont for second place with Wakefield leading the league by one point.

Winchester meets Reading at 7 p.m. Friday night at the Boston Garden. Reading, a team that didn't win a game last year, has improved tremendously. Latest to feel their improvement was strong Belmont which was held to a 1-1 tie last Saturday. The Sachems will have to be at their best to overcome this year's Reading sextet.

Bellino Easy Winner Of Heisman Trophy

The balloting system, as originated by the Heisman Memorial (Football) Trophy Committee of the Downtown Athletic Club in New York, requires that each elector, in order to validate his ballot, must vote for three players, his first choice counting three points; second, two; and third, one point.

The player receiving the greatest number of points as the result of the tabulation of votes of 934 registered, qualified electors from coast to coast is the winner. The Downtown Athletic Club, donor of the trophy, has no voice in selecting the winner.

Probably no player in all the history of the Heisman Trophy has won by such a decisive margin as Winchester's Joe Bellino. First of all he was the first choice of electors in all sections of the country, East, South, Midwest, Southwest, Far West. Jake Gibbs of Mississippi was the only player to get as many as two votes for second place.

Bellino polled the enormous total of 1793 individual votes, his nearest competitor, Tom Brown of Mississippi totalling 731. A breakdown of the vote for the first six players follows:

	No. of Votes			Total
	1st	2nd	3rd	Pts.
Bellino, Navy	436	196	93	1793

NAVY AT THE "MIKE." Midshipman Joe Bellino speaking at high school sports assembly Monday.

Joe Bellino Comes Home

Last Saturday evening, while many Winchester people were attending Yuletime parties, or doing Christmas shopping or busying themselves with the seasonal duties of the week end, a large group of enthusiastic townspeople gathered at Logan Airport to welcome home the youth who recently brought prominence to Winchester, Massachusetts . . . Navy's Joe Bellino.

Acclaimed by sports writers throughout the country as:

"the outstanding college football player of 1960,"

"the midshipman who has contributed the most to Navy's morale,"

"the boy who received the most points for the Heisman trophy this year and with the highest plurality for any year on record,"

"the leading candidate for the Swede Nelson award for good sportsmanship,"

"the only Navy man to score three touchdowns in one game against Army,"

"a good major league baseball prospect,"

"boy who in High School made All-State in three sports and was High School All-America football selection . . ."

Joe Bellino prepared quietly to "go home for Christmas."

It was a happy but exasperated group of interested "Joe and Ann" fans who waited out the obstacles surrounding Joe's home-coming. Originally, arrangements had been started for a big-town-wide public reception upon Joe's arrival. These, however, were by necessity cancelled because his flight time from Washington remained indefinite up until the last 24 hours. Then, plans for a large get-together at the airport were thwarted when Logan was closed down for six hours prior to Joe's scheduled flight! Many faithful friends, undaunted by the possibility that Flight 485 would not come into Logan at all, proceeded to East Boston to await news of the plane.

At the same time, Bellino, enroute on his delayed, non-stop flight from Washington to Boston, was forced down at Newark with the warning of a probable lay-over. Fortunately, conditions cleared and the flight continued, arriving at Logan Airport only an hour behind schedule. Boston photographers, reporters and many well-wishers greeted Bellino as he entered the airlines waiting room.

Led by an authorized, volunteer, off-duty state police escort, the cavalcade of cars proceeded to Winchester, making a pre-arranged stop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Volpe.

Governor-elect Volpe extended to Joe the welcome which Winchester so warmly wished him to have.

As so many have said, "We are not giving this attention to Joe Bellino merely because he has won the:

Heisman Award
Maxwell Award
Look's All-American
Associated Press All-American
United Press International All-American
1960 All-East Football Award, etc.

but because he is, as well, an exceptionally fine boy."

It has been human nature since the beginning of time to honor the one who excells in the physical skills . . . human nature that we cannot change today no matter how much the educators try to stress the superior importance of science, history, social studies, etc. It is fortunate in this case that our current "Sport's King" happens to combine many fine qualities along with his athletic prowess. Friends are glad for the Bellinos, not only because Joe has won fame in the sports world, but because he is also the clean cut American boy that he is. All parents know that youngsters emulate sports idols and Joe is the kind of boy who can truly be held up as a model for the young people . . . an earnest student, attentive family person, good citizen . . . a warm, friendly personality.

Winchester welcomes Joe, a very weary, all-around American college boy, home for Christmas!

C. Y. O. Undefeated

St. Mary's newly formed C.Y.O. hockey team romped over Sacred Heart of East Boston last Sunday with a score of 5-3. The team, under the expert coaching of Mr. John M. Falla has their record marred by only one tie.

The goal getters this week were as follows: James Moran and George Ross cashed in for two each. Dick Manzie got the other one this week. These goals were made possible by the wonderful support from the rest of team.

MISS PATRICIA STEVENS

Miss Stevens grew up in Medford, graduating from Medford high school. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Boston University with a major in English and she is now doing graduate work at B. U.

Miss Stevens makes her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevens, at 6 York Road. They have lived in Winchester for the past three years. She lists her hobbies as reading and sewing with a minor in bowling.

She used to roll candle pins, but is now a ten-pin enthusiast, finding it easier to knock down a lot of ten pins than candle pins.

Neville Named To State House Conference

George Neville in a recent election was chosen by the student body to represent Winchester High School at the annual observance of Student Government Day. These exercises will be held at the State House on Beacon Hill next April.

Neville and two other seniors, John Fenoglio and Guild Nichols, had previously been nominated for this honor by the members of the faculty staff. A four-year member of the Student Council, Neville is president of the Senior Class, and a member of the National Honor Society. He is also a three letter man in sports.

"WISH IT WERE MINE!" Governor-elect John Volpe admires Heisman Trophy at impromptu reception for Joe Bellino at the Volpe home on Everett Avenue last Saturday night. Saltmarsh, Jr., Governor-elect Volpe, Winchester High School's Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, Bellino's former football coach; Midshipman Joe Bellino, Robert Johnson, chairman of the Winchester Orange Bowl Committee.

Mr. Niblock got a laugh when he said jokingly that undoubtedly Bellino's great success was due to the good start he got while at Winchester High.

In introducing Henry Knowlton, director of athletics and veteran football coach, Mr. Niblock characterized him as a good coach and fine leader of youth.

Mr. Knowlton, in his remarks, lauded the Winchester school system and its administration and told of the fine equipment and facilities available for boys and girls in the field of physical education and athletics here. He wished, he said, that the facilities could be larger so that more pupils could be accommodated, but he expressed himself as very pleased at the numbers now availing themselves of the opportunities presented.

He then introduced the captains for next year, Mike Bellino, football; Dean Anderson and John Scherban, cross country; Carol Lawson and Jane Hess, field hockey; and Linda Vallee, captain; and Jane Hood, assistant captain, tumblettes.

In introducing Joe Bellino, Coach Knowlton said he first saw him playing fifth grade basketball in the elementary school program and was surprised to discover at the end of the season he had been competing with fifth graders as a fourth grader.

Coach Knowlton got a laugh when he said he had four Bellinos in his athletic program and had always felt that as long as he had a Bellino on his team his career as a coach was safe.

Midshipman Bellino was given a thunderous ovation when he arose to speak. He said he had gotten his start toward college and athletics in the Winchester schools and that he would always be indebted to his teachers and his coaches for what he had learned from them.

He told his youthful audience that football and school work are much alike in that hard work is essential for success in each.

Football players he said work hard all week and get their marks, either success or failure, in the Saturday games. Students work hard through the year and get their grades on their examinations. He urged the boys and girls to set immediate goals, not goals ten years hence; to plan to do well in Monday's examination, not to wait to make a better grade at the end of the year.

Football teams, he said, start with easy games, just as students start with fundamentals, and just as football teams can not ignore the easy games as preparation for the harder ones to come, so students can not afford to ignore fundamentals. Students should, he said, work hard at the books, and at all times feel obligated to do their best. School years will be good and bad, but, he said, you will always remember the good.

Throughout his address Midshipman Bellino remained the same modest, straight-forward, sincere young man Winchester has known from his boyhood days. His attitude was humble, rather than cocky, and his poise and demeanor after the honors heaped upon him, remarkable.

He was followed by Commander Ralph Colson, who was introduced by Principal Niblock. Commander Colson, who is Athletic Director for the First Naval District, and Director of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreation of the State Department of Education, presented Bellino with a four-color pen from the Admiral of the First Naval District. The red in the pen, Commander Colson stated, is for errors, and the blue is for corrections. The green, he said, is for the Irish in Joe, and no one heard what the final color is for because of the laughter and applause.

Fred Foye, schoolboy sports writer for the Boston Traveler and local area Chapter head of the Newspaper Enterprise Association of editors and sportswriters nation-wide, was next introduced by Principal Niblock. He presented Bellino with a framed certificate naming him "Everyone's All American" by the Newspaper Enterprise Association and a handsome wrist watch, the Association's gift.

Bellino accepted these further honors and gifts in the same modest manner which characterized him throughout the entire assembly.

Mr. Niblock announced in closing the assembly that Joe would remain in school through the morning and would doubtless visit some of the classes. The eager sigh that arose could mean only that the pupils in the various rooms were hoping!

Again we have the Solo-Play games. Fifty different ways to play solitaire. Star Office.

Winchester Loses Second, 63-58

Sachems Surge Falls Short At Arlington

Another last minute Sachem surge was stopped by the clock as Arlington High slapped Winchester with its second straight defeat of the season, 63-58, last Friday night at Arlington.

Those who braved the snow and sleet to journey to neighboring Arlington, saw the Sachem hoopsters put on a gallant attempt to come from behind late in the fourth quarter.

Trailing throughout the game they had waged an uphill battle for the better part of four periods, and with less than four minutes remaining, Arlington led 58-45.

With Arlington right forward, Ross Morrison, fouling out of the game, Winchester took things under control, scoring the next nine consecutive points.

Left guard George Neville started the wheels rolling by connecting on a 15-foot corner jump shot, followed by a foul pitch by Junior forward Bob Donlon, and two free throws by right guard Jack Brenner.

Another duo of foul shots by fighting teammate Donlon, with Brenner's long two-handed jumper from outside, brought the score to 58-54, with less than two minutes of playing time left. However, Arlington's determined captain, Leo Scully, driving in under the basket, scored on a neat underhand lay-up, that was soon followed by two more points on foul shots by Ed Driscoll.

With less than 45 seconds remaining, the fired Sachem squad climbed to within two baskets on a Neville jump shot and a 15-foot swisher by forward Bob Donlon.

As in the Woburn game, however, father time intervened before Coach Phillips' Sachems could gather arms for a final strike.

At the end of the first period Winchester led 13-12. At the half Arlington was in the lead 26-23 and at the end of the third quarter Arlington still maintained a seven-point edge, 43-36.

Juniors for Winchester, Bob Donlon, Mike Bellino and Dick Bond, who did a good job under the boards, all did very well in support of the six seniors who make up the team. As of now, the Sachems have not elected a captain, due to the fact that no lettermen were returning from last year, and it will be another week before this news is published.

Scoring honors were mostly accredited to Leo Scully, left guard for Arlington, who duplicated his last year's record against Winchester by scoring 32 record points.

Ace Sachem guard George Neville, did a fine job in sparking the Sachems with 22 points.

Johnny Lane, right forward for the Junior varsity, hit the scoring column with 15 big points as the Sachem Jayvees trounced Arlington's Junior Varsity 70-52. Doing a good job under the boards was sophomore center, 6ft. 3in Len Timpone.

Winchester Garden Club

The Christmas meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, December 15, at the home of Mrs. Charles Vanner, 10 Oxford Street. Mrs. Vanner's home was beautifully decorated with all kinds of Christmas wreaths and holly. A large basket filled with presents provided by the members to be sent to the children in the Children's Hospital added to the Christmas atmosphere.

Mrs. Vanner and her co-hostess, Mrs. Willard S. Hudson, served a delicious dessert. The pourers were Mrs. Percy Bugbee and Mrs. Rowland Patrick.

After the business meeting, the president, Mrs. Chandler Symmes, introduced the program chairman, Mrs. W. Campbell Ross. Mrs. Ross announced that the entertainment for the afternoon would be provided by the members themselves.

Sixteen of those present thereupon displayed, against a most professional backdrop, Christmas arrangements that they had made and explained some of the mechanics of construction. We were all impressed by the variety and skill shown in the many different kinds of wreaths, cone flowers, Christmas trees, fruit arrangements and Santa Clauses.

Mrs. William Gilpatric set the stage for the occasion by reading a most amusing article on the "Mistakes of Christmas" and Mrs. Dwight Cart brought the meeting to an appropriate close by a short talk on the Christmas spirit.

From "Science and Health with Key to the scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (95:23): 'Led by a solitary star amid the darkness, the Magi of old foretold the messiahship of Truth. Is the wise man of today believed, when he beholds the light which heralds Christ's eternal dawn and describes its effulgence?"

Parents and members of Delta Kappa Gamma enjoyed the program.

Remember When?

This week's picture in the "Remember When" series is of the former Mystic School on Bacon Street near Winslow Road which was remodeled some years ago by Alfred D. Elliott and is now a private dwelling.

From the earliest days of the school system in Winchester there has been a Mystic School. The original structure was located "at Symmes Corner," and in it in 1855 the Unitarian Sunday School held its first meetings. There was also preaching in the school by Unitarian clergymen before the building of a Unitarian Church here.

As the town grew more room was necessary at Mystic and a new and larger school was built. This building was moved down Bacon Street to the site near Winslow Road where its successor, the school shown in today's "Remember When" series was built in 1900. This school continued to serve the district until the present Mystic School was built, at the corner of Main Street and Madison Avenue, as part of an ambitious five-school building program engaged in by the town during the early twenties.

When the little old Mystic School was abandoned as a school it was used for several years by the School Department for storage. It was last used as a headquarters for an adult education program of sorts before it was acquired by Mr. Elliott and remodeled. In the interim an attempt or two to use the building as a social headquarters for town organizations was defeated at Town Meeting.

The Mystic School on Bacon Street first housed three grades, first, second and third, all in one room. At least this was true in the editor's time, the boundary line between the Mystic and Gifford Schools being the middle of Mystic Avenue and along up Prospect Street. If you chanced to live north of that line you went to the Gifford School with the "tough kids" from the center, who turned out to be good fellows, if a trifle quick with their fists. Incidentally if you were sent to the Gifford School you went! There were no hearings, public protests or anything!

During the editor's days at the Mystic he broke a pane of glass in one of the large windows shown at the side of the building during an impromptu ball game in the school yard, and the teacher, Miss Lowry, could do nothing about it because she was in the game too! She regularly joined in the baseball activity, and if you had her on your side, you had a real good player!

The ball that did the damage was made of felt and was brought to school by "Newk" Bacon, who got one of the hands to make it for him at his father's felt mill in what was then Mystic Place. It cost, we remember, 10c to have the window pane replaced by the then custodian of schools, the late Nathaniel M. Nichols, later for many years Collector of Taxes.

As we remember it the batted ball that broke the glass was a foul ball, and the pitcher was "Ward" Goddu, later to become one of Winchester High School's greatest pitchers. Even as a kid in short "britches" all anyone could hit off his delivery were fouls!

Guild of The Infant Saviour

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Guild of the Infant Saviour will be held on Tuesday, December 27, at 1 p.m. at K. of C. Hall.

One of the most important activities of this charitable organization is the making of infant garments for the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston, and it is hoped that during the coming year this work will be even more enthusiastically pursued than ever before.

Following a short business meeting, at which the president, Mrs. Albert T. McDougall will preside, a tea and social will be enjoyed.

Come, meet your friends, sew and socialize.

St. Mary's Mr. & Mrs. Club

The December meeting of St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club was held in St. Mary's Hall on December 7. A mock trial was presented by the office of Middlesex County District Attorney John J. Droney. It was a trial taken from a case actually tried in Middlesex County Superior Court with correct court procedure being followed.

Those from District Attorney Droney's office taking part were:

Judge—Richard Kelly
Prosecuting Attorney — Frank McNamara
Defense Attorney— Leo Garvey

Members of the club taking part in the trial were:

Louise Kelley
Louise Kelley, Leo Roche, Eric Johnson, John Bulger, Tom Kennedy, Paul Whitney

It was a very interesting evening enjoyed by all who attended and brought to light the hidden acting ability of several members of the club. Punch and coffee were served at the conclusion of the trial.

Christmas Candlelight Service

Tonight at 7:30 the Second Congregational Church is presenting a special program of Christmas music and a film of the Holy Land entitled "I Walked Where Jesus Walked."

There will be music by the Pilgrim Fellowship Youth Choir, a solo by Miss Jean MacLellan and a cello solo by Mr. George Bragdon.

There will be singing of Christmas carols by the congregation with Mrs. Dwight Moore at the organ.

S. O. I. Bowling

Boston College has ridden the victory bus since the initial match of the Sons of Italy Bowling League but could not get by the thirteenth match, which marked the end of the first half of the schedule.

In the "unlucky thirteenth," a strong Harvard team led by Hokie Procopio took three points against the leaders, while second-place Yale, captained by Moose Bellino, took four points in meeting Alabama. These were enough for Yale to tie B. C. in points; and since it has more pinfalls, Yale takes over first place from B. C.

Boston College will be out to redeem itself in the second half and in the playoffs in March, when the first three teams in each half roll off for the championship.

The Yale team is comprised of Captain Moose Bellino, Art Dunbar, Mike Colucci, John Dattilo, Frank Di Mambro and Joe Paonessa. Captain Joe Berardi of B. C. has such stalwarts of Joe DiIorio, Carl Bertolucci, Roundy Fiore, Frank Provinzano, and Vin Puma.

Previous week's third-place Navy, with Captain Choppers Gangi, Paul Lentine, Rudy Fiore, Frank Frongillo, Frank Gangi and Mario Lentine, although tied for third on points, was nosed out by Army on pinfalls. Third-place Army consists of Captain Andy Buzzotta, Pete Lonigro, Dan Mistretta, Richie Giacalone, Rudy Fiore and Jim Faietta.

The cry at the end of the matches was "Wait until the second half.". So there should be plenty of excitement.

The winner of last week's attendance prize was Mario Lentine.

We of the Sons of Italy Bowling League wish you Star readers a very merry Christmas and a most happy New Year.

Winchester 2, Stoneham 2

Although the Winchester 9th grade hockey team outplayed their Stoneham counterparts for two full periods, Stoneham managed to sink the puck into the Sachem net in the last second of play to tie the score at two all.

Practically the entire first period was played in the Stoneham zone with Winchester bombarding the very capable Stoneham goalie with a multitude of shots, which he succeeded in turning aside. In the second period, the play surged back and forth with the local boys in control of the puck most of the time.

The first score of the game came when Ed Cutting fired into the opponent's cage on a pass from Lawson. Barry Johnson made it 2-0 on an assist from Bob Murray. It looked like a shut-out for Winchester until Stoneham racked up a tally after a long scrimmage in front of the Red and Black net in the third period.

The boys in blue then put on a final drive that resulted in a tying score practically as the buzzer was sounding the end of the game.

The first line, consisting of Bob Murray, Bevan O'Callaghan, and Barry Johnson looked sharp throughout the fray. The second line is shaping up, but still needs better coordination before it can give the first string enough relief to be really helpful.

Winchester plays next against Malden at Harvard on Friday, December 23, at 6:30 p.m. This is followed by a game with Wellesley at Harvard on Wednesday, December 28, at 1:00 p.m.

Youth

Youth can assist in youth programs, the educator explained, "by collecting facts, collating data relative to the interests and activities of young people, and by helping to plan and manage their own programs."

YOUTH'S COMPLAINT

Youth opinion polls, Dr. Kvaraceus writes, "have confirmed the rueful, if not bitter complaint of youth that adults generally underestimate their maturity and capacity for assuming adult-like responsibility."

Participation on youth advisory councils, in the actual management and planning of youth programs, Dr. Kvaraceus believes, "could constitute an apprenticeship in citizenship."

"How local and state agency workers react to this suggestion (for increased youth participation in youth programs," Dr. Kvaraceus adds, "will in itself provide a measure of the official adult community's belief and trust in youth," and will serve to show how sincere adults are when they speak of young people as "our most valuable resources."

In any case, the B. U. educator says, "to continue to ignore youth or to keep them in a state of semi-dependence or passivity, is to run the serious risk of social, civic, and psychic isolation of the young from the adult community."

HITS SLOGANS

In his paper, Dr. Kvaraceus hits hard at what he considers time-worn slogans, cure-alls, and palliatives in dealing with the "youth problem." Adult leaders of youth programs, the professor writes, "must operate on the basis of facts and verified data, not on subjective opinion, hearsay, casual observation or prejudice."

Our understanding of this complex question, Dr. Kvaraceus adds, must be based on continuing research, appraisal and reevaluation of needs and statistics. The professor laments the fact that the last state-wide survey of the youth problem was made by the commonwealth in 1940, twenty years ago!

To understand the situation it is necessary to get the facts on youth in school, youth who drop out of school, working part time or full time, or unemployed. We must pay special attention, he warns, to the 40 out of every 100 17-year-olds who do not graduate from secondary schools.

COORDINATION

In his paper Dr. Kvaraceus also calls for greater coordination among the various autonomous agencies that deal directly with the youth problem. He cites the state's growing emphasis on prevention of juvenile delinquency as "its primary and major responsibility."

This emphasis, he believes, is evident in "the legislative mandate to the Division of Youth Service," and in the state-supported establishment of the adjustment counsellor in the elementary schools.

"Governmental agencies, local and state, too long have been exclusively concerned with consequences," he adds. "They need to focus their attention on the antecedents—on those family neighborhood, and community forces that tend to weaken and disorganize personal and family living or that tend to bring about the social, emotional, economic, and moral problems of the young."

Dr. Kvaraceus' article, "The State's Responsibility for Its Youth," appeared in "State Government and Public Responsibility 1960, Papers of the 1960 Tufts Assembly on Massachusetts Government," edited by Robert R. Robbins and published by the Tufts Civic Education Center.

Helps Set Safe Flying Record

Captain David B. Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Coon, 14 Norwood Street, was a crew member on the KC-135 which set a safe-flying record at Offutt A.F.B., Nebraska, on December 4.

A member of the 34th Air Refueling Squadron, a unit of the 4321st Strategic Wing, Capt. Coon was the pilot on the jet refueler which marked a year of safe flying for the organization.

Prior to his Air Force enlistment in August of 1953, Capt. Coon attended Whitman College in Walla Walla, Washington, where he majored in Economics.

Presently he is residing on Offutt AFB with his wife, the former Jeannine Thiffault of Three Rivers, Canada.

The 34th is the first organization in the Strategic Air Command to have the SAC Airborne Command Post in operational use. In the fifteen months that the 4321st has been activated at Offutt, its members have transferred over 11.5 gallons of fuel.

Reduction In Gas Rates

The Mystic Valley Gas Company announces reduction in its rates which will save its customers an estimated $160,000 annually.

Vice president and manager Everett C. Bryant states that this reduction, effective December 15, is due to new lower rates made available to the Gas Company by its wholesale supplier, Tennessee Gas Transmission Company.

This reduction is the outcome of a partial decision by the Federal Power Commission in the latest of the Tennessee Company's series of rate adjustment cases.

The local gas company combined with other New England gas companies is actively participating in these rate cases and it is hoped that there will be further reductions by the time the case is completed.

SURVEYING SOME APPEALS FOR HELP with Lt. Melvin Bridge, Hyde Park Corps officer, is Mrs. Edward G. Huber, first vice-chairman of The Salvation Army's Greater Boston advisory board. During the Christmas season, according to Lt. Bridge, many letters requesting assistance are received daily at each neighborhood center. Each appeal is evaluated. Each need is considered.

Mystic Glee Club

The Mystic Glee Club, under the able direction of Wendell Withington, gave its annual Winter Concert last Saturday evening in the auditorium of the Winchester Junior High School.

Received by an appreciative and enthusiastic audience, the club members sang throughout the evening with their usual effectiveness and warmth. Giving careful attention to proper attacks, releases, good tonal balance and delicate shadings, the glee club, despite their diminishing numbers, continued to deliver the same kind of quality performance which, time after time, has made them a joy to hear.

The program was augmented by the "Hi-Tones," a group of twelve attractive and competent high school girls, also directed by Mr. Withington. Their voices were well blended. They showed flexible range.

The first group of part one of the concert was opened with Beautiful Savior, an arrangement of a Silesian folk tune with a melody familiar to most of us as "Little Lord Jesus." This was followed by Christmas Hymn, the echo carol, requiring tight control of abrupt volume change and Carol of the Bells demanding singing with precision. Both were accomplished with skill. Holst's arrangement of Christina Rossetti's nativity poem In the Bleak Mid-Winter and Handel's Hallelujah Amen from Judas Maccabaeus completed the group.

According to remarks by Mr. Withington, the Glee Club had decided to place their "heavier" music nearer the middle of the program. The last section of the first part included Great and Glorious by Haydn, Leisring's O Fillii et Filiae an especially difficult number very well done; an old "chestnut," Go Tell It on the Mountain with Carl Alizio as soloist, and the lively portrayal of The Sleigh by Tchervanow-Kountz.

In part two of the conert the Glee Club gave its first group to Christmas carols, beginning with another "echo" carol Rise Up Early. Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming, most enjoyed when sung by a men's group, was especially nice to hear. Gesu Bambino brought the spirit of Christmas into full swing. How Far is it to Bethlehem featured the clear tones of the tenor section while See That Babe in the Lowly Manger emphasized the good full quality of the second basses.

The Glee Club concluded its program with a collection of popular Christmas music in lighter vein: Silver Bells, Let is Snow, White Christmas and The Christmas Song. The audience reacted with feeling to the final selection, Silent Night, sung with sincerity and beauty.

Singing in the High School group were Susan Gray, Laurel Ingraham, Carole Lawson, Margaret Padelford, Leslie Sanger, Patricia Sexton, Libby Symmes, Sally Leighton, Connie Littleton, Martha Maloney and Debby Nichols. Joan Denton was accompanist.

As guest artists for the Glee Club they performed creditably. Their selection of numbers in part one included three by Rodgers: Maria, the more somber Preludium, and Climb Every Mountain, as well as one from My Fair Lady, Get Me to the Church on Time.

In part two their selections were, except for one, carols. Hear the Sledges with the Bells, was sung with excellent control. This was followed by I Wonder as I Wander, Fum, Fum Fum, an unusual Spanish carol, then the audience's favorite, the melodious, lilting song It's Begnning to Look a Lot Like Christmas.

The girls' performance bore out Mr. Withington's comment that these young people take their singing seriously and attend rehearsals faithfully. They sang with obvious enjoyment and sparkle.

Some of the audience left the hall with mixed feelings. One could hardly criticize a performance so well executed, yet there was disappointment in the air over the shrinking membership in the club. Musically, this became evident when the men sang Haydn's Great and Glorious, the type of music needing quantity of numbers in addition to the quality which was there.

From what one hears there are too many increasing social and family demands in the community to allow for the organization of a club with a membership as large as it was, say, ten years ago. But some like to think it will once again attain that peak.

Singing in the concert were Carl Alizio, Adin Bailey, Herbert Bixler, Ragnar Brandt, Kenneth Bugden, Ralph Curtis, Richard Curtis, John Fitzpatrick, Richard Grozier, Victor Guilbault, John Harrison, Frederick Hicks, Jr., Dr. J. Churchill Hindes, William Mallion, Austin Nanry, Edmund Povey, George Reid, Stanton Smith, Paul Vatter, Fritz Walkling, Philip Wallwork, Carl Wood and James Wright.

Accompanist was Robert Dargie, organist and choir director of the First Congregational Church of Malden.

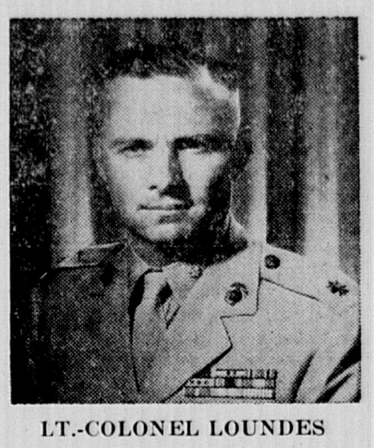
Appeals For "Toys for Tots"

Lt.-Colonel Loundes, commanding officer of the U. S. Marine Corps in this area, made a last minute appeal for support for the "Toys for Tots" campaign. This toy collection drive, which is co-sponsored by the U. S. Marine Corpe Reserve, The Salvation Army Men's Center, and the Shell Oil Company, was to have ended today, but has been extended for an additional two days.

"Toys For Tots,"—a campaign to collect new and good used toys for distribution to needy children at Christmas,—has been slowed considerably during the past week. Upon questioning, Lt.-Colonel Loundes made the following statement:



LT.-COLONEL LOUNDES

"The general public has been very kind in supporting the collection of new and good used toys through "Toys For Tots." However, the disastrous early-season snowstorm suspended all our collections and pick-ups, as well as making it impossible for the general public to drive to the Shell service stations to leave their contributions.

The picture of a Merry Christmas is very black for many unfortunate children. We have received many appeals on their behalf, and the three sponsoring agencies, The Salvation Army Men's Center, the Shell Oil Company, and the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, hope to be able to restore "faith-in-goodness" in the hearts of forgotten children.

We plead with the general publis to participate in "Toys For Tots" by bringing new or good used toys to the nearest Shell service station. The U. S. Marine Corps Reserve or The Salvation Army will pick up the toys and distribute them to those children who would otherwise have no joy at Christmas."

"Messiah Sing" At the Museum Last Friday

Members of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Chorus Pro Musica choral group gathered Friday night, December 16, in the Museum's lovely Tapestry Hall for a spontaneous reading of Handel's "Messiah." Conducted by Alfred Nash Patterson, founder and director of the Chorus Pro Musica, the chorus, assisted by orchestra, soloists and members of the audience, gave an unrehearsed concert of this traditional and most famous Christmas oratorio.

The hostesses for this museum event were Mrs. Leo M. Pisterino of Winchester and Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett of Wayland, members of the ladies' committee.

This is the second consecutive year the world-famous Boston museum and the Chorus Pro Musica, one of Boston's foremost choral groups, joined to take part in this unique musical experience.

What's Happening to Christmas?

As one thumbs through the magazine ads or the volumes containing suggestions for personalized Christmas cards, one is impressed with the extent to which Christmas has become commercialized in this country. Millions of dollars have been spent in the doing, until to a great extent our Christ has been taken out of Christmas, and supplanted, as someone has said, by that red-nosed, pot-bellied, benevolent old kobold who lies dormant up near the North Pole, except for this one night when, with his reindeer and bulging bundles, he visits all good boys and girls. Even he is preferable, we feel, to some of the fantastic, bizarre, outlandish cards now offered in great variety, and which lead one to meditate upon the kind of people who could possibly choose them to represent them at the Christmas season. Then, again, the Christmas spirit is largely lost in the mad rush to "keep up with the Joneses" and send last-minute left-over acknowledgements of cards arriving from unexpected sources. If only those gifts were sent that constitute voluntary expressions of love and friendship, and such cards as are necessary to remember friends we truly love to remember, by how much would the frenzied line-ups in our post offices be reduced, as well as that all-too-general feeling of thankfulness when Christmas is at last over.

There is nothing mysterious about politics. It is the art of associating with human beings. It is the task of reconciling conflicting interests, harmonizing hostile factions, educating the suspicious and the ignorant, stimulating the indifferent and the selfish, promoting the common welfare, and inculcating in our citizens a greater respect for law and a greater sense of individual obligation to the community.

Quandary

Those lovely, gloomy Christmas cards that cost a buck apiece,
Those clipper ships, cathedral fanes,
and ever-flying geese,
All deckle-edged and different, yet
all so much the same,
Each one a little work of art, and worthy of a frame!
Knowing what they cost in cash
I cannot toss them in the trash,
But if I hung them on the wall
I'd really have to hire a hall.
What, then, am I to do with them.
Now that I am through with them?
Give me next year a Woolworth greeting,
So cheap, so cheery- and so fleeting!

Pet Peeve
(Weather Forecast)

When we listen to the average weather forecast, we entertain a certain sympathy for the little girl who went to the library and asked for a book on penguins. A day or two later she returned the book with the comment, "This book tells me more about penguins than I wish to know."

It is of surprisingly little interest to us whether clouds are moving hither or yon, whether a mass of cold air is moving down from Canada, or a mass of warm air moving up from the Cape! And we wonder if it is to anyone, outside of a meteorologist? All WE need to know is: "What's it going to be tomorrow, fair or stormy?"

But of course we understand—the poor man must earn his salary.

Tidbits

Middle age is when you look forward to a dull evening.

Be kind to your friends. If it weren't for them, you'd be a total stranger.

One way to get your wife home from an out-of-town vacation is to send her a copy of the local paper with one item clipped out!

Some of the department store Santa Clauses look as if they didn't even believe in themselves.

What a Season!

With Christmas trees and colored lights,
With books and belts and sleepless nights,
Golf balls, baseballs, footballs, socks,
Phone calls, jigsaw puzzles, clocks,
Cards and cord and candy carrots,
Gloves, pajamas, pasteboard parrots,
Drums and dice and lollypops,
Tinsel, toys, and traffic cops,
Lost umbrellas, spats and skates,
Mislaid kids and scarfs and slates,
Earrings, quoits, upholstered cats,
Writing paper, baseball bats,
Locomotives, carving knives,
Husbands looking 'round for wives,
Necklaces, revolving doors,
Slippers, perfume, humidors,
Ash-trays, arguments, guitars,
Kitchen sets and kiddie cars,
Mince pie, mustache cups, and bells,
Bracelets, boats, and bagatelles,
Safety razors, story books,
Holly wreaths, and dirty looks,
Hobby horses, elevators,
Taxicabs, and escalators,

Pack 503 Christmas Party

In spite of the near zero temperature and storm, Pack 503 gathered at Chidley Hall for a meeting and Christmas party on Tuesday, December 13. The Cubs sang Christmas carols under the direction of Mr. George Dillon, program chairman. This was followed by a most entertaining skit by Den 7 entitled "It's A Gift." Refreshments were served.

Awards were made to the winners in the Christmas wrapping paper drive. Jay Broadhurst, first prize winner, sold 100 rolls. Second prize went to Earl Spencer who sold 76 rolls. Ricky Hillger was third prize winner with a total sale of 60 rolls. Mr. Dennis Smith, chairman of paper drive, congratulated the Cubs for the highly successful drive and spoke of the many events to take place in the future as a result of the sale.

Winners in attendance were boys of Den 7.

Dr. Kaufman thanked the Cubs for their generous contribution of canned goods and explained that they would be used to help the needy families of Winchester for Christmas, by the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

Awards were given to the following:

Bear Badges—Paul Martini and Peter Rozett

Gold Arrow on Bear—Peter Rozett

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association.)

Does cholesterol, that fat-like substance under intensive investigation as the possible cause of artery degeneration leading to heart attacks, really deserve its eminence as Cardiovascular Public Enemy Number One?

Perhaps—and perhaps not. Several other factors, notably diet, obesity, heredity, stress, exercise, hormones and high blood pressure are equally deserving of searching medical investigation, cardiologists believe.

All are under study in American and Massachusetts Heart Association programs designed to learn their possible relationship to atherosclerosis, an artery condition setting the stage for heart attacks and strokes.

In athersclerosis the passageway through the arteries is roughened and narrowed by the deposit of fat-like substances, one of which is cholesterol. When this condition strikes the coronary arteries, there is a risk of heart attack due to closure of an artery as a result of its clogging by a blood clot. It has not yet been finally demonstrated that the fat an individual eats is directly related to these fatty substances that may clog the arteries.

Researchers must also take these factors into account:

DIET — Some doctors believe many dietary nutrients may play a role in development of—or protection against—atherosclerosis. The problem is proving an extremely complex one.

OBESITY — Overweight is a known health hazard, adding to the heart's work. Persons with heart disease should not carry extra pounds.

HEREDITY—Many think atherosclerosis may run in families and that one inherits a resistance—or lack of it—to the disease. This is one of the most complicated of all research problems in the cardiovascular field.

STRESS—Difficult to define or measure, its role has yet to be satisfactorily evaluated. There is much controversy about this.

EXERCISE—There is a rather general belief that steady physical labor or exercise over a lifetime tends to protect the heart from atherosclerosis. Conversely, the lack of it appears to work against your heart's health.

SEX HORMONES — Women in their childbearing years are less susceptible to heart attacks and strokes than men. During this period, sex hormones may protect women from atherosclerosis. Researchers are seeking some fraction of the female hormones or similar chemical agent that can protect men against atherosclerosis without having a feminizing effect.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE— There may be a relationship There may be a relationship between high blood pressure and artery degeneration but its nature is not certain and even the basic cause of high blood pressure remains unknown.

If these factors seem to pose more questions than answers, it shows with striking clarity the necessity for even more intensive programs of research to isolate the root cause of one of our greatest cardiovascular killers. Medical science today can treat heart trouble more successfully than ever before —but the big breakthrough will come when, with causes established, prevention can be achieved.

Senior Forum

The Senior Forum will go on its Christmas Eve carolling tour Saturday, December 24, leaving the church yard at 7:00 p.m. to stop at the home of sick and shut-in members of the parish. Following the carolling refreshments will be served in Chidley Fireside with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hill, superintendents of Forum, as hosts.

The Forum Choir will provide music for the Christmas Eve service in the church at 11:00 p.m. Mr. Robert A. White directs the choir in rehearsal. Carol Kingston is choir chairman.

The annual Mistletoe Dance will be held on Wednesday, December 28, in Chidley Hall, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Music will be by the "Mel-Tones." Miss Dianne Watson, social chairman, is guiding preparations for this semi-formal occasion.

Holiday decorations will provide a special atmosphere and an intermission show will add to the evening's pleasure. The dance is open to the high school age group of the community.

Because of the holidays, Forum members will attend the regular services of the church at either 9:15 or 11:00 a.m. the next two Sundays. Services in Ripley Chapel will be resumed on January 8.

Duplicate Bridge Club

The Winchester Duplicate Bridge Club conducted its December 14th game as one large 14 table section, using a Mitchell movement which resulted in an average score of 72. The team of Wood and Olmsted led both fields with a 66% score (2/3 of the way toward the theoretical perfection of getting the top score on every board played).

Wood and Olmsted have always been known for their daring style of play which would often produce wide swings one way or the other. By regular play, this partnership has developed considerable momentum and now shows consistently high results. The latter is far from easy to achieve, however, as can be seen by comparing the results of the past two weeks. Of the seven top pairs in the Club Championship held on December 7th, five also competed as teams in the game this week. The results? None of them were in the money and only one out of the five even reached an average game!

The final game of the calendar year will be held on Wednesday, December 28th, at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Partners will be provided for all who arrive before 7:30 p.m. This procedure has worked out very well so far, and two of these "blind date" partnerships won points in this week's game.

We are delighted to have one of the real veterans of bridge wars as our guest editor this week in the person of Carl Sittinger, who has selected board number one as his text.

The hand chosen for this week's comments is unique in three respects. First, both the North-South and the East-West pairs have a fit with game prospects in a major suit, having combined values of 25 or 26 points; second, with proper defense neither side can make game; and third, the final bid, or the combined results of bid and play differed at every table. It further illustrates the effect of unusual distribution on potentially good hands.

Here is the deal, neither side vulnerable:

North (Dealer)
♠ 6
♥ A Q 9
♦ A 10 9 8 6
♣ A 10 6 4

West	East
♠ A Q J 9	♠ K 7 5 4
♥ 4 2	♥ 10 7 6 5
♦ K Q 5 4 3 2	♦ none
♣ 3	♣ J 9 8 7 5

South
♠ 10 8 3 2
♥ K J 8 3
♦ J 7
♣ K Q 2

The final contract apparently was determined by which suit the Dealer (North) elected to open. At several tables North opened one club, hoping later to show his strength by a reverse bid of diamonds. After East's pass, South responds with one heart, followed by an overcall of two or three diamonds by West. At two tables North promptly doubled for business, left in by one West, down three; while at the other table East rescued in spades which his partner raised to game, down three doubled. At the third table, a three-diamond bid by West, not doubled also was set for three tricks.

On the other hand, when North opened with his longer diamond suit, South again bid one heart after East's pass. Whether or not West overcalled at this point with one spade, the North hands either rebid diamonds or jumped to three hearts. At one table, the diamond rebid was left in and made, in spite of West's holding of six trumps. At another table, South was content to let the contract remain at three hearts and made it. The hand was also bid to game three times, made once because of poor defense and down one or two at the other tables, your writer being the victim in the latter case due to his failure to pull an initial round of trumps for safety. One South gambled on three no trumps, off one.

The Olympics of this hand should be three hearts with no rebid by South, which can be made by drawing one insurance round of trumps to prevent more than three adverse ruffs and still maintain trump control. From a distribution standpoint, South's Waterloo is the blank diamonds in the East hand and West's singleton club, while West is handicapped by stacked diamonds and trumps.

Wellesley Seeks Better Control Of Teen-Age Driving

Over in Wellesley the recent tragedy involving teen age motorists has aroused the town to an extent that a Committee For Action On Licensing Laws has been organized, the members of which are pledging themselves to see that bills filed with the General Court seeking more rigid control of teen age driving do not die in committee because of public apathy.

A mass meeting has been called for January 11 at which parents and others can state their views on the matter of teen age driving, and Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement Riley will be present to hear at first hand how Wellesley feels about the matter.

Meanwhile the high school PTSA has been studying traffic conditions at Gamaliel Bradford Senior High School and has asked parents of high schoolers to discourage all non-essential driving to school by students. It has also established a restricted area at the school for school buses, and also designated at what point students may be picked up at the close of school.

Women's Republican Club

The members of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester always anticipate with eagerness the Christmas party at Mrs. Greer's house. This year, in spite of difficult driving conditions, a well-attended meeting was held at Mrs. Greer's lovely home on Wednesday, December 14 to hear Mrs. Dwight L. Cart speak on the subject "Incredible Christmas."

Mrs. Blackham, the president, greeted the members and thanked them for their cooperation and hard work at the time of the election. She announced that the Club secretary, Mrs. Nelson M. Bell, had resigned, as she expected to move away from Winchester, and that her place would be filled by Mrs. H. T. Gerould. Mrs. Blackham also gave a special greeting to the new members present.

Omitting the business meeting, Mrs. Blackham then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Blaisdell, the chairman of the program committee, who introduced in a most appreciative way Mrs. Dwight L. Cart, one of the Club members of whom the Club is especially proud. Mrs. Cart spoke of the spiritual meaning of Christmas, its universality, its happiness, its poignant memories, its message of hope and peace. It was an inspiring talk, a significant expression of the Christmas season.

After Mrs. Cart concluded, carols were sung, with Mrs. Winship at the piano, and with Mrs. Wright leading the singing.

A festive tea followed the program, with tea, coffee, fruit cake and cup cakes served from a beautifully decorated table. The pourers were Mrs. Albert M. Thompson and Mrs. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr.

No '61 Plate? Prepare to Get Off the Road

New Year's Eve at midnight, the exact instant at which 1960 becomes 1961, is the deadline for putting new green and white 1961 plates on the family bus. If you don't register by that time you're all through as far as driving is concerned.

A temporary Registry branch office is located at the Woburn Armory on Main Street.

Avoid last-minute delays. When you finish reading your Star take a buzz over to Woburn and sign on for another year of driving.

Motor Vehicles Registry headquarters are at 100 Nashua Street, Boston. The Registry estimates that over 1,800,000 registrations will be processed this year.

VFW Fete 250 At Yule Party

The annual Christmas party for children of members of Aberjona Post 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars was held Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Noonan School with over 250 children in attendance.

Entertainment was performed by Fred Kriss, a magician, who also presented a Punch and Judy show. Gary Martinello, "The Balloon Man" proved very popular with the children, with a balloon act in which many children were the recipients of his animations with balloons. "Bennie" Wightman was at the piano and kept the youngsters in the holiday spirit playing Christma Carols.

After the entertainment Santa Claus presented gifts and candy to all present. Past Commander Ralph Fiore was chairman in charge of arrangements.

Keep Your Dog On a Leash

Keep your dog on a leash and do not allow him to run freely following a heavy snowstorm warns Dr. Gerry B. Schnelle, chief of staff of the Mass. S.P.C.A. Angell Memorial Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston.

Dr. Schnelle says that a dog that is not restrained, whether in the city or country, is very likely to stay in the confines of the plowed thoroughfares and thereby run the risk of being struck by a car and either killed or seriously injured.

Dr. Schnelle in offering further advice on the care of pets during the winter months said, "Both cats and dogs can be allowed outdoors even in extremely cold weather if they are kept active, however, older animals can develop rheumatism or arthritic conditions if left too long in a snowy yard.

Special attention also should be given to the dog's feet after contact with sanded sidewalks or streets. Defrosting agents, such as calcium chloride, used to prevent freezing, can be very irritating to the tender webbing between the toes and for this reason the pet's feet should be wiped dry and if very hairy, like that of a cocker spaniel or poodle, washing is often advisable."

To keep pets healthy during the winter months, Dr. Schnelle suggested adding a teaspoonful of fat, such as butter or margarine to the daily diet. As to the animals grooming, frequent combing and brushing is all that is necessary throughout the winter months.

Chief Derro Appeals To Holiday Drivers

Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro issued a warning this week to Winchester people celebrating the year-ending holiday season.

"I appeal to all our citizens to help end the old year, and start the new, safely and sanely," Chief Derro said, "and if anything I say can help bring that about, I'm certainly willing to say it."

The Chief cited a survey published by the National Safety Council concerning motor vehicle deaths over the 1959 New Year week end. It showed that 374 lives were lost throughout the nation — the "highest three-day total ever recorded for New Years, almost equalling the 1951 and 1950 four-day death tolls of 375 and 377 respectively."

"If a repeat of that performance is due, I certainly hope that our Town, at any rate, will have no part in it," Chief Derro said.

The Chief pointed out that the council's survey named unsafe speed as a factor in 52 per cent of the accidents. "Certainly improper speed should have no place in our New Year driving plans—and particularly if a bad turn in the weather should cause hazardous road conditions," the Chief said.

Drinking was cited as a factor in 38 per cent of the holiday accidents last year.

The National Safety Council study noted that every non-collision accident occurring in urban areas, and three in every five non-collision accidents occurring in rural areas, involved a drinking driver. Non-collision accidents accounted for 27 per cent of the total.

Multi-vehicle collisions were the most common type of accident reported, which means that even the most law-abiding drivers must be on the defensive against those who allow the hilarious nature of their celebrating to blot out their normal respect for traffic laws, the Chief warned.

"This may seem like a pretty grim method of wishing everyone a Happy New Year," Chief Derro said, "but that's exactly what I have in mind in bringing these matters to public attention."

Vogue Dolls Re-Organization

A re-organization program announced this week by Vogue Dolls, Inc., the originators of the famous Ginny Doll Family and the Brikette and Baby Dear dolls, finds E. W. "Ted" Nelson, 6 Herrick Street, assuming control of ownership and operations of this world-famous Medford-Malden doll company effective January 1, 1961.

Vogue Dolls, Inc., has grown over the years from the kitchen of its founder, Mrs. Jennie H. Graves, in the late thirties to a multi-million-dollar operation, having made and sold tens of millions of dolls and doll clothing all over the world. Having been involved in making and selling dolls for nearly fifty years, Mrs. Graves is semi-retiring the first of the year. Nelson, who joined the company in 1956 and who since 1958 has served as vice president and general manager, has completed negotiations to acquire the rights to carry on the company with a new corporation under the name of Vogue Dolls, Incorporated. Beginning the first of the year, the new organization will take over the operations of the company with Nelson serving as president and treasurer and chief executive officer. Mrs. Graves will serve as chairman of the board and continue to contribute her experience and knowledge of the doll industry to the new organization.

Born and raised in Somerville, the 36-year-old Nelson received a B.S. and M.S. in communication arts from Boston University,

AFTER 26 YEARS, Eugene B. Rotondi, Winchester contractor, receives bachelor of laws degree from fellow townsman, Dr. Asa Knowles, president of Northeastern University.

Eugene B. Rotondi Awarded Law Degree at Northeastern

Twenty-six years ago Eugene B. Rotondi of 224 Forest Street, well-known Winchester contractor, commenced the study of law. The day before Christmas, December 24, at noon, he received his Bachelor of Law degree from his fellow townsman, Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University. Between these two events have stretched years of effort and frustration for a man who had to couple his college studies with the support of a large family.

After completing high school in Stoneham, Mr. Rotondi took an evening course in constructional engineering at M.I.T. He then entered Wentworth Institute, studying plan reading and estimating. One of his classmates at Wentworth was the present Governor-elect, John A. Volpe.

After graduating from Wentworth Mr. Rotondi went to work for Thomas Quigley, Winchester contractor. Just before his greduation on January 1, 1930, he married Mary Gertrude Brazeau of Winchester, and after several months with the Quigley construction crews Mr. Rotondi decided to start his own small construction business, choosing a field with which he had been acquainted since birth, his father having founded the S. Rotondi & Sons firm which is well known throughout the state.

Following several years in business and after the birth of a son, Roger (now a graduate of the United States Naval Academy), Mr. Rotondi decided to enter law school.

In the fall of 1934 he enrolled at Northeastern University School of Law, but it was not easy sailing, for the burden of a family and meeting tuition costs posed quite a problem.

As a matter of fact after several months of his second year of study, Mr. Rotondi failed in three major subjects and was advised by the Dean of the Law School to discontinue his studies because it was felt he was wasting his time.

The Dean was finally persuaded to give Mr. Rotondi another chance, and harder work and longer hours of study enabled him to complete his law studies and become eligible for graduation.

However, Mr. Rotondi, while completing his studies, had been blessed with two additional children, for a total of five, and this extra financial burden made it impossible to meet his college obligations.

Being proud and wanting no charity from anyone, Mr. Rotondi decided to postpone his graduation, but constantly through the years securing his degree has been constantly in his mind. His graduation year of 1938 fell during the depression years and it was impossible for one with his family commitments to make the necessary college payments.

As the years rolled by, twenty-two of them to be exact, and Mr. Rotondi's family increased to thirteen, the procurement of his wanted degree was constantly his goal. There were times when opportunity presented itself for him to receive his degree, but the needs of his large family always came first, and it was not until the current year, 1960, that he decided to take his degree, regardless of what problems were presented. The degree was to be his Christmas present, placed in his Christmas stocking.

And so twenty-two years after he should have graduated and twenty-six years from the day of his enrollment at Northeastern School of Law, Mr. Rotondi received on the day before Christmas from the President of Northeastern, Dr. Knowles, his coveted sheepskin. Who can say it was not fairly earned? Who can begrudge him the deep pride and satisfaction he feels in its possession.

Happy New Year To Everyone

$81,900 Refunded To Town

The Town of Winchester has been granted a tax refund of $81,900 by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Town Treasurer E. Abbot Bradlee told the Star this week.

The refund, received in Mr. Bradlee's office last week, represented returns of $54,600 in Massachusetts income taxes and $27,300 in corporation taxes.

Prior to this refund, Town Accountant James Costello explained to the Star, the town had received $8,644.17 this year in excess of an anticipated refund of $356,547.03, or $365,191.20. The additional $81,900 brings the excess to $90,544.17.

Earmarked for the general fund, the $81,900 will represent a considerable profit, but at the same time will be partially offset by anticipated refunds, notably those on motor vehicle excise taxes and the school building assistance fund, which have fallen short of estimates.

Volpe Appoints Medford Woman

Governor-elect John A. Volpe announced the appointment of the Honorable Madeline H. Miceli of Medford as assistant secretary in his executive office staff.

A former member of the State Housing Board by appointment of Governor Christian A. Herter, Mrs. Miceli has been active for many years in state and national politics and in civic and fraternal affairs.

She was the first and only Medford person to be chosen as a presidential elector, for Eisenhower in 1952. During the recent fall campaign she served as chairman of special events for the Volpe for Governor Committee. In this capacity she arranged Mrs. Volpe's Schedule and traveled with her to receptions throughout the Commonwealth.

Built In Era Of Elegance

Music Hall Of Old Ginn Estate Is Scheduled For Demolition

The Music Hall is coming down. Demolition of the elegant 48-year-old Town landmark, sole surviving building of the 700,000 sq. ft. Ginn Estate at 55 Bacon Street, will begin as soon as the weather permits.

There is no possibility that it will be saved, Mr. William C. Cusack, owner of the property, told the Star. Final legal papers have been passed on its destruction, and permits obtained.

The gracious old music room, within whose walls hundreds of brides have been toasted, concerts have been held, and gala social receptions have taken place, will be demolished.

Already the 30x30 foot Aeolian-Skinner organ, its estimated replacement value set between $75,000 and $92,000, has been removed from the structure, as has the 8x10 foot Carrara marble fireplace.

"It is with extreme reluctance that I've made this decision," William C. Cusack told the Star. "It is a thing of beauty, charm, and grace. But to be realistic, it could not be maintained on the present basis. Still, it seems to me its destruction, to which I have had to accede, represents a great loss to the community."

MANY USES

There is much to support Mr. Cusack's belief that the handsome old structure has served the Town well. The United States Marine Band has played on its red-tiled terrace. Brides have held their receptions there. Little League has used it for special occasions, as has the Red Cross, Salvation Army, and Community Fund.

High School football banquets have been held there. Artists and musicians have made their debuts there. Churches, clubs, and colleges have used it for special meetings and receptions. The one time Winchester tried to get all living former selectmen together for a to-do, the Music Hall provided the ideal answer in terms of size and propriety. Many distinguished state and national political figures have visited and spoken in the hall.

Inquiries Pour In

W. H. S. Guidance Booklet Wins Acclaim

The community of Winchester and its school system have been the recipients these past few months of an abnormally large amount of national publicity. First it was the exploits of its young men on the gridiron. Now it is through the efforts of the community's school personnel.

Hundreds of inquiries have reached the Guidance Department at Winchester High School seeking information concerning its recently published guide for students entitled "Looking Ahead." This booklet was issued to the high school students this fall. Its purpose is to inform the students and their parents of the functions which the guidance department is capable and willing to perform for each student.

It briefly and concisely states the purpose of the testing program, the importance of planning their general education early and concrete suggestions to start the individual off on his own course.

In addition to this student manual the guidance department has devised a "Winchester Profile." This profile is a brief description of the community and the high school system. It is attached to each student transcript that leaves the high school.

One of the most perplexing problems in education is shared by students, parents and school personnel. What does a grade mean? Is it a handicap for a student to go through a superior school system and receive average marks, whereas if the student had attended a mediocre school system, the marks would have been above average? Are the students in one system treated on a par with all the others?

These questions have probably occurred to many Winchester residents. The obvious answers to these questions are varied; at times the student can be penalized; at other times he will benefit. This all depends on how familiar the organization or institution is with the graduates of the particular system.

Albert O. Wilson Fine Musician

New Park Street Organ Memorial To Late Winchester Man

Sunday morning at the 10:30 service of worship at the Park Street Church in Boston a new $90,000 organ will be played for the first time and dedicated as a memorial to the late Albert O. Wilson, formerly of 23 Yale Street.

The organ is a gift to the church from the Wilson family and will memorialize Mr. Wilson's great love for music and his ability as a musician. He was a member of the Park Street Church and his widow still attends church there.

Possessed of a beautiful tenor voice Mr. Wilson was known throughout Greater Boston as a soloist, both in churches and on the concert platform. He also trained and directed choirs and choral groups with great success.

Mr. Wilson died September 19, 1955. He and his family came to Winchester 41 years ago and his children, Albert, Donald and Anita, grew up in town, attending the Winchester schools and graduating from Winchester High School. Albert now lives in Lexington, Donald, in Concord; and Anita, (Mrs. Norseen), in Bolton. Their mother, Mrs. Wilson, still makes her home in the house on Yale Street.

All have many friends in Winchester who will learn of the new Wilson Memorial Organ with interest.

Public Recital

The new organ will have its first public playing Thursday evening, January 5, when Virgil Fox, organist at the Riverside Church in New York and one of the country's leading organists, will give a recital at the Park Street Church, commencing at 8 o'clock. Music lovers are cordially invited to attend this recital.

Tire Chains: A Good Idea

"Get the feel of the road." That's the advice of Police Chief Derro to drivers who must drive when winter road and weather conditions are not good. "You can do this by accelerating and braking carefully befor getting into heavy traffic," he explained. "If the wheels show a tendency to spin or skid, take time to put on your tire chains. It will save you time—and could save your life—in the long run." "People who object to using tire chains seldom do so on the grounds that they aren't helpful," the Police Chief added.

"How can they, when scientific tests have proved their helpfulness beyond a doubt? The usual objection is that they take time to put on and take off. But how much time does it take to buy a towing job when stalled by a snowstorm?

"How much time does it take to have the car repaired after skidding it into an accident? Or how much time might a man have to spend in a hospital following such an accident. If you want to save time, do it in a big way. Use those tire chains when needed."

Roads covered with ice and snow do not, by themselves, cause accidents, according to Chief of Police. The chief told the Star, "the real cause is the failure of some drivers to take adequate precautions when driving on such roads. Watch the drivers who succeed where others fail. Notice the equipment they use—the care they practice. They have found the answer—and so can you."

Tips on Safe Winter Driving

All drivers have a public duty as well as a personal duty, and fortunately the two usually go together.

That is the philosophy of Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro, and the basis for his frequent words of advice on the why and how of safe winter driving.

The chief emphasized that the town's snow-removal and traffic-control functions are being carried out as efficiently as possible, using modern equipment and tested techniques.

"But we need the cooperation of every driver," he pointed out. "We are asking drivers to keep their cars properly equipped and conditioned, to prevent stalls and ensuing traffic tie-ups, and also to enable them to stop their vehicles efficiently and safely when emergency conditions arise."

Drivers are sometimes licked by bad weather before they get started, for the simple reason that they can't get started when caught by an unexpected snowfall or icy streets.

"I wish they would realize that they could improve their ability to start and then to keep going by 400 per cent on glare ice and 300 per cent on loosely packed snow, simply by putting a pair of reinforced tire chains on their rear wheels," the chief said. "This certainly would save them the embarrassment of holding up traffic at a critical moment. Consequently, they would be doing themselves a favor and performing a public service, at one and the same time."

The chief also requested public cooperation in helping with snow removal operations by refraining from parking at curbs in both business and residential sections any longer than is strictly necessary during and following heavy snowfall.

"If drivers help to keep the streets clear for us, the snow-plow crews will be better able to keep the streets clean for them," the chief said.

"I also want to re-emphasize that drivers will be doing themselve and their city's safety record a favor by driving with extreme caution in bad weather," the chief said. "Even with the best of equipment working for us, human patience and alertness are at a premium when driving conditions worsen due to bad weather."

Town's Response To Kalah Game Is Pleasing

The Star is pleased with Winchester's response to "Kalah," the ancient game in modern dress, which just arrived last week. But we feel certain that if more people knew about it, the response would be even greater.

This is not merely a simple-minded device to while away hours you should not be wasting, anyway. It is a real challenge to the intellect, and will delight anyone with a flair for counting, for planning ahead, or foreseeing possibilities.

Deceptively simple, this fascinating game is based on quick counting and skill in the selection of plays. Known to ancient cultures as the "pebble game," the Kalah board is laid out with two rows of pits, six on a side, plus elliptical pits at either end of the board called "Kalahs."

The purpose of the game is to concentrate as many counters in one's Kalah as possible. At the start of the game there are six counters in each pit, which are moved in alternate turns one to a pit, until all are distributed in the "Kalah."

But it's not quite as easy as it seems, and here is where the fascination, mystery and unpredictability of this ancient game become apparent.

Just one of the tricks: if your opponent should empty one of the pits on his side and move one of his own counters into it he seizes all of your counters in the pit opposite and puts them into his Kalah!

The game is also characterized by curious balances and ironies. Just when you consider yourself in a most favorable position, for example, you are actually most vulnerable to your opponent's moves. A neophyte would suppose that he must get as many counters in his Kalah as quickly as possible. If he does this, however, he runs the risk of concentrating too many Kalah counters on his opponent's side. If he should then "go out" of the game, his opponent is credited with all of the Kalah counters on his side.

Put away your duplicate bridge, your Chinese checkers, and your Mah Jong! Try Kalah. It's fun, a real challenge to the intellect, to good sportsmanship, to the ability to foresee contingencies, to plan, and to count.

You can get Kalah in Winchester only at the Star. Prices range from $3.00 to $8.50 for hard pine sets or handsome teakwood sets.

Stay Alert In Winter

Obeying stop signs and signals without fail requires alertness at all times, says Police Chief Derro. When snow is falling it requires even greater alertness—to see the sign or signal in time to slow down and stop before skidding into or through an icy intersection. Tested traction methods—reinforced tire chains in particular—are very helpful; but nothing—short of the rarest kind of luck—can help a driver if he misses a stop sign completely. Are your windshield wipers and defrosters working perfectly?

Mr. Brown was the son of James A., and Mary Emma (Walker) Brown. He was born November 30, 1873, in Woburn and grew up in that city, being educated in the Woburn schools and at Woburn High School.

As a young man he went to work for the Paine Furniture Company in Boston, and it was while there he met his wife, Mary Tower Orrok, who was secretary to G. F. D. Paine.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married November 16, 1899, and observed their 54th wedding anniversary in 1953. Mrs. Brown died February 12, 1954.

Mr. Brown came to Winchester in 1956 from Brookline, after a previous residence in Melrose. He was a member of Mt. Horeb Lodge, A.F. & A.M., of Woburn and received his 50 year pin from the lodge May 1 of this year.

He was a member of the four Scottish Rite bodies in Boston, the Massachusetts Consistory, Royal Arch Chapter, Knights Templar and the Shrine. For the past 15 years he had spent his summers in Fitzwilliam, N. H.

He leaves a daughter, Miss Catheirne M. Brown, with whom he made his home; a son, P. Orrok Brown of Winthrop; a grandson, Edward O. Brown of Wayne, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. H. J. Walker of Woburn.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Graham Funeral Home in Woburn with the Rev. James D. Purvis, minister of the First Congregational Church of Woburn, officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

Arthur L. Donaghey

Arthur L. Donaghey, who died Christmas Day in Stoneham, leaves a sister in Winchester, Mrs. James Chaffe. He was the son of a former Winchester resident, Thomas W. Donaghey, whose family is well known here.

Besides his parents and sister in Winchester, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Marion (Franchere) Donaghey, and two sisters, Mrs. Anthony Asci of Stoneham and Mrs. Edward Darcy of Reading.

The funeral was held Wednesday with solemn requiem High Mass in St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham.

Leaves Daughter Here

Mrs. Rena Bagley of Tewksbury, who was fatally injured in Winter Park, Fla., December 21 when she was struck by an automobile, was the mother of Miss Mildred Bagley of Marion Street. Mrs. Bagley had been in Winter Park since Thanksgiving, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harry K. Gouk. She was 73 years old. Besides her daughters in Winchester and Winter Park, she leaves two daughters and five sons.

Dr. Arthur M Jackson

Dr. Arthur Morison Jackson, 71, of 212 Main Street, a physician and surgeon in Everett and Winchester for many years, died Thursday, December 22, at the Whidden Memorial Hospital in Everett, following an operation performed the previous Saturday.

Dr. Jackson was the son of Dr. Alton, and Martha Jane (Pendleton) Jackson.

He was born July 12, 1889, in Jefferson, Me., but came with his parents to Everett when a boy of seven years. He attended the Everett schools and was graduated from Everett High School, going on to Dartmouth College, from which he was graduated in 1911.

After graduating from Harvard Medical School in 1915, he served his internship at Massachusetts General Hospital, and during World War I served as a captain in the Army Medical Corps, being stationed at Base Hospital 55 in France.

Following his separation from the service, Dr. Jackson did surgery for a time in Peoria, Ill., but in 1921 he returned to Everett to become associated with his father in the practice of medicine and surgery there. He was a member of the staffs of the Whidden Memorial Hospital in Everett and the Winchester Hospital, and was widely known and highly esteemed in the communities served by both. He had made his home in Winchester for 32 years.

Dr. Jackson was a past president of the Whidden Memorial Hospital, a life member of the American College of Surgeons, vice president of the Middlesex South Medical Society and a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He was also a member and past president of the Everett Rotary Club. From his boyhood he spent his summers in Searsport, Me., where he was active in the sport of sailing.

On October 3, 1921, Dr. Jackson married Ellen L. Lyons of North Adams, who survives, with three daughters, Mrs. John E. Mazuzan of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. Conrad G. White of Ridgewood, N. J.; and Mrs. James G. Frailey of Timonium, Md.; eight grandchildren and a sister, Miss Evelyn Pendleton Jackson of Everett.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Dr. John W. Ellison, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Elsie T. Murphy

Mrs. Elsie T. Murphy of 30 Canal Street, wife of Thomas D. Murphy, died Tuesday morning, December 20, at the Baker Memorial Hospital in Boston, where she had been for the past week.

Mrs. Murphy was the daughter of Peter, and the late Mary E. (Flaherty) O'Rourke. She was born November 22, 1917, in Newton, but grew up in Woburn and was graduated from St. Charles High School there. She was a member of St. Charles Alumnae Association. For the past 19 years she had lived in Winchester.

Besides her husband and father, Mrs. Murphy leaves three daughters, Bonnie, Kathleen and Claire; two sons, Thomas and Daniel Murphy, all of Winchester; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Dooley of Winchester, Mrs. Walter Chamberland of Woburn, and Mrs. John Regan of Framingham; and five brothers, John O'Rourke of Burlington, Thomas of Framingham; and Peter, James and Paul O'Rourke of Woburn.

The funeral was held Saturday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Vincenzo Suppa

Vincenzo Suppa of 92 Harvard Street died suddenly Saturday, December 24, at his home at the age of 74 years.

Born August 16, 1886, in Italy, Mr. Suppa had made his home in Winchester for 46 years and was widely known. In recent years, until his retirement, he had been a gardener at the Winchester Country Club. Previously he had been a gelatin worker for the J. O. Whitten Company on Cross Street and had worked for the J. J. Fitzgerald Contracting Company of this town. He was a member of the Christopher Columbus Society and Club.

Mr. Suppa leaves his wife, the former Vittoria Stella; a daughter, Mrs. Anthony Falzano of Winchester; two sons, Frank J. DiApella of Winchester and Domenic A. Suppa of Revere, and six grandchildren.

Patent For Harrison

John W. Harrison of Winchester and Joe N. Welch, Walpole, were the recipients on December 13, of U. S. Patent No. 2,963,838, entitled "Film Sealing Mechanism for Packaging Machines."

Many products are packaged in plastic packages from which air is removed. These packages have numerous advantages, and many machines have been proposed to facilitate their manufacture.

Messrs. Harrison and Welch have devised an improved mechanism for vacuumizing and sealing packages of the foregoing type. In particular, they provide a relatively simple and inexpensive machine by which, it is claimed, neater and more attractive packages may be made. As additional advantages, the removal of excess plastic film from the package is facilitated, and the apparatus is reliable in operation and has a comparatively long useful life.

The machine of this invention of Messrs. Harrison and Welch is manipulated by a foot treadle and includes a vacuum pump that is connected by means of a flexible hose to a nozzle which is movable between positions away from and within the open end of the plastic envelope or bag to be processed. Provision is made for gripper bars, electrically heated sealing bars, a timing device and the other necessary parts.

In other words, in the use of this machine of Messrs. Harrison and Welch, the foot treadle is pressed part way down, thereby causing the gripper bars to clamp the open end of the plastic bag around the nozzle so that air may be removed from the bag by the pump which starts anutomatically.

When the plastic bag has been evacuated sufficiently as determined by visual inspection of its tightness around the packaged product, the foot treadle is depressed to the limit, with the result that the nozzle is moved out of the bag and the heat sealing elements and timing device come into play to effectively seal the bag.

When the foot treadle is released, the parts return to the positions in which another bag may be processed. It should be noted that two ribbon-like seals are formed at the mouth of the package, thus minimizing wrinkling of the plastic film and making it easier to tear off any excess thereof.

This patent has been assigned to W. R. Grace and Company in Cambridge.

Women's S. O. I. Bowling League

Wednesday before Christmas, the girls were bowling with true Christmas spirit. Why, even some of the score sheets were recorded in red and green.

Rooting and cheering was loud, and a lot of fun was had by all.

The team lead is still held by the Sapphires; close behind are the Emeralds, who have quite a spark plug on their team, Evie Giacalone. Evie, where has that superb bowling been hidden all these years? It's a fact, Evie was put on a team as "lowest bowler" and right now is outshining her whole team. To be sure, the Emeralds must be saying, "Stay with it, Evie!"

Another newcomer to the 100 circle is Marie Pizzo. If she can continue bowling as well as she dances, she should do very well, indeed.

Four of our bowlers proved to be quite the steppers and showmen at our annual club Christmas party. The four "Little Men," enacted by Gloria Monterisi, Gerry D'Onofrio, Sue Barbaro, and Jenny Amico, were just about the funniest little act you ever saw. Costume designing and production credit go to Gloria. Well done, and quite a show!

Incidentally, Evie not only bowled the best that night, she also held the lucky number.

The holiday season may be halfway through, but I do want to wish all of you a very Happy New Year.

Tips For Winter Driving

If you think it's hard to see in the dark, try driving in the dark when it's raining. Then try it with windshield wipers that aren't working properly. On second thought, skip it! Because that's exactly the way a lot of traffic accidents happen. A better idea—if you must drive in the dark and in the rain—is to make sure your lights are good and your windshield wiper arms and blades really wipe clean —without smearing or streaking. You may or may not need new blades. It may be that the wiper arm is weak, and not providing enough pressure to wipe the windshield clean. Have the complete windshield wiper checked. That's the advice of Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro of our local police department.

Remember When?

The two cuts in this week's "Remember When" series depict one of Winchester's most colorful citizens, a former selectman and for many years prominent in town meeting deliberations, Jonas A. Laraway.

Mr. Laraway was a plumber, and made his brags that he was a good plumber! He used to say that local builders liked to have their houses "plumbed by Laraway, they sold better!"

Be that as it may, Mr. Laraway was for many years active in the plumbing business, first in the employ of the late George Pratt and later for himself. The older of the two "Remember When" pictures shows Mr. Laraway's first establishment, one he took over from Mr. Pratt. It was located in the building which still stands on Waterfield Road and now houses the "Whistle Stop," Mrs. Haley's antique shop. Mr. Laraway is the taller of the two men shown in this picture.

The second cut shows Mr. Laraway's shop after he had moved down and erected this building beside the Aberjona River across the river from the rear of Whitney's Machine Shop. After he located at that spot Mr. Laraway generally referred to himself as "the little hustler by the stream," though there was nothing small about him, as a glance at the group of workmen will show. Mr. Laraway is the first on the left beside the pung, of nostalgic memory. The man beside him is believed to be one named George Hamilton. The one next to Mr. Hamilton is for sure Benjamin Edwards, later a plumber in his own right. Possibly some of our readers can name the remainder of the men.

The shop beside the river was built about 1905. The picture of the older shop was taken in 1896, but the building is much older than that.

Rotary Notes

Winchester Rotary had the members of the Winchester High School cross country team and their popular coach, Tom Morse, as guests at its regular luncheon meeting last Thursday in Masonic Apartments.

Dr. Harry Gilson, superintendent of schools, introduced Coach Morse, who told something of cross country running as a sport, a sport by the way which is not as well known generally as many others.

Coach Morse said that cross country is becoming more and more popular and that the interest at Winchester High School is increasing each year. Last fall's team had a five win, one loss record and in recent years Winchester has won league and state hill and dale championships.

The individual members of the team were introduced to the club by Coach Morse and warmly applauded.

In addition to the Cross Country team Winchester's Navy football stars, Frank Dattilo and Joe Bellino, were guests of the club and enthusiastically greeted by the Rotarians when they were introduced.

Dattilo told how much he appreciates the interest and enthusiasm of Winchester adults in sports, and this appreciation was seconded by Bellino. Bellino added that he would always feel obligated to the Town of Winchester for the great start he received here. Both midshipmen answered questions and made a fine impression with their poise and modesty.

Club President Fred McCormack welcomed Rotary's newest member, Albert S. Hovannesian.

The Winchester Star

Editorials:

New Year's Greetings

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night,
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Alfred Lord Tennyson wrote these lines in "In Memoriam" and the sentiment expressed would seem to be one of no regrets over the passing of another year. Actually it makes no difference how we feel about the passing of the years, whether we are glad to see the last of them or regret to see them slipping by. They move along inexorably and no matter how much we would like to have parts of them back to relive occasions that brought us pride and happiness or to right wrongs we have done through the year we can not recall time that has elapsed.

It doesn't matter so much about the good things that happened to us during the old year. We can and do relive them in memory and enjoy ourselves in contemplation of them for years to come.

It is the mistakes we have made during the old year that plague us and make us wish we could turn back the clock.

Let the year die, says the poet, but we have no choice! Time and tide wait for no man! At midnight on Saturday another year will be over and a brand new 1961 will be ushered in. Its arrival will be observed in different ways, and for some whose celebration goes to excess all chance of the new year being a happy one will die a-bornin'.

A Happy New Year! How often we all will extend this greeting to family, acquaintances and friends — and we will mean it too, or think that we do! A year, however, lasts for 365 days, not just through the holiday season, and the New Year's wish we make is of little value unless backed by twelve months of effort to make the wish come true.

Many of us make New Year's resolutions, some impossible of keeping. Before the year is a month along most of these resolutions will have been broken.

There is one resolution we all can make, and we can keep it, too, though at times it may not be easy. If we would all do as we would be done by 1961 would be a Happy New Year, regardless of what other personal reforms we may attempt.

Good fellowship, brotherly love, tolerance! How Winchester, the state, the nation and the world would experience a rebirth with the general applications of these Christian principles to their problems. How much happier we as individuals will be if we think a bit of the other fellow instead of always of ourselves. How much less regret there will be when another year shuffles off into the discard twelve months hence.

The old year is dying in the night! With the new day another year and another chance is born. How we order our own lives, how we live up to our New Year's wish of happiness to those with whom we come in contact, will have much to do with our feeling when 1961 has run his course.

Will we be able to say with the poet, let the old year die, or will we wish we had it back to do things differently. Only our own efforts to live with our neighbors and all nations in peace and understanding can decide this question.

More On Youth Center

The Star is obliged to Neil Hickey, David Govostes, Joseph Capone and Thomas Derro for writing in their opinion of the Star's proposal that the old Wadleigh School building be reconditioned to serve as a youth headquarters and possibly as the start toward a youth recreation program.

These young men feel that the Wadleigh School building is not the answer and prefer an entirely new building to house whatever program the town decides to institute for its young people. In general they feel that putting the Wadleigh building in shape for use as a youth center would cost in the thousands of dollars and that this money would better be put into a new building.

They also feel that the youth of the town does not want a place to go and sit around and talk, or play ping pong or pool; that something more than these inducements will be necessary to attract youth to a youth center. In support of this contention they point to the old laundry building that was once the Methodist Church at the corner of Mt. Vernon Street and Converse Place, now torn down. They state it was because there was not "enough to offer the youngsters" there that this center failed.

Almost any one would like a brand new recreation center to serve Winchester, the Star included. We are not advocating the remodeling of the Wadleigh Building as an ideal solution to a youth recreation problem. Many have mentioned putting the building to such use, before and after the editorial appeared in the Star, and the plan to use the Wadleigh for recreation purposes has, we believe some merit. It was for this fact that we mentioned the plan, offering it for possible comment and perhaps a start toward a youth recreation program.

The use of the Wadleigh for recreation, as the Star sees it, is in no way comparable to the activity in the old Methodist Church building. We agree with our young correspondents that there was little to offer the youngsters there. The first difference between that activity and what we would propose for Wadleigh would be a trained recreation director who would head the Wadleigh activity. No recreation program is going to get very far without such supervision.

Messrs. Hickey, Govostes, Capone and Derro apparently feel the Star would limit any recreation program to what could be included at the Wadleigh building; namely, pool and ping pong and talking. They feel the youngsters want more than a place to go and sit down and talk and indulge in ping pong and pool.

Once again they misunderstood! The Star advocated the use of the Wadleigh Building as a headquarters for a youth program and proposed using school gymnasiums and other facilities for an active sports program, if the school authorities would cooperate, and we understand that they will. It seems to us too expensive to build facilities which we now have and which are now standing idle much of the time.

Incidentally the school authorities have done some exploring in the field of youth recreation, have conferred with an acknowledged expert in this field and discussed the entire problem with the League of Women Voters following a poll taken by the League among the town's young people.

The League found the thing most young people want is a swimming pool; next, a hockey rink! There is, we understand, provision in the school plans for a swimming pool. Several attempts to build an enclosed skating rink have failed of public support because of the expense.

Some years ago an attempt was made to flood the tennis courts on Manchester Field for skating, but each time ice formed youngsters broke it with big stones, cans, sticks and other debris. They have such rinks in other towns and seem to operate them successfully, but maybe Winchester is different!

It would seem to the Star that the youth center steering committee and the school authorities could profitably sit down together for a friendly exchange of ideas. The school people have done quite a bit of spade work in the recreation field and their findings ought to prove valuable to the newly organized steering committee. The committee's thinking should also prove interesting to the school authorities who have after all a very vital interest in boys and girls.

The Star is not pushing the Wadleigh School building as a youth center. It does feel that it is worth thinking about and might well serve as a trial balloon for the youth center idea.

We do feel, and very strongly, that a youth center in Winchester should not be a place primarily to reclaim bad boys. Its province should be preventive, not corrective, though if through its activity the anti-social tendencies of some boy or girl can be corrected that is all to the good. The emphasis, however, should not be corrective. We do not want the youngsters to think we are running a reform school. They would rightly resent any such idea and very probably would refuse to go to such a facility themselves, or be forbidden by their parents to attend.

It is our feeling that a youth center should be a place where boys and girls, yes, and possibly their parents and adult friends, on occasion, can find an acceptable outlet for energies that so far as the youngsters are concerned may be heading into undesirable channels.

The Star is by no means sure that such a center should be only for boys! We feel there is much in adults and youth rubbing elbows recreationwise as proposed by Mr. Bentley, who is of course well versed in the youth recreation field.

The new steering committee for the youth recreation center, or boys club, deserves all credit for getting the subject out into the open and for getting people interested in the problem of doing something positive to keep our boys and girls out of trouble. Winchester's juvenile police officer, Officer Cogan, has worked hard to get the movement off the ground and deserves the thanks of the community for his efforts. We want to aid in the project and believe that we are aiding in bringing various plans for a youth center, as we encounter them, to the attention of the town.

At the conclusion of World War I an attempt was made to build as a memorial to the town's service dead a modest, but adequate stadium and running track on old Manchester Field with a combination field house and recreation center either attached or close by. A gymnasium and swimming pool were to be housed in the building with an auditorium for dramatics or musical activities and other recreational facilities. Headed by the late Roland H. Sherman, a committee vainly attempted to sell this idea to the town, an adverse petition, signed by virtually all the "Gold Star" parents in Winchester being the deciding negative factor.

Then came the actual attempt at a recreation center in the old Laundry building which failed, not because it had nothing to offer the youngsters as Messrs. Hickey, Govostes, Capone and Derro contend, but because it lacked trained supervision. One of those active in promoting this particular facility and one well versed in the youth recreation and boys club field confirmed this opinion only this week.

The Star is bucking no youth recreation plan, and as yet is advocating none! It will continue to bring to the attention of the town any proposal in this field we feel is worth considering.

Meanwhile our columns are open to any with ideas in the matter. We will welcome your letters. Let us hear from you!

College Club Tries To Promote Educational, Cultural Interests

The Winchester College Club had its origin in the "Intercollegiate Teas" which were held annually in the fall from 1921 to 1928 by the already established Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, and Wellesley alumnae groups in town. The purpose of these teams, to which all college women of Winchester were invited, was to promote acquaintanceship and sociability.

In a few years there began to be expressed a desire for a more closely knit organization to which women of all accredited colleges could belong and through which could be accomplished something more important and more educational than through the teas.

As a result, representatives of the various college alumnae—Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott and Mrs. Burton Carey of Smith, Mrs. James S. Allen, Mrs. Elise Belcher, and Mrs. Howard A. Morrison of Mt. Holyoke, Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell of Wheaton, Mrs. Harold Fuller of Vassar, Mrs. John L. Lobingier of the University of Chicago, Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell of the University of Toronto, Mrs. Robert Stone and Mrs. Ralph Vinal of Wellesley, and Miss Mabel Vinton of Radcliffe—met in the parlor of the First Congregational Church on May 22, 1928 to discuss the formation of a new organization and draw up a simple constitution.

Promote Education

At the final meeting of the Intercollegiate Teas held October 30, 1928, at the home of Mrs. Blaisdell a report of the May meeting was given. It was voted to adopt the suggested constitution and the Winchester College Club came into being with its stated purpose: to promote the educational and cultural interests of its membership and the community.

The first officers of the College Club were: President, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Mabel Vinton; Directors, Miss Elise Belcher, Mrs. Charles E. Greene, and Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen.

At the end of the club's first year (1929), it became advisable to divide the office of secretary-treasurer and twenty years later the steady growth of the Evening Study Groups created the need for an assistant treasurer who would take charge of the financial matters of these groups. The committees in the College Club have varied silghtly over the years but the majority have remained constant. For the past several years there have been seven chairmen heading the following committees: Program, Membership, Hospitality, Publicity, Nominating, Daytime Study Groups, and Evening Study Groups.

Presidents

To date the College Club has had nineteen presidents: Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott (now Mrs. James Seaver); Mrs. Fred Abbott; Mrs. Ben Schneider; Mrs. Judson Cross; Mrs. Lorimer Slocum; Mrs. Alexander McDonald; Mrs. John L. Lobingier; Mrs. Mary B. Davis; Mrs. Robert Cummins; Mrs. James S. Allen; Mrs. Langley Keyes; Mrs. J. Girard Chandler; Mrs. Norman J. Padelford; Mrs. Richard Wyman; Mrs. James B. Willing; Mrs. Albert D. Swazey; Mrs. John W. Harrison; Mrs. Martin S. Swanson; and Mrs. Chester L. Dawes.

Immediately following the founding of the College Club a questionnaire was mailed to the college women in town to learn what type of activity they felt best suited this new organization. Most of the replies indicated an interest in study groups, particularly those on psychology and modern education.

Study Group

After considerable planning and study by Mrs. William E. Spaulding, a daytime study group on "Current Projects in Education" began under her leadership in the fall of 1929 with an enrollment of twenty-seven.

The following winter, 1930-1931, two study groups were formed—a morning group studying "Applications of Modern Psychology" under a trained psychologist, and an evening group for both husbands and wives studying "Soviet Russia." There have been daytime and evening study groups ever since.

Throughout the years these groups have been the College Club's most significant activity. The variety of subjects studied increased with the growth of the club and although the topics have varied from year to year, some such as art, history, books, drama, and national and world problems have been repeated regularly.

Daytime Groups

The backbone of the Daytime Study Groups, once called the Morning Study Groups, has been those on art and history. The studies of the Art Group have encouraged a wide range of interest, not only in paintings but in architecture, sculpture, furniture and a variety of art treasures.

The art of different periods and countries has been included in these programs. Numerous museum visits, such as to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the De Cordova, Gardner, Worcester Art Museum, the Addison Gallery in Andover, the Currier Museum in Manchester, N. H., Fogg Art Museum, the Institute of Contemporary Art, and the Busch-Reisinger Museum, have added greatly to the group's appreciation of what makes good art. The success of the Art Group has been due in large measure to the devoted leadership of Mrs. John L. Lobingier.

The History Group has also encompassed a broad field of study. Not only has the general history of many countries been studied but special topics such as peace treaties, European Recovery Plan, and the domestic problems of the United States have been discussed.

Since 1952 the French Conversation Group has had a very loyal following and under the leadership of the Mme. Andree Maitre the members have acquired considerable fluency in the French tongue.

This fall an Interior Decorating Workshop under the guidance of a professional interior decorator and teacher has proved a popular and helpful addition to the daytime study program and will be repeated in January. Mrs. Richard Alt is chairman of this year's daytime groups.

Evening Groups

In the early years when there was only one evening study group each year, the subjects were as follows: Russia, in 1931; The Far East, in 1932; Our International Relations, in 1933; Money, in 1934; and The Scandinavian Countries, in 1935. Both husbands and wives belonged to this evening group which met bi-weekly for six or eight sessions, always beginning in January.

During these years all leaders and participants were members of the group. No outside speakers were called in. When these meetings grew too large for the home living room in which they met, the College Club decided to have several units studying different subjects such as International Affairs, Great Books, Drama, Music, Science, etc. These groups had a very successful first year (1943) under the guidance of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Lobingier and still follow a similar pattern of procedure.

Music

Music appreciation began as a daytime group, then became one of the most popular evening groups during the several years that Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood guided these meetings.

This winter under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wells the following study groups are being offered: Books, which offer "Our Society in Evolution" as a topic for reading and discussion; Contract Bridge; Great Decisions, group discussion of eight topics presented on half-hour television programs sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association; Investments; Law for the Layman; Play Reading; and Travel.

The Evening Study Groups hold two general meetings to bring their entire membership together. A week or two before the individual groups meet there is a dinner meeting with speaker and an opportunity for the groups to announce their study plans.

The 1961 program will open on January 16 at the Parish Hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church with Dr. Carvel Collins, Professor of Humanities at M.I.T. as the speaker. At the conclusion of the individual group meetings there is always a second general meeting when reports of the study group chairmen are given and a program of general interest is presented.

Speakers

The College Club has had many distinguished speakers not only at its two general Evening Study Group meetings but at its Opening Meeting (Fall Guest Night) and at its Annual Meeting in May.

Among the many noted educators who have spoken to the club are the following college presidents: Dr. Bayard Dodge, president of the American University of Beirut; Mrs. J. Lawrence Thurston, first president of Gin Ling College in China; Dr. Stringfellow Barr, former president of St. John's College, Annapolis; Dr. John S. Badeau, president of the University of Cairo; Dr. Bancroft Beatley, president emeritus of Simmons College; Dr. Leonard Carmichael, former preisdent of Tufts University; Dr. Roswell Gray Ham, former president of Mt. Holyoke; Dr. Mildred McAfee (now Mrs. Douglas Horton), former president of Wellesley; Dr. William Allen Neilson, former president of Smith; Dr. J. Edgar Park, then president emeritus of Wheaton; Dr. Nils Y. Wessell, president of Tufts; and Dr. Asa Knowles, president of Northeastern.

Special Visitors

During the earlier history of the College Club it was customary to invite to the spring meeting a number of young women who were home on vacation from New England colleges. Seniors from the Winchester High School have also been included. Each of the college girls spoke briefly on some aspect of her college education which was of particular interest.

The College Club is not a money-raising organization. Its total income comes from dues which are nominal and its fees for the study groups are small, merely sufficient to cover expenses. Nonetheless, scholarship aid has always been one of the club's objectives. During its early years when the resources of the treasury were limited, it was necessary to establish a scholarship loan fund rather than an outright gift to some promising Winchester High School graduate at college. Since 1932, however, the College Club has contributed to scholarship aid each year.

It contributes regularly to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and each year since 1942 has presented the Mary B. Davis Award, which is given in memory of a much beloved president who died in office. This award is given to an outstanding girl in the Winchester High School graduating class "in recognition of her high scholarship, her dependability, her service to her school, and with confidence that she will continue to show the ideals of character for which Mary B. Davis is lovingly remembered."

The College Club welcomes to membership all women of Winchester who have completed at least two years in a college accredited by the American Association of University Women. The study groups, however, are open to all who are interested. Applications for membership may be obtained from Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox, 29 Calumet Road.

IT'S CHEAPER TO DIE

By WILSON SULLIVAN

If you think it costs too much to be sick, you'll be interested in William Michelfelder's new book, "It's Cheaper to Die." Its subject: doctors, drugs, and the A.M.A. Its conclusion: "Illness in the family today can be a financial catastrophe," for no good reason.

This book is a shocker. Detailed and documented, it is written with the authority of a man who has probed deeply into his subject. It is also written with courage, an increasingly rare commodity in this era of tight-lipped evasion.

Between April, 1959, and April, 1960, Michelfelder writes, medical costs soared 3.9%, so that Americans now spend 39 to 47 cents of every earned dollar to meet medical expenses.

Since 1947, the author adds, the cost of prescription drugs has risen 634%, with some drugs marked up as high as 7,000%! Pharmaceutical firms blame this fantistic price increase on research, despite the fact that they spend four times as much money on advertising, and despite the fact that 70% of the research tab is picked up by the government, foundations and universities.

Why the big markup? Why do you pay 50 cents for a cortisone tablet that should cost a dime? Why do you pay $9.45 for 100 big-name vitamins when you can get some just as good for $4.00? Mr. Michelfelder thinks he knows why. Someone, he says, has to pay for the drug industry's $750,000,000 yearly expenses for advertising. Someone has to pay the $12,000-a-year "detail men" who persuade your doctor to prescribe their products, to the tune of $2 billion a year.

In one sense, Michelfelder argues, it's not the pharmacist's fault. He gets his professional fee, of course. But the fact that most doctors prescribe a specific big-brand name means that the druggist must saddle himself with "super-sized" inventories," resulting in senseless duplication and high overhead. One druggist said he could easily get by without 75% of the drugs he was forced to order. Someone has to pay for this; you do.

As for manufacturing costs, Michelfelder says, ingredients and packaging represent the "smallest fraction." Here's the breakdown on drug costs: research, 5%; manufacturing, not over 3%; administration, 5%; quality testing, less than 4%; distribution, 2%; advertising the brand name, 24%! The last cost, of course, includes the expense of financing quail shoots for doctors, giving them encouraging free samples, or subsidizing their conferences.

To criticize the drug firms, of course, is "interfering with the sacred relationship between the doctor and his patient." After all, who is the mere layman to raise questions about matters so arcane, even when he is told that smaller firms could provide him with the drugs he needs for only 20% as much as the larger companies charge?

Mr. Michelfelder is equally candid in his survey of the medical profession, custodian of the nation's $16.2-billion-a-year medical business. He hits hard at the inadequate coverage of health insurance programs, at the unethical practices of fee-splitting and referral kickbacks among doctors. He cites alarming evidence of collusion between doctors and drug firms. He points out that one out of every four doctors in New York, California and Washington, D. C., are being sued for malpractice, that such suits totalled $50 million in the United States last year.

But Mr. Michelfelder reserves his special fire for the good grey hierarchy of the American Medical Association, Father Surrogate and Guide to 175,000 American doctors, handing down the medical party line from its posh Chicago headquarters.

Founded in 1847 as a "scientific and social group," he writes, the A.M.A. has become a vast "trade association," an authoritarian, highly centralized organization in which the local family doctor has little voice.

The A.M.A., Michelfelder writes, spends $10 million every year to "educate" the public in its policies, sending out over 600 public relations men and medical politicians to wage its progressive battle against free diagnostic centers, medical care for the aged, and other such Marxist plots.

Actually, Michelfelder writes, your family doctor has little directly to do with the policy-formulation and administration of the association, although he soon learns that he enrolls in its ranks or commits professional suicide. Of the A.M.A.'s 192-member House of Delegates, he says, only 40 men are family doctors. Most of the legislators in this "medical democracy" are non-practicing specialists or full-time medical lobbyists or politicians. As Dr. Paul Magnusen put it, a small clique gains control of the organization and puts the 16-hour-a-day family doctor in a bad light by identifying him with policies in whose formulation he had no voice.

Happy New Year!

Editor of the Star:

As 1960 comes to a close and a new era is about to begin, let us be grateful to God for the years in which we have had the stability of President Eisenhower to guide us. Let us also ask God to bless President-elect Kennedy for the difficult days which lie ahead.

Most of all, may our New Year be happy. To quote one of our great movie stars, "Joy is one of the greatest gifts we can have. From it comes the capacity for work, for friendship, for personal honesty and for love."

Let us often have a kind thought and a little prayer for departed friends. And, as we wrote a year ago, let us not hesitate to look the other fellow's way as we walk along the street, for he might teach us how to smile.

Sincerely,
Jim Corrigan

Tips For Winter Driving

If brakes are good, a car moving at 20 miles an hour can be jammed to a halt in about 20 feet on dry pavement; but what happens on icy pavement shouldn't happen to anyone in our town, says Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro. What happens is that braking distances increase to about 200 feet, and at only 20 miles per hour! In that distance a lot can happen — including the worst!

What can be done about it? Chief Derro has authoritative test reports from the National Safety Council's Committee on winter driving hazards which showed that reinforced tire chains improve braking performance on ice by 60 per cent! And as an added precaution, careful driving at reasonable speed is also recommended—of course!

Two Storms Are Predicted For January

Those of us—and your Star reporter is one — who consider the Farmer's Almanac a revelation of Natural Law, will be surprised, aghast, and maybe a little hurt to learn that this fountainhead of all wisdom predicts two snow storms for January.

With its customary Yankee circumspection, however, the benign old Almanac doesn't say exactly when the storms will descend upon us. It just says this, and you interpret it as you will:

> "The cold is bold while two storms unfold. Touch up the fire, sire. No buds, just floods. Stays warm but watch this storm. A few hours' thaw, then real cold and raw."

Things to watch for, according to the Almanac:

(1) On January 3, "If the sun is red, better stay in bed."

(2) On January 5, take down your Christmas tree.

(3) On January 9, sun rises earlier.

(4) On January 14, the coldest day of the year.

(5) On January 27, the anniversary of Thomas Edison's patenting the incandescent lamp.

The Almanac's January, 1961 Astronomical Calculations show that the sun will be setting approximately one minute later every day. On January 1, it sets at 4:23, on January 15, at 4:37; on January 31, at 4:57. Encouraging, isn't it?

You "glitter" right with the pen! No fuss, no mess with Linck's 3-D Glitter Pen. Brilliant colors, writes on any surface, many uses. Single pen, 49c. Junior pack, three colors, $1.00, at the Winchester Star.

Good Skating

Ice on our local lakes was the best this Christmas week end it has been for many years. While our population has more than doubled the number of skaters was far less than years ago. The skaters did not seem to do so well either, probably due to lack of practice.

VIEW OF ELEGANT GINN ESTATE
TO WHICH MUSIC HALL WAS ATTACHED

Music Hall

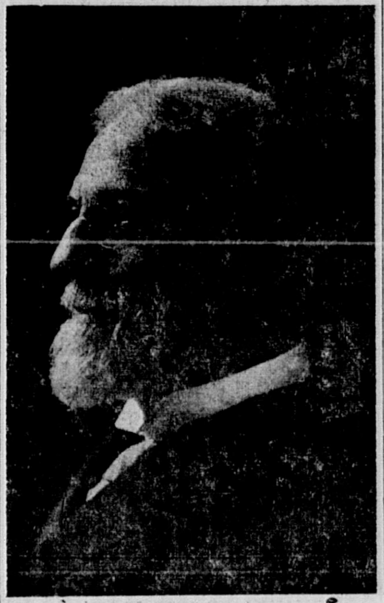
BUILT IN 1912

The baronial structure was built in 1912, some twelve years after Edwin Ginn, Winchester publisher, philanthropist, and real estate developer bought the 700,000 square foot estate, formerly owned by Captain William H. Kinsman. The estate was located on Bacon Street between Central Street and the railroad tracks, and adjoined Rangeley on the south.

CONTINENTAL

It is difficult to describe the hall architecturally although its dignified red brick and restrained lines suggest "Early American," or "Georgian" more quickly than most styles.



EDWIN GINN

He built Music Hall

Inside the structure, however, the Continental influence is dominant, most noticeably in the Carrara marble fireplace cited above, but also in the striking parquet floor patterned after the style of Fontainebleu.

The hall measures 30 feet wide, 45 feet long, and 30 feet high, big enough to house the massive 30x30 foot organ just removed.

The walls are paneled with precious matched walnut.

DEVELOPMENT

Mr. Cusack bought the Ginn estate in 1946, with the purpose of developing it into homes. He has accomplished this aim. Forty homes in the area, modern and individualistic, comprise one of the nicest areas of Winchester, and their combined value is estimated at over a million dollars.

But Mr. Cusack, although he razed the old Ginn mansion itself, felt the Music Hall could be turned to great advantage to Winchester whose many social activities would seem to require a hall of some capacity and beauty.

LEASED OUT

Since 1946, therefore, Mr. Cusack has leased the hall for special occasions like those cited above. He was able to do this because of a sitpulation in the 1924 Zoning By-Laws that any use permitted prior to the law would be permitted after its passage.

Now Mr. Cusack feels that it would be unrealistic to retain the property on the present basis. He has reluctantly decided that it must come down, and has already sold some of the 30,000 sq. feet of land around the structure to neighbors and real estate developers.

The action is final. But in the era of the split-level home and the omni-present pre-fabricated dwelling, there's something awesome about the spacious elegance of the Music Hall. As the old building falls one senses that a way of life is falling with it.

S.O.I. New Year's Party

The Winchester Sons of Italy are to hold their Gala New Year's Party at the organization's hall on Swanton Street on Sunday evening, January 1, with entertainment starting at 9:00 p.m. and closing at 2:00 a.m. Monday.

Admissions have been sold out at an early date and committeemen, Pat Bruno, Fred Caggiano, Art Dunbar and Bill Fiore under chairman Venerable Tony Vespucci have worked diligently to make the evening one of tremendous success and happiness.

The affair is to be cabaret style and those who have not confirmed their intentions of attending will certainly feel that they made a mistake if they miss this party!

The organization will pass out noise makers and other items to make the ringing in of the New Year, 1961, a most enjoyable one!

Besides self-made fun, there will be dancing to lively music and, no doubt, some community singing.

So for those not attending, we all send to each and every one of you, our sincere best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Tufts Show Held Over

Wednesday evening testimonial meeting at 8:00 o'clock.

Reading Room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The effectiveness of reliance on God's power will be illustrated in Christian Science services this Sunday.

David's trust in God alone in his victory over Goliath is featured in one of the Scriptural accounts to be read. The Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" includes this passage from I Samuel (17:45): "Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied."

This citation will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God" (228:25-27).

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (6:4): 'Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord."

Winchester Pilot Breaks Record

The Star has learned that on December 7 a Northeast Airlines Convair 880 jet piloted by Captain George B. Steers of 38 Hillcrest Parkway broke the unofficial cross country speed record from San Diego, California to Boston. The time, four hours and 10 minutes, topped the record set by Northeast the previous week.

The Convair piloted by Captain Steers was the fourth of several being built for Northeast by Convair, a division of the General Dynamics Corporation. They are powered by engines, several major components of which are manufactured by the General Electric Company. The planes are manufactured in San Diego and flown east by Northeast pilots to Boston.

Collector's postage stamps and albums now on sale at the Star office on all price levels. An excellent way to give youngsters a sense of geography and history and a constructive hobby.

Junior High School Christmas Assemblies

The Junior High Christmas Assemblies on December 21 ushered in the holiday for an appreciative audience of parents, students and faculty members. The programs for the morning and afternoon sessions were similar in form but developed differently by their directors, Miss Caryl Slanetz and Mrs. Eleanor Thistlethwaite.

Morning Session

The program, based on the religious context of the Christmas story, opened with the sparkling "Wassail Song" by the glee club of seventh and eighth-grade girls. The gay spirit of the song was heightened with a dance interpretation by Linda Avery. The Biblical story was then shown on colored slides, framed effectively by the dark-red stage curtains, as the girls sang selections to enhance each scene.

The brass ensemble followed with a fine performance of a medley of carols. Playing in the ensemble under the direction of Mr. Frederick Murray were Fred Cardin, John Burrows, William Mahoney, Colin Gray, and Bruce Cardin.

The seventh and eighth-grade boys' glee club continued the program with Christmas songs to illustrate the completion of the nativity story on the colored slides. Their final number, "Deck the Halls," an old English carol, was accompanied by the modern dance interpretation of Victoria Reeves and Ann Lamphier.

The narrators for the program were Fred Cardin and Jean Weiner, with Christine Cooper and Peter Fontneau standing by as alternates. Accompanists for the glee clubs were Joyce Clark, Sarah Shidler, and Ronald Vigliotti. The dancers were trained by Miss Noreen Johnson.

Parents and faculty commented not only on the excellent performance by all the student participants, but also on the professional efficiency in the stage mechanics. Boys who worked on the stage crew were Peter Moulton, Davis Blanchard, Ronald Scherban, Austin Garvey, Michael Gorman, David Wingate, and Peter Fontneau.

Miss Slanetz, music supervisor for the junior high morning session, is a newcomer to Winchester this year. The Christmas assembly, produced under her direction with the help of faculty members, promises to be the first of many outstanding musical programs.

Afternoon Session

Introduced by Norma Panosian playing the autoharp, the girls' glee club began an appropriately serious program by singing "Silent Night," "Sleep Little Jesus," "Holy Child," "Lo, How a Rose," and "A Christmas Hymn." Color slides projected upon a screen in front of the singers served to illustrate the mood of these songs. Between numbers Geraldine Roberts movingly narrated Christmas verse, and Tibor Szerkenyi again communicated the real meaning of the first Christmas according to the Gospel.

The ninth-grade vocal ensemble in blue robes loaned by the First Congregational Church sang "Joy to the World," "We Three Kings," "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "The First Noel," and "Masters in This Hall." They were accompanied on the piano by Patricia Shinney.

Under the direction of Mr. Wendell Withington, the brass quartet, consisting of Terry Doherty, Porter Mulford, Jeffrey Strout, and John Totman, played interludes while the boys' glee club filed on and off the stage.

The boys' glee club, accompanied by Chester Lane on the piano and Norma Panosian on finger cymbals, sang "The Little Drummer Boy" while Jane Lynch danced a symbolic ballet. Their next song, "Go Tell It on the Mountain," was interpreted in a dance by Karen Horley. The boys closed the assembly with a spirited "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The whole program was well integrated and smoothly performed.

Thanks should go to the enthusiastic boys and girls who participated; to the stage crew, Walter Aldorisio, Lance Grenzeback, Sam Hooker, David Mayer, Dennis O'-Connell, and John Deans; and to the faculty members who helped; and especially to Mrs. Thistlethwaite, who through the years has produced commendable concerts.

Nice Start Toward A Collection

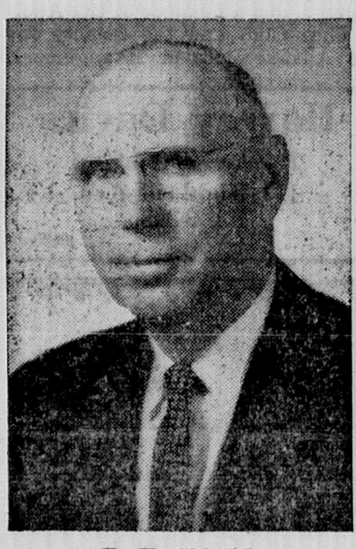
STAND NAVY DOWN THE FIELD! Part of Joe Bellino's football trophies on display last Friday evening with Joe's helmet and jersey at "Appreciation Night" at the Sons of Italy club house! More than 400 attended the affair for Bellino and his Winchester teammate, Frank Dattilo.

Public Relations Consultant



E. H. SMALL

Elliot H. Small, New England division public relations representative for Shell Oil Company will leave the company at the end of the year to enter the public relations consultant and photographic fields.

Mr. Small who has spent over 30 years in various administrative positions in New England began with the company as a service station salesman in Melrose. A short time later he was appointed North Shore area manager, with headquarters in Salem and after serving in this capacity for approximately two years was given the responsibility of conducting the educational program for all of the company's over 1,000 service station employees in the New England states.

During the forties, he was employed in the division's marketing service in Boston and while there in various positions, handled fuel oil, employee programs and advertising as well as customer service affairs, community relations and industry activities.

Elliot Small, who lives at 55 Auburn Street, West Medford, is past high priest of St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter in Boston, belongs to many fraternal organizations and is a member of the advisory committee of the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Center.

He has worked in close co-operation for a number of years with both the Salvation Army and the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve in numerous Toy Time and Toys for Tots collection programs which provide toys for unfortunate children at Christmas.

Luggage Given Winchester's Favorite Sons

Bellino And Dattilo Appreciation Night Attracts Hundreds

On Friday evening, December 23, Winchester Sons of Italy opened their hall in honor of their own All-American, Joe Bellino, and his honored guest and teammate, Frank Dattilo!

The program got under way at 7:00 o'clock with a social hour and opportunity for all present to examine the tremendous array of trophies and awards that were on exhibit. After seeing these awards, one now realizes the truth in what has been printed in the newspapers to the effect that Bellino will need a battleship of his own just to store these wonderful awards.

It is fantastic that one person could be the recipient of such important and valuable treasures, and even more so to know that one of our own small town boys could be "The One" on the receiving end.

As it was felt that time was passing and Frank and Joe were busy signing autographs on various items (even napkins and paper plates), chairman Richard Penta decided to commence the program, asking that all present seat themselves in as much comfort as possible, for the walls of the building were bulging with approximately 400 persons within them.

The invited guests then made their entrance and as they took their places at the head table there was a tremendous roar of cheers and applause, intended for "our boys," Bellino and Dattilo!

Master of ceremonies, Richard Penta, welcomed everyone and explained that the gathering was held to pay honor and respect to the two boys who have made good at the Naval Academy.

M.C. Penta first called upon Selectman Sherman Saltmarsh, Jr., to say a few words and the Selectman mentioned how he was fortunate in being able to represent the Town of Winchester at a time when he could be in a position to greet the boys when they were at the height of their careers.

He also expressed his feelings and that of the entire town with reference to the boys being not only athletes but true gentlemen and boys of whom every one can be proud. His speech concluded with the town's best wishes and good luck to both boys in their future endeavors.

Next to be introduced were the proud parents of Joe and Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Michele Bellino and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dattilo. The gathering then met Joe's high school sweetheart, Ann Tansey, to whom he became engaged only five days before.

Next to be introduced was one born and educated in the town of Winchester. Frank Provinzano was a former high school athletic star who continued to carry on at Boston University and at present is in his ninth year as a teacher and coach of athletics in the Winchester school system.

Mr. Provinzano mentioned, on behalf of Mr. Henry Knowlton and school officials, that it was an extreme pleasure having Bellino and Dattilo in our schools and wearing the colors of W.H.S. on the athletic field.

He spoke of their true character and sportsmanship displayed while performing on our own field and emphasized how wonderful an asset they possessed in keeping a level head even after all of these honors have come their way.

Provinzano then stated how these boys are a credit first to themselves, then to their parents, their church, their community, their schools, the Naval Academy and those near or far who may have been associated with them in any way.

M.C. Penta then recognized Anthony Vespucci, Venerable of the Winchester Sons of Italy, and followed by introducing William Fiore, president of the Winchester Aberjona Civic Association.

Next to speak was a former Winchester High athlete and captain. Mr. Joseph Tansey received his education here and went on to star in athletics at Norwich University. He came back to Winchester and has been a teacher and coach of football, basketball and baseball at Wentworth Institute for many years.

As Joe puts it, "Since my gray hairs have been coming on, I've decided to devote most of my time to being Dean at the Institute and Director of Athletics." Mr. Tansey is also a former member of Winchester's Board of Selectmen and changing to a future tense, is going to be the "pappy-in-law" of "Joe, the Jet," Bellino.

Mr. Tansey told how the Sons of Italy started as a small organization and called attention to the wonderful "home" the Sons now have and how it has figuerd in some important civic projects.

Turning back to the theme for the night, Mr. Tansey stated that we do not have to tell the boys, (Bellino and Dattilo), how we feel about them because they already understand that! We don't have to show our feelings, he said, because the boys have seen how "Winchester" has followed them wherever they traveled and they have seen how we have supported them since climbing the ladder to success at the Academy.

Mr. Tansey brought out a very interesting point and it really is something to ponder over. He mentioned that there are 1600 colleges participation in football. Each college carries a squad of approximately 33 men which means there are about 52,800 men playing collegiate football.

What are we driving at? Well, first think of all these awards that have come Bellino's way and especially the coveted Heisman Trophy. It means that one in every 52,800 is the recipient and this time it was one of our own Winchester boys! Fantastic!

Following Mr. Tansey, the M.C. called upon one who was no stranger to anyone and he received quite an ovation. Mr. Alfred "Mickey" Meurling is in his thirtieth year as physical education director in the Winchester schools and has seen many of our girls and boys grow up.

Mr. Meurling said that his time here in Winchester has been happily spent and that he is more than proud of boys like Bellino and Dattilo. He congratulated the boys and wished them the best of luck, concluding by thanking everyone for inviting him to be a part of the evening's program.

The next speaker needed no introduction but M.C. Penta continued to tell how we are fortunate in having Mr. Henry Knowlton as coach and leader of youngsters in our town. Coach Knowlton has been with us for 22 years and has an excellent record on the gridiron. It was unfortunate that Coach Knowlton could not be present since he was with the high school basketball team which was playing a Middlesex League game at Lexington.

M.C. Penta then asked for Sam Bellino to come to the rostrum to present Midshipman Frank Dattilo with a set of luggage. After the audience showed its approval of this, Mr. Penta then called upon John Dattilo to present another set of luggage to All-American Joe Bellino and again the roof was raised with acclaim!

M.C. Penta then showed the film, "Highlights of 1960." It was a film depicting some of the football highlights of Bellino and Dattilo against such stalwart teams as Boston College, Air Force Academy and Army.

Mr. Penta then called upon Midshipman Frank Dattilo who just thanked his parents for making the sacrifices they made by sending him to the Academy. He told of the affair being called "Appreciation Night," and said he supported this name 100% except for one point, and that point was that, "it was not to show appreciation for what we have done for you, but it is to show appreciation for what all of you have done for Joe and me!

He went on to say that if it were not for the good wishes and fine words of encouragement and support from the people back home the road to success would have been extremely difficult. Midshipman Dattilo then thanked everyone for what they have contributed to them.

Right behind blocker Frank came the "Bomber," Joe, who mentioned that it was difficult for him to find words that could truthfully tell of his feelings toward his parents and all who have played a part in his success.

With his level-headedness, All-America Joe thanked his parents, his "kid brothers," and all who took part in his becoming so nationally recognized. It has been no easy task, he said, but it has been a pleasant one in many respects.

He went on to tell of a certain rooter in the stands at the Army-Navy game who was all cheers during the first half. But when Army started to march in the second half, this rooter was found "kneeling" because Army was getting too close and time was running out.

Then the Army pass came and "Jet Joe" intercepted to put the game on ice. The stands were up in the air and all of a sudden when the particular play ended and the fans sat themselves down in relief, this certain rooter jumped up and shouted "Bellino for Pope!"

Joe also stated how happy he was to see some of the Winchester rooters at many of the games and how it gave him that needed "lift." In closing, he said he will always remember his days at the Academy and how Winchester helped him. In this respect he mentioned one last, but very important bit of advice to those youngsters sitting in the first row.

He looked and pointed directly at them saying, "you little ones are just starting. Be sure to study hard and always strive to do your best. If anyone tries to assist you be certain to listen to him and accept his advice because he is doing it to help you!" with this he thanked everybody and resumed his seat.

M.C. Penta then called an intermission, during which refreshments were enjoyed and the boys were again kept busy with their autographing. About 30 minutes later, Nicky Luongo showed his film of the bus excursion from Winchester to the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia and it was greatly enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the film, the entire audience stood for a round of applause for Bellino and Dattilo, and the formal program had come to a successful ending, except for the continued picture-taking and autograph signing by "Our Boys — Bellino and Dattilo!"

Guidance

Mr. Bernard J. Silva, counseling supervisor of the Winchester High School, has devised this profile to overcome inconsistencies that may have hampered Winchester students in the past. This is particularly relevant at this time since the proportion of those students going on to further education outside the New England area is rapidly increasing.

Besides giving a glimpse of the composition of the community and the programming of the students, the profile attempts to give the admission offices some concrete evidence on which to base their decisions. For example, the College Entrance Board Tests averages for the past few years are statistically broken down for the admission officials to evaluate the ability of the particular student in relation to those taking the same test at Winchester.

Also of interest is the level of achievement indicated by the letter grade C as "average for this school, but representing fairly high attainment." This statement isolated is relatively meaningless but also on the profile is stated the results of standardized tests which consistently show the average I Q. of the Winchester students as being 10 to 15 points above the national norm.

Hence this project serves to facilitate admissions offices in their evaluation and comparison of the Winchester school system.

The first occasion that these projects reached national focus was in "The Bulletin," a publication of the National Association of Secondary School Principals. Since its December publication, the desk of Mr. Niblock has been piled high with requests from the entire country requesting information and samples.

Some rather flattering requests have come from such prominent sources as the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, the National Education Association, the U. S. Army, Superintendent of School Archdiocese of New York, and Collier's Encyclopedia.

Dana M. Cotton, representing Harvard University, made this comment: "As I travel about the country this year in the interests of admission to Harvard College, I am going to take this material with me as I feel sure that other counselors will benefit by the good work that you people have done!"

The people directly involved in these innovations as consultants are Dr. Harry V. Gilson, W. Howard Niblock, Norton E. Demsey, John D. Stevens, M. Constance Trickett, Gloria R. Keville, and Joseph Aversa. The material was prepared by Bernard J. Silva.

An educator from Wisconsin judged the contributions in this fashion: "You should feel a justifiable pride in being singled out for making such a fine contribution."

JIM McELHOLM

N. U. Hockey Star Proud Of "Buddy" Joe!

Jim McElholm, Northeastern University hockey player, is a good athlete in his own right. However, his big thrill is having grown up with and being associated with Joe Bellino, Winchester's pride and joy, and seeing Bellino achieve the success he has attained.

"Joe and I were always very close," says Jim, "and I always feel proud when he receives an award."

Joe and Jim used to play on Leonard Field behind Jim's house. In fall it was football with just two or three to a team. "Joe was good even then," relates Jim. In winter, the youngsters turned to hockey and here Jimmy shone. The spring was baseball time for the buddies, Joe and Jim.

At Winchester High, Jim sat rooting in the stands while friend Joe was cavorting on the gridiron and making a name for himself as a star halfback. Come winter, and hockey and Joe was in the stands leading the cheers for Jim. McElholm was an outstanding defenseman on the ice sextet. In fact, he was named to the North Shore League All Stars his senior year as he led Winchester to the Northeast Conference Championship.

The Spring found both Jim and Joe starring for the baseball nine which swept to the Middlesex League championship. Joe was the team's leading hitter, and you guessed it, Jim was runnerup.

Jim also found time to run for the Cross Country team, who were New England schoolboy champions his junior and senior years.

While Joe went to Annapolis, Jim enrolléd at Northeastern where he is majoring in management in the College of Business Administration. Under Northeastern's Cooperative Plan of Education, where upperclass students alternate 10 and 16-week periods in the University with periods of equal length on regular paying jobs in business and industry. Jim works at Wilson and Co. of Cambridge in the Sales Department.

Jim, a senior, has played defense in hockey until this year when Coach Jimmy Bell, decided Jimmy's speed on skates could be better utilized at a forward position. So a forward he became. In only his second game as a forward, Jimmy sparked an upset of Boston University, last year's best hockey team in the East, by scoring two goals in the Huskies, 5-1 win.

Coach Bell says of Jimmy. "Actually, the success of our season depends a great deal on how well Jimmy makes the adjustment from defense to forward because he is skating on our second line, which we expect will be the key to a winning season for us. So far, Jimmy has made the transfer with ease and is improving with every game. We are counting a great deal on Jimmy."

To show that Jimmy is not just an athlete, we discovered that he finds time to be a member of the Husky Key at the University, the Society for Advancement of Management, a member of the Student Council, and he is the treasurer of his class. He has also been on the Dean's List.

Jimmy has had many sports thrills, such as scoring four goals last year against the University of Massachusetts, but he still insists that his biggest thrill is seeing his buddy, Joe Bellino receive his awards and especially the Heisman Trophy.

Winchester Fans Head South

Bellino-Dattilo Enthusiasts Leave Logan in Chartered Planes

Two chartered planes will take off from Logan International Airport in Boston Sunday afternoon at 10 o'clock filled with football enthusiasts from Winchester and surrounding communities bound for the big Orange Bowl game in Miami between Navy and Missouri Monday afternoon. Naturally the Mecca for local fans is the appearance in the Navy lineup of two Winchester boys, Joe Bellino, All American halfback, and Frank Dattilo, outstanding left end.

Plans to enable Winchester fans to attend the game began soon after the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia when a committee was formed to arrange for transportatio by plane from Boston to Miami for those who wished to make the trip. Much of the preliminary work, we suspect, was done by Bob Johnson, chairman of the Bellino-Dattilo Orange Bowl Committee, who was assisted by Governor-elect John A. Volpe, Attorney General Edward McCormack of Middlesex County, Dr. William D. Barone, William C. Cusack and Richard Penta.

Northeast Airlines made a package price for the trip of $195 per person, including hotel accommodations and a reserved seat at the football game, and so attractive was this figure that the 107-passenger chartered constellation was soon filled and reservations were being accepted for a second plane. Again the plane was filled and the two constellations will be winging their way to the southland on Sunday, January 1, filled with expectant football fans to whom a week in Miami for $195 looked pretty good!

This figure includes the "works," round trip by plane, meals on the plane, taxi service from the airport to the luxurious ocean-front Barcelona Hotel, all baggage transfers, twin-bedded rooms and baths at the hotel, breakfasts and dinners and all tips everywhere.

Several parties have been arranged for the tourists, including a night at the favorite night spot, the Eden Roc Hotel.

Transportation to and from the game is included, sightseeing with a tour conductor has been arranged for with beach lounges and all taxes, Florida State and Federal Transportation, taken care of.

The final day in Miami is an open day, with nothing arranged, and at 8 o'clock in the evening of January 6 the Winchester parties will board their planes for the non-stop trip back to Boston.

S.O.I. Bowling League

Last Thursday evening's matches were the first of the second half of the schedule and the team that led the first half all the way, Boston College, was upset by Yale, led by Art Dunbar and Moose Bellino. Yale wound up in first place with B.C. in second.

At this writing Holy Cross now holds top position in pinfalls but is tied by Boston College in points. Both units began the second half by gaining four points and losing none. Penn, Army, Bates and Maryland are all tied for second place in points but because of pinfalls they line up in the order of Penn, Army, Bates and Maryland.

For third in the standing we find St. Mary's and California in points but again pinfall is an important factor and puts St. Mary's ahead of California. Then we find the rest of the standing with Harvard, Yale Georgetown, Navy, Alabama and Notre Dame.

Ben Gigliotte of Harvard is still recuperating from an illness that has kept him idle for most of the first half and it is hoped that he will be back with us shortly. Joe Asaro of Notre Dame has been ordered by his doctor to refrain from bowling for an indefinite period because of an ailment and he has been replaced on the Notre Dame roster by Pete Fiore. He makes the sixth Fiore bowling in the League, and if there were a bowling family night, the Fiore's would be a hard team to defeat.

This second half certainly promises to be one of tremendous excitement. In the first half several important and close matches were rolled and with various bowlers now beginning to find the range, there are definite changes of positions coming up.

For example, Pat Bruno of Capt. Tony Saraco's Bates team started the season bowling in the sixties and had Tony quite disturbed. Now Tony is patting Bruno on the shoulder because last week Pat hit the pins for 67, 97 and 106 for a total of 270 which isn't bad at all.

Dom Provinzano of St. Mary's is also finding the range and last week joined the "300 Club" by bowling 92-98-111 for 301. Maybe brother Frank can receive some good coaching in the skill of bowling.

Richie Tofuri did all right hitting for 98-111-112 as did Jeff "custodian" Gaudioso of Penn for 110-114-116. Hard working Bill Fiore of Harvard carried his team with an 87-91-132. That last string could mean something in any league!

Andy Buzzotta of Army knows where that ball is going because he hit for 100-112-105 which would be highly acceptable to any bowler. Holy Cross had two members in the 300's in this last match with E. Doucet's 112-120-91 and Babe "Mailman" Tofuri's 125-95-94.

Joe Berardi of Boston College was red hot in the last outing by hitting the pins for 123-120-106. Wow! The funny part of this was that before the matches started, Joe mentioned that he felt this was going to be a good night for him. Then Notre Dame's J. MacIsaac found the range scoring 94-100-106.

Attendance prize winners last week were John Dattilo and Bob Fiore. Congratulations!

The year 1961 is just around the corner as you read this article so all of us in the S.O.I. Bowling League wish all Star readers A Very Happy and Prosperous New Year!

A Sachem Christmas Present

Winchester Wins First From Lexington, 65-61

The Winchester Hoopsters welcomed the yuletide holidays with a close two-basket win over neighboring Lexington, 65-61, in their first Middlesex League game of the year at Lexington Friday.

A last minute Sachem surge led by right forward Jim Callahan succeeded in toppling "Doc" Abell's Lexington Minutemen for Winchester's first win of the season. Callahan, a continual outside threat to Lexington, scored the clinching basket with less than 13 seconds remaining in the game.

Trailing by 7 points at the half, the Sachems seemed to have the cards stacked against them with two of the starting lineup, Bellino and Callahan, penalized for four personal fouls.

Nevertheless, Sachem coach Jim Phillips in a blackboard discussion of defensive and offensive strategy, rallied his team in spirit, so that on taking the court in the third quarter, the Sachems surged ahead to outscore their opponent's 20-12.

With scoring drives by left guard George Neville and fine under the basket offense by center Rod Gay, Winchester ate away at the Lexington lead, until suddenly at 4:31 of this period, forward Callahan tied the score 42-all on a 15-foot jump shot. From then on it was nip and tuck all the way to the finish, with the lead changing sides with each basket.

Finally at 1:26 of the fourth quarter, the Sachems pressed hard to jump ahead 63-60 on two consecutive swishers by "pot shot" Callahan.

The last minutes of play were the most frenzied of all, with furious competition under the boards. At 1:03 Ron Johnson of Lexington tried to tear away a Sachem rebound from center Rod Gay, but instead turned a cartwheel and crashed to the floor, receiving a concussion.

The game was slightly delayed while injured Johnson was helped from the court.

With a foul shot by Lexington guard Donny Thoren, the score was 63-61, the Sachems holding a one basket lead.

For 50 seconds Winchester froze the ball. Then, with 13 seconds remaining, Jim Callahan dramatically clinched the game with a swishing one-hander from fifteen feet out.

Lexington was unable to score in the closing seconds, and the "win" returned to Winchester.

It was a jubilant Winchester locker room after the game, with shouts of "Merry Christmas" coming from every corner. The aroused Sachem spirit throughout the game and the new position shifts in the lineup seemed to be the deciding factors against Lexington.

With Rod Gay moving from left forward to center and Jack Brenner, from guard to forward, the Sachems now have a three-some, Callahan, Gay, and Brenner, that should prove to be the needed change in the rebound-snagging field.

High scorers for Winchester were George Neville and Jim Callahan with 18 and Rod Gay with 15. Lexington's top notcher Bob Greenlaw was held for 19 points, while Oscar Kirsten and Ted Oldakowski followed with 12 and 10, respectively.

The Junior Varsity led by the scoring of John Peckham and Bob Donlon whipped the Lexington Jayvees 51-41 for their third win of the season. Top scorer for Lexington with 12 points was Ray Bellinger.

Blankets For Sick Animals

Officials at the Mass. S.P.C.A.'s Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, appealed to the public for donations of clean cloth and blankets to be used in the care of sick and injured animals.

It was stated that the present supply is nearly exhausted and that there is great need for this material, especially in the wards where contagious diseases are treated, for here frequent changes must be made.

It is hoped that there will be a generous response to this appeal as this material adds greatly to the comfort of the animals during their stay in the hospital.

Please send donations to the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston 15, Mass., where they will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

Kalah

For Anyone, Young or Old

A Fascinating Game

Based On Quick Counting and Skill In The Selection Of Plays

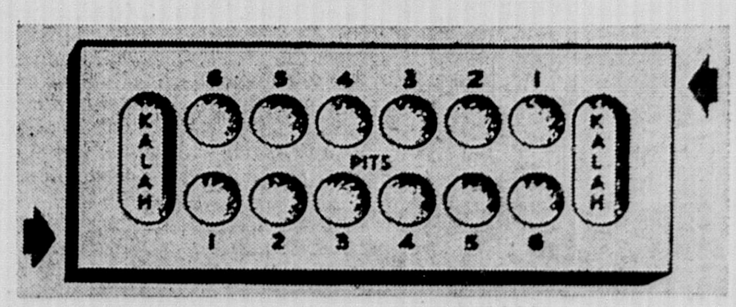
"Kalah" has arrived at the Winchester Star, in time to solve your gift problem for anyone who enjoys a real game of skill.

Kalah, a centuries-old numerical game of wits based on quick counting and skill in the selection of plays, is a real brain teaser.

It is also known as the "pebble game," because natives often play with pebbles in holes in the ground comparable to the 12 pits on the playing field.

How is this game played and what is its objective?

Examine the illustration below:



The game field is laid out with two rows of pits, six on a side and assembly pits called Kalah's at either end.

The purpose of the game is to concentrate as many counters as possible in your Kalah. The game ends when all of the PITS on one side are empty. The score is the number in excess of counters in all PITS at the start of the game.

Oases of Rest

Perhaps it's just a vagary of ours, or maybe we are supersensitive, but as we grow older we seem to relish more and more those intervals of peace and quiet, and of orderly conduct of affairs, that survive amidst the noisy clamor which heralds our amazing progress in ways mechanical and technical. In the thronging streets of our cities, our crowded department stores, our jammed throughways, our bustling railroad terminals, our skies made deafening with jet planes, confusion and disorder are the rule. But some citadels of peace still remain, where the human spirit may refresh itself, and the weary soul find rest.

For example, an orchestra. Here in small space is a group of musicians dedicated to a particular kind of order — the exact reproduction of a series of musical sounds carefully planned by the composer to create a specific effect, designed to produce pleasant reactions on the hearer. No mistakes can be tolerated, no false note sounded, or the whole effect is spoiled. There is, too, a leader whose express purpose it is to see that all proceeds according to plan—the composer's plan. Here, then, is a special kind of order, inspirational and restful.

Or a play in the theatre. Once again in small confines is another group of artists, whose every effort centers on the orderly production of a dramatic theme carefully developed by the playwright through long, laborious hours in the privacy of his studio. Here, again, everything must proceed in orderly sequence; no cue can be missed, no line fumbled, no action may stray from the dramatist's pre-ordained plan. Here, also, is order, dedicated to both inspiration and entertainment.

Or a church, where peace and quiet are the established order, where meditation sets the theme, and the silence is broken only by sweet strains of music, or words of inspiration and hope. Where the soul finds comfort, and the spirit peace.

Or a happy home, where order is a basic ingredient — order in personal relationships, in the rearing and training of children, in the arrangement and conduct of the home. Where the body relaxes, the mind is at ease, and contentment reigns.

Or bed! Back in the nineteen-twenties, in a musical play called—we believe—"Oh, Boy!"—occurred a song which was a sort of apostrophe to bed. It went something like this:

Bed, bed, beautiful Bed,
Wrap up your heels in it,
Take all your meals in it,
Beautiful, beautiful Bed!

In our frantic scheme of things, bed still provides more welcome forgetfulness, more continuous privacy, more restful interludes, than any place we know. What a comfort it is!

Truly, let us give thanks for these few remaining sanctuaries for tired, careworn folk, these grateful oases of order in the midst of a disorderly world!

Cold Fact

By the time he's suited
And scarved and booted
And mittened and capped
And zipped and snapped
And tucked and belted,
The snow has melted!

Always Two Versions

It behooves one to always be careful before accepting old proverbs as established truth. In proof, here are twelve pairs of English proverbs that are flatly contradictory of each other. It would seem, in fact, that almost any course of action and almost any policy of inaction can be justified by proverbial wisdom.

Many hands make light work. Too many cooks spoil the broth.

If the mountain won't come to Mohammed, Mohammed must go to the mountain. Everything comes to him who waits.

Look before you leap. He who hesitates is lost.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder. Out of sight, out of mind.

Happy the wooing that's not long doing. Marry in haste, repent at leisure.

Where there's a will, there's a way. You can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink.

Enough is as good as a feast. You can't have too much of a good thing.

One's man's meat is another man's poison. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Discretion is the better part of valor. Faint heart ne'er won fair lady.

There's safety in numbers. Between two stools you fall to the ground.

Take care of the pence and the pounds will take care of themselves. Penny wise, pound foolish.

Fine feathers make fine birds. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

In other words, take your choice!

Mirror, mirror on the wall,
What's reflected doth appall.

Tidbits

One way to outlaw war would be to make peace illegal.

One thing about being in a rut—you can't skid!

When a man doesn't care what people think of him, he has reached either the top or the bottom.

Why does Cupid quit as soon as the knot is tied? a writer asks. He doesn't; he just adds "ity" to his name and sticks around for the alimony.

What the average family can't afford these days is a family doctor.

A luxury resort is where a waiter expects a 25-cent tip when he presents a 60-cent bill for serving a 35-cent bottle of beer.

RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING AGENCIES GIVING DAY CARE TO CHILDREN

The Board of Health, Town of Winchester, Massachusetts, acting under the authority of the General Laws and amendments and additions thereto, and by any other power thereto enabling, and acting thereunder and in accordance therewith, have in the interest of and for the preservation of the public health, duly made and adopted the following rules and regulations:

SECTION I. DEFINITION. "Agency giving day care to children" shall mean and include any institution or place, whether known as a day nursery, nursery school, kindergarten, child play school, progressive school or pre-school or under any other name, except a Sunday School conducted by a church or other school conducted by a church or by a religious organization, not conducted by the Commonwealth nor any city or town, which for compensation or otherwise receives for temporary custody, with or without stated educational purposes, during part or all of the day apart from their parents, three or more children under seven years of age and not of common parentage, separate and apart from their parents and elsewhere than at the home of one or more of them during part or all of the day.

SECTION II. APPLICATION FOR LICENSE. No person shall conduct an agency giving day care to children without obtaining a license from the Board of Health. An application therefor shall be in a form prescribed by the said Board, and shall be uniform for all agencies giving day care to children within board's jurisdiction. There shall be attached to the application a statement, sworn to by the applicant, or by an officer thereof duly authorized thereto, containing such information as may be required by the Board. If in the judgment of the said Board the said statement or any other evidence submitted in relation to the application indicates that the operation of the proposed agency giving day care to children will be for the public benefit and welfare, a license, in such form as the Board may prescribe, shall be issued to the applicant. All licenses shall expire at the end of the year in which they are issued, but may be renewed annually on application as above provided. No license shall be transferred except with the approval of the said Board. For the issue or renewal of each license a fee of one dollar shall be charged. All fees shall be paid to the Town of Winchester.

No license shall be issued or renewed hereunder unless the applicant agency giving day care to children submits to the Board a certificate of an inspector of the division of inspection of the department of public safety or of the local building inspector stating that the building or buildings to be occupied by such agency for the aforementioned purpose has safe means of egress and adequate means of preventing the spread of fire.

SECTION III. INSPECTION. REVOCATION OF LICENSE. The Board or its authorized agents may visit and inspect any agency giving day care to children at any time to ascertain whether it is licensed and conducted in compliance with law and with these rules and regulations.

Every agency giving care to children shall so be visited and inspected at least once in each year. After thirty days' notice to a licensed agency giving day care to children and opportunity to be heard, the Board may if in its judgment the public interest so demands, revoke its license. Every agency giving day care to children shall furnish to the said board such reports, information and other data as it may require.

Such licensed agency shall be operated by a qualified staff in a manner satisfactory for the preservation of public health and safety, with satisfactory health program, records, activity program, physical facilities, equipment, and transportation, where provided, such standards of satisfactory compliance to be established by the Board of Health.

SECTION IV. VARIANCE. The Board of Health may vary the application of any provision of these regulations in any specific case which appears to said Board not to have been contemplated by the regulations or in cases where manifest injustice is done, provided that the decision of the Board in such cases shall not conflict with the spirit of any provision of these regulations. Such variance granted by the Board shall be in writing.

SECTION V. PENALTIES. Whoever establishes, conducts, manages, or maintains an Agency without first obtaining a license therefor, or after the revocation of the license, or in violation of any provision of the General Laws, or of any of these rules and regulations, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten ($10) dollars, nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars. If any person conducting an Agency shall be found guilty of a violation of any provision of the General Laws, or of any of these rules and regulations, in any particular relating to the safety of or the suitability of the accommodations for the children, the Board shall issue an order directing that such nursery be closed and remain closed until such accommodations are satisfactory for the preservation of public health and safety.

SECTION VI. REPEAL. All former rules and regulations or any part thereof in conflict with these rules and regulations are hereby repealed.

SECTION VII. INVALIDATION. If any section, paragraph, sentence, clause or phrase of these rules and regulations should be decided invalid for any reason whatsoever, such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of these regulations, which shall remain in full force and effect; and to this end the provisions of these regulations are hereby declared severable.

These rules and regulations were adopted by unanimous vote of the Board of Health, Town of Winchester, Massachusetts, on December 19, 1960, and are to be in full force and effect on and after January 1, 1961, and shall, before said effective date, be published in this town, and a copy thereof shall be deposited in the office of the Town Clerk.

Remember The Birds

Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, reminds bird-lovers not to forget their feathered friends during the cold winter months.

Dr. Hansen suggests the setting up of a permanent base of supplies, such as a bird feeder or a particular feeding area so that the birds will become accustomed to finding food in a certain location.

A variety of food will sustain the birds during the winter Dr. Hansen said, but most commonly used is commercial grain also sunflower seeds, bread crumbs and suet, the latter being hung from the branches of trees.

Placing a feeder near a window can offer many moments of diversion to children and other members of the family and by preserving the lives of our birds we can look forward to spring when they will again delight us with their beauty and song.

TOWN CHRISTMAS TREE AGLOW ON COMMON

Duplicate Bridge Club

Louise Kell was unquestionably the "shining star" of the Christmas party at the Duplicate Bridge Club on Wednesday, December 21st. Louise first combined with Ann Dean to plan and serve the delicious refreshments, and later in the evening paired with husband Tom to capture first place in the master point game.

Fighting off stiff challenges by players from Waltham, Framingham, Arlington, Newton and Lexington, Tom and Louise led the North-South field in their 12 table section which played 21 boards for an average score of 63. The results were:

North-South

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kell, 78
R. Arthur and J. Nikula, 73½
Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball, 70½
Sullivan and Herlihy, 67½
Ida Finlay and J. Curley, 67
Helen Davenport and Georgie Gamage, 66,

Let's turn over the mike to Tom Kell and see what he has to say about the bidding and play of the cards this week.

The toughest of all hands are the partial game bids. They come up consistently and require most careful planning of play. The play of Board No. 1 Section B had a key play that insured the making of a 3 diamond contract. Yet, only one contractor made this play correctly.

A look at the hand by South shows he is most likely to lose 2 clubs and 2 diamonds. In fact to make the contract he must hold his losers to these tricks.

With only one entry to the board he must make up his mind whether to use this entry for a spade or a diamond finesse. Since the trump suit is the key to the hand, this successful player entered the dummy via the spade king and led the diamond 4.

East played low and South came up with the King. When the diamond queen fell, South was assured of only two diamond losers. South continued diamonds with East taking the diamond jack lead with his diamond ace. East got out of his hand with a club, West catching South's club king in the lead.

After the two club tricks West had no really good lead. A club or heart would be trumped and a spade would give the hand to South. So the hand was in.

South therefore made the key play of coming up with the diamond King on the one lead he had from the board. Had he used the spade finesse from the Board, South would have run the additional risk of a spade being trumped by East on a lead from West, thereby losing three trump tricks, and the hand would have gone down.

Living With Your Heart

(A weekly public service of the Mass. Heart Association)

To a cardiac mother, a baby can be something like a yacht; it isn't the initial investment, in terms of energy, as much as the maintenance that proves difficult to handle.

Doctors agree that most mothers with heart trouble, given adequate medical care, can bear children safely.

But raising them is often a taxing chore. Many women who had no trouble with their hearts during pregnancy and delivery discover that the long hours and hard work of bringing up a baby combine to produce constant fatigue.

In pregnancy, the mother-to-be usually has plenty of help around the house from her husband. After the baby is born, however, it is easy for fathers to forget that the event has signalled the start of a generation's care.

The Massachusetts Heart Association has this word of warning for cardiac mothers, follow your doctor's advice about your level of activity—motherhood's tasks continue for many years.

The association conducts "Heart of the Home" classes, not only for cardiac women but for any housewife wishing to simplify her household tasks. Many things can be done to lighten the homemaker's burden and still maintain an efficient level of housekeeping.

Here, for instance are some pointers for the new cardiac mother:

1. Sit down and plan your work before you start doing it.
2. Approach each job with the idea of doing first things first, and what isn't done today can wait until tomorrow.
3. Organize your work into daily, weekly, and occasional categories, and let other members of the family help. In fact, see that they do.
4. Plan your menus, list the baby's needs, and shop only once a week.
5. Use part-time maid service and a diaper service if possible.
6. Keep the baby downstairs in the daytime and keep his clothing handy. Avoid needless steps.
7. Use clothing that needs little or no ironing.
8. Bathe the baby in the sink or bathinette—it saves your back.
9. When the baby naps, take one yourself.
10. Be sure to rest regularly, and stop at the first sign of fatigue.

Kirkpatrick Semi-Finalist In Contest

William Kirkpatrick, a senior at Winchester High School, is a semi-finalist in the Boston Traveler's High School Presidential Inauguration Contest, "If I were the next President . . ."

This contest is open to all students of high school level, grades 9 through 12, in public, parochial and private schools in Eastern Massachusetts except the children of employees of the Herald-Traveler, its subsidiaries and advertising agency.

Each contestant is to write, in 300 words or less, what he or she would do "If I were the next President . . ." with compositions written either as a classroom project or under the direct supervision of teachers designated by the school.

William's entry will represent Winchester High School to be judged with other semi-finalists. The winner, his or her parents and a teacher or other school representative, will receive a three-day trip to Washington, D. C., to attend President-elect Kennedy's Inauguration on January 20. The winner's party will leave Boston on Thursday, January 19 and return on Saturday, January 21.
